

Guide to the Literature
of Art History 2

---

WILLIAM S. BROWN
JAN 21 1900

Guide to the Literature
of Art History

Max Marmor
Alex Ross

AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION
Chicago
2005

While extensive effort has gone into ensuring the reliability of information appearing in this book, the publisher makes no warranty, express or implied, on the accuracy or reliability of the information, and does not assume and hereby disclaims any liability to any person for any loss or damage caused by errors or omissions in this publication.

The paper used in this publication meets the minimum requirements of American National Standard for Information Sciences—Permanence of Paper for Printed Library Materials, ANSI Z39.48-1992. ∞

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Marmor, Max

Guide to the literature of art history 2 / Max Marmor, Alex Ross.

p. cm.

Continues Guide to the literature of art history.

Includes index.

ISBN 0-8389-0878-0

I. Art—Historiography—Bibliography. I. Ross, Alex.

II. Title: Guide to the literature of art history. III. Title.

Z5931.M374 2004

[N380]

016.7'09—dc22

2004016170

Copyright © 2005 by the American Library Association.
All rights reserved except those which may be granted by Sections 107 and 108 of the Copyright Revision Act of 1976.

Printed in the United States of America

09 08 07 06 05 5 4 3 2 1

THE GETTY RESEARCH INSTITUTE LIBRARY

Contents

Preface	xiii	C. Sales Records	46
Acknowledgments	xv	CURRENT SERIALS	46
Contributors	xvii	RETROSPECTIVE	49
A. Bibliography	3	D. Visual Resources	52
CURRENT SERIALS	3	GUIDES FOR PICTURE SEARCHING, ORGANIZATION, AND MANAGEMENT OF VISUAL COLLECTIONS	52
RETROSPECTIVE	5	COLLECTION DIRECTORIES	55
CATALOGS OF ART LIBRARIES	11	REPRODUCTIONS-SOURCES AND INDEXES	57
PREHISTORIC	13	PICTORIAL ARCHIVES	62
ANCIENT-MEDIEVAL	14	E. Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	66
Current Serials	14	GENERAL WORKS	66
Retrospective	17	PREHISTORIC	70
RENAISSANCE-MODERN	22	ANCIENT	70
Current Serials	22	EARLY CHRISTIAN-BYZANTINE	71
Retrospective	22	ISLAMIC	72
WESTERN COUNTRIES	27	CAROLINGIAN-GOTHIC	72
Baltic Countries	27	RENAISSANCE-BAROQUE	73
France	27	NEOCLASSICAL-MODERN	74
Germany and Austria	27	GENERAL DICTIONARIES OF ARTISTS	77
Great Britain and Ireland	28	ARTISTS' MARKS	79
Italy	28	WESTERN COUNTRIES	80
Latin America	29	Australia	80
Low Countries	31	Canada	81
Russia and Eastern Europe	31	France	81
Scandinavia	31	Germany and Austria	82
Spain and Portugal	32	Great Britain and Ireland	82
Switzerland	32	Italy	84
United States and Canada	32	Latin America	85
ASIAN COUNTRIES	33	Low Countries	85
General Works	33	Russia and Eastern Europe	86
AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	34	Scandinavia	86
General Works	34	Spain and Portugal	86
Africa	34	Switzerland	87
Oceania	35	United States	88
The Americas	35	ASIAN COUNTRIES	90
BIBLIOGRAPHIES OF INDIVIDUAL ARTISTS	36	General Works	90
B. Directories	41	China	90
GENERAL DIRECTORIES	41	Japan	91
MUSEUMS DIRECTORIES	43

AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	91	Cyprus	144
Africa	91	Mesopotamia	144
The Americas	92	Persia (Ancient Iran)	144
F. Iconography	93	Syria and Palestine	145
GENERAL WORKS	93	Classical World	145
ANCIENT	97	General Works	145
CHRISTIAN	98	Crete, Mycenae, Greece	145
JEWISH	101	Etruria and Rome	149
ASIAN COUNTRIES	102	CELTIC AND GERMANIC	152
China	102	EARLY CHRISTIAN-BYZANTINE	153
EMBLEM BOOKS	102	ISLAMIC	157
PORTRAITS	105	CAROLINGIAN-GOTHIC	160
THE AMERICAS	105	RENAISSANCE-BAROQUE	163
G. Historiography, Methodology, and Theory	106	NEOCLASSICAL-MODERN	164
H. Sources and Documents	120	WESTERN COUNTRIES	171
GENERAL WORKS	120	Australia	171
ANCIENT	121	Canada	172
Single Sources	121	France	172
Collections	122	Germany and Austria	173
MEDIEVAL	122	Great Britain and Ireland	177
Single Sources	122	Italy	180
Collections	122	Latin America	183
RENAISSANCE-NEOCLASSICAL	123	Low Countries	186
Single Sources	123	Russia and Eastern Europe	187
15th-16th Centuries	123	Scandinavia	191
17th Century	126	Spain and Portugal	193
18th-Early 19th Centuries	127	Switzerland	195
Collections	128	Turkey	195
France	128	United States	196
Germany and Austria	128	ASIAN COUNTRIES	200
Great Britain and Ireland	128	General Works	200
Italy	129	Central Asia	201
Latin America	130	China	201
Low Countries	130	India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	204
Spain and Portugal	131	Japan	208
United States	131	Korea	211
ASIAN COUNTRIES	131	Southeast Asia	211
Collections	131	AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	212
China	131	General Works	212
I. Histories and Handbooks	133	Africa	213
COLLECTIONS AND INVENTORIES	133	Oceania	225
GENERAL WORKS	133	The Americas	231
TECHNIQUES	139	J. Architecture	235
PREHISTORIC	139	BIBLIOGRAPHY	235
ANCIENT	140	DICTIONARIES AND ENCYCLOPEDIAS	241
General Works	140	HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS	246
Egypt	140	General Works	246
Western Asia	143	Ancient	252
General Works	143	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	252
Anatolia	144	Histories and Handbooks	253
		Egypt and Western Asia	253

Classical World	253	Spain and Portugal	287
General Works	253	Bibliography	287
Crete, Mycenae, Greece	254	Histories and Handbooks	287
Etruria and Rome	254	Turkey	288
Early Christian-Byzantine	256	United States	288
Bibliography	256	Bibliography	288
Histories and Handbooks	256	Directories	289
Islamic	256	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	290
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	256	Histories and Handbooks	290
Histories and Handbooks	256	ASIAN COUNTRIES	293
Carolingian-Gothic	258	China	293
Bibliography	258	India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	294
Histories and Handbooks	258	Japan	297
Renaissance-Baroque	260	Southeast Asia	298
Neoclassical-Modern	261	AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	299
Bibliography	261	Africa	299
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	261	The Americas	300
Histories and Handbooks	261	LANDSCAPE DESIGN	301
WESTERN COUNTRIES	268	Bibliography	301
Australia	268	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	301
Canada	268	Histories and Handbooks	302
France	269	General Works	302
Bibliography	269	Ancient-Medieval	302
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	269	Islamic	303
Histories and Handbooks	269	Renaissance-Modern	303
General Works	269	Western Countries	304
Carolingian-Gothic	270	Canada	304
Renaissance-Modern	270	France	304
Germany and Austria	271	Germany and Austria	304
Early Christian-Gothic	271	Great Britain and Ireland	305
Renaissance-Modern	271	Italy	307
Great Britain and Ireland	272	Low Countries	307
Bibliography	272	Spain	308
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	273	United States	308
Histories and Handbooks	274	Bibliography	308
General Works	274	Directories	308
Early Christian-Gothic	275	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	308
Renaissance-Modern	275	Histories and Handbooks	308
Greece	277	Asian Countries	309
Italy	278	General Works	309
General Works	278	China	309
Early Christian-Gothic	278	Japan	310
Renaissance-Modern	278	K. Sculpture	311
Latin America	280	GENERAL WORKS	311
Bibliography	280	TECHNIQUES	314
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	281	HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS	316
Histories and Handbooks	281	Ancient	316
Low Countries	282	Egypt and Western Asia	316
New Zealand	283	Classical World	318
Russia and Eastern Europe	283	General Works	318
General Works	283	Crete, Mycenae, and Greece	321
Early Christian-Gothic	284	Etruria and Rome	324
Renaissance-Modern	284
Scandinavia	286

Early Christian-Byzantine	326	Ancient	388
Carolingian-Gothic	326	General Works	388
Renaissance-Baroque	327	Egypt	389
Neoclassical-Modern	329	Classical World	389
WESTERN COUNTRIES	333	Crete, Mycenae, Greece	389
Australia	333	Etruria and Rome	391
Canada	333	Mosaics	392
France	333	Early Christian-Byzantine	394
Germany and Austria	335	Islamic	396
Great Britain and Ireland	337	Carolingian-Gothic	399
Italy	339	Renaissance-Baroque	402
Latin America	343	Neoclassical-Modern	404
Low Countries	343	WESTERN COUNTRIES	407
Russia and Eastern Europe	344	Australia	407
Scandinavia	345	Canada	408
Spain and Portugal	345	France	409
Switzerland	348	Germany and Austria	415
United States	348	Great Britain and Ireland	417
ASIAN COUNTRIES	351	Greece	421
Central Asia	351	Italy	422
China	351	General Works	422
India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	353	Early Christian-Gothic
Japan	356	(excluding mosaics)	424
Southeast Asia	356	Late Gothic-Renaissance	424
AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	357	Baroque-Modern	428
General Works	357	Latin America	430
Africa	357	Low Countries	432
Oceania	362	General Works	432
The Americas	362	Early Netherlandish	433
		Baroque-Modern	435
L. Drawings	364	New Zealand	440
GENERAL WORKS	364	Russia and Eastern Europe	440
TECHNIQUES	366	Scandinavia	443
WESTERN COUNTRIES	367	Spain and Portugal	445
France	367	Switzerland	447
Germany and Austria	369	Turkey	448
Great Britain and Ireland	370	United States	448
Italy	371	General Works	448
Latin America	378	Colonial Period-19th Century	450
Low Countries	378	20th Century	451
Scandinavia	379	ASIAN COUNTRIES	453
Spain and Portugal	380	General Works	453
United States	380	China	453
ASIAN COUNTRIES	380	India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	456
India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	380	Japan	460
AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	381	Bibliography	460
The Americas	381	Histories and Handbooks	461
		Korea	462
M. Painting	382	Southeast Asia	462
COLLECTIONS AND INVENTORIES	382	AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	463
PAINTERS	386	Africa	463
TECHNIQUES	387	The Americas	464
HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS	388
General Works	388	N. Prints	466
		BIBLIOGRAPHY	466

DIRECTORIES	466	WESTERN COUNTRIES	512
DICTIONARIES AND ENCYCLOPEDIAS	467	Australia	512
GENERAL WORKS	467	Canada	513
TECHNIQUES	471	France	513
WATERMARKS	472	Germany and Austria	514
WESTERN COUNTRIES	472	Great Britain and Ireland	515
Australia	472	Italy	516
Canada	473	Latin America	517
France	473	Bibliography	517
Germany and Austria	475	Histories and Handbooks	517
Great Britain and Ireland	477	Low Countries	518
Italy	479	New Zealand	519
Latin America	480	Russia and Eastern Europe	519
Low Countries	480	Scandinavia	520
Russia and Eastern Europe	481	Spain and Portugal	521
Spain and Portugal	482	Switzerland	521
United States	482	United States	522
ASIAN COUNTRIES	484	AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	523
China	484	Africa	523
Japan	484	ASIAN COUNTRIES	523
Bibliography	484	China	523
Histories and Handbooks	485	India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	523
ARTISTS' BOOKS	486	Japan	524
BOOK ILLUSTRATION	488	P. Decorative and Applied Arts	525
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	488	BIBLIOGRAPHY	525
General Works	488	DIRECTORIES	526
Western Countries	490	DICTIONARIES AND ENCYCLOPEDIAS	526
France	490	HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS	527
Germany and Austria	491	ISLAMIC	528
Great Britain and Ireland	492	RENAISSANCE-MODERN	528
Italy	493	ASIAN COUNTRIES	531
Russia and Eastern Europe	493	China	531
Spain	493	India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	531
Switzerland	494	Japan	531
United States	494	Southeast Asia	532
Asian Countries	494	BASKETRY	532
Central Asia	494	Africa, Oceania, The Americas	532
India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	494	The Americas	532
Japan	494	ORNAMENT	532
Southeast Asia	495	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	532
POSTERS	495	Histories and Handbooks	533
		Asian Countries	533
		China	533
O. Photography	498	COSTUME	533
BIBLIOGRAPHY	498	Bibliography	533
DIRECTORIES	501	Directories	534
DICTIONARIES AND ENCYCLOPEDIAS	502	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	535
PHOTOGRAPHERS	504	Histories and Handbooks	537
TECHNIQUES	505	General Works	537
HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS	506	Ancient	539
General Works	506	Early Christian-Gothic	541
19th Century	510	Islamic	543
20th Century	512	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	543
		Histories and Handbooks	543

Renaissance-Modern	545	Africa, Oceania, The Americas	578
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	545	Africa	578
Histories and Handbooks	545	CLOCKS AND WATCHES	578
Western Countries	548	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	578
Australia	548	Histories and Handbooks	578
France	548	Western Countries	579
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	548	Canada	579
Histories and Handbooks	549	France	579
Germany and Austria	551	Germany and Austria	579
Great Britain and Ireland	552	Great Britain and Ireland	579
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	552	United States	580
Histories and Handbooks	552	Asian Countries	580
Italy	555	China	580
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	555	Japan	580
Histories and Handbooks	555	POTTERY AND PORCELAIN	580
Latin America	556	Bibliography	580
Low Countries	557	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	581
Russia and Eastern Europe	557	Histories and Handbooks	582
Scandinavia	558	Western Countries	583
Spain and Portugal	559	Australia	583
United States	560	Canada	583
Asian Countries	562	France	583
China	562	Germany and Austria	584
India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	562	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	584
Japan	562	Histories and Handbooks	584
Africa, Oceania, The Americas	563	Great Britain and Ireland	584
General Works	563	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	584
Africa	563	Histories and Handbooks	585
The Americas	564	Italy	589
FURNITURE	564	Latin America	589
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	564	Low Countries	589
Histories and Handbooks	564	Russia and Eastern Europe	590
Western Countries	566	Scandinavia	590
Australia	566	Spain and Portugal	590
Canada	566	Switzerland	590
France	566	United States	590
Bibliography	566	Bibliography	590
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	566	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	591
Histories and Handbooks	567	Histories and Handbooks	591
Germany and Austria	568	Asian Countries	593
Great Britain and Ireland	568	China	593
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	568	Japan	596
Histories and Handbooks	569	Southeast Asia	597
Italy	571	Africa, Oceania, The Americas	597
Latin America	571	Africa	597
Low Countries	571	Oceania	598
Russia and Eastern Europe	571	The Americas	598
Scandinavia	572	GLASS	599
Spain and Portugal	572	Bibliography	599
United States	572	Directories	599
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	572	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	599
Histories and Handbooks	572	Histories and Handbooks	600
Asian Countries	577	Asian Countries	602
China	577	China	602
Japan	578	Japan	602

ENAMELS	602	Western Countries	617
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	602	Great Britain and Ireland	617
Asian Countries	602	Russia and Eastern Europe	617
China	602	United States	617
Japan	602	Asian Countries	617
METALWORK	603	India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	617
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	603	Africa, Oceania, The Americas	618
Histories and Handbooks	603	Africa	618
General Works	603	The Americas	618
Ancient	604	RUGS AND CARPETS	619
Early Christian-Gothic	604	Bibliography	619
Islamic	604	Histories and Handbooks	619
Renaissance-Baroque	604	Western Countries	619
Neoclassical-Modern	604	United States	619
Western Countries	605	Asian Countries	619
Australia	605	Bibliography	619
Canada	605	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	619
France	606	Histories and Handbooks	620
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	606	General Works	620
Histories and Handbooks	606	Central Asia	620
Germany and Austria	607	China	620
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	607	TAPESTRIES	621
Histories and Handbooks	607	General Works	621
Great Britain and Ireland	607	TEXTILES	621
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	607	Bibliography	621
Histories and Handbooks	608	Directories	622
Italy	609	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	623
Latin America	609	Histories and Handbooks	625
Low Countries	609	General Works	625
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	609	Ancient	627
Histories and Handbooks	610	Early Christian-Byzantine	629
Malta	610	Islamic	630
Russia and Eastern Europe	610	Romanesque-Gothic	633
Scandinavia	611	Renaissance-Modern	634
Spain and Portugal	611	Western Countries	635
Switzerland	611	Canada	635
United States	611	France	636
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	611	Germany and Austria	637
Histories and Handbooks	612	Great Britain and Ireland	638
Asian Countries	613	Italy	639
General Works	613	Latin America	640
China	613	Low Countries	640
India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	613	Russia and Eastern Europe	640
Japan	614	Scandinavia	641
Africa, Oceania, The Americas	614	Spain and Portugal	642
Africa	614	United States	642
The Americas	615	Bibliography	642
MEDALS	615	Directories	642
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	615	Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	642
Histories and Handbooks	615	Histories and Handbooks	643
GEMS AND JEWELRY	616	Asian Countries	645
Bibliography	616	General Works	645
Dictionaries and Encyclopedias	616	Central Asia	645
Histories and Handbooks	616	India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet	645
		Japan	645
		Southeast Asia	646

Africa, Oceania, The Americas	647	T. Cultural Heritage	743
Africa	647	PART 1: PRESERVATION	743
Oceania	648	BIBLIOGRAPHY	743
The Americas	648	DIRECTORIES	744
EMBROIDERY AND NEEDLEWORK	649	DICTIONARIES AND ENCYCLOPEDIAS	745
Asian Countries	649	HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS	745
General Works	649	ARCHEOLOGY (including
China	649	ethnographic objects)	754
IVORY AND SCRIMSHAW	649	ARCHITECTURE	757
General Works	649	SCULPTURE	763
JADE	650	PAINTING	764
General Works	650	WORKS ON PAPER (except photographs)	767
Asian Countries	650	PHOTOGRAPHY	768
China	650	DECORATIVE ARTS	769
Bibliography	650	Furniture (including wood)	769
Histories and Handbooks	650	Clocks and Watches	770
LACQUER	650	Pottery and Porcelain, Glass,
Asian Countries	650	Stained Glass, and Mosaics	770
General Works	650	Metalwork	771
China	651	Gems and Jewelry	772
Japan	651	Textiles	772
WALLPAPER	651	Lacquer	773
General Works	651	Leather	773
Western Countries	652	PART 2: PRESERVATION LAW,
France	652	POLICY, AND ETHICS	774
United States	652	BIBLIOGRAPHY	774
Q. Periodicals	654	DICTIONARIES AND ENCYCLOPEDIAS	775
PART 1: CEASED TITLES, TITLE CHANGES,		HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS	775
AND NEW SERIES TITLES	655	WESTERN COUNTRIES	786
PART 2: NEW TITLES	658	Australia	786
R. Series	692	Canada	786
S. Patronage and Collecting	723	France	786
BIBLIOGRAPHY	723	Germany and Austria	788
GENERAL WORKS	724	Great Britain and Ireland	789
WESTERN COUNTRIES	730	Italy	791
France	730	Latin America	792
Germany and Austria	731	Low Countries	793
Great Britain and Ireland	732	Middle East	793
Italy	733	Russia and Eastern Europe	794
Low Countries	737	Spain and Portugal	795
Russia and Eastern Europe	738	Switzerland	795
Scandinavia	738	United States	796
Spain and Portugal	739	ASIAN COUNTRIES	798
Switzerland	739	AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS	799
Turkey	739	Africa	799
United States	740	Oceania	800
ASIAN COUNTRIES	741

Preface

This bibliography supplements the greatest of modern art bibliographies, Etta Arntzen and Robert Rainwater's Guide to the Literature of Art History (ALA, 1980). Much as Arntzen and Rainwater's effort represented a twenty-year update of Mary Chamberlin's venerable Guide to Art Reference Books (ALA, 1959), so our own brings what we have come to call GLAH 1 up-to-date after twenty years.

Since 1977 (GLAH 1's cutoff date) the literature of art has flourished remarkably. An anecdote underscores the contrast: halfway through work on this book, the director of a distinguished university library, about to deliver a paper on the demise of the scholarly monograph, expressed surprise that we were engaged on a major annotated reference bibliography, and still more that the literature of art warranted this expansive effort. We hope the reader will agree that it did and does.

Unlike GLAH 1, GLAH 2 did not begin as an effort to revise a standard work; it has been conceived as a supplement from the beginning. The only GLAH 1 titles repeated here have been notably reprinted, undergone some significant revision (new edition, English translation, etc.), or, in the case of monographic series and sets, evolved since 1977 through the appearance of new volumes, new series, or title changes. A handful of important titles published prior to 1977 and omitted from GLAH 1, the importance of which has only become clear recently, has been included.

Like GLAH 1, GLAH 2 "is addressed primarily"—in Arntzen's words—"to persons doing serious subject research in the field of art history. It is intended for graduate students laying the groundwork for research efforts and for art historians, in particular those who seek background and specific information outside their areas of specialization. It will also be valuable to librarians who are concerned with the acquisition and use of art literature." Like Arntzen and Rainwater, we have "kept in mind ... collectors, scholars in the related humanistic disciplines, bibliographers, writers, editors, booksellers and reprint publishers." Also like them, and indeed to a perhaps greater degree, we have sought to represent the literature of art in its international scope, while still focusing upon our primary Anglophone audience.

The organization adheres strictly to that of GLAH 1, facilitating consultation of the two volumes in tandem as well as cross-references. Like GLAH 1, GLAH 2 omits monographs on individual artists, and with a better conscience since the appearance of Wolfgang Freitag's standard Art Books (2nd ed., Garland, 1997). Most titles, though by no means all, are again in Western European languages, even in the sections on "non-western" art, on the assumption that the bibliographies listed here will lead the student to vernacular literature on these subjects. Meanwhile, we have consciously expanded those sections in response to the growing diversification of the literature of art and art historical practice. In response to the same disciplinary evolution, we have added two new chapters not present in GLAH 1. One is on Patronage and Collecting (Chapter S); another, on Cultural Heritage (Chapter T), treats in some depth art conservation and preservation as well as relevant ethical and legal issues in the domain of cultural property. Chapter J (Architecture) now includes a much fuller treatment of landscape architecture.

Once again, the selection of titles reflects a critical examination of virtually all the literature of art history published since 1977. If this volume's gestation period was half that of GLAH 1, this may be attributed to the fact that it is very much the product of the team of scholar/librarians who produced it. The choices embodied in the selection of titles reflect the backgrounds, experience, and expertise of these colleagues as art librarians who have, collectively, devoted hundreds of years to helping art historians, students, and other readers explore the literature of art—and many of whom are themselves art historians of no small accomplishment.

Our technical cutoff date is 1998, though numerous key works published since have been included as well; the temptation to examine the new book shelf in the latter stages of the project was difficult to resist!

A final note: GLAH 2 embodies the efforts of our contributors. But in the interest of coherence, consistency, uniformity of format, style, and even "voice," the editors have reshaped the work of the entire team in subtle and less subtle ways. Final responsibility for the authority and reliability of Guide to the Literature of Art History rests with them alone; final credit is due to our contributors.

MAX MARMOR
ALEX ROSS

Acknowledgments

We are most grateful to Etta Arntzen and Robert Rainwater, matchless editors of volume 1 of this Guide (GLAH 1, as we call it throughout this volume), for graciously blessing this enterprise; we hope GLAH 2 meets their expectations.

This bibliography might never have seen the light of day without the financial support at a critical juncture of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation, which unblinkingly intervened to support the final production stages of our work (final edits, sgml conversion, indexing). Max Marmor is also indebted to the Yale University Library for a three-month research leave early on. Both editors are indebted to their colleagues at Yale, Stanford, and, most recently in Marmor's case the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, for bearing with them during several years of work on this project, and still more for picking up the inevitable slack in their daily performance as librarians and library administrators.

GLAH 2 was a bi-coastal editorial enterprise, spanning Palo Alto and New Haven. But the book itself is also national in scope, being the product of twenty-four art librarians from all across America. The names of these contributors are listed elsewhere in this book, but we wish to acknowledge them—their efforts, generosity, and patience—here: Mary Clare Altenhofen (Harvard), David Austin (U. Illinois), Peter Blank (Art Institute of Chicago), Amanda Bowen (Harvard), Christine Bunting (U.C. Santa Cruz), Elizabeth Byrne (U.C. Berkeley), Kate Chipman (formerly Columbia), Russ Clement (Northwestern), Susan Craig (University of Kansas), Ross Day (Goldwater Library, Metropolitan Museum of Art), Alexandra de Luise (Queens College, CUNY), Paula Gabbard (Columbia), Laura Gutierrez-Witt (U. Texas, Austin), Clare Hills-Nova (NYU), B. J. Irvine (Indiana U.), Katie Keller (Stanford), Sheila Klos (Dumbarton Oaks), Tom McNulty (NYU), Julie Mellby (Toledo Museum of Art), Lee Robinson (New York Public Library), Kathleen Salomon (Getty Research Institute), Eleanor Thompson (Winterthur). We also wish to acknowledge those colleagues who were initially part of the GLAH 2 team, but had, for reasons personal or professional, to withdraw from the project: Wolfgang Freitag (formerly Harvard), Katherine Haskins (Yale), Susan Moon (UC Santa Barbara), Minoti Pakrasi (Stanford), Doralynn Pines (Metropolitan Museum of Art), Barbara Polowy (Smith), Jack Robertson (Monticello). Thanks to all.

Thanks are also due the several distinguished art historians and art librarians—too many to list individually here—who reviewed various sections of the book or functioned more informally as consultants. They will recognize their contributions throughout, as will the many colleagues who facilitated access to their collections, sometimes even looking up crucial bibliographic data for us on inexcusably short notice, at the eleventh hour.

The GLAH 2 project has throughout been an experiment in the application of new technologies to the production of what is, finally, a quite traditional reference book. We had a project website from the outset, as well as a "listserv" for the team, though it was used mostly for editorial pronouncements (often ex cathedra) from the editors. What we did not anticipate going in was that our eventual typesetter would not only accept but positively prefer the use of sgml (standard generalized markup language) as a production format. Happily, as noted above, the Kress Foundation stepped forward with financial support permitting the editors to incorporate conversion to sgml as a key element in the final editing of the book. Here, too, we have debts of gratitude to repay with words. Doug Black, of West Rock Visions in New Haven, was patience itself in working with Max Marmor to devise a project-specific "document type definition" (glah.dtd) for the book (compliant with standards of the Text Encoding Initiative or TEI), in creating a conversion script, in overseeing (well beyond the call of contractual duty) the hand-markup of the individual chapters, and in pioneering the use of xml cascading style sheets to test formatting and design options. The manual markup itself was performed by the dynamic duo of Barbara Rockenbach and Kirsten Jensen, then colleagues at Yale.

Our editors and friends at ALA Editions (Art Plotnik, initially our project editor, succeeded by Marlene Chamberlain, and Troy Linker and Dianne Rooney) have been helpful and patient partners throughout. The book benefited immensely from the excellent text editing of ALA's Mary Huchting and Ellie Barta-Moran.

We would like to express our gratitude—and apologies—to the Art Libraries Society of North America. For the better part of a decade, GLAH 2 occupied much of the professional time and energy of a score of excellent art librarians who, were it not for this engagement, would surely have filled numerous essential posts in ARLIS/NA and filled its publications with significant contributions.

Finally, thanks to the friends and families of the editors and the entire GLAH 2 team. Life did not cease for any of us during our long labor on Guide to the Literature of Art History, volume 2. Children were born, parents passed away, the world turned.

Contributors

Mary Clare Altenhofen

Chapter C: Sales Records
Chapter I: Histories and Handbooks (Western Countries)
Chapter S: Patronage and Collecting

David Austin

Chapter K: Sculpture (General Works; Techniques; Histories and Handbooks)

Peter Blank

Chapter O: Photography

Amanda Bowen

Chapter B: Directories
Chapter M: Painting (Collections and Inventories; Painters; Techniques; Histories and Handbooks)

Christine Bunting

Chapter D: Visual Resources

Elizabeth Byrne

Chapter J: Architecture (Bibliography; Dictionaries and Encyclopedias)

Kathe Chipman

Chapter J: Architecture (Histories and Handbooks)

Russ Clement

Chapter A: Bibliography (Bibliographies of Individual Artists)
Chapter M: Painting (Western Countries, Australia-Greece)

Susan Craig

Sections throughout on Asia

Ross Day

Sections throughout on The Americas

Alexandra de Luise

Chapters Q (Periodicals) and R (Series)

Paula Gabbard

Chapter A: Bibliography (Current Serials; Retrospective; Catalogs of Art Libraries; Prehistoric; Ancient-Medieval; Renaissance-Modern)

Laura Gutierrez-Witt

Sections throughout on Latin America

Clare Hills-Nova

Chapter P: Decorative Arts (Costume; Textiles)
Chapter T: Cultural Heritage

B. J. Irvine

Sections throughout on Africa and Oceania

Katharine Keller

Chapter A: Bibliography (Western Countries)

Sheila Klos

Chapter J: Architecture (Western Countries; Landscape Design)

Max Marmor

Chapter G: Historiography, Methodology, and Theory
Chapter H: Sources and Documents
Chapter I: Histories and Handbooks (Collections and Inventories; General Works; Techniques; Prehistoric; Ancient; Celtic and Germanic; Early Christian-Byzantine; Islamic; Carolingian-Gothic; Renaissance-Baroque; Neoclassical-Modern)
Chapter L: Drawings (with Alex Ross)
Chapter N: Prints (with Alex Ross)

Tom McNulty

Chapter K: Sculpture (Western Countries) (with Lee Robinson)

Julie Mellby

Chapter M: Painting (Western Countries, Italy-United States)

Lee Robinson

Chapter K: Sculpture (Western Countries) (with Tom McNulty)

Alex Ross

Chapter E: Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

Chapter L: Drawings (with Max Marmor)

Chapter N: Prints (with Max Marmor)

Kathleen Salomon

Chapter F: Iconography

Eleanor Thompson

Chapter P: Decorative and Applied Arts (Basketry; Ornament; Furniture; Clocks and Watches; Pottery and Porcelain; Glass;
Enamels; Metalwork; Medals; Gems and Jewelry; Rugs and Carpets; Tapestries; Embroidery and Needlework; Ivory and Scrimshaw; Jade; Lacquer; Wallpaper)

Guide
to the Literature
of Art History 2

A. Bibliography

The art bibliographies listed in this chapter are general in nature inasmuch as they include entries for more than one art medium. Those dealing exclusively with specific media, e.g., architecture, sculpture, painting, prints, photography, or the decorative arts, are listed in the appropriate chapters. The same applies to bibliographies devoted to specific subjects such as iconography.

CURRENT SERIALS

A1 Annual register of book values. The arts and architecture. [v.1, 1992– ]. York, Eng., Clique, 1993– . Series ed.: Michael Cole.

Formerly known as International rare book prices. Arts & architecture, v.1–6, 1986–91. York, Eng., Picaflow, 1987–92.

"ARBV provides annual record of the pricing levels of . . . selected English language . . . out-of-print, used or antiquarian books within a number of specialty subject areas and gives likely sources and suppliers for such books in Britain and the United States of America. It is intended to be used by both the experienced book man and the newcomer to book-collecting. . . . Emphasis is placed . . . on books falling within the lower to middle range of the pricing scale of 30,000 or so separate titles recorded in the annual volumes."—Introd.

Citations selected from catalogs of more than 150 dealers from Great Britain and the United States are alphabetically arranged by author. A directory of dealers appears at end.

A2 Art and archaeology technical abstracts [computer file], v.1, 1955– . Santa Monica, Calif., Getty Center. Updated semiannually.

See GLAH 1:A1 for original annotation and paper ed.

Also available on 35mm microfilm: Wooster, Ohio, Bell & Howell.

Also available through a direct internet connection from the Conservation Information Network (BCIN), a joint project of the Getty Conservation Institute and the Department of Canadian Heritage, Canada. See GLAH 2:A8 for Conservation Information Network.

A3 Art book biannual, no.1, Feb. 1991–no.1, 1997. Ithaca, N.Y., Worldwide Books, 1992–1997.

Bibliography of exhibition catalogs and selected books about art compiled from Worldwide Books New Titles lists (Feb. 1991 to the present). Arranged by Worldwide Books' item numbers. Brief annotations often follow bibliographic citations.

Related title which ceased with v.23, 1987: Worldwide art catalogue bulletin (GLAH 1:A17), subsequently consolidated into a three-volume bibliography, Worldwide bibliography of art exhibition catalogues, 1963–1987 (GLAH 2:A62). Nothing currently available from Worldwide Books fills the gap between 1987 and 1991.

Indexes at end: title, artist, geographic (chronological arrangement within European art), special topic, and medium.

A4 Art index [computer file], Oct. 1984– . N.Y., Wilson, [1987– ]. Art abstracts [computer file], Spring, 1994– . N.Y., Wilson, 1995– . Art full text [computer file], Jan. 1997– . N.Y., Wilson, [1997– ].

See GLAH 1:A3 for original annotation and paper ed. See also GLAH 2:A17 for Art index retrospective.

Art index and Art abstracts are available both in a CD-ROM version and through the internet from various vendors. Art full text is only available through the internet.

Online version of Art index; a cumulative author and subject index to a selected list of fine arts periodicals and museum bulletins (GLAH 1:A3), begun in Sept. 1984. Art abstracts incorporates the online version of Art index, and includes abstracts beginning Spring 1994. Art full text incorporates both indexes, and includes full text of selected journals beginning Jan. 1997.

A5 Arts & humanities citation index, v.1, 1975– . Philadelphia, Institute for Scientific Information, 1976– . Issued semiannually.

Coverage from 1975 to date also available on CD-ROM and from 1988 to date through the internet from various vendors.

Indexes articles and book reviews from more than 1,000 fully indexed and 5,100 selectively indexed journals. In addition, all of the references cited and the individual works of art addressed in these articles, as well as book reviews, can be searched by cited authors (or artists).

Arrangement of paper ed.: Source Index (alphabetically arranged by authors of articles); Citation Index (alphabetically arranged by authors cited); Miscellaneous Citation Index (alphabetically arranged by corporate bodies cited); "Permuterm" Subject Index (alphabetically arranged by keywords in title or, if title does not describe the subject, by terms supplied by indexer); and Corporate Index (first, geographic with subheadings for institutions; second, directly by institution).

- A6 Bibliography of the history of art: BHA. Bibliographie d'histoire de l'art, v.1, [1989- ]. Santa Monica, Calif., Getty Center, 1991-. Issued quarterly with annual cumulative indexes.

English and French.

Also available as an annually updated CD-ROM, and through the internet from vendors. (See also FRANCIS at GLAH 2:A10.)

As a merger of RILA: Répertoire international de la littérature de l'art (1975-89) (GLAH 1:A15 and GLAH 2:A53) and Répertoire d'art et d'archéologie (1910-89) (GLAH 1:A14 and GLAH 2:A52), BHA is a classed, abstracted index to "books, periodical articles from more than 3,000 titles, conference proceedings, festschriften and other collected essays, exhibition catalogues, selected art dealers' catalogues, doctoral dissertations, and microform publications. [It includes] visual arts in all media, not only the traditional Fine Arts (architecture, sculpture, painting, drawing and prints) but also the decorative and applied arts including popular art, folk art, and all objects of material culture that are of interest to the art historian. BHA covers current literature of European art from late Antiquity [4th c. AD] to the present and American art from the European discoveries to the present. [It] covers art anywhere in the world that reflects contact with the Western tradition. Christian art in Asia Minor and Africa, European colonial art in India, Africa, the Far East and Australia, and non-western art insofar as it has influenced the art of Europe and the Americas are covered even though they fall outside the geographic limits of BHA."—Introd.

Each issue has a list of periodicals analyzed and indexes of authors and subjects. Annual cumulative indexes in English and French.

- A7 Bibliography on the relations of literature and other arts. Published annually in Yearbook of comparative and general literature, v.34, 1985-.

Annual classified bibliography of current books and articles. Recent issues include author and subject indexes.

In v.32, 1983, a related bibliography appeared: Dolders, Arno, "Ut Pictura Poesis: a selective, annotated bibliography of books and articles, published between 1900 and 1980, on the interrelation of literature and painting from 1400 to 1800."

Prior to its appearance in the Yearbook, "Bibliography on the relations of literature and other arts," ed. by Stephen Sher, was separately published by the Department of German, Dartmouth College, from 1968-84.

- A8 Conservation information network (BCIN) [computer file]. Hull, Quebec, CHIN-RCIP. Electronic data and programs. 1997-.

Searchable database of more than 172,000 bibliographic records on conservation and restoration of cultural property, this site also offers a forum for exchange of such information. Incorporates Art and archaeology technical abstracts, additional technical reports, conference proceedings, journal articles, books, audiovisual materials, unpublished sources, as well as sources from a worldwide network of contributors including the Canadian Conservation Institute, Smithsonian Center for Materials Research and Education, Getty Conservation Institute, International Centre for the Study of the Preservation and the Restoration of Cultural Property, International Council of Museums, and the International Council on Monuments and Sites.

- A9 Dissertation topics. Published in each June issue of Art bulletin, v.63, no.2, 1981-.

Title varies.

Lists authors, titles, and directors of dissertations completed and in progress in the United States and Canada. Completed dissertations are listed first, dissertations in progress follow, both in a classified arrangement. Each year's list covers submissions from the previous year.

Prior to 1981, list appeared annually in Art journal from v.31, 1971 to v.40, 1980.

- A10 FRANCIS [computer file], 1984/90-. Vandoeuvre-lès-Nancy, CNRS, INIST, 1991-.

Available on CD-ROM and through the internet from various vendors. After 1994, FRANCIS indexes appear only in computerized formats.

FRANCIS is a multilingual, multidisciplinary bibliographic database that merges 20 databases in the humanities and social sciences from 1972 to the present, including: Répertoire d'art et d'archéologie (GLAH 1:A14 and GLAH 2:A52); Bulletin signalétique. Série 525: Préhistoire (GLAH 1:A76 and GLAH 2:A85); Bulletin signalétique 526: Art et archéologie. Proche-Orient, Asie, Amérique (GLAH 1:A80 and GLAH 2:A122); and Bibliography of the history of art (GLAH 2:A6).

- A11 Hochschulen und Forschungsinstitute. Published annually in Kunstchronik, Jahrg. 1, 1948-.

Lists authors, titles, and directors of German dissertations (completed and in progress) and master's theses. Also selectively lists dissertations from Austria, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Great Britain, Scandinavia, and the United States. Arranged by country, with subheadings for cities and institutions.

- A12 Liste des travaux soutenus ou préparés en histoire de l'art et archéologie, 1987-. Published annually in Histoire de l'art: bulletin d'information de l'Institut national d'histoire de l'art, v.1, 1988-.

Lists authors, titles, and directors of French art history and archaeology dissertations (completed and in progress) and master's theses. Each year's list covers submissions from previous year. Broadly classified arrangement.

- A13 Visual resources bibliography . . . , 1984-. Published annually in Visual resources, v.3, 1986-.

Alphabetically arranged by author, this bibliography lists books and articles of interest to art historians, especially visual resource curators, archivists, or librarians. Bibliography covers items published two years prior to publication of journal.

Index at end by broad subject headings.

RETROSPECTIVE

- A14 Art books, 1876–1949: including an international index of current serial publications. N.Y., Bowker, 1981. xviii, 780p.

See also the following entries: Art books, 1950–1979 and Art books, 1980–1984.

Bibliography of 21,000 books published in the United States (and a few from England and Canada), compiled from American book publishing record cumulative 1876–1949, drawn from A catalog of books represented by Library of Congress printed cards (1898–1942) and its Supplement (1942–47) and from the Library of Congress author catalog (1948–52). Entries are standard catalog records arranged by Library of Congress subject headings and followed by author and title indexes. The book sections are followed by an alphabetical subject arrangement of a selection, international in scope, of about 3,000 current art serials.

Title index to the serials is at end.

- A15 Art books, 1950–1979: including an international index of current serial publications. N.Y., Bowker, 1979. li, 1500p.

Bibliography of 37,000 books (primarily published in the United States), arranged by Library of Congress subject headings (p.1–1134), and followed by author (p.1135–86) and title (p.1187–1282) indexes.

Includes a geographic guide to museums (p.1347–1446), a guide to museum permanent collection catalogs (p.1447–75), and a publishers and distributors directory (p.1476–1500).

See also adjacent entries for Art books, 1876–1949 and Art books, 1980–1984.

- A16 Art books, 1980–1984: including an international index of current serial publications. N.Y., Bowker, 1985. xx, 571p.

Bibliography of approximately 9,600 books (primarily published in the United States), arranged by Library of Congress subject headings (p.1–400). Citations drawn from Bowker's American book publishing record cumulative 1980–1984. Author (p.401–16) and title (p.417–46) indexes follow.

The next section is an international list of about 3,000 serials. A bibliography of active serials arranged by subject (p.447–524) is followed by a list of serials that have ceased (p.525–32) and a title index (p.533–50) to both current and ceased serials. At the end is a publishers' and distributors' directory (551–71), with U.S. addresses.

See also adjacent entries for Art books, 1876–1949, and Art books, 1950–1979.

- A17 Art index retrospective [computer file]. N.Y., Wilson, 1998–2000.

See GLAH 1:A3 for original annotation and paper ed. (called Art index). See also GLAH 2:A4 for computer database eds. of Art index, Art abstracts, and Art full text.

Available on CD-ROM and through the internet from various vendors.

Retrospective online conversion of Art index providing author and subject indexing from 420 art periodicals published between 1924 and 1984.

- A18 Art Institute of Chicago. Ryerson Library. Index to art periodicals [microform]. N.Y., Hall, [1962]. 22 microfilm reels.

See GLAH 1:A19 for original annotation, paper ed., and supplement.

——— [microform]. 1st supplement. N.Y., Hall, [1975]. 1 microfilm reel.

- A19 Art Libraries Society. ARLIS union list of microforms on art, design & related subjects. Comp. by Chris Nichols. [England], [ARLIS/UK and Eire], 1988. 40p.

Now updated and available through the internet with the same title. Ed. by Douglas Dodds and Aileen Cook. A union list of microform sets held in 56 U.K. and Irish libraries. Microforms of single works, whether monographs or serials, are not included unless the works were only published in micro format. The initial list was compiled from the catalogs of the various microform publishers and formed the basis of a survey sent to libraries. The survey, forming the basis of this union list, indicates which (if any) libraries own each cited item. Each entry gives a full bibliographic citation along with the cost of the set.

The union list is followed by a directory of microform publishers, a directory of contributing libraries, and a general subject index.

- A20 Art Libraries Society. ARLIS union list of periodicals on art, design & related subjects [microform]. 3d ed. [Manchester, England], Art Libraries Society, 1984. 2 microfiches + guide (8p.)

Ed. by John Kirby. 1st ed., A union list of periodicals on art and related subject fields, comp. by Graham R. Bullock, 1978; 2d ed., ARLIS union list of periodicals on art design & related subjects [microform], ed. by John Kirby, 1982.

Union list of 83 U.K. libraries' holdings of periodicals. Editor warns that information on holdings may be incomplete. The accompanying paper guide offers a list of participating libraries and their addresses.

- A21 Art Libraries Society of North America. Historical bibliography of art museum serials from the United States and Canada. Ed. by Sheila M. Klos and Christine M. Smith. Tucson, Ariz., Art Libraries Society of North America, 1987. 58p. (Occasional papers, no.5)

Provides "a reference source for the bibliographic verification of art museum serials titles, including their exact publishing history. [It includes] periodicals published by public museums and galleries primarily devoted to art which maintain permanent collections."—Introd.

Citations are arranged alphabetically by name of museum or gallery followed by appendix of institutions that have apparently never published serials within the scope of this project. Serials title index at the end excludes such generic titles as Annual, Annual Bulletin, Annual Report, Bulletin, Calendar, Calendar of Events, Journal, Newsletter, Quarterly, Quarterly Bulletin.

- A22 ———. Central Plains Chapter. Central Plains union list of serial exhibition catalogs: a project of the Central Plains Chapter, Art Libraries Society of North America. Coordinated by Marianne L. Cavanaugh. St. Louis, [The Chapter], 1994. xi, 141p.

Now available through the internet with the same title. Ed. by Marianne L. Cavanaugh. A union list of exhibition catalogs, produced in numbered series and held in 17 libraries located in the Central Plains area of the United States (Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, and Oklahoma). All the catalogs represent exhibits held in this same geographic area. The list is preceded by a directory of participating libraries. Corporate author/title index at end.

- A23 Art serials in Edinburgh libraries: a union list. 2d ed. Edinburgh, National Library of Scotland, 1987. vii, 215p.

1st ed., Union list of art periodicals in Edinburgh libraries, 1979.

Union list of approximately 3,600 serials held at 15 libraries in Edinburgh. In addition to serials, monographic series have been included. The list is preceded by a directory of participating libraries.

- A24 Art serials: union list of art periodicals and serials in research libraries in the Washington DC metropolitan area. Ed. by Carolyn S. Larson. Washington, D.C., Washington Art Library Resources Committee, 1981. xxxiii, 161p.

Includes approximately 5,300 periodical titles and holdings (to Aug. 1, 1980) of 34 libraries in 19 institutions in the Washington, D.C. area. The alphabetically arranged list is preceded by a directory of participating libraries with their addresses, phone numbers, hours, directors' names, interlibrary loan policies, and subject specialties.

- A25 Baxter, Paula. International bibliography of art librarianship: an annotated compilation. München, Saur, 1987. v, 94p. (IFLA publications, 37)

Classified bibliography covering English-language books and articles on all matters of concern to art librarians published between 1908 and 1986.

Author index, p.91–94.

- A26 Bibliographie bildende Kunst: deutschsprachige Hochschulschriften und Veröffentlichungen ausserhalb des Buchhandels, 1966–1980 = Bibliography of the fine arts: bibliography of German-language university dissertations and publications outside the book trade, 1966–1980. München, Saur, 1992. 6v.

Lists nearly 30,000 works, arranged alphabetically by title, of "grey literature" on the fine arts from German-speaking countries. "Grey literature" includes dissertations and theses and publications of institutes as well as privately printed or privately financed publications in German-speaking countries. These titles were compiled from "Deutsche Bibliographie, Deutsche Nationalbibliographie, Österreichische Bibliographie, Das Schweizer Buch, . . . directories of university papers in German-speaking countries, . . . Deutsche Forschungsberichte, as well as special directories of university papers written in German but in non-German-speaking countries."—Introd.

- A27 Bibliography of museum and art gallery publications and audio-visual aids in Great Britain and Ireland. Somerset House, Teaneck, 1978–1980. 2v. V.1, (1977), comp. by Jean Lambert; v.2, (1978/79), comp. by Michael Roulstone.

Arranged alphabetically by institution, this work lists materials published and distributed by 811 museums, art galleries, and related institutions in Great Britain and Ireland.

Author, title, and subject indexes at end of each volume.

- A28 Böllmann, Elisabeth. Verzeichnis von Ausstellungskatalogen in den Beständen der Universitätsbibliothek Graz. Graz, Die Universitätsbibliothek, 1986. 191p. (Bibliographische Information, 41)

List of approximately 1,700 exhibition catalogs (primarily art) held in the library at the University of Graz. Arranged alphabetically by title.

Indexes: keyword, p.117–57; geographic by place of exhibition, p.158–91.

- A29 Bonafede, Cecilie Wiborg. Kunstvitenskap: veiledning til referanselitteratur i Universitetsbiblioteket i Oslo, Fagseksjon for kunsthistorie, Universitetet i Oslo, biblioteket, og Nasjonalgalleriets bibliotek. Oslo, [Universitetsbiblioteket], 1991. 180p. (UBO veiledninger, 17)

Annotated classified bibliography of reference sources in art, aesthetics, iconography, architecture, decorative arts, and conservation.

Index of authors, editors, and corporate bodies, p.169–80.

- A30 Burt, Eugene C. Erotic art: an annotated bibliography with essays. Boston, Hall, 1989. xix, 396p.

"A major goal of this bibliography has been to provide comprehensive coverage of the subject," resulting in a decision to include publications from the popular press when they contribute significantly to "an understanding of the history of erotic art."—Introd.

Contents: (1) General background; (2) General surveys; (3) The ancient world; (4) Asia; (5) Ethno-art—Africa, Oceania, and the Native Americas; (6) The western world (to the end of the 19th century); (7) The modern world.

Author index, p.377–96.

- A31 Cataloghi di collezioni d'arte nelle biblioteche fiorentine (1840–1940). A cura di Giovanna De Lorenzi. Pisa, Scuola Normale Superiore, 1988. xxiv, 692p.

(Quaderni del Seminario di Storia della Critica D'Arte, 3)

Union catalog of private collection and public auction catalogs of single European art collections published between 1840 and 1940. Arranged by art collector, if known, and if not, by place of sale. The ten contributing libraries: Biblioteca Marucelliana; Biblioteca Nazionale di Firenze; Biblioteca degli Uffizi; Fondazione Berenson; Fondazione Longhi; Istituto Nazionale di Studi sul Rinascimento; Kunsthistorisches Institut in Florenz; Istituto Olandese Universitario di Storia dell'Arte; Museo Nazionale del Bargello; Museo Stibbert.

Indexes: Authors, Art collectors, and a concordance between this work and F. Lugt, Répertoire des catalogues de ventes publiques intéressantes d'art ou la curiosité (GLAH 1:C17).

- A32 Catalogo collettivo dei periodici di archeologia e storia dell'arte: Biblioteca dell'Istituto nazionale di archeologia e storia dell'arte, Bibliotheca Hertziana, Deutsches Archäologisches Institut, École Française. [A cura di Rosalba Grosso e Antonella Aquilina.] Roma, Biblioteca di archeologia e storia dell'arte, 1992. xv, 198p.

Alphabetically arranged union list of 6,748 periodical titles held in four major Italian art and archeology libraries (Biblioteca dell'Istituto Nazionale di Archeologia e Storia dell'Arte, Bibliotheca Hertziana, Deutsches Archäologisches Institut, and École Française). Lists holdings of each periodical in the four libraries.

- A33 Catalogue collectif des périodiques des écoles d'art. Paris, L'École Nationale Supérieure des Beaux-Arts, Mars, 1984. 8 leaves of introductory matter, 72 leaves.

Modeled on the Bibliothèque Nationale's Catalogue collectif des périodiques du début du 17<sup>ème</sup> s. à 1939, Paris, Bibliothèque Nationale, 1977-82, 5v., this catalog lists art periodicals in 37 national, regional, and municipal schools of art in France. Main section is alphabetically arranged by periodical title listing ranges of years held at each institution. Introduction includes a list of contributing institutions with addresses, telephone numbers, and directors current as of Jan. 1983.

- A34 Cicognara, Leopoldo, conte. Catalogo ragionato dei libri d'arte e d'antichità posseduti dal conte Cicognara. [Reprint.] Bologna, Forni, 1987. 2v.

Reprint of GLAH 1:A28. A new ed. with scholarly apparatus is included as part of the full-text microfiche version of Cicognara's library (the Fondo Cicognara, Vatican Library). See Cicognara library: literary sources in the history of art and kindred subjects (Urbana, Ill., published by the Leopoldo Cicognara Program at the Univ. of Illinois Library in assoc. with the Vatican Library, 1989- ). Includes titles not listed in the original ed. but present in the Fondo Cicognara.

- A35 Collins, Judith. Bibliography of Arts Council exhibition catalogues, 1942-1980. London, Arts Council of Great Britain, 1982. 83p.

Includes every exhibition catalog published by the Arts Council of Great Britain from 1942 through Dec. 1980. Arranged by year of publication, and within each year, alphabetically by title.

Index of authors, p.70-73. Index of titles, p.74-83.

- A36 The Concordia University art index to nineteenth century Canadian periodicals. Ed. by George Hardy. [Montreal], Concordia Univ., 1981. xiii, 304p.

Alphabetically arranged unannotated author and subject index to articles about the visual arts published in 31 Canadian periodicals. Subject coverage is not restricted to 19th century nor to Canadian art. The bulk of the periodicals indexed were published between 1830 and 1900, but there is sporadic coverage from the final years of the eighteenth century.

The index is preceded by an annotated alphabetical list of the periodicals indexed (p.vii-xiii). These annotations can include the periodical's founder, owner, publisher, editor, publication history, subjects covered, and point of view.

- A37 Courtauld Institute of Art, London University. The Courtauld Institute of Art periodicals index [microform]. Bath, England, Mindata, 1989. 277 microfiches.

Classified abstracted index to nearly 200 art periodicals. Begun in the 1930s and maintained by the staff of the Courtauld Institute until 1983.

Author index at end, fiche 208-77.

- A38 Ehresmann, Donald L. Fine arts: a bibliographic guide to basic reference works, histories, and handbooks. 3d ed. Englewood, Colo., Libraries Unlimited, 1990. xvii, 373p.

See GLAH 1:A35 for 1st ed., 1975; 2d ed., 1979.

"For the third edition of Fine Arts [which has 2,051 entries], books published in the decade since the appearance of the second edition have been surveyed, and 258 titles have been added. The literature published before September 1, 1978 (cut-off date for the second edition) has been reviewed afresh with the result that 72 titles have been added. . . . To increase the usefulness of the bibliography a new chapter—chapter 7—on the historiography of art history has been added."—Pref.

Companion volume to the author's Applied and decorative arts: a bibliographic guide to basic reference works, histories, and handbooks (1993) (GLAH 2:P6), and his Architecture: A bibliographic guide to basic reference works, histories, and handbooks (1984) (GLAH 2:J17).

Author/title index, p.313-53. Subject index, p.355-73.

- A39 Freitag, Wolfgang M. Art books: a basic bibliography of monographs on artists. 2d ed. N.Y., Garland, 1997. xxvi, 542p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.1264)

1st ed. 1985. Bibliography of "monographs and works of a monographic character on 1,870 artists from all historical periods and from all countries."—Introd.

Almost 14,000 titles cover artists in painting, drawing, sculpture, architecture, graphic arts, photography, and decorative and applied arts. Most artists listed are Western European or North American. Titles include treatises, published dissertations, biographies, catalogues raisonnés, bibliographies, artists' writings of a biographical or theoretical nature, and some published artists' letters. Essays on a single artist within periodicals or collections (e.g., festschriften, year-books, and general museum catalogs) are not included. Catalogues raisonnés are marked with the abbreviation (CR).

"Selection of biographical dictionaries and other reference works containing information on artists," p.xix-xxvi. Author index, p.461-542.

A40 Frick Art Reference Library. Original index to art periodicals. Boston, Hall, 1983. 12v.

Also available in a microfilm ed., 12 reels. Boston, Hall, 1983.

Alphabetically arranged index to 27 art periodicals published in the United States and Europe from the mid-19th century to 1959. Citations are listed by author and artist or subject.

A41 Index to nineteenth-century American art periodicals. Ed. by Mary M. Schmidt. Madison, Conn., Sound View, 1999. 2v.

Also available through the internet. Author, title, and subject indexing of 42 art periodicals published in the United States between 1840 and 1907. Articles, poems, illustrations, notes, stories, and even advertisements are indexed.

A42 Jones, Lois Swan. Art information and the internet: how to find it, how to use it. Phoenix, Oryx, 1998. xv, 279p.

Both an abbreviated update of the author's Art information (see following title) and a guide to a large number of internet sites of use to art historians. Jones offers a methodological approach to finding, evaluating, and using these internet resources.

Contents: Pt.1. Basic information formats: (I) Electronic data and the internet; (II) Other information formats and their publishers' web sites; Pt.2. Types of web sites and how to find them: (III) Web sites of museums; (IV) Web sites of academic institutions, corporate sponsors, and individuals; (V) Cultural, civic, and professional organizations; national trusts; and foundations; (VI) Web presence of libraries: overviews, search strategies, and services; (VII) Web sites of serials and indexes to art and literature; (VIII) Buying and selling art; Pt.3. How to use and supplement web information; (IX) Basic research methodology: finding and supplementing web data; (X) Art historical styles and periods; (XI) Documenting the lives of artists and art collectors; (XII) Studying works of art; (XIII) Resources for architecture, decorative arts, fashion, graphic arts, photography, and sculpture; (XIV) North American (U.S.), Canadian, and Native American studies; (XV) Non-European cultures; (XVI) Additional art information; Appendix One: Artists' past competitive exhibitions; Appendix Two: Professional associations: web sites and journals.

Index, p.247-79.

A43 ———. Art information: research methods and resources. 3d ed. Dubuque, Kendall/Hunt, 1990. xxiv, 373p.

See GLAH 1:A41 for 1st ed., 1978; 2d ed., Art research: methods and resources: a guide to finding art information, 1984.

Numerous bibliographic citations, many of them annotated. The first two sections make up the body of the work: Section A focuses on research methodology, and Section B is a systematically arranged bibliography. New to this ed. are a chapter on database searches and citations to 275 serials within appropriate subject areas.

Contents: Sec.A: Methodology: Pt.1. Before research begins: (1) Planning a research project; (2) Utilizing the library; Pt.2. Basic research methodology: (3) Tools for compiling bibliographies and chronologies; (4) Database searches; Pt.3. Methodology beyond the basics: (5) Specialized art research resources; (6) Research on individual works of art; (7) Subjects and symbols: methodology and literature; (8) Research on people: special reference tools; (9) Architectural research. Sec.B: A bibliography of research sources: Pt.4. General art research tools: (10) Art encyclopedias and dictionaries; (11) Artistic styles, periods, and cultures: prehistoric through gothic; (12) Artistic styles, and historic periods: renaissance to contemporary; (13) North American studies; (14) Other geographic locations; (15) Museum collection and exhibition information; (16) Indexing and abstracting resources and databases; (17) Bibliographies for art research; (18) Sales information; (19) Visual resources and subject indexing projects; (20) Other resources; Pt.5. Specialized resources for various media and disciplines: (21) Architecture; (22) Prints and the art of the book; (23) Photography; (24) Decorative arts and crafts; (25) Fashion, costumes, and jewelry; (26) Film and video; (27) Commercial design; (28) Museum studies and art/museum education; Pt.6. Iconographic resources: (29) References on subjects and symbols in art. Sec.C: Research centers: (30) North American and European art research centers. Appendixes: (A)-(D) English-foreign language dictionaries; (E) Terminology; (F) Databases; their primary subjects, and vendors.

Index to publications, subjects, and professions, p.337-73.

A44 Kleinbauer, W. Eugene, and Slavens, Thomas P. Research guide to the history of Western art. Chicago, ALA, 1982. x, 229p. (Sources of information in the humanities, no.2)

Designed to assist the researcher in the use of resources in art history. "Each volume [in the series] is divided into two parts. The first features a survey of the field . . . , and the second is an annotated list of major reference works."—Pref.

Contents: Pt.I. The field of art history: (1) Art history and its related disciplines; (2) Determinants of writing art history; (3) Studying the art object; (4) Perspectives on change; (5) Psychological approaches; (6) Art and society; Pt.II. Reference works: General works; Ancient; Byzantine and medieval; Renaissance and baroque; Modern; United States and Canadian art.

Author/title index, p.193-219. Subject index, p.221-29.

A45 Lincoln, Betty Woelk. Festschriften in art history, 1960-1975: bibliography and index. N.Y., Garland, 1988. xiv, 220p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.745)

Fills the gap between Paul Rave's Kunstgeschichte in Festschriften (GLAH 1:A48) and the indexing of festschriften offered first by RILA: Répertoire international de la littérature de l'art (1975–89) (GLAH 1:A15), and subsequently by Bibliography of the history of art (GLAH 2:A6). Includes "a bibliography and an analytical index of festschriften in art history and related fields in the humanities and social sciences . . . [covering subjects that range] from the beginning of the Christian era to the present."—Pref.

The main bibliography of 344 entries is alphabetically arranged by name of person or institution honored.

Subject index, p.107–96. Author index, p.199–216. Index of dedicatees, p.219–20.

- A46 London. Victoria and Albert Museum. The Victoria and Albert Museum: a bibliography and exhibition chronology, 1852–1996. Comp. by Elizabeth James. London, Fitzroy Dearborn, 1998. xxvii, 804p.

This unannotated bibliography was published as part of the celebration of the Victoria and Albert Museum's 150th anniversary. Chronologically arranged within four sections: monographic publications, periodicals (some of which include tables of contents), related publications, and exhibition catalogs.

Name index, p.615–85. Title index, p.687–741. Series index, p.743–54. Subject index, p.755–804.

- A47 Musée d'Art et d'Histoire de Genève. Bibliothèque d'Art et d'Archéologie. Répertoire des périodiques de la Bibliothèque d'Art et d'Archéologie du Musée d'Art et d'Histoire de Genève: état au 30 juin 1983. Réd. par Marie-Françoise Guillermin. Genève, Le Musée, 1984. vi, 176p. (Publications de la Bibliothèque d'Art et d'Archéologie, 1)

Catalog of the holdings of approximately 3,000 periodical titles held in the Art and Archeology Library of the Museum of Art and History of Geneva. No indexes.

- A48 National Library of Canada. Public Services Branch. Union Catalogue of Serials Division. Union list of serials in fine arts in Canadian libraries. Inventaire des publications en série dans le domaine des Beaux-Arts dans les bibliothèques Canadiennes. Ottawa, National Library, 1978. vii, 236p.

Non-comprehensive union catalog of fine arts serials held in individual Canadian libraries. This catalog is alphabetically arranged by title, unless the title is non-distinctive (e.g., Bulletin of, Journal of, etc.), in which case the title is listed by the corporate body responsible for the publication. Holdings "are taken from the Union Catalogue of Serials at the National Library [of Canada] in which nearly 200 libraries are represented, from the two checklists of periodicals (323 titles) completed by over 80 libraries . . . , and from serials lists and individual reports provided by 20 libraries particularly for this list. An attempt has been made to achieve a balanced geographic representation of holding libraries, but for widely held titles it was impossible to include the holdings of every library."—Introd.

- A49 New York. Metropolitan Museum of Art. Catalog of the Metropolitan Museum of Art publications. Boston, Hall, 1990. 172p.

Produced by the cataloging department of the museum's Thomas J. Watson Library, this dictionary catalog represents a bibliography of publications by and about the Metropolitan Museum of Art published between 1870 and 1986. Intended for use in conjunction with Publications of the Metropolitan Museum of Art on microfiche, 1870 to the present (1990), it stands alone as a bibliography and even includes entries not represented in the microfiche set, for example, periodical titles, periodical articles, and books about the museum published elsewhere.

- A50 Periodicals contents index: PCI [computer file]. Alexandria, Va., Chadwyck-Healey, 1993–.

Available on CD-ROM and through the internet.

Table of contents index to periodicals published since 1770 in the social sciences and the humanities. "For bibliographic control of an extremely vast and formidable frontier of early periodical literature before 1975 . . . the PCI cannot be surpassed."—Review by K. Salomon, Art libraries journal, v.20, no.3, 1995, p.33.

- A51 Reference publication in art history. N.Y., Hall, 1982–1996. 30v.

An unnumbered series of bibliographies in all fields of art history. Sometimes listed as "Reference publications in . . ."

Contents: Carl F. Barnes, Villard de Honnecourt, the artist and his drawings: a critical bibliography, 1982; Madeline Harrison Caviness, Stained glass before 1540: an annotated bibliography, 1983; Walter S. Gibson, Hieronymus Bosch: an annotated bibliography, 1983; Dorothy F. Glass, Italian Romanesque sculpture: an annotated bibliography, 1983; James H. Stubblebine, Dugento painting: an annotated bibliography, 1983; Slobodan Ćurčić, Art and architecture in the Balkans: an annotated bibliography, 1984; Robert Deshman, Anglo-Saxon and Anglo-Scandinavian art: an annotated bibliography, 1984; Louise Hanson, The art of Oceania: a bibliography, 1984; Martin Werner, Insular art: an annotated bibliography, 1984; Janet Catherine Berlo, The art of pre-Hispanic Mesoamerica: an annotated bibliography, 1985; Carla Lord, Royal French patronage of art in the fourteenth century: an annotated bibliography, 1985; E. James Mundy, Painting in Bruges, 1470–1550: an annotated bibliography, 1985; Lawrence Nees, From Justinian to Charlemagne: European art, 565–787: an annotated bibliography, 1985; Martha Levine Dunkelman, Central Italian painting, 1400–1465: an annotated bibliography, 1986; Barbara G. Lane, Flemish painting outside Bruges, 1400–1500: an annotated bibliography, 1986; Linda B. Parshall, Art and the Reformation: an annotated bibliography, 1986; Charles M. Rosenberg, Fifteenth-century North Italian painting and drawing: an annotated bibliography, 1986; Daniel P. Biebuyck, The arts of Central Africa: an annotated bibliography, 1987; Caroline Karpinski, Italian printmaking, fifteenth and sixteenth centuries: an annotated bibliography, 1987; Thomas W. Lyman, French Romanesque sculpture: an annotated bibliography, 1987; Gretel Chapman, Mosan art: an annotated bibliography, 1988; Patrick M. De Winter, European decorative arts, 1400–1600: an annotated bibliography, 1988; Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann, Art and architecture in Central Europe, 1550–1620: an annotated bibliography, 1988; Eugene C. Burt, Erotic art: an annotated bibliography with essays, 1989; Jan van der Meulen, Chartres: sources and literary interpretation: a critical bibliography, 1989; Paula Chiaramonte, Women artists in the United States: a selective bibliography and resource guide on the fine and decorative arts, 1750–1986, 1990; Eugene W. Kleinbauer, Early Christian and Byzantine architecture: an annotated bibliography and historiography, 1992; Martin Davies, Romanesque architecture: a bibliography, 1993; Cassandra L. Langer, Feminist art criticism: an annotated bibliography, 1993; Helaine Silverman, Ancient Peruvian art: an annotated bibliography, 1996.

A52 Répertoire d'art et d'archéologie [computer file], 1st ser. 1973–1989. Santa Monica, Calif., Getty, 1996. See GLAH 1:A14 for paper version.

On CD-ROM and available through the internet from various vendors.

Merged with RILA (below) to form BHA (GLAH 2:A6) in 1991.

A53 RILA: Répertoire international de la littérature de l'art. International repertory of the literature of art [computer file], 1975–1989. Santa Monica, Calif., Getty, 1996.

See GLAH 1:A15 for original annotation and paper ed.

On CD-ROM and available through the internet from various vendors.

Merged with Répertoire d'art et d'archéologie (above) to form BHA (GLAH 2:A6) in 1991.

A54 Robinson, Doris. Fine arts periodicals: an international directory of the visual arts. Voorheesville, N.Y., Peri, 1991. xviii, 570p.

Classified annotated list of periodicals, newsletters, and newspapers published once a year or more frequently about the visual arts. Foreign-language publications are included if they are indexed or abstracted by at least one of the 38 indexing or abstracting services listed in the introductory matter, or if the periodical includes English-language summaries. Along with standard bibliographic data, citations include publisher address, phone number, editor, and language of publication. Also includes information on the presence of reviews, bibliographies, biographies, interviews, obituaries, job lists, and circulation figures, as well as whether the periodical indexes itself, what major indexing or abstracting service indexes it, and other information provided by the publisher.

Title index, p.501–26. Publisher & organization index, p.527–45. ISSN index, p.547–53. Country of publication index, p.555–57. Subject index, p.559–70.

A55 Schettini Piazza, Enrica. La banca e il libro: catalogo delle pubblicazioni delle aziende e degli istituti di credito italiani. Con la collab. di Vanni Scheiwiller. Pres. di Piero Barucci. Pref. di Umberto Eco. Roma, Bancaria editrice, 1991. 2v. il. (part col.)

Bibliography of books privately published by or for Italian banks. Bank names arranged alphabetically within which books are listed by date of publication.

Indice degli autori, v.2, p.[755]–832. Indice delle voci e soggetti, v.2, p.[833]–988. Indice delle Aziende e degli Istituti di Credito, p.[990]–1007.

A56 Schlosser, Julius von. La littérature artistique; manuel des sources de l'histoire de l'art moderne. Trad. de l'allemand par Jacques Chavy. Mise à jour d'Otto Kurz. Trad. de l'italien par Marc Le Cannu. Ed. française mise à jour par Paola Di Paolo Stathopoulos . . . [et al.] Pref. par André Chastel. Paris, Flammarion, 1984. 741p.

See GLAH 1:A49 for original annotation.

Translation of: Die Kunstliteratur, with the 3d corrected and updated Italian ed.: La letteratura artistica. (See GLAH 1:A49.) 1st German ed. 1924; reprinted, 1985; 1st Italian ed. Florence, 1935 (with bibliography supplied by Otto Kurz, 1937); 2d Italian ed. Florence (with additional bibliography by Kurz), 1956; 3d Italian ed. Florence (again updated by Kurz), 1964; reprinted Florence, La Nuova Italia, 1977; 1st Spanish ed. Madrid, 1976.

Classic survey on the literature of art, now translated into French, with a French translation of Otto Kurz's memoir. Updated, but with new and old errors, to June 1, 1983 (see review by Max Marmor in Burlington magazine, v.130, Oct. 1988, p.783–84).

A57 Stampfli, Sabine, comp. Katalog älterer Kunstbücher auf der Universitätsbibliothek Basel (1495–1847). Basel, Die Bibliothek, 1978. 151 leaves.

Catalog of art books held at the University of Basel Library by established authors who were actively publishing prior to 1800. Arranged alphabetically by author, with cross-references from titles and secondary authors; publication dates range from 1495 to 1847.

Indexes: broad subjects, p.131–38; city of publication, p.139–40; chronological by year of publication, p.141–43; engravers' names, p.144–51.

A58 Standortverzeichnis von Zeitschriften und Serien zur bildenden Kunst in Bibliotheken der Deutschen Demokratischen Republik. [Red. Bearb., Helgard Sauer und Sigrid Stein.] Dresden, Die Landesbibliothek, 1984. vii, 495p.

Alphabetically arranged union catalog of 3,100 fine arts periodicals and series held in 53 academic and other East German libraries. Citations list holdings from the mid-18th century to the present and give title, place of publication, and individual libraries' holdings.

No indexes.

A59 United States. National Gallery of Art. Guide to the National Gallery of Art microform holdings. Comp. by Diana Vogel song. Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art Library, 1990. 88p.

Well-annotated guide to the microform holdings of the National Gallery of Art as of July 1989. This guide is in several sections: the first is a list of monographic materials arranged alphabetically by main entry, followed by a keyword index; the second section is a list of periodical titles on microform; and the third is a list of photographic archives on microform, again listed alphabetically by main entry, followed by an index under broad medium or subject categories.

- A60 University of California, Santa Barbara. Arts Library. Subject index to art exhibition catalog collection of the Arts Library, University of California at Santa Barbara [microform]. Cambridge, England, Chadwyck-Healey, 1977-1990.

Index to 45,000 exhibition catalogs held at the University of California, Santa Barbara, of which ca. 5,000 appear in the same publisher's microfiche set, Art exhibition catalogues republished on microfiche (1975-83[?]). Updated semiannually with periodic cumulations. Index includes listings by subject (including artists' names), author of catalog, title, and organizing body (museum, gallery, etc.).

- A61 World museum publications 1982: a directory of art and cultural museums, their publications and audio-visual materials. N.Y., Bowker, 1982. xx, 711p.

The main section (Museum publications and audio-visual materials index), arranged by museum name, separately cites publications (exhibition catalogs, collection catalogs, monographs, serials) and audio-visual materials (slide sets, posters, color reproductions of works of art, audio tapes, video tapes, and films) produced by the museum. Citations for publications include author/title information, notes on illustrations, and prices. Citations for audio-visual materials include author/title information, running time, sound information, titles of individual art works in slide sets, as well as prices.

The main section is preceded by a geographic guide (p.1-172) to the approximately 10,000 museums that contributed to this publication. Museum addresses and often a description of the museum's permanent collections are provided. At the end of the publication is a key to publishers' and distributors' abbreviations (p.689-711) serving as a directory.

Author index—publications, p.411-97. Title index—publications, p.499-634. Title index—audio-visual materials, p.635-87.

- A62 Worldwide bibliography of art exhibition catalogues 1963-1987. Millwood, N.Y., Kraus, 1992. 3v.

Compiled from the complete contents of The Worldwide art catalogue bulletin (GLAH 1:A17), this classified bibliography cites "more than 17,500 exhibition catalogues from museums and galleries throughout the world. . . . Most entries appear in more than one section; each citation gives complete bibliographic information, wherever it appears."—Introd.

Contents: v.1: Geographical sections: (A) Western art; (B) Non-Western art; v.2: (C) Media section; v.3: (D) Topical section; (E) Monograph section.

Title index at end of v.3, p.2323-2537.

SEE ALSO: Bibliographie zur symbolik, ikonographie und mythologie (GLAH 1:F1).

CATALOGS OF ART LIBRARIES

- A63 Biblioteca di Archeologia e Storia dell'Arte (Rome, Italy). Le edizioni del XVII secolo della Biblioteca di Archeologia e Storia dell'Arte: catalogo. A cura di Isotta Scandaliato Ciciani. Roma, La Biblioteca, 1983. 321p. il.

Alphabetically arranged by author, this catalog cites works published between 1601 and 1700 held in the Biblioteca di Archeologia e Storia dell'Arte in Rome.

Indice degli autori e titoli, dei commandatori, traduttori e curatori, p.299-311, Supp. p.53-64. Indice dei tipografi e degli editori, p.313-21, Supp. p.65-73. Indice topografico dei tipografi e degli editori, Supp. p.75-82. Indice cronologico, Supp. p.83-88.

———. Supplemento, 1986. 88p. il.

- A64 Bibliotheca Hertziana. Kataloge der Bibliotheca Hertziana in Rom (Max-Planck-Institut). Wiesbaden, Reichert, 1985-1994. 16v. (Systematischer Standortkatalog); 33v. (Alphabetischer Katalog); 8v. (Aufsatzautoren Katalog).

Catalog, in three parts, of one of the major Italian art historical libraries in Rome comprising almost 150,000 volumes. Section I (Systematischer Standortkatalog), the shelf list, shows a system of classification developed in the mid-1960s designed by the staff of the Hertziana that "is wholly tailored to the character of the Hertziana as a specialized library for research in Italian art."—Introd.

Section II (Alphabetischer Katalog) cites works in the collection by author and title, and Section III (Aufsatzautoren Katalog) lists authors of journal articles and other miscellaneous contributions (e.g. festschriften and congress proceedings). "The work of cataloguing for this section has not been uniform: fifty-two leading journals and yearbooks as well as all miscellaneous volumes have been regularly indexed . . . but for other periodicals there are unavoidable arrears."—Introd.

No future vols. are planned.

- A65 Columbia University. Library. Avery Architectural and Fine Arts Library. Catalog of the Avery Memorial Architectural Library of Columbia University. 2d ed., enl. Boston, Hall, 1968. 19v.

1st ed., 1958. See GLAH 1:A58 for earlier supplements.

"Records all books and periodical titles added to the Avery Architectural and Fine Arts Library . . . from May 1979 through December 1981."—Pref. of 5th supplement. Microfilm versions of 2d ed. and supplements 2-4 published by Hall from 1968 to 1980.

———. 4th supplement. 2d ed. Boston, Hall, 1980. 3v.

———. 5th supplement. 2d ed. Boston, Hall, 1982. 4v.

- A66 Florence. Kunsthistorisches Institut. Katalog des Kunsthistorischen Instituts in Florenz. Catalog of the Institute for the History of Art in Florence. Boston, Hall, 1964. 9v.

See GLAH 1:A61 for original annotation and previous supplement. No microform ed. ever published for original 9-vol. set or 1st supplement.

_____. [microform]. 2d supplement. Boston, Hall, 1972. 4 microfilm reels.

_____. [microform]. 3d supplement. Boston, Hall, 1976. 4 microfilm reels.

A67 Harvard University. Fine Arts Library. Catalogue of the Harvard University Fine Arts Library, the Fogg Art Museum [microform]. Boston, Hall, 1971. 15 microfilm reels.

See GLAH 1:A63 for original annotation and paper ed.

_____. [microform]. 1st supplement. Boston, Hall, 1975. 3v. or 3 microfilm reels.

A68 _____. Card catalogs of the Harvard University Fine Arts Library [microform]. München, Saur, 1984. 520 microfiches and guide (96p.)

Accompanying guide entitled: Guide to the card catalogs of the Harvard University Fine Arts Library, 1895-1981. "The origin of the present Fine Arts Library can be traced to the merger in 1962-63 of the former Fogg Museum Library (then containing 40,000 volumes) and the fine arts collection of Widener Library (60,000 volumes). This union created one of the world's largest university art libraries with collections of books, periodicals, photographs and slides together under one roof. In 1978 the Fine Arts Library also absorbed the book and periodicals collections of the Rübel Asiatic Research Bureau, the curatorial collection of the Fogg's Department of Oriental Art which contains over 12,000 volumes on the visual arts of the Far East, mainly in the Chinese, Japanese and Korean languages."—Introd.

This microform set therefore reflects the larger scope of the entire Harvard Library's holdings on the visual arts. Approximately 25,000 auction sales catalogs are listed in a separate section of this microfiche set by dealer and then by date of sale. The Rübel Asiatic Research Collection is also in a separate section. The two other sections of this microfiche collection are the Shelf list catalog of the Fine Arts Library and the main Dictionary catalog. The Dictionary catalog supersedes the G.K. Hall catalogue of 1971 and its 1976 supplement, as it contains entries through February 1981. The other sections are current through December 1983.

A69 _____. Catalog of the Rübel Asiatic Research Collection, Harvard University Fine Arts Library. London, Saur, 1989. 7v.

Also available in a microfilm ed.: Rübel Asiatic Research Collection-Dictionary catalog: titles cataloged through December 1983. Munich, Saur, 1984. 33 fiche.

"Its 12,000 volumes of monographs and periodicals cover the art of East Asia, Central Asia, Southeast Asia and India. Particularly strong are holdings on Chinese ritual bronzes, Buddhist arts, Chinese and Japanese painting, Japanese woodblock prints, and East Asian ceramics. In addition to textual materials, Rübel has extensive holdings of fine scroll reproductions of Chinese and Japanese art, and rubbings of inscriptions from stone monuments."—Pref.

Catalog entries are filed alphabetically letter by letter, except that personal surnames always precede other entries. All author and title entries for materials in East Asian languages are romanized, but the cards also contain the original characters and an English translation of the title. The library utilizes the Rübel Library Classification System developed in 1974 by Yenshaw Lynn Chao.

Following the Dictionary catalog is the Catalog of reproductions of Chinese and Japanese art, and the Mei shu Ts'ung shu and I-shu ts'ung Pien.

The publication represents the cataloged holdings as of December 31, 1985.

Contents: (1) A-B; (2) C-D; (3) E-I; (4) J-MA; (5) ME-PA; (6) PE-S; (7) T-Z.

A70 _____. Villa I Tatti, Florence. Berenson Library. Catalogues of the Berenson Library of the Harvard University Center for Italian Renaissance Studies at Villa I Tatti, Florence, Italy [microform]. Boston, Hall, 1972. 4 microfilm reels.

See GLAH 1:A64 for original annotation and paper ed.

A71 London. Victoria and Albert Museum. National Art Library Catalogue. Author catalogue [microform]. London, Mindata, 1986. 706 microfiches.

See GLAH 1:A73 for paper ed.

Subject catalog provides subject access to one of Britain's major art research libraries with particular strengths in the decorative and applied arts. "The catalogue is divided into four sections: General alphabetical sequence; Fine art and archaeology; Applied and minor arts; Book art. Cross references occur between these categories."—Pref.

_____. The Victoria and Albert Museum Library. Subject catalogue [microform]. 1983. 879 microfiches.

A72 London University. Warburg Institute. Library. Catalog of the Warburg Institute Library [microform]. [2d ed.] Boston, Hall, 1967. 22 microfilm reels.

See GLAH 1:A66 for original annotation, paper ed., and supplement.

_____. [microform]. 1st supplement. Boston, Hall, 1971. 2 microfilm reels.

A73 New York. Metropolitan Museum of Art. Library catalog of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. 2d ed. rev. and enl. Boston, Hall, 1980. 48v.

See GLAH 1:A67 for 1st ed., 1966-1980. 28v. and its supplements.

_____. 1st supplement. 2d ed. Boston, Hall, 1982. 1v.

_____. 2d supplement. 2d ed. Boston, Hall, 1985. 4v.

_____. 3d supplement. 2d ed. Boston, Hall, 1987. 3v.

_____. 4th supplement. 2d ed. Boston, Hall, 1990. 3v.

_____. 5th supplement. 2d ed. Boston, Hall, 1994. 3v.

Microfilm version of 2d ed. and supplements 2-3 published by Hall from 1980-1987.

A74 _____. Robert Goldwater Library. Catalog of the Robert Goldwater Library, the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Boston, Hall, 1982.

"The Robert Goldwater Library was founded in 1957 as the Museum of Primitive Art Library. In 1975, when the Museum of Primitive Art became the Department of Primitive Art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Library became the departmental library. . . . The arts of the native peoples of Africa, Oceania, and the Americas are covered with special strengths in West Africa, precolumbian Mexico and Peru, and New Guinea."—Introd.

Divided by author/title and subject, with separate indexes for serials and auction catalogs. Analytical entries included for periodical articles and collected works.

- A75 New York. Museum of Modern Art. Library. Annual bibliography of modern art, 1986–. Boston, Hall, 1987–.

Dictionary catalog that forms an annual supplement to Catalog of the Library of the Museum of Modern Art, New York City (see following entry). "The museum library became a special member of the Research Libraries Group, Inc., in 1980, and since 1981 has entered all its cataloging records—except those for artist files containing fugitive material—into the Research Libraries Information Network, the RLIN database."—Introd.

Each Annual bibliography is compiled from RLIN records of both new and older publications acquired by the library in the year of each volume's coverage.

- A76 ———. ———. ———. Catalog of the Library of the Museum of Modern Art, New York City [microform]. Boston, Hall, 1976. 28 microform reels.

Also available on CD-ROM with the title: Bibliography of modern art on disk (1998). See GLAH 1:A68 for original annotation and paper ed.

Supplemented by the Annual bibliography of modern art (see preceding entry).

- A77 New York. Whitney Museum of American Art. Catalog of the Library of the Whitney Museum of American Art. Boston, Hall, 1979. 2v.

Catalog of more than 10,000 books and exhibition catalogs covering 20th-century American art, and a core collection of publications about earlier American centuries and international 20th-century art.

———. [microform]. Boston, Hall, 1979. 2 microfilm reels.

- A78 Ottawa. National Gallery of Canada. Library. Catalogue of the Library of the National Gallery of Canada. Catalogue de la Bibliothèque de la Galerie Nationale du Canada. Boston, Hall, 1973. 8v.

See GLAH 1:A71 for original annotation.

———. 1st supplement. Boston, Hall, 1981. 6v.

- A79 Paris. Université. Bibliothèque d'Art et d'Archéologie (Fondation Jacques Doucet). Catalogue général, périodiques. [2d ed.] Nendeln, Liechtenstein, Kraus-Thomson Organization, 1972. 224p.

See GLAH 1:A72 for original ed.

Second ed. is updated (to January 1, 1970) and expanded ed. of v.14 of the library's Catalogue général . . . , first published in 1937.

- A80 Washington, D.C. Freer Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C. Library. Dictionary catalog of the Library of the Freer Gallery of Art, Smithsonian Institution

[microform]. 2d enl. ed. on microfiche. Boston, Hall, 1991. 252 microfiche and printed guide (vi, 9p.)

See GLAH 1:A62 for printed 1st ed. (in 6v.) of this catalog of an important library that specializes in the art of the Far East, India, and the Near East.

- A81 Washington, D.C. Smithsonian Institution. Libraries. National Museum of African Art Branch. Catalog of the Library of the National Museum of African Art Branch of the Smithsonian Institution Libraries. Boston, Mass., Hall, 1991. 2v. (Smithsonian Institution Libraries Research Guide, 7)

Documents more than 20,000 volumes located in the branch library. Access is provided by main entry, added entries, titles, series titles, and subject headings.

- A82 Zentralinstitut für Kunstgeschichte in München. Bibliothek. Kataloge der Bibliothek des Zentralinstituts für Kunstgeschichte in München [microform]. München, Saur, 1982–. (1,025) microfiches in 4 parts + guide (280p.) and ongoing microfiche supplements to each part.

Catalog of one of the most important art history libraries in Europe with holdings of approximately 300,000 volumes including "literature from all branches of European art and literature on art history from the early Middle Ages to the present day."—Introd.

Alphabetischer Katalog is the main author and title catalog; Katalog der unselbständigen Schriften is an author catalog of journal articles and book essays (e.g. festschriften, conference reports, etc.) published after 1949; Sachkatalog is a subject catalog of entries within topographic, artist, and portrait sections.

Contents: Alphabetischer Katalog; Katalog der unselbständigen Schriften (Aufsatzkatalog); Sachkatalog; Begleit- heft zum Sachkatalog (the guide).

PREHISTORIC

- A83 Ausgewählte Bibliographie zur Vorgeschichte von Mitteleuropa. Hrsg. von Rolf Hachmann. Unter Mitarbeit. von Johannes Boese . . . [et al.] Stuttgart, Steiner, 1984. lxiii, 390p.

Classified bibliography (books and periodical articles) of European prehistory. After a first general chapter with chronological and topical subdivisions, subsequent chapters are divided into regions of Europe, again using chronological and topical subdivisions.

Register, p.357–90.

- A84 Bibliographies sur l'âge du fer. Montagnac, Mergoïl, 1988. ca. 350p. (Bibliographies thématiques en archéologie, 1–8)

Series director: Michel Feugère.

Eight separate bibliographies (books, articles in periodicals and books, and other published essays), compiled by different authors. Each has its own arrangement (author, subject, or topographic) and many have geographic, site, thematic, and/or chronological indexes. Focus is on French Iron Age archeology, but other geographic areas are included.

Contents: (1) La vie quotidienne en Europe aux ages de métaux; (2) L'Age du fer en Bretagne; (3) L'Age du fer en Languedoc occidental et en Roussillon; (4) L'Age du fer en Languedoc oriental; (5) Les fibules protohistoriques; (6) L'armement au Deuxième age du fer; (7) Les lampes préromaines; (8) Le verre préromain.

A85 Francis bulletin signalétique 525, Préhistoire et protohistoire, v.45-48, 1991-1994. Vandoeuvre-lès-Nancy, CNRS, INIST, Sciences humaines et sociales. See GLAH 1:A76 for earlier vols., and GLAH 2:A239 for related title: Francis bulletin signalétique 526: Art et archéologie (Proche-orient, Asie, Amérique).

After 1994, available only on CD-ROM or through the internet from various vendors (see FRANCIS at GLAH 2:A10).

A86 Hendrickx, Stan. Analytical bibliography of the prehistory and the early dynastic period of Egypt and northern Sudan. Louvain, Louvain Univ. Pr., 1995. 328p. (Egyptian prehistory monographs)

Alphabetically arranged by author, this bibliography of 7,407 entries includes books, periodical articles, essays (e.g., in festschriften, conference proceedings, etc.), auction and sales catalogs (particularly of 1964+ Christie's and Sotheby's in London) with pertinent illustrations or information regarding the provenance of objects that would interest archeologists. Also includes dissertations available through UMI. Hendrickx made use of Kent R. Weeks' An historical bibliography (GLAH 2:A88), but nearly 450 titles in Weeks are not here because they fall out of the scope of this work; e.g., some titles related to the rock-art of Gebel Uweinat, Libya, and others covering racial and biblical theories on the period. Some works published as late as 1993 are included.

Author index, p.[269]-92. Thematic index, p.[293]-304. Topographical index, p.[305]-29.

A87 Pickin, Frances R. A worldwide archaeological sample. New Haven, Human Relations Area Files, 1983. 2v. (xii, 274 leaves) (HRAFlex books; W6-009. Bibliography series)

Geographically arranged bibliography of general books on a region followed by specific monographs, surveys, and locality reports for more than 500 archeological sites within 29 geographic sections. "The Worldwide archaeological sample is thus a geographically representative worldwide sample of archaeologically defined sequences and/or cultures. Its purpose and design is twofold. Not only does it describe a set of prehistoric data for hologeistic anthropologists seeking non-ethnographically based samples but it introduces anthropological archaeologists to the possibilities of doing worldwide comparison with their data. . . . Deciding upon the actual location for each section was . . . determined by three factors: site density, time depth in the area and the number of site reports in English. . . . Four factors influenced the choice of particular sites: [the site's location within the section, the amount of data published on the site, the language used in the report (English was emphasized), and the availability of reports to the author.]"—Introd.

Index, p.267-74.

A88 Weeks, Kent R. An historical bibliography of Egyptian prehistory. With the ed. assistance of Catharine Roehrig . . . [et al.] Winona Lake, Ind., Eisenbrauns, 1985. xxii, 138p. (Published for the American Research Center in Egypt [Columbia University])

Alphabetically arranged by author, this bibliography of 2,515 entries includes books, articles, book reviews, essays, archeological surveys, excavation reports, and travelers' reports. Although there is no subject index to this bibliography, Weeks' 13-page introduction devotes a paragraph to describing and exemplifying each type of publication listed in the bibliography (bibliography, history of Egyptian prehistorical research, geological studies, climatological studies, the river Nile, etc.) and can be regarded as a thematic index.

ANCIENT—MEDIEVAL

Current Serials

A89 L'Année philologique [microform]: bibliographie critique et analytique de l'antiquité gréco-latine, 1924/26- . Chico, Calif., Scholars. Microfiche.

See GLAH 1:A77 for original annotation and paper ed.

See also Database of classical bibliography (GLAH 2:A99) for CD-ROM version.

A90 Archäologische Dissertationen. Published annually since 1970 in Archäologischer Anzeiger. Berlin, de Gruyter, Heft 1, 1963- .

Bibliography of completed archeological dissertations from German, Swiss, and Austrian universities. Arranged alphabetically by author, gives title and institution.

A91 Bibliographie. Published annually in Beiträge zur Sudanforschung. Wien-Mödling, Druckerei St. Gabriel, Bd. 1, 1986- .

Annotated bibliography of current literature (books, festschriften, and periodical articles) on the history and archeology of ancient Sudan. Each bibliography lists materials published several years previously.

A92 Bibliographie. Published annually in Byzantinoslavica, v.2 (1930)- .

Classified bibliography of current literature (books and periodical articles) of which Pt.9, "Art Byzantin, archéologie," covers Byzantine art and archeology from antiquity to the Middle Ages. Includes Roman- and Slavic-language citations.

A93 Bibliographie, 1957- . Published annually in Cahiers de civilisation médiévale Xe-XIIe siècles, t.1, jan./mars, 1958- .

Unannotated bibliography of current literature (books, articles, conference reports, etc.) on medieval civilization, arranged alphabetically as a subject index, with many cross-references to other entries. Each year's bibliography lists materials published several years previously. Followed by a section of citations to reviews previously published in Cahiers to books listed in earlier Bibliographies.

A94 Bibliographie. Published annually in Revue d'histoire ecclésiastique, v.33, 1937–.

Classified bibliography of current literature (books and periodical articles) on ancient to medieval ecclesiastical matters, including sections on archeology and art history. Each year's bibliography lists materials published several years previously.

A95 Bibliographische Notizen und Mitteilungen. Published annually in Byzantinische Zeitschrift, 1892–. (Reprint. N.Y., Johnson Reprint, 1964–.)

See GLAH 1:A79 for original publication.

Also available on 35mm microfilm: München, Beck, n.d.

A96 Bulletin analytique d'histoire romaine. Strasbourg, Association pour l'étude de la civilisation romaine, t. 1, 1962–.

Bibliography to current periodical literature on ancient Roman history, with numbered citations arranged by author. Citations lack annotations, but do include keyword, geographic, and thematic headings after each entry. Computer-generated indexes follow citations: [current] authors, [ancient] people and gods; [ancient] authors and sources, places and sites, thematic subdivided by keywords, keywords alone.

A97 Byzantinische Zeitschrift. Supplementum bibliographicum. Hrsg. von Peter Schreiner. Stuttgart, Teubner, v.1–, 1994–.

Published as a supplement to "Bibliographische Notizen und Mitteilungen," in Byzantinische Zeitschrift (GLAH 1:A79 and GLAH 2:A95), and like the "Bibliographische" in BZ, Pt.7, "Archäologie und Kunstgeschichte" is a classified bibliography of literature on Byzantine art and the arts of antiquity. Beginning with v.84/85 (1991/92), the editors of BZ realized they no longer had the space to accommodate the ever-growing "Bibliographische Notizen" section, so a separate bibliographic supplement was begun. Future supplements will be smaller than the first and will cover current literature one or two years after it has appeared.

Author index precedes classified bibliography.

A98 Current Swedish archaeology, 1993–. Stockholm, Swedish Archaeological Society, v.1 (1993)–.

Continuation of Swedish archaeology: 1976/80–1981/85, 1983–85, 2v., which is itself a continuation of Swedish archaeological bibliography: 1939/48–1971/75, 1951–1978, 6v. (GLAH 1:A86).

Current ed.: Mats Burström and Anders Carlsson.

When it changed its title from Swedish archaeological bibliography to Swedish archaeology, this publication also changed its scope and format. Essays are smaller, and while they continue to list bibliography, they tend to focus more on scholarly developments of the period rather than on publications. Second, there is no longer a complete bibliographic index at the end of each volume but rather a bibliography at the end of each small article. Finally, fewer essays are published on archeology outside of Sweden. Current Swedish archaeology continues in a similar format as Swedish archaeology.

A99 Database of classical bibliography: DCB [computer file], v.1, 1976/87–. Atlanta, Scholars, 1995–.

Available on CD-ROM (with user's guide, 122p.) and through the internet.

General ed.: Dee L. Clayman.

CD-ROM version of L'Année philologique (see GLAH 1:A77 and GLAH 2:A89), updated annually, incorporating retrospectively 3–5 vols. of L'Année philologique per year.

Based on L'Année philologique, Database of classical bibliography "contains citations of all known scholarly work published in any language anywhere in the world in the areas of ancient Greek and Latin language and linguistics, Greek and Roman history, literature, philosophy, art, archaeology, religion, mythology, music, science, early Christian texts, numismatics, papyrology, and epigraphy. Its coverage begins with the second millennium B.C. with pre-classical archaeology, and ends with the period of transition from late antiquity to the middle ages (roughly 500–800 A.D.)."—Introd. to user's guide.

A100 Deutsches Archäologisches Institut. DYABOLA [computer file]: Sachkataloge des Deutschen Archäologischen Instituts. Subject catalogues of the German Archaeological Institut (DAI) on CD-ROM. Ennepetal, Biering und Brinkmann, [1988?]-. CD-ROM with user's guide (38p.)

CD-ROM version of Archäologische Bibliographie (see GLAH 1:A83) with semiannual or annual updates. Internet version in preparation.

Includes the subject catalogs of the German Archeological Institute in Rome (1956 to date), and Bibliographies of Iberian archeology from the German Archeological Institute in Madrid (1991 to date) and the Archeology of Roman provinces from the Römisch-Germanische Kommission, Frankfurt (1992 to date).

A101 Dissertations in progress, or dissertations completed. Published in ICMA newsletter, 1994–.

Preceded by: International census of doctoral dissertations in medieval art, 1982–93. Ed. by Dorothy F. Glass. Assist. eds.: Martha Easton and Margaret Lubel. N.Y., International Center of Medieval Art, 1994. iii, 30p., which was preceded by ICMA census of doctoral dissertations, pt.4, Gesta, v.21, 1982, p.159–62; ICMA census of doctoral dissertations, pt.2–3, [separate single leaves] ICMA newsletter, 1980, n.2–3; and Studies and dissertations in medieval art recently completed or in progress (1963–67), Gesta, v.7, 1968, p.62–64.

Arranged by country, then alphabetically by institution, then by author. Lists works produced in Northern Europe, the United Kingdom, France, Canada, and the United States. Sources used to compile this list were Dissertation abstracts on disc (UMI), Kunstchronik, Histoire de l'art, and v.46, n.1

(1992) of Scriptorium. Information about ordering UMI registered dissertations is included at the end.

- A102 Harvard University. Dumbarton Oaks. Center for Byzantine Studies, Washington, D.C. Author index of Byzantine studies [microform]. Ed. by Jelisaveta Stanojevich Allen. [Zug, Switzerland], IDC, 1986–[1991]. Pt.1: 170 microfiches; Pt.2: 267 microfiches + 5 leaves in binder.

See GLAH 1:A79 for Bibliographische Notizen und Mitteilungen in BZ, and GLAH 1:A93 for the Dumbarton Oaks bibliographies Series I: Literature on Byzantine art, 1892–1967.

Cumulative index of all annotated bibliographic entries published in the journal Byzantinische Zeitschrift from 1892–1981 (Part 1) and from 1982–1990 (Part 2). Also including bibliographic references from Krumbacher's Geschichte der Byzantinischen Literatur and a compilation of Slavic authors in the Cyrillic alphabet from 77 journals, most issued before 1917. For "scholars pursuing studies on all aspects of Byzantine civilization; Late Antique and Early Christian studies; Patristic studies; and Slavic, Armenian, and Georgian studies; as well as the relations of the Western mediaeval and Arabic worlds with Byzantium."—Introd., Pt.1.

Primary arrangement of both parts of index is by author, followed by a title index of works by anonymous authors, a festschrift index (arranged under name of honoree), an index to articles about scholars (personalia, bibliographies, and necrologies), and a dissertation index arranged alphabetically by granting institution (only those listed in BZ). In Part 1 only there is a symposium index (listed by location of meetings), and an alphabetical name index to Migne's Patrologiae Graeca. In Part 2 only there is an index of museum, exhibition, private collection, and sales catalogs, and a congress index (listed by best-known names).

- A103 Index Islamicus (East Grinstead, England). Index Islamicus: new books, articles and reviews on Islam and the Muslim world, 1994, no.1–. London, Bowker-Saur, 1994–. Quarterly (including a bound annual volume).

Also available on CD-ROM and through the internet.

For earlier versions see GLAH 1:A85.

Current ed.: G. J. Roper and C. H. Bleaney.

The Quarterly Index Islamicus published by Mansell ceased with v.17 (1993). (Also available on microfilm through Mansell.) In 1994, Bowker-Saur published the Index in its current format, with new numbering (no.1–). "Each year's publication will henceforth be recorded in an annual bound volume, which will normally appear at the end of the following year: the first such volume, for 1993, will appear at the end of 1994." [It appeared in 1995.] "More up-to-date information will, however, appear in advance fascicles, of which this is the first. These replace the old Quarterly Index Islamicus."—Introd. 1994, no.1.

The full title for the annual bound volume varies from the fascicles above: Index Islamicus: A bibliography of books, articles and reviews on Islam and the Muslim world published in the year, 1993 (1995–).

A new larger classification scheme has been adopted, placing art in section 11, architecture in section 12, and archeology in section 18. In addition to citing books, periodical articles, and essays in collected volumes, this new version of the Index has a substantial section listing reviews of books (and other materials).

Index Islamicus (1165–1905), ed. W. H. Behm, (1858); reprinted (Millersville, Pa., Adiyok, 1989); 5th supplement, 1976–80, ed. by J. D. Pearson (1983); 6th supplement, 1981–85, ed. by G. J. Roper (1991).

- A104 International medieval bibliography. Founded by Robert S. Hoyt and Peter H. Sawyer. [v.1], 1967–. Leeds, Univ. of Leeds, 1968–. Currently issued bi-annually.

Current ed.: Alan V. Murray.

Also available, updated annually, on CD-ROM.

Classified bibliography on all medieval topics including articles, essays within books, festschriften, and colloquium papers, but not book reviews or reprints. Sections on archeology, architecture, and art history.

"Limited to A.D. 500–1500 with some extensions to suit certain topics and areas (e.g. Russia). . . . Works on Africa, the Near East and such oriental topics as the Mongols are only included when they have direct bearing on the study of medieval Europe."—Introd.

Indexes of authors and topics.

- A105 Istituto Nazionale di Archeologia e Storia dell'Arte, Rome. Biblioteca. Annuario bibliografico di archeologia, n.s. 1, 1982–. Rome, Palombi, 1983–.

Ed.: Enrica Pannozzo.

See GLAH 1:A94 for original series of which no further vols. were published. After an approximately 20-year hiatus, a new series has begun, with citations for literature published between final vol. of old series and first vol. of new. No change from first series in coverage or arrangement.

- A106 Nestor, [v.1]–. Bloomington, Ind. Program in Classical Archaeology, Indiana University, Oct. 1958–. Monthly (except July–Sept.).

From 1957 to date, this bibliography is available as an ftp file via the internet and on disk as ASCII files to allow for simple importing to any database program.

Issued 1957–1977 by Institute for Research in the Humanities, University of Wisconsin, 1978–1995 by Program in Classical Archaeology, Indiana University, and 1995– by the Department of Classics at the University of Cincinnati. Prior to 1957, published as Mycenaean bibliography, no.1–10, Feb. 1957–June 1958 by E.L. Bennett, New Haven, Conn.

Primarily an unclassified, unannotated current bibliography of Minoan and Mycenaean archeology and inscriptions. Includes non-Roman languages. Frequently gives detailed announcements for past and future international conferences, lectures, and symposia in the field. Author index produced annually.

Retrospective

- A107 Beck, Diemut. Verzeichnis der Zeitschriften in der Bibliothek der Römisch-Germanischen Kommission: Bestand am 30. April 1976. Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1977. 198p. (Beiheft zum Bericht der Römisch-Germanischen Kommission, 57, 1976)

List of 1,800 journals (with volumes held) in the Bibliothek der Römisch-Germanischen Kommission (DAI). Arranged alphabetically by country of publication, with an index of titles at the end.

- A108 Berghe, Louis Vanden. Bibliographie analytique de l'archéologie de l'Iran ancien. Avec la collab. de B. De Wulf et E. Haerinck. Leiden, Brill, 1979. xxv, 329p.

Classified unannotated bibliography of books, articles, essays in books, encyclopedias, and congress reports on the archeology of ancient Iran.

Contents: Pt.I. Généralités; Pt.II. Bibliographie par régions et par sites; Pt.III. Bibliographie par périodes.

Indexes: topographical, p.304–11; author, p.312–29.

———. 1st supplement. (1978–1980) Leiden, Brill, 1981.

———. 2d supplement. (1981–1986) Leiden, Brill, 1987.

———. 3d supplement. (1987–1995) Leiden, Brill, 1996.

- A109 Bibliographie de l'art byzantin et postbyzantin: la contribution grecque 1991–1996; pub. à l'occasion du XIXe Congrès international des études byzantines, Copenhagen 1996. Athènes, Centre de recherches de l'art byzantin et postbyzantin, 1996. 183p.

See GLAH 1:A88 for earlier ed., covering the years 1945–1969.

Bibliography of Byzantine and medieval literature from 1991–1996. Compiled by I. Bitha, A. Katsioti, E. Katsa on the occasion of the 19th International Congress of Byzantine Studies in Copenhagen. Contains a list of 2,229 publications (which include not only books, but periodicals, acts of congresses, encyclopedias, etc.), many of which are in Greek (with French translations).

Index: des auteurs, p.163–71, classement géographique, p.172–76, par matière, p.177–83.

- A110 Bibliographie der Deutschsprachigen Arabistik und Islamkunde: von den Anfängen bis 1986 nebst Literatur über die arabischen Länder der Gegenwart. Hrsg. von Fuat Sezgin. Frankfurt am Main, Goethe-Univ., 1990–1996. 21v. (Veröffentlichungen des Institutes für Geschichte der Arabisch-Islamischen Wissenschaften, Reihe A: Texte und Studien, Bd. 3, 1–21)

A 21-volume set of classified unannotated bibliographies of German-language literature on the Islamic and Arabic world. Includes materials published up to 1986. v.1: Allgemeines und Hilfsmittel der Forschung, (1990) and v.6: Kulturgeschichte: Gewerbe, Handwerke und Künste, (1991) include sections on art and archeology. V.12–18 repeat all citations of previous volumes arranged by primary author, v.19 is an index to reviewers, v.20 is an index to all names listed in the set, and v.21 is an index of special concepts.

- A111 Bibliographie zur Archäologie des Mittelalters in Mitteleuropa, 1981–1985, hrsg. von Marion Tippmann. And Bibliographie zur . . . , 1986–1990, hrsg. von Jürgen Pape und Sven Spiong. Published in Zeitschrift für Archäologie des Mittelalters, v.14–15, 1986, p.187–246; v.20, 1992, p.129–203.

Classified bibliography of current literature (books, essays, periodical articles) on medieval archeology of Germany (East and West), Austria, Switzerland, and the Netherlands. List of journals consulted, arranged by country of publication, is followed by an index of authors cited.

- A112 Bibliographies sur l'époque romaine: ouvrage publié avec le concours du Ministère de la Culture (Sous-Direction de l'Archéologie). Montagnac, Mergoïl, 1991. vi, 616p., maps. (Bibliographies thématiques en archéologie, 9–22)

Series director: Michel Feugère. Fourteen bibliographies compiled by different authors. Each bibliography has its own arrangement (author or subject or topographic), often with geographic, site, thematic and/or chronological indexes.

Contents: (9) L'Aquitaine gallo-romaine; (10) La Franche-Comté gallo-romaine; (11) L'Indre gallo-romaine; (12) Metz antique; (13) L'Ile-de-France gallo-romaine; (14) Les nécropoles à incinération à l'époque romaine; (15) Les monnaies romaines; (16) Les amphores à l'époque romaine; (17) L'argenterie à l'époque romaine; (18) La vaisselle de bronze à l'époque romaine; (19) Les lampes romaines; (20) Les fibules à l'époque romaine; (21) Les instruments médicaux et chirurgicaux du monde gréco-romaine; (22) L'équipement militaire à l'époque romaine.

- A113 Chapman, Gretel. Mosan art: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1988. xxv, 363p. (Reference publication in art history)

Annotated classified bibliography covering "the Meuse Valley (located in present-day east Belgium and in part of the southern Netherlands) from the late Carolingian period to the mid-thirteenth century. . . . The purpose of this bibliography is to provide a handbook to the study of Mosan art seen as a cultural manifestation of an area of northern Europe during the central Middle Ages."—Introd.

Author index, p.331–44. Subject index, p.345–63.

- A114 Contributi editoriali italiani alla ricerca archeologica, 1980–1987: mostra del libro = Italian publishing contributions to archaeological research, 1980–1987: book exhibition. [Catalogo a cura di Luisa Musso.] [Roma], Ministero per i beni culturali e ambientali, 1990. 293p. [16]p. of plates, col. il. (Quaderni di Libri e riviste d'Italia, 21)

This classified bibliography was published as part of an exhibition in Cairo in 1990 celebrating international cooperation in archeological research. Organized by the Italian Ministry for Cultural Heritage with the assistance of the Italian Embassy in Cairo.

Contents: (1) General publications; (2) Prehistory and protohistory; (3) Minoan and Mycenaean civilizations; (4) Civilizations of Greece and Magna Graecia; (5) Phoenician and Punic civilizations; (6) Etruscology; (7) Civilizations of pre-Roman Italy; (8) Roman civilization; (9) Rome; (10) Roman provinces; (11) Christian, early mediaeval and proto-Byzantine civilizations; (12) Egyptology; (13) Oriental studies; (14) African, American and Oceanian civilizations; (15) Periodicals.

List of publishers and printers, p.281-90.

- A115 Coulson, William D.E., and Friert, Patricia N. Greek and Roman art, architecture, and archaeology: an annotated bibliography. 2d ed. N.Y., Garland, 1987. viii, 204p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.580)

See GLAH 1:A90 for 1st ed.

Selected bibliography with long annotations that attempts to describe appropriate audience for each book. Author has attempted to include only inexpensive books in print at the time he compiled the bibliography. He has included fewer than half of the titles from the first ed., of which few are still in print, and he has usually written new annotations for these relisted titles.

Contents: General; Archaeology (methods and techniques); Prehistoric; Greek; Etruscan; Roman; Sites of multiple periods; Additional resources (bibliographical sources, series, museum collections and publications, biographies, tradition [history and influence], novels).

Index, p.173-204.

- A116 Creswell, Keppel Archibald Cameron. A bibliography of the architecture, arts and crafts of Islam to 1st Jan. 1960. [Cairo], American Univ. at Cairo Pr. (Distr. by Oxford Univ. Pr., 1961). xxiv, 1330, xxvp. See GLAH 1:A91 for original annotation and first supplement.

———. 2d supplement; Jan. 1972 to Dec. 1980 (with omissions from previous years). By J.D. Pearson, assist. by Michael Meinecke and George T. Scanlon. Cairo, American Univ. in Cairo Pr., 1984. xxi, 575p.

2d supplement contains 11,000 entries covering nine years of publishing, as well as corrections or titles missed (particularly in Arabic, Persian, and Turkish languages) from the original ed. or the first supplement. Given the large number of entries in this supplement, the editorial committee chose to eliminate annotations unless the reader would be misled by the title, and they chose not to include tables of contents.

———. 3d supplement; Jan. 1981-Dec. 1985. Forthcoming.

- A117 Crosby, Everett Uberto; Bishko, C. Julian; and Kellogg, Robert L. Medieval studies: a bibliographical guide. N.Y., Garland, 1983. xxv, 1131p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.427)

"This [classified] bibliography [of 9,000 entries] is an annotated reference work to the major collections of sources and the secondary literature considered to be of basic importance for the history and the culture of the western European Middle Ages, Byzantium, and medieval Islamic civilization . . . dealing with the period from the third century A.D. to the sixteenth."—Introd.

In addition to geographically arranged chapters, linguistically arranged chapters, and still other chapters arranged by subjects, there are chapters on aesthetics (p.863-64), symbolism and iconography (p.865-71), history of art (p.872-96), architecture (p.897-908), sculpture (p.909-14), painting (p.915-21), stained glass, mosaics, enamels (p.922-24), manuscript illumination (p.925-30), and archeology (p.953-59).

Index of authors and editors, p.1058-1127. Index of topics, p.1129-31.

- A118 Ćurčić, Slobodan. Art and architecture in the Balkans; an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1984. xxv, 427p. il. (Reference publication in art history)

Primarily organized by the geographic territories of the modern states of Albania, Bulgaria, and Yugoslavia (following a general chapter on the Balkans), this heavily annotated bibliography of art and architecture chronologically encompasses the Middle Ages. (See the author's definition of the Middle Ages in his preface.) Within each geographically defined chapter, separate sections are arranged by media or special sites, always following a preliminary general section.

Author index, p.385-95. General index, p.397-427.

- A119 Deshman, Robert. Anglo-Saxon and Anglo-Scandinavian art: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1984. xxii, 125p. (Reference publication in art history)

Classified annotated bibliography of Anglo-Saxon and Anglo-Scandinavian art from approximately the last third of the 9th century to the first quarter of the 12th century. Coins and architecture not included. Within each classification the author has chosen not to arrange citations chronologically or by author. "Instead [he has] opted for a less systematic, more flexible organization that seems better suited to the practical needs of the users. This arrangement has been guided by one or more of the following general principles. Related writings treating the same monument or problem were grouped together. Within each section or subsection writings with a more general, comprehensive scope were placed before those with a more specialized, limited one. More recent or more significant literature was also accorded priority, as were entries that contain essential documentation about a work or art . . . cross-references call attention to related entries included under other headings."—Pref.

Index of authors and editors, p.103-07. Index of places and subjects, p.109-25.

- A120 Ellis, Linda, comp. Laboratory techniques in archaeology: a guide to the literature, 1920-1980. N.Y., Garland, 1982. xiv, 419p. (Garland reference library of social sciences, v.110)

Classified bibliography of the literature on the applications of science in archeology.

Contents: (1) General works; (2) Remote sensing; (3) Chronometry; (4) Environmental reconstruction; (5) Materials analysis; (6) Data management; (7) Addenda.

Geographical index, p.373-80. Method index, p.381-83. Materials index, p.384-86. Author index, p.387-419.

- A121 Feuer, Bryan Avery. Mycenaean civilization: a research guide. N.Y., Garland, 1995. xl, 421p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.1525) (Research guides to ancient civilization, v.5)

Solidly annotated bibliography of books and articles for the non-specialist on Mycenaean civilization, particularly material published in English. The material culture section (art, architecture, painting, etc., p.179–268) and regional and site reports section (p.303–80) are of interest to art historians.

Glossary, p.381–86. Indexes: author, p.387–96; place-name, p.397–406; subject, p.407–21.

A122 Francis bulletin signalétique 526: Art et archéologie (Proche-Orient, Asie, Amérique). v.45–48, 1991–1994. Vandoeuvre-lès-Nancy, CNRS, INIST.

See GLAH 1:A80 for earlier vols. and GLAH 2:A85 for related title: Francis bulletin signalétique 525, Préhistoire et protohistoire.

After 1994, available only on CD-ROM or on the internet through various vendors (see FRANCIS at GLAH 2:A10).

A123 Goldman, Bernard. The ancient arts of western and central Asia: a guide to the literature. Ames, Iowa State Univ. Pr., 1991. ix, 303p.

Classified annotated bibliography (books, periodical articles, exhibition catalogs, archeological reports) on the arts of those who lived anywhere from the eastern shores of the Mediterranean to the eastern borders of Chinese Turkestan (Sinkiang province) and from the Ukraine and southern Soviet Asia to Pakistan and the Arabian peninsula. Chronologically the material stretches from neolithic times to the coming of Islam. Tibet, Mongolia, and Egypt are not included. Regardless of their importance, rare items held only in a small number of libraries in the United States have been excluded.

Preceding the bibliography is a reference key functioning as a subject index (of names, topics, periods, geographic areas) to the alphabetically sorted classification scheme organizing the bibliography.

Appendix 1: Chronologies and king lists, p.240–57; Appendix 2: Research and writing for publication, p.258–71. Glossary, p.272–87. Author index, p.288–300. General index (topics not covered in the reference key), p.301–03.

A124 Haerinck, E. Pre-Islamic archaeology of Kuwait, northeastern Arabia, Bahrain, Qatar, United Arab Emirates and Oman: a bibliography. Ed. by E. Haerinck and K.G. Stevens. Gent, [s.n.], 1985. xi, 53p. map.

Bibliography of field reports, excavation reports, books, journal articles, conference articles, and essays in books published between 1879–1984 on the geographic areas described in the title from prehistory to the 7th century A.D. Studies in Arabic, Russian, and Japanese are not included. Citations are arranged by period, and within that by region, and each period begins with a general works section. Author index at end.

———. 1st supplement 1985–1995. Ed. by K.G. Stevens. Leuven, Peeters, 1996. vi, 82p.

A125 Halton, Thomas P., and O'Leary, Stella. Classical scholarship: an annotated bibliography. [3d ed.] White Plains, N.Y., Kraus, 1986. xx, 396p.

[1st ed.], R. P. McGuire, Introduction to classical scholarship: a syllabus and bibliographic guide, 1955; 2d ed., 1961.

A basic bibliographic guide to scholarship in classical studies. This ed. covers materials published through 1980. Chapter J: Art and archaeology (p.227–302) provides an annotated classified bibliography of sources important to students of ancient art.

Subject index, p.355–77. Author index, p.379–96.

A126 Hansen, Peter Allan. A bibliography of Danish contributions to classical scholarship from the sixteenth century to 1970. Copenhagen, Royal Library, Department of National Bibliography. ([Distr. by] Rosenkilde and Bagger, 1977.) xviii, 335p. (Danish humanist texts and studies, v.1)

Classified, unannotated bibliography (books, periodical articles, essays in books, conference proceedings) of all classical scholarship from Danish authors. Of interest to art historians are two sections: Topography (p.186–215) and Art and archeology (p.216–66).

List of collective headings and anonymous works in nos.1–1155, p.309. Mythological index, p.309–10. Iconographical index, p.310–11. Index of artists, p.311. Index annorum, p.311–17. Index of Danish and foreign classical scholars, p.318–35.

A127 Dumbarton Oaks. Dumbarton Oaks Research Library. Byzantine Library serials list (September 1990). Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks Research Library, 1990. 277p.

Serials holdings list of approximately 1,670 titles at the Dumbarton Oaks Research Library as of Sept. 1990. "Titles included cover all aspects of Byzantium, as well as the antecedent cultures of Greece and Rome and the contemporary Slavic, Islamic, and Western Latin societies in contact with Byzantium."—Introd.

A128 ———. ———. Dictionary catalogue of the Byzantine collection of the Dumbarton Oaks Research Library, Washington, D.C., Boston, Hall, 1975. 12v. This dictionary catalog offers more than 84,000 volumes of primarily Byzantine art and archeology, but "includ[ing] all aspects of Byzantine civilization and . . . antecedent cultures which exerted an important influence on the development of Byzantium, as well as contemporary cultures which influenced or were influenced by Byzantium and later cultures on which Byzantium was a dominant influence."—Introd.

A129 Heizer, Robert Fleming; Hester, Thomas R.; and Graves, Carol. Archaeology, a bibliographical guide to the basic literature. N.Y., Garland, 1980. xi, 434p. (Garland reference library of social science, v.54)

Selective unannotated bibliography (books, articles in periodicals and books and other published essays), arranged by primary author, with a complete author index at the end. "The bibliography is slanted toward New World and English-language publications, although we have made an effort to include reasonable coverage of the Old World, Africa, and Asia."—Pref.

A130 Lindenlaub, Marie-Luise. Deutschsprachige Dissertationen zur Archäologie des Mittelmeerraums:

1945–1977. Berlin, Deutsches Archäologisches Institut, 1979. 288p.

Classified compilation of German-language dissertations from Germany (East and West), Austria, and Switzerland primarily about the archeology of Greece and Rome, but also of the Near East and Egypt, excluding Islamic archeology. Chronologically it extends to the 5th century A.D.

In addition to standard bibliographic information, entries list the granting institution, subsequent publication history (if any), and citations to summaries and reviews.

Includes an author index, charts breaking down the number of dissertations produced from the three countries year by year, and a chart showing how many dissertations from each institution are listed in the bibliography.

A131 Makjanic, Rajka. British archaeological reports complete catalogue, 1974–1994. Oxford, Tempus Reparatum Archaeological and Historical Associates Limited, 1994. iii, 48p.

Complete catalog of the British archaeological reports (international and British series) from 1974–1994. All 828 vols. are listed in two sections (International and British), followed by author, subject, geographical, and [chronological] period indexes.

A132 Mathaf al-Misri. Maktabah. Catalogue de la Bibliothèque du Musée Égyptien du Caire, 1927–1958. Par Dia' Abou-Ghazi et Abd El-Mohsen El-Khachab. Le Caire, Organisme Général des Imprimeries Gouvernementales, 1966–1992. 6v.

Published as a supplement to the Catalogue de la Bibliothèque du Musée Égyptien du Caire, ed. by M. Henri Munnier. Le Caire, Impr. de l'Institut français d'archéologie orientale (1927–28). This supplement, like its predecessor, is arranged alphabetically by author. It lists publications acquired between 1927 and 1958, both books and periodical articles. No indexes.

A133 Medieval studies: an introduction. 2d ed. Ed. by James M. Powell. Syracuse, N.Y., Syracuse Univ. Pr., 1992. xviii, 438p. il. 1st ed. 1976.

13 bibliographically laden essays on medieval studies, each followed by classified unannotated bibliographies. Chapter 4: Archaeology, by David Whitehouse (bibl. p.176–84); Chapter 12: Tradition and innovation in medieval art, by Wayne Dynes (bibl. p.392–400).

Index of authors and titles cited, p.433–38.

A134 Nachschlagewerke und Quellen zur Kunst = Art reference works and sources [microform]. München, Saur, 1999–.

Microfiche collection of bibliographies, encyclopedias, and source works in art. Teil 1: Internationale Bibliographien zur Kunstliteratur zwischen 1500–1850 = International bibliographies of art literature between 1500–1850 (ed. by Ulrich Schütte) promises to offer bibliographies on graphic art, architecture, painting, sculpture, and landscape gardening from German-speaking countries, England, France, Italy, Spain, and the U.S.A.

A135 Nawabi, Y.M. A bibliography of Iran: a catalogue of books and articles on Iranian subjects, mainly in European languages. [Tehran], Iranian Culture Foundation, 1969–1992. 9v.

Broadly classified bibliography of books, journal articles, and book reviews. Entries listed by author within each broad subject heading. Of particular interest to art historians: v.3: Archeology, architecture and art, incl. numismatics; v.4: Travels and description.

No indexes.

A136 Nees, Lawrence. From Justinian to Charlemagne: European art, 565–787: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1985. xvi, 278p. 1 il. (Reference publication in art history)

Classified annotated bibliography (books, articles, and other published essays) of Christian art from A.D. 565 to A.D. 787. Although all Justinianic and Carolingian art is excluded, the bibliography includes a number of studies devoted to later works of art with significant bearing on the period covered. Islamic and Jewish art are almost completely excluded. English language eds. are listed wherever possible, with no attempt to trace foreign versions of the same work.

Contents: General bibliography; Byzantine and other eastern Mediterranean art: from Justinian to iconoclasm; The "Dark Ages" in the west: from the Germanic invasions to Charlemagne; The Migration period; Merovingian Francia; Italy; Visigothic Spain.

Author index, p.267–78.

A137 Pearson, James Douglas, ed. A bibliography of Pre-Islamic Persia. London, Mansell, 1975. xxix, 288p. (Persian studies series, no.2)

Series ed.: E. Yarshater.

Classified bibliography (monographic literature, periodical articles, and essays in festschriften) compiled under the auspices of the Royal Institute of Translation and Publication of Iran. It "represents an attempt to include all the printed literature in western European languages . . . [and] . . . a selection of publications in the Persian language . . . prepared by Dr. Ahmad Tafazzoli of the University of Tehran."—Introd.

Section D: Art and archaeology (p.321–70) is of interest to art historians. Author index at end.

A138 Phillips, Jill M. Archaeology of the collective East: Greece, Asia Minor, Egypt, Lebanon, Mesopotamia, Syria, Palestine: an annotated bibliography. N.Y., Gordon, 1977. 151p.

Alphabetically arranged by author, this is an unclassified but extensively annotated bibliography of 47 English-language books on archeology for the general reader. A short essay on archeology and the cinema follows (p.117–21), then an unannotated bibliography of further suggested general reading (p.127–47), and a small section of periodical and newspaper articles (p.148–50).

No indexes.

A139 Pohanka, Reinhard. Bibliographie des Iran: nach den Büchern mit iranistischen Themen in der Österreichischen Nationalbibliothek, der Bibliothek der Universität Wien und der Bibliothek der Österreichischen Akademie der Wissenschaften. Wien, Österreichischen Akademie der Wissenschaften, 1985. 309p. (Sitzungsberichte/Österreichische Akademie der Wissenschaften, Philosophisch-historische Klasse; Bd. 454) (Veröffentlichungen der Iranischen Kommission. Sonderband)

Classified bibliography of books about Iranian subjects held at the three largest libraries in Vienna: the Austrian National Library, the Library of the University of Vienna, and the Library of the Austrian Academy of Sciences. Section 5 is Art (p.100–16), and section 6 is Archeology (p.117–31). Author index at end.

A140 Porter, Bertha, and Moss, Rosalind Louisa Beauford. Topographical bibliography of ancient Egyptian hieroglyphic texts, reliefs, and paintings. 2d ed. rev. and augm. Assisted by Ethel W. Burney. Oxford, Griffith Institute Ashmolean Museum, 1960–. (7)v. maps, diagrs., plans, microfiche.

See GLAH 1:A96 for 1st ed. and GLAH 1:A97 for earlier vols. of 2d ed.

Contents: v.1. Theban necropolis. Pt.1. Private tombs, reprinted 1970, 1985, 1994; Pt.2. Royal tombs and smaller cemeteries, reprinted 1973, 1985, 1994; v.2. The Theban temples, reprinted 1984, 1994; v.3. Memphis. Pt.1. Abu Rawash to Abusir, reprinted 1994; Pt.2. Saqqara to Dahshur, fasc.1, 1978; fasc.2, 1979; fasc.3, 1981; fasc.1–3 in 1, 1981; v.4. Lower and Middle Egypt, (1st ed.) 4 microfiche, 1981; v.5. Upper Egypt, sites (1st ed.), reprinted 1962, 4 microfiches, 1981; v.6. Upper Egypt, chief temples (1st ed.), reprinted 1970, 1991; v.7. Nubia, the deserts, and outside Egypt, (1st ed.) reprinted 1962, 1975, 1995.

A141 Poucet, Jacques, and Hannick, J.M. Aux sources de l'Antiquité gréco-romaine: guide bibliographique. 5th ed., rev., augm. Bruxelles, Artel, 1997. 313p.

1st ed. published as Introduction aux études classiques: guide bibliographique. [Louvain-la Neuve, Belgium], CIACO, 1988; 2d ed., 1989; 4th ed. under the present title, 1995; 6th ed. forthcoming. An occasionally annotated bibliographic guide, divided into three sections. The first cites published secondary sources under chapters by general discipline, within which Chapter 4: Les sources archéologiques (p.81–102) offers sources important to scholars of ancient art. The second section cites reference sources (encyclopedias, dictionaries, journals, dissertation lists, etc.), arranged within chapters by publication type. The third section cites sources on specific disciplines, within which Chapter M: Art (p.264–71) begins with general monographs and articles, followed by sources within specific medium. Under each medium, it is further divided by location (general, Greek, Etruscan and Italian, Roman).

Indexes: modern authors (p.277–90); ancient authors (p.291–98); abbreviations used (p.299); listed sets, series, serials (p.300–02).

A142 Rassegna dei periodici. Published annually in Arte medievale, II Serie, Anno III, n.2–Anno X, n.2, 1989–1993.

Classified annotated bibliography of periodical articles on medieval art. Each year's bibliography covers material published several years previously.

A143 Society of Antiquaries of London, Library. Bibliography of periodical literature: accessions to the library of the Society of Antiquaries of London. No. 1 (Sept. 1989)–no. 2 (Oct. 1989–30 Sept. 1990). London, The Society, Library, 1989–1991. 2v.

Supplement to Antiquaries journal. Subject index to periodical articles from journals received in the society's library between Sept. 1989 and Sept. 1990.

In addition, Antiquaries journal has regularly published two bibliographies of note: (1) "List of accessions to the library," published annually, v.1, 1921–. A classified accessions list, with full bibliographic information and the price of each book acquired; (2) "Periodical literature," published less regularly and not appearing in the journal since 1990. A table of contents list of archeological and historical journals.

Covers art and archeology from antiquity through the Middle Ages from all countries.

A144 Syria and Lebanon in antiquity: bibliography, by Jinan Muddarès, 1968–1973. Published in Berytus: archaeological studies, v.18, 1969; v.20, 1971; v.22, 1973–v.23, 1974.

Classified bibliography of periodical articles published between 1968–1973. Art and archeology is the first section, and an author index is at the end of each bibliography.

A145 Van Keuren, Frances Dodds. Guide to research in classical art and mythology. Chicago, American Library Association, 1991. x, 307p.

Designed as a guide to research in the use of major classification tools in the field of classical art and mythology. Each chapter begins with an extensive discussion of a small number of books and then expands to discuss the literature within the scope of the chapter. Multiple sections, each followed by a bibliography on other references, handbooks, and other supplementary sources, can be found in every chapter.

Contents: Pt.1. General research: (1) Greek art and architecture; (2) Etruscan art and architecture; (3) Roman art and architecture; Pt.2. Mythology: (4) Classical mythology in ancient and later literature; (5) Classical mythology in ancient art; (6) Greek gods and heroes in ancient art; (7) Greek drama in ancient art; (8) Classical antiquity in art after antiquity; Pt.3. Media studies: (9) Greek sculpture; (10) Athenian vases; (11) South Italian and Sicilian vases; (12) Etruscan mirrors; (13) Ancient engraved gems; (14) Greek coins; (15) Roman republican coins; (16) Roman imperial coins; (17) Greek and Roman interior decoration.

Author-title index, p.263–97. Subject index, p.301–07.

A146 Vattuone, Riccardo. Scienze dell'antichità: periodici esistenti nelle Biblioteche bolognesi. Bologna, Cooperativa Libreria Universitaria Editrice, 1975. 166p.

Union list of periodicals on antiquity held in 26 libraries of Bologna. The alphabetically arranged list is preceded by a list of participating libraries with their addresses.

A147 Woodhead, Peter. Keyguide to information sources in archaeology. London, Mansell, 1985. xiv, 219p. This work "aims to provide an integrated guide to the documentation, reference aids and key organizational sources of information in archaeology worldwide. . . . Part I is a narrative account of the major forms of archaeological literature, together with a brief historical introduction to the subject and a discussion of the scope of modern archaeology and its relationship with other subjects, the various bodies in the field, education and careers, and the origins and utilization of archaeological information. . . . Part II is an annotated bibliography of reference sources. . . . Part III is a list of selected archaeological organizations."—Introd.

Bibliographic section (Pt.II) is annotated.

Contents: Pt.I: (1) History and scope of archaeology; (2) Archaeological information: its origins and utilization; (3) Who, what, where?; (4) Keeping up to date with current publications, developments and events; (5) Finding out about the literature of archaeology; (6) The literature of archaeology; (7) Other sources of information; Pt.II: General archaeology: worldwide and multi-regional; Archaeological science; Europe; Africa; America; Asia; Australasia; Arctic; Pt.III: International and multi-regional organizations; Organizations by country.

Index, p.187–219.

RENAISSANCE—MODERN

Current Serials

A148 ABM: ArtBibliographies modern on disc [computer file], v.15, 1984–. Oxford, European Bibliographic Center. (Distr. by ABC-CLIO, 1993–.)

See GLAH 1:A102 for original annotation and paper ed.

Available on CD-ROM and through the internet from various vendors.

A149 Iter: the bibliography of Renaissance Europe (1300–1700) [internet resource]. Toronto, Ont., Centre for Reformation and Renaissance Studies of the University of Toronto, 1996–.

Online index to books, reviews, bibliographies, catalogs, journal articles, etc. A collaborative effort between the Centre for Reformation and Renaissance Studies, the Renaissance Society of America, and the Arizona Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies. To date, more than 400 journals published since 1859 have been indexed.

Retrospective

A150 Academies of art between Renaissance and Romanticism: bibliography. Published in Leids kunsthistorisch jaarboek, v.5–6, 1986–87, p.561–90.

The bibliography following the theme issue "Academies of art between Renaissance and Romanticism" was based upon N. Pevsner's Academies of art, past and present (GLAH

1:G22). In addition, it drew upon "requests for bibliographical information . . . sent to all academies of which one may suppose that the history goes back to the 18th century or before. Provincial and municipal archives were also approached. . . . Likewise, the authors of this volume were asked to compose a bibliography relating to the academy the history of which they were dealing with. [This was combined with] the results of the bibliographical research of A.R.E. de Heer and the members of the editorial staff . . . [and] Répertoire d'Art, Art Index, and RILA. . . . These have been studied for literature after 1940 (that is, after Pevsner) up to and including the 1987 volumes."—Pref. to Bibliography.

Arrangement: After a general section, countries are arranged in alphabetical order, and within each country are general sections, then sections arranged by city. Citations appear chronologically within these sections.

A151 Amsterdam (Netherlands). Stedelijk Museum. International index to art exhibition catalogues, 1895–1991 [microform]. Lisse, MME, 1993. 867 microfiches in binder with guide (47p.)

Index to exhibition and museum catalogs in the library of the Stedelijk Museum of Modern Art, Amsterdam.

"The microfiches are divided into different categories: by artist, by city, by UDC code, traveling exhibitions (general/countries), museum and private collections, by artists groups/associations/biennials, etc., prizes won by artists, exhibitions in the Stedelijk Museum and Fodor Museum."—Guide.

A152 Arntz-Bulletin; Dokumentation der Kunst des 20. Jahrhunderts. Haag/Oberbayern, Arntz-Winter. (Distr. in America by Wittenborn, [1976]–1983.) v.2, no.1–6. il.

See GLAH 1:A100 for v.1, pt.1–11, 1968–[1974], annotations of which still apply to v.2. Ed. by Wilhelm F. Arntz.

"[These] present catalogue[s], published as special edition[s], [are] destined to provide brief but adequate information on all the catalogues raisonnés which appeared from 1945 to the end of 1974 . . . for the first time ever all compilations available in print on written and verbal statements by an artist have also been included in this record." No new sections, supplements, etc. have been published since 1984.

_____. Sonderband [1]: Werkkataloge zur Kunst des 20. Jahrhunderts: Catalogues raisonnés. [1975?] (Verzeichnis der seit 1945–[1974] erschienenen)

_____. Sonderband 2: Werkkataloge zur Kunst des 20. Jahrhunderts: mit Nachtragen der Jahre 1945–1973. 1984. (Verzeichnis der von 1974–1983 erschienenen)

A153 Bauhaus-Ideen 1919–1994: Bibliographie und Beiträge zur Rezeption des Bauhausgedankens. Berlin, Reimer, 1994. 493p.

After several essays on the reception of Bauhaus ideas throughout the 20th century, there follows an annotated bibliography of books, newspaper and periodical articles, radio broadcasts, films, and assorted advertisements on Bauhaus reception between 1919–1990. The largest section (p.147–361) covers international literature, the second section

(p.361–409) covers East German literature, and the final section (p.410–15) is a small supplement of newly found titles. Following the indexes is a chronological list of exhibitions about the Bauhaus.

Indexes: author, p.419–39; name, p.440–50; place, p.451–52; Bauhaus locations, p.453–60; architectural subject index, p.461–63; keyword index, p.464–72.

A154 Bell, Doris L. Contemporary art trends 1960–1980: a guide to sources. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1981. x, 171p.

Bibliographic essays that discuss books and articles on contemporary art of the 1960s to the 1980s. Works about single artists are not included.

Contents: General works; Trends (short essays on various art trends, e.g. Air Art, Art Povera, Body Art, Earthworks, Happenings, Op-art, Super-realism, etc.); Group Zero and Fluxus; Countries/areas; Biennales and other international exhibitions; Contemporary art journals (an alphabetically arranged annotated list of journals on contemporary art not indexed by Art index); Bibliography (dividing out books from journal articles, it is arranged by main entry and functions as an index to all the bibliographic material cited in the book).

A155 Belotti, Monica. Le edizioni settecentesche della Biblioteca del conte Giacomo Carrara, conservata presso l'Accademia Carrara e la Biblioteca civica di Bergamo. Published in Libri & documenti (Archivio Storico Civico e Biblioteca Trivulziana), v.16, no.2, p.16–61; v.16, no.3, p.1–46; v.17, no.1, p.1–56; v.17, no.2, p.1–62; v.17, no.3, p.1–28, (1991–92). il.

Annotated catalog of the 18th-century publications of the private library of Count Giacomo Carrara now held at the Accademia Carrara and the Biblioteca Civica A. Mai di Bergamo, the vast majority of which are on art and architecture. The introduction preceding this bibliography gives a thorough history of the collection, describing and illustrating many noteworthy items.

Indexes (v.17, no.3, p.9–28): chronological, geographical (place of publication), name (of editors and of typographers).

A156 Chelap, Patty, comp. Bibliography: symbolist art, 1974–1984. Published in Art journal, v.45, no.2, 1985, p.171–80.

Complements Anderson, David L., Symbolism: a bibliography of symbolism as an international and multidisciplinary movement (GLAH 1:A105). This bibliography of dissertations, books, journal articles, and exhibition catalogs covers sources published since the appearance of Anderson's book, which, unlike Chelap, does not focus exclusively on symbolism in the visual arts.

A157 Chénieux-Gendron, Jacqueline; Le Roux, Françoise; and Vienne, Maité. Inventaire analytique de revues surréalistes ou apparentées: le surréalisme autour du monde 1929–1947. Paris, CNRS, 1994. 463p.

Thorough description and analysis of 49 single issues of 13 journals with articles or illustrations by surrealist authors or artists. Illustrations, including cover pages, are carefully described. Index of all names cited at end, p.413–63.

A158 Chicago. Art Institute. Surrealism & its affinities: the Mary Reynolds collection. A bibliography compiled by Hugh Edwards. [2d ed.] Chicago, Art Institute, [1973]. 147p. il., 17 plates.

See GLAH 1:A109 for 1st ed.

The entire text of the 1st ed. has been preserved with all additions marked with an asterisk following details of size and pagination. New periodicals are marked with an asterisk, and additional volumes of periodicals listed in the 1st ed. have been marked with a double asterisk.

Indexes: names and titles, p.140–46; periodicals, p.146–47; illustrations, p.147.

A159 Convegno di studi sul surrealismo (1973: Salerno). Studi sul surrealismo: bibliografia in materia d'arte e di teatro quale contributo per la conoscenza di quanto è stato pubblicato in Italia fino alla data del Convegno di studi sul surrealismo (1973). Roma, Officina, 1976. 79p. (Saggi/Documenti, 6:2)

Art historians will be drawn to the first chapter of this bibliography, "Contributo a una bibliografia sul surrealismo," by Arcangelo Cascavilla and Maria Rosaria De Rosa. This is an unannotated bibliography of surrealism in the visual arts, with small sections on surrealism in politics and surrealism in psychoanalysis. Includes 14 sections devoted to citations of books and articles on 14 individual artists.

The final chapter, "Contributo a una bibliografia sul teatro surrealista," by Attilio Mauro Caproni, deals exclusively with surrealism in theater.

No indexes.

A160 Dokumentations-Bibliothek zur Kunst des 20. Jahrhunderts. Bibliography of 20th century art publications. Hans Bolliger für Kornfeld & Klipstein. San Francisco, Wofsy, 1991. 607p. il.

Originally published as six auction catalogs, reprinted here with more than 4,000 titles of rare monographs, illustrated books, pamphlets, manifestos, posters, and other ephemera, as well as artists' books and other original art of the 20th century. The introduction and final pages are numbered as if the six auction catalogs were continuously numbered (but they are not). The auctions were held in Bern, Switzerland, in 1957, 1958, 1968, 1969, 1976, and 1977 by the house of Klipstein & Kornfeld. Entries give full citation, price, and notes.

Index of names and titles at end of reprint.

A161 Falqui, Enrico. Bibliografia e iconografia del futurismo. [Reprint.] Firenze, Sansoni Antiquariato, 1959. 239p. il. ports. 100 plates. (Contributi alla Biblioteca bibliografica italiana, 21) (Repr.: Firenze, Casa Editrice le Lettere, 1988.)

Bibliographic section (p. 29–110) lists books and periodical articles about futurism, beginning with theory/criticism and continuing with sections by discipline (literature, theater, music, and art).

Iconography section (with plates) has portraits, illustrations of posters, broadsides, and other ephemeral publications of the futurists.

Index of authors, titles, subjects, p.231-39.

- A162 Ford, Simon. The realization and suppression of the Situationist International: an annotated bibliography, 1972-1992. San Francisco, AK Pr., 1995. 149p.

A well-annotated classified bibliography listing books, essays in books, periodicals (journals and newspapers), exhibition catalogs, manifestos, pamphlets, and other ephemeral material.

Contents: General works; Related movements; Works on or by ex-situationists; American pro-situs & milieu; British pro-situs & milieu; Book reviews; 1989 exhibition & catalogue reviews; Selected addresses; Index.

- A163 Gray, John. Action art: a bibliography of artists' performance from futurism to fluxus and beyond. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1993. xiv, 343p. (Art reference collection, no.16)

Bibliography of 3,700 briefly annotated entries (of books, dissertations, periodical and newspaper articles, films, videos, and audiotapes) covering action art prior to the 1970s. However, coverage of a few artists whose work extends beyond the end of 1969 are included, when their post-1969 work is seen as an extension of work begun during the 1960s. When artists have a small connection to action art, materials are included only when related to this intersection. Publication dates of items cited range from 1914 to late 1992.

Contents: (1) Action Art 1909-1952: the antecedents: Futurism, Dada, Cubism, Russian Performance, the Bauhaus and Black Mountain College; (2) Action Art 1950s-1970s: Gutai, Happenings, Fluxus, Viennese Actionism, Destruction in art, the Provos, Situationism and beyond: (a) General works; (b) Country studies; (3) Biographical and critical studies; Appendices: (I) Reference works; (II) Libraries and archives; (III) Addenda; (IV) List of artists/artists groups by country; (V) List of artists groups and collectives.

Indexes: artist, p.299-306; subject, p.307-12; title, p.313-16; author, p.317-43.

- A164 Havlice, Patricia Pate. Earth scale art: a bibliography, directory of artists, and index to reproductions. Jefferson, N.C., McFarland, 1984. 138p.

Bibliography of books, periodical articles, and exhibition catalogs on earth scale art in general and on the earth scale art of single artists. "This book is arranged in four parts, beginning with a bibliography of general articles [Part I]. The main section, Part II, lists the work of 32 artists who devoted a portion of their careers to earth scale art. [As much biographical information as the author could find is also listed for each artist in Part II.] Part III is an author index to the bibliographical material. Part IV, an index to titles of art works, refers the user to reproductions listed under the separate artist's entries."—Pref.

- A165 Held, John. Mail art: an annotated bibliography. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1991. xlviii, 534p.

Heavily annotated bibliography, sorted by type of publication (books, magazines, newspapers, catalog essays).

Included here are "the accumulated accounts of mail art from more than eight hundred authors from thirty-seven countries. The earliest entry is from the inaugural edition of the Village Voice in 1955. The latest is from the official publication of the Soviet Ministry of Culture, Iskusstvo, appearing in the October 1989 issue. . . . This is not only the largest bibliography of mail art ever compiled, but also of rubber stamp art, artist postage stamps, Ray Johnson and the New York Correspondence School, as well as a number of artists who have participated in the medium over the years. Other subjects, like artist publications, art and communication, and Fluxus can also be researched through this volume to great benefit."—Introd.

Indexes: author, p.431-44; title, p.445-94; subject, p.495-534.

- A166 Heppner, Irene. Bibliography on portraiture: selected writings on portraiture as an art form and as documentation. Boston, Hall, 1990. 2v. ports.

"While emphasis is on American portraits and portraiture as well as on British developments that influenced trends in America, all epochs of civilization are considered. Most entries are from English-language publications, with a few in foreign languages."—Introd. Includes books, articles, exhibition catalogs, collection catalogs, theses. Vol.1 lists authors (or museums); vol.2 consists of a classified arrangement, divided into two major parts: general and special media. Entries are reproduced from card catalog format.

Index to topics, p.913-47.

- A167 Hesse, Gritta, and Bingel, Marie Agnes, comp. Künstler der jungen Generation: Literaturverzeichnis zur Gegenwartskunst in der Amerika-Gedenkbibliothek, Berliner Zentralbibliothek = Artists of the young generation: literature on contemporary art in the American Memorial Library, Berlin Central Library. München, Saur, 1987. 353p.

See GLAH 1:A112 for original annotation and earlier ed.

Selective bibliography of artists born after 1915, arranged alphabetically by artist's last name. Brief biographical information (year and place of birth) begins each artist's section. Bibliographic entries are arranged under each artist in reverse chronological order.

"This bibliography is the result of twenty years' work collecting and classifying literature in a specialized department of the American Memorial Library. . . . It contains approximately 17,000 entries on material published up through 1985 on the work of about 6,500 artists. . . . This work is a library catalog; it is not a bibliography which strives to be all-encompassing. The exhibition catalogs and books are primarily from German-speaking countries. Nevertheless, the presence of foreign artists is greater than 50%, because the art scene is international."—Introd.

No indexes.

- A168 Kaufman, Edward, and Irish, Sharon. Medievalism: an annotated bibliography of recent research in the architecture and art of Britain and North America.

N.Y., Garland, 1988. xlvii, 279p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.791)

Classified annotated bibliography of the medieval-revivalist traditions primarily in architecture, but including the other arts, within Great Britain and North America. Medievalism is here described beginning in the late 16th century and dying, at least for the purposes of this bibliography, in the mid-20th century. The chronological range of publication dates for included materials is 1960–84, with some earlier notable exceptions.

General index, p.251–79.

A169 Kaufmann, Thomas DaCosta. Art and architecture in Central Europe, 1550–1620: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1988. xxxvii, 316p. (Reference publication in art history)

Classified annotated bibliography (of books, periodical articles, and dissertations readily available in America) covering "the area comprising the contemporary states of the German Federal Republic, German Democratic Republic, Austria, Switzerland, the regions of Bohemia and Moravia in Czechoslovakia, Slovenia in Yugoslavia, of Silesia and Pomerania with Gdansk, now in Poland, and also East Prussia, now divided between Poland and the Soviet Union. This region corresponds approximately to the area of the Holy Roman Empire, without the Low Countries, Lorraine, and other French-speaking enclaves, and with the addition of Danzig and East Prussia."—Introd.

The bibliographic section begins with chapters on sources and general works (p.1–46), followed by chapters arranged alphabetically by geographic region (p.47–294). The last chapter alphabetically lists traveling artists (p.295–304). Author index, p.305–16.

A170 Kuenzli, Rudolf E. Dada bibliography: 1973–1978; and Dada bibliography: 1978–1983. In Dada/Surrealism, 10–11 (1982), p.161–201; and 13 (1984), p.129–64.

Selective bibliographies of books, exhibition catalogs, dissertations, and periodical articles covering artistic and literary aspects of Dada from its beginnings until 1923. Each bibliography is broken into two parts, the first covering general aspects of Dada, and the second individual Dadaists with subdivisions for each artist as follows: (A) Works by Dadaists, reprints, and translations; (B) Articles and letters by Dadaists and translations; (C) Books and dissertations on individual Dadaists; (D) Exhibition catalogs on individual Dadaists; (E) Articles and parts of books on individual Dadaists.

Preceded by small bibliographies in the early issues of this journal; e.g., "A selected bibliography of works on Dada/Surrealism in North America: 1969–1972." In Dada/Surrealism, 2 (1972), p.81–84. No further bibliographies on Dada were published in this journal after v.13 (1984).

See following entry for related bibliography.

A171 ———, and Ungar, Steven. Bibliography on Surrealism, 1973–1982. Published in Dada/Surrealism, 12 (1983), p.90–126.

Conceived as a companion to the Dada bibliography (above), this is also a selective bibliography of books, exhibition catalogs, dissertations, and periodical articles on artistic and literary aspects of Surrealism. It shares the same organizational structure as the Dada bibliography above. Later bibliographies on Surrealism appear in the journal Mélusine (see GLAH 2:A183).

A172 Lekatsas, Barbara. The Howard L. and Muriel Weingrow collection of avant-garde art and literature at Hofstra University: an annotated bibliography. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1985. xxv, 322p. 64 plates, il. (part col.)

This catalog of the Weingrow collection, originally assembled by Philip Kaplan between 1920 and 1970, is arranged by main entry (p.3–242) followed by a list of periodicals held in the collection (p.243–86). It represents entries for "over 4,000 items consisting of illustrated books, secondary works, periodicals, catalogs, manuscripts, pamphlets, posters, photographs, and original prints representing the major avant-garde movements of the twentieth century. The collection also included forty-four books, mostly illustrated editions, from the nineteenth century."—Introd.

The focus of this collection is the Surrealist, Expressionist, and Dadaist movements, although limited materials from other early 20th-century movements are also included.

Indexes: authors and illustrators, p.287–306; titles, p.307–22.

A173 Modern art bibliographical series. Oxford, Clio, 1982–1984. 3 vols.

A numbered series of bibliographies on modern art.

Contents: (1) Tribal and ethnic art, 1982; (2) Photography, 1982; (3) Design, 1984.

A174 Nordic art magazines = Nordiske kunst- og kulturtidsskrifter = Pohjoismaiset taide- ja kulttuurilehdet = Norræen list- og menningartímarit = Nordiska konst- och kulturtidsskrifter. Norway, Esset Grafisk, [1991?]. 71p. il.

Classified list of 130 periodicals published in Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway, and Sweden about contemporary art worldwide. Besides standard bibliographic information, citations list editor, editorial staff, phone and FAX numbers, typical number of pages per issue, frequency, subscription price, scope of periodical, and where indexed.

Contents: General culture magazines; Architecture; Visual art; Design - crafts; Aesthetics - criticism - theory; Photography - film - video; Art history; Musicology.

A175 Pacciani, Riccardo. Per una bibliografia sul manierismo nelle arti figurative (1972–1982). Published in Manierismo e letteratura, atti del congresso internazionale, Torino, 12–15 ottobre 1983. A cura di Gabriella Bosco . . . [et al.] Torino, Maynier, 1986. 631p. il. (Collana di critica, linguistica e poetica)

Classified bibliography (p.47–103) of books, congress reports, and periodical articles written between 1972 and 1982 on mannerism in the pictorial arts. No indexes.

A176 Parshall, Linda B., and Parshall, Peter W. Art and the Reformation: an annotated bibliography. Boston,

Hall, 1986. xlvii, 282p. il. (Reference publication in art history)

Classified annotated bibliography (of books with their reviews, articles in periodicals, and dissertations) on art of the Reformation primarily in Germany, France, Belgium, Holland, and Switzerland. "In our need to draw a reasonable limit to the scope of this project . . . we chose to give serious but somewhat less detailed attention to Austria, Scandinavia, and the eastern European countries. England seemed to us a largely separable problem, and so we have treated it in a general way. Furthermore, the Counter Reformation . . . is included only where it figured importantly as an adversary and stimulus to Reformation controversy in the arts."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Standard reference sources; (2) The image controversy; (3) Iconoclasm; (4) The Reformation period and art; (5) Text illustration and printed propaganda; (6) Reformation religious iconography; (7) Artists of the Reformation; (8) Architecture, architectural decoration, and furnishing; (9) Decorative and minor arts; (10) Iconography of the reformers.

Index of authors, editors, and compilers, p.255–67. Index of exhibitions by location, p.269. Index of subjects, p.271–82.

A177 Pernecky, Géza. The magazine network: the trends of alternative art in the light of their periodicals, 1968–1988. [Trans. from Hungarian by Tibor Szendrei.] [Stephen Perkins, assist. ed.] Köln, Edition Soft Geometry, 1993. 285p.

Abridged trans. of A Hálo, 1991.

"This is a scholarly dissertation on the network of artists' magazines, periodicals and communications which are outside the mainstream of periodical literature. Here we have explained, discussed and illustrated a myriad of publications which have been untouched by the academic community, but which are integral to the study of contemporary art."—Review, Judith Hoffberg, Umbrella, June 1991.

Collected essays about the history of alternative art publications created from 1968 to 1988 (p.11–204), followed first by a selective bibliography on the subject (p.205–18) and then by a register of alternative art periodicals with coded annotations (p.219–65).

Name and title index, p.267–85.

A178 Prause, Marianne. Bibliographie zur Kunstgeschichte des 19. Jahrhunderts: Publikationen der Jahre 1967–1979 mit Nachträgen zu den Jahren 1940–1966. München, Prestel, 1984. xii, 1019p. (Materialien zur Kunst des neunzehnten Jahrhunderts, Bd.31)

Supplements GLAH 1:A115.

Supplementing the earlier ed., this selective bibliography uses a similar but expanded classification scheme for work published from 1967 to 1979 and newly discovered material published between 1940 and 1966. Material on individual artists forms the largest section of the bibliography (p.369–867). Citations to reviews of materials listed in this bibliography are also incorporated.

Topographisches Register, p.[871]–89. Künstler- und Personenregister, p.[891]–924. Verfasser-Register, p.[925]–1007. Sachregister, p.[1009]–19.

A179 Salaris, Claudia. Bibliografia del futurismo: 1909–1944. Con una lettera inedita di Corrado Govoni a F.T. Marinetti sul libro futurista. [Roma], Biblioteca del Vascello, 1988. 118p. il.

Annotated bibliography of materials about futurism from 1909 to 1944. This work is arranged by type of publication: works by single authors (p.21–73), collective works (p.74–79), manifestos (p.79–92), journals (p.93–103), avant-garde non-futurist journals (p.103–05), parodies and satires (books and leaflets) (p.106–07), satirical journals with theme issues on futurism (p.107), criticism (p.108–13), and name index (p.114–18).

Preceded by an essay on futurism by the author, and a letter from C. Govoni to F.T. Marinetti.

A180 Schäfer, Jürgen. Dada in Köln: ein Repertorium. In Verbindung mit Angela Merte. Frankfurt, Lang, 1995. 290p. (Bibliographien zur Literatur- und Mediengeschichte, Bd. 3)

Exhaustive classified annotated bibliography of primary and secondary sources about the Dada movement in Cologne. Name index at end.

A181 Schimmelman, Janice G. A checklist of European treatises on art and essays on aesthetics available in America through 1815. Worcester, Mass., American Antiquarian Society, 1983. 95–195p. (Reprinted from the Proceedings of the American Antiquarian Society, v.93, pt.1, Apr. 1983.)

This small annotated bibliography offers rich insight into what was available to Americans in the 17th and 18th centuries. "Although it is limited by the number of extant American book catalogues from [the] period, it is hoped that students of American culture will find it a useful tool in determining those classical and Romantic concepts that helped to mold the taste of early American society."—Author's introductory remarks.

In compiling these 45 treatises and essays, the author scoured book catalogs of about 350 libraries and booksellers as well as a number of indexes and checklists of books published or available in America. The full title of each first ed. is listed, followed by the first English translation when applicable. Original spellings, capitalizations, and abbreviations have been preserved.

A182 Studing, Richard, and Kruz, Elizabeth, comp. Mannerism in art, literature, and music: a bibliography. San Antonio, Trinity Univ. Pr., 1979. xvii, 60p. (Checklists in the humanities and education)

Bibliography of 20th-century criticism on Mannerism in the visual arts, literature, and music, the largest section covering the visual arts.

Contents: (1) Art, p.1–30; (2) Exhibitions and related publications, p.31–36; (3) Literature, p.37–46; (4) Music, p.47–52; (5) Interdisciplinary publications, p.53–56; Addendum, p.57–60.

A183 Le Surréalisme à l'université: inventaire des thèses et bibliographie. Published in Mélusine: cahiers du Centre de Recherche sur Surréalisme, v.1 (1979)–v.12 (1991).

For related title, see Kuenzli and Ungar, "Bibliography on Surrealism, 1973–1982" (GLAH 2:A171).

The first title ("Inventaire des thèses") is a classified bibliography of French theses and dissertations on Surrealist subjects for the years 1970–91. Each citation lists the author, title, director, granting institution, and date.

The second title is a classified bibliography of books and reprints of books and journals published between 1976–91, frequently listing table of contents. Sometimes these sections are published to showcase certain aspects of Surrealism (see v.4, 1983, p.357–80: "Catalogue de l'exposition: livres surréalistes: vitrines"), or to showcase single Surrealists (see v.9, 1987, p.283–88: "Hans Arp: bibliographie sélective").

A184 Tate Gallery, London. Archive. The Tate Gallery Archive, an index on microfiche, 1986 [microform]. London, Ormonde (Distr. in U.S. by Clearwater), 1986. 122 microfiches + 1 guide (xi leaves) in binder.

"Tate Gallery Archive was set up in the late 1960s, principally to collect material of 20th century British artists and their associates and to be the depository of the Gallery's own records more than thirty years old. However, the contents of this Index will demonstrate that it has a wider range extending to 20th century artists worldwide and British artists working prior to the 20th century. This material comes in many different forms: personal letters, notebooks, diaries, drafts of texts, sketchbooks, drawings, photographs, printers' proofs, press-cuttings, ledgers and official registers, audio-visual records (both tape and transcript), film and microfiche, posters, private view cards, annotated exhibition catalogues and diverse ephemera."—Introd.

This index is divided into two sections: Personal records of artists (includes personal papers, microform records, audio-visual records, and posters), and Records of the Tate Gallery (listed and available to view in situ, but not yet fully indexed).

A185 Weisberg, Gabriel P., and Weisberg, Yvonne M.L. Japonisme: an annotated bibliography. N.Y., Garland, 1990. xxviii, 445p. il. (Co-published with the International Center for Japonisme) (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.695)

"Among the goals of this annotated bibliography have been, first, to chronicle the history of Japanese art's impact on the West, and second, to move beyond superficialities by returning to the earliest Western encounters with Japan to see how contacts with the Far East changed over the decades."—Introd.

Heavily annotated bibliography arranged by type of publication (books, catalogs, articles, dissertations, reviews, and notes), and within that, by date.

Indexes: author, p.405–13; subject, p.414–45.

SEE ALSO: Bibliography of German expressionism: catalog of the Library of the Robert Gore Rifkind Center for German Expressionist Studies at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art (GLAH 2:A188).

WESTERN COUNTRIES

Baltic Countries

A186 Böckler, Erich, and Fischer, Henrik. Bibliographie zur baltischen Bau- und Kunstgeschichte, 1939–1981. Berlin, Deutscher Verlag für Kunstwissenschaft, 1984. vii, 56p. (Schrifttum zur deutschen Kunst. Sonderheft.)

See GLAH 1:A131 for series entry.

Classified bibliography of books and periodical literature on all aspects of the art and architecture of the Baltic region, including Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and the former German provinces of East and West Prussia. Includes coverage of Baltic art abroad. Library locations, where known, are given. Covers the literature published between 1939 and 1981. Includes reviews.

Register: Künstler, p.50. Länder, Landschaften und Orte, p.51–52. Verfasser, p.53–56.

France

A187 Inventaire général des monuments et des richesses artistiques de la France. Répertoire des inventaires. Paris, Impr. Nationale, 1971–. (28) fasc.

See GLAH 1:A120 for earlier fasc.

Contents: (3) pt.1, Ile-de-France (1983); (5) Haute-Normandie (1975); (6) Basse-Normandie (1982); (8) Pays de la Loire (1986); (11) Aquitaine (1978); (13) Champagne-Ardenne (1991); (16) Franche-Comté (1984); (17) Bourgogne (1979); (18) Auvergne (1977); (19) Rhône-Alpes; (20) Languedoc Roussillon; (21) Provence-Côte d'Azur; (22) Corse; (28) Fascicule National.

Germany and Austria

A188 Robert Gore Rifkind Center for German Expressionist Studies. Library. Bibliography of German expressionism: catalog of the Library of the Robert Gore Rifkind Center for German Expressionist Studies at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. Boston, Hall, 1990. 272p. il.

Catalog of some 4,000 volumes, of which one-third are rare early catalogs and monographs documenting the work of 150 artists. Includes 110 contemporary periodicals, exhibition and oeuvre catalogs, and a large secondary sources collection.

A189 Schroeter, Eva-Maria. Bibliographie zur Kunstgeschichte Heidelbergs. Heidelberg, Kunsthistorisches Institut der Universität Heidelberg, 1993. 229p. (Veröffentlichungen zur Heidelberger Altstadt, Heft 27)

Also available via the internet. Classified bibliography of books, some analyzed, and periodical literature on the art and architecture of this city and surrounding area. Within each category, items are arranged alphabetically by author.

Personen- und Titelregister, p.183–229.

A190 Wichmann, Hans, ed. Bibliographie der Kunst in Bayern. Wiesbaden, Harrassowitz, 1961–83. 5v.

(Bayerische Akademie der Wissenschaften, Munich. Kommission für bayerische Landesgeschichte. Bibliographien, Bd. 1–5.)

See GLAH 1:A135 for earlier vols.

Contents: (5) Namenregister for Bd. 1–4.

Great Britain and Ireland

A191 British archaeological bibliography, v.1, no.1, Apr. 1992–. London, British Archaeological Society, 1992–. Semiannual.

Continues GLAH 1:A136 and GLAH 1:A138. Available online via the internet. Classified annotated bibliography of current books and periodical literature relating to the archeology of Great Britain and Ireland. Includes more general literature on archeology, heritage management, public and political aspects of archeology, and the sciences as applied to archeology. Includes coverage of more than 350 British and Irish periodicals and 150 numbered monographic series. For publications outside Britain and Ireland, a separate list of approximately 360 serials and monographic series are examined. A complete list of serial publications examined for each issue appears at the end of the preface. Each volume includes an Abstracts section-finder and Cross-reference guide for ease of use. Author, subject indexes. Appendixes: Directory of periodicals and monographs; Directory of book publishers; Directory of other abstract publications and serial bibliographies for archaeology and related disciplines; Directory of information on archaeology in the British Parliament.

A192 Dobai, Johannes. Die Kunstliteratur des Klassizismus und der Romantik in England. Bern, Benteli, 1974–[1984?]. 4v.

See GLAH 1:A139 for earlier vols.

Contents: (4) Registerband. Bearb. von Katharina Dobai.

A193 Handbook for British and Irish archaeology: sources and resources. Comp. by Cherry Lavell. Edinburgh, Edinburgh Univ. Pr., 1997. 480p.

"The main aim of this book is to indicate at least some of the rich resources available in Britain and Ireland, many of them grossly underused."—Introd. Compiles authoritative information on organizations, national societies, and special interest groups; bibliographies; dictionaries; map lists; record office directories; grant sources; archaeological touring guides; etc.

Index of authors and subjects, p.383–421.

A194 King, Anthony. British and Irish archaeology: a bibliographical guide. Manchester, Manchester Univ. Pr., 1994. xii, 324p. (History and related disciplines select bibliographies)

Classified, annotated bibliography of 6,000 books and articles, primarily in English, on British and Irish archeology, covering material published 1960–1990. Arranged chronologically, from the Paleolithic to 19th-century industrial archeology. Each period is subdivided, with standard sections including general surveys, chronology, environment, settlements, religious and industrial sites, economics, artifacts, and arts. The first chapter covers general works and studies of methodology. Index of authors, editors, and organizations, p.301–24.

A195 Werner, Martin. Insular art: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1984. xxxiv, 395p. (Reference publication in art history)

Classified bibliography of books and periodical literature (including reviews) on the art of the British from the 5th–9th centuries, and of Ireland up to the 11th century. The introduction surveys the history of research in this area. Topical arrangement beginning with General topics, followed by History; Language, literature, learning, exegesis, liturgy; Manuscripts and manuscript illustration; Art and archeology; Sculpture; Metalwork, textiles, beads; and Ecclesiastical architecture. Material is further divided geographically, as well as by prominent individual works, e.g., Book of Kells. Includes material published until 1979. An appendix lists more recent scholarly literature through 1982. Detailed annotations.

Author index, p.373–95.

Italy

A196 Arte moderna a Firenze: cataloghi di esposizioni 1900–1933. A cura di Artemisia Calcagni Abrami e Lucia Chimirri. Firenze, Centro Di, 1988. 79p. il. (Cataloghi/Gabinetto stampe delle Biblioteca nazionale centrale di Firenze; nuova ser., 2) (Mostre, 26) (Centro Di cat., 222)

Catalog of the exhibition, Biblioteca Nazionale Centrale, Florence (1988), which is in itself a census of exhibition catalogs arranged chronologically. Bibliographic entries include an abbreviation for the holding library, and bibliographic references where available. The lengthy introduction summarizes the exhibition and publishing activities of various Florentine galleries and societies during this period. Includes many illustrations of catalog title pages.

Appendix, p.63–65, lists chronologically catalog citations for which there is no known holding library. Indice dei nomi, p.75–79. Bibliography, p.67–74, arranged chronologically, covers 1863–1986.

A197 Bollettino bibliografico, 1950–. Published quarterly in Commentari: rivista di critica e storia dell'arte, anno 1–27, 1950–1978; n.s., anno 1 (1995)–.

Loosely classified list of books and periodical articles on Italian art and architecture appearing in each quarterly issue of Commentari (GLAH 1:Q134).

A198 Degrassi Maltese, Livia. Repertorio di bibliografia per i beni culturali della Liguria. Genova, SAGEP, 1980. 419p.

International bibliography of books and archival and periodical literature on the art and architecture of this region, published from the 17th century through 1976. Includes iconographic references. Some entries include brief annotations. Bibliographic entries, arranged alphabetically by author, are followed by two indexes. Continued by Nuti (GLAH 2:A202).

Indice dei luoghi e materie, p.267–343. Indice degli artisti, p.345–410.

A199 Fucinese, Damiano Venanzio. Arte e archeologia in Abruzzo: bibliografia. Rome, Università degli studi, Istituto di fondamenti dell'architettura; Officina, 1978. xxii, 381p.

Bibliography covering five centuries of books and periodical literature on the Abruzzo region. The 4,733 entries are arranged chronologically. The introduction includes an overview about the Abruzzo. Includes a separate list of important manuscripts, p.292–306. Brief annotations.

Indice degli autori, p.317–35. Indice degli artisti, p.336–52. Indice dei nomi propri, p.353–56. Indice delle località, p.357–76. Indice analitico, p.377–81.

A200 Gilbert, Creighton. Tesi di laurea in storia dell'arte italiana dalle Università Austriache, inglesi, olandesi, statunitensi, svizzere e tedesche (1945–1975). Published in Arte lombarda 70/71, no.3–4, 1984, p.5–24.

Classified, unannotated listing. Entries include UMI number where available.

A201 Mitchell, Bonner. Italian civic pageantry in the High Renaissance: a descriptive bibliography of triumphal entries and selected other festivals for state occasions. Firenze, Leo S. Olschki, 1979. 186p. (Biblioteca de bibliografia italiana, 89)

Covers the years 1494–1550. Each festival entry includes a summary of events and an annotated list of published sources and studies. Manuscript sources are excluded. Arranged alphabetically by city and then chronologically. Citations for "festival books" include European library locations. Preface includes valuable bibliographic citations for festival studies.

Indexes: Principal elements of the festivals, p.168–69; Artists, authors of plays and verses, composers and musicians, p.170–72; Titles of plays and poems, first lines of musical compositions, p.173–74; Principal participants in the festivals, and selected personages and personifications from the apparati and dramatic presentations, p.175–78; Authors of sources and studies, scholarly editors, p.179–83.

A202 Nuti, Anna Luisa. Repertorio de bibliografia per i beni culturali della Liguria. Genova, SAGEP, 1984. 127p. il.

Supplement to 1980 ed. by Livia Degrassi Maltese (GLAH 2:A198). Covers material published from 1977–1982. Bibliographic entries, arranged alphabetically by author, are followed by two indexes.

Indice dei luoghi e materie, p.75–98. Indice degli artisti, p.99–124.

A203 Raspi Serra, Joselita. Cataloghi delle mostre di arte italiana dal VI al XVII secolo in Italia e all'estero dal 1930 al 1945. Salerno, Pietro Laveglia, 1980. 156p. (Piccola Biblioteca Laveglia, 18–19. Saggi: arte, 1)

Listing of 93 exhibition catalogs published between 1930 and 1945, arranged chronologically. Entries include all bibliographic information plus the authors of introductory material, a list of exhibiting artists and the number of works shown by each artist. The introduction describes the evolution of the exhibition catalog during this period, as well as the selection criteria for this bibliography.

A204 Rosenberg, Charles M. Fifteenth-century North Italian painting and drawing: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1986. xxxi, 224p. (Reference publication in art history)

Within each of its divisions there are three subgroups: general, city, and artists. Within the city section, further subgroups include general, guidebooks, collections and museums, and monuments. Entries arranged chronologically within each section.

Contents: General bibliography; Emilia-Romagna; Liguria; Lombardy; The Piedmont.

Index of artists, p.203–13. Index of authors, p.215–24.

Latin America

A205 Biblioteca Nacional José Martí. Bibliografía de arte cubano. Ciudad de La Habana, Ed. Pueblo y Educación, 1985. 346p.

Systematic bibliography of Cuban art based on the holdings of this important library.

Contents: (A) Libros y folletos; (I) Obras de interés general; (II) Referencias generales; (III) Arte indocubano; (IV) Arquitectura y urbanismo; (V) Monumentos, estatuaría y epigrafía; (VI) Escultura; (VII) Pintura, dibujo y grabado; (VIII) Diseño gráfico; (IX) Artes populares e industriales; (X) Artes escénicas: danza y teatro; (B) Catálogos de exposiciones (1847–1978); (C) Índices.

Índice analítico, p.246–324. Índice de títulos, p.324–46.

A206 Burt, Eugene C. Latin American art: five-year cumulative bibliography: 1985 through 1989. Seattle, Data Arts, [1991?]. 89p. (EthnoArts index. Supplemental publication, no.6)

"This cumulative bibliography brings together all Latin American art related items which appeared in the first five volumes of Ethnoarts Index coverage of Latin America (volumes 3 through 7) . . . [and] includes a variety of categories of publications: books, periodical articles, catalogs, book reviews, exhibition reviews, conference papers, theses and dissertations, and other special types."—Introd.

Abbreviations, p.iii. Subject index, p.77–84. Author index, p.84–89.

A207 Contemporary Latin American artists: exhibitions at the Organization of American States 1941–1964. Ed. by Annick Sanjurjo. Lanham, Md., Scarecrow, 1997. viii, 506p.

Lists 750 exhibitions including more than 2,000 artists. "These exhibits were important not only because they included most of the artists that today are regarded as the masters or precursors of modern Latin American or Caribbean art . . . but, moreover, because they documented the . . . birth of modern Latin American art."—Pref. Continued by the following title.

Index of artists, p.461–88. Index of exhibitions by country, p.489–506.

- A208 Contemporary Latin American artists: exhibitions at the Organization of American States 1965–1985. Ed. by Annick Sanjurjo. Metuchen, N.J., Scarecrow, 1993. xiii, 720p. il., plates.

Lists 380 exhibitions of the work of more than 1,000 artists. Each exhibition entry includes biographical information. Exhibition entries arranged by year. Continues the preceding title.

Index of artists, p.671–99. Index of exhibitions by country, p.700–20.

- A209 Findlay, James A. Modern Latin American art: a bibliography. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1983. 301p. (Art reference collection, 3)

Covers late 19th- and 20th-century books and exhibition catalogs devoted to 20th-century Latin American art. Excludes monographs on individual artists and periodical articles, although periodical titles are listed. Occasional brief annotations. Entries arranged by country and then by medium.

Index [authors, artists, and periodical titles], p.265–301.

- A210 Godoy Llerena, Luis Alberto. Bibliografía del arte peruano: extraído de las Hemerotecas del Museo Nacional de la Cultura Peruana y Biblioteca Nacional. Lima, Peru, Instituto Nacional de Cultura, Centro de Investigación y Restauración de Bienes Monumentales, 1983. 1v.

Ambitious bibliography of the literature on Peruvian art. Discontinued with vol. 1.

Contents: Vol. 1: (A) Generales; (B) Arquitectura, pintura, escultura; (C) Artes menores

- A211 Handbook of Latin American art = Manual de arte latinoamericano: a bibliographic compilation. Gen. ed. Joyce Waddell Bailey. Santa Barbara, ABC-Clio, 1984-. (2)v. in 3.

Comprehensive classified bibliography from colonial through contemporary periods for all of Latin America. Covers books, periodical articles, exhibition catalogs, reviews. Subject outline in each volume. Author, artist indexes included.

- A212 Handbook of Latin American studies (online)= HLAS online [computer file]. [Washington, D.C.], Hispanic Division of the Library of Congress, 1995-. Annual.

Online version of: Handbook of Latin American studies. See GLAH 1:A147 for print ed. and original annotation. In English and Spanish. Includes citations from v.1- of print version. Also includes unverified, provisional citations from upcoming vols.

Contains records describing books, book chapters, articles, and conference papers published in the field of Latin American studies. Coverage includes relevant books as well as more than 800 social science and 550 humanities journals and volumes of conference proceedings. Most records include abstracts with evaluations.

- A213 Neistein, José. A Arte no Brasil: dos primórdios ao século vinte, uma bibliografia seleta, anotada = Art in Brazil: from its beginnings to modern times, a selected, annotated bibliography. Washington, D.C., Brazilian-American Cultural Institute, 1997. v, 535p. Text in Portuguese and English.

"The annotated bibliography . . . appeared in even-numbered issues 16 to 52 of the Handbook of Latin American Studies, and in some off-numbered issues, between 1953 and 1992."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Preface; (2) Reference and theoretical works; (3) Colonial period; (4) 19th century; (5) 20th century; (6) Folk art; (7) Afro-Brazilian and Indian traditions; (8) Cinema; (9) City planning, architecture and landscaping architecture; (10) Photography; (11) Miscellaneous; (12) Cartoons and comic strips; (13) Index of artists and authors (p.511–35).

- A214 Puerto, Cecilia. Latin American women artists, Kahlo and look who else: a selective, annotated bibliography. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1996. xiv, 237p. il. (Art reference collection, 21)

"My purpose in compiling this bibliography is to raise awareness about the rich and extraordinarily diverse contributions which 20th-century women artists in and from Latin America have made to the world of art."—Pref. Includes monographs, exhibition catalogs, dissertations, theses, videorecordings, and periodical literature.

Contents: The bibliography: Individual artists; General works; Appendix I: Collective exhibitions; Appendix II: Artists by country.

Name index, p.221–37.

- A215 Rivas Dugarte, Rafael Angel. Bibliografía de las artes plasticas en Venezuela. Caracas, Instituto Universitario Pedagógico de Caracas, 1987. xvi, 382p. (La Cultura en Venezuela, 2)

Substantial, 3,490-entry bibliography. Not annotated, but well-indexed.

Contents: Fuentes generales: bibliografías, diccionarios, historias; Fuentes bibliográficas; Fuentes hemerográficas.

Índice de siglas y abreviaturas, p.xv. Índice sistemático, p.355–82.

- A216 Victoria, José Guadalupe. Una bibliografía de arte novohispano. Con la colab. de Pedro Angeles Jiménez . . . [et al.] México, Univ. Nacional Autónoma de México, Instituto de Investigaciones Estéticas, 1995. 364p. (Apoyo a la docencia, 2)

Unannotated bibliography covering all aspects of colonial Mexican art, including painting, architecture, sculpture, applied arts, engraving, city planning, and historic preservation. Includes general works, chapters in books, periodical articles, catalogs, guides, and obituaries.

Siglas de bibliotecas consultadas, p.31. Siglas de elementos o datos catalográficos, p.33. Índice de artistas, p.337–39. Índice de monumentos, p.341–46. Índice de obras, p.347–49. Índice geográfico, p.351–56. Autores citados en la bibliografía, p.357–74.

- A217 Weismann, Elizabeth Wilder. The history of art in Latin America, 1500–1800: some trends and challenges in the last decade. Published in Latin American research review, v.10, no.1, 1975, p.7–50.

Overview of the literature from 1963 to 1975 with assessments of specific works. Supplements the Handbook of Latin American studies colonial art section. Includes books and articles, as well as sources of photographic or visual documentation.

Low Countries

- A218 Bibliographie de l'histoire de l'art national = Bibliographie van de nationale kunstgeschiedenis. Published in Revue belge d'archéologie et d'histoire de l'art, v.43, 1974–.

Classified, unannotated bibliography of books and articles on Belgian art history appearing in most annual vols. of Revue belge d'archéologie et d'histoire de l'art (GLAH 1:Q293). Each year's bibliography lists materials published in the previous year, sometimes two previous years. Author, geographic, and artist indexes.

- A219 Netherlands. Rijksbureau voor Kunsthistorische Documentatie. Bibliography of the Netherlands Institute for Art History. v.1–17, 1943/45–1973/74. The Hague, Rijksbureau, 1943–1974.

See GLAH 1:A152 for earlier vols. Ed. varies. Continued by irregular new acquisitions lists, since ceased.

Contents: (15) pt.1, Painting, old art; pt.2, Sculpture, old art; pt.3, Arts and crafts, old art; pt.4, Personalia; (16) pt.1, Painting, old art; pt.2, Sculpture, old art; pt.3, Arts and crafts, old art; pt.4, Personalia; (17) pt.1, Painting, old art; pt.2, Sculpture, old art; pt.3, Arts and crafts, old art; pt.4, Personalia.

Russia and Eastern Europe

- A220 Bleha, Josef, ed. Bibliografie české výtvarné umělecké literatury, 1965–1970. Praha, Státní knihovna Čsr, 1982. 184p. (Edice Odborné bibliografie SBI).

A supplement to GLAH 1:A24. Lists literature of the graphic and plastic arts published in Czechoslovakia between 1965–70. Author index at end.

- A221 Kõks, Endel. A bibliography of Estonian art and artists outside Estonia = Välis-Eesti kunstielu bibliograafia. Stockholm, Välis-Eesti & EMP, 1984. 114p. il.

Alphabetical listing by author of 765 "articles about artists of Estonian origin, their work, and the general art life of Estonians outside Estonia."—Pref. The bibliographic entries, dating back to 1935, include book and periodical literature. All titles are given in the original language accompanied by an English translation. When the artist's name does not appear in the title, it is given in parentheses. Preface and table of contents in English as well as Estonian.

Isikunimed register/Index of names, p.107.

- A222 Library of Congress. Visual arts in Poland: an annotated bibliography of selected holdings in the Library of Congress. Compiled by Janina W. Hoskins. Washington, D.C., Library of Congress (Distr. by the U.S. Government Printing Office, Supt. of Docs., 1993). xiii, 219p. il. (part col.)

This survey contains 868 entries including books, periodicals, and individual articles, published since the 19th century on all aspects of Polish art and architecture, published either in Poland or in the West. Most of the material is in Polish, but works in English, French, German, and Italian are also included. Book titles in Polish include English translations.

Contents: Historical, multi-media, and thematic surveys; Architecture; Sculpture; Painting; Prints; Decorative arts; Folk art; Photography; Art collections; Periodicals; Bibliography and reference works.

Name index, p.195–220.

- A223 Polska bibliografia sztuki 1801–1944. Oracowaly Janina Wiercinska and Maria Liczbinska. Wrocław, Zakład Narodowy im. Ossolińskich, 1975–. (4)v.

See GLAH 1:A157 for pre-publication citation. At head of title: Polska Akademia Nauk, Instytut Sztuki. A comprehensive bibliography of Polish art, including all works published in Polish on art, both Polish and foreign; works by Polish historians in all languages, including works published outside Poland; and works on Polish art published abroad.

Contents: (1) Malarstwo polskie. cz. 1. Prace ogólne. Historia. Malarze. A-K. cz. 2. Malarze. L-Z. (2) Rysunek, grafika, sztuka książki i druku. (3) Rzeźba. (4) Architektura. cz. 1. Źródła. Opracowania ogólne. Historia. Architektury i budownictwo. Continued by articles in Rocznik historii sztuki. 4, 1964–t.13: 1981.

Scandinavia

- A224 Copenhagen. Kunsthakademiets Bibliotek. Bibliografi over dansk kunst [Bibliography of Danish art], v.1, 1971–1980. København, Kunsthakademiets Bibliotek, 1972–1983. 10v.

See GLAH 1:A159 for pre-publication citation. Annual bibliography on Danish art and architecture, Danish art abroad, and foreign art with special connections to Danish art. Includes books as well as periodical literature, and a selection of exhibition catalogs. Sales catalogs and newspaper articles are excluded. Arranged by subject. Available as a database at the Kunsthakademiets Bibliotek.

- A225 Langballe, Anne M. Hasund, and Danbolt, Gunnar. Norsk kunsthistorisk bibliografi: skrifter om norsk kunst utgitt til og med 1970 = Bibliography of Norwegian art history: literature on Norwegian art published up to the end of 1970. Oslo, Universitetsforlaget, 1976. xxxii, 390p. (Norsk bibliografisk bibliotek, v.51)

Comprehensive, classified bibliography of books and periodical literature on all aspects of Norwegian art and architecture from 1000 to 1970. Includes archeology, ethnology, history, and cultural history. Some titles for the years 1971–

75 are also included, especially bibliographies. Preface and table of contents in English as well as Norwegian.

Register over forfattere, kunstnere, arkitekter, kunstsamlere og portretterte, p.356–90. Supplement: Norsk kunsthistorisk bibliografi 1978/1979. Unni Bliksvar . . . [et al.] Oslo, [s.n.], 1985. 2v. in 1.

Spain and Portugal

A226 Alvarez Casado, Ana Isabel. Repertorio bibliográfico en prensa periódica española, 1936–1948. Madrid, Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas, 1994. 172p.

Annotated bibliography of art books and exhibition catalogs which were reviewed in Spanish periodicals between 1936–1948, arranged alphabetically by author. Each entry includes the book review citation/s. Lengthy preface describes the Spanish periodicals cited within.

Índice de autores y materias, p.159–72.

A227 Bibliografía del arte en España; artículos de revistas clasificados por materias. Maria Paz Aguilo . . . [et al.] Madrid, Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas, Instituto Diego Velazquez, 1976. 1008p. Classified bibliography of periodical literature on all aspects of Spanish art and architecture. List of indexed journals.

A228 Reyes Pacios Lozano, Ana. Bibliografía de arquitectura y techumbres mudéjares, 1857–1991. [Teruel], Instituto de Estudios Turolenses, Excm. Diputación Provincial de Teruel, [1993]. 450p. (Serie Estudios mudejares)

Classified, annotated bibliography of books and periodical literature on Mudejar art and architecture in Spain.

Índice de autores, p.347–62. Índice de títulos, p.363–94. Índice de materias, p.395–422. Índice onomástico, p.423–26. Índice de topónimos, p.427–36. Índice de obras artísticas, p.437–50.

Switzerland

A229 Bibliographie zur schweizer Kunst, Bibliographie zur Denkmalpflege = Bibliographie de l'art suisse, Bibliographie de la conservation des biens culturels, v.8 (1985/86)–. Zurich, Institut für Denkmalpflege ETH, 1987–. Annual.

Continues Bibliographie zur schweizerischen Kunst und Denkmalpflege = Bibliographie de l'art Suisse et de la conservation des monuments historiques (see next entry). Bibliographic essays on Swiss numismatics by Benedikt Zäch in v.14.

A230 Bibliographie zur schweizerischen Kunst und Denkmalpflege = Bibliographie de l'art suisse et de la conservation des monuments historiques, v.1–7, 1979–84/85. Zurich, Institut für Denkmalpflege ETH, 1980–1986. Annual.

Annual classified bibliography of book and periodical literature on all aspects of Swiss art and architecture, including historic preservation and conservation, archeology, numismatics, and folk art. Entries in German, French, and Italian. Some entries are analyzed or include brief annotations. Index of subjects, places, and personal names. Continued by Bibliographie zur schweizer Kunst, Bibliographie zur Denkmalpflege = Bibliographie de l'art Suisse, Bibliographie de la conservation des biens culturels (see preceding entry).

United States and Canada

A231 Archives of American Art. The card catalog of the manuscript collections of the Archives of American Art. Wilmington, Scholarly Resources, 1980. 10v.

Reproduces more than 40,000 catalog cards covering 5,000 collections. Indexes approximately six million documents collected by the archives since 1954. "Since most of its users conduct their research within the context of individuals, indexing is chiefly by personal names."—Introd. Entire database also available online from the Smithsonian Institution. —. 1st supplement, 1981–1984. Wilmington, Scholarly Resources, 1985.

A232 Arts in America: a bibliography. Ed. by Bernard Karpel. Washington, D.C., published for the Archives of American Art by the Smithsonian Institution Press, 1979. 4v.

See GLAH 1:A164 for pre-publication citation. Comprehensive bibliography of book and periodical literature covering all aspects of art and architecture in America, including photography, film, theater, dance, and music. Includes publications through 1975. Contains almost 25,000 entries by more than 20 contributors. Contributors' names are listed on the table of contents and at the head of each section. Each section begins with a table of contents, and explanatory notes introduce each subsection.

Contents: (1) Art of the Native Americans; Architecture; Decorative arts; Design: nineteenth century; Design: twentieth century; Sculpture; Art of the west; (2) Painting: seventeenth-eighteenth century; Painting: nineteenth century; Painting: twentieth century; Graphic arts: seventeenth-nineteenth century; Graphic arts: twentieth century; Graphic artists: twentieth century; (3) Photography; Film; Theater; Dance; Music; Serials and periodicals on the visual arts; Dissertations and theses on the visual arts; Visual resources; (4) Index.

A233 Bronner, Simon J. American folk art: a guide to sources. New York and London, Garland, 1984. xxxi, 313p. [30] leaves of plates. il. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.464)

Annotated bibliography of books and periodical literature which attempts to place folk art study in the context of broader cultural studies. Each of the 13 chapters begins with an essay by an expert in the field.

Contents: Background and history, by Simon J. Bronner; Art criticism and aesthetic philosophy, by Michael Owen Jones and Verni Greenfield; Genres, by Kenneth L. Ames; Biographies, by Sara Selene Faulds and Amy Skillman; Region and locality, by C. Kurt Dewhurst and Marsha Mac-Dowell; Ethnicity and religion, by Robert T. Teske; Afro-Americans, by Eugene W. Metcalf; Workers and trades, by Doris D. Fanelli and Simon J. Bronner; Symbol, image, and theme, by Elaine Eff; Collectors and museums, by Elizabeth Mosby Adler; Educators and classrooms, by Kristin G. Congdon; Films, by William Ferris; and Topics on the horizon, by Simon J. Bronner.

Author index, p.285-98. Subject index, p.299-313.

A234 Grauerholz, Angela. Catalogues canadiens en art contemporain = Canadian catalogues on contemporary art. Montreal, Centre d'information Artex, 1981-99. (17)v. Annual.

To be continued as a biennial publication beginning in 2001. Annotated bibliography of exhibition catalogs on contemporary Canadian art, including Inuit and Amerindian art. Arranged alphabetically by artist in the case of single artist exhibitions, otherwise by title. Includes an alphabetical listing of museums and galleries by province, and a list of forthcoming catalogs and out-of-print catalogs.

A235 Hayes, Janice E. Bibliography on Canadian feminist art. Montreal, Graduate School of Library and Information Studies, McGill University, 1986. 43p. (Occasional paper, 9)

Annotated bibliography of book and periodical literature in English on Canadian feminist art published from 1960 to December 1984. Entries cover both applied and visual arts. Does not include items on individual artists. Only items dealing with three or more artists were included.

Contents: General; Collective biography; Galleries; Exhibitions: catalogs and criticisms; Visual and applied arts; Journal titles.

Author index, p.39-40. Title index, p.41-43.

A236 Igoe, Lynn, and Igoe, James. 250 years of Afro-American art: an annotated bibliography. New York, Bowker, 1981. xxv, 1266p.

Comprehensive annotated bibliography of approximately 25,000 citations from books and periodical literature that document the life and work of 3,900 artists, covering the fields of fine arts and crafts over three centuries. Work divided into three parts; Basic bibliography, Subject bibliography, and Artist bibliography. The latter includes references to specific artworks reproduced in the literature cited in this work. Entries in the Subject and Artist bibliographies are cross-referenced to the Basic bibliography. Two appendixes: Artwork by anonymous artists; Artwork by groups.

A237 Lerner, Loren R., and Williamson, Mary F. Art and architecture in Canada: a bibliography and guide to the literature to 1981 = Art et architecture au Canada; bibliographie et guide de la documentation jusqu'en 1981. Toronto, Univ. of Toronto Pr., 1991. 2v.

Comprehensive bilingual bibliography of books and periodical literature on the arts and architecture in Canada. Vol. 1 consists of 9,555 entries, listed under a series of subject headings representing a variety of topics, media, historical periods, and geographical areas. Includes writings on Inuit and Native American art. Within each topic and area, the entries appear chronologically according to date of publication. Each citation is followed by an abstract in English or French, or in both languages, depending on the language of the original document. All scholarly apparatus, introductory essays, guides to using vols. 1 and 2, and abbreviations are in both languages. Vol. 2 consists of author and subject indexes. The Subject index uses index terms based on those developed by RILA (GLAH 1:A15).

Contents: (1) Introductory essay, Towards the discovery of Canadian cultural history, by Ramsay Cook, p.xi-xiii; La découverte de l'histoire culturelle du Canada, p.xv-xvii; Art, p.3-482; Artists, p.483-782; Architecture, p.783-986; (2) Author index, p.3-34; Subject index, p.35-300; Index des sujets traités, p.301-570.

A238 Schimmelman, Janice Gayle. American imprints on art through 1865: books and pamphlets on drawing, painting, sculpture, aesthetics, art criticism, and instruction: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1990. ix, 419p.

This annotated bibliography identifies 637 titles and covers a broad range of art literature: addresses and essays, biographies of artists, histories of art, descriptions of paintings and sculpture, art journals, trade catalogs of artists' materials, practical handbooks on the preparation and use of materials, and instructional books on the techniques of drawing, painting, and perspective. Entries are arranged alphabetically by either the name of the author, name of the artist in brackets if no author is identified, or title. Each entry includes complete bibliographical information, description of the contents, and modern locations as identified by the National Union Catalog: Pre-1956 Imprints, Checklist of American Imprints, and OCLC.

Contents: (1) American imprints on art through 1865; (2) Books and pamphlets listed by date of publication; (3) Selected bibliography.

Index of names and titles, p.385-419.

ASIAN COUNTRIES

General Works

A239 Francis bulletin signalétique 526: Art et archéologie: Proche-Orient, Asie, Amérique, v.45, no.1 (1991)-v.48, no.4 (1994). Nancy, Centre national de la recherche scientifique, Institut de l'information scientifique et technique, Sciences humaines et sociales, 1991-94.

Ceased with v.48, no.4 (1994). Continues GLAH 1:A80 (ceased with v.44, 1990).

A240 Walravens, Hartmut. Bibliographien zur ostasiatischen Kunstgeschichte in Deutschland. Hamburg, Bell, 1983-84. 4v. il., ports.

Vols. 1-3 contain citations and selected offprints for writings by and about some of the pioneering German scholars of Asian art. Vol. 4 presents a series of offprints of critical reviews of the 1912 East Asian art exhibition at the Königlichen Akademie der Künste, Berlin.

Each volume has name, title, and subject indexes.

Contents: (1) Adolf Fischer, Frieda Fischer, Karl With, Ludwig Bachhofer; (2) Alfred Salmony; (3) Otto Kümmel; (4) Die ostasienausstellung Berlin 1912 und die Presse.

AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS

General Works

A241 Burt, Eugene C. Ethnoart: Africa, Oceania, and the Americas: a bibliography of theses and dissertations. N.Y., Garland, [1988]. xix, 191p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 840)

Citations of master's degree theses and doctoral dissertations (1,022 entries) dating from the late 19th century through April 1987. Includes selected bachelor degree honors theses from British and Commonwealth universities. No annotations.

Author index, p.131-41. Date index, p.143-49. Institution index, p.151-59. Subject index, p.161-91.

A242 ———. Serials guide to ethnoart: a guide to serial publications on visual arts of Africa, Oceania, and the Americas. N.Y., Greenwood, [1990]. xv, 368p. (Art reference collection, 11)

Directory of 682 serials including the following information (as available): title; subtitle; former title; ISSN number; OCLC number; Faxon number; publisher; frequency; subscription cost; ethnoart focus; editorial focus; first year of publication; language of text; illustrations; editorials; ads; books received list; book reviews; article abstracts; self-indexed; indexes other publications; relevancy rating; and notes. Nine appendixes provide recommendations based on a "rating of the level of relevancy of the publication to ethnoart based on the frequency that ethnoart-oriented articles, reviews, etc. appear."—Pref.

Additional appendixes: Serials with indexing, bibliographic, and abstracting services, p.301-03. Ceased serials, p.304-05. Serial titles by country of publication, p.306-25. Rotated title keyword index, p.327-68.

A243 EthnoArts index, v.5, no.1(Jan.-Mar., 1987)—. [Seattle, Data Arts], 1987—. Quarterly; series of five-year cumulations.

Continues Tribal arts review (v.1-4, 1983-86). List of periodicals indexed at the beginning of each issue.

The only up-to-date continuing bibliography for the "visual art, architecture or the artistic aspects of material culture or archaeology of any of the indigenous peoples of Africa, Oceania, or the Americas."—Introd. Includes books, periodical literature, exhibition catalogs and reviews, conference papers, book reviews, theses, dissertations, and other types of publications. Descriptive abstracts provided for some entries.

Contents: EAI notes and news; Book reviews; EAI abbreviations; Ethnoart (general); Africa; Latin America; North America; Oceania; Subject index; Author index.

A244 Tribal and ethnic art. Oxford, Clio, [1982]. 99p. (Modern art bibliographical series, 1)

"Tribal and Ethnic Art . . . contains 900 abstracts of books, available dissertations, periodical articles and exhibition catalogues with essays or texts published between 1972 and 1979, relating to the study or exposition of the artifacts and aesthetics of cultural groups who are largely non-European. [The series is] based on the bi-annual ARTbibliographies MODERN [GLAH 1:A102], which covers literature on post-1800 art published since 1972, and thus studies relating to pre-European contact cultures only are excluded, as are those which are anthropological or ethnological."—Introd.

Africa

A245 African art: five-year cumulative bibliography; mid-1983 through 1988. Ed. by Eugene C. Burt. Seattle, Data Arts, [1990]. iii, 170p. (EthnoArts index supplemental publication, 3)

Cumulative bibliography of all African art-related items which appeared in EthnoArts index from July 1, 1983, to December 31, 1988.

A246 The arts of Africa: an annotated bibliography. v.1-6, 1986-97. [Atlanta], African Studies Association, 1989-97.

Compiled by Janet L. Stanley, National Museum of African Art Branch Library, Smithsonian Institution Libraries, this bibliography "covers significant publications on the visual arts and architecture of Africa. . . . The bibliography is arranged by broad general topics and by country/geographic regions."—Introd. In addition, publications on African material culture, on the image of the Black in the Western world, and on the influence of African art on European art are included. Each volume has author and subject indexes.

A247 Biebuyck, Daniel P. The arts of Central Africa: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, [1987]. xxi, 300p. (Reference publication in art history)

"The bibliography covers ethnic units established in Zaire (formerly called Congo Free State, Belgian Congo, and Democratic Republic of Congo). . . . The primary focus is on their visual arts, particularly on sculpture in diverse media (mostly wood, ivory, bone, soapstone, and clay)."—Pref. Covering both book and periodical literature, most works include annotations.

Contents: List of journals; Bibliographies; Classification of languages; General ethnographies; Travelogues; General studies on African art; General studies on Zairian art; Northwestern Zaire; Northeastern Zaire; West central Zaire; East central Zaire; Southwestern Zaire; The Lunda-Cokwe Complex in southern Zaire, northern Angola, and northern Zambia; Southeastern Zaire; South central Zaire.

Author index, p.261-72. Ethnic group index, p.273-83. Subject index, p.285-300.

- A248 Burt, Eugene C. An annotated bibliography of the visual arts of East Africa. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., [1980]. xv, 371p. (Traditional arts of Africa)

Entries for 2,028 books, periodicals, articles, and archival sources on any aspect of material culture are included.

Contents: East Africa: general; Kenya; Tanzania; Makonde group; Uganda.

Culture [ethnic group] index, p.314-31. Author index, p.332-59. Subject index, p.360-71.

- A249 Stanley, Janet. African art: a bibliographic guide. N.Y., Africana, [1985]. vii, 55p.

"This bibliography is an introductory guide to the literature of African art and is intended to be a critical 'best books' list."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Periodicals; (2) Bibliographies and reference books; (3) General surveys of African art; (4) Regional studies of African art; (5) African crafts and utilitarian arts; (6) African architecture; (7) Rock art, stone sculptures and ancient terracottas; (8) Contemporary art and tourist art; (9) African art market and collecting African art.

Index, p.53-55.

Oceania

- A250 Hanson, Louise, and Hanson, F. Allan. The art of Oceania: a bibliography. Boston, Hall, [1984]. xviii, 539p. (Reference publication in art history)

The most comprehensive bibliography (6,650 entries) of the art and architecture of Oceania. Includes monographs, catalogs, theses, dissertations, and periodical literature. "Annotations are provided in cases where titles give incomplete or unclear information about works and their contents."—Pref.

Contents: Cross-region [treating data from two or more regions]; Polynesia; Micronesia; Melanesia; Australia; Sale catalogues.

Personal name index, p.403-29. Title index, p.430-511. Subject index, p.512-39.

- A251 Oceanic art: five-year cumulative bibliography; mid-1983 through 1988. Ed. by Eugene C. Burt. Seattle, Data Arts, 1990. 55p. (EthnoArts index supplemental publication, 2)

Cumulative bibliography of all Oceanic art-related items which appeared in EthnoArts index from July 1, 1983, to December 31, 1988.

The Americas

- A252 Berlo, Janet Catherine. The art of prehispanic Mesoamerica: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1985. xiii, 272p. (Reference publication in art history/non-Western arts)

Historiographic essay and 1,533-entry selective bibliography on pre-contact arts from north-central Mexico to the mouth of the Uluu River. Excludes site reports and works on pre-Hispanic manuscripts.

Subject index, p.225-72.

- A253 Dept. of Indian and Northern Affairs. Inuit art bibliography. 2d ed. [Ottawa], The Dept., 1992. 733, 69p. 1st ed. 1987.

This bibliography (2,368 entries) represents the "books, pamphlets, journals, newspaper articles, video, films, catalogues and brochures" collected by the Section Library and Documentation Centre of Indian and Northern Affairs Canada since the late 1940s.

Keyword index, [group 2] p.1-69.

- A254 Ethnographic bibliography of North America. By George Peter Murdock and Timothy J. O'Leary. 4th ed. New Haven, Human Relations Area File, 1975. 5v. maps. (Behavior science bibliographies)

See GLAH 1:A184 for previous eds.

Extensive expansion on the 3d ed. (approximately 28,000 entries are new to this ed.), covering books and articles from the period 1960-1972 on the ethnography of native North Americans. Arranged by culture region and then by ethnic group. Entries deemed "basic cultural descriptions" are highlighted with asterisks. Includes works on archeology and art.

Contents: (1) General North America; (2) Arctic and Subarctic; (3) Far West and Pacific Coast; (4) Eastern United States; (5) Plains and Southwest.

- A255 ———. Supplement, 1973-1987. By M. Marlene Martin and Timothy J. O'Leary. New Haven, Human Relations Area File, 1990. 3v. maps.

Update of preceding title, with approximately 26,000 additional entries on the ethnography of native North Americans, arranged into the same culture regions as the original.

Contents: (1) Indexes; (2-3) Citations.

- A256 Parezo, Nancy J.; Perry, Ruth M.; and Allen, Rebecca. Southwest Native American arts and material culture: a guide to research. N.Y., Garland, 1991. 2v. (Studies in ethnic art, 1) (Garland reference library of the humanities, 1337)

More than 8,400 references to works published between 1844 and 1988, including "books, monographs, journals and magazine articles, pamphlets, dissertations and theses, museum exhibition catalogs, directories, and a few government documents. . . . All cited works contain information on tangible objects . . . that have been or are currently being made and utilized by Native Americans of the region."—Pt. I, Resource guide. Introductory Resource guide includes "A beginner's guide to Southwest Native American material culture" arranged by material type, bibliographies, indexes, and journal titles.

Culture index, p.1135-1319. Subject index, p.1321-1506.

SEE ALSO: Francis bulletin signalétique 526: Art et archéologie: Proche-Orient, Asie, Amérique (GLAH 2:A122).

BIBLIOGRAPHIES OF INDIVIDUAL ARTISTS

This section is arranged alphabetically by artist's name.

Aalto, Alvar, 1898–1976

A257 Miller, William C. Alvar Aalto: an annotated bibliography. N.Y., Garland, 1984. xxix, 244p. il. (Garland bibliographies in architecture and planning, v.4) (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.390) Partially annotated bibliography of 1,174 books, catalogs, essays, lectures, and articles by and about Aalto, arranged chronologically by date of publication, 1921–80.

Contents: (1) The published essays, lectures, and conversations of Alvar Aalto; (2) Books, monographs, and catalogues on Alvar Aalto and his architecture; (3) Material on Aalto in books and monographs on Finland, and on Finnish and Scandinavian architecture and art; (4) Material on Aalto found in collected works and general reference sources on architecture; (5) Periodical issues and articles of periodicals on Aalto and his architecture.

Author index, p.191–97. Title index, p.199–229. Building list and project index, p.231–44.

Bosch, Hieronymus, c. 1450–1516

A258 Gibson, Walter S. Hieronymus Bosch: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1983. xxxvi, 212p. 1 port. (Reference publication in art history)

Organizes and annotates approximately 1,000 general studies, essays, specialized studies, periodical articles, and exhibitions relating to Hieronymus Bosch. Includes brief, critical annotations and notes variant editions and translations. Introduction: a critical history (p.xix–xxxi) is a historical bibliographic essay on Bosch criticism.

Index of authors, p.191–98. Index of paintings and drawings attributed to Bosch, p.199–207. Index of subjects and symbols, p.209–12.

Braque, Georges, 1882–1963

A259 Clement, Russell T. Georges Braque: a bio-bibliography. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1994. xvii, 231p. (Bio-bibliographies in art and architecture, no.3)

Lists 54 items by Georges Braque in the primary bibliography. Secondary bibliography (1,047 citations) includes books and articles categorized by (1) biography, career, and association with Picasso; (2) works; and (3) exhibitions. Introduction consists of a biographical sketch, a chronology of the artist's life, and a bibliographic overview. Notes variant editions and translations. Partially annotated.

Art works index, p.213–14. Personal names index, p.215–17. Subject index, p.229.

Brunelleschi, Filippo, 1377–1446

A260 Bozzoni, Corrado, and Carbonara, Giovanni. Filippo Brunelleschi: saggio di bibliografia. Roma, Istituto di fondamenti dell'architettura dell'Università, 1977–78. 2v.

Detailed, scholarly bibliography of Brunelleschi literature arranged chronologically beginning with 15th-century manuscripts and concluding with publications in 1978.

Contents: (1) Schede, 1436–1976; (2) Schede e indici.

Appendice, v.2, p.167–212. Indici analitico, v.2, p.215–52. Indice degli autori, v.2, p.253–72.

Burchfield, Charles, 1893–1967

A261 Makowski, Colleen Lahan. Charles Burchfield: an annotated bibliography. Lanham, Scarecrow, 1996. x, 210p.

Briefly annotated bibliography of 1,450 numbered items arranged by type of material and then chronologically.

Contents: (1) Exhibition history; (2) Exhibition catalogs; (3) Periodical articles; (4) Books; (5) Museum collections; (6) Non-print media.

Index, p.181–209.

Dürer, Albrecht, 1471–1528

A262 Mende, Matthias. Dürer-Bibliographie. Wiesbaden, Harrassowitz, 1971. xlv, 707p. plates.

Scholarly subject bibliography of literature on the life and works of Albrecht Dürer. Includes 10,271 books and periodical articles dating from the 17th to the 20th centuries.

Contents: (1) Schrifttumsverzeichnisse; (2) Schriftliche Quellen; (3) Dürers Herkunft und Familie; (4) Dürers äussere Erscheinung und Krankheitsbild; (5) Das Dürerhaus; (6) Museen und Sammlungen; (7) Dürers Werk; (8) Monographien und zusammenfassendes Schrifttum; (9) Biographie und künstlerische Entwicklung; (10) Dürer und die geistigen und politischen Strömungen seiner Zeit; (11) Ikonographie und Sachkunde; (12) Dürers Kunsttheorie; (13) Dürer und die Naturwissenschaften; (14) Werkstatt und Schüler; (15) Dürer und seine Zeitgenossen; (16) Dürers Nachleben.

Verfasserregister, p.619–68. Topographisches Register, p.669–76. Personennamen, p.677–93. Dürer-Werk-Register, p.694–707.

Fabergé, Peter Carl, 1846–1920

A263 McCanless, Christel Ludewig. Fabergé and his works: an annotated bibliography of the first century of his art. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1994. viii, 408p. il. Includes 1,772 citations to journals, newspapers, advertisements, and other printed and audiovisual materials dating from 1899 to 1992, arranged chronologically by date of publication.

Chronology of the house of Fabergé, p.7–9. Genealogy chart of the Fabergé family, p.11. Glossary of proper names, p.17–21. Index, p.367–408.

Gauguin, Paul, 1848–1903

A264 Clement, Russell T. Paul Gauguin: a bio-bibliography. N.Y., Greenwood, 1991. xxii, 324p. (Bio-bibliographies in art and architecture, no.1)

Identifies 101 items by Paul Gauguin in the primary bibliography. Secondary bibliography (1,274 citations) includes contemporary accounts through 1906, writings about Gauguin's works, and literature from exhibitions relating to Gauguin. Organized by general topic. Notes variant editions and translations. Partially annotated. Introduction includes a biographical sketch and a chronology of the artist.

Index of art works, p.293–96. Index of personal names, p.297–324.

Hans Holbein the Younger, 1497/98–1543

A265 Michael, Erika. Hans Holbein the Younger: a guide to research. N.Y., Garland, 1997. xix, 749p. (Artist resource manuals, v.2) (Garland reference library of the humanities, 1480)

Annotated bibliography of 2,518 entries, organized by genre and format, that includes primary sources and archival documents to 1800, monographs, museum and exhibition catalogs, and sections on drawings, prints, iconography, technique, patronage, influences, and reception.

Introduction (p.3–97) includes biographical and critical subdivisions. Index of authors, p.731–49.

Homer, Winslow, 1836–1910

A266 Davis, Melinda Dempster. Winslow Homer: an annotated bibliography of periodical literature. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1975. viii, 130p.

Lists exhibition notices and reviews chronologically (1875–1973), critical evaluations, individual works (articles and reproductions of works), portraits, and obituaries from 22 indexing sources and 16 monographs. Entries include a bibliographic citation to the periodical and an annotation.

Sources consulted, p.127–30.

Kahn, Louis, 1901–1974

A267 Brown, Jack Perry. Louis I. Kahn: a bibliography. N.Y., Garland, 1987. xi, 97p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.678)

Chronological list of 606 items by and about Kahn dating from 1924–1986.

Contents: Chronology; (1) Writings about Louis I. Kahn; (2) Books, parts of books and theses about Kahn; (3) Articles about Kahn in journals.

Author index, p.91–94. Building and project index, p.95–97.

A268 ———, and Markowitz, Arnold L. Louis Kahn and Paul Zucker: two bibliographies. Ed. by Frederick D. Nichols. N.Y., Garland, 1977. vii, 145p. (American association of architectural bibliographers, papers, v.12) (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.116)

Lists 424 books, articles, speeches, and obituaries for Kahn and 490 for Zucker. Includes chronologies and building indexes for both architects.

A269 Smith, Charles R. Paul Rudolph and Louis Kahn: a bibliography. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1987. xii, 224p. il.

Two-part bibliographic chronology of citations arranged according to commissions dating from the architects' early careers through part of 1986. Includes biographical and philosophical references as well as critiques, portraits, obituaries, book reviews, and biographical chronologies of each architect.

Contents: (1) Paul M. Rudolph; (2) Louis I. Kahn.

Index to Paul M. Rudolph, p.213–19. Index to Louis I. Kahn, p.220–24.

Le Corbusier (Jeanneret, Charles-Edouard), 1887–1965

A270 Brady, Darlene. Le Corbusier: an annotated bibliography. N.Y., Garland, 1985. xvi, 302p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.407)

Comprehensive bibliography of monographs through 1982 and articles and dissertations through 1981 by and about Le Corbusier. Only the entries for monographs are annotated.

Author index, p.239–51. Subject index, p.253–72. Place index, p.273–83. Chronological index, p.285–302.

Leonardo da Vinci, 1452–1519

A271 Guerrini, Mauro. Bibliotheca Leonardiana, 1493–1989. Presentazioni di Augusto Marinoni, Carlo Pedretti. Milano, Editrice Bibliografica, 1990. 3v. (2,216p.)

Detailed, scholarly bibliography of 6,192 printed books and periodical articles published between 1493 and 1989 on Leonardo, arranged by date of publication in vol. 1, thematically in vol. 2, and indexed in vol. 3. Complements Verga (see following title).

Contents: (1) I manoscritti di Leonardo; Opere di Leonardo da Vinci; Opere su Leonardo da Vinci; (2) Indice degli autori; Indice dei titoli; Indice dei seriali; Indice dei luoghi di pubblicazione delle edizioni anteriori al 1821; Subdivisione e indice delle edizioni per lingua del testo; Concorde; (3) Opere su Leonardo da Vinci; Indice dei soggetti; Indice delle notazioni di classificazione; Ordine tematico; Appendice.

A272 Verga, Ettore. Bibliografia Vinciana, 1493–1930. Bologna, N. Zanichelli, 1931. (Repr.: N.Y., Franklin, 1970.) 2v. (835p.)

Annotated bibliography in Italian of 2,900 books and periodical articles arranged chronologically by publication date.

Contents: (1) Opere di Leonardo da Vinci; I trattati; Manoscritti e disegni di Leonardo da Vinci; (2) Scritti su Leonardo da Vinci.

Indice degli scrittori, p.775–800. Indice delle persone e della cose, p.801–35.

Matisse, Henri, 1869–1954

A273 Bock-Weiss, Catherine C. Henri Matisse: a guide to research. N.Y., Garland, 1996. cii, 690p. (Artist resource manuals, v.1)

Critical, annotated bibliography and research guide to a century of literature on Matisse that identifies 1,408 books and articles and numerous exhibitions and catalogs. "I have gathered, summarized, and evaluated the major literature on the artist primarily from France, the United States, Germany, and the Scandinavian countries, where major Matisse collections bear witness to early and intense interest in the artist's work."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) Primary documentation; (2) General studies, catalogues, and collections of essays; (3) Specific media; (4) General articles; (5) Individual works; (6) Fauvism; (7) Collections and collectors; (8) Matisse and other artists; (9) Books on Matisse for children; (10) Exhibitions and catalogues.

Index of authors, p.663–71. Index of subjects and themes, p.673–76. Index of artworks, p.677–90.

A274 Clement, Russell T. Henri Matisse: a bio-bibliography. Westport, Conn., 1993. xvii, 393p. (Bio-bibliographies in art and architecture, no.2)

Identifies 1,858 sources, including 127 items by Henri Matisse in the primary bibliography and an extensive exhibitions section (p.276–363). Organized by general topic. Partially annotated. Notes variants and translations. Includes a biographical sketch, chronology, and bibliographic overview.

Art works index, p.365–67. Personal names index, p.369–89. Subject index, p.391.

Meryon, Charles, 1821–1868

A275 Collins, R.D.J. Charles Meryon: a bibliography. Dunedin, New Zealand, Univ. of Otago Pr., 1986. 237p. Annotated bibliography of books, sales catalogs, periodical articles, and exhibition catalogs on the 19th-century French printmaker Charles Meryon, arranged chronologically by date of publication.

Index of authors, p.224–30. General index, p.230–37.

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 1475–1564

A276 Dussler, Luitpold. Michelangelo-Bibliographie 1927–1970. Wiesbaden, Harrassowitz, 1974. x, 292p. Annotated entries for 2,220 books and articles, arranged alphabetically by author. Continuation of Ernst Steinmann and Rudolf Wittkower's Michelangelo Bibliographie 1510–

1926, Leipzig, Klinkhardt & Biermann, 1927. (Repr.: Hildesheim, Olms, 1967.) Also supplements Hans Werner Schmidt, "Nachtrag und Fortsetzung der Michelangelo-Bibliographie von Steinmann-Wittkower bis 1930" in Ernst Steinmann's Michelangelo im Spiegel seiner Zeit, Leipzig, Poeschel & Treppe, 1930, p.63–94.

Sachregister, p.[269]–74. Personenregister, p.[275]–83. Ortsregister, p.[284]–92.

Mies van der Rohe, Ludwig, 1886–1969

A277 Spaeth, David A. Ludwig Mies van der Rohe: an annotated bibliography and chronology. With a foreword by George Edson Danforth. N.Y., Garland, 1979. xv, 280p. (American association of architectural bibliographers, papers, v.13) (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.115)

Annotated list of 732 books and articles arranged chronologically by date of publication from 1910 to 1977. A biographical chronology, beginning in 1886, runs concurrently with the citations.

Notes, p.261–68. Index, p.269–80.

Moore, Henry, 1898–1986

A278 Henry Moore bibliography. [Comp. and ed. by Alexander Davis.] Hertfordshire, England, Henry Moore Foundation, 1992–94. 5v. il.

"This is the official Henry Moore bibliography of publications issued throughout the world during his lifetime. Titles published after 31 August 1986 will be documented in future volumes. It includes books, exhibition and sales catalogues, newspaper and periodical articles, films and video cassettes, sound recordings, microforms, print albums, facsimiles, dissertations and other publications in 36 languages. . . The arrangement is chronological from 1920 to 1986 and within each year the grouping is by type of publication."—Introd. Includes 14,850 numbered and annotated citations.

Contents: (1) Bibliography 1898–1970; (2) Bibliography 1971–86; (3) Chronology of Moore's life and career; Henry Moore and his critics; Citations and sources; Index 1899–1986; Concordance; (4) Bibliography supplement 1898–1986; Bibliography 1986–1991; (5) Monographs 1934–1993; Henry Moore's library; Index 1898–1991; Concordance.

A279 Teague, Edward H. Henry Moore: bibliography and reproductions index. Jefferson, N.C., McFarland, 1981. v, 165p. il. plates.

Identifies 902 books, exhibition catalogs, periodical articles, and audiovisual materials as well as 2,300 reproductions of works cited in indexes to the literature and in books on Moore.

Contents: Biography; Exhibitions chronology; The bibliography; The reproductions index.

Sources consulted, p.159–60. Index to authors, p.161–65.

Parrish, Maxfield, 1870–1966

A280 Norell, Irene P. Maxfield Parrish, New Hampshire artist, 1870–1966: a contribution toward a bibliography, with notes. Preliminary ed.. San Jose, Calif., I. P. Norell, 1971. iii, 41p. 3-p. addenda.

Briefly annotated, preliminary bibliography on Maxfield Parrish that includes Bibliographies, p.7; Magazines, p.11–20; Newspapers, p.23–24; Illustrations in books and magazines, p.27–31; Books, p.35–38; Miscellanea, p.41

Picasso, Pablo, 1881–1973

A281 Kibbey, Ray Anne. Picasso: a comprehensive bibliography. N.Y., Garland, 1977. xxi, 287p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.45)

Identifies and briefly annotates 1,543 books, catalogues raisonnés, exhibition catalogs, dissertations and theses, essays, special issues of periodicals, periodical articles, literary works by Pablo Picasso, livres d'artistes, bibliographies, and archival materials published through 1976. Index includes author names, titles of art works and monographs, galleries, and subjects.

Index, p.249–87.

Pugin, A.W.N., 1812–1852

A282 Belcher, Margaret. A. W. N. Pugin: an annotated bibliography. London, Mansell, 1987. xxiv, 496p. 12 il. Exhaustive critical bibliography of works by and about Pugin, noted for its extensive research and descriptive commentary. Individual entries include size of publication, notes about plates and illustrations, and criticism.

Contents: (1) Publications by Pugin; (2) Illustrations by Pugin for the works of others; (3) Works sometimes attributed to Pugin; (4) Publications about Pugin; (5) Biographical glossary.

Index, p.479–96.

Rossetti, Dante Gabriel, 1828–1882

A283 Fennell, Francis L. Dante Gabriel Rossetti: an annotated bibliography. N.Y., Garland, 1982. xvi, 282p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.286)

Annotated bibliography of 1,195 books and periodical articles about Rossetti's artistic and literary career published from the time of Rossetti's death in April 1882 up to January 1, 1980. Entries 656–979 (p.155–219) include critical assessments of Rossetti as an artist.

Contents: (1) Bibliographies; (2) Source materials for literary works; (3) Source materials for artistic works; (4) Letters; (5) Biographical studies; (6) Studies of Rossetti as a writer; (7) Studies of Rossetti as an artist; (8) Studies of Rossetti as a poet-painter; (9) Dissertations.

A Rossetti chronology, p.xv–xvi. Index, p.261–82.

Rudolph, Paul, 1918–1999

See Kahn, Louis.

Russell, Charles Marion, 1864–1926

A284 Yost, Karl, and Renner, Frederic G. A bibliography of the published works of Charles M. Russell. Lincoln, Univ. of Nebraska Pr., 1971. xii, 317p. plates (part col.)

Identifies, organizes, and extensively annotates approximately 3,500 works, including collations, gallery catalogs, periodicals, newspapers, portfolios and sets, color prints, black-and-white prints, postcards, Christmas cards, ephemera, advertisements, Montana Historical Society, price lists, stationery, related objects, appearances, and references without illustrations. Cutoff date Dec. 31, 1966. Updates and adds four times the number of citations in Karl Yost's Charles M. Russell, the cowboy artist: a bibliography, Pasadena, Calif., Trail's End, 1948.

Index to paintings, drawings, and sculpture, p.277–307. General index, p.309–17.

Sargent, John Singer, 1856–1925

A285 Getscher, Robert H., and Marks, Paul G. James McNeil Whistler and John Singer Sargent: two annotated bibliographies. N.Y., Garland, 1986. vi, 520p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.467)

Two annotated bibliographies of books, pamphlets, periodical articles, exhibitions, reviews, illustrations, and designs related to Whistler (p.1–377) and Sargent (p.379–470). Includes primary and secondary materials.

Index, p.473–520.

Shahn, Ben, 1898–1969

A286 Eckstein, Patricia Schlamowitz. Ben Shahn, 1898–1969: an annotated bibliography of books, pamphlets, and exhibition catalogs by, about, and illustrated by the artist. [Los Angeles?], Eckstein, 1978. xxxi, 57 leaves.

Compiled as a master's thesis for the UCLA library and information science program.

Smith, W. Eugene, 1918–1978

A287 Johnson, William. W. Eugene Smith: a chronological bibliography, 1934–1980. Tucson, Center for Creative Photography, Univ. of Arizona, 1980–84. 3v. (Center for Creative Photography bibliography series, no.1)

Partially annotated bibliography of approximately 1,750 books, portfolios, periodical and newspaper articles, exhibition catalogs, and photographs by and about Smith. References are arranged alphabetically by title within each format section for each year.

Contents: (1) 1934-51; (2) Additions to part 1; 1952-80; (3) Addendum: 1938-83.

Chronological index to articles by W. Eugene Smith, v.2, p.249-58. Author index to articles about W. Eugene Smith, v.2, p.259-61.

Villard de Honnecourt, fl. c. 1220-1240

A288 Barnes, Carl F., Jr. Villard de Honnecourt: the artist and his drawings: a critical bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1982. lvii, 121p. il. (Reference publication in art history)

Includes a lengthy, informative introduction about the artist/mason Villard de Honnecourt and his 13th-century architectural manuscript preserved in the Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris; facsimile editions and concordance with the manuscript; writings about Villard and his drawings arranged chronologically, 1666-1981; miscellany regarding exhibitions; and an appendix of churches attributed to Villard. Annotated.

Author index, p.109-12. Subject index, p.113-21.

Whistler, James McNeill, 1834-1903

See Sargent, John Singer.

Wright, Frank Lloyd, 1867-1959

A289 Meehan, Patrick J. Frank Lloyd Wright: a research guide to archival sources. With a foreword by Adolf K. Placzek. N.Y., Garland, 1983. xxxiii, 681p. il.

(Garland bibliographies in architecture and planning, v.3) (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.294)

Annotated, descriptive catalog and research aid to archival materials in more than 50 public and private collections. Identifies more than 500 manuscripts by Wright dating from 1894 to 1959.

Contents: (1) The Frank Lloyd Wright archival collections; (2) The Frank Lloyd Wright manuscripts.

Appendix A, undated Frank Lloyd Wright manuscripts, p.579-83. Appendix B, compiled chronology of buildings, designs, and projects of Frank Lloyd Wright, p.585-644. Index of buildings, designs, projects, and places, p.645-56. Index of names, titles, and topics, p.657-73. Index of correspondents, p.675-77. Index of archives and collections, p.679-81.

A290 Sweeney, Robert Lawrence. Frank Lloyd Wright: an annotated bibliography. Foreword by Adolf K. Placzek. Los Angeles, Hennessey & Ingalls, 1978. xlv, 303p. 12 plates.

Annotated list of 2,095 books and articles by or about Wright published between 1886 and 1977, arranged chronologically. The introduction includes biographical and bibliographical overviews.

Appendix A, Taliesin publications, p.246-55. Appendix B, Frank Lloyd Wright buildings recorded by the historic American buildings survey, p.256-59. Building and place index, p.261-84. Name and title index, p.285-303.

Zucker, Paul, 1889-1971

See Kahn, Louis.

B. Directories

This chapter is divided into two sections. The first lists general art directories; the second lists museum directories. General art directories contain essential information about a variety of art organizations and institutions around the world. Museum directories supply information about art museums' collections, staff, and hours.

Most museums and other art organizations now maintain their own internet sites, containing reliable, current information. These sites should be consulted as a supplement to the information offered in this chapter.

GENERAL DIRECTORIES

- B1 American art directory, v.1, 1898–. New Providence, N.J., Bowker, 1898–. Biennial.

See GLAH 1:B1 for original annotation.

Essential reference for American art institutions and organizations. Provides contact information for national and regional organizations in the U.S. and Canada; museums, libraries, and associations in the U.S. and Canada (arranged by geographic location); art schools in the U.S. and Canada (arranged by geographic location); major museums abroad; major art schools abroad; state art councils; state directors and supervisors of education; art magazines; newspaper art editors and critics; scholarships and fellowships; open exhibitions; traveling exhibition booking agencies.

Subject index provides institution name(s); personnel index lists title and institutional affiliation of individuals; organizational index lists geographical location.

- B2 Art & design documentation in the UK and Ireland: a directory of resources. Comp. and ed. by Gillian Varley. [N.p.], ARLIS/UK & Ireland, 1993. v, 241p. Guide to nearly 400 libraries and archives in the United Kingdom and Ireland with collections relating to art and design. Entries include contact person, scope of collection, hours, type of catalog.

Regional index, p.219–24. Subject index, p.225–41.

- B3 Art in America annual guide to galleries, museums, artists, 1982–. N.Y., Brant Art Publ., 1982–. Annual.

Guide is the Aug. issue of Art in America. Useful and current guide to museum and gallery activities for the year.

Contents: Museum preview for coming year; preceding year in review; The Guide (U.S. museums, galleries, university galleries, nonprofit exhibition spaces, corporate consultants, private dealers, and print dealers), arranged geographically.

Alphabetical indexes provided for each of the guide categories, to artists represented by one or more of the gallery spaces, and by author or artist to articles published in Art in America for preceding year.

- B4 Art Libraries Society of North America handbook and list of members, 1982–. Raleigh, N.C., ARLIS/NA, 1982–. Annual. Title, 1975–1981: Directory of members.

Contents: Executive Board; ARLIS/NA: a history and overview; Strategic plan; Articles of incorporation; Bylaws; Standing committees; Ad hoc committees and appointments; Group moderators; Group statements of purpose; ARLIS/NA guidelines; Chapters and chapter officers; Individual members; Overseas members and subscribers; Institutional members; Business affiliate members; Divisions, sections, and round tables; Index of individuals by institution; Geographical index.

- B5 ARTnews international directory of corporate art collections, 1993/94ed. Ed. by Shirley Reiff Howarth. N.Y., ARTnews, [1993]. 573p.

1st ed. 1988. 2d ed. 1990. Supersedes Directory of corporate art collections, v. 1–3, 1982–84, and the 1986 ARTnews directory of corporate art collections. Beginning with the 1996 ed., only available on disk. Issued in cooperation with International Art Alliance.

Lists 1,294 corporate art collections in the U.S. and abroad, including a description of the collection, a contact person if any and selected bibliographical references. Indicates where the collection is displayed and what loan conditions apply. Appendixes include group exhibitions of corporate art collections and important holdings which have been dispersed or absorbed.

Indexes by state and country, p.503–14; type of business, p.515–24; media and type of collection, p. 525–47; and personnel, p.548–73.

- B6 Catalog of museum publications and media: a directory and index of publications and audiovisuals available from United States and Canadian institutions. Paul Wasserman, managing ed. Esther Herman, assoc. ed. 2d ed. Detroit, Gale, 1980. xi, 1044p.
See GLAH 1:B12 for 1st ed., Museum media, and original annotation. This ed. "offers updated and current details for 992 institutions compared to the 732 institutions covered in the first edition."—Pref.
Contents: (I) Museum publications and media; (II) Title and keyword index; (III) Periodicals index; (IV) Subject index; (V) Geographic index.
- B7 Directorio de arte Latinoamericano = Latin American art directory, 1996–. Buenos Aires, Arte al Dia Internacional; Miami Beach, Oficina Comercial in Miami, American Art Corporation, 1996–. Annual.
Directory of museums, galleries, dealers, critics, art magazines, publishers, professional organizations, photographers, schools, and other arts institutions, arranged by country.
- B8 Directory of art and design faculties in colleges and universities, U.S. and Canada, 1995–96. [4th ed.] Missoula, Mont., CMS Pub., [1995]. vii, 543p.
1st ed. 1987; 2d ed. 1991; 3d ed. 1995.
Schematic but exceptionally broad listing of art departments at American academic institutions, 1,537 in this ed. Entry for each school provides address, telephone and fax numbers, degrees offered, and the names of teaching faculty. Numerical codes next to each faculty name indicate teaching interests, a key to which is listed inside the front and back covers.
Indexes: Faculty grouped by teaching interest, p.253–445; alphabetical by faculty name, p.449–511; graduate degrees offered, p.515–22; alphabetical by institution name, p.525–43.
- B9 Directory of M.A. & Ph.D. programs in art, art history and related areas. N.Y., College Art Association, [1999]. 194p.
1st ed. 1992. Supersedes Directory of Ph.D. programs in art history, 4th rev. ed. 1984.
Primary resource for students investigating graduate programs in the U.S. Listings for more than 160 graduate art history programs include specific degrees offered, admissions requirements, names of faculty and their fields of specialization, statistical breakdown of students, description of curriculum requirements, list of recent dissertation topics, available resources such as slides and library materials, financial information, placement assistance and "major changes anticipated." Briefer listings provided for Canadian programs. Geographic and faculty name indexes.
- B10 Directory of historians of Latin American art. San Antonio, Research Center for the Arts, Univ. of Texas, 1981. 47p.
Lists 209 art historians and related scholars arranged alphabetically. Indexed by scholars' areas of interest. Includes guide to graduate schools with Latin American art history programs.
- B11 Directory of MFA programs in the visual arts. N.Y., College Art Association, [1999]. 175p.
Previous eds. published in 1976, 1980, 1987, 1992, and 1996.
Guide to more than 200 programs offering the MFA in studio art. Entries include admission requirements, faculty, characteristics of student body, curriculum requirements, resources such as studios and computer hardware, financial support, placement assistance, and comments. The focus is on the U.S.; only addresses provided for Canadian programs. Lists by area of study and by state serve as indexes.
- B12 Doling, Tim. Visiting arts regional profile: Asia Pacific arts directory. Paris, UNESCO Publishing and Visiting Arts, [1996]. 3v.
"The directory, a co-operative venture between Visiting Arts and UNESCO, arises out of their joint recognition of the value of cultural networking and of the need for the compilation of detailed cultural databases for hitherto sparsely documented regions of the world."—Introd.
Each country or territory listed has a separate chapter with the following subdivisions: (1) Cultural agencies; (2) Performing arts; (3) Visual arts; (4) Arts festivals; (5) Arts training and research; (6) Cultural libraries, archives, and resource centres; (7) Foundations which fund the arts.
Contents: (1) Australia, Fiji, New Caledonia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Solomon Islands, Vanuatu; (2) Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Indonesia, Lao People's Democratic Republic, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, Viet Nam; (3) China, Hong Kong, Japan, Republic of Korea, Macao.
- B13 Guide to architecture schools. Ed. John K. Edwards. 6th ed. Washington, D.C., Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture, [1998]. viii, 338p. il.
1st four eds. titled Guide to architecture schools in North America; 3d ed. 1982; 4th ed. 1989; 5th ed. 1994.
Comparative guide to architecture programs. Entries include application requirements for each degree, statistical data on the make-up of students and faculty, descriptions of facilities, programs, financial aid, and a list of faculty. Less detailed information is available for affiliate institutions, including some foreign programs. An alphabetical list of faculty provides their institutional affiliations. "Schools of architecture worldwide" provides addresses for hundreds of foreign schools.
- B14 International directory of arts = Internationales Kunst-Adressbuch = Annuaire international des beaux-arts = Annuario internazionale delle belle arti = Anuario internacional de las artes. 24th ed. München, Saur, 1998. 3v. Biennial.
See GLAH 1:B10 for 1st–14th eds.; 15th–21st eds. published: Frankfurt, Art Adress Verlag.
Remains the best single international directory of art institutions. Precise scope has varied. Sections in the current ed. include museums and public galleries; universities, academies, and colleges; associations; antiques and numismatics dealers; galleries; auctioneers; restorers; art publishers; art periodicals; antiquarian and art booksellers. Entries for each organization include address, phone number, sometimes a fax number, and usually the name of one or more staff members. Indexes for persons and institutions.

Index of degree types, p.328–33. Organizations in architecture and related fields, p.334–35. Abbreviations, p.336. Index of schools, p.337–38.

- B15 Latin American art, a resource directory. [Chief ed., Belgica Rodriguez. Assist. ed., Jose Bustillos]. Washington, D.C., Museo de Arte de las Americas, OEA, [1994?]. 64p.

Directory of art journals, museums, galleries, cultural centers, art critics, biennials, and art fairs related to Latin American art.

- B16 Money for visual artists. Researched by Douglas Oxenhorn. New exp. 2d ed. N.Y., American Council for the Arts; Allworth Pr., [1993]. viii, 317p.

1st ed. 1991.

Lists 221 organizations providing grants and other types of support to visual artists. Each entry includes address, contact person, brief profile of the organization, a summary of direct support programs, and an outline of the application process.

Indexes by name, p.295–97, by geographic area, p.298–303, and by type of support, p.304–12. Selected reading, p.313.

- B17 Organizing artists: a document and directory of the National Association of Artists' Organizations. 4th ed. Washington, D.C., National Association of Artists' Organizations, [1998]. 143p. il.

3d ed., 1992.

Resource for information on non-profit gallery and performance spaces. More than a directory, it advocates the value of artists' organizations. The first section includes testimonials by artists, several essays on the state of arts in the United States and a timeline of political and artistic events from 1905 to 1990. The remaining portion lists several types of organizations: NAAO members, service and advocacy organizations, national AIDS/HIV resource organizations, artists' residencies, media centers, regional and national government agencies, and foundations. Entries for member organizations include addresses, phone and fax numbers, a description of activities, gallery space, and often annual budgets. Members are also listed by geographic region; alphabetical index.

- B18 Thompson, Marie Claude. Les sources de l'histoire de l'art en France: répertoire des bibliothèques, centres de documentation et ressources documentaires en art, architecture et archéologie. Avec le concours de Catherine Schmitt et Nicole Picot. Paris, Association des bibliothécaires français, [1993]. 310p.

Directory of nearly 600 French libraries open to the public for research in art, design, architecture, theater arts, and archaeology. Organized by département, each entry includes address, telephone and fax numbers, access policies, hours, and a brief outline of collections. Indexes include cities, départements, name of institution, type of institution, and key word subjects.

Bibliography, p.309–10.

- B19 Werenko, John D. Guide to American art schools. Borgna Brunner, project ed. Boston, Hall, [1987]. xxvi, 281p., maps.

Somewhat dated but detailed guide to 384 undergraduate and graduate art programs in the United States, selected on the basis of curriculum and accreditation by the National Association of Schools of Art and Design. Entries are organized by geographic region and then by state; each includes a brief history of the program, degrees offered, facilities, and admissions requirements. A comparative chart illustrates graphically which of 40 major fields of study are available at each school.

Alphabetical index of institutions, p.279–81.

MUSEUMS DIRECTORIES

- B20 American Association of Museums. The official museum directory, 1971–. New Providence, N.J., Bowker, 1971–. Annual.

See GLAH 1:B14 for original annotation.

29th ed. lists more than 8,000 museums, aquariums, botanic gardens, historic houses, nature centers, planetariums, and zoos, accredited by the Association. In addition to museum listings, information about the Association is included as well as contact information for state and regional arts organizations, humanities councils, and international museum associations. A second volume serves as an advertising supplement, listing products and services of interest to the museum profession.

- B21 Danilov, Victor J. Corporate museums, galleries, and visitor centers: a directory. N.Y., Greenwood, 1991. 211p. il.

Describes 329 corporate museums, galleries, and visitor centers throughout the world. About two-thirds are located in the United States; the others come from 16 other countries.

Contents: (1) Corporate museums and exhibits; (2) Corporate art museums, galleries, and sculpture gardens; (3) Corporate visitor and information centers.

Selected bibliography, p.197–98. Index, p.199–211.

- B22 Directory of museums in Africa. UNESCO-ICOM Documentation Centre. Ed. by Susanne Peters . . . [et al.] = Répertoire des musées en Afrique. Centre de documentation UNESCO-ICOM. Rédigé par Susanne Peters . . . [et al.] London, Kegan Paul, [1990]. 211p. il., maps.

Bilingual guide to museums in 47 African countries; entries include brief description of collections.

Indexes by name of museum, p.185–93; city or town, p.194–201; and by subject, p.202–11.

- B23 Edson, Gary. International directory of museum training. N.Y., Routledge, [1995]. xiv, 411p. il., 10 plates.

Supersedes various eds. of Museum studies programs in the United States and abroad and Museum studies international, rev. ed., Washington, D.C., Office of Museum Programs, Smithsonian Institution, 1988.

Lists several hundred museum training programs, primarily in institutions in Western countries. Entries include types of degrees offered, areas of specialization, and name of contact person. Directory section is preceded by three chapters: Introduction to museum training; Museum training in a changing world; Museum work today.

Glossary of museum training terms, p.367-75. Selected bibliography organized by discipline, p.379-91. Museum training indices [organized by degree, discipline, type of financial aid, and name of institution], p.403-11.

- B24 Flannigan, Thomas, and Flannigan, Ellen. Tokyo museums: a complete guide. Rutland, Charles E. Tuttle, 1993. 245p. il., maps, plates.

Includes one-page descriptions of nearly 200 museums in the Tokyo area with entries organized under broad subject headings, e.g., art, history, science, toys. Each entry includes museum name, transportation directions, a description of the collection, address, phone number, hours, and admission cost.

- B25 Handbuch der Museen = Handbook of museums. Bundesrepublik Deutschland, Deutsche Demokratische Republik, Österreich, Schweiz, Liechtenstein. 2. neubearb. Aufl. München, Saur, 1981. 779p.

See GLAH 1:B17 for 1st ed.

Somewhat out-of-date but important for its listings of more than 5,000 museums in four Northern European countries. Collection descriptions included.

Indexed by place name, p.699-740; by museum name, p.741-63; and by subject, p.764-[80].

- B26 Hudson, Kenneth, and Nicholls, Ann. The Cambridge guide to the museums of Britain and Ireland. Rev. pbk. ed. Cambridge, Cambridge Univ. Pr., [1989]. x, 16, 452p. il., col. plates, maps.

This guidebook includes more than 2,000 art, history, and science museums and historic houses in Great Britain and Ireland. Brief description of collections provided.

Indexed by institution name, p.433-43; by subject, p.443-51; and by museums associated with individuals, p.452.

- B27 _____. The Cambridge guide to the museums of Europe. Cambridge, Cambridge Univ. Pr., [1991]. 509p. il., col. plates, maps.

Similar format to the above, listing more than 2,000 museums in Western Europe.

Indexed by subject, p.475-93; museum name, p.494-506; and museums associated with individuals, p.507-09.

- B28 I Mille musei d'Italia. Firenze, Primavera, [1988]. 4v. il. (part col.)

Organized by geographic region, this work lists Italian art, history, and archeology museums. A brief description of collections is included with a summary of the museum's best known works, where appropriate. A supplemental list is provided of noteworthy churches and historic houses in each geographic location.

Each volume indexed by name of museum and by artists mentioned in the annotations.

Contents: (1) Piemonte, Valle d'Aosta, Liguria, Lombardia; (2) Emilia-Romagna, Trentino-Alto Adige, Veneto, Friuli-Venezia Giulia; (3) Toscana, Marche, Umbria; (4) Lazio, Abruzzo, Molise, Campania, Puglia, Basilicata, Calabria, Sicilia, Sardegna.

- B29 Museums of the world. [Ed. Michael Zils; asst. ed. Marco Schulze]. 7th rev. and enl. ed. München, Saur, 2000. viii, 817p. (Handbook of international documentation and information, v. 16)

See GLAH 1:B21 for 2d ed.; 3d ed. 1981; 4th ed. 1992; 5th ed. 1995; 6th ed. 1997.

7th ed. provides very brief, basic information on nearly 40,000 museums in 194 countries. All entries have been updated and fax numbers have been added where available.

Alphabetical index, p.585-690. Personality index, p.693-98. Subject index, p.701-815.

- B30 Museums yearbook, 1976- . London, Museums Association, 1976?- . Annual.

Supersedes Museums calendar, 1967-75.

Ed. of 2000 vol., Mike Wright.

Directory of more than 2,500 museums and cultural properties in the U.K., arranged alphabetically by city. Entries supply basic information about location, collection, facilities, hours, and staff.

National museum and heritage organisations and government bodies, p.17-22. Area museum councils, p.23-24. Specialist groups, p.25-28. Regional federations, p.29. Related organisations, p.30-43. International museum and heritage organisations, p.44-48. Directory of courses, p.433-44. Directory of consultants, p.445-60. Buyer's guide to suppliers and services, p.461-584. Index, p.585-96.

- B31 New York Times traveler's guide to art museum exhibitions 2000. Ed. Fletcher Roberts. Consulting ed. Susan S. Rappaport. N.Y., N.Y. Times [1999- ]. Annual.

Originally published as: Traveler's guide to museum exhibitions, Washington, D.C., Museum Guide Publications, 1989-91; Traveler's guide to art museum exhibitions, 1992-99.

Lists major exhibitions to be held at more than 350 art museums in the U.S., Canada, Europe, and Japan. Each entry includes highlights of the permanent collection, hours, and admission fees. Editorial schedule precludes complete entries for all museums. Summary list of important traveling exhibitions and their successive venues with dates.

- B32 Roberts, Laurance P. Roberts' guide to Japanese museums of art and archaeology. Rev. and updated. Tokyo, Simul, 1987. iv, 383p. il.

See GLAH 1:B23 for original annotation; 2d ed. with the present title, 1978.

347 entries arranged in alphabetical order by the English name of the museum with indexes providing cross references for the Japanese name, prefecture, and subject. Each entry includes the English name, Japanese name, address, telephone number, collection description with author's personal comment, hours, admission charge, and transportation directions.

Glossary, p.321-43. Indexes [by Japanese names, by branch museums and other collections, by prefectures, and by types of collections], p.344-48.

SEE ALSO: American art directory (GLAH 2:B1); International directory of arts (GLAH 2:B14).

C. Sales Records

The compilation and publication of auction sale results has been transformed during the last decade by electronic database technology. Traditional print publications have changed formats and publishers; increased interest in the purchase and sale of artworks has driven the development of dynamic data available through the internet; auction houses have consolidated. In this chapter we have attempted to update information from GLAH 1 where publications have ceased or changed titles or publishers. Following the convention adopted in Chapter Q, Periodicals, in the case of serials that have changed titles we have provided separate entries only for the most recent version, the annotation giving the full publication history. But in the case of the many titles that merged, we have provided separate entries for each title. When a printed reference also appears as an electronic resource or when electronic replaces print, we have attempted to track the succession of formats and coverage; as throughout this volume, however, we have not cited internet addresses, which are notoriously subject to change. For wholly new electronic publications, we have described current content and availability. The heightened commercial interest in all types of art sales and the fluid nature of digital delivery make this information inherently and unusually subject to revision.

CURRENT SERIALS

- C1 Annuaire des cotes international = International art price annual, 1988–97. Paris, ADEC-Production, 1989–97. Annual.

Entries in French and English. The 1988 ed. covered French auctions only. With 1989, expanded to include sales in Western Europe, North America, Japan, and Scandinavia. Merged with Art price index international in 1998 to form Art price annual international & Falk's art price index (see GLAH 2:C3).

Also available in a series of cumulative CD-ROM versions: ADEC: International art prices, [Naples, Florida], Gordon's Print Price Annual, 1994–99. Annual. Title changed in 1999 to ADEC/Art Price Annual International & Falk's Art Price Index, reflecting the merger with Art price index international and covering the years 1987–98.

Contains 1,300,000 records from more than 1,200 auction firms, including painting, drawing, miniatures, prints, posters, sculpture, and photography. Searchable by artist, title, medium, price, auction house, and date. With the 2000 ed., the title changed to Artprice.com, Saint-Romain-au-Mont-d'Or, France, Artprice.com, 2000–. Available in two disks, Fine Art or Works on Paper, augmented by access to online updates via internet. The Fine Art database is comprised of more than 2,000,000 auction results covering 172,000 artists with works including painting, sculpture, miniatures, tapestries and ceramics. The Works on Paper database provides access to approximately 900,000 auction results for 70,000 artists in drawing, prints, posters, and photography. Covers January 1987 through March 2001. Also available as an internet database by subscription.

- C2 L'annuel des arts, 01–, 1993–. [Paris], A. Israel, 1993–. Annual.

Continues L'officiel des arts; guide semestriel des ventes, 1–6, Mars 1989–Août 1991, Paris, Ed. Van Wilder, 1989–91. Semiannual.

Covers 110 auction houses in Western Europe, U.S.A., Australia, Taiwan, Israel, Singapore, Uruguay, Russia, and Turkey. Indexes international sales of paintings, drawings, prints, and sculpture for 19th- and 20th-century artists. Entries include artist name, birth date, title, dimensions, medium, sale date, auction house, and price in British pounds, French francs, and U.S. dollars. Contains selected artist signatures and monograms, 16th through 18th centuries.

- C3 Art price annual international & Falk's art price index, 1998–. Saint-Romain-au-Mont-d'Or, France, ADEC/Art Price Annual, 1998–.

Formed by the merger of International art price annual (GLAH 2:C1) and Art price index international (see following entry).

The 2000 ed. covers 170,000 entries for 59,000 artists works sold at 5,000 auctions. Coverage includes paintings, sculptures, drawings, prints, photographs, miniatures, posters, and tapestries.

For CD-ROM and internet database eds., see the annotation for International art price annual GLAH 2:C1.

- C4 Art price index international, '94–97. Madison, Conn., Sound View Press, 1993–98. Annual.

Merged with International art price annual (GLAH 2:C1) in 1998 to form Art price annual international & Falk's art price index (see preceding entry).

Comprehensive index to auction results covering nearly 400 auction houses and including many smaller venues. Detailed introduction and explanation of entries provides a good overview of auction practices and conventions. Covers paintings, drawings, watercolors, miniatures, sculpture, prints, photographs, posters, and animation.

- C5 Art prices current: a record of sale prices at the principal London, Continental, and American auction rooms with indexes to the artists, engravers, and collectors. n.s. v.1-59, 1921/22-1972/73. London, Dawson, 1908-73.

See GLAH 1:C4 for original annotation. Ceased with v.59 (1972/73).

- C6 Art sales index, 1984/85- . Ed. by Duncan Hislop. Virginia Water, Eng., Art Sales Index, 1985- . Annual.

Continues The annual art sales index (GLAH 1:C1) which ceased in 1984.

Comprehensive index for sales of paintings, drawings, watercolors, prints, miniatures, and sculpture. Includes annual compilations of record prices, turnover, and works sold for more than £1 million and a useful cross-index to artist names. Auction house coverage has expanded over the years and now numbers 460 internationally including many smaller venues.

Also available as a CD-ROM database covering 1989-98. Coverage gives access to approximately 1.65 million auction records for artworks by more than 100,000 artists. Records may be retrieved by 27 different headings and results may be saved, annotated, and exported. Art Sales Index has recently been released as an internet database by subscription containing auction sales records since the 1950s. Images are now being added.

- C7 ArtFact complete [computer file]. North Kingstown, Rhode Island, ArtFact, Inc., 1989- .

Since its inception, ArtFact has increased its database to include more than 4 million auction sales results from more than 850 auction houses. Nearly half of the participating auction houses provide full transcriptions of their catalog entries. Also contains approximately 55,000 color images. Includes furniture, antiques, collectibles, and jewelry. Searchable by keyword with features such as proximity searching and implicit truncation. Available as an internet database by subscription.

- C8 Artnet.com [computer file]. N.Y., ArtNet Worldwide, 1985- .

One of the earliest databases to provide access to international fine art auction records. Offers sale results for more than 2 million artworks sold through 500 auction houses in 28 countries since 1985. More than 600,000 records contain color images. Sales are searchable by artist name, auction house, title, medium, size, price, execution date, and date of sale. Artnet.com also offers a newly developed database of more than 38,000 African art sales records from 1927 to the present. These records include works in various media sold internationally through more than 90 auction houses. Both databases are available on the internet by subscription.

- C9 Australian art sales digest 2001: a survey of Australian and New Zealand sales of art at auction from 1988 to 2000. Victoria, Australia, Acorn Antiques Pty., 2001. 565p. il.

Compilation of more than 100,000 sales results for nearly 5,000 artists who have lived or worked in New Zealand or Australia from the 19th century to the present. Entries include artist name, birth and death dates, title, medium, date of work, size, auction information, and price.

Also available as an internet database with some images by subscription.

- C10 Belgian artists in the world's salerooms, 1988-89- . Bruxelles, Arts Antiques Auctions, [1989- ]. Annual.

Covers 98 auction houses in Europe, Canada and the U.S. Includes painting, drawings, watercolors, prints, posters, photographs, sculpture, and mixed media. Indexed by medium and artist name. The 1997 and later eds. expanded coverage to artists who lived, worked, or died in Belgium from 1800 to the present day.

- C11 Christie's review of the year. London, Christie's, 1996- . Annual.

Continues Christie's review of the season. See GLAH 1:C5 for original annotation.

- C12 Contemporary print portfolio, no.1-, Spring 1990- . Shawnee Mission, Kan., Bon A Tirer Pub., 1990- . Semiannual.

"A quick reference auction report from more than 235 sales of contemporary prints held during the past fifteen years."—Pref. Includes works produced from 1950 to the present. The 9th ed. of this index covers the work of approximately 300 artists in 6,000 individual prints. Entries are arranged alphabetically by artist and include catalogue raisonné numbers.

- C13 Gordon's print price annual, 1978- . Phoenix, Gordon's Art Reference, 1978- . Annual.

See GLAH 1:C6a for original annotation.

CD-ROM and internet database versions: Full-text, searchable, covering the years 1986-2000. Includes the bibliography of monographs, exhibition catalogs, and index to advertisers present in the printed version. Updated annually. Images will be added to the internet database.

- C14 Le guidargus de la peinture du XIXe siècle à nos jours, 1980- . Paris, Éd. de l'amateur, 1980- . Annual.

Features well-known artists from a selected number of auction houses. Artist entries include brief biographical and critical remarks, bibliographic references, and a listing of works sold. Emphasizes painting but includes watercolors, drawings, serigraphs, and pochoir. The 2000 ed. contains a short essay on the emergence and importance of electronic resources for auction sales information.

- C15 i-on-Art: old master paintings [computer file]. Milan, Global Art Systems, [1999- ].

CD-ROM database of auction records for old master paintings sold by Christie's (London, New York, Amsterdam, and Monte Carlo), Dorotheum (Vienna), Phillips (London), and Sotheby's (London, New York, Amsterdam, and Monte Carlo) from 1990 to 2000. A considerably smaller selection of auction records from 1986 to 1990 is also included. All of the more than 70,000 records contain color images. Searchable indexes include artist, title, provenance, literature, auction house, date, and price. Bibliography and exhibition history are included. Pre-1990 sales are being added, and current sales are updated annually.

- C16 International art market: current world market prices of art, antiques & objets d'art, v.1-23, Mar., 1961-Nov./Dec. 1983. Woodbury, N.Y., Interart, 1961-83. See GLAH 1:C6 for original annotation. Ceased with v.23.

- C17 Kunstpreis Jahrbuch. München, Kunst und Technik, 1980- . Annual.

Continues Art-price Annual = Kunstpreis Jahrbuch (GLAH 1:C3); the English-language ed. ceased with v.34 (1979). Title and imprint vary. 1999 ed. titled Auktionspreise im Kunstpreis Jahrbuch.

Remains an invaluable source for its extensive coverage of the decorative arts and its detailed categorization of objects. Includes paintings, drawings, prints, icons, medals, sculptures, photographs, furniture, carpets, stoneware, faience, porcelain, glass, silver, jewelry, Judaica, metalware, clocks and watches, scientific and musical instruments, toys, antiquities, Asian and Islamic art, and arms and armor. Now published in three vols. covering international sales from more than 350 auction venues worldwide with particular emphasis on the smaller German houses. Numerous small black-and-white illustrations.

- C18 Lawrence's dealer print prices international 2000. Ed. by Lisa Reinhardt. Phoenix, Gordon's Art Reference, 2000. 842p.

Contains more than 30,000 entries from international private print dealer catalogs. Includes contact information for all dealers listed, bibliography, and a listing of catalogues raisonnés. Also available in CD-ROM version covering the years 1992-2000 and as an internet database by subscription.

- C19 Leonard's combined price index of art auctions [computer file], 1996- . Newton, Mass., Auctions Index, 1995- . Annual.

CD-ROM database containing combined data from Leonard's annual price index of art auctions (v.1-17, 1980/81-1996/97) and v.1-3 of Leonard's annual price index of prints, posters & photographs (v.4, 1994/95, excluded prints), both now ceased.

Covers paintings, drawings, and sculpture sold at approximately 100 auction houses, with an emphasis on smaller venues in the United States. Also includes selected bibliographies of works on prints, posters, photography, and photographer monographs as well as glossaries of art terminology. Covers print, poster, and photograph auction results from approximately 115 houses worldwide with an emphasis on smaller venues in the United States. Searchable by artist name, title, auction house, medium, and date of sale.

- C20 Le livre international des ventes: estampes, dessins, aquarelles, peintures, sculptures. Année 27 (1988)-Année 32 (1994). Zurich, Ed. M.; Lausanne, Acatos, 1989-1994. [Comp.] Enrique Mayer.

Merged with International auction records (GLAH 1:C7) to form MAYER (see following entry).

- C21 MAYER. Lausanne, Ed. Acatos, 1995- .

Continues Mayer, Enrique. International auction records (GLAH 1:C7), which ceased with v.28 (1994), merging with Livre international des ventes to form the present title.

The print ed. of MAYER is now complemented by databases covering a decade of sale results. The MAYER international auction records database was recently purchased by icollector.com. Access to the database is now free of charge. "The 1987-1997 database contains more than 1,000,000 auction records of sales to 31.12.1997. More than 800 auction houses in 40 countries contribute information. The important lower and middle markets are fully represented as well as all the major houses. Works from every period are featured and the selection is not restricted to those that achieve high prices. The coverage is truly international and ranges from the works of the great masters to those of lesser known and of younger artists who are appearing in the public sales for the first time. In all there are listings on more than 75,000 artists of more than 100 different nationalities."—Press release from icollector.com website, March 2000. The internet database, titled Art price guide, and latest CD-ROM ed. contain results for more than 1,000,000 sales of paintings, watercolors, drawings, prints, posters, and sculpture from 900 auction houses. Allows searching by artist name, title, date of execution, media, date of sale, sale price, and auction house. Currency conversions are calculated. Does not include images.

CD-ROM version: MAYER: International auction records. Lausanne, Éd. Acatos, 1994-1998.

- C22 Photographic art market: auction price results and analysis, 1980/81- . N.Y., Falk-Leeds, 1981- . Annual.

Publisher varies.

Indexes auction results for photographs by photographer name and includes date of sale, auction house, dimensions, print type, date of photograph, estimate, and price, including buyer's premium. The 1981 vol. includes "an introduction to fine art photography, an overview of the market, several sections devoted to acquisition strategy, and a grading system for collectible photographs." —Introd. Some vols. also contain an auction season overview and other articles excerpted from the Photograph collector.

- C23 Print price index, '92- . Madison, Conn., Sound View Pr., 1991- . Annual.

A comprehensive listing of international sale results indexed to provide access by type of prints as well as artist. Categories included are books with prints, botanical, Japanese and Oriental, natural history, portfolios of prints, posters, sporting, and topographical. Good coverage of smaller sale venues, especially in France and the United States. Prices recorded are hammer prices. Includes a directory of print dealers arranged by country and state.

C24 Sotheby's art at auction, 1986-87-. London, Sotheby's Publications, 1987. Annual.

Continues Art at auction: the year at Sotheby Parke Bernet. See GLAH 1:C2 for original annotation.

RETROSPECTIVE

C25 The artronix index: photographs at auction, 1952-1984. Ed. by Bhupendra Karia. N.Y., Artronix Data Corp., 1986. xliii, 1507p.

Outstanding reference for the history of photography. Includes multiple indexes to information compiled from 264 sales of photographic materials held primarily from 1972 through 1984. Individual entries include photographer name, title, dimensions, date, process, descriptions of mounts, notes, inscriptions, estimated values, and prices realized. A detailed chronology of photographic processes accessible both by subject and personal name indexes is of value. Also includes a master index with cross-references to all headings used throughout the publication.

C26 Art sales catalogues, 1600-1881 [microform]. Zug, Switz., IDC, 1986-. 3520+ microfiches, il.

Complements Frits Lugt's indispensable Répertoire des catalogues de ventes publiques intéressant l'art ou la curiosité (see GLAH 1:C17 and GLAH 2:C40). At completion, the project will include all the art sales catalogs from 1600 to 1860 listed in Lugt. This high-quality microfiche collection will also contain titles not found in Lugt, but located subsequently in various libraries. Each catalog is reproduced in its entirety. Multiple examples are included where unique annotations occur. At present, the published microfiche cover more than 31,000 sales catalogues. Printed guides accompany each section. A CD-ROM version is under consideration.

Contents: (Part 1) 1600-1825; (Part 2) 1826-1860; (Supplement 1) 1826-1860; (Part 3) 1861-1881.

Further supplements forthcoming.

C27 Auction prices of old masters, 1970-1980. Ed. by Richard Hislop. Weybridge, Surrey, [Eng.], Art Sales Index, 1982. 13, 678p. il., plates (The ASI decade publication)

Index to auction records for pre-19th-century oil paintings, watercolors, and drawings excerpted from The art sales index (see GLAH 2:C6). Entries are international in scope and arranged by artist. Few illustrations. Several collections of excerpts from this title have been issued by the publisher in the same series: Auction prices of 19th century artists, 1970-1980, ed. by Richard Hislop (2v.; 1982); Auction prices of American artists: auctions, 1970-1978, ed. by Richard His-lop (1979); Auction prices of impressionist and 20th century artists, 1970-1980, ed. by Richard Hislop (2v.; 1981).

C28 Beurdeley, Michel. Trois siècles de ventes publiques. Pref. de Maurice Rheims. [Paris], Tallandier, 1988. 234p. il. (part col.)

Lively descriptions of major international art sales of historic significance from 1650 to 1987. Includes a substantial preface by Maurice Rheims and an introduction by the author outlining the social and economic history and impact of art auctions. The bibliography contains general works on the history of sales as well as selected reviews and published sales catalogs. No index.

Tableaux des prix records, p.229-30. Bibliographie sélective, p.231-32.

C29 Christie's pictorial archive [microform]. London, Mindata, [1980-]. ca. 498 microfiches, il.

Microfiche reproduction of records, including images, for items auctioned by Christie's, London, between ca. 1910-1980. Different media within departments are treated individually. Accompanied by a printed Index to artists. Sale prices and dates of sales are not uniformly included throughout.

Contents: Oriental; Ceramics, Furniture; General decorative and applied art; Dutch and Flemish school; Italian school; British school; French school; German school; Scandinavian schools; Topographical and decorative prints; Old master prints; Painting and graphic arts; Impressionist and modern art; Antiquities; Silver and objects of vertu; Books and manuscripts.

C30 Christie's pictorial archive, New York, 1977-1985 [microform]. Bath, Eng., Mindata, 1986. 595 microfiches, il.

Microfiche reproduction of records, including images, for items auctioned by Christie's, New York. "Works of fine and applied art auctioned by Christie's from the opening of their New York salesrooms in 1977. The items were photographed for catalogue illustration and to provide a unique record for attribution and reference purposes."—p.1. Includes date of sale and price realized.

C31 Christie's pictorial sales review [microform]. Bath, England, Mindata, 1986. 341 microfiches, il.

This series, originally intended to be updated by annual supplements, comprises "Works of fine art auctioned by Christie's King Street London sale rooms from the start of the 1980-81 sale season."—p.1. The full catalog description, illustration, date, and price realized are arranged by artist name. These good quality microfiche reproductions cover auctions held through 1985.

Contents: (1) Old master, continental 19th century pictures; (2) Old master and continental drawings; (3) English and Victorian pictures and drawings; (4) Impressionist, modern and contemporary paintings, drawings, and sculptures.

C32 Corpus of paintings sold in The Netherlands during the nineteenth century. Ed. by Burton B. Frederickson. With archival contrib. by Ruud Priem. Assist. by

Julia I. Armstrong. Los Angeles, Provenance Index of the Getty Information Institute, 1998-. (1v.)

The first volume contains results from 182 sales held in Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Leiden, The Hague, Delft, and other cities. Includes the results of substantial research on provenance and private collections. Also available in a CD-ROM version as part of the Getty Provenance Index (GLAH 2:C34) and included in a free internet database through the Getty Research Institute.

Contents: (1) 1801-1810.

- C33 Frick Art Reference Library sales catalogue index [microform]. Boston, Hall Micropublications, 1992. 230 microfiches.

Microfiche ed. of the index to the Frick Library's extensive collection of historic and modern auction sales catalogs. The index is arranged by date of sale, auction house, and collection name. Accompanied by A guide to the Frick Art Reference Library sales catalogue index. As of 2000, the retrospective conversion of the Frick Library's sales catalog holdings is complete and all records have been added to the SCIPIO database (GLAH 2:C46).

- C34 Getty provenance index: cumulative edition on CD-ROM [computer file]. Los Angeles, J. Paul Getty Trust, 1999. 1 computer disk + 1 users guide (88p. il.)

A series of databases containing information crucial to the study of the collecting practices of past centuries. Two new databases are included in the 1999 release: Public Collections and Provenance of Paintings. Public Collections contains cataloging information on the individual paintings, executed by artists born before 1900, from a selection of American and British museums. The Provenance of Paintings database comprises information on the provenance of paintings from American and British collections found in the Public Collections database. Also includes three inventory databases (Italy, The Netherlands, Spain; see also Documents for the History of Collecting, GLAH 2:S15) and five catalog databases (Belgium 1801-1820, Britain 1801-1820 [see also Index of paintings sold in the British Isles during the nineteenth century, GLAH 2:C37], France 1801-1810 [see also Répertoire des tableaux vendus en France au XIXe siècle, GLAH 2:C45], Germany 1690-1800 [see also Verzeichnis der verkauften Gemälde im deutschsprachigen Raum vor 1800, GLAH 2:C48], The Netherlands 1801-1810 [see also Corpus of paintings sold in The Netherlands during the nineteenth century, GLAH 2:C32]). More than 580,000 records in total. Also available as a free internet service through the Getty Research Institute.

- C35 Graves, Algernon. Art sales from early in the eighteenth century to early in the twentieth century. [Reprint.] Bath, Eng., Kingsmead Reprints, 1973. 3v. in 1.

See GLAH 1:C15 for original annotation.

- C36 Hoet, Gerard. Catalogus of naamlyst van schilderyen met derzelver pryzen, zedert een langen reeks van jaaren zoo in Holland als op andere plaatzen in het openbaar verkogt, benevens een verzameling van lys-ten van verscheyden nog in wezen zynde cabinetten. [Reprint.] Soest, Davaco, 1976. 3v.

The original 1752 publication was compiled by Hoet to track fluctuations in the sale prices of Dutch paintings from 1684 to 1752. A third vol. was produced by Pieter Terwesten after Hoet's death bringing the coverage to 1768 and the total number of catalogs abstracted to more than 300. Each vol. contains indexes by artist name and seller name. The Catalogus is arranged by sale date, and individual entries include prices. Many entries contain additional information on medium, subject matter, and dimensions.

- C37 Index of paintings sold in the British Isles during the nineteenth century. Ed. by Burton Fredericksen. Assist. by Julia I. Armstrong and Doris A. Mendenhall. Santa Barbara, ABC-Clio [1988-]. (4)v. in 7 (Provenance index of the Getty Art History Information Program).

Four vols. of this scholarly and richly detailed publication have appeared thus far, providing coverage for the years 1801-20. The vols. have increased in size as a result of extensive searching in previously unexamined collections. V.2-3 contain data from approximately 900 catalogs, of which roughly 30% are not recorded by Lugt (see GLAH 1:C17 and GLAH 2:C40). Information is arranged in four indexes by sales catalog, by artist, by owner, and by previous owner. In addition to sale information, this publication contains a wealth of biographical and contextual detail of the early 19th-century art trade in Britain. Also available in a CD-ROM version as part of the Getty Provenance Index (GLAH 2:C34) and included in a free internet database through the Getty Research Institute.

Contents: (1) 1801-1805; (2) 1806-1810 (2 pts.); (3) 1811-1815 (2 pts.); (4) 1816-1820 (2 pts.)

- C38 The Knoedler library [microform]. [N.Y.], Knoedler (Distr. by Chadwyck-Healey, 1973). 23,000 microfiches, il.

Collection of approximately 13,000 international sales catalogs reproduced in their entirety. The collection is arranged by country, auction house, and date. Strong in late 19th- and early 20th-century American and French materials. Catalogs included are recorded in SCIPIO record "Notes" fields and include Knoedler fiche number (for SCIPIO see GLAH 2:C46). Sotheby's catalogs are excluded.

- C39 Leonard's price index of Latin American art at auction. [Ed. and publ. by Susan Tharan.] Newton, Mass., Auction Index, 1999. 537p. il.

Covers 30 years of sale results from all North American auction houses. Objects represent all media and periods. Contains more than 1,000 biographies and brief essays on Latin American art and artists in English. Includes some illustrations.

- C40 Lugt, Frits. Répertoire des catalogues de ventes publiques: intéressant l'art ou la curiosité, tableaux, dessins, estampes, miniatures, sculptures, bronzes, émaux, vitraux, tapisseries, céramiques, objets d'art, meubles, antiquités, monnaies, médailles, camées, intailles, armes, instruments, curiosités naturelles, etc. La Haye, M. Nijhoff, 1938–1987. 4v. (Publications du Rijksbureau voor kunsthistorische en ikonografische documentatie)

See GLAH 1:C17 for original annotation and previous vols. Internet version announced by IDC, Leiden.

Contents: (IV) Quatrième période, 1901–1925 (1987).

- C41 Mireur, Hippolyte. Dictionnaire des ventes d'art faites en France et à l'étranger pendant les XVIII<sup>e</sup> & XIX<sup>e</sup> siècles. [Reprint.] Saint-Romain-au-Mont d'Or, Artprice.com, 2001. 7v.

See GLAH 1:C18 for original annotation and previous eds.

- C42 Moulin, Raoul Jean. Le marché de la peinture en France. [Nouv. ed.] Paris, Éd. de Minuit, [1989], 1967. 613p. il. (Sens commun)

See GLAH 1:C20 for earlier ed. 2d French ed., Éd. Minuit, 1967. Abridged English trans. of the 1967 ed., The French art market: a sociological view, trans. by Arthur Goldhamer, New Brunswick, N.J., Rutgers Univ. Pr., 1987.

- C43 Nader, Gary. Latin American art price guide: auction records May 1977–May 1993: includes paintings, drawings, sculptures and graphics. [Coral Gables, Fla.], G. Nader, 1993. 290p.

Index, arranged by artist name, of works sold at Latin American art auctions held at Christie's and Sotheby's, New York. Covers the years May 1977 through May 1993 and contains more than 14,000 paintings, sculptures, drawings, prints, and photographs from more than 1,300 artists.

- C44 Reitlinger, Gerald. The economics of taste: the rise and fall of picture prices 1760–1960. [Reprint.] N.Y., Hacker, 1982. 3v.

See GLAH 1:C24 for original annotation.

- C45 Répertoire des tableaux vendus en France au XIX<sup>e</sup> siècle. Éd. par Benjamin Peronnet, Burton B. Fredericksen. Assisté par Julia I. Armstrong, Sophie Hauser, Armelle Jacquinet. [Los Angeles,] Provenance Index of the Getty Information Institute, 1998–. (1v.in 2)

The first volume contains results from 283 sales. Includes commentary on individual sales and an index of paintings arranged by artist. Additional vols. forthcoming. Also available in a CD-ROM version as part of the Getty Provenance Index (GLAH 2:C34) and included in a free internet database through the Getty Research Institute.

(Vol. 1., pt.1) 1801–1810: A–N; (Vol. 1., pt. 2) 1801–1810: O–Z et anonymes.

- C46 SCIPIO: Sales catalog index project input online [computer file]. Mountain View, Calif., Research Libraries Group, Art and Architecture Program, 1980–.

The SCIPIO database is an online union catalog that offers access to cataloging records for art and rare book sales catalogs for auctions held from the late 16th century to the present. Searchable indexes include auction house name and place, seller name, date of sale, and title of sale. Records include the dates and places of sales, the auction houses, sellers, institutional holdings, titles of works, and Lugt, Lancour, and Knoedler numbers. Contributors include institutions with pre-eminent auction sales catalog collections. New records are added daily. Available via the internet by subscription.

An early union catalog of titles from the SCIPIO database was published as Index of art sales catalogs, 1981–1985: a union list from the SCIPIO database. Boston, Hall, 1987, 2v.

- C47 Sotheby's pictorial archive [microform]. Bathwick, Bath, Eng., Mindata, [1995?] 235 microfiches.

Contains images and sale information from Sotheby's London archive from 1950 to 1994. Each category is arranged by artist name and includes title, date, physical description, and price.

Contents: British paintings, 1500–1850; British watercolours to 1850; Old master paintings; Victorian paintings; Modern British paintings, drawings and sculpture.

- C48 Verzeichnis der verkauften Gemälde im deutschsprachigen Raum vor 1800. [By] Tilman von Stockhausen and Thomas Ketelsen. Ed. by Burton B. Fredericksen and Julia I. Armstrong. Assist. by Michael Müller. [Los Angeles,] Provenance Index of the Getty Information Institute, 2001–.

Forthcoming. Index of paintings sold in Germany prior to 1800. Will also available in a CD-ROM version as part of the Getty Provenance Index (GLAH 2:C34) and included in a free internet database through the Getty Research Institute.

D. Visual Resources

The titles listed and described in this chapter include guides for picture searching, organization and management of visual collections, collection directories, sources and indexes of reproductions, and pictorial archives. Reproductive media now include not only traditional cast models, prints, book illustrations, and photographic surrogates, but also CD-ROM image compilations, electronic databases, and online commercial picture exchanges. Imaging initiatives such as ARTstor (a project of The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation) promise to create internet-based digital libraries in support of the history of art. Visual resources professionals are increasingly called upon to acquire, document, organize, maintain, and provide access to images across this wide range of media. Beyond simply locating images, visual resources professionals provide intellectual access to visual archives through subject analysis, indexing, and authority control in describing images. Many general reference sources such as the Art index (GLAH 2:A4), the Bibliography of the history of art (GLAH 2:A6), the Grove dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4) also guide users to illustration sources. Within this quickly evolving landscape, publications, electronic discussion groups, and activities promoted through organizations such as the Art Libraries Society/North America (ARLIS/NA) and the Visual Resources Association (VRA) remain the best sources for current information on visual resources-related topics, particularly for highly specialized and technical resources not mentioned here.

GUIDES FOR PICTURE SEARCHING, ORGANIZATION, AND MANAGEMENT OF VISUAL COLLECTIONS

- D1 Besser, Howard, and Trant, Jennifer. Introduction to imaging: issues in constructing an image database. Santa Monica, Getty Art History Information Program, c1995. 48p. il. (part col.)

Introduction to the vocabulary, technology, and processes of digital imagery. This guide provides direction in creating image databases of works typically represented in museum collections. Chapters review the composition of a digital image, define users and uses of an image database, and discuss methods employed to construct an image database, as well as to integrate images into an existing information infrastructure. Contains information on technical standards, and a selective discussion of active organizations and initiatives in the area of digital imaging. Also available on the internet. Glossary, p.42-46. Bibliography, p.47-48.

- D2 Beyond the book: extending MARC for subject access. Ed. by Toni Petersen and Pat Molholt. Boston, Hall, [1990]. ix, 275p. il.

14 essays selected to provide a sample of current thinking on the use of MARC (MACHine Readable Cataloging), the international standard for coding cataloging data. Intended for catalogers of images, museum objects, archives, and other non-book materials. The authors examine MARC as a vessel to contain data and as a communications format, and how subject access can be enhanced beyond the subject field currently available in the MARC format. Essays range from discussion on the practical steps used to extend or accommodate MARC, descriptions of cataloging projects that make use of the format in new ways, to calls for new advances in the field and use of the format for access to non-traditional materials, including visual image collections.

Contributors, p.259-63. Name index, p.265-71. Subject index, p.273-75.

- D3 Bunting, Christine, ed. Reference tools for fine arts visual resources collections. Tucson, Art Libraries Society of North America, 1984. 55p. (Occasional papers of the Art Libraries Society of North America, no. 4)

Annotated bibliography providing information on important sources, of both practical and theoretical nature, directed to the visual resource professional. Part I provides suggestions for a core reference book collection for visual resources collections. Citations for professional literature, sources of reproduction, management guides, collection directories, cataloging manuals, photographic and conservation manuals, and equipment directories are given in Part II. Part III notes useful general art reference works. Part IV provides citations to histories and handbooks for various culture groups and media. Titles with high-quality illustrations are selected to facilitate visual comparisons.

Author-title index, p.51-55.

- D4 Evans, Hilary. Picture librarianship. N.Y., Saur, 1980. 136p. (Outlines of modern librarianship)

Simple advice for the professional picture librarian regarding the organization, care, and use of material of all general subject types.

Contents: (1) Nature and function of the picture library; (2) Acquisition; (3) Care and maintenance; (4) Access and retrieval; (5) Classification and cataloguing; (6) Lending and copying; (7) Making a charge for services; (8) Copyright; (9) Administration.

Organizations, p.131-32. Further reading, p.133. Index, p.135-36.

- D5 ———. Practical picture research: a guide to current practice, procedure, techniques, and resources. N.Y., Blueprint, 1992. xi, 265p. il., plates.

1st ed., North Pomfret, Vt., David & Charles, 1979, The art of picture research: a guide to current practice, procedures, techniques and resources.

Updates information and guides researchers through the most obvious steps of picture research, gives warnings about common pitfalls, and helps in confronting the most frequently encountered problems. Divided into six sections. The first defines the qualification, training, and career opportunities available to a picture researcher. The second deals with types and varieties of picture sources. Part three provides information on the procedures for accessing and retrieving material, including information on copyright and fees. Section four is on picture selection, with descriptions on reproduction methods and photographic techniques. Part five includes information about taking on researching assignments. The final section on reference information was compiled by Lesley Coleman.

Associations and [other key] picture organizations, p.230-40. Libraries and services, p.241-45. Reference books, p.245-51. Glossary, p.252-62. Index, p.[263]-65.

- D6 Computers and the history of art. Ed by Anthony Hamber . . . [et al.] London, Mansell, [1989]. xiii, 213p. il.

Sixteen papers by different authors, mostly taken from previous conferences of the Computers and the History of Art Group (CHArt), established in 1985. Essays range from detailed descriptions of actual research projects in process to debates about the possibilities and problems created by automation, and have been grouped in themes of electronic imaging, databases and data modeling, and application. Processing and databasing, pictorial/visual analysis, museums and curatorial problems, conservation, and referencing and storing works of art are covered. For recent CHArt activities, see the journal Computers and the history of art (GLAH 2:Q152).

Contributors, p.[207]-08. Index, p.[209]-13.

- D7 Guidelines for the visual resources profession. Ed. by Kim Kopatz. Florida, ARLIS/NA; Dearborn, VRA, 2000. xii, 154p.

Intended for working or prospective visual resources professionals, this publication provides practical and theoretical information for managing visual collections.

Contents: Introduction, by Margaret Webster. Sections: Criteria for the hiring and retention of visual resources professionals; The education of a visual resources professional; The visual resources position; The institution and the visual resources position; The visual resources collection; technology and the future. Appendixes: Professional organizations; Internet resources; Recommended courses for visual resources professionals; Strategies for continuing professional education and development; Sample job descriptions for a hypothetical visual resources collection; Performance review checklist; University of Arizona, College of Architecture's policy, continuing status and promotion, academic professionals; Selected previous visual resource professional status surveys; VRA/ARLIS professional status survey; Recommended guidelines for use in reviews/accreditation of visual resources collections; Special Libraries Association competencies for special librarians of the 21st century.

Bibliography, p.147-52. Contributors, p.153-54.

- D8 Hess, Stanley W. An annotated bibliography of slide library literature. Syracuse, N.Y., School of Information Studies, Syracuse Univ., 1978. 47p. (Bibliographic studies, no. 3)

Bibliography of 250 annotated titles giving information on literature written on the subject of slide libraries. Approximately half of the entries deal with works printed prior to 1960; the rest are 1960 to 1977 imprints. Topics include acquisition and selection of slides, care and preservation, cataloging and classification of both audio-visual and slide material, using slides for instruction, planning physical facilities, and general education. Although some information is dated, this work provides a good historic overview of the literature and beginnings of visual resources collections and organization.

- D9 Hourihane, Colum. Subject classification for visual collections: an inventory of some of the principal systems applied to content description in images. Columbus, Visual Resources Association, 1999. x, 49p. (Visual Resources Association special bulletin, no. 12)

International inventory of forty-two general classification systems or systems specific to an individual project for subject analysis and access of images. For each system, directory information and a description of the collection, the system, and the subject index are given. Examples and references when available are provided. List of systems. Appendix of ICONCLASS users.

Selected ICONCLASS bibliography, p.40-41. Bibliography, p.42-49.

- D10 Irvine, Betty Jo. Slide libraries: a guide for academic institutions, museums, and special collections. 2d ed. With the assist. of P. Eileen Fry. Littleton, Colo., Libraries Unlimited, 1979. 321p. il.

See GLAH 1:D5 for 1st ed.

The 2d ed. reflects both the increase in professional activity of visual resources professionals and the increase in automation applications. Additional examples of cataloging and classification applications are also given. Information on environmental controls and preservation has been added and bibliographies have been updated. Both eds. give formal recognition to the complex nature of visual resources libraries and the need to establish valid criteria for their effective utilization and development. Chapters outline standard administrative practices, classification systems, production methods, physical facilities, supplies and equipment, and indicate basic guidelines for efficient organization and administration of visual collections.

Bibliographies at the end of each chapter. Selected bibliography, p.241-81. Directory of distributors and manufacturers of equipment and supplies, p.283-91. Directory of slide sources, p.292-303. Directory of slide libraries, p.304-10. Index, p.311-21.

- D11 Markey, Karen. Subject access to visual resources collections: a model for computer construction of thematic catalogs. N.Y., Greenwood, [1986]. xx, 189p. il. (New directions in information management, no. 11) Systematic approach to describing the subject content in visual images, based on Erwin Panofsky's theory of iconography and iconology. The author suggests compiling a searching tool or a thematic catalog of primary and secondary subject matter to aid those involved in image retrieval. This method was tested on 100 works of Northern European painting from the late Medieval period. The author includes a discussion of Panofsky's theoretical framework, a step-by-step approach to the construction of the thematic catalog, the results of compiling a catalog, and a comparison of the thematic catalog with other approaches to describing subject matter. Appendix A: Sources of reproductions and pre-iconographical descriptions for twenty works of art. Appendix B: Clusters in context. Bibliography, p.179-84.

- D12 Picture librarianship. Ed. by Helen P. Harrison. Phoenix, Oryx, 1981. xii, 542p. Handbook on picture librarianship with a concentration on techniques and practices used in organizing photographs and illustrations. Aimed at librarians rather than picture researchers. Provides information on selection, access to material, processes and operations, preservation and storage, and arrangement and indexing issues encountered in picture libraries. Chapters on education and training and administration. Case studies and descriptions of types of picture libraries contained in the second half of the guide provide accounts of unique collections and present a survey of picture libraries through the 1970s in the U.S. and the United Kingdom. Bibliography, p.494-517. Index, p.518-42.

- D13 Ritzenthaler, Mary Lynn; Munoff, Gerald J.; and Long, Margery S. Archives & manuscripts: administration of photographic collections. Chicago, Society of American Archivists, 1984. 173p. il. (part col.) (SAA basic manual series) Guide to managing photograph collections directed toward archivists, manuscript curators, librarians, picture specialists, and those who work with historical photographs. Evolved from SAA workshops on administration of photographic collections. Chapters are written by specialists from an archival perspective, stressing the principle of provenance and the development of systems to organize, access, and preserve entire collections.

Contents: (1) Photographs in archival collections, by Margery S. Long; (2) History of photographic processes, by Gerald J. Munoff; (3) Appraisal and collecting policies, by Margery S. Long; (4) Arrangement and description, by Gerald J. Munoff; (5) Preservation of photographic materials, by Mary Lynn Ritzenthaler; (6) Legal issues, Mary Lynn Ritzenthaler; (7) Managing a photographic copy service, by Mary Lynn Ritzenthaler.

Glossary, p.153-55. Bibliography, p.156-59. Supplies for the care and storage of photographic material, p.160-63. Funding resources for photographic collections, p.164. Index, p.165-71.

- D14 Robl, Ernest H. Organizing your photographs. N.Y., Amphoto, 1986. 191p. il. (part col.) Guide to the organization of photographic collections. Designed for those with no professional library experience or with limited knowledge of visual media. Explains how methods derived from library practice can aid in collection management.

Contents: (1) Catalog design and production; (2) Storing and using your collection; (3) Personal computer applications; (4) Strategies for growth; (5) Appendices: A. Organizations in picture librarianship; B. Glossary; C. Annotated bibliography.

Index, p.188-91.

- D15 Schuller, Nancy S. Management for visual resources collections. Graphics by F. Terry Arzola. 2d ed. Englewood, Colo., Libraries Unlimited, 1989. xii, 169p. il. Previous ed., Mid-America College Art Association, 1979. Present ed. provides a framework and examples for planning and decision making in the management of a visual resources collection whose primary function is to support research, teaching, or historical documentation.

Contents: (1) Planning goals and objectives; (2) Facilities planning; (3) Budgeting; (4) Staffing; (5) Reports and statistics; (6) policies and procedures manuals; (7) Circulation and control; (8) Microcomputer applications; Appendix A: Sample floor plans; Appendix B: Sample job descriptions; Appendix C: Glossary.

Bibliography, p.151-60. Index, p.161-69.

- D16 Schultz, John, and Schultz, Barbara. Picture research: a practical guide. N.Y., Van Nostrand Reinhold, [1991]. ix, 326p. il.

Guidebook defining the profession of picture research for the picture professional and for others using visual material in their work. Includes historical background on reproduction processes and business and practical guidance for current researchers.

Contents: (1) Picture research and the visual heritage; (2) Production and reproduction of photographs; (3) Profiles of professionals in photography; (4) Researchers and buyers;

(5) Public sources: museums and archives; (6) Commercial picture agencies; (7) Legal issues; (8) Electronic picture transmission and research; Appendix A: Picture research: a training seminar for the corporation. Appendix B: Handling and storing photographs. Appendix C: Professional organizations worldwide.

Extensive annotated bibliography. Glossary, p.291-98. Bibliography, p.299-318. Index, p.319-26.

D17 Straten, Roelof van. Iconography, indexing, ICONCLASS: a handbook. Leiden, Folio, 1994. 250p. il. Personal account of the theory and practice of iconographic indexing as it relates to the ICONCLASS system and its method of facilitating the storage and retrieval of iconographic data. (ICONCLASS is the alphanumeric decimal classification system for the iconography of Western art; see GLAH 1:F18.)

Contents: (1) The theory of iconography [a revision of Panofsky's iconographical theory]; (2) The iconographic indexer and his work; (3) The ICONCLASS system; (4) Indexing Italian prints with ICONCLASS; (5) ICONCLASS: remarks and additions [including specific problems related to the use of ICONCLASS]; Appendix 1: Outline of the ICONCLASS system; Appendix 2: Composition and iconography; Appendix 3: Bibliography [covering publications on ICONCLASS].

Index, p.241-44.

D18 Sutcliffe, Glyn. Slide collection management in libraries and information units. Brookfield, Vt., Gower, 1995. xii, 219p.

Aimed at the practicing slide manager that attempts to provide information and make linkages between disparate fields that use slide material. The appendixes, directed primarily to curators in Great Britain, provide listings on database packages, automated management systems, professional associations, producers and publishers of multimedia and imaging systems, and centers of activity in audio-visual and image management.

Contents: (1) Background and trends in slide collection management; (2) The literature of slide collection management; (3) Slide acquisitions; (4) The technical preparation of slides as stock items; (5) Slide retrieval; (6) Commercially available slide management and retrieval packages; (7) Medical slide collections; (8) Optical disc systems and the slide; (9) Some principles of slide library management.

Bibliography, p.157-78. Appendices I-VI, p.181-204. Index, p.217-19.

D19 Zorich, Diane M. Introduction to managing digital assets: options for cultural and educational organizations. [Los Angeles], Getty Information Institute, 1999. x, 157p.

A Getty Information Institute commissioned report. Discusses options for managing intellectual property, particularly in a networked environment. "The report reviews traditions of rights administration and content distribution across genres, and offers a generic and thematic assessment of issues an institution should consider when developing intellectual property management strategies and selecting partners to assist in these strategies."—Foreword.

Contents: Introduction; What are intellectual property rights?; The distribution of intellectual property over electronic networks; Administering intellectual property in cultural organizations; Structure, function, and operations of intellectual property service providers; Managing content and usage; Rightsholder and user issues; Economic considerations; Summary: issues, trends, and challenges; Another perspective; Acronyms; Appendices: A note on methodology; Organizations and projects reviewed; Review questions; Questionnaire for reviewing intellectual property management service providers.

Glossary, p.149-52. Bibliography, p.153-57.

COLLECTION DIRECTORIES

D20 Davidson, Martha; Duarte, Carlota; and Núñez, Raul Solano, eds. Picture collections, Mexico: a guide to picture sources in the United Mexican States. Metuchen, N.J., Scarecrow, 1988. xix, 292p. il., plates, maps, plans.

Guide to 502 sources of 32 million pictures made and preserved in Mexico. Includes collections of photographs, prints, drawings, paintings and other still, two-dimensional images, copy photos, reproductions, as well as original works. All material is basically documentary in character. Collection sources are listed alphabetically within major categories: archives, libraries (general and university), museums, other institutions (government, private institutes, university departments, and institutes), photographers, private collectors, and publishers. Within each entry, information is organized under standard headings: Name of source and address information, director's name, photo request information, collection name, description of material, subjects, dates, collection availability and access, fees, catalog/finding aids, and comments. Introductory comments on picture research, definitions of photographic reproduction techniques, and information on copyright considerations are given.

Glossary, p.232-39. Alphabetical index of picture sources, p.243-52. Location index of picture sources, p.253-61. Artists and photographers index, p.262-66. Geographical index, p.267-71. Personal name index [pictures of individuals identified by name], p.272-73. Topical index, p.274-92.

D21 Evans, Hilary, and Evans, Mary. Picture researcher's handbook: an international guide to picture sources and how to use them. 6th ed. N.Y., Routledge, 1996. 649p. il.

See GLAH 1:D4 for 1st ed.; 2d ed., London, Saturday Ventures, 1979; 3d ed., Wokingham, Berkshire, Van Nostrand Reinhold U.K., 1986; 4th ed., London, Van Nostrand Reinhold International, 1989; 5th ed., N.Y., Van Nostrand Reinhold, 1992.

Directory of international picture sources. Entries include: collection name and address, description of material held, procedures for use, working hours, research information, approximate number of items held.

Contents: (1) General sources includes multiple subject collections, collections relating to more than one country, national collections, large stock agencies; (2) Regional sources includes collections with geographical material covering several countries and emphasizing travel and topographical subjects; (3) National sources includes collections related to a particular country; (4) Specialist sources includes collections with material in a specific subject area, such as art, film, or photography.

Places index, p.483-84. Sources index, p.485-506. Subject index, p.507-16.

- D22 Godfrey, Jenny, and McKeown, Roy. Visual resources for design. [Worcestershire, England], AR-LIS/UK and Ireland, 1995. 1v. (unpaged), il.

Primarily an international selection of commercial suppliers of visual material (slides, videos, CD-ROMs, films, etc.) in the subject area of design history. Design includes such topics as architecture; textiles; glass; furniture; interior design; industrial history; fashion; graphic, product and environmental design; etc. An essay, "Design history and everyday life: issues of visual resources," by Jeremy Aynsley and a listing of general sources for visual information precede the directory listing. Presented in alphabetical order by individual supplier, entries include name and contact information, subject and format coverage, and information on availability and catalogs published. Indexes to physical formats and subjects are appended.

- D23 Guide to rights and reproduction at American art museums. Ed. by Mary M. Lampe. Ann Arbor, Visual Resources Assoc., 1996. 1v. (unpaged). (Visual Resources Association special bulletin, no. 10)

Guide to rights and reproductions for 230 American art museums and galleries. Arranged alphabetically by institution name. Entries include contact information, giving name, address, fax/phone numbers, and contact person. Collections information (availability of catalogs, slide lists, commercial sources); format availability; special services offered; reproduction conditions; scholarly, nonprofit, or commercial fees; credit line requirements; processing and materials fees; and use fees are given for most entries.

Index to institutions (unpaginated). Reproduction services questionnaire (unpaginated).

- D24 Guide to Canadian photographic archives = Guide des archives photographiques canadiennes. Christopher Seifried, ed. [New ed.] Ottawa, Public Archives Canada, 1984. xxvi, 727p.

Previous ed., 1979.

Guide to photographic collections in 139 Canadian archival institutions including archives of governmental and educational institutions, private companies and associations, libraries, museums, and other research-oriented organizations that allow public access to their holdings. This ed., which closed in 1982, contains 8,631 entries and provides revised indexing systems from the previous ed. Entries are listed in alphabetical order by title of collection and may be in English and/or French, depending on the language used by the reporting repository. Each entry includes a reference number, title, life date or date a corporate body was founded, geographical location and occupation, collection type and quantity, inclusive dates, collection description, repository name, and control number. A list of participating repositories with address information precedes the entries.

Repository index, p.571-600. Subject index [giving headings for personal, corporate, and geographical names, and for objects, events and activities], p.603-714. Photographer index, p.717-27.

- D25 McKeown, Roy. National directory of slide collections. [London], British Library Board [Distr. in the U.S. by American Library Association, 1990]. 310p. (British Library information guide, 12)

Listing of slide collections in the United Kingdom. Covers non-commercial collections, including academic institutions, public library authorities, national and local authority museums and galleries, government libraries and departments, research institutions, professional associations, learned societies, teaching hospitals, postgraduate medical centers, and schools of nursing. Arranged alphabetically by institutional name, directory entries provide address and contact information, statistics on collection size, content coverage, access and loan information, and services and fees. Availability of collection guides is indicated.

Subject index, p.217-90. Regional index [to collections, geographically arranged by regional location with postal code sub-divisions], p.291-310.

- D26 Picture sources UK. Ed., Rosemary Eakins. Associate ed., Elizabeth Loving. London, Macdonald, 1985. 474p.

Directory of sources of illustrations in the United Kingdom. Includes only those collections that make material available for reproduction. Library or photographic archives housed in museums or art galleries are treated as picture sources. Chapters arranged by type of library, including anthropology and archeology, fine art and architecture, performing arts, and specialized collections. Alphabetically arranged entries within each chapter provide contact information; information on type, number, and size of collection; dates of coverage; subject listing; and information on access and conditions. Two introductory essays, on pictures and the law, and an introduction to picture research.

How to use the directory, p.6-7. Index of collections and subcollections, p.408-21. Subject index, p.422-74.

- D27 Robl, Ernest H., ed. Picture sources 4. [4th ed.] N.Y., Special Libraries Association, 1983. xi, 180p. il., plates.

See GLAH 1:D11 for 3d ed.

Directory of North American commercial and non-commercial picture collections used for searching pictures of all types—from art reproductions and news photographs to maps and cartoons. 980 entries, which contain updated citations from previous eds. (1st ed., 1959; 2d ed., 1964; 3d ed., 1975) and 200 new collection listings are included. The listing is alphabetical by collection or organization name. Each entry gives address and contact name, content holdings, subject coverage, chronological coverage, and access information.

Collections index, p.133–44. Geographic index, p.145–48. Subject index, p.149–80.

- D28 The visual resources directory: art slide and photograph collections in the United States and Canada. Ed., Carla Conrad Freeman. Canadian ed., Barbara Stevenson. Englewood, Colo., Libraries Unlimited, 1995. xvii, 174p. (Visual resources series)

Directory of 528 visual resources collections in the U.S. and Canada providing information solicited by questionnaire in 1992 and 1993. Gives information on location, scope, development, and holding strengths of collections listed. Includes slide and photographic collections limited to still images documenting art, architecture, design, and related fields, as established in art and/or art history departments, museums and galleries, or in various types of libraries or historical collections where emphasis is on research and teaching. Entries for U.S. collections are listed first and are arranged alphabetically by state, city, and institution. Canadian collections are alphabetized by province, city, and institution. Individual entries are numbered and provide information on institutional name, address, and name of individual in charge of collection. Appendix A: Brief history of Canadian visual resources collections. Appendix B: Visual resources organizations and journals.

Institutional index, p.155–58. Personnel index, p.159–61. Index by type of collection, p.163–68. Subject index [gathered from holdings and subject concentration data], p.169–74.

- D29 Walker, Sandra C., and Beetham, Donald W. Image buyer's guide: an international directory of sources for slides and digital images for art and architecture. 7th ed. Englewood, Colo., Libraries Unlimited, 1999. xxi, 186p. (Visual resources series)

See GLAH 1:D3 for 3d ed., 1976; 4th ed., Mid-America College Art Association, 1980; 5th ed., Libraries Unlimited, 1985; 6th ed., Libraries Unlimited, 1990.

Designed to assist in identifying sources of images depicting art and architecture available from commercial vendors, museums, or other institutions and non-profit organizations. Information provided in the 366 entries was gathered from questionnaires sent to vendors worldwide. Most of the data gathered reflect the image market as it existed at the end of 1997. Running updates on image market news appear in the quarterly VRA bulletin (see GLAH 2:Q340) and the directory is updated on the internet by an Image Providers Directory. Part I lists digital image providers, including consortiums. Part II gives slide providers in North America, and Part III lists providers in Asia, Australia, Britain, Europe, and Ireland.

Appendix 1: Image providers no longer selling images: United States and Canada; Other countries. Appendix 2: Sources of slides coordinated with texts.

Name index, p.161–72. Subject index, p.173–86.

- D30 World photography sources. Ed., David N. Bradshaw. Executive ed., Catherine Hahn. N.Y., Directories, 1982. xxvii, (various paginations), il.

Directory providing information on locating international picture sources. Data for this directory was gathered in 1982.

Sources have been classified by specialty and type into twelve sections: Agriculture, general (including stock agencies, institutions, photographers), geography and history (for U.S. and foreign sources), industry, military, performing arts, personalities, plants and animals, science, social sciences, sports, and visual arts. Individual entries include name of source and address, contact name, subject description of collection, number of pictures in archive, procedures for contacting sources, fees and service information, archive personnel, and date archive was established. In addition to the listings and indexes, an introductory essay on picture researching is provided.

Alphabetical list of sources and major collections, p.1–15. Numerical list of sources, p.17–32. Geographical list of sources, p.34–50. Subject index, p.53–76. Bibliography, p.77–81. [List of major pictorial source] organizations, p.82–85.

SEE ALSO: International photography: George Eastman House index to photographers, collections, and exhibitions (GLAH 2:O25); La Documentation française. Répertoire des collections photographiques en France, 1990 (GLAH 2:O29).

REPRODUCTIONS—SOURCES AND INDEXES

- D31 Appel, Marsha C. Illustration index VIII, 1992–1996. Metuchen, N.J., Scarecrow, 1998. xi, 464p.

Previous vols. of Illustration index, all published by Scarecrow: Illustration index, by Lucile E. Vance, 1957, covers 1950–June 1956; Illustration index, First supplement, by Lucile E. Vance, 1961, covers 1956–1959; Illustration index, 2d ed., by Lucile E. Vance and Esther M. Tracey, 1966, covers 1950–June 1963; Illustration index, 3d ed., by Roger C. Greer, 1973, covers July 1963–December 1971; Illustration index, 4th ed., by Marsha C. Appel, 1980, covers 1972–1976; Illustration index V, by Marsha C. Appel, 1984, covers 1977–1981; Illustration index VI, by Marsha C. Appel, 1988, covers 1982–1986; Illustration index VII, by Marsha C. Appel, 1993, covers 1987–1991.

Current ed. covers the years 1992–1996 and provides indexing to ten major pictorial periodicals in 28,000 individual entries. Most illustrations referenced are photographs, although paintings, drawings, and lithographs are included as well. Advertisements are excluded. This vol. follows the scope and format of previous vols. IV–VII. Subject headings are listed alphabetically with illustrations within journal articles given separate entries. There are 19,000 subject headings encompassing about 28,000 entries, with several key listings, such as art works, architectural structures, festivals, occupations, etc., and an extensive system of cross-references. Individual citations under subject entries include journal title abbreviation, vol. number and pagination, medium, color designation, code indicating size of illustration, month and date of publication. A list of periodicals indexed and address of each publication is provided.

- D32 Architecture on screen: films and videos on architecture, landscape architecture, historic preservation, city and regional planning. Comp. and ed. by the Program for Art on Film. Nadine Covert . . . [et al.], eds. [N.Y.], Program for Art on Film; [Hall, 1994]. xl, 238p. il.

Contains references to 940 film and video titles on the subject of architecture, landscape architecture, historic preservation, and city and regional planning. Includes documentaries and some feature films, animated, dramatic, and experimental works that originated in the U.S. and 35 other countries between 1927 and 1992. Titles were selected from the more extensive Art on film database, a critical inventory of films and videos on the visual arts compiled by the Program for Art on Film. Career educational titles have been excluded. Four introductory essays, a short bibliography, and list of organizations and film festivals precede the entries. Annotated listings of films and videos are arranged alphabetically by title, each containing information on series, running time, color, format, date, country, language, edition/version, production agency, and credits. Source information (distributors or archival sources), an evaluation, comments by the Program for Art on Film or Metropolitan Museum of Art staff, and reviews and awards are also given for each title.

Contents: Altered states of vision: film, video, and the teaching of architectural history, by Barry Bergdoll; Backlot America: the impact of film and television on architecture, by Donald Albrecht; Space in time: filming architecture, by Murray Grigor; Reflections on quality: evaluating films on art, by Nadine Covert.

Subject headings, p.179-81. Subject index, p.183-201. Geographic index, p.203-10. Names index, p.211-17. Series index, p.219-22. Sources index [providing names and contact information for distributors and producers], p.223-38.

- D33 Art on screen: a directory of films and videos about the visual arts. Comp. and ed. by the Program for Art on Film, Nadine Covert . . . [et al.], eds. [N.Y.], Program for Art on Film; [Hall, 1991]. xiv, 283p. il.

Directory of 914 film and video titles selected from the Program for Art on Film's visual arts inventory, Art on Film Database. Covering productions released from 1975/1976 to 1990, this selected list includes documentaries and shorts distributed in the U.S. and art-related dramatic feature films. Films on photography and, to a large extent, films on architecture or landscape gardens have been excluded. Five essays with an accompanying filmography provide context for the individual annotated documentary/shorts and feature film listings which follow. Arranged in the two sections, entries are listed alphabetically by title. The following elements are included in all entries: title, series title, running time, color/black & white indication, format, date work was produced or copyrighted, country where film was produced, language, edition/version, producing agency, credits, distributor, synopsis, evaluation, comments, citations of reviews, and awards.

Contents: Art on screen: films and television on art—an overview, by Henriette Montgomery and Nadine Covert; Art history and films on art, by Judith Wechsler; Programming films on art in the museum—an introduction, by Susan Delson; Celluloid portraits: feature films on art and artists, by Carrie Rickey; Reflections on quality: evaluating films on art, by Nadine Covert.

Subject headings, p.[227]-29. Subject index [provided separately for Documentaries and Features sections], p.231-53. Directors of feature films index, p.[255]-57. Name index, p.[259]-65. Series title index, p.[267]-69. Source index [providing contact information for distributors], p.[271]-83.

- D34 Art on screen on CD-ROM. [computer file]. N.Y., Program for Art on Film, Hall, 1995-. Computer laser optical disks; 4 3/4 in.

Derived from the Program for Art on Film's visual arts inventory, Art on Film Database. Extensive coverage of films and videos from more than 70 countries. 23,000 entries for productions on the visual arts released primarily from 1970 to 1994. Entries include important information such as title, date, language, distribution source, credits, genre, audience level, synopsis and comments, review citations, awards, and other notes. 27 indexed fields including title, subject headings (style, technique, etc.), artist name, synopsis, genre, language, etc. Key word searching is supported.

- D35 Besemer, Susan P. From museums, galleries, and studios: a guide to artists on film and tape. Comp. by Susan P. Besemer and Christopher Crosman. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, [1984]. xvi, 199p. (Art reference collection, no. 6)

Listing of more than 600 films, videos, and audio cassettes documenting contemporary visual artists. Derived from primary sources, entries list only productions in which artists are heard or seen with their work and consist primarily of interviews produced by commercial and independent producers, museums, art galleries, universities, or other educational institutions. The first section deals with entries for individual artists, giving name, mediagraphic citation (providing information that is dated to the 1980s), and a narrative annotation. In section two, entries for multiple artists are arranged alphabetically by title.

Directory [of distributors in the United States and sources for purchasing, renting, or borrowing the productions, including four college and university film libraries], p.[158]-67. Index [by subject, title, place, and institution], p.[168]-99.

- D36 Films and videos on photography. Comp. by the Program for Art on Film, Direction des musées de France. [N.Y.], Program for Art on Film, 1990. ix, 114p.

Annotated list of films and videos about photography comprising 511 entries that bring together records from the databases of the Program for Art on Film's Critical Inventory of Films on Art and Base Audiart of the audiovisual department of the Direction des Musées de France, Ministry of Culture and Communication, Paris. Both documentary and educational films are listed. Alphabetically arranged by title, each entry includes filmographic data, credits giving director and producers, sources including distribution information, a brief annotation, reviews, and awards.

Subject index, p.85–95. Names index, p.97–103. Source index [gives addresses of distributors or producers], p.105–14.

- D37 Garrigan, Kristine Ottesen. Victorian art reproductions in modern sources: a bibliography. N.Y., Garland, 1991. xxxix, 575p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v. 1225 )

Index of 84 book and catalog sources on Victorian art, listing 5,000 works and 950 artists who were actively producing in Britain during the years of Victoria's reign (1837–1901). Reproduction information is drawn from books on art and literature, as well as collection and exhibition catalogs, primarily published from 1966 to 1989. Oil paintings, drawings, and watercolors are included. Except for major Pre-Raphaelites, monographs and catalogs on specific artists are excluded from indexing. Artists are listed alphabetically, with life dates and Royal Academy membership, if applicable. Specific works by title are then listed alphabetically. Medium, date of completion and/or first exhibition venue, current location, and photo sources are provided for each title. Reproduction source information is also given, followed by page or plate number, referring back to an indexed bibliography. Color reproduction and special formats are noted.

Selected title index, p.531–42. Selected subject index, p.543–75.

- D38 Havlice, Patricia Pate. World painting index. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1977. 2v.

Reference work designed to aid users in locating reproductions of paintings by international artists in 1,167 books and catalogs published from 1940 to 1989. Paintings are defined as works in oil, tempera, gouache, acrylic, fresco, pastel, and watercolor. The arrangement is the same in the main set and supplements: v.1 begins with a numbered bibliography of the 1,167 illustrated volumes, followed by a listing of the paintings titles arranged alphabetically under artists' names. Each painting title is followed by one or more numbers that connect it to illustrations in books in the bibliography. (Anonymous paintings are listed alphabetically in a separate sequence.) V.2 presents all of the paintings titles again, rearranged in one continuous alphabetical sequence. Almost all paintings titles are given in English, regardless of the artist's nationality.

———. First supplement, 1973–1980. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1982. 2v.

———. Second supplement, 1980–1989. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1995. 2v.

- D39 Korwin, Yala H. Index to two-dimensional art works. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1981. 2v.

Index to art works "produced in color on a flat surface."—Pref. Works included here are defined as being "unique originals," including paintings, collages, illustrations, frescoes, murals, stained glass, mosaics, tapestries, and embroideries. Prints and photographs are excluded. Contains 35,000 entries to works reproduced in English language publications between 1960 and 1977. V.I includes an artist index, giving brief biographical information, title and date of work, location of original (institution or private collection), reproduction source, and black and white or color designation. Directions for use, p.viii–x. List of books indexed, p.xi–xxvi. V.II is an alphabetically arranged title/subject index.

Location symbols for institutional and private collections, p.[867]–974. Lost, stolen, or destroyed art works, p.[975]–76.

- D40 Kreisel, Martha. Photography books index: a subject guide to photo anthologies. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1980. xi, 286p.

Provides access by subject and photographer to published photographs. The photographers index gives name, life dates, photograph title and date, and source. A subject index provides photograph title, photographer, and source information. Includes a portrait index that is divided into categories of children, men, and women; the alphabetical arrangement within each category gives the sitter's name, portrait photographer, and source information. Each entry provides individual source reference, page number, and an indication if reproduction is in color. Books indexed represent photo anthologies; technical manuals and works not classified by the Library of Congress as photography books (e.g., travelogs) have been excluded.

List of books indexed, p.x–xi.

- D41 ———. Photography books index II: a subject guide to photo anthologies. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1985. xi, 261p.

Supplements the preceding title, extending coverage to 1982. Photographers' names and dates have been verified and updated so some discrepancy between the entries in the 1980 main vol. and this supplement may occur. There are also slight alterations and refinements of the subject headings.

- D42 Laing, Ellen Johnston. An index to reproductions of paintings by twentieth-century Chinese artists. Eugene, Asian Studies Program, Univ. of Oregon, 1984. xx, 530p. (Asian Studies Program publication, 6) (Repr.: Ann Arbor, Center for Chinese Studies, Univ. of Michigan, 1998, with "minimal" corrections)

Covers the period from 1912 to around 1980 and includes the names of approximately 3,500 traditional-style artists along with lists of their works, reproduced in 264 monographs, books, journals, and catalogs. Artists' entries include name, alternate names, dates of birth and death, birthplace, art education, memberships, teachers, subject specialties, and professional affiliation. Biographical information is followed by a listing of paintings by the artist and a source for a reproduction.

- D43 New York Graphic Society. Fine art reproductions. Greenwich, Conn., The Society, [1994]. 562p. il. (part col.)

Contains 2,000 art images. Each plate gives the order number, title, artist name, and size in inches and centimeters. A master price list with effective date and ordering information accompanies the catalog. Contents: Ordering information; Groups and figures grouped by subject; Impressionism; Still life florals; Landscape; Seascape; Americana; Hunting/sports; Western/southwestern; Children's and whimsical; Posters; Photography; Abstract; Modern masters; Architecture/decorative; Portraits; Asian; Royal botanicals; Etchings and engravings [some are hand colored European prints]; Religious.

Numerical index, p.551-61. Index [by artist name, then title, order number, page number], p.562-[72].

- D44 Parry, Pamela Jeffcott, comp. Contemporary art and artists: an index to reproductions. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, [1978]. xlix, 327p.

All media except architecture and decorative arts are covered; however, works in photography, film, and crafts are listed only if their makers are active in other media. Includes works of art dating from approximately 1940 to the mid-1970s. In general, artists who died prior to the 1950s are excluded. Information has been gathered from more than 60 major English-language books and exhibition catalogs that survey contemporary art or focus on medium, country, or style; monographs on individual artists are excluded. The artist index gives artist's name, nationality, life dates, and full entry for each work, which includes title, date, material, location, and publication in which the illustration of the work appears, along with page/plate reference and a designation as to whether the illustration is in color or black and white. Subject and title index is limited to works with representational or semi-abstract themes.

List of books indexed, p.[xiii]-xv. Keys to symbols for locations of works of art, p.[xvii]-xlix. Abbreviations, p.li.

- D45 ———. Photography index: a guide to reproductions. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, [1979]. xviii, 372p.

Reference work used for locating reproductions of photographs, including those of artistic and documentary journalistic intent, by both known and anonymous photographers. Entries are based on illustrations available in 80 major books, photo anthologies, surveys, and exhibition catalogs, the latest published in 1977. Part I is a chronological index to anonymous photographs. Part II is an alphabetically arranged index by photographer, with entries providing some biographical statistics on the artist, title, date of work, type of photographic media used, and the publication in which the reproduction appears. Part III is a subject and title index.

List of subject headings, p. [xiii]-xiv. List of books indexed, p. [xv]-xviii. Abbreviations, p. [xix].

- D46 ———, and Chipman, Kathe, comp. Print index: a guide to reproductions. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, [1983]. xxiv, 310p. (Art reference collection, no. 4)

Aids in locating illustrations of prints dating from the 18th century to the mid-1970s. Coverage includes works by more than 2,100 printmakers. The index has compiled data from 100 English-language monographs and catalogs, so printmakers represented are principally Western. Includes an artist index in Part I and a subject and title index in Part II. Artists are listed alphabetically, with alternate names, nationality, and life dates provided, along with a listing of related prints. Prints are dated and their technique identified.

At least one reproduction source is noted for each print, along with a page or plate reference for the illustration. Color reproductions are also noted. The subject and title index in Part II is useful for locating particular persons, places, events, or themes. Portraits are listed alphabetically by sitter. References to the artist index are given for reproduction source information.

List of books indexed, p.[xiii]-xx. Abbreviations, p.[xxi]. List of subject headings, p.[xxiii]-xxiv.

- D47 Teague, Edward H., comp. Index to Italian architecture: a guide to key monuments and reproduction sources. N.Y., Greenwood, [1992]. xxv, 278p. (Art reference collection, no. 13)

Facilitates access to pictures of 1,800 works of Italian architecture. Provides citations to illustrations of architectural, engineering, and planning works reproduced in 80 books published from the 1950s to 1991. Coverage includes most historical periods and styles. Separate indexes to site, architect, chronological period, type, and work. The site index is the principal index, listing works alphabetically by location. The entry for each work gives name, alternate name, date of work, architect, and citation information organized according to exterior view, interior view, plan, section, or elevation. Coded source information refers the user to the original title and page where the illustration appears. The architect index lists architects, engineers, planners, and others responsible for works given in the site index. Names and alternate names of architects and their life dates are provided, accompanied by a list of each architect's works with execution date and site. The chronological index is arranged broadly by century and then by site, with works listed alphabetically. Within the type index, works are listed by architectural type, then site. A work index provides an alphabetical listing of names and alternate names of works and parts of works, giving sites for each.

List of [building] type headings used, p.[xiii]-xv. List of books indexed, p.[xvii]-xxv. Abbreviations, p.[xxvii].

- D48 ———, comp. World architecture index: a guide to illustrations. N.Y., Greenwood, [1991]. xix, 447p. (Art reference collection, no. 12)

A reference source for locating images of approximately 7,200 architectural works. The Index is international in scope and covers most historical periods and styles. Architectural, engineering, and planning works reproduced in more than 100 books are represented. The editor has surveyed and indexed titles in well-known monographic series, standard histories and surveys, the Encyclopedia of world art (GLAH 1:E4), and the MacMillan encyclopedia of architects (GLAH 2:J70). Site, architect, type, and work indexes are provided. The site index is the principal index and is referenced by the other three indexes. Alphabetically arranged by location, the site index gives name and alternate name of works, date of works, architect's name, and citation information organized by exterior, interior views, plan, section, or elevation. Coded source information refers the user to the original title and page where the illustration appears. Indication is given if illustrations appear in color, and if exterior or interior views are photographic or drawing illustrations. The architect index covers architects, engineers, planners, or other persons responsible for design and building; name, alternate name, life dates, and works are listed alphabetically. Within the type index, works can be located by architectural type, country, and then by site. The work index provides names and alternate names of works and parts of works, giving sites for each.

List of [building] type headings used, p.[xi]–xii. List of books indexed, p.[xiii]–xix. Abbreviations, p.[xxi].

- D49 Thomison, Dennis, comp. The black artist in America: an index to reproductions. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1991. lx, 396p.

Black artists have been inadequately represented in traditional collections of reproductions. This index aims to provide access to the published reproductions of fine art by American black artists. Information on artists and their work has been gathered from books, periodicals, and exhibition catalogs primarily of American origin up to 1990. Covers artists born or principally residing in the U.S. Indexes artists working broadly in painting, sculpture, printmaking, drawing, collage, and assemblage. Divided into three sections. The first section provides a list of institutions represented and a key to symbols of bibliographic sources. Section two is the index to the published reproductions arranged by artist. Supplied biographical information includes name, life dates, birth and death places, media in which the artist has worked, other sources of biographical information, and sources of portraits or photographs of the artist. Titles of individual works are then arranged alphabetically for each artist, accompanied by information on medium, date, location of original, where reproduction appears (including page/plate information and color plate designation). When available, further bibliographic information is given for artists.

List of abbreviations, p.[xv]. Bibliography of periodical articles, exhibition catalogs, books, dissertations, and audiovisual materials, p.[320]–80. Subject index, p.[381]–96.

- D50 Williams, Lynn Barstis, comp. American printmakers, 1880–1945: an index to reproductions and biographical information. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1993. xxxvi, 441p.

Index to prints and their makers, born or active in the United States, particularly those artists of historical importance who have not achieved renown or recognition. Covers the time period from the Etching Revival of the 1880s to American Scene Realism of 1945. Posters and other forms of commercial prints are excluded. Reference dictionaries on American art, and art books and catalogs have been indexed. Sales catalogs, periodical articles, and books on technique are excluded. A list of indexed sources with abbreviations is given in the annotated bibliography, p. [xv]–xxxiii. The printmaker index, arranged alphabetically, provides life dates and title listings of prints which are reproduced. Where available, information on medium, date, source, and format is given for each title entry. A reference to the book or catalog reproducing the print, and the page number on which the reproduction is found is then given.

Abbreviations, p.[xxxv]–xxxvi. Subject index, p.[293]–430. Author-title index, p.[431]–41.

- D51 Wright, Christopher, comp. Old master paintings in Britain: an index of continental old master paintings executed before c. 1800 in public collections in the United Kingdom. Totowa, N.J., Sotheby Parke Bernet, [1976]. xvi, 287p. maps.

List of old master paintings produced in Western Europe (excluding the British Isles) and held in public collections in the United Kingdom. Useful for finding out where a particular picture is located and what attribution it has been given by the owner. Public collections are here defined as national museums, municipal museums and collections, university collections, national trusts, and collections and museums which, although private property, are permanently open to the public. All paintings were executed from ca. 1200 to the end of the 18th century, including oil, tempera, fresco, or a combination of these media. Icons, miniatures, watercolors, drawings and other forms of graphic art, and manuscript illustrations are excluded.

Divided into sections. The first is an alphabetically arranged list by artist name. For each artist the city of birth and life dates are provided. The artist's works are then listed by location and institution. Painting titles are given in accordance with the attribution of the owner. Institutional catalog or inventory date and number are given and, if the painting is reproduced, an illustration reference is also provided. The index of locations, alphabetical by site followed by museum, provides a brief history of individual collections. This is followed by a listing, divided by national schools, of all artists represented in the collection. A bibliography, again organized by location and then museum, provides information on relevant catalogs and listings through 1975.

- D52 ———. Paintings in Dutch museums: an index of oil paintings in public collections in the Netherlands by artists born before 1870. Totowa, N.J., Sotheby Parke Bernet, [1980]. xxi, 591p. map.

Includes works in oil, tempera, fresco, and some panel painting produced in Western Europe to the end of the 19th century. Icons, miniatures, watercolors, drawings, graphic art, and manuscript illuminations are excluded. Section I is an artist listing, with paintings for each arranged in alphabetical order by collection location and institutional name. Museum catalog or inventory numbers are given. If the painting is reproduced in a bibliographic source, the plate reference is also given in abbreviated form. Section II is an index of locations, p.517–65, arranged alphabetically by city and then by collection. The entry for each collection gives a list, divided by national school, of all the artists represented in it.

Full references are found in Section III's Bibliography, p.569–91, which provides both art historical literature and museum publications.

- D53 ———. The world's master paintings: from the early Renaissance to the present day: a comprehensive listing of works by 1,300 painters and a complete guide to their locations worldwide. N.Y., Routledge, [1992]. 2v.

Lists publicly available paintings by a wide selection of European and American painters from the Early Renaissance to the 1990s. Four parts in two vols. The first part provides an alphabetical list of all painters included, with page references. Part two, on the painters and paintings, is organized by national schools and periods. For each artist, a short biographical statement and a bibliography are provided, followed by titles of paintings with dates listed under their institutional locations. Part three is devoted to locations and institutions. Arranged alphabetically by city, with a short general description of each collection's scope, a bibliography (if available), and a mention of key holdings. A complete list of painters represented in the collection then follows. Part four is an index of titles of paintings listed alphabetically under each century, with references back to painter and institution.

General [annotated] bibliography, v.2, p.[1]-3.

PICTORIAL ARCHIVES

- D54 The Alinari photo archive: being the Alinari, Anderson, and Brogi photo collections of Italian and other art and architecture reproduced on microfiches [microform]. Ed. by and under the supervision of L. D. Couprie. Zug, IDC, 1982. [1344] microfiches.

Includes approximately 120,000 images of Italian art and architecture in private and public collections. Manuscripts are not included. The images are from the photographic collections of the Alinari brothers' enterprise (Fratelli Alinari Fotografi Editori) and from the firms of James Anderson and Giacomo Brogi, which were acquired by the Alinari. The set is published in a series of 17 parts, produced in eight vols. with the last vol. being the key to the archive. Parts 1-16 are arranged first by photographic collection, then by Italian province, with Rome and the Vatican having separate sections. The listing is further subdivided by place and museum collection. Fiche headings provide a guide to place name, monument, or museum. Series number 17 covers works outside of Italy. V.8 provides consultation information on the archive, including a finding aid (p.9-45), a table of contents of the printed catalogs, a chart for the artist indexes of the printed catalogs, and a chart for the subject indexes of the printed catalogs.

Materials from the Archivi Alinari in Florence also reproduced as: The Villani photo archives: art and architecture [microform]. Leiden, IDC, 1997, 191 fiches reproducing 8,970 glass negatives and 512 positive prints.

A separate booklet, The Alinari photo archive . . . guide to the microform collection, ed. by L. D. Couprie in 1988, provides information on consulting the archive without the finding aids, information on the finding aids, an alphabetical index of Italian place names (p.46-71), and an alphabetical index of Italian provinces (p.73-81.)

- D55 American Committee for South Asian Art Archive. A.C.S.A.A. Archive [of South Asian art; photo collection on microfiche. Ed. by Susan L. Huntington and Walter M. Spink] [microform]. Zug, Switzerland, Inter Documentation Co., [1977?] 173 microfiches in 4 boxes il.

Collection of 7,114 photographs of Kushan and Gupta art. Accompanied by a printed guide to the contents.

- D56 Caisse nationale des monuments historiques et des sites (France). Archives photographiques. Fine and decorative arts in France [microform]. London, Min-data, 1983. [1014] microfiches.

Series of eight sets documenting photographic records of the French State Archives, covering more than 70,000 principal works of art in more than 200 public and private French collections, and major works from foreign sources exhibited in France. Frames include captioning providing name of artist, title, medium, museum location, a catalog reference, negative number, and format information. A separate printed index of artists and sculptors indicates where a work by a named artist may be found on the fiche. On fiche, there is an Index Thématique, acting as an iconographical reference source to the archives, which includes names of persons, places, buildings, and historical and mythological events. On fiche, there is also an inventory list of several hundred galleries and museums, including foreign collections (excluding national museums) whose work is included on the fiche. A list of works represented is provided for each institution.

Contents: (1) Paintings in the Louvre and national museums and "modern art" [public and private modern art collections in Paris]; (2) Paintings in provincial and other museums; (3) Drawings in the Louvre and national museums; (4) Drawings in provincial [and other] museums and engravings; (5) Decorative art [includes important items from the Louvre, Musée Cluny, and Oriental collections of Musée Guimet, tapestries]; (6) Sculpture, ivories, bronzes, stained glass [includes items from Musée Rodin and the Louvre]; (7) Antiquities [includes works in the Louvre, and series of illustrations from the Egyptian Museum, Cairo]; (8) Manuscripts [includes illuminated and other manuscripts from national and provincial libraries and museums].

- D57 The Conway Library: the Courtauld Institute of Art [microform]. Haslemere, Surrey, Emmett, 1987. [7049] microfiches.

The microform version of the Conway Library represents more than one million photographic images, some dating from the 19th century, from a collection originally given to the Courtauld Institute of Art in 1931 by Sir Martin Conway. Information on each image is annotated on the photographic mount, including the Conway negative number. Title strips on fiche provide part number, subject description, country reference. There is a printed contents list that supplies information contained on the fiche header strips.

Contents: (1) Architecture (Part A) [covers France, Italy from medieval period to 20th century; arranged alphabetically by location]; (2) Architecture (Part B) [covers British Isles, Germany, Spain, and the rest of Europe, South America, Africa, Islamic architecture, and Asia, from the medieval period to 20th century; arranged alphabetically by location]; (3) Architectural drawings [covers Italy, Germany, Britain, France, Netherlands, Switzerland, United States, from 14th to 20th centuries; arranged by century]; (4) Sculpture [covers 15th to 20th centuries, also includes other minor arts and non-sculptural works by sculptors; arranged by sculptor]; (5)

Medieval arts [covers classical to medieval period in Europe and the eastern Mediterranean, includes sculpture, metalwork, ivories, wall and panel painting, cameos, stained glass, Byzantine monuments; arranged by type]; (6) Manuscripts [covers western, byzantine, east Christian manuscripts from 4th to 18th centuries; arranged by century and then by country].

D58 ———. 5 year update 1987–1992 [microform]. Haslemere, Surrey, Emmett, 1993. [860] microfiches.

Reflects the growing collection of the Conway Library, comprising new material on architecture, architectural drawings, sculpture, applied arts, medieval arts, and manuscripts. The update basically follows the order of the original microfiche set. All information about each photograph is annotated on the mount and gives the Conway negative number. Information on the title strips guides users, and a printed contents list is also provided. Five original sculptural collections not photographed for the original microform set have been added here. Now included is a new section on applied arts which covers non-sculptural metalwork, ceramics, jewelry, church furniture and plate, furniture and woodwork, glass, textiles, theater design, photographic arts, and video installations. Arrangement is by century. Beginning in 1997, an electronic index to the entire Conway Library was made available, by subscription, at the Emmett Publishing web site.

D59 The early Alinari photographic archive of art & architecture in Italy [microform]. London, Mindata, 1980. [122] microfiches.

More than 7,000 photographs of art and architecture in Italy taken by the brothers Alinari in the 19th century are included. The images represented are from the collection of the Victoria and Albert Museum in London. The 122 fiches are arranged alphabetically by city. There are major sections on Rome and Florence, including works from museums and galleries. Translated captions provide a description and the negative number for each image. Fiche title strips give information on the principal subjects illustrated. An accompanying printed index provides an alphabetical listing of locations with principal works noted, along with the fiche and frame reference.

D60 Fototeca Unione. Ancient Roman architecture: photographic archive on microfiche [microform]. Rome, Fototeca Unione, (Distr. by Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1977–1982). 261 microfiches.

Issued in 2 binders. Includes a 22-page booklet ("3d ed.") ed. by Karin Bull-Simonsen Einaudi.

Reproduction of a photographic and bibliographic archive of Ancient Roman Architecture and Topography of the Fototeca Unione, part of the International Union of Institutes of Archeology, History, and History of Art in Rome, at the American Academy in Rome, begun by Ernest Nash and built over several decades. It was not intended to be a finished set.

List of abbreviations, p.11–13. Rome by monument, index, p.14–16. Italy, by site, index, p.17–19. Empire by modern country, p.20. Empire, by site, p.21–22.

D61 Index der antiken Kunst und Architektur: Denkmäler des griechisch-römischen Altertums in der Photo-sammlung des Deutschen Archäologischen Instituts Rom = Index of ancient art and architecture: monuments of Greek and Roman cultural heritage in the photographic collection of the German Archaeological Institute in Rome [microform]. Hrsg. . . . unter der Leitung der Bernard Andreae. Bearb. von Lilian Balensiefen . . . [et al.] Red. des Begleitbandes, Jacqueline Prandt. N.Y., Saur, [1988]–91. [2714] microfiches.

Provides representations of monuments of Greek and Roman culture from the collection of 300,000 photographs of the Deutsches Archäologisches Institut, Rome. Arrangement is by subject, including architectural works, figurative architectural sculpture, ideal sculpture, portrait sculpture, vases, terracottas, and paintings. There is a printed index organized by categories including monument type, geographical location, iconography, and historical subject. Fiche reference and content information are also provided. Includes references to negative numbers at the DAI, Rome. A graphical users' interface (GUI), known as "Arachne," available via an internet site at the University of Illinois at Chicago provides a method for searching this set for architecture, architectural fragments, sculpture, and other ancient artifacts.

D62 L'Index photographique de l'art en France [microform]. [Ed. par Bildarchiv Foto Marburg im Forschungsinstitut für Kunstgeschichte der Philipps-Universität Marburg]. N.Y., Saur, [1979–1981]. [976] microfiches.

Based on Richard Hamann's photographic collection begun in 1913. Documents the art of France, covering the last twelve centuries. 95,000 photographs of works of architecture, sculpture, painting, crafts, and archeological artifacts are included. Arrangement of the reproductions is topographical with distant views of locations first, followed by individual views of religious and secular monuments. A similar topographic arrangement of museum objects is presented next including works from public and private collections. The 976 fiches were compiled incrementally; updates start a new topographical alphabetization, although the fiche are numbered consecutively. There is no individual index; however, the Marburger Index (GLAH 2:D63) regularly makes references to this archive set.

D63 Marburger Index: Bilddokumentation zur Kunst in Deutschland [microform]. Bildarchiv Foto Marburg im Forschungsinstitut für Kunstgeschichte der Philipps-Universität, Rheinisches Bildarchiv Köln. München, Verlag Dokumentation, [Distr. by Saur, 1976–].

See GLAH 1:D7 for original entry.

Corpus of reproductions of German art and architecture from the Bildarchiv Foto Marburg, the Deutsche Fotothek der Sächsischen Landesbibliothek in Dresden, and many other photo collections of the departments for the preservation of historical monuments, photo libraries, and archives in Germany, including the former East Germany. Issued in installments, the complete ed. to 1990 reproduces more than one million photographs of works of architecture, painting, sculpture, prints, decorative arts, and crafts from the Middle Ages to the present. Each installment is organized topographically; however, one numerical sequence organizes the entire fiche collection. Works of municipal architecture are arranged before sacred and secular architecture. Individual museums and works held in their collections follow. Iconographical indexing is provided through various indexes which utilize ICONCLASS (GLAH 1:F18) as a classification system. As part of the complete microfiche ed., a Text inventory and index of art in Germany issued in eight installments on fiche provides an object inventory with 100,000 works of art along with index catalogs. The indexes locate the photographs on the entire set of fiche and contain information about the works of art, including artist biographical information, title, date, location, institute, museum inventory number, subject terms, and dimensions of the work. Accompanied by a 129p. user's manual, N.Y., Saur, 1985, written by Lutz Heusinger, which provides background to the history, concept, development, and use of the Marburger Index and its classification schemes. Separate microfiche collections of images on Austrian, Italian, Spanish/Portuguese, and Swiss art and architecture, derived from the Foto Marburg archive, have also been produced by Saur.

- D64 [Marburger Index (CD-ROM)]. Marburger Index Datenbank Wegweiser zur Kunst in Deutschland. Bildarchiv Foto Marburg; Computer & Letteren, Universiteit Utrecht. [computer file]. New Providence, Saur, 1995-. 1 computer disk; 4 3/4 in. + 1 manual (6p.) + 1 reference card (10p.)

Annual publication planned as an enhancement to the text and catalog section of the Marburger Index fiche compilation (see preceding entry). As of the 2d ed. of 1996, 21,000 images are included, representing works from German collections. Additionally, the database provides textual access to 150,000 works of art in fields of painting, sculpture, drawing, book illumination, graphic arts, and photography. There are four query options—a search may be conducted by objects, subject matter, artists, or place and time. Many fields may be searched, including artist's name, artist's workshop, artist's patron, country of origin, object name, type and genre, material or artistic technique, time period, photo collection, location of object, and subject matter. Boolean searching is supported. Subject indexing utilizes the classification system ICONCLASS (see also GLAH 1:F18). ICONCLASS Browser and the ICONCLASS Bibliography are both provided on the CD-ROM. Subjects may be searched using proper names and German keywords. The ICONCLASS Browser, which is in English, allows searching the database using assigned classification notations and keywords. Object descriptions and artists' biographical statements are in German. Entries provide illustration concordance numbers back to the Marburger Index fiche collection. Within the entries, references to other bibliographic sources on a particular object may provide the citation page or illustration number and give color or black and white image designation; this can be useful for locating alternative sources of reproductions.

- D65 Victoria and Albert Museum, London. Art of India: paintings and drawings in the Victoria and Albert Museum: catalogue and microfiche guide. Haslemere, Surrey, U.K., Emmett Pub., 1992. 221p.

Title from binder cover: Art of India. Issued in a looseleaf binder. Accompanied by a printed text: Art of India. Haslemere, Surrey, U.K., Emmett Pub., 1992. Both the catalog and the microfiche publication organize the paintings and drawings in broad chronological and regional groups and, within each group, by museum number.

Guide to museum numbers, p.5. Concordance of museum numbers, p.199–221.

- D66 The Witt Library, Courtauld Institute of Art, London [microform]. Haslemere, Surrey, Emmett, 1990. [14,854] microfiches.

Holds approximately two million images of works of western art from the 13th century to the present, including 1.4 million reproductions of work by more than 50,000 artists from 23 national schools. The contents are divided into four parts separated by national school and alphabetically arranged by artist. Paintings, drawings, and prints are reproduced. Further information on each work is given within the fiche frame, including title, medium, and date. Information varies with each image; documentation may include location, provenance, reproduction citation, exhibition, and sale information. Fiche title-strip information cites national school, box and fiche numbers.

There is no comprehensive index to the set; however, the Marburger Index (GLAH 2:D63) often makes reference to this archive set. For published checklists of artists represented in the Witt Library, see A checklist of painters, c.1200–1994 represented in the Witt Library (GLAH 2:M38) and, for British artists, Checklist of British artists in the Witt Library, compiled by the Witt Computer Index (GLAH 2:M301).

- D67 ———. 10 year update, 1981–1991 in the Courtauld Institute of Art [microform]. Haslemere, Surrey, Emmett, 1992. [5719] microfiches.

560,000 reproductions of works of art have been added to the Witt Library between 1981 and 1991. This ed. comprises images and text taken from exhibition and sale catalogs, journal and newspaper clippings, photographic collections of public bodies. The material has been donated by collectors and scholars, or obtained by the Witt Library's survey team.

The update is organized in the same manner as the original microfiche ed. There is a printed contents list. Separate publications on German artists and American artists have been produced by Emmett Publishing, Inc., which are selected and drawn from the original Witt Library microfiche set and the ten year update. The German artist set contains works of 8,000 German and Austrian artists from the 12th to the 20th century, complete in 1,794 black and white fiches with a printed artists index. The American artist set contains 803 fiches and a printed artist index, offering access to 50,000 works of art by 4,000 artists. Based at the Courtauld Institute of Art, the Witt Computer Index provides access to a database of 100,000 reproductions of paintings, drawings, and prints of American and British artists which are in the Institute's Witt Library. The database can be queried via a request to the Witt staff. Information on 4,000 American artists working between the 17th century and the present and 630 18th-century British artists may be searched. Catalog title entries feature date and provenance information, bibliographic citations, excerpts from published sources, and annotations by staff and visiting scholars to the Witt. The ICONCLASS classification scheme is utilized for subject searches.

E. Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

This chapter contains dictionaries and encyclopedias that treat multiple art forms or provide entries on artists, or both. Some useful encyclopedias from closely related humanities areas, such as medieval studies, are also included. Encyclopedias that cover specific media or specialized subjects, such as architecture or iconography, can be found in subsequent chapters.

GENERAL WORKS

- E1 Bihalji-Merin, Oto, and Tomašević, Nebojša-Bato, eds. World encyclopedia of naive art. [Trans., Kordija Kveder . . . (et al.)] Secaucus, N.J., Chartwell, 1984. 735p. il. (part col.), ports.

British ed., London, Muller, 1984.

International biographical dictionary of naïve artists of the 19th and 20th centuries. Signed entries. Small photographic portraits of many of the artists and numerous color illustrations of their works. No bibliographies at the ends of entries.

Contributors, p.[6]–[7]. A hundred years of naïve art, by Oto Bihalji-Merin, p.17–84. Historical surveys of naïve art in individual countries, p.[637]–98. Important naïve art exhibitions, museums, and galleries, p.699–705. Biographies of contributors with key to initials, p.706–10. Bibliography, p.711–16. Artists according to country, p.728–35.

- E2 The Bulfinch pocket dictionary of art terms. 3d rev. ed. Rev. and ed. by David G. Diamond. Boston, Little, Brown, 1992. 1v. (unpaged) il.

1st ed., by Mervyn Levy, The pocket dictionary of art terms, Greenwich, Conn., N.Y. Graphic Society, 1961; 2d rev. ed., by Julia M. Ehresmann, 1979.

Brief definitions of media, movements, and technical terms from Western painting, sculpture, printmaking, decorative arts, and architecture.

"Important revisions and additions have been made concerning art trends of the last twenty years. . . . Most importantly, theoretical terms from other disciplines . . . are included for the first time and their relevance to art is explained."—Pref.

Bibliography, p.[170]–[85].

- E3 The concise Oxford dictionary of art and artists. Ed. by Ian Chilvers. 2d ed. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1996. viii, 584p.

1st ed. 1990. Spanish ed., Madrid, Alianza, 1995.

An "abridged version of The Oxford Dictionary of Art [GLAH 2:E20; 1st ed., 1988]. . . . It is about a fifth shorter than the parent work, but the majority of the entries are unchanged or amended only slightly; the reduction in length has been achieved . . . by recasting the longer discursive articles (such as those on printmaking techniques) in much pithier form and by dropping certain marginal classes of entry. These include, for example, all entries on book-printing, unless there is a very close connection with a major artist."—Pref.

No bibliographies.

- E4 The dictionary of art. Ed., Jane Turner. N.Y., Grove, 1996. 34v. il.

Also referred to as the Grove dictionary of art.

One of the most significant art reference works ever produced—a monumental, and largely successful, attempt to encompass the field of art history. "The objective was clear enough: to produce, in 25 million words, an illustrated reference work that provided comprehensive coverage of the history of all the visual arts worldwide, from prehistory to the present. Like our renowned sister publication, the New Grove Dictionary of Music and Musicians, 20 vols (London, 1980), we aimed to present this comprehensive account using the highest possible standards of scholarship, while at the same time ensuring that entries were accessible to non-specialists."—Pref. Almost 7,000 authors contributed some 45,000 signed articles, from a few lines to hundreds of pages in length, accompanied by up-to-date bibliographies and many black-and-white illustrations. Particular attention was given to establishing geographical balance in the work's scope, and the result is a reference set that provides, in addition to its articles on European art, "the most comprehensive coverage of the arts of Asia, Africa, Australasia, and the Americas ever published in one source."—Pref. Entries include biographical treatment of artists, dealers, art historians, and other art world figures; coverage of the art history of countries, cities, and archeological sites; and detailed entries on art theory, movements, art forms, building types, and art materials and techniques.

Also available as a CD-ROM and in a more or less continuously revised and corrected internet version, with links to color illustrations from the Bridgeman Art Library. Indexing of the print Dictionary is extremely thorough but cannot compete with the electronic access provided by the on-line versions.

Spin-off collections of Dictionary entries are also being published in a handy 1v. format (see GLAH 2:E9, GLAH 2:E62, GLAH 2:E107, GLAH 2:E108, GLAH 2:E132, GLAH 2:E137, GLAH 2:E141, GLAH 2:E168).

General abbreviations, v.1, p.xxix–xxxiv. Appendix A, List of locations, v.33, p.750–888. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, v.33, p.889–960. Appendix C, Lists of standard reference books and series, v.33, p.961–69. Appendix D, List of contributors, v.33, p.970–87. Index, v.34, p.1–1075. Appendix [E], Non-western dynasties and peoples, v.34, p.1077–81.

E5 Encyclopedia of aesthetics. Michael Kelly, ed. in chief. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1998. 4v. il.

"Includes more than six hundred essays, alphabetically arranged, on approximately four hundred individuals, concepts, periods, theories, issues, and movements in the history of aesthetics. The entries range from the most ancient aesthetic traditions around the world to the Greco-Roman era, the Middle Ages, the Renaissance, the Enlightenment, Romanticism, Modernism, and Postmodernism, up to the present. The central historical focus, however, is the genealogy of Western aesthetics from its inception in the early eighteenth century in Europe to the present. . . . Specifically, how have key aesthetic concepts and issues—such as appropriation, autonomy, beauty, genius, iconology, ideology, metaphor, originality, semiotics, sexuality, taste, and truth—evolved?"—Pref.

Lengthy, signed articles, equipped with thorough bibliographies, by more than 500 scholarly contributors from the fields of art history, philosophy, literary theory, psychology, feminist theory, sociology, and anthropology, among others.

Directory of contributors, v.4, p.489–506. Index, v.4, p.507–72.

E6 Encyclopedia of world art. N.Y., McGraw-Hill [1959–1987] 17v. il., maps, plans., plates (part col.)

See GLAH 1:E4 for original annotation. The original 15v. set has been supplemented at intervals by two vols. that attempt an update of art historical knowledge and methodologies established since the publication of the Encyclopedia.

Contents: (16) Supplement: World art in our time [1983], ed. by Bernard S. Myers; (17) Supplement II: New discoveries and perspectives in the world of art [1987], ed. in chief, David Eggenberger.

E7 Glossarium artis: dreisprachiges Wörterbuch der Kunst. München, Saur, 1971–. (10)v. il.

See GLAH 1:E7 for original annotation. Series of dictionaries of terms covering an eclectic group of subjects: medieval and early modern architecture and construction, urban design, liturgical objects, and architectural conservation. Brief definitions in German, with French and, in recent eds., English equivalents of the main term, which is usually in German. Bibliography and indexes in each vol. Sponsored by the Comité International d'Histoire de l'Art. Until 1982 published principally by Niemeyer, Tübingen.

Contents: (1) Burgen und feste Plätze: europäischer Wehrbau vor Einführung der Feuerwaffen (3. neu bearb. u. erw. Aufl., 1996); (2) Kirchengänge, Kreuze und Reliquarie der christlichen Kirchen (3. vollst. neu bearb. und erw. Aufl., 1992); (3) Bogen und Mauerwerk (3. neu bearb. und erw. Aufl., 1999); (4) Paramente und Bücher der christlichen Kirchen (2. Aufl., 1982); (5) Treppen (2. vollst. neu bearb. und erw. Aufl., 1985); (6) Gewölbe (3. vollst. neu bearb. und erw. Aufl., 1988); (7) Festungen: der Wehrbau nach Einführung der Feuerwaffen (2. vollst. neu bearb. und erw. Aufl., 1990); (8) Das Baudenkmal: Denkmalschutz und Denkmalpflege (2. überarb. und erw. Aufl., 1994); (9) Städte: Stadtpläne, Plätze, Strassen, Brücken (1987); (10) Holzbaukunst: Fachwerk, Dachgerüst, Zimmermannswerkzeug (1997).

E8 Grassi, Luigi, and Pepe, Mario. Dizionario di arte. Torino, UTET, 1995. xi, 986p. col. il., plates.

Original ed., Dizionario della critica d'arte, 1978, 2v. Rev. pocket ed., Dizionario dei termini artistici, Milano, TEA, 1994.

Impressive work that provides relatively brief but probing and substantive entries which examine the intellectual and conceptual histories of terminology from aesthetics, the philosophy of art, and art history, including coverage of art forms, iconographical themes, periods, groups and movements, technique, building types, optics, etc. Most entries supply etymological information and many in-text references to current and antiquarian sources, which are presented in detail in the bibliographic index. No biographical articles.

Indice bibliografico di opere e autori citati in forma abbreviata, p.[951]–86.

E9 The Grove dictionary of art. From renaissance to impressionism: styles and movements in western art 1400–1900. Ed. by Jane Turner. N.Y., St. Martin's, 2000. xii, 377p.

Focused selection of entries from the Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4).

List of contributors, p.viii–ix. General abbreviations, p.x–xi. Appendix A, List of locations, p.[368]–74. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, p.[375]–77. Appendix C, List of standard reference books and series, p.[378].

E10 Haggard, Reginald George. A dictionary of art terms: painting, sculpture, architecture, engraving and etching, lithography and other art processes, heraldry. N.Y., Hawthorn, [1962]. 416p. illus. (1 col.) (Repr.: Poole, Dorset, New Orchard; distr. by Sterling, N.Y., 1984)

British ed., London, Oldbourne Pr., [1962].

Standard older dictionary of mainly English-language terms. Coverage of 20th-century art ends with early Abstract Expressionism. Mixture of brief definitions and longer articles on selected topics, e.g., certain art forms, artists' materials. Illustrated with occasional line drawings. Regularly cites related literary works in entries on visual arts movements. No artist biographies. Glossary contains separate lists of French, German, and Italian terms, with English equivalents.

lents, useful for students preparing for graduate art history language exams.

Glossary, p.375–408. Bibliography, p.411–16.

- E11 Haubenreisser, Wolfgang. Wörterbuch der Kunst. Begründ. von Johannes Jahn. 12. durchgeseh. und erw. Aufl. Stuttgart, Kröner, 1995. ix, 937p. il. (Kröners Taschenausgabe, Bd. 165) 9th ed., von Johannes Jahn, 1979; 10th ed. 1983; 11th ed. 1989.

Latest version of a pocket dictionary continuously published by Kröner since the work's founding by Jahn in 1939. Aims for broad coverage of Western and Asian art from ancient times to the late 20th century. Includes, in brief entries averaging about 200 words in length, artists and architects, periods, styles, art forms, building types, major classical and Biblical iconographical themes, technical terms, principal classical archeological sites, and a few key art works. Up-to-date bibliographical citations appended to entries. Small, sparse illustrations.

Häufiger vorkommende Abkürzungen, p.[x].

- E12 International dictionary of art and artists. Foreword by Cecil Gould. Ed., James Vinson. Chicago, St. James Pr., 1990. 2v. il.

Unusual work based partly on the format of St. James's very successful reference series on contemporary artists (e.g., GLAH 2:E56). Instead of conventional artist biographies, "Artists" vol. provides for each artist covered brief biographical data, a thorough bibliography including some journal articles, and an assessment of the artist's significance by one of a group of about 200 art historian-contributors. Covers Western European and U.S. painters and sculptors from the 13th through 20th century. "Art" vol. contains essays of ca. 1,000 words, by the same roster of contributors, on more than 500 key artworks. Useful, detailed review, Art documentation, v.10, no.1, 1991, p.44–45.

Contents: (1) Artists; (2) Art.

- E13 Langmuir, Erika, and Lynton, Norbert. Yale dictionary of art and artists. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 2000. viii, 753p.

"The purpose of this dictionary is twofold: to act as a reference book for travelers and gallery visitors, and also to provide at-home information to students of western art history and general readers interested in the subject. . . . Entries include painters, sculptors, printmakers, etc., but not architects, except those who practiced as one or more of the above, and the specialized field of Byzantine art has not been included. . . . The period covered runs from 1300 to the present day."—Pref.

In addition to artist biographies, includes entries on terminology related to technique, notable artworks, art forms, and movements. No bibliographies.

- E14 Lexikon der Kunst: Malerei, Architektur, Bildhauerkunst. [Gesamtleit., Wolf Stadler. Red., Eckhart Bergmann . . . [et al.] Freiburg, Herder, 1987–90. 12v. il. (part col.)

Comprehensive, heavily illustrated, well-crafted work whose lengthy, unsigned entries cover the usual array of subject matter—artists, architects, technical terms, regional and chronological surveys, building types, significant individual artworks, or related groups of works. Particularly thorough coverage of media and movements, especially those of the 20th century. Entries of several thousand words, with many color illustrations, are not uncommon for major movements. Coverage of Asian and African art includes some entries on individual artists.

Some bias in coverage toward Germanic art and artists is detectable. Many architectural entries have accompanying ground plans and axonometric drawings.

Bibliographies at ends of most articles are current through the mid-1980s. Hinweise für die Benutzung, v.1, p.[5]–[6]. Bildregister, v.12, p.360–73. Korrekturen und Ergänzungen, v.12, p.377. "Verzeichnis der Abkürzungen" at front of each vol.

- E15 Lexikon der Kunst: Architektur, bildende Kunst, angewandte Kunst, Industrieformgestaltung, Kunsttheorie. [Begründ. von Gerhard Strauss. Hrsg. von Harald Olbrich . . . [et al.] Neubearb. Leipzig, Seemann, 1987–94. 7v. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:E9 for 1st ed.

A major art encyclopedia with special strength in its treatment of East European and Third World countries. Originally a product of the former East Germany, with a very pronounced Marxist-Leninist bias, the Lexikon has been undergoing a gradual softening of its positions throughout the publication of its 2d ed. (German reunification took place in 1990 between the appearance of the second and third vols. of the 2d ed. See review of v.3 and v.4 of the 2d ed., Zeitschrift für Kunstgeschichte, v.56, no.4, 1993, p.582–84, for a discussion of the effect of a changing political climate on the character of the Lexikon.)

Particularly thorough coverage of East European, Asian, and African artists, who are often the subjects of longer articles than some of their very significant Western counterparts. Rivals the much bigger Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4) in its detailed treatment of the art and architectural attributes of smaller East European cities, from Brno to Varna. Provides excellent coverage of the archeological sites of European prehistoric cultures as well as the avant-garde movements of the 20th century. Also includes entries on iconographical themes, prominent works of art and architecture, and artforms and building types.

The mostly black-and-white illustrations are small and murky; in general, the frugal production values of the 1st ed. have been carried over to the 2d.

Lengthy bibliographies at ends of most articles. "Abkürzungen" and "Autorenverzeichnis" at front of each vol.

- E16 Lucie-Smith, Edward. The Thames and Hudson dictionary of art terms. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1984. 208p. il.

Concentrates on technical terms, media, movements, and styles in Western and Asian art and architecture from ancient Egypt to the early 1980s. Brief but pithy, well-written definitions. Many small but useful black-and-white illustrations, which are effectively connected to the entries to which they apply. No artist biographies. No bibliography.

Abbreviations, p.8. Table of dynasties, p.206–07.

- E17 Mayer, Ralph. The HarperCollins dictionary of art terms and techniques. Rev. and ed. by Steven Sheehan. 2d ed. N.Y., HarperPerennial, 1991. v, 474p. il. See GLAH 1:E11 for 1st ed. British ed., Collins dictionary of art terms and techniques, Glasgow, HarperCollins, 1993. Definitions mainly treat materials and techniques in painting and the graphic arts. Some coverage of movements and media. No artist biographies. Books for further reading, p.469–74.
- E18 Mollett, J. W. Dictionary of art and archaeology. [Reprint.] London, Bracken, 1996. [6], 350p. il. See GLAH 1:E12 for original annotation.
- E19 Murray, Peter, and Murray, Linda. The Penguin dictionary of art and artists. 7th ed. N.Y., Penguin, 1997. xvii, 579p. See GLAH 1:E13 for 3d, and previous, eds. 4th ed. 1976; 5th ed. 1983; 6th ed. 1989. "This edition has been prepared by only one of the original compilers; Peter Murray died suddenly in April 1992."—Pref. Brief entries on artists, periods, movements, and terminology in Western painting, sculpture, and the graphic arts from 1300 to the late 20th century. Coverage of contemporary art relatively weak. No illustrations or bibliography in this ed. Abbreviations, p.vi–vii. List of general (non-biographical) articles, p.viii–xiii.
- E20 The Oxford dictionary of art. Ed. by Ian Chilvers and Harold Osborne. Consultant ed., Dennis Farr. New ed. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1997. xi, 647p. 1st ed. 1988. Catalan ed., Barcelona, Ediciones 62, 1996. "The Oxford Dictionary of Art is a descendant of the three Oxford Companions edited by Harold Osborne [GLAH 1:E14, GLAH 1:P22; GLAH 2:E68], but is in effect a new book. A few of the shorter entries have been taken over more or less unchanged from the Companions, but most of the text has been completely rewritten, and there are also over 300 new entries (out of a total of about 3,000) on personalities and topics not covered by the Companions."—Introd. Well-written entries, averaging about 200 words, on artists and other art world figures; groups; art forms and kinds of art; movements; major monuments, museums and events; technical terms; and historiographical concepts. Detailed coverage extends from the art of ancient Greece to the work of contemporary artists, but none born after 1945. Omits articles on architecture, Asian art, and the art of individual countries. For a work of this size, particularly good coverage of art historians and early writers and theorists on art. No bibliographies. Abbreviations, p.[xii]. Chronology, p.[617]–32. Index of galleries and museums, p.[633]–44. A selection of Christian and classical themes in painting and sculpture, p.[645]–47.
- E21 Phaidon encyclopedia of art and artists. Oxford, Phaidon, 1978. 704p. il. (part col.), plates, ports. One-vol. version of the Pall Mall encyclopedia of art, published in the U.S. as the Praeger encyclopedia of art, N.Y., Praeger, 1971, 5v. (GLAH 1:E15). "The encyclopedia is composed of three categories of articles. There are biographies documenting the work of painters, sculptors, graphic artists, and architects active in the West from medieval times to the present. These are complemented by articles on periods, styles, schools and movements, and by surveys of the art of civilizations whose individual artists are mainly unknown, at least in the West."—Pref. Condensation of the original 5v. work has been accomplished by reducing the size of selected articles, and by eliminating altogether some entries and illustrations, as well as the bibliographies and contributors' initials at the ends of articles.
- E22 Pierce, James Smith. From abacus to Zeus: a handbook of art history. 5th ed. Englewood Cliffs, N.J., Prentice Hall, 1995. viii, 209p. il., maps. 1st ed. 1968; 2d ed. 1977; 3d ed. 1987; 4th ed. 1991. Several different short dictionaries in one handy vol. intended as an aid for undergraduates or other art history beginners. Data in entries are keyed to illustrations in the most widely used art history surveys. First chapter includes art and architectural technical and critical terminology with some entries as long as 600 words. Following chapters mostly cover iconographical themes. Chronology includes pronunciation help for difficult names. Contents: (1) Art terms, processes and principles; (2) Gods, heroes, and monsters; (3) Christian subjects: Devotional subjects, Narrative subjects; (4) Saints and their attributes; (5) Christian signs and symbols. Chronology of painters, photographers, sculptors, and architects, p.169–83. Maps, p.185–86. Index, p.[187]–201. Table of parallel illustrations in Gardner, Janson, and Hartt, p.203–09.
- E23 Réau, Louis. Dictionnaire polyglotte des termes d'art et d'archéologie Réimpression de l. éd. de 1953 augm. de tables de renvois en allemand, anglais et italien. Osnabrück, Zeller, 1977. 961p. See GLAH 1:E17 for 1953 ed. New material consists of more than 700 camera-ready pages of alphabetically arranged German, English, and Italian terms, with French equivalents, attached to a reprint of the 1953 text, which supplied French terms, occasional brief definitions in French, and the terms' equivalents in several languages.
- E24 Sulzer, Johann Georg. Allgemeine Theorie der schönen Künste: in einzeln nach alphabetischer Ordnung der Kunstwörter aufeinanderfolgenden, Artikeln abgehandelt. [Reprint.] Einl. von Giorgio Tonelli. 2., unveränd. Nachdruck. N.Y., Olms, 1994. 5v. il. See GLAH 1:E23 for previous eds. English trans. of selections, Aesthetics and the art of musical composition in the German Enlightenment, N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1995.
- E25 The Thames and Hudson dictionary of art and artists. Ed., Nikos Stangos. Consulting ed., Herbert Read. Rev., expanded and updated ed. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1994. 384p. il. (World of art)

In entries averaging about 100 words, provides biographies of artists and important art historians, as well as coverage of artists' groups, movements, art forms, periods in art history, and technical terminology. Extends chronologically from ancient Greece to the late 20th century; provides some coverage of Asian and African art. Particularly thorough treatment of contemporary artists and movements to the early 1990s. Architecture excluded. Small but clear illustrations are usually in the same two-page spread as the entry to which they refer.

"The majority of entries on movements and artists active before 1945 were originally written for the Encyclopaedia of the Arts (London, Thames and Hudson, 1966), whose consulting editor was Sir Herbert Read. . . . Many of these entries, however, have been substantially revised and updated, and about 40 per cent more have been added."—Foreword.

Abbreviations, p.[6].

- E26 Urdang, Laurence. Fine and applied arts terms index. Frank R. Abate, managing ed. Detroit, Gale, 1983. 773p.

"We have selected terms for inclusion in the Index from more than 150 sources; dictionaries and encyclopedias, auction catalogues, periodicals, and other published materials have been culled for words and phrases dealing with every period and style of fine and applied art—paintings, sculpture, carpets, furniture, flatware, jewelry, clocks, barometers—in short, almost every conceivable object that may have yielded to the collector."—Foreword.

More than 45,000 terms presented alphabetically in Index section with symbols indicating what sources they were taken from. Prefatory note explains that the terms have not been edited for consistency, "hence, peculiarities of spelling and other typographic details have been reproduced exactly as they appeared originally" in the source publications. No definitions. Sources, some annotated, are listed in the Bibliography.

How to use this book, p.9–10. Bibliography, p.11–33.

SEE ALSO: Mayer, The artist's handbook of materials and techniques (GLAH 2:M44); Artists' pigments: a handbook of their history and characteristics (GLAH 2:T134).

PREHISTORIC

- E27 Dictionnaire de la préhistoire. Dir., André Leroi-Gourhan. Secrétaire gén., Dominique Baffier. 2e éd. Paris, Pr. Univ. de France, 1994. 1277p. il. 1st ed. 1988.

Provides coverage of Paleolithic, Neolithic, Bronze and Iron Age cultures worldwide, with extraordinarily comprehensive inclusion of specific sites. Also has entries for hominid fossil finds, and for pottery, tools, weapons, and other artifacts, and even flora and fauna associated with certain sites. Signed articles; average approximately 300 words. Many have brief appended bibliographies, current through the late 1980s. No biographical entries. No index.

Bibliographie générale, p.[1199]–1213. Cartes et tableaux, p.[1214]–63. Liste des articles traités par chacun des auteurs, p.[1265]–77.

ANCIENT

- E28 A dictionary of archaeology. Ed. by Ian Shaw and Robert Jameson. Malden, Mass., Blackwell, 1999. xv, 624p. il., maps.

Omits coverage of classical Greece and Rome in order "to make room for a much more comprehensive coverage of previously neglected areas, such as the archaeology of China, Japan and Oceania, as well as longer articles on theory and methodology."—Pref.

Entries average about 250 words in length and are signed. Coverage of archeological theory is especially strong. No biographical entries. No index, but cross reference system is effective.

Bibliographies at ends of entries current to the early 1990s. Contributors, p.[xi]. Bibliographical abbreviations, p.[xiv]–xv.

- E29 Enciclopedia dell'arte antica, classica e orientale. Roma, Istituto della Enciclopedia italiana, [1958–1966]. 7v. il., col. plates, maps, facsim., plans.

See GLAH 1:E29 for original annotation and earlier supplements.

———. Atlante delle forme ceramiche. Roma, Istituto della Enciclopedia italiana, 1981–1985. 2v. il.

Illustrated survey of pottery, and related clay artifacts, of the Roman Empire.

Contents: (1) Ceramica fine romana nel bacino mediterraneo (medio e tardo impero); (2) Ceramica fine romana nel bacino mediterraneo (tardo ellenismo e primo impero).

———. Indici. Roma, Istituto della Enciclopedia italiana, 1984. xiii, 629p.

Index to v.1–7 and to the first supplement (1973).

———. Pompei, pitture e mosaici. [Dir. di red., Giovanni Pugliese Carratelli. Red., Ida Baldassarre]. Roma, Istituto della enciclopedia italiana, 1990–1999. 10v. il. (part col.)

Pictorial survey of excavated Pompei, arranged topographically, including paintings and drawings by 18th- and 19th-century artists as well as photographs.

———. Secundo Supplemento 1971–1994. Roma, Istituto della Enciclopedia italiana, 1994–1997. 5v. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

Provides a thorough updating of the original set and first supplement with similar scholarly, signed articles, fresh bibliographies, and excellent illustrations. Coverage includes archeological sites, individual artists, significant works, art forms, and iconographical themes, from Roman Britain to the Far East.

"Abbreviazioni dei testi antichi," and "Abbreviazioni bibliografiche," at front of each vol.

- E30 Kipfer, Barbara Ann. Encyclopedic dictionary of archaeology. N.Y., Kluwer Academic/Plenum, 2000. xi, 708p.

Brief, well-written entries covering archeological methods, artifact types, art forms, figures from ancient history, notable archeologists, and world archeological sites. Coverage of latter is remarkably inclusive. No index or cross-references. No bibliographies at the ends of individual entries.

Archaeological abbreviations, p.ix-x. Bibliography, p.617-21. Supplementary list of archaeological sites and terms, p.623-77. Writing and archaeology: a timeline, p.679-708.

E31 The Oxford classical dictionary. Ed. by Simon Hornblower and Antony Spawforth. 3d ed. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1996. liv, 1640p.

1st ed. 1949; 2d ed. 1970. Shortened version, The Oxford companion to classical civilization, 1998.

Convenient source of reliable, concise information on the history, topography, and culture of the ancient world. Many articles more than 1,000 words in length. This ed., largely rewritten between 1991 and 1994 by 364 contributors, aims to be accessible to specialists and general readers alike. Changes include a greater emphasis on interdisciplinary approaches to classical studies, broader coverage of areas outside Greece and Italy, fuller treatment of the history of women in the ancient world, and more thematic entries (e.g., "Ecology," "Literacy," "Technology").

Bibliographies at ends of most entries. List of new entries, p.xi-xiv. Index to initials of contributors, p.xvii-xxviii. Abbreviations used in the present work, p.xxix-liv.

E32 The Oxford companion to archaeology. Ed. in chief, Brian M. Fagan. Eds., Charlotte Beck . . . [et al.] N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1996. xx, 844p. il., maps.

An attempt to shape nearly 700 entries by more than 400 contributors into "an overview of archaeology from a global perspective."—Introd. Entries are signed and average more than 1,000 words in length. Bibliographies are current through the early 1990s. Many lengthy, survey entries on regions or cultures rely on the index to provide access to data on specific sites. Coverage also includes detailed treatment of archeological methods, biographies of major archeologists, and many entries on collateral topics seen from an archeological perspective—e.g., "Elm decline," "Land transportation," "Waste management." Useful review, American journal of archaeology, v.102, no.1, 1998, p.186-87.

Contributors, p.[xiii]-xx. [Maps, timelines, etc.], p.[776]-[818]. Index, p.820-44.

E33 The Oxford encyclopedia of archaeology in the Near East. Prepared under the auspices of the American Schools of Oriental Research. Eric M. Meyers, ed. in chief. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1997. 5v. il., maps.

A major encyclopedia in which the results of "archaeological fieldwork, epigraphy, and literary-historical studies" (Pref.) are used to examine the material culture and everyday life of the peoples in a vast area of Semitic influence stretching from Sardinia eastward to Anatolia and Iran and south to Ethiopia, and chronologically from prehistory through the period of the crusades. Covers archeological sites, architectural monuments, building and artifact types, and inscriptions.

Also includes many entries on archeological theory and practice, major archeologists who worked in the Near East, and annotated bibliographies as entries under such headings as "Reference works" and "Periodical literature." More than 1,100 entries, including many of 2,000 or more words, contributed by an international group of 560 scholars.

Bibliographical citations at ends of entries. Appendix 1, Egyptian Aramaic texts, v.5, p.393-410. Appendix 2, Chronologies, v.5, p.411-16. Appendix 3, Maps, v.5, p.417-30. Directory of contributors, v.5, p.431-50. Synoptic outline of contents, v.5, p.451-59. Index, v.5, p.461-553. "Abbreviations and symbols" at front of each vol.

E34 Pauly, August Friedrich von. Paulys Real-Encyclopädie der classischen Altertumswissenschaft. Supplement. Neue Bearb. unter Mitwirk. zahlreicher Fachgenossen hrsg. von Georg Wissowa. Stuttgart, Metzler, 1903-1978. 15v. illus.

See GLAH 1:E31 for original series.

E35 ———. Der kleine Pauly: Lexikon der Antike auf der Grundlage von Pauly's Realencyclopädie der classischen Altertumswissenschaft unter Mitwirk. zahlreicher Fachgelehrter bearb. und hrsg. von Konrat Ziegler und Walther Sontheimer. [Reprint.] Köln, Ad Libros, 1989. 5v.

See GLAH 1:E31 for original annotation.

E36 Der neue Pauly: Enzyklopädie der Antike: Altertum. Hrsg. von Hubert Cancik und Helmuth Schneider. Stuttgart, Metzler, 1996-. (11)v. il., maps.

Major new dictionary of classical civilization contains signed articles by hundreds of contributors covering peoples; historical and cultural figures; topography; mythology; social, legal, and economic concepts; scientific and technical knowledge; artifact types; important works of art and architecture; and so on. Most entries are relatively brief, although essays of several thousand words, with footnotes and extensive bibliographies, cover the major topics. Entries in the last three vols. of the set, in a separate alphabetical sequence, cover classical influence on subsequent cultures and provide a survey of the history and present state of the academic study of classical antiquity.

Useful review in Reference reviews Europe online, 1998, DA-98-1/2, which explains that the Neue Pauly "does not replace the Kleine Pauly [GLAH 2:E35]—to say nothing of the Realencyclopädie [GLAH 2:E34]—and scholars will presumably have to consult all three."

Heavily cross-referenced; an index vol. will eventually be published. "Abkürzungsverzeichnis" at front of some vols.

EARLY CHRISTIAN—BYZANTINE

E37 The Oxford dictionary of Byzantium. [Ed. by] Alexander P. Kazhdan . . . [et al.] N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1991. 3v. (li, 2232p.) il., maps.

"Ours is . . . the first attempt to collect within a single work data concerning all fields of Byzantine studies."—Pref.

Stresses both a cross-disciplinary approach "in which history, philology, art, and liturgy [are] interwoven and combined," and an emphasis on "the man in the street . . . with special focus on subjects such as the family, diet, emotions, and everyday life."—Pref.

Five thousand signed entries by more than 100 contributors; entries average 250–300 words, with up to 1,000 for important topics; each ends with bibliographic citations. Covers all territory ever within the Byzantine empire, as well as external regions that had significant relations with Byzantium. Art and architectural entries include coverage of artists, architects, media, monuments, cities/archeological sites, and iconographical themes.

Directory of contributors, v.1, p.xlvii–li. "General abbreviations," "Abbreviations of manuscript citations," "Bibliographic abbreviations" at front of each vol.

- E38 Reallexikon zur byzantinischen Kunst. Unter Mitwirkung von Marcell Restle. Hrsg. von Klaus Wessel. Stuttgart, Hiersemann, 1966–. (6)v. illus., maps, plans.

See GLAH 1:E33 for original annotation. Continues to be issued in five or six fascicles per vol., but the number of articles in a typical vol. has diminished markedly, from 90 in v.1 to only 22 in v.5 (although the average length of articles has increased significantly). Thus, the progress of this reference work from A to Z has slowed noticeably. In a recent fascicle preface, Marcell Restle, editor-in-chief since the death of Klaus Wessel in 1987, blames this phenomenon in part on the burgeoning of Byzantine studies and the resulting excavations and research that have created increasing amounts of data that must be absorbed and integrated into RbK entries.

"Ikonographisches Register," "Topographisches Register," and "Abkürzungen" in each vol.

ISLAMIC

- E39 The Encyclopaedia of Islam. Ed. by a committee consisting of H. A. R. Gibb . . . [et al.] New ed. Leiden, Brill, 1960–. (11)v. illus., plates, fold. maps (part col.) diagrs., plans.

See GLAH 1:E34 for original annotation.

Issued in fascicles; most recent is no.183–184, 2001, "Yabisa"–"Yildiz."

Available as a CD-ROM, but without the material in the supplement fascicles listed below.

Since the description of the Encyclopedia in GLAH 1, a series of associated publications have also been produced:

- . Supplement, fasc. 1–2. Leiden, Brill, 1980.
  - . Supplement, fasc. 3–4. Leiden, Brill, 1981.
  - . Supplement, fasc. 5–6. Leiden, Brill, 1982.
- Supplements augment entries in main set through "I".
- . Index of proper names to volumes I–IX and to the supplement, fascicules 1–6. Compiled and ed. by E. van Donzel. Leiden, Brill, 1998. 440p.

———. Index of subjects to volumes I–IX and to the supplement, fascicules 1–6. Compiled by P.J. Bearman. Leiden, Brill, 1998. 297p.

———. Glossary and index of terms to volumes I–IX and to the supplement, fascicules 1–6. [Ed. by] P.J. Bearman . . . [et al.] Leiden, Brill, 2000. 427p.

Indexes cumulate and supersede previous index eds.

- E40 Isa, Ahmad Muhammad. Islamic art terms: lexicon, explained and illustrated. Illustrated by Mahmoud Al-Toukhy. Istanbul, Research Centre for Islamic History, Art and Culture, 1994. vi, 194, 41p. il. (Islamic arts and crafts series, 8)

Arabic definitions are provided for more than 1,350 Western art and architectural terms, mostly English. Many marginal line drawings keyed to entries.

Follows other "praiseworthy individual attempts" to establish a lexicon of Arabic art terms "such as the books titled The Lexicon of archeological terms, by Yehia El Shihabi (Damascus, 1967), the Lexicon of civilisational words and terms of art, by the Academy of Arabic Language (Cairo, 1980), the Dictionnaire trilingue des termes d'art, by Afif Bahnassi (Dar El Ra'ed, Beirut, 1981), and the Encyclopaedia of Islamic architecture, by Abdurrahim Ghaleb (Beirut, 1988), and other lexica and indexes that were appended to a number of books translated into Arabic."—Pref.

Several Arabic appendixes are present, along with a 21p. Arabic index to the terms and a bibliography of Western and Arabic sources.

CAROLINGIAN—GOTHIC

- E41 Dictionary of the Middle Ages. Joseph R. Strayer, ed. in chief. N.Y., Scribner, 1982–1989. 13v. il.

Extremely useful source of scholarly, detailed information on many aspects of the history, topography, and culture of the medieval world, from Northwest Europe to the farthest Asian reaches of the Caliphate, and including Christian and Muslim North Africa, from 500 to 1500. Contains about 5,000 signed entries by approximately 1,300 contributors, mostly faculty from American and Canadian universities. An effort has been made to keep the entries readable enough to be as accessible to beginning students as to experienced scholars. Includes many entries, of both the focused and survey types, on art and architecture. Manuscript illumination, specific archeological sites, and Islamic tribal art are special strengths. But its chief usefulness to art historians will probably lie in the background information available in its lucid essays of several thousand words on key concepts regarding the medieval world, e.g., "Calendars," "Kingship," "Serfs and serfdom." Provides a nice refuge for readers of English who need an authoritative source approaching the detail of the Lexikon des Mittelalters (GLAH 2:E43).

Useful review in Reference reviews Europe online, 1999, D-99–1/4, which briefly compares this work with the Lexikon des Mittelalters (GLAH 2:E43).

Bibliographies at ends of articles contain as many citations to English-language sources as possible. Excellent subject index in v.13 (p.1–565). Contributors, v.13, p.567–606. Errata, v.13, p.607–13.

- E42 Enciclopedia dell'arte medievale. Roma, Istituto della Enciclopedia italiana, 1991–2000. 11v. il. (part col.)

Another major specialist art encyclopedia from the publisher of the Enciclopedia dell'arte antica, classica e orientale (GLAH 2:E29). Reminiscent of the earlier set in terms of scholarly and editorial excellence, breadth of coverage, generous format, and high production standards. Long, signed entries treat the history of art and architecture from the 6th through the 14th centuries in Europe and relevant stretches of the Near East and North Africa. Coverage includes very detailed treatment of cities and larger regions, iconographical subjects, liturgical objects, artists, media, architectural features, building types, monastic orders, and major monuments. Some coverage of Jewish and Islamic art. Extremely full bibliographies at the ends of entries separate primary sources from later, secondary works, with the latter current through at least the early 1990s. Splendid illustrations, most in color. Many ground plans.

Review of v.1, Arte veneta, v.44, 1993, p.68–70.

Each vol. has at front, "Elenco delle abbreviazioni," "Abbreviazioni bibliografiche," and rosters of "Consulenti" and "Collaboratori" for that particular vol.

- E43 Lexikon des Mittelalters. München, Artemis, [1977]–1999. 10v.

A monumental encyclopedia of the highest scholarly quality that will be a fundamental reference work in medieval studies for decades to come. Contains more than 30,000 signed entries by about 3,000 contributors. Provides detailed treatment of most aspects of medieval history, topography, and culture, with coverage of Latin and Byzantine Europe, the Middle East, and Muslim and Christian North Africa, from 300 to 1500. Includes much coverage of the visual arts and architecture, including entries on cities and larger regions; fortresses, religious structures, and archeological sites; iconographical themes; building types and architectural features; techniques and materials. Tends to scatter its data among relatively brief, focused entries rather than consolidate it in broader surveys. Outstanding strengths are its detailed coverage of historically significant figures and families, relatively brief entries on aspects of daily life, and its treatment of the texts and liturgies of the three major religions.

Useful review in Reference reviews Europe online, 1999, D-99–1/4, which briefly compares this work with the Dictionary of the Middle Ages (GLAH 2:E41).

Bibliographical citations at ends of entries. Abkürzungsverzeichnis, v.1, p.xvii–lxiii. Registerband, [v.10], contains a classed index, an alphabetical listing of entries in the entire work, and a list of all contributors and their entries. Extensive system of cross-references helps mitigate weakness of index.

- E44 List, Claudia, and Blum, Wilhelm. Sachwörterbuch zur Kunst des Mittelalters: Grundlagen und Erschei- nungsformen. Stuttgart, Belser, 1996. 381p. il. (Belser Lexikon)

Provides substantive coverage of art in Europe and Byzantium from the early 4th to the late 14th century, with entries on specific artworks and monuments, building types, regional styles, architectural features, liturgical objects, iconographical themes, and so on. Effective system of cross-references improves access to longer survey articles. Achieves some geographic balance in its coverage, although entries devoted to individual works of art and architecture from Germanic countries outnumber those of other countries combined. Brief etymologies supplied for terms. Particularly effective summary treatment of manuscript illumination; appendix "Skriptorien" lists major examples by school. Illustrations negligible. No bibliographies at end of articles but extensive, classified one as appendix.

Skriptorien, p.366–67. Abkürzungen, p.368. Zitierte Literatur und Literatur in Auswahl, p.368–80.

- E45 Vogüé, Melchior de, and Neufville, Jean. Glossaire de termes techniques à l'usage des lectures de "La Nuit des temps". 4. éd. rev. et corr. par Raymond Oursel. La Pierre-qui-Vire, Yonne, Zodiaque, 1989. 534p. il. (part col.) (Introductions à la nuit des temps, 1)

1st ed. 1965; 2d ed. 1971; 3d ed. 1983.

Dictionary of terms relating principally to Romanesque church architecture; compiled to aid readers of the Nuit des temps series (GLAH 2:R72). Main alphabetical sequence provides detailed definitions of architectural features, building types, construction methods and tools, sculptural techniques, liturgical objects, etc. Terms and definitions in French, with brief etymologies and the equivalent term in German, English, Spanish, and Italian supplied. An appendix contains alphabetically arranged German, English, and Italian terms, with French equivalents. Heavily illustrated mainly with marginal line drawings and the series' characteristic razor-sharp black-and-white illustrations.

Abbreviations, p.[28]. Index analytique, p.463–73. Équivalences, p.[475]–[535].

RENAISSANCE—BAROQUE

- E46 Encyclopedia of the Renaissance. Paul F. Grendler, ed. in chief. N.Y., Scribner's, 1999. 6v. il. (part col.), maps.

Distinguished, well-written work that presents lengthy, signed scholarly entries on a broad variety of historical, cultural, and sociological topics without sacrificing clarity that makes it as useful to beginning students as to experienced scholars. Nearly 1,200 entries by 638 contributors. "Presents a panoramic view of the cultural movement and the period of history called the Renaissance. The chronological coverage begins in Italy in approximately 1350, then broadens geographically to embrace the rest of Europe in the middle to late fifteenth century."—Introd. Informed by the results of much recent scholarship, particularly studies of humanism throughout Europe, a focus on the social history of the Renaissance, and the study of women in the Renaissance. Bibliographic citations at the end of entries current through the mid 1990s. Published in assoc. with the Renaissance Society of America.

Contents, v.1, p.ix–xvii. Chronology, v.1, p.xxv–lxiii. Systematic outline of contents, v.6, p.345–54. Directory of contributors, v.6, p.355–72. Index, v.6, p.373–579. "Common abbreviations used in this work," at front of each vol.

- E47 The New Century Italian Renaissance encyclopedia. Ed. by Catherine B. Avery. Ed. consultants, Marvin B. Becker [and] Ludovico Borgo. N.Y., Appleton-Century-Crofts [1972]. xiii, 978p. il., map.

Primary coverage on figures of historical, cultural, or religious importance from the late 13th century to around the death of Michelangelo (1564). Entries average 200 words, but 1,000 or more are devoted to the most important names. Entries also for significant families, famous literary works, and art/architectural terms. Coverage included for many important figures from outside Italy. No bibliography.

- E48 Rachum, Ilan. The Renaissance: an illustrated encyclopedia. N.Y., Mayflower, 1979. 611p. il. (part col.) Brief entries on the history, culture, and major figures of the Renaissance throughout Europe. Murky illustrations.

Bibliographic citations at ends of most entries. Maps, p.[590]–97. Tables, p.[598]–601. Select bibliography, p.[602]–05. Index, p.[606]–11.

NEOCLASSICAL—MODERN

- E49 L'Art du XIXe siècle: dictionnaire de peinture et de sculpture. Sous la dir. de Jean-Philippe Breuille. Paris, Larousse, 1993. 777p. col. il.

Unsigned entries, averaging about 300 words, on 19th-century European and American artists and other art world figures—critics, collectors, dealers, etc.—along with selective coverage of groups, movements, iconographical themes, and French art journals.

Collaborateurs, p.6–8. Abréviations, p.10. Bibliographie sélective, p.769–77.

- E50 L'Art du XXe siècle: dictionnaire de peinture et de sculpture. Sous la dir. de Jean-Philippe Breuille. Paris, Larousse, 1991. 895p. il. (part col.)

Unsigned entries, averaging about 300 words, on 20th-century European and American artists, groups, and movements. No bibliographies.

Collaborateurs, p.10–11. Abréviations, p.13.

- E51 Atkins, Robert. Artspeak: a guide to contemporary ideas, movements, and buzzwords, 1945 to the present. 2d ed. N.Y., Abbeville, 1997. 208p. il. (part col.) 1st ed. 1990.

Well-written entries averaging approximately 400 words define movements, groups, concepts, media, and techniques. No bibliographies.

Artchart [chronology of movements], p.8. Timeline, p.9–36. Index, p.187–207.

- E52 ———. Artspoke: a guide to modern ideas, movements, and buzzwords, 1848–1944. N.Y., Abbeville, 1993. 224p. il. (part col.)

Movements, media, groups, concepts, and events covered in entries averaging about 400 words. No bibliographies.

Artchart [chronology of movements], p.8. Timeline, p.9–40. Index, p.216–23.

- E53 Bosseur, Jean-Yves. Vocabulaire des arts plastiques de XXe siècle. Paris, Minerve, 1998. 236p. il.

Ruminative entries in French on 65 key concepts relating to 20th-century art—e.g., "Anti-art," "Espace," "Gesamtkunstwerk," "Multiples."

Bibliographie, p.221–[24]. Index des termes, p.225–[27]. Index des mouvements, p.229–[30]. Index des noms, p.231–[37].

- E54 Busse, Joachim. Internationales Handbuch aller Maler und Bildhauer des 19. Jahrhunderts. Wiesbaden, Busse, 1977. 72, 1403p. col. il., plates. (Busse-Verzeichnis, 19)

Gargantuan biographical index gives bare-bones data, including dates, place of birth and death, artistic occupation, and citations to biographical and auction-price reference works, on more than 80,000 artists who were alive at some point between 1806 and 1880.

Literatur-Hinweise, p.1387. Abkürzungs-Verzeichnis, p.1389–98.

- E55 Chilvers, Ian. A dictionary of twentieth-century art. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1998. xiv, 670p.

Provides 1,700 entries on artists and other art world personalities, movements, media, techniques, organizations, and serial exhibitions and publications. Begun as a project to revise and abridge The Oxford companion to twentieth-century art (GLAH 2:E68), it evolved into a different and much larger work than was originally planned. No index or bibliographies. Occasionally, sources are quoted and cited in the entries.

Abbreviations, p.[xv].

- E56 Contemporary artists. Ed., Joann Cerrito. Advisers, Jean-Christophe Ammann . . . [et al.] 4th ed. Detroit, St. James Pr., 1996. xx, 1340p. il. (Contemporary arts series)

See GLAH 1:E48 for 1st ed. 2d ed., N.Y., St. Martin's Pr., 1983. 3d ed., Chicago, St. James Pr., 1989.

Flagship publication of a series that contains many useful biographical dictionaries of artists. Not a cumulative work since a significant number of artists are deleted from each ed. and new ones added. Internal organization has remained very similar from ed. to ed. "Each entry includes biographical data, a comprehensive list of individual exhibitions, a selection of up to ten important group exhibitions, a list of public collections that include works by the artist, and primary and secondary bibliographies. In this edition, entries also include a list of permanent public installations, such as murals, outdoor sculptures, and environmental works. Many artists have contributed a statement about their work or about art in general, as well as a photograph of a representative work. Finally, critical essays have been contributed by specialists in the field."—Ed. note.

Advisers/contributors, p.ix–x. List of entrants, p.xiii–xx. Nationality index, p.[1321]–30. Notes on advisers and contributors, p.[1331]–40.

E57 Contemporary women artists. Eds., Laurie Collier Hillstrom, Kevin Hillstrom. Detroit, St. James Pr., 1999. xx, 760p. il.

Entries, which resemble those in other St. James biographical dictionaries of artists, e.g., Contemporary artists (GLAH 2:E56), provide, in addition to basic biographical data, exhibition history, works in collections, bibliographical references, a sampling of critical reception, and, often, a comment by the artist. "Contemporary women artists provides biographical and career information on more than 350 of the world's most prominent and influential contemporary (20th century) women artists. [It] covers figures who have worked, or are currently working, in the visual arts—including painting, sculpture, drawing, printmaking, collage, photography, ceramics, mixed media, electronic media, performance art, video, design, and graphic arts."—Ed. note.

Advisers/contributors, p.xiii–xiv. List of entrants, p.xvii–xx. Bibliography, p.[733]–36. Nationality index, p.[737]–42. Medium index, p.[743]–50. Notes on advisers and contributors, p.[751]–60.

E58 Delarge, Jean-Pierre. Dictionnaire des arts plastiques modernes et contemporains. Paris, Gründ, 2001. 1367p.

Some entries provide rather perfunctory coverage of groups, movements, techniques, and media, but most of this work is devoted to highly opinionated biographical entries on more than 10,000 20th-century artists of all kinds and other art-world figures. Coverage is worldwide but focuses on Western and Southern Europe. Selective list of exhibitions, locations of key works, and brief, significant quotes by or about the artist at the end of many entries.

Principales abréviations utilisées, p.6.

E59 Dictionnaire de l'art moderne et contemporain. Sous la dir. de Gérard Durozoi. Paris, Hazan, 1992. xx, 676p. il. (part col.)

Korean trans., Pusan, Arutte, 1994. Spanish trans., Madrid, Akal, 1997.

Includes 20th-century artists, groups, movements, critics, and influential journals and other key publications. Covers selected Asian artists as well as those of Europe and the Americas. Signed entries average about 200 words in length. Effective positioning of small illustrations, many in color.

Bibliographies at ends of most entries. Liste des collaborateurs, p.xi–xiii.

E60 Dictionary of international contemporary artists: about 400 of the most internationally recognized contemporary artists. [Ed., Giancarlo Politi. Ed. assist., Rachele Ferrario, Paola Gaggiotti.] [Milan?], Flash Art Books, [1995]. 356p. il.

Brief but informative entries cover mostly European and American artists. For each, presents chronology of one-person and group exhibitions and useful bibliography.

E61 Groupes, mouvements, tendances de l'art contemporain depuis 1945. [Sous la dir. de Mathilde Ferrer. Avec Marie-Hélène Colas-Adler]. 2. éd. rev. et augm. Paris, École nationale supérieure des beaux-arts, 1990. 183p.

1st ed. 1989.

Signed entries of 250 to 750 words explain about 70 of the leading movements, groups, and concepts of the late 1940s through 1980s.

Bibliographies at ends of entries current through the 1980s. Liste des auteurs, p.5. Lexique, p.159–73. Index, p.175–83. Table, p.[185]–[86].

E62 The Grove dictionary of art. From expressionism to post-modernism: styles and movements in 20th-century Western art. Ed. by Jane Turner. N.Y., St. Martin's, 2000. xii, 430p. il. (part col.), plates, facsim. British ed., London, Macmillan Reference, 2000.

Focused selection of entries from the Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4).

List of contributors, p.viii–ix. General abbreviations, p.x–xi. Appendix A, List of locations, p.[420]–27. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, p.[428]–30.

E63 Guide to exhibited artists. Santa Barbara, Clio Press, 1985. 5v.

Earlier versions, Dictionary of contemporary artists, 1981; International directory of exhibiting artists, 1982–83.

Recent brief biographical and exhibition data on artists from the files of Clio Press, publisher of ARTbibliographies Modern (GLAH 2:A148). "The information has been obtained from two main sources, exhibition catalogues or announcements and the artists themselves."—Introd.

Contents: (1) European painters; (2) North American painters; (3) Printmakers; (4) Sculptors; (5) Craftsmen.

Museum and gallery index at end of each vol.

E64 Le Thorel-Daviot, Pascale. Petit dictionnaire des artistes contemporains. Paris, Bordas, 1996. 287p. col. il.

Brief entries on European, American, and a few Asian artists provide basic biographical information, a paragraph summarizing the artist's work, a brief comment by the artist, and bibliographical references. A small color illustration of one work by each artist is provided.

Index commenté des mouvements, p.275–83. Glossaire, p.284–85. Bibliographie, p.286–87.

E65 Marks, Claude. World artists, 1950–1980: an H.W. Wilson biographical dictionary. N.Y., Wilson, 1984. xvi, 912p. ports.

Well-written entries of 1,000 words or more on 312 artists of Europe and the Americas who were working at some point between 1950 and 1980. At the end of each entry are a selective list of exhibitions, works in collections, and a bibliography. Small portrait photographs of many of the artists.

Artists included, p.vii-x. Key to pronunciation; key to abbreviations, p.xvi.

- E66 ———. World artists 1980-1990: an H.W. Wilson biographical dictionary. N.Y., Wilson, 1991. xii, 413p. il.

Well-written 2,000-word entries on more than 100 European and American artists active in the 1980s. At the end of each entry are a selective list of exhibitions, works in collections, and a bibliography. Small portrait photographs of many of the artists.

Artists included, p.vii-viii. Key to pronunciation; key to abbreviations, p.xii.

- E67 North American women artists of the twentieth century: a biographical dictionary. Ed. by Jules Heller and Nancy G. Heller. N.Y., Garland, 1995. xxii, 612p. il. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.1219)

Biographical entries averaging about 300 words on some 1,500 women artists (including photographers) of Canada, Mexico, and the U.S. born before 1960. More than 100 scholarly contributors. Entries contain selective accounts of artists' exhibitions and collections holding their work.

"As researchers, we both have been frustrated many times by being unable to locate basic information about many of the artists included in this volume—especially those working outside the United States. This leads directly to another reason for producing this particular kind of reference book—to try and create a better understanding between and among the artists and art audiences in these three countries."—Introd.

Bibliography at end of each entry. Contributors, p.[xiii]-xvii. Index, p.[601]-12.

- E68 The Oxford companion to twentieth-century art. Ed. by Harold Osborne. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1981. x, 656p. il. (part col.), plates. (Repr. with corrections, 1990).

Spanish trans., Madrid, Alianza, 1990.

Covers artists, movements, terms, and the development of modern art in countries and regions. Entries for important movements or countries can be several pages in length. "It is not a dictionary or an encyclopedia, but is intended as a handbook and a guide for students and others who wish to find their way intelligently through the exuberant jungle of contemporary art. Special attention has been given to the fluctuations of artistic ideas and to . . . changing aesthetic presuppositions."—Pref.

Selective bibliography, p.[601]-48.

- E69 St. James guide to Black artists. Ed., Thomas Riggs. Detroit, St. James Pr., 1997. xxiv, 625p. il.

Entries, which resemble those in other St. James biographical dictionaries of artists, e.g., Contemporary artists (GLAH 2:E56), provide, in addition to basic biographical data, exhibition history, works in collections, bibliographical references, a sampling of critical reception, and, often, a comment by the artist. Includes nearly 400 painters, sculptors, printmakers, photographers, ceramicists, and textile workers. Published in assoc. with the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture. "[This] is a unique compendium of information on artists of African descent. Though focused on the twentieth century, selected nineteenth-century artists are also included. About three-fourths of the entrants are African Americans, and the remainder are from Africa, the Caribbean, and other parts of the diaspora."—Pref.

Advisers, p.xv. Contributors, p.xvii. List of entrants, p.xxi-xxiv. A selected bibliography on black artists, p.[593]-97. Nationality index, p.[599]-604. Medium index, p.[605]-13. Index to illustrations, p.[615]-18. Notes on advisers and contributors, p.[619]-25.

- E70 Verzeichnis der bildenden Künstler von 1880 bis heute: ein biographisch-bibliographisches Nachschlagewerk zur Kunst der Gegenwart. [Hrsg. und bearb. von] Roger M. Gorenflo. Darmstadt, Brün, 1988. 3v. (989p.)

Index that provides access to biographical data on some 32,000 modern artists worldwide from more than 600 monographs, exhibition catalogs, and biographical dictionaries.

Bibliographischer Schlüssel und bibliographische Hilfsmittel, v.3, p.961-89. "Abkürzungen" and "Abkürzungen der Länder" at front of each vol.

- E71 Walker, John Albert. Glossary of art, architecture and design since 1945. Foreword by Clive Phillpot. 3d ed., rev., enl., and illustrated. Boston, Hall, 1992. 1v. (unpaged) il.

See GLAH 1:E36 for 1st ed.; 2d ed., Hamden, Conn., Linnet; London, Bingley, 1977. British ed., London, Library Association, 1992.

An indispensable vade mecum for contemporary art. Brief but substantive, well-written entries, most with an appended multi-item bibliography of books, exhibition catalogs, and articles, current to the early 1990s. Has an excellent, comprehensive index to names and subjects. "For this new edition the vast majority of existing entries have been revised and updated. Some lesser-used and out-of-date terms have been deleted and several of the older ones have been shortened. In most cases, however, expansion has been necessary in respect of both entries and bibliographies in order to take account of artistic developments and publications since 1977. A number of new entries have been added to fill gaps for the period 1945 to 1977 and more than 150 brand-new entries have been included to take account of terms that have appeared in the literature of art and design since the last edition. . . . Unlike previous editions this one is illustrated."—Introd.

Bibliography, p.[341]-[49]. Index, p.[351]-[99].

- E72 Women artists of color: a bio-critical sourcebook to 20th century artists in the Americas. Ed. by Phoebe Farris. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1999. xx, 496p. il.

Approximately 100 artist entries are arranged alphabetically within four ethnic groupings. Entries include basic biographical data, selective lists of exhibitions in which the artist's work has appeared, collections that hold her work, publications by and about her, a statement by the artist, and a biographical essay of approximately 1,000 words, by Farris or one of her contributors, surveying the artist's career.

"This book attempts to provide a representative sample of older and/or deceased artists who helped pave the way for future generations; mature, midcareer mainstream artists with national/international reputations; and younger, emerging artists. The media presented range from traditional painting and sculpture to newer forms such as video, conceptual, and performance art."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Native American women artists; (2) Latin American women artists; (3) African American women artists; (4) Asian Pacific American women artists.

Afterword: Parts of a puzzle, by Moira Roth, p.[461]–69. Cultural resources [institutions, groups, journals, etc.], p.[471]–73. Index, p.[475]–93. About the editor and contributors, p.[495]–96.

GENERAL DICTIONARIES OF ARTISTS

- E73 Allgemeines Künstlerlexikon bio-bibliographischer Index A–Z = The artists of the world: bio-bibliographical index A–Z. München, Saur, 1999–2000. 10v.

Biographical index intended by Saur to supply some interim coverage of artists while its Allgemeines Künstlerlexikon (AKL; see GLAH 2:E74), an updating of Thieme-Becker and Vollmer (GLAH 1:E50, GLAH 1:E52), appears alphabetically at the rate of several vols. per year. Entries include name(s), artistic occupation(s), date and place of birth and death if known, country code(s) and bibliographical references. "Names and biographical information from over 200 important national and international dictionaries of artists . . . were compiled for the Index. The names and information thus collected were added to the information already contained in full on our database created from the Thieme-Becker and Vollmer biographical dictionaries and the volumes of the AKL so far published. . . . Important bio-bibliographical information available to the editors was also included."—Pref.

Each vol. has at front, "Sources," "Professions" [i.e., artistic occupations], and "Countries."

- E74 Allgemeines Künstlerlexikon: die bildenden Künstler aller Zeiten und Völker. [Begründ. und Mithrsg. von Günter Meissner.] München, Saur, 1992–. (30)v. + indexes: Bd. 1–10; Bd. 11–20.

Greatly augmented revision and consolidation of Thieme-Becker (T-B) and Vollmer (V), (GLAH 1:E50, E52), incorporating much new information—the result of almost 100 years of additional research—on every significant artist and architect, and entries for figures not covered at all in the earlier sets. New material will make the AKL approximately three times longer than the T-B-V combination by the time it is completed. Entries are signed and written in most cases by established authorities with a prior record of publication on their subjects. Individual entries are more efficiently organized than in T-B and V, with special symbols marking the location in each entry of collections holding the artist's important works (or a chronological list of buildings in the case of an architect), exhibition history, and up-to-date bibliography. Like the combination of T-B and V, the AKL covers all countries, and all periods in which there are artists known by name or oeuvre.

Alphabetization scheme seems more conventional and user-friendly than in T-B and V. "Abkürzungsverzeichnis" sections in each vol. make deciphering abbreviations much easier than in the earlier sets. Names of Asian artists no longer given in Asian characters in addition to transliterated form. Two-vol. indexes appear at 10-vol. intervals: first index vol. arranges the artists in the previous 10 vols. by country, artistic activity (e.g., "Zeichner"), and birth date. Second index vol. reshuffles them by artistic activity, country, and birth date.

Earlier, failed attempt by Seemann, Leipzig (1983–90, 3v.), to establish this project was subsumed by the AKL.

Available as a CD-ROM containing additional biographical entries.

"Internationaler Lexikonbeirat," "Autorenverzeichnis," "Benutzungshinweise," and "Abkürzungsverzeichnis," containing both general and bibliographical abbreviations, at front of most vols.

- E75 Artist biographies master index. Barbara McNeil, ed. Detroit, Gale, 1986. xviii, 700p. (Gale biographical index series, no. 9)

"A consolidated index to more than 275,000 biographical sketches of artists living and dead, as they appear in a selection of the principal current and retrospective biographical dictionaries devoted to the fine and applied arts, including painters, sculptors, illustrators, designers, graphic artists, craftsmen, architects, and photographers."—T.p. note.

Bibliographic key to source codes [i.e., list of indexed biographical dictionaries], p.xi–xviii.

- E76 Bénézit, Emmanuel. Dictionnaire critique et documentaire des peintres, sculpteurs, dessinateurs et graveurs de tous les temps et de tous les pays par un groupe d'écrivains spécialistes français et étrangers. Nouvelle éd., entièrement ref. Sous la dir. de Jacques Busse. Paris, Gründ, 1999. 14v.

See GLAH 1:E37 for original annotation and previous eds.

Second in inclusiveness only to the combination of the much older Thieme-Becker and Vollmer (GLAH 1:E50, GLAH 1:E52). Many more long, signed entries than in the previous ed. For many artists, the sections of bibliographical citations, museum collection information, and auction prices fetched by their work seem greatly expanded. Facsimiles of artists' signatures occasionally illustrated. No coverage of architects, unless they also worked in other media.

Evolution du pouvoir d'achat du franc depuis 1901, v.1, p.8–9. Cours à Paris du dollar américain (USD) et de la livre sterling (GBP) depuis 1901, v.1, p.10–11. Principales abréviations utilisées, v.1, p.12. Bibliographie générale, v.14, p.955–58.

- E77 Dictionary of women artists. Ed., Delia Gaze. Picture eds., Maja Mihajlovic, Leanda Shrimpton. Chicago, Fitzroy Dearborn, 1997. 2v. (xlviii, 1512p.) il.

Covers 600 painters, sculptors, printmakers, photographers, and decorative/applied artists, as well as artists working in newer forms of expression. Signed entries by more than 300 scholarly contributors. Entries include basic biographical information; chronological list of principal individual and group exhibitions, selected writings of the artist, bibliography of citations about the artist, and an essay of 1,000 words or more by a specialist on the artist. "The book is the fruit of the extensive scholarly interest in the subject of women artists that has been manifested since the 1970s, as part of a wider reexamination of women's history. While there are already very useful works of reference in the field, no previously published dictionary has covered such a wide-ranging historical and geographical span with such detailed entries. . . . For practical reasons, certain firm parameters were established at the outset: the project would be concerned only with the Western tradition in art, and it would exclude women born after 1945; the emphasis would be historical rather than contemporary, and no attempt would be made to cover architecture, interior or garden design, or fashion."—Ed. note.

Contents: (1) Introductory surveys: Women as artists in the Middle Ages, by Annemarie Weyl Carr; Convents, by Marilyn Dunn; Guilds and the open market, by Lynn F. Jacobs and Els Kloek; Court artists, by Valerie Mainz; Academies of art, by Wendy Wasyng Roworth . . . [et al.]; Copyists, by Lisa Heer; Printmakers, by David Alexander; Amateur artists, by Katalijne van der Stighelen and Lisa Heer; Training and professionalism, 19th and 20th centuries, by Pamela Gerish Nunn, et al.; Modernism and women artists, by Bridget Elliott; Feminism and women artists, by Mara D. Witzling; Artists, A–I; (2) Artists, J–Z.

Advisers, v.1, p.xi. Contributors, v.1, p.xi–xiv. General bibliography, v.1, p.xxxi–xlviii. Notes on advisers and contributors, v.2, p.[1487]–1508. "Alphabetical list of artists" and "Chronological list of artists" at front of each vol.

- E78 Dunford, Penny. A biographical dictionary of women artists in Europe and America since 1850. Philadelphia, Univ. of Pennsylvania Pr., 1989. xxiv, 340p. il. (part col.)

Covers approximately 800 artists in entries that average about 400 words. Selective lists, at the end of most entries, of the artist's publications, locations of her key works, and citations of writings about her. No index, but there are helpful cross references.

"Because of the impossibility of an exhaustive dictionary, photographers and film/video makers have been excluded. Although there are examples of video artists, they have been principally involved in other media, usually performance art. The number of textile artists is also limited, partly because of the problem of obtaining information. As a result there is a bias towards traditional Fine Art media. While the majority of artists in the dictionary are painters or sculptors, a much wider range of media is represented for the modern period."—Introd.

Abbreviations, p.[xv]–xvii. Bibliography, p.[335]–40.

- E79 Edelstein, Debra. Pronunciation dictionary of artists' names, Art Institute of Chicago. Rev. and ed. by Debra Edelstein. 3d rev. ed. Boston, Little, Brown, 1993. 1v. (unpaged).

See GLAH 1:E43 for previous eds.

Now includes photographers and printmakers in addition to the original categories: painters, sculptors, draftsmen. "Of the original 1500 artists, approximately half appear in this edition; those deleted either are no longer considered art historically significant or were contemporary artists fashionable in 1935 but unknown today. Added to the volume are approximately 3500 new names reflecting changing art historical assessments, a broader geographical distribution, and a recognition that names native English speakers intuitively pronounce may present difficulties to speakers of other languages."—Pref.

- E80 Havlice, Patricia Pate. Index to artistic biography. Metuchen, N.J., Scarecrow Pr., 1973. 2v.

See GLAH 1:E42 for original annotation.

"Covers 70 additional titles containing approximately 44,000 names. . . . The format of this volume is identical to the original work."—Pref.

———. 1st supplement, 1981.

A second supplement has been announced for 2002.

- E81 Künstler: kritisches Lexikon der Gegenwartskunst. [Hrsg. Lothar Romain, Detlef Bluemler]. München, WB Verlag, 1988–. (13)v. (loose-leaf) il. (part col.), ports.

Entries take form of ca. 15p. fascicle devoted to a significant contemporary artist and containing biographical facts; exhibition history; bibliography; a substantive, signed critical assessment of the artist's work; and many illustrations. Each loose-leaf vol. contains several fascicles. Every third vol. a new alphabetical sequence is begun. Coverage is international but Germanic artists predominate.

- E82 Mallett, Daniel Trowbridge. Mallett's Index of artists: international-biographical, including painters, sculptors, illustrators, engravers and etchers of the past and the present. [Reprint.] N.Y., Peter Smith, [1999?] xxxiv, 493p.

See GLAH 1:E44 for original annotation.

- E83 Petteys, Chris. Dictionary of women artists: an international dictionary of women artists born before 1900. With the assist. of Hazel Gustow . . . [et al.] Boston, Hall, 1985. xviii, 851p. port.

Brief entries provide basic biographical data on more than 21,000 women painters, sculptors, printmakers, and illustrators. "Photographers, architects, craftworkers, and designers have all been omitted unless their skills were adjunct to painting, sculpture, printmaking, or illustration."—Pref. Entries include data about the artist's schooling, exhibition information, and bibliographical references.

Contributors, p.[xv]–xvi. Abbreviations, p.[xvii]–xviii. Bibliography, p.[781]–851.

- E84 Thieme-Becker/Vollmer Gesamtregister: Register zum Allgemeinen Lexikon der bildenden Künstler von der Antike bis zur Gegenwart und zum Allgemeinen Lexikon der bildenden Künstler des XX. Jahrhunderts. [Datenverarb., Andreas Klimt, Mathias Wündisch]. München, Saur; Leipzig, Seemann, 1996-97. 6v.

Index to artists and architects included in the biographical dictionaries by Thieme-Becker (GLAH 1:E50) and Vollmer (GLAH 1:E52). The first sequence of 3 vols. arranges the artists by country, artistic activity, and birth date. The second sequence of 3 vols. reshuffles them by artistic activity, country, and birth date.

Contents: (1) Länder: Bd.1. Ägypten-Frankreich; Bd.2. Frankreich-Kanada; Bd.3. Kenia-Vietnam; (2) Künstlerische Berufe: Bd.1. Altarkünstler-Karikaturist; Bd.2. Kartenmacher-Maler; Bd.3. Maler-Zeichner.

E85 Union list of artist names. James M. Bower, project manager. Murtha Baca, senior ed. N.Y., Hall, 1994. 4v. il.

Project of the Getty Art History Information Program (now defunct) to record variant versions of artists' names. Volumes contain about 200,000 names representing approximately 100,000 individual artists and architects. Entries supply artist's preferred name, variant names, sources of information about the artist from among Getty contributor projects, and often some bibliography. "The names of artists and architects in the ULAN have been culled from nine Getty projects spanning a broad spectrum of art documentation types, including abstracting and indexing services, research photographic archives, scholarly databases that document primary source materials, and object collections from archives and museums."—Foreword.

Also available in an internet version managed by the Getty Vocabulary Program.

History of the project, v.1, p.3-10. Guide to the use of the ULAN, v.1, p.11-20. Selected ULAN bibliography, v.1, p.23-38.

E86 Weinberg, Robert E. A biographical dictionary of science fiction and fantasy artists. N.Y., Greenwood, 1988. xvi, 346p.

In addition to biographical information, entries include lists of books and magazine spreads illustrated, with dates of publication. Covers more than 250 artists.

How to use this book, p.[xi]-xii. Abbreviations, p.[xiii]-xvi. Science fiction art: a historical overview, p.[1]-31. Science fiction art: what still exists, p.[303]-313. Art awards, p.[315]-17. Bibliography, p.[319]-21. Index of biographical entries, p.[323]-27. Index, p.[329]-46.

ARTISTS' MARKS

E87 Agnellini, Maurizio. Firma d'artista: 2600 firme di pittori dell'Ottocento italiano. Milano, Fenice 2000, 1995. 177p. il. (Le guide della Fenice)

Reproduces signatures of Italian painters and sculptors born in the 19th century.

E88 Castagno, John. American artists: signatures and monograms, 1800-1989. Metuchen, N.J., Scarecrow, 1990. xv, 826p. il.

Reproduces the signatures and monograms of more than 5,000 artists, including Canadians and Latin Americans.

List of abbreviations and sources, p.xi-xv. Alternate name cross-references, p.[767]-73. Indecipherable signatures and symbols, p.[775]-83. Monograms arranged by initials, p.[785]-826.

E89 ———. Latin American artists' signatures and monograms: colonial era to 1996. Lanham, Md., Scarecrow, 1997. xiii, 673p. il.

Presents signatures and monograms of 1,100 artists, along with considerable biographical data.

List of abbreviations and sources, p.13-16. Monograms/initials, p.653-59. Illegible signatures, p.661-67. Symbols, p.669. Alternate name cross-references, p.671-73.

E90 ———. Old Masters: signatures and monograms, 1400-born 1800. Lanham, Md., Scarecrow, 1996. 379p. il.

"Art historians and collectors will find this current vol. of artists' signatures of considerable value in researching the artworks of the Old Masters. Included are signature examples for these artists dating from the 14th century and born no later than 1800. This volume is presently the only such book focusing exclusively on signature examples taken not only from oil paintings but also watercolors, pastels, drawings, prints, and other works."—Introd.

List of abbreviations and sources, p.[xi]-[xiii]. Alternate name cross-references, p.[351]-59. Supplemental section with additional initial and monogram information, p.[361]-74. Supplemental section with additional alternate signature names information, p.[375]-79.

E91 Falk, Peter H. Dictionary of signatures and monograms of American artists: from the colonial period to the mid 20th century. Madison, Conn., Sound View (Distr. by Dealer's Choice, Land O'Lakes, Fla., 1988). 556p. il.

Reproduces signatures and monograms of about 4,500 artists.

Monograms, a visual index, p.467-541. Circular shapes, p.543-48. Pictorial marks and odd shapes, p.549-52. Undecipherable monograms, p.553-56.

E92 Goldstein, Franz. Monogrammlexikon 1: Internationales Verzeichnis der Monogramme bildender Künstler seit 1850 = Dictionary of monograms 1: international list of monograms in the visual arts since 1850. Rev. and expanded by Ruth Kähler and Hermann Kähler. 2. Aufl. N.Y., De Gruyter, 1999. xv, 1136p. il.

See GLAH 1:E56 for 1st ed.

Revision of a standard reference work. Supplies facsimiles of the monograms of approximately 14,000 painters, printmakers, illustrators, sculptors, and other artists active after 1850. Artist entries provide useful references to biographical dictionaries. "The most significant change introduced in this edition is that the monogram illustrations precede the text section. A numeration system links the two. The illustrations can now be offered in better quality. . . . Revision has concentrated on amending the biographical data, which have been supplemented where possible. In some cases new monogram variants have been added. Despite the modified outward appearance of this edition, the distinctiveness and achievement of the Goldstein work has been preserved."—Foreword.

Sources, p.[xiii]–xv. Index, p.[675]–[877]. Biographical index, p.[879]–1136.

- E93 Haslam, Malcolm. Marks and monograms: the decorative arts, 1880–1960. Rev. and enl. ed. London, Collins and Brown, 1995. 448p. il.

1st ed., Marks and monograms of the modern movement 1875–1930: a guide to the marks of artists, designers, retailers, and manufacturers from the period of the Aesthetic Movement to Art Deco and Style Moderne, Guildford [Eng.], Lutterworth, 1977.

Reproduces the marks, monograms, and signatures of artists, workshops, and manufacturers in the applied arts: ceramics, glass, metalwork, jewelry, graphics, furniture, and textiles.

Index, p.411–48.

- E94 Jackson, Radway. The visual index of artists' signatures and monograms. Introd. by Andrew Festing. [New and rev. ed.] London, Cromwell, 1991. 239p., il.

1st ed., The shorter dictionary of artists' signatures, London, Foulsham, 1980; U.S. ed., The concise dictionary of artists' signatures, N.Y., Alpine, 1981.

Covers more than 7,000 painters, printmakers, and sculptors from the 15th through late 20th century.

Visual index [particularly obscure monograms and signatures], p.[205]–38. Pictorial marks, p.239.

- E95 Monogrammlexikon 2: internationales Verzeichnis der Monogramme bildender Künstler des 19. und 20. Jahrhunderts = Dictionary of monograms 2: international list of monograms in the visual arts of the 19th and 20th centuries. Ed. by Paul Pfisterer. N.Y., De Gruyter, 1995. xviii, 1067p. il.

Provides facsimiles of the monograms of about 13,000 painters, printmakers, illustrators, sculptors, and other artists active after 1800. Intended as a continuation of Goldstein (GLAH 2:E92), it constitutes a valuable complement to that work.

Sources, p.xviii. Key to the classification of scripts used, p.xix–xx. Number index, p.[663]–860. Monogrammist index, p.[861]–1067.

- E96 Nahum, Peter. Monograms of Victorian and Edwardian artists. [s.l.], Victoria Square, 1976. 325, [1]p. il. "This book is designed as a rapid and practical guide to the identification of over 4000 monograms of artists, illustrators, craftsmen and architects working and exhibiting in Great Britain between 1830 and 1930."—Foreword.

Some of this material was revised and republished in the author's Victorian painters' monograms . . . , London, Foulsham, 1977.

How to analyse a monogram, p.[vii]. [Artist index], p.293–325. Selected bibliography, p.[326].

- E97 Pfisterer, Paul. Signaturenlexikon = Dictionary of signatures. Unter Mitarb. von Claire Pfisterer. N.Y., de Gruyter, 1999. xvi, 993p. il.

"The book is intended to be a collection of nineteenth and especially twentieth century signatures from Europe and the United States."—Foreword.

Reproduces 16,103 artists' signatures.

Quellenverzeichnis, p.[xi]–xiii. Arbeitstechniken, p.[xiv]. Hilfstabelle, p.[xv]–xvi. Biographischer Index, p.[745]–993.

- E98 Prein, Wolfgang. Handbuch der Monogramme in der europäischen Graphik vom 15. bis zum 18. Jahrhundert = Manual of monograms in European graphic arts from the 15th to the 18th centuries. München, Deutscher Kunstverlag, [1989–91]. 2v. il.

Compiled partly with the aim of updating Nagler's coverage (GLAH 1:E58) of the monograms of printmakers and draftsmen. Reproduces the monograms of nearly 2,500 artists.

Künstlerverzeichnis für Band I und II, v.2, p.281–307. "Verzeichnis der abgekürzt zitierten Literatur" at front of each vol.

- E99 Signatures et monogrammes d'artistes des XIXe et XXe siècles. 2e ed. Paris, Van Wilder, 1999. xiv, 484p. il. (part col.)

1st ed. 1998.

Presents more than 8,500 signatures and 1,600 monograms of artists from Europe and the Americas. Most of the data came from art auction catalogs of the 1990s; some were obtained directly from artists.

Monogrammes, p.[407]–84.

WESTERN COUNTRIES

Australia

- E100 The dictionary of Australian artists: painters, sketchers, photographers and engravers to 1870. Ed. by Joan Kerr. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1992. xxii, 889p. il.

"A grand panorama of Australian cultural life during the first hundred years of European settlement unfolds in this volume. . . . We have covered all six colonies: country towns as well as cities, amateurs as well as professionals, unpretentious residents as well as distinguished visitors. . . . [The] sole criterion for inclusion was that a person must have set foot on Australian soil before 1870 and made a painting, sketch, photograph or pictorial print."—Introd. Entries average approximately 300 words, but important figures can get more than 1,000. Longer entries signed; many end with selective lists of the artist's works, collections in which his or her art is represented, and bibliographical citations. More than 200 contributors. Many clear black-and-white illustrations.

Bibliographical note, p.xiii. Contributors, p.xiv–xviii. Major exhibitions to 1870, p.xix–xx. Abbreviations, p.xxi. Institutions, p.xxii.

E101 McCulloch, Alan. The encyclopedia of Australian art. [3d ed.] Rev. and updated by Susan McCulloch. Honolulu, Univ. of Hawaii Pr., 1994. 879p. il. (part col.)

1st ed., Hawthorn, Aus., Hutchinson, 1968; 2d ed., 1984; 3d ed., also St. Leonard's, Aus., Allen and Unwin, 1994; London, Herbert, 1994.

Some of the more than 5,000 entries treat groups, movements, media, and institutions in Australian art, but most provide brief biographies of painters, illustrators, printmakers, sculptors, decorative artists, and photographers from the 18th through 20th century. Most biographical entries supply information about schooling, exhibitions, awards, collections in which the artist's work is represented, and bibliographical citations. Introduction is a brief history of Australian art. Useful illustrations.

"Artists have been chosen for inclusion if their work is represented by purchase in a national, state, or regional gallery or they have won a major prize."—Pref.

Abbreviations, p.14–15. Appendix 1, Collections: private and corporate, p.783–86. Appendix 2, Exhibitions, p.787–95. Appendix 3, Festivals, p.796–97. Appendix 4, Funding, p.798. Appendix 5, Galleries, public and private, p.799–834. Appendix 6, Magazines, journals and newsletters, p.835–41. Appendix 7, Prizes, awards and scholarships, p.842–63. Appendix 8, Schools and universities, p.864–73. Appendix 9, Trusts and foundations, p.874–75.

Canada

E102 Contemporary Canadian artists. Toronto, Gale Canada, 1997. iii, 627p. il.

Well-organized, multi-page biographical entries include a critical assessment, selective exhibition and collection history, and some bibliography. "There is still much ground work needed to uncover and give voice to the many women artists who were recognized in their own times but are now forgotten, and also to those artists who contributed to art activity in the Maritimes, Prairie and Western provinces. There is an awareness of such exclusions from this list and amends have been made, but students should be aware that this book is only a starting point."—Introd.

Subject index [arranged by medium], p.625–27.

E103 Karel, David. Dictionnaire des artistes de langue française en Amérique du Nord: peintres, sculpteurs, dessinateurs, graveurs, photographes, et orfèvres. [Québec], Musée du Québec; Pr. de l'Université Laval, 1992. lxxx, 962p. 80 plates.

Covers French artists who settled in Canada, the United States, or Mexico. Biographical entries of 1,000 words or more for significant figures.

Bibliographical references at ends of entries. Sigles et abréviations, p.[xxix]. Code de références, p.[841]–60. Bibliographie, p.[861]–89. Appendices: Lieu d'activité, lieu d'origine, p.[893]–912. Contexte, p.[913]–15. Typologie des artistes, p.[916]–62.

E104 MacDonald, Colin S. A dictionary of Canadian artists. 5th ed., rev. and exp. Ottawa, Canadian Paperbacks, 1997–. (1)v.

See GLAH 1:E65 for original annotation and 1st and 2d eds.; 3d ed., 1975 (repr., 1977). 4th ed., 1986.

Brief but fluent, well-written entries with very full bibliographies.

Contents: (1) A–F.

Abbreviations, v.1, p.[vii].

E105 McKendry, Blake. A to Z of Canadian art: artists and art terms. Kingston, Ont., McKendry, 1997. vi, 242p.

Brief biographies of Canadian artists and definitions of terms, with special reference to Canadian art. Bibliographical references at ends of most entries.

Bibliography, p.215–42.

France

E106 Ferment, Claude. Dictionnaire des termes de l'art: anglais/français & français/anglais. Paris, La Maison du Dictionnaire, 1994. [14], 490p. il. (part col.), plates.

Provides an equivalent term, with an occasional line or two of explanation rather than a full definition. Many cross-references.

E107 The Grove dictionary of art. From David to Ingres: early 19th-century French artists. Ed. by Jane Turner. N.Y., St. Martin's, 2000. xii, 414p. il. (part col.), plates, ports.

British ed., London, Macmillan Reference, 2000.

Focused selection of entries from the Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4).

List of contributors, p.viii–ix. General abbreviations, p.x–xi. Appendix A, List of locations, p.[404]–11. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, p.[412]–14. Appendix C, Lists of standard reference books and series, p.[415].

E108 The Grove dictionary of art. From Monet to Cézanne: late 19th-century French artists. Ed. by Jane Turner. N.Y., St. Martin's, 2000. xii, 434p. il. (part col.), plates, ports.

British ed., London, Macmillan Reference, 2000.

Focused selection of entries from the Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4).

List of contributors, p.viii–ix. General abbreviations, p.x–xi. Appendix A, List of locations, p.[426]–34. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, p.[435]. Appendix C, Lists of standard reference books and series, p.[436].

E109 Monneret, Sophie. L'impressionnisme et son époque: dictionnaire international illustré. Paris, Denoël, 1978–1981. 4v. il. (part col.)

Impressionism interpreted broadly. While such artists as Monet, Renoir, and Morisot have the longest entries, there is also considerable coverage of figures like Fattori, Munch, Sargent, Liebermann, and Turner, and such groups as the Macchiaioli and the Nabis. In addition to artists, entries cover other artworld figures (dealers, critics, collectors), groups, and regions associated with artists or groups. Entries on major artists as long as 20,000 words. Helpful illustrations, many half-page and in color. No bibliographical citations at ends of entries.

Histoire et sens de l'impressionnisme, by René Huyghe, v.1, p.7–33. Noms communs [entries on aspects of 19th-century European art], v.3, p.[121]–278. L'impressionnisme à l'étranger [country-by-country survey], v.3, p.[279]–336. Index des oeuvres d'art citées ou décrites et des sujets traités, v.4, p.[9]–129. Index des noms propres, v.4, p.[131]–215. Exemples de signatures d'artistes répertoriés ou cités dans cet ouvrage, v.4, p.[217]–[32]. Index des oeuvres littéraires et musicales, v.4, p.[233]–51. Index des lieux et des pays, v.4, p.253–80. Cartes de France des hauts lieux de l'impressionnisme, v.4, p.[281]–[88]. Index des musées, v.4, p.289–96. Tableaux chronologiques, v.4, p.297–336. Bibliographie, v.4, p.[369]–409.

E110 Néraudau, Jean-Pierre. Dictionnaire d'histoire de l'art. Paris, Presses universitaires de France, 1985. xi, 521p. il.

Brief but substantive entries on French art and architectural terms, with a strong emphasis on the applied arts and architecture. Most entries begin with a sentence or two on the term's etymology. Numbers at the end of some articles refer to items in the bibliography. Small black-and-white illustrations. No artist biographies.

Bibliographie, p.[491]–508. Index des noms propres, p.[509]–521.

Germany and Austria

E111 Apelt, Mary L. English-German dictionary, art history-archaeology = English-deutsches Wörterbuch für Kunstgeschichte und Archäologie. Berlin, Schmidt, 1987. 253p.

Alphabetical list of approximately 7,500 English terms, mainly concerning art and architectural technique, iconography, and archeology, with their German equivalents. "The list of terms which appears here has been compiled from English and German works within the fields, professional journals, exhibition catalogues and art lexicons and dictionaries. Since this dictionary is mainly intended to be a reader's aid, it is not an exhaustive lexicon."—Pref.

E112 ———. German-English dictionary: art history, archaeology = Deutsch-Englisches Wörterbuch für Kunstgeschichte u. Archäologie. 2. überarb. u. erg. Aufl. Berlin, Schmidt, 1990. 277p.
1st ed. 1982.

Alphabetical list of more than 8,000 German terms, mainly from the areas of technique, iconography, and archeology, with their English equivalents. "This second, revised edition includes corrections and some 100 additional words."—Pref.

E113 Reallexikon zur deutschen Kunstgeschichte. Stuttgart, Metzler, 1937–. (9)v. il., ports., diagrs., facsim., plans.

See GLAH 1:E87 for original annotation.

Issued in fascicles; most recent is 106, 1997, "Fleuroné"- "Flocktapete." "Nachtrag" section at the end of some vols. contains additional entries. Published since v.6 under the auspices of the Zentralinstitut für Kunstgeschichte, Munich. "Verzeichnis der Abkürzungen" at front of vols.

E114 Wilhelmi, Christoph. Künstlergruppen in Deutschland, Österreich und der Schweiz seit 1900: ein Handbuch. Stuttgart, Hauswedell, 1996. x, 431p. il.
Entries, arranged alphabetically, devote about half a page to the history of each of 242 artists' groups. Each entry contains a list of a group's members, and most end with at least one bibliographic citation. The author's introduction analyzes the causes, functions, goals, and limits of artists' groups or movements, such as Die Brücke and Novembergruppe, with a 47-item bibliography.

Künstlergruppen in chronologischer Abfolge, p.373–[80]. Namenregister der an Gruppen Beteiligten, p.381–431.

Great Britain and Ireland

E115 Bradshaw, Maurice. Royal Society of British Artists, members exhibiting, 1824–1962. Leigh-on-Sea, Lewis, 1973–77. 5v.

See GLAH 1:E98 for original annotation and previous vols. Contents: (4) 1931–46; (5) 1947–62.

E116 Buckman, David. Dictionary of artists in Britain since 1945. Bristol (Eng.), Art Dictionaries, 1998. xiv, 1344p. il.

Brief entries "cover painters, sculptors, draughtsmen, teachers, [and] video, film, installation, and performance artists born in the United Kingdom. Foreign artists are included if they have a significant presence. Those who are primarily illustrators or craft workers, such as potters, are usually not included."—Introd.

Includes more than 10,000 entries.

Abbreviations, p.47–48. Select bibliography, p.1329–44.

E117 Graves, Algernon. The Society of artists of Great Britain, 1760–1791: the Free Society of Artists, 1761–1783; a complete dictionary of contributors and their work from the foundation of the societies to 1791. London, Bell, 1907. viii, 354p., plates. (Repr.: Bath, Kingsmead, 1969)

Presents the artists alphabetically. Under each name gives a chronological list of works by that artist shown at exhibitions of the societies. For each work provides title, an occasional annotation, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and, often, address of the artist.

An account of the Society of Artists of Great Britain . . . , p.[293]–328. An account of the Free Society of Artists . . . , p.[329]–41. Index to the portraits exhibited at both societies, as well as the owners of buildings, parks, etc., p.[345]–50. Index of horses, dogs, and other animals, whose names are given in the dictionary of exhibitors, as well as of the owners of such animals, p.[353]–54.

E118 Johnson, Jane. Works exhibited at the Royal Society of British Artists, 1824–1893 and at The New English Art Club, 1888–1917: an Antique Collectors' Club research project. [Woodbridge, Eng.], Antique Collectors' Club, 1975. 2v.

Lists the artists alphabetically in two sequences, the first for the Royal Society of British Artists, the second for the New English Art Club. Under each name gives a chronological list of works by the artist shown at exhibitions of that particular society. For each work provides title, and the first few lines of an associated quotation, if any; catalog number; date of the exhibition; and address of the artist. The introduction is a brief history of the early years of the Society.

Abbreviations used in this work, v.1, p.[x]; v.2, p.[v]. Appendix: list of artists whose works were loaned for exhibition [at the Royal Society of British Artists] and who were either deceased or nonregular exhibitors, v.2, p.534–39. New English Art Club: list of members 1888–1917w, v.2, p.541–44.

E119 ———, and Greutzner, A. The dictionary of British artists, 1880–1940: an Antique Collectors' Club research project listing 41,000 artists. [Suffolk, Eng.], Antique Collectors' Club, 1976. 567p. (Dictionary of British art, v.5)

Brief entries for 41,000 artists, mostly painters, who exhibited between 1880 and 1940 at one or more of 49 venues (including public museums, artists' societies, and commercial galleries) in the British Isles. Entries give basic biographical data, if known, and tell how many works an artist exhibited at each venue, but not the date of exhibition. Constitutes an attempt to continue and broaden the coverage provided by Graves's A dictionary of artists who have exhibited works in the principal London exhibitions from 1760 to 1893 (GLAH 1:E92). The introduction is a survey of the exhibition of progressive art in Britain in the late 19th and early 20th century.

List of galleries and societies with their abbreviations, p.3. General abbreviations, p.5. Selected bibliography, p.6.

E120 McEwan, Peter J. M. Dictionary of Scottish art and architecture. Woodbridge, Suffolk, Eng., Antique Collectors' Club, 1994. 626p. ports.

Covers societies, academies, groups, and more than 10,000 artists and architects from the 15th through 20th centuries. Devotes 1,000 words or more to important figures. Selective mention of exhibitions and abbreviated bibliographical citations at the end of many of the biographical entries. "The intention has been to provide the most relevant details of all painters, engravers and etchers who met a comprehensive range of criteria, and all architects, carvers, designers, draughtsmen, embroiderers, illustrators, jewellery designers, masons, photographers and stained glass window designers who met slightly more rigorous criteria."—Introd.

Lack of indexes and a key to bibliographical abbreviations diminishes the usefulness of an otherwise excellent work.

E121 Royal Academy of Arts (Great Britain). Royal Academy exhibitors, 1905–1970; a dictionary of artists and their work in the summer exhibitions of the Royal Academy of Arts. Wakefield, EP, [1973]–82. 6v.

See GLAH 1:E97 for original annotation.

Adheres to the usual format for dictionaries of this type. Artists are presented alphabetically in a long sequence through all six vols. Under each artist's name is a chronological list of works shown at R.A. summer exhibitions. The title of each work is given, along with its original number in the show's catalog. The address of the artist, as it was reported at the time of each exhibition, is also supplied.

E122 The Royal Scottish Academy exhibitors, 1826–1990: a dictionary of artists and their work in the Annual Exhibitions of the Royal Scottish Academy. Charles Baile de Laperrière, ed. Compiled by Meta Viles and Joanna Soden, assist. by Pamela Scott. Wiltshire, Eng., Hilmarton Manor, 1991. 4v.

The usual arrangement—artists are presented alphabetically in a continuous sequence through all four vols. Under each artist's name is a chronological list of works shown in the Academy's annual exhibitions. The title of each work is given, along with its original number in the show's catalog. The address of the artist, as it was reported at the time of each exhibition, is usually supplied.

[Roster of] members . . . , v.1, p.xxi–xxxiv.

E123 The Society of Women Artists exhibitors 1855–1996: a dictionary of artists and their works in the annual exhibitions of The Society of Women Artists. Charles Baile de Laperrière, ed. Compiled by Joanna Soden. Wiltshire, Eng., Hilmarton Manor, 1996. 4v.

Artists are presented alphabetically in a continuous sequence through all four vols. Under each artist's name is a chronological list of works shown in the Society's annual exhibitions. The title of each work is given, along with its original number in the show's catalog and its price. The address of the artist, as it was reported at the time of each exhibition, is also supplied.

A history of the Society of Women Artists, by Katy Deepwell, v.1, p.xvii–xxxi. Exhibition venues, v.1, p.xxxvii–xxxviii. [Roster of] members, v.1, p.xlvii–lxvi.

E124 Spalding, Frances. 20th century painters and sculptors. Assist. ed., Judith Collins. Woodbridge, Suffolk, Eng., Antique Collectors' Club, 1990. 482p. il. (part col.) (Dictionary of British art, v.6)

Brief entries on more than 4,000 painters, printmakers, and sculptors (including installation artists), but excluding, in general, illustrators, photographers, and performance artists, unless they also worked in one of the foregoing media. "The tighter focus obtained by concentrating primarily on painters and sculptors can be seen to be less conservative than forward-looking. For despite all that new technology offers the artist, painting and sculpture still today have undiminished vitality and are the means by which artists choose to affirm the intransigence of the British imagination."—Pref.

Black-and-white illustrations usually on same page as the entry for the artist whose work they represent. Introduction is brief history of British 20th-century art.

Abbreviations, p.9.

- E125 Stewart, Ann M. Irish art societies and sketching clubs: index of exhibitors, 1870–1980. Dublin, Four Courts Press, 1997. 2v.

Provides information about participants in the exhibitions of 16 societies and clubs. Artists are presented alphabetically in a continuous sequence. Under each artist's name is a chronological list of works shown in the exhibitions of the various societies. The title of each work is given, along with its original number in the show's catalog and its price. The address of the artist, as it was reported at the time of each exhibition, is often supplied.

Note on the societies included in this index, v.1, p.ix–x.

- E126 ———. Royal Hibernian Academy of Arts: index of exhibitors and their works, 1826–1979. With a summary history of the R.H.A. by C. de Courcy. Dublin, Manton, 1985–1987. 3v.

Artists are presented alphabetically in a continuous sequence through all three vols. Under each artist's name is a chronological list of works shown in the Academy's annual exhibitions. The title of each work is given, along with its original number in the show's catalog and its price. The address of the artist, as it was reported at the time of each exhibition, is also supplied.

"Notes on the use of text" [i.e., abbreviations] at front of each vol.

- E127 The Thames and Hudson encyclopaedia of British art. General ed., David Bindman. Ed. for medieval art, Nigel Morgan. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1985. 320p. il.

Brief but substantive and generally well-written entries on artists (including foreigners who worked in England) and other art world figures, groups, institutions, monuments, media, and techniques. Coverage from Anglo-Saxon times to the early 1980s. Particularly good coverage of manuscript illumination. Many small black-and-white illustrations.

Bibliographic citations at ends of most entries. Subject index, p.8–10. List of contributors, p.11–12. Bibliography, p.297–99. World gazetteer of museums and galleries containing British art, by Rosemary Treble, p.300–19.

Italy

- E128 A Concise encyclopaedia of the Italian Renaissance. Ed. by J.R. Hale. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1981. 360p. il.

British ed., London, Thames and Hudson, 1981.

Brief, well-written, signed entries by more than 30 specialist scholars on subjects concerning the history, politics, culture, and notable figures of the Italian Renaissance. Entries of 1,000 words or more for some major topics.

Bibliographic citations at ends of most entries. Subject index, p.[6]–[13]. List of contributors, p.[14]. Tables of succession, p.[352]–57. Glossary of Italian terms, p.358–59. Bibliographical note, p.360.

- E129 Dizionario degli artisti italiani del XX secolo. [Dir., Umberto Allemandi]. Torino, Bolaffi, 1979. 2v. il.

Painters and sculptors covered in v.1 in brief entries that include basic biographical information, collection and exhibition data, and bibliography. Black-and-white thumbnail illustrations scattered throughout the text. V.2 contains 345 full-page plates, mostly in color.

Contents: (1) Voci biografiche e biografico-critiche di 1336 artisti; (2) Appendice iconografica, riproduzioni a colori delle opere di 343 autori.

Indice degli artisti italiani del xx secolo presenti nei Cataloghi Nazionali Bolaffi d'Arte Moderna n.1–14 (1962–1979), v.1, p.[383]–418. Indice delle tavole, v.2, p.[349]–51.

- E130 Dizionario dell'arte italiana. [Coord., Giovanni Anzani.] Milano, Electa, [1981]. 410p. il. (part col.)

Substantive, illustrated biographical entries for painters, sculptors, and architects from the 13th through mid-20th century. Covers Italians and foreign artists who worked in Italy. Major figures get 1,000 words, or more, but no bibliographical information is supplied. Biographical section is followed by "Profilo dell'arte italiana," a series of heavily illustrated essays on periods in the history of Italian art, from late antiquity through the mid-20th century.

- E131 Fergonzi, Flavio. Lessicalità visiva dell'italiano: la critica dell'arte contemporanea, 1945–1960. Pisa, Scuola normale superiore, [1996]. 2v. (Strumenti e testi, 2)

Historical dictionary of words and phrases extracted from key art texts of the 1945–60 period, including writings by artists and critics, and essays from exhibition catalogs, particularly those of the Venice Biennales and Rome Quadriennales. Indexes in v.2 provide access to the terms via the names of writers who used them and dates of usage.

La lingua dell'arte contemporanea, 1945–1960, v.1, p.vii–xxxiv. Nota del curatore, v.1, p.xxxv–xxxvii. Bibliografia schedata, v.1, p.xxxix–xliv. Elenco delle abbreviazioni bibliografiche, v.1, p.xlv–xlvii. Indice ordinato per autore-anno-lemma, v.2, p.1–59. Indice ordinato per anno-lemma-autore, v.2, p.61–161. Indice dei lemmi, v.2, p.163–351.

- E132 The Grove dictionary of Art. Encyclopedia of Italian Renaissance and mannerist art. Ed. by Jane Turner. London, Macmillan Reference; N.Y., Grove's Dictionaries, 2000. 2v. (xxv, 1881p.) il. (part col.)

Focused selection of entries from the Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4).

General abbreviations, v.1, p.xix–xxiv. Appendix A, List of locations, v.2, p.1821–32. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, v.2, p.1833–39. Appendix C, Lists of standard reference books and series, v.2, p.1840–41. Appendix D, Contributor list, v.2, p.1842–43.

- E133 Masciotta, Michelangelo. Dizionario di termini artistici. Firenze, Le Monnier, 1969. 269p.

Definitions of more than 2,000 Italian words and phrases relating to aspects of art and architecture from ancient times through the early 20th century. Many foreign terms covered that have gained acceptance in Italy through long usage.

Some 17th-century and 18th-century terminology and definitions from the dictionaries of Baldinucci (GLAH 1:H53) and Milizia, respectively, are also included. Brief etymologies supplied at the beginning of most entries. French, English, and German equivalents given. An appendix contains alphabetically arranged French, English, and German terms, with Italian equivalents.

Repertorio: Francese-Italiano, p.[217]–33; Inglese-Italiano, p.[235]–51; Tedesco-Italiano, p.[253]–69.

Latin America

E134 Cavalcanti, Carlos. Dicionário brasileiro de artistas plásticos. Brasília, Instituto Nacional do Livro, 1973–1980. 4v. il. (Coleção Dicionários especializados, 5)

Covers Brazilian artists and foreign artists who worked in Brazil, including painters, printmakers, illustrators, sculptors, decorative and applied artists, and architects. Entries supply basic biographical information, with selective data on schooling, teaching, prizes won, exhibitions in which the artist participated, and collections that own his or her work. Entries average about 100 words, but more than 1,000 words are devoted to some major figures. The hundreds of black-and-white illustrations, though variable in quality, constitute a valuable corpus.

E135 Crespi, Irene, and Ferrario, Jorge. Lexico tecnico de las artes plásticas. 6a. ed. Buenos Aires, Editorial Universitaria, 1995. [8], 139, [2], 113p. il. (Manuales: artes plásticas)

1st ed. 1971., 2d ed. 1977., 3d ed. 1982., 4th ed. 1985., 5th ed. 1990.

Brief but substantive entries cover technical terms, philosophical concepts concerning the visual arts, media, and art historical periods. Treatment of chemical and physical terminology is a particular strength. Focuses primarily on European art and relies heavily on the writings of pillars of early 20th-century art history, such as Wölfflin, Worringer, and Arnheim. No index, but cross-references liberally provided. Helpful use of illustrations, many full-page, to explain difficult concepts.

Autores consultados, p.[7].

E136 Estrada, Leonel. Arte actual: diccionario de términos y tendencias. Colab. de María Isabel de Molina, María Luisa E. de Vélez. Medellín, Colombia, Colombia, [1985]. 247p. il. (part col.)

Brief entries on 20th-century groups, movements, and technical terms. Focuses on Europe and the U.S., but there is occasional mention of Latin American developments. Illustrated mainly with art that has appeared in past Bienales de Arte de Medellín.

Cronologia de los movimientos artísticos del siglo xx, p.243–45. Bibliografía, p.246–47.

E137 The Grove dictionary of art. Encyclopedia of Latin American and Caribbean art. Ed., Jane Turner. N.Y., Grove's Dictionaries, 1999. 782p. il. (part col.), plates.

Focused selection of entries from the Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4).

General abbreviations, p.xv–xx. Appendix A, List of locations, p.739–47. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, p.748–50. Appendix C, List of contributors, p.751. Index, p.752–82.

E138 Tovar de Teresa, Guillermo. Repertorio de artistas en México: artes plásticas y decorativas. Con la colab. de Gabriel Breña Valle . . . [et al.] Prólogo, Octavio Paz. Diseño, Franco Maria Ricci. [México], Grupo Financiero Bancomer, 1995–1997. 3v. il. (part col.)

Covers artists from the 16th through 20th centuries, including architects and photographers. Entries average more than 400 words; most have endnotes and bibliography. Superb color illustrations, many full-page, take advantage of set's large format. Two to three illustrations per artist.

Low Countries

E139 Dictionnaire biographique illustré des artistes en Belgique depuis 1830. [Réd., Arthur Tommelein et Iris D. Tommelein.] Bruxelles, Arto, 1995. iv, 492p. il. (part col.)

Brief entries on painters, sculptors, and draughtsmen. References from entries to corresponding illustrations. No bibliographies.

Abréviations, p.iv.

E140 Dutch art: an encyclopedia. Ed. by Sheila D. Muller. Advisory board, Walter S. Gibson . . . [et al.] N.Y., Garland, 1997. xxx, 489p. il. (part col.), plates, maps. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.1021)

Wide-ranging work that presents substantive signed entries by more than 100 scholarly contributors on artists, architects, critics, theorists, media, groups, movements, cities, as well as topics in cultural and intellectual history that relate to the visual arts. Chronological coverage from the middle of the 15th century to the late 20th. Many full-page illustrations.

Bibliographies and cross-references at ends of most entries. A reader's guide and bibliographical note, p.xvii–xxii. Contributors, p.xxiii–xxx. Index, p.463–89.

E141 The Grove dictionary of art. From Rembrandt to Vermeer: 17th-century Dutch artists. Ed. by Jane Turner. N.Y., St. Martin's Pr., 2000. xii, 421p. il. (part col.) British ed., London, Macmillan Reference, 2000.

Focused selection of entries from the Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4).

List of contributors, p.ix. General abbreviations, p.x–xi. Appendix A, List of locations, p.[412]–18. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, p.[419]–21. Appendix C, Lists of standard reference books and series, p.[422].

E142 Piron, Paul-L. De belgische beeldende kunstenaars uit de 19de en 20ste eeuw. Brussels, Art in Belgium, [1999]. 2v. col. il.

Brief entries on painters, sculptors, and draftsmen. Late 20th-century figures receive fullest treatment. Many full-page illustrations. No individual artist bibliographies.

Beknopte toelichting bij gebruikte afkortingen in dit werk, p.1611. Referentie-en naslagwerken, p.1611-13.

Russia and Eastern Europe

E143 Chrzanowska-Pienkos, Jolanta, and Pienkos, Andrzej. Leksykon sztuki polskiej XX wieku: sztuki plastyczne. Poznań, KURPISZ, 1996. 280p., col. il. Brief entries on 20th-century Polish artists and other art world figures, groups, academies, museums, and journals. Covers painters, printmakers, illustrators, sculptors, and artists working in newer media, such as video and installation. Nicely designed. Small but decent color illustrations show at least one work for the majority of the artists covered, usually on the same page as the artist's entry. Indeks pojęć i nazw, p.[269]-72. Indeks nazwisk, p.[273]-80.

E144 Milner, John. A dictionary of Russian and Soviet artists, 1420-1970. Woodbridge, Suffolk, Eng., Antique Collectors' Club, 1993. 483p. il. (part col.) Entries for approximately 2,000 painters, graphic artists, sculptors, decorative artists, and designers of various kinds. No architects unless they also worked in one or more of the foregoing media. Entries of more than 2,000 words for important figures. Introduction is an essay by the author surveying the history of Russian art. Many full-page illustrations.

Selective lists of significant works, bibliographical citations, and locations of major collections at ends of most entries. Conventions [including abbreviations and forms of Russian names], p.30-32. Appendix: the Russian alphabet transliterations, p.481. Bibliography, p.482-83.

E145 Prut, Constantin. Dictionar de arta moderna. Bucaresti, Albatross, 1982. 486, [1]p. il. (part col.) Entries averaging about 200 words provide a general treatment of modern art in Europe and the Americas, with coverage of the usual major artists, architects, groups, and movements. However, a large proportion of the artists and architects covered in the biographical entries are Romanian, which makes this work potentially valuable to specialists. Bibliographical citations at ends of entries. Bibliografie generala, p.484-[87].

E146 Sokol, Stanley S. The artists of Poland: a biographical dictionary from the 14th century to the present. Jefferson, N.C., McFarland, 2000. 263p. ports. Brief entries on almost 1,300 painters, printmakers, sculptors, architects, and other artists, of Polish birth or descent. Bibliographical citations at ends of entries, including many to Polish sources. Abbreviations, p.5-6. Index, p.253-63.

Scandinavia

E147 Norsk kunstnerleksikon: bildende kunstnere, arkitekt, kunsthåndverkere. Red. av Nasjonalgalleriet. Redaksjonskomite, Leif Ostby . . . [et al.] Red. darbeid., Glenny Alfsen, Bodil Sorensen. Oslo, Universitetsforlaget, 1982-1986. 4v. il. (part col.)

Covers Norwegian painters, sculptors, graphic artists, architects, decorative artists, and craftworkers from about the 17th century. Brief, well-organized, signed entries provide basic biographical information including schooling, prizes and grants won, teaching experience, works in collections, and thorough bibliography. Entries on important figures can amount to several thousand words.

Medarbeidere, v.1, p.[6]. Forkortelser, v.1, p.[10]-12. Rettelser, v.4, p.597-603.

E148 Weilbach: dansk kunstnerleksikon. Hovedred., Sys Hartmann. København, Munksgaard, 1994-2000. 9v. See GLAH 1:E148 for previous eds.

Entries for Danish painters, sculptors, graphic artists, architects, decorative artists, and artists working in contemporary genres. Covers schooling, prizes and grants won, travels, teaching experience, works in collections, bibliography. Most entries brief, but important figures get 1,000 words or more. V.9 includes supplement of additional artist entries and geographical index of architects.

"Forfattere," "Vejledning," and "Forkortelser" at front of each vol.

Spain and Portugal

E149 Arroyo Fernández, María Dolores. Diccionario de términos artísticos. Madrid, Alderabán, 1997. 293p. il. (DIDO diccionarios)

Brief definitions of technical terms, media, movements, motifs, and styles in Western and Asian art and architecture from antiquity through the late 20th century. Illustrated with occasional line drawings. No artist biographies.

Bibliografía, p.291-93.

E150 Bonet, Juan Manuel. Diccionario de las vanguardias en España, 1907-1936. Madrid, Alianza, 1995. 654p. il.

Entries for poets, musicians, cinematographers, critics, etc., as well as painters, sculptors, architects, and other visual artists. Also includes groups, institutions, and cities and other regions significant to the early 20th-century Spanish avant-garde. Coverage of literary reviews, as well as popular periodicals and scholarly journals in the arts, a special strength. Most entries brief, though substantive, but significant figures or important topics can get extended treatment of 1,000 words or more. Many entries end with a bibliographical citation or two.

Por dónde seguir trabajando, p.645-50. Publicaciones periódicas, p.651-54.

E151 Diccionario de pintores y escultores españoles del siglo XX. [Dir. ed., Mario Antolín Paz.] Madrid, Forum Artis, 1994-2000. 15v. col. il.

Signed entries averaging about 200 words supply basic biographical data and summarize the artist's schooling, exhibitions, prizes, prominent collections holding his or her work, and sometimes end with a bibliographic citation or two. Covers foreign artists who worked in Spain, as well as natives. Hundreds of small color illustrations.

Prólogo, by Mario Antolín Paz, et al., v.1, p.ix-xxvi, is a brief survey of Spanish 20th-century art.

Relación de autores, v.1, p.v-vii.

- E152 Enciclopedia del arte español del siglo XX. Dir. por Francisco Calvo Serraller. Madrid, Mondadori, 1991-1992. 2v.

Thorough, authoritative work that presents in v.1 lengthy, detailed biographical entries on painters, sculptors, graphic artists, and artistas experimentales, including chronological lists of artists' exhibition activity, their works owned by public and private collections, and their writings. V.2 contains biographical entries for prominent Spanish art historians, critics, and collectors, as well as entries for art journals, museums, artists' groups, salons, and commercial galleries. Entries on commercial galleries provide chronological exhibition histories. Individual bibliographies provided for most figures treated in v.2. In sum, a treasure trove of information not easily found elsewhere.

Contents: (1) Artistas; (2) El contexto.

Individual artist bibliographies at ends of most entries. Exposiciones programáticas (índice cronológico), v.2, p.[441]-45. Galerías, v.2, p.[446]-48. Grupos artísticos, v.2, p.[449]-50. Instituciones, v.2, p.[451]-53. Premios, v.2, p.[454]-55. Profesionales, v.2, p.[456]-59. Revistas, v.2, p.[460]-62. Índice, v.2, p.[463].

- E153 Enciclopedia vivent de la pintura i l'escultura catalanes. Dir., Rafael Santos Torroella. Barcelona, Am-bit Serveis, 1985-. (14)v. il. (part col.), ports.

Biographical entries for 20th-century Catalan artists include portrait of the artist, exhibition history (sometimes selective), awards received, museums that have the artist's work (though titles not specified), but the focus of the work is illustrations—as many as 10p. of illustrations on each artist, some in color. Parallel Catalan/Spanish texts. V.11, 12 not yet published. "Annex" vols., which start with v.13, begin new alphabetical sequence covering additional artists.

- E154 Pamplona, Fernando de. Dicionário de pintores e es-cultores portugueses ou que trabalharam em Portugal. 3a. ed. [Porto, Portugal], Livraria Civilização Editora, 1991-. (2)v. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:E158 for 1st ed. 2d ed., 1987-88, 5v.

Covers Portuguese painters, sculptors, graphic artists, and architects (and foreign artists who worked in Portugal) from the 15th through 20th centuries. Brief biographical entries supply exhibition histories, an accounting of works in collections, and bibliography. Signatures of some artists illustrated. Artists judged important have entries more than 500 words in length. Many full-page illustrations.

Illustration index ("Índice das gravuras") at end of each vol.

- E155 Spanish artists from the fourth to the twentieth century: a critical dictionary. Frick Art Reference Library. N.Y., Hall, 1993-96. 4v.

More a bibliography than a biographical dictionary, with data from the Frick's Authority File of Artists. For each of about 7,000 artists, entries supply birth and death dates, variant names, art occupation (if not painter), sometimes a line or two of crucial identifying data, and a set of abbreviated bibliographical citations. Full citations are provided in bibliographies in vols. 1, 2, and 4. "Spanish Artists includes sculptors in addition to painters and draftsmen, as well as some architects, printmakers, and applied artists."—Introd.

General bibliography, v.4, p.[1]-142. Chronological index, v.4, p.[143]-89. Comprehensive index [of names], v.4, p.[191]-453.

- E156 Tannock, Michael. Portuguese 20th century artists: a biographical dictionary. Chichester, Eng., Phillimore, 1978. xv, 188 p. 381 il. (part col.)

Brief entries supply basic information—a line or two of biography and chronology, lists of exhibitions, collections, and prizes. Covers 2150 painters, sculptors, watercolorists, graphic artists, and ceramicists. Significant corpus of illustrations. "The information contained in this Dictionary has been written in a style limited to factual data and avoiding any form of artistic comment. My intention was hopefully to escape the pitfall that besets many reference books on contemporary art which express views and opinions that may diverge from what is later proved by the course of history."—Introd.

Historical summary of Portuguese art from 1900 to 1974, by José-Augusto França, p.xvi-xxv. Awards, p.187. Museums, p.188.

Switzerland

- E157 Biografisches Lexikon der schweizer Kunst: unter Einschluss des Fürstentums Liechtenstein = Dictionnaire biographique de l'art suisse: principauté du Liechtenstein incluse = Dizionario biografico dell'arte svizzera: principato del Liechtenstein incluso. Hrsg., Schweizerisches Institut für Kunstwissenschaft, Zürich und Lausanne. [Zürich], Neue Zürcher Zeitung, 1998. 2v. (xviii, 1195p.), il. (part col.) + 1 computer disk (4 3/4").

Covers painters, sculptors, and graphic artists from the 15th to the late 20th century. Also includes contemporary artists working in such media as performance, installation, and video. Substantive entries average about a thousand words in length; most include a list of collections that own the artist's work, and a bibliography. Many thumbnail illustrations, some in color. Some 12,000 artists are covered in the Institut's SIKART database, but only about 10% are included with full entries in the present vols. The database is more fully represented on the accompanying CD-ROM, which contains information, including bibliographies, on many artists omitted from the printed vols. Supersedes Lexikon der zeitgenössischen schweizer Künstler (see following entry).

Hinweise zur Benutzung, v.1, p.xv-xvi. Autorinnen, Autoren, v.1, p.xvii-xviii. Abgekürzt zitierte Lexika, v.1, p.xviii. Register der Namensvarianten, v.2, p.1174-91. Fontnachweis, v.2, p.1192-95.

- E158 Lexikon der zeitgenössischen schweizer Künstler = Dictionnaire des artistes suisses contemporains. Schweizerisches Institut für Kunstwissenschaft. [Leit., Hans-Jörg Heusser.] Frauenfeld [etc.], Huber, 1981. xxiv, 539p.

Biographical entries for 2,182 living painters, sculptors, graphic and decorative artists, photographers, and artists working in newer media, such as video, conceptual art, and environmental art. (No architects unless also active in one or more of the foregoing media.) Entries are also supplied for a few artists' groups. Artist entries, in German, French, or Italian according to the artist's preference, give basic biographical data and include selective information on locations of the artist's work, exhibitions, and some bibliography. Superseded by the Biographisches Lexikon der schweizer Kunst (see preceding entry).

Verzeichnis der Verstorbenen, p.415-437. Verzeichnis der Künstler nach Wohnorten, p.438-59. Verzeichnis der Künstler nach Bürgerorten, p.460-83. Verzeichnis der Künstler nach Tätigkeiten, p.484-532.

United States

- E159 The Annual and biennial exhibition record of the Whitney Museum of American Art, 1918-1989. Peter Hastings Falk, ed. Andrea Ansell Bien, asst. ed. Madison, Conn., Sound View, 1991. 468p. il. (The Exhibition record series)

Presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the Whitney annuals and biennials. For each work, title, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and address of the artist are provided.

The annual and biennial exhibitions at the Whitney Museum of American Art, 1932 to 1989: a history and evaluation of their impact upon American art, by Bruce Lineker, p.9-57. List of catalogues, p.58-61. Index by owner, p.431-42. Index by places and last names, p.445-68.

- E160 The Annual exhibition record of the National Academy of Design, 1901-1950: incorporating the annual exhibitions, 1901-1950 and the winter exhibitions, 1906-1932. Peter Hastings Falk, ed. Andrea Ansell Bien, asst. ed. Madison, Conn., Sound View, 1990. 622p. il.

Continues coverage begun by Bartlett Cowdrey (GLAH 1:I484) and Maria Naylor (GLAH 1:I483).

Presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the annual and winter exhibitions of the Academy. For each work, title, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and address of the artist are provided.

Index of jurors, p.18-44. Index by owner, p.563-78. Index by places and last names, p.579-619.

- E161 The Annual exhibition record of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts. Ed. by Peter Hastings Falk. Madison, Conn., Sound View, 1988-1989. 3v. il.

V.1 is a republication with minor revisions of the 1955 index compiled by Anna Wells Rutledge (GLAH 1:I488).

Each vol. presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the annual exhibitions of the Academy. For each work, title, an occasional annotation, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and address of the artist are provided. Each vol. is equipped with an index of owners' names, and of subjects or places, and each contains an essay by Cheryl Leibold, Academy archivist, on a different aspect of the history of the exhibitions. V.1 has list of catalogs; 2 and 3 contain indexes of jurors' names.

Contents: (1) 1807-1870; (2) 1876-1913; (3) 1914-1968.

- E162 The Biennial exhibition record of the Corcoran Gallery of Art, 1907-1967. Peter H. Falk, ed. Andrea Ansell Bien, asst. ed. Madison, Conn., Sound View, 1991. 335p. il. (The Exhibition record series)

Presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the Gallery's biennial exhibitions. For each work, title, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and address of the artist are provided.

The biennial exhibitions of contemporary American paintings at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, 1907-1967, by Linda Crocker Simmons, p.7-28. List of catalogues, p.38-39. Index of jurors, p.[45]-52. Index by owner, p.297-310. Index by places and last names, p.313-35.

- E163 The Boston Art Club: exhibition record, 1873-1909. Comp. and ed. by Janice H. Chadbourne, Karl Gabosh, and Charles O. Vogel. Madison, Conn., Sound View, 1991. 479p. il. (The Exhibition record series)

Presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the Club's exhibitions. For each work, title, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and address of the artist are provided.

History of the Boston Art Club, 1854-1950, by Charles O. Vogel, p.11-17. List of exhibition catalogues, p.41-[49]. Owner index, p.419-41. Appendix I, Boston Art Club members . . . , p.443-52. Appendix X, Boston Art Club permanent collection as of February 1915, p.475-76. Appendix XI, Bibliography, p.477-79.

- E164 Cummings, Paul. Dictionary of contemporary American artists. 6th ed. N.Y., St. Martin's Pr., 1994. x, 786p. il.

See GLAH 1:E172 for 3d ed.; 4th ed. 1982; 5th ed. 1988.

Entries provide a tightly woven fabric of basic information, including schooling, teaching, awards, exhibitions, collections, and bibliographical citations. "Questionnaires, personal interviews, and intensive research have brought together significant data regarding the careers of these 900 artists, chosen essentially on the basis of the following criteria: representation in museum, public, and private collections; representation in major American and international exhibitions; influence as teachers; recognition received from fellow artists, dealers, critics, and others with a professional interest in the fine arts."—How to use this book. Not a cumulative work, since some artists have been deleted from recent eds., beginning with the 4th, 1982. A new feature in the current ed. is the intercalation of the names of deleted artists, along with the edition(s) in which their entry appeared. Annotated bibliography.

Index of artists and pronunciation guide, p.[9]–16. Key to museums and institutions . . . , p.[17]–46. Galleries representing the artists in this book, p.[47]–53. Bibliography, p.[731]–86.

E165 Dawdy, Doris Ostrander. Artists of the American West: a biographical dictionary. Chicago, Sage, [1974]–1985. 3v.

Brief entries on more than 4,000 painters, illustrators, and printmakers born before 1900 who worked in "the seventeen states lying roughly west of the 95th meridian."—Pref. Most entries supply basic biographical data, a few bibliographical citations, and a paragraph or two of background information.

Index to volumes I–III, v.3, p.513–68. "Bibliography" at end of each vol.

E166 Falk, Peter H. The annual exhibition record of the Art Institute of Chicago, 1888–1950. Andrea Ansell Bien, asst. ed. Madison, Conn., Sound View, 1990. 1117p. il. (The Exhibition record series)

Presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the annual exhibitions of the Art Institute. For each work, title, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and address of the artist are provided.

A brief history of the annual exhibition of American paintings and sculpture, 1888–1950, by John W. Smith, p.7–16. Index of jurors, p.22–44. Index by owner, p.990–1015. Index by places and last names, p.1016–1115.

E167 Fielding, Mantle. Mantle Fielding's dictionary of American painters, sculptors and engravers. Ed. by Glenn B. Opitz. 2d newly-rev., enl., and updated ed. Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Apollo, 1986. xv, 1081p.

1st ed. by Opitz, 1983. See GLAH 1:E173 for earlier versions.

"Close to 2500 additional artists' biographies are included in this new 1986 edition . . . [which] now totals over 12,000 names, with biographical information drawn from an extensive library of source material, including both readily available and many out-of-print references, as well as resumes submitted from artists in response to our solicitation for information. Biographical information and corrections submitted by readers have also been incorporated."—Pref. Entries average about 60 words and include information on subjects' awards, group and solo shows, museums holding their works (the latter sometimes listed by title), association memberships, teaching experience. Concentrates on less well-known figures; does not expend extra space on leading artists about whom information is readily available from many other published sources.

Abbreviations, p.ix–xv. Bibliography, p.1074–81.

E168 The Grove dictionary of art. Encyclopedia of American art before 1914. Ed. by Jane Turner. N.Y., Grove's Dictionaries, 2000. xxiii, 688p. il. (part col.)

Focused selection of entries from the Dictionary of art (GLAH 2:E4).

General abbreviations, p.xvii–xxii. Appendix A, List of locations, p.660–66. Appendix B, List of periodical titles, p.667–69. Appendix C, Lists of standard reference books and series, p.670. Appendix D, Early America contributor list, p.671. Index, p.673–88.

E169 Kavinick, Phil, and Yoshiki-Kavinick, Marian. An encyclopedia of women artists of the American West. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1998. xxxv, 405p. il. (American studies series)

Entries averaging 300–500 words treat several hundred selected women painters, graphic artists, and sculptors working from the 1840s through the mid-1990s in the "geographical region encompassing the 17 most western contiguous states."—Pref.

Bibliographical references at ends of entries; small, clear black-and-white illustrations. Western women artists: an overview, p.[xvii]–xx. Index of names, p.[xxi]–xxxii. List of abbreviations, p.[xxxiii]–xxv. Artists II [brief biographies of additional artists], p.[341]–92. Selected bibliography, p.[393]–405.

E170 Marlors, Clark S. A history of the Brooklyn Art Association with an index of exhibitions. N.Y., Carr, 1970. vii, 421p. il., ports.

Presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the Association's exhibitions. For each work, title, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and, often, address of the artist are provided.

Introductory chapters provide a history of the Association. Appendix B, Catalogues of exhibitions, p.395–402.

E171 ———. The Society of Independent Artists: the exhibition record 1917–1944. Park Ridge, N.J., Noyes, 1984. xiii, 600p.

Presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the Society's exhibitions. For each work, title, catalog number, date of the exhibition, and address of the artist are provided.

Introductory chapters present a decade-by-decade history of the Society.

Catalogs of exhibitions, p.593–96. Index of text, p.597–600.

E172 Perkins, Robert F., and Gavin, William J., III. The Boston Athenaeum art exhibition index, 1827–1874. Mary Margaret Shaughnessy, asst. ed. Boston, Mass., The Library of the Boston Athenaeum (Distr. by MIT Pr., 1980). xv, 325p. il, plates.

Presents the artists' names in an alphabetical sequence. Under each name is given a chronological list of works by that artist shown at the Athenaeum's exhibitions. For each work, title, catalog number, date of the exhibition, address of the artist if known, and name of the owner if available, are provided.

List of exhibition catalogues, p.3–5. Owner index, p.177–230. Subject index, p.233–75.

- E173 Samuels, Peggy, and Samuels, Harold. The illustrated biographical encyclopedia of artists of the American West. Garden City, N.Y., Doubleday, 1976. xxvi, 549p. il. (Repr.: Secaucus, N.J., Castle, 1985)

Covers 1,700 U.S. and Canadian artists who portrayed Western themes, from the explorer artists of the early 19th century, such as George Catlin and Karl Bodmer, to Georgia O'Keeffe in the late 20th. Includes painters, sculptors, printmakers, and illustrators. Entries supply basic biographical data, list sources of information about the artist, and mention representative auction prices, if available. A paragraph or two attempts to place the artist's career in context. Small black-and-white illustrations.

Abbreviations, p.xi-xiv. Sources and source abbreviations, p.xv-xxvi. References and reference abbreviations, p.xxvi.

- E174 Who was who in American art, 1564-1975: 400 years of artists in America. Peter Hastings Falk, ed.-in-chief. Audrey Lewis, head of research. Madison, Conn., Sound View, 1999. 3v. (3724 p.) il. 1st ed. 1985.

Vastly enlarged version of a standard reference source. Covers more than 50,000 painters, printmakers, sculptors, photographers, decorative and applied artists, and critics and historians who worked in the U.S. Entries contain basic biographical information, including schooling, teaching, selective exhibition history, collections that own the artist's work, a few paragraphs of commentary on important figures, and bibliographical citations.

General abbreviations, v.1, p.16-19. Art institutions: museums, exhibitions, schools, clubs, associations and societies, v.1, p.21-33. European teachers of American artists, v.1, p.35-38. A note on the international exhibitions, v.1, p.39. Sources: key to citations of bibliographical sources, v.3, p.3693-3724.

- E175 Yarnall, James L. The National Museum of American Art's index to American art exhibition catalogues: from the beginning through the 1876 centennial year. Comp. by James L. Yarnall and William H. Gerdts with the assist. of Katharine Fox Stewart and Catherine Hoover Voorsanger. Boston, Hall, 1986. 6v. (xxxvii, 4944 p.)

A highly important reference work that supplies a detailed survey of art exhibited in the U.S. and Canada from the late 18th to the mid-19th century.

Indexes more than 118,000 individual entries from 952 U.S. exhibition catalogs published from 1773 through 1876. Individual works of art arranged alphabetically by artist in a sequence that extends through all six vols. For each work, title, medium, price (if for sale), owner, catalog number in original publication, and any original annotation are given.

American art exhibitions and their catalogues: from the beginning through 1876, by William H. Gerdts, v.1, p.xvii-xxxvii. Exhibition title index, by location, v.1, p.1-46. Owner index, v.6, p.4631-4808. Subject index, v.6, p.4809-4944.

ASIAN COUNTRIES

General Works

- E176 Auboyer, Jeannine, et al. Oriental art: a handbook of styles and forms. Trans. by Elizabeth Bartlett and Richard Bartlett. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1980. 608p. il.

Trans. of Grammaire des formes et des styles. Fribourg, Office du Livre, 1978.

Attempts to acquaint the reader with the styles, mythologies, religions, and civilizations of Asiatic civilizations including South, South-east, and East Asia. Each civilization (country) is introduced with a brief account of its art and history, followed by classification of the country's art into categories, e.g., temples, sculpture, ceramics. The categories are illustrated to provide visual reference and allow comparisons.

- E177 Munsterberg, Hugo. Dictionary of Chinese and Japanese art. N.Y., Hacker, 1981. vii, 354p.

Provides definitions for more than 2,400 terms including artists' names, techniques, places, religious and mythological terms, art objects, and styles. Standard English-language dictionary for the topic with succinct, pragmatic definitions.

Bibliography, p.353-54.

China

- E178 Chung-kuo mei shu tz'u tien. (Hsiung shih mei shu tz'u tien ta hsi). [2d ed.] T'ai-pei, Hsiung shih t'u shu ku fen yu hsien kung ssu, 1989. 797p. il (part col.) 1st ed. 1987.

In Chinese. A useful dictionary of Chinese art organized by medium: painting (p.64-303), calligraphy (p.304-83), seals (p.384-407), prints (p.408-439), architecture (p.440-79), minor decorative arts such as lacquer and embroidery (p.480-509), ceramics (p.510-71), bronzes (p.572-615), sculpture (p.616-737). Each section includes terminology, schools, and individuals.

Name index, p.738-49. Term index, p.750-74. [Each organized by stroke count.] Index to the illustrations, p.775-87. Pictorial table of Chinese art, p.788-89. Information on art institutions on the Chinese mainland, p.790-97.

- E179 Liu, Charles, ed. Artists of Taiwan. [T'ai-pei], Artists Magazine, [1994]. 305p. col. il.

Biographical dictionary of contemporary Taiwanese artists. Entries include name, address, telephone and fax numbers, specialization, media, year and place of birth, sex, education, awards, exhibitions, and collections. Includes many color reproductions of the artists' work.

Contents: Perspectives in the emergence and development of indigenous art in Taiwan, by Hsing-Yueh Lin; The brief analysis of Taiwanese art history, by Lifa Shaih; The new phase of contemporary art in Taiwan, by Victoria Lu.

Abbreviations, p.14. Chinese index, p.301-05.

- E180 The Ming Biographical History Project of the Association for Asian Studies. Dictionary of Ming biog- raphy, 1368–1644. Ed. by L. Carrington Goodrich and Chaoying Fang. N.Y., Columbia Univ. Pr., 1976. 2v., plates.

A massive project begun in 1958 with contributions from numerous scholars. A model reference work. The signed entries are often several pages long and include bibliographical references as well as biographical details for all major figures of the Ming period.

Contents: (1) A–L; (2) M–Z.

E181 Seymour, Nancy N. An index-dictionary of Chinese artists, collectors, and connoisseurs: with character identification by modified stroke count. Metuchen, Scarecrow, 1988. xvi, 987p.

Includes more than 5,000 Chinese names and biographies from the T'ang Dynasty through the modern period. Entries include full characters, biographical information, alternative names, and types of work. Also includes a chapter on identifying Chinese characters for the non-Chinese scholar, an index of modified stroke count, a list of alternate names, a tool for translating between pinyin and Wade-Giles romanization, and a select bibliography.

Chronology of Chinese Dynasties, p.898–910. Pinyin and Wade-Giles romanization, p.911–27. Selected bibliography, p.923–29. Character index of Chinese names, p.930–87.

E182 Yü, Chien-hua. Chung-kuo mei shu chia jen ming tz'u tien. Shang-hai, Shang-hai jen mei shu ch'u pan she: Hsin hua shu tien Shang-hai fa hsing so fa hsing, 1981. 2124 p. (Repr.: 1991)

In Chinese. The most comprehensive dictionary of Chinese artists' biographies. This indispensable work is organized by surname and stroke count. Each entry includes basic biographical information such as dynasty, alternate names, place of origin, and specialties, as well as bibliographic references.

The numbering is not consecutive throughout the volume. In addition to the main dictionary, the work includes an index of artists' surnames, an index of all artists' names, an alternate names index, and an appendix of 20th-century Chinese artists organized by stroke count.

Japan

E183 A dictionary of Japanese art terms = Wa-Ei taisho: Nihon bijutsu yogo jiten: bilingual [Japanese and English]. Tokyo, Tokyo Bijutsu, 1990. vi, 793p. il.

In Japanese and English. A standard dictionary of 4,300 Japanese art terms, organized alphabetically by romanized Japanese term followed by the English translation of the term, a short explanation in English and a translation of the explanation into Japanese characters. Includes painting, calligraphy, sculpture, applied arts, architecture, and gardens. Additional features include line drawings of architecture, sculpture, swords, and costume with specific terms for various elements indicated. (p.673–89).

Chronological table of Japanese art, p.690–93. Index of terms in Chinese characters arranged by the number of strokes, p.694–724. Index of romanized Japanese terms, p.725–56. Index of English terms p.757–93.

E184 Fujimori, Koei. Nihon bijutsuka jiten. Tokyo, Oandoemu Rimiteddo, 1994. 1116p. il. (part col.)

Substantial biographical dictionary of Japanese artists, illustrated with many portraits.

Indexes (artists, galleries and collections, associations and suppliers), p.1005–16.

E185 Ishida, Hisatoyo, et al. Nihon bijutsushi jiten. Tokyo, Heibonsha, 1987. 1108 p. il. (part col.), plates.

In Japanese. Dictionary of Japanese art with entries for artists, terminology, schools, etc. organized in alphabetical order. Additional material includes essays on Japanese art.

List of national treasures, p.1046–55. List of Japanese art museums organized by prefecture, p.1056–62. List of contributors, p.1063–64. Index to terms that appear in the entries, p.1065–1108.

E186 Schneider, Philip. The Japanese signature handbook: an invaluable guide in the identification of the artists who were important creators of netsuke, inro, ojime, oki-mono, lacquer, sword blades, tsuba, sword furniture, armor, pottery, ceramics, ukiyo-e prints, paintings. Hollywood, Schneider, [1978]. 146p. il.

Intended for the non-Japanese collector of Japanese art. A small format book with signatures arranged in tables to aid identification. Neither comprehensive nor a substitute for a biographical tool but useful for the intended purpose.

E187 Tazawa, Yutaka, ed. Biographical dictionary of Japanese art. N.Y., Kodansha, 1981. 825p. il., plates, maps.

Published in collaboration with the International Society for Educational Information with contributions from 48 scholars.

The 863 artists' biographical entries are arranged by medium, i.e., painting, prints, calligraphy, photography, graphic design, sculpture, tea ceremony, architecture, gardens, ceramics, swords, metalwork, and textiles. Each topical area has an introductory essay and each biographical entry includes the surname (or school name), personal name, dates, and basic biographical sketch, description of style and major works and accomplishments, and the location of one or two representative works.

Glossary, p.712–17. Bibliography, p.720–84. Index, p.785–824.

AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS

Africa

E188 Berman, Esmé. Art and artists of South Africa: an illustrated biographical dictionary and historical survey of painters, sculptors and graphic artists since 1875. New upd. and enl. ed., 3d ed. [Reprint.] Halfway House [South Africa], Southern Book Publishers, 1993. xviii, 545p. il. (part col.), plates.

Repr. of the rev. and enl. 1983 ed., Cape Town, Balkema, 1983. 1st ed. 1970. "There are well over 400 biographical entries in this edition, 210 of them in depth. Existing references to living artists have been brought up to date and, where relevant, extra visual material has been introduced . . ."—Foreword.

Contents: Historical table; Historical survey; Appendix A: Artists who have participated in major exhibitions; Appendix B: Painters, sculptors and graphic artists who have exhibited professionally since 1900.

Bibliography and reference, p.527–30. Index, p.531–45.

- E189 Biebuyck, Daniel P.; Kelliher, Susan; and McRae, Linda. African ethnonyms: index to art-producing peoples of Africa. N.Y., Hall, [1996]. xxviii, 378p.

An invaluable resource which makes African "name identification easier by clustering all the variant names under a single entry-form name. . . . [The] cluster includes the name of the country or countries where people are located, the language affiliation, the preferred name used in the Library of Congress Subject Headings [on-line database, June 1996] and the Art and Architecture Thesaurus [version 2.1, 1996], and a coded list of sources to consult for additional information."—Intro.

Contents: African ethnonyms.

Language notes, p.283–88. Toponyms index, p.289–95. Country index, p.297–313. List of abbreviations, p.315–33. Bibliography, p.335–78.

- E190 Kelly, Bernice M. Nigerian artists: a who's who and bibliography. Comp. by Bernice M. Kelly. Ed. by Janet L. Stanley. Published for the National Museum of African Art Branch, Smithsonian Institution Libraries, Washington, D.C., London, Hans Zell, 1993. vii, 600p. 16 col. il.

This bibliography "is a milestone for modern Nigerian art, an historical marker which represents a coherent summation of where Nigerian artists are thirty years after independence. It is an impressive record indeed of more than 350 professional artists" active from 1920 to 1990.—Pref.

Contents: Chronology of Nigerian art, 1920–1992; Who's who of artists.

Modern Nigerian art, 1920–1991: an annotated bibliography, p.502–81. Subject index to the bibliography, p.582–90. Index of artists by name, p.591–94. Index of artists by media, p.595–600.

- E191 Ogilvie, Grania. The dictionary of South African painters and sculptors, including Namibia. Assisted by Carol Graff. [Rosebank, Johannesburg, South Africa], Everard Read, [1988]. xvii, 799p. [84]p. of plates (part col.).

A major reference book on modern southern African art which documents "over 1,800 painters, sculptors and graphic artists who were born, lived in or are presently living in South Africa or Namibia."—Pref.

Family trees, p.771. Select bibliography, p.773–81. Useful addresses, p.783–93.

- E192 Schaedler, Karl-Ferdinand. Lexikon Afrikanische Kunst und Kultur. [München], Klinkhardt and Biermann, [1994]. 447p. il. (part col.).

With numerous illustrations and detailed entries, this dictionary provides extensive coverage of the art and culture of Africa.

Literatur, p.413–47.

The Americas

- E193 Miller, Mary, and Taube, Karl. The gods and symbols of ancient Mexico and the Maya: an illustrated dictionary of Mesoamerican religion. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 216p. il., maps.

Dictionary entries "include both discursive commentary and encapsulated identifications, ranging from concepts and ideas, ritual practices and participants, to particular deities, objects, symbols, flora and fauna, natural phenomena, and sacred places."—Pref.

Guide to sources and bibliography, p.[194]–214.

- E194 Muser, Curt. Facts and artifacts of ancient Middle America: a glossary of terms and words used in the archaeology and art history of pre-Columbian Mexico and Central America. N.Y., Dutton, 1978. 212p. il., maps, col. plates, tables.

A cross-disciplinary dictionary of proper names (mythological and historical entities, placenames) and art historical and archeological concepts. While excavations and scholarship have changed dramatically since 1978, this work still provides ready access to a widely diverse nomenclature.

- E195 St. James guide to Native North American artists. Ed. by Roger Matuz. Detroit, St. James Pr., 1998. xxxii, 691p. il., ports.

A selection of more than 350 biographical and critical entries on native North American artists of all media working in the 20th century. Most entries consist of biographical data (including variant names and tribal affiliation where appropriate), exhibitions, publications, collections, an artist's statement, an illustration from the artist's oeuvre, and an essay on the artist.

Bibliography, p.649–51. Name index, p.655–60. Tribe index, p.663–68. Geographic index, p.671–74. Medium index, p.677–82. Index to illustrations, p.685–86.

F. Iconography

Most of the titles listed and described here represent reference literature, that is, bibliographies, indexes, dictionaries, encyclopedias. While a very few monographic treatments have been included, most such studies (e.g., the books of Émile Mâle) may be found in more appropriate chapters through use of the indexes in the back of this volume.

GENERAL WORKS

- F1 Becker, Udo. The Continuum encyclopedia of symbols. Trans. by Lance W. Garner. N.Y., Continuum, 1994. 345p. il., col. plates, tables.

Trans. of Lexikon der Symbole. Freiburg im Breisgau, Herder, 1992.

Richly illustrated encyclopedic dictionary of symbols arranged alphabetically by subject. Entries cover a wide range of topics from letters, numbers, plants, and the elements to architectural symbolism, everyday objects such as knives and pitchers, animals, mythological creatures, cults, and ritual practices.

Bibliography, p.344-45.

- F2 Bell, Robert E. Dictionary of classical mythology, symbols, attributes, & associations. Santa Barbara, ABC-Clio, 1982. xi, 390p. il.

A dictionary of classical mythology arranged by subject (e.g., bear, charioteer, murder [of nephew], wings, etc.). Each entry provides the names and brief descriptions of the gods or goddesses associated with the subject heading. Entries usually include literary references to the Loeb classical library series. Additional chapters on names and heroic expeditions provide thorough definitions or lists of persons.

Contents: Symbols, attributes, and associations; Surnames, epithets, and patronymics; Heroic expeditions: Argonauts, Calydonian boar hunt, Trojan War; Guide to persona.

- F3 Biedermann, Hans. Dictionary of symbolism: cultural icons and the meanings behind them. Trans. by James Hulbert. N.Y., Facts on File, 1992. x, 465p. il. Trans. of Knaurs Lexikon der Symbole. München, Droemer Knaur, 1989.

"The purpose of this book is to acquaint the reader with the symbols that have been most significant throughout the history of civilization . . . this volume seeks to be as inclusive as possible, primarily through the material that goes beyond 'Eurocentric' concerns. . . . [It] is addressed to the general reader who seeks to know more about how images have been experienced and how their meanings have been extended."—Pref. Arranged alphabetically, the long, detailed entries cover a wide range of subjects. Illustrated throughout the text. Unique pictorial index provides access by illustration. Extremely thorough general index.

Bibliography, p.397-400. Pictorial Index, p.401-35. General Index, p.437-65.

- F4 Iconography at the crossroads: papers from the colloquium sponsored by the Index of Christian Art, Princeton University, 23-24 March 1990. Ed. by Brendan Cassidy. Princeton, N.J., Index of Christian Art, Dept. of Art and Archaeology, Princeton Univ., 1993. 249p. il., plates. (Index of Christian art occasional papers, II)

This useful compilation of papers covering medieval and Renaissance themes presents "a fairly balanced conspectus of current approaches [to iconography] with contributions by both art historians and representatives from other branches of the humanities."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Introduction: iconography, texts, and audiences, by Brendan Cassidy; (2) Unwriting iconology, by Michael Ann Holly; (3) The politics of iconology, by Keith Moxey; (4) Iconography as a humanistic discipline ("Iconography at the crossroads"), by Irving Lavin; (6) Mouths and meanings: towards an anti-iconography of medieval art, by Michael Camille; (7) Medieval art as argument, by Herbert L. Kessler; (8) Disembodiment and corporality in Byzantine images of the saints, by Henry Maguire; (9) Diagrams of the medieval brain: a study in cerebral localization, by Ynez Violé O'Neill; (10) Gendering Jesus crucified, by Richard C. Trexler; (11) Medieval pictorial systems, by Wolfgang Kemp; (12) Piero della Francesca's iconographic innovations at Arezzo, by Marilyn Aronberg Lavin; (13) Miracles happen: image and experience in Jan van Eyck's Madonna in a church, by Craig Harbison; (14) The Annunciation to Christine: authorial empowerment in The book of the city of ladies, by V. A. Kolve; (15) The "Mystical signature" of Christopher Columbus, by John V. Fleming; (16) Cleriadus et Meliadice:

a fifteenth-century manual for courtly behavior, by Howard Mayer Brown; (17) Images of music in three prints after Maarten van Heemskerck, by H. Colin Slim; (18) Index.

- F5 Chevalier, Jean, and Gheerbrant, Alain. A dictionary of symbols. Trans. by John Buchanan-Brown. Cambridge, Mass., Blackwell, 1994. ix, 1174p.

See GLAH 1:F2 for 1st French ed. Trans. of Dictionnaire des symboles: mythes, rêves, coutumes, gestes. Ed. rev. et augm. Paris, R. Laffont/Jupiter, 1982.

Substantially enlarged from 1st French ed. Long scholarly entries on a wide range of symbols. Alphabetical arrangement. No illustrations.

Bibliography, p.[1150]–74.

- F6 Cooper, J. C. An illustrated encyclopaedia of traditional symbols. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1979. 208p. il.

"The pattern adopted in this Encyclopaedia is first to present the generalized or universal acceptance of the interpretation of a symbol, then to particularize its diverse applications in varying traditions, cultural and geographic."—Introd. Valuable for its global approach to each symbol discussed.

Glossary, p.202–03. Bibliography, p.203–07.

- F7 Hall, James. Dictionary of subjects and symbols in art. Rev. ed. Introd. by Kenneth Clark. N.Y., Harper and Row, 1979. xxix, 349p. il.

See GLAH 1:F7 for 1st ed.

Revised ed. includes additions and corrections as well as a "Supplementary index" (p. [346]–49) which "is intended to supplement the dictionary by providing references to such matters as religious beliefs, ideas and social customs which are mentioned in the subject articles. The index also includes a number of extra entries for 'identifying objects' omitted from the first edition."—Pref. to supplementary index.

- F8 ———. Illustrated dictionary of symbols in eastern and western art. Illustrated by Chris Puleston. London, John Murray, 1994. xii, 244p. il., tables.

Uses the symbol as the starting point for discussing narrative references in a global context. Good cross-references. Small hand-drawn illustrations, charts, tables, and useful explanatory chapters and appendices.

Contents: (1) How to use this book; (2) About symbols in art; (3) The Dictionary, 1: Abstract signs; 2: Animals; 3: Artefacts; 4: Earth and sky; 5: Human body and dress; 6: Plants; Collectives

Appendix: the transcription of Chinese, p.216. Notes and references, p.217–21. Bibliography, p.223–24. Chronological tables (Egypt, Mesopotamia, India, China, Japan, Tibet, The West), p.225–33. Index, p.236–44.

- F9 Hunger, Herbert. Lexikon der griechischen und römischen Mythologie: mit Hinweisen auf das Fortwirken antiker Stoffe und Motive in der bildenden Kunst, Literatur und Musik des Abendlandes bis zur Gegenwart. 8., erw. Aufl. Wien, Brüder Hollinek, 1988. xi, 557p. il.

1st ed. 1953.

Substantially revised and augmented since the first ed. While not strictly an art resource, this German reference work is important to iconographers trying to find representations of classical themes. Each entry is divided into three sections: a description of the myth, an iconographic explanation of the myth's significance in art and literature, and finally a list of the titles, artists, and locations (where applicable) of works of art, literature, music, opera, and theater that deal with the theme.

Bibliography, p.549–56.

- F10 ICONCLASS browser ed. 2.0 [computer file]. Utrecht, ICONCLASS Research & Development Group, 1994. 7 computer disks

1st ed. 1992 was accompanied by User's guide, 110p. and Dutch printer's devices: a pilot project, pictorial information systems in the humanities [computer file]. 1 computer disk + 1 manual. 77p. il.

Electronic ed. of the printed ICONCLASS system, bibliography, and index (GLAH 1:F18). Third ed. forthcoming. Also available on the internet. The internet version lacks some of the features available in the disk version, most notably the ICONCLASS bibliography.

- F11 ICONCLASS indexes. Dutch prints. Leiden, Folior, 1994–. (3)v.

Eight vols. projected. "The series will give detailed iconographic access to the Dutch prints reproduced in the first seven volumes of The illustrated Bartsch [GLAH 1:N12 and GLAH 2:N9] covering the prints described in Adam von Bartsch's Le peintre-graveur [GLAH 1:N13], volumes 1–5 as well as to the supplementary volumes 50–59 of The illustrated Bartsch. The eight volumes will deal with the prints in a more or less chronological order, thus enabling researchers interested in prints from a particular period to only consult the two or three index volumes that apply."—Introd.

Contents: (4) Straten, Roelof van. Hendrik Goltzius and his school: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vol. 3 (1994); (7) Straten, Roelof van. Seventeenth century I: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vols. 1 and 2 (1995); (8) Straten, Roelof van. Seventeenth century II: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vols. 4 and 5 (1995).

Includes bibliographical references.

- F12 ICONCLASS indexes. Early German prints. Leiden, Folior, 1995–. (4)v.

Five vols. projected. Designed to give detailed iconographic access via ICONCLASS indexing to the German prints of the later 15th and 16th centuries described by Adam von Bartsch in vols. 6 and 10 of Le peintre-graveur (GLAH 1:N13) and reproduced in vols. 8, 9, and 23 of The illustrated Bartsch (GLAH 1:N12 and GLAH 2:N9).

Contents: (1) Laupichler, Fritz, and Straten, Roelof van. Martin Schongauer and his school: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vols. 6 and 10 (1995); (2) Laupichler, Fritz, and Straten, Roelof van. Albrecht Dürer and his time I: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vol. 7 (1996); (3) Albrecht Dürer and his time II: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre- graveur, vol. 8 (1996); (4) Virgil Solis and his time: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vol. 9 [pt.1] (1999).

Includes bibliographical references.

F13 ICONCLASS indexes. Italian prints. Doornspijk, Davaco, 1987-. (4)v.

Set provides extremely detailed iconographic access via the ICONCLASS system to prints in A. M. Hind's Early Italian engraving (GLAH 1:N115) and The illustrated Bartsch (GLAH 1:N12 and GLAH 2:N9). A fifth vol. covering prints unknown to Bartsch is projected.

Contents: (1) Straten, Roelof van. Early Italian engraving: an iconographic index to A. M. Hind, Early Italian engraving, London 1938-1948 (1987); (2) Straten, Roelof van. Marcantonio Raimondi and his school: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vols. 14, 15 and 16 (1988); (3) Straten, Roelof van with the assistance of Fritz Laupichler. Antonio Tempesta and his time: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vols. 12, 17 and 18 (1987); (4) Straten, Roelof van. The seventeenth century: an iconographic index to A. Bartsch, Le peintre-graveur, vols. 19, 20 and 21 (1990).

Includes bibliographical references.

F14 Index iconologicus [microform]. Sanford, N.C., Microfilming Corp. of America, 1980. [433] microfiches + guide (vi, 18p.).

Microform ed. of the paper index developed by Dr. Karla Langedijk at Duke University beginning in 1969. The Index was designed "to continue where the Princeton Index [of Christian Art] breaks off [at A.D. 1400] and to broaden its scope by focusing on both Christian and secular art. . . . The Index consists of more than 60,000 alphabetically filed entries . . . [which] . . . contain, in addition to photographic reproductions of art works much literary, bibliographic, and historical information. . . . The most important elements in the Index are the photographs of art work published by the Warburg Institute as illustrations to Bartsch's Le peintre-graveur [GLAH 1:N13]. . . . Photographs are indexed by subject themes, content, or artist . . . and each . . . is accompanied by its Bartsch citation and citations from other interpretive sources . . . [as well as] lists of other bibliographic and interpretive aids, bestiaries, cross references, Biblical texts, information cards, etc. . . . [The Index] can be used by scholars and students in two ways. When used alone it provides a systematic iconographic classification of Christian and secular art concentrating on the 16th and 17th centuries. The Index provides access by word, image and artist to many aspects of European cultural history. The combination of visual and verbal data in one place plus the complete citation of inscriptions, texts, quotations, and mottos make Index Iconologicus a self-contained research tool. If the Index is used with Bartsch's Le Peintre Graveur and the other catalogues that are cited on each picture card, the user has access to both the image and the detailed descriptions and histories that these works contain."—Introd.

F15 Kämmerling, Ekkehard, ed. Ikonographie und Ikonologie: Theorien, Entwicklung, Probleme. Köln,

DuMont, 1987. 521p. (Bildende Kunst als Zeichensystem, 1)

Notable collection of reprints of influential and critical essays in German on iconography and iconology originally published between 1928 and 1977. Includes the complete bibliography of each author.

Contents: Skizze einer Geschichte der beabsichtigten und der interpretierenden Ikonographie (1973), von Jan Bialostocki; Symbolik und Ikonographie der christlichen Kunst: zur Methodologie der christlichen Ikonographie (1928), von Karl Künstle; Die Ikonologie und ihre wichtige Rolle bei der systematischen Auseinandersetzung mit christlicher Kunst (1931), von G. J. Hoogewerff; Die Genesis der Ikonologie (1967), von William S. Heckscher; Warburgs Begriff der Kulturwissenschaft und seine Bedeutung für die Ästhetik (1931), von Edgar Wind; Zum Problem der Beschreibung und Inhaltsdeutung von Werken der bildenden Kunst (1932/1964), von Erwin Panofsky; Ikonographie und Ikonologie (1939/1955), von Erwin Panofsky; Die Interpretation visueller Symbole in der bildenden Kunst (1955), von Rudolf Wittkower; Ikonologie und allgemeine Kunstgeschichte (1966/1979), von Erik Forssman; Ikonologie (1966), von Michael Liebmam; Zur Kritik der kunstwissenschaftlichen Symboltheorie (1967/1978), von Lorenz Dittmann; Kritik der Ikonologie (1977), von Otto Pächt; Ziele und Grenzen der Ikonologie (1972), von Ernst H. Gombrich; Panofsky und die Interpretation von Bildern (1973), von David Mannings; Beiträge zu einem Übergang von der Ikonologie zur kunstgeschichtlichen Hermeneutik (1978), von Oskar Bätschmann.

F16 Liungman, Carl G. Dictionary of symbols. Trans. from the Swedish. N.Y., Norton, 1994. ix, 596p. il. Trans. of Symboler-västerländska ideogram. Malmö, Merkur, 1974. 1st Eng. ed. Santa Barbara, Calif., ABC-Clío, 1991.

"The intention of this work is that it should function both as a reference work in Western Cultural history and as a tool for those working with ideograms, e.g., logotype and trademark designers, those engaged in advertising, interior designers, researchers in communication, art historians, art and history teachers, etc."—Introd. Unique tool that provides access to graphic symbols from both a textual and a visual starting point. Well-designed and illustrated indexes.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) Ideographic dictionary; (III) Word index; (IV) Graphic index; (V) Graphic search index.

F17 Lurker, Manfred. Dictionary of gods and goddesses, devils and demons. N.Y., Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1987. x, 451p. il. Trans. of Lexikon der Götter und Dämonen. Stuttgart, Kröner, 1984.

A general dictionary of gods and goddesses important for its multicultural coverage.

Appendix I: Functions, aspects, spheres of competence, p.394-417. Appendix II: Symbols, attributes, motifs, p.418-46. Bibliography, p.447-51.

- F18 Morales y Marin, Jose Luis. Diccionario de iconología y simbología. Madrid, Taurus, 1984. 378p. il. plates.

Scholarly dictionary in Spanish. International in scope including non-western subjects. Entries include bibliographic references and are richly illustrated.

Indice de atributos, p.349–62. Bibliografía, p.363–78.

- F19 Rager, Catherine. Dictionnaire des sujets mythologiques, bibliques, hagiographiques, et historiques dans l'art. [Turnhout, Belgium], Brepols, 1994. x, 762p.

A substantial French topical dictionary. Includes unique indexes that allow access to subjects by miracle or place of event. Focuses on western art only. Good cross-references.

Quelques lieux d'action militaire, p.744–58. Quelques miracles, p.759–62.

- F20 Reid, Jane Davidson, with the assistance of Chris Rohmann. The Oxford guide to classical mythology in the arts, 1300–1990s. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1993. 2v.

"An encyclopedic catalog of [more than 30,000] artworks dating from the early Renaissance to the present that treat subjects in Greek and Roman mythology. Organized into entries on mythological figures or themes, listings of artworks delineate the history of artistic interest in classical mythology as presented in the fine arts, music, dance, and literature of the past seven centuries."—Introd. Each entry includes a description of the subject, a list of the major classical literary sources for the subject and bibliographic references to additional books on the topic. The listing of artworks comprises the bulk of each entry, and includes pertinent information on titles, dates (of creation, publication, or performance as applicable), locations, versions, revisions, translations, studies, copies, and other works related to the original, and bibliographic source references.

List of sources, p.1073–118. Index of artists, p.1119–310.

- F21 Rochelle, Mercedes. Mythological and classical world art index: a locator of paintings, sculptures, frescoes, manuscript illuminations, sketches, woodcuts, and engravings executed 1200 B.C. to 1900 A.D., with a directory of institutions holding them. Jefferson, N.C., McFarland, 1991. viii, 279p.

A locator arranged by subject that covers artworks from the classical period through the 19th century. Each entry includes a brief description of the subject (person, god, goddess, or event) and its historical or mythological significance followed by titles and locations of paintings taken from an extensive international selection of collections, museums, and repositories. An additional index of artists provides access to artworks by artists' names.

Bibliography p.239–47. Artist index, p.247–79.

- F22 Straten, Roelof van. Iconography, Indexing, ICONCLASS: a handbook. Leiden, Folio, 1994. xv, 244p. il. plates.

A handbook that serves as an explanatory guide to the author's interpretation and use of the ICONCLASS system as first exemplified in his ICONCLASS indexes to Italian prints. Includes detailed directions to assist both researchers and indexers.

Contents: List of illustrations; Introduction; (1) The theory of iconography; (2) The iconographic indexer and his work; (3) The ICONCLASS system; (4) Indexing Italian prints with ICONCLASS; (5) ICONCLASS: remarks and additions.

Appendix 1: Outline of the ICONCLASS system. Appendix 2: Composition and iconography. Appendix 3: Bibliography [on] ICONCLASS, p.233–39. Index, p.241–44.

- F23 ———. An introduction to iconography. Trans. from the German by Patricia de Man. Rev. Eng. ed. Langhorne, Penn., Gordon and Breach, 1994. 151p. il. plates. (Documenting the image, 1)

Trans. of Einführung in die Ikonographie. Berlin, Reimer, 1989. Original ed., Inleiding in de iconografie. Muiderberg, Coutinho BV, 1985, rev. ed., 1991. Originally presented as the author's doctoral thesis.

Detailed handbook for students and teachers of art history that should fill a gap in methodology courses. The Theoretical section clearly explains and places in historical context basic concepts of iconography and iconology. The Practical section provides extensive annotated references to bibliographic and archival resources for further study.

Contents: Introduction to the series; List of illustrations; Preface; Introduction; (1) Theoretical Section: 1. What is iconography?; 2. Personification; 3. Allegory; 4. Symbols, attributes, and symbolic representations; (2) Practical Section: 5. Literary sources of subjects in art; 6. Iconographic handbooks and photo archives; 7. ICONCLASS: a new method of research in iconography; (3) Appendix: an overview of the ICONCLASS System;

Index p.149–51.

- F24 Studies in the fine arts. Iconography. Ann Arbor, UMI Research Press, 1979–84. 10v. il.

Series ed. Linda Seidel. Part of the larger UMI series. Includes dissertations reflecting an iconographical approach.

Contents: (1) Riess, Jonathan B. Political ideals in medieval Italian art: the frescoes in the Palazzo dei Priori, Perugia (1297) (1981); (2) Dixon, Laurinda S. Alchemical imagery in Bosch's "Garden of Delights" (1981); (3) Watters, David H. "With bodilie eyes": eschatological themes in Puritan literature and gravestone art (1981); (4) DeMott, Barbara. Dogon masks: a structural study of form and meaning (1982); (5) Fishman, Jane Susannah. Boerenverdriet: Violence between peasants and soldiers in early modern Netherlands art (1982); (6) Glanz, Dawn. How the West was drawn: American art and the settling of the frontier (1982); (7) Durantini, Mary Frances. The child in seventeenth-century Dutch painting (1983); (8) Smith, David R. Masks of wedlock: seventeenth-century Dutch marriage portraiture (1982); (9) Lulumia, Matthew Paul. Realism and politics in Victorian art of the Crimean War (1984); (9) [sic] Kaplan, Paul H. D. The rise of the black magus in western art (1985).

- F25 Tardy, Dictionnaire des arts, de l'histoire, des lettres et des religions. Paris, Tardy, 1987–1990. 3v. il. plates.

Cover title: Dictionnaire des thèmes et décors.

Although this is a broad dictionary covering more than iconography, it is noteworthy for the lists of artworks on specific themes.

Contents: (1) Thèmes de l'Occident classique; (2) Décors de l'Occident classique; (3) Thèmes et décors du XXe siècle.

- F26 Thompson, Philip, and Davenport, Peter. The dictionary of graphic images. N.Y., St. Martin's, 1980. 258p. il.

Unique resource that traces iconographic symbols through their use as graphic clichés in modern day advertising, signs, etc. Designed to "fill the gap between the numerous dictionaries of historic symbols and the living visual language that artists and designers had been evolving during the last 50 years or so."—Authors' note.

SEE ALSO: Janson, Iconographic index to Stanislas Lami's Dictionnaire des sculpteurs de l'Ecole française aux dix-neuvième siècle (GLAH 2:K180); Marburger Index Datenbank [computer file] (GLAH 2:D64); Schweers, Gemälde in deutschen Museen: Katalog der ausgestellten und depotgelagerten Werke = Paintings in German museums: catalogue of exhibited works and depository holdings (GLAH 2:M29); Studies in iconography (GLAH 2:Q322).

ANCIENT

- F27 Aghion, Irène; Barbillon, Claire; and Lissarague, François. Gods and heroes of classical antiquity. [Trans. by N. Amico.] N.Y., Flammarion, 1996. 317p. il. (part col.) (Flammarion iconographic guides)

Intended to "provide ready access to the narrative content of many works that readers are likely to come across in museums or books. . . . A concise collection of the tales that have inspired artists throughout the centuries."—Introd. Alphabetical arrangement, with individual mythological characters and episodes treated separately. Includes a brief account of the historical or mythological tradition, ancient and modern representations, and as appropriate, a list of attributes, cross-references to other entries, sources, and a concise bibliography. Principal iconographic repertoires are listed in the general bibliography.

Bibliography, p.311–12. Index of people, authors, places, p.313–17.

- F28 Black, Jeremy A., and Green, Anthony. Gods, demons, and symbols of ancient Mesopotamia: an illustrated dictionary. Illustrated by Tessa Rickards. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1992. 192p. il.

"An introductory guide to the beliefs and practices of the ancient Mesopotamians, as revealed in their art and their writings between about 3000 BC and the advent of the Christian era. Gods, goddesses, demons, monsters, magic, myths, religious symbolism, ritual and the spiritual world are all discussed in alphabetical entries ranging from short accounts to extended essays."—Dust jacket. Includes cross-references between Sumerian and Akkadian names.

Bibliography, p.191–92.

- F29 Hart, George. A dictionary of Egyptian gods and goddesses. London, Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1986. xv, 229p. il.

Thorough dictionary aimed toward undergraduates and non-specialists. Entries on gods and goddesses are arranged alphabetically and describe their symbolism, origin, and various renderings.

Outline time-chart, p.xiii. Select further reading, p.227–29. Alternative renderings of divine names, p.229.

- F30 Leick, Gwendolyn. A dictionary of ancient Near Eastern mythology. N.Y., Routledge, 1991. xiii, 199p. plates.

This dictionary "is intended as a general reference work for students of religious studies, anthropology and oriental studies and attempts to make the subject accessible to a wider academic audience."—Introd. An accessible English-language resource for students of art history researching ancient Near Eastern art. Extensive bibliography, excellent illustrations.

Chronological chart, p.xiii. Glossary, p.168–75. Bibliography, p.176–88. Index, p.189–99. Illustrations, p.200–26.

- F31 Lexicon iconographicum mythologiae classicae [LIMC]. Zürich, Artemis, 1981–. (8)v. il. plates.

Entries in English, French, German, or Italian. Published by the Fondation pour le Lexicon iconographicum mythologiae classicae (LIMC). Each vol. consists of two parts, text and plates. On-line version forthcoming.

Monumental encyclopedia of Greek, Etruscan, and Roman mythological iconography. Also includes "non-Classical figures [who have been depicted] in Classical style or have points of contact with the Graeco-Roman world: for instance, the Arab Allath, who can appear under the guise of Athena/Minerva."—Review, American journal of archaeology, v.86, no. 4, 1982, p.599–600. Entries in the text vols. are arranged alphabetically by mythological figure. Each extremely detailed, signed entry begins with cross-references and references to literary sources, a full bibliography, and a catalog of works of art with references to the plate vols. Long, scholarly commentaries follow. Plate vols. are also arranged alphabetically by personage to foster comparative study of like images, and contain exceptional black and white reproductions and fine details.

Contents: (I) Aara-Aphlad (1981); (II) Aphrodisias-Athena (1984); (III) Atherion-Eros (1986); (IV) Eros-Herakles (1988); (V) Herakles-Kenchrias (1990); (VI) Kentaurioi-Oiax (1992); (VII) Oidipous-Theseus (1994); (VIII) forthcoming (1997).

Indices: (1) Museen, Sammlungen, Orte = Museums, collections, sites. (2) Literarische und Epigraphische Quellen zu nicht erhaltenen Werken; mythologische Namen = Literary and epigraphical sources mentioning lost works; mythological names (1999).

- F32 Lurker, Manfred. The gods and symbols of ancient Egypt: an illustrated dictionary. [Trans. by Barbara Cumming]. Rev., enl., and picture-ed. by Peter A. Clayton. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1980. 142p. il.

Trans. of Götter und Symbole der alten Ägypter. Bern, Scherz, 1974.

Although dated, Lurker's dictionary remains a useful resource. Each entry provides a description of the iconographical significance of the symbol, god, or goddess under discussion.

Contents: Introduction to the world of Egyptian symbolism; The cultural and religious history of Egypt; The dictionary.

Map of Egypt, p.22. Chronological table, p.132–35. Select bibliography, p.136–37. Index to the illustrations, p.139–41.

F33 Wilkinson, Richard H. Reading Egyptian art: a hieroglyphic guide to ancient Egyptian painting and sculpture. London, Thames and Hudson, 1992. 224p. il.

Useful guide for undergraduates and non-specialists, "designed to allow the non-specialist to 'read' the major hieroglyphs found in Egyptian painting and sculpture and to understand much of the symbolic content of Egyptian art which is usually only accessible to the trained Egyptologist."—Pref. Well-illustrated, page-length entries are arranged topically by genre.

Contents: History and art of Egypt; Catalog of Hieroglyphs; Gardiner's sign list.

Bibliography, p.220–22. Index, p.223–24.

CHRISTIAN

F34 Apostolos-Cappadona, Diane. Dictionary of Christian Art. N.Y., Continuum, 1994. 376p. il.

A good single-vol. dictionary in English, useful for beginning students learning about Christian art and iconography.

Bibliography, p.351–53. List of illustrations and captions, p.354–68. Index, p.369–76.

F35 Duchet-Suchaux, Gaston, and Pastoureaux, Michel. The Bible and the saints. Trans. by David Radziewicz Howell. N.Y., Flammarion, 1994. 360p. il., plates. (Flammarion iconographic guides)

Trans. of Bible et les saints. Paris, Flammarion, 1990.

This is the first guide in a projected series of iconographical guides published by Flammarion. Each entry provides variant names and titles for subjects, a descriptive paragraph, a list of attributes, cross references to other entries, and a brief bibliography. A more extensive bibliography is included at the end. Well illustrated with many color reproductions.

Index of attributes and their associated figures, p.354–56. Bibliography p.357–59.

F36 Earls, Irene. Baroque art: a topical dictionary. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1996. xv, 332p.

"This dictionary is . . . a reference source for identifying and understanding the art of Italy and northern Europe during the 1600s. . . . Also included are a limited number of entries on characteristic schools, media, techniques and other terminology one might find in the art history volumes covering this period."—Pref. Arranged in a single alphabetical sequence.

List of popes of the Baroque age, p.[309]. List of artists, p.[311]–15. Bibliography, p.[317]–19. Index, p.[321]–32.

F37 ———. Renaissance art: a topical dictionary. N.Y., Greenwood, 1987. xv, 345p.

"This dictionary is . . . a quick reference source for identifying and understanding Renaissance art of Italy and northern Europe. It contains basic information about topics that were common subjects of painting, sculpture, and decorative arts of the period. Additionally, entries on characteristic schools, techniques, media, and other terminology have been included."—Pref. Arranged in a single alphabetical sequence.

List of artists, p.[315]–21. Bibliography, p.[323]–27. Index, p.[329]–45.

F38 Erffa, Hans Martin von. Ikonologie der Genesis: die christlichen Bildthemen aus dem Alten Testament und ihre Quellen. [München], Deutscher Kunstverlag, 1989–95. 2v.

An extremely ambitious and scholarly project that aims to cover in detail all aspects of the iconography of Genesis. Each entry includes a dense description of the topic replete with biblical and bibliographical references, followed by three valuable bibliographical lists. (1) Schriftquellen (QU) includes bibliographic references to the topic made by early Christian, Jewish, classical antique and Arabic authors; (2) Literature (LIT) contains references to non-art historical material on the subject; (3) Ikonographie (IKON) provides bibliographic references to art historical literature on the topic.

Abkürzungsschlüssel, v.1, p.521–29, v.2, p.503–13. Ikonographischer Index, v.1, p.531–42, v.2, p.515–33. Druckfehlerberichtigungen im I. Band, v.2, p.501.

F39 Friedman, John Block, and Wegmann, Jessica M. Medieval iconography: a research guide. N.Y., Garland, 1998. xxiv, 437p. (Garland medieval bibliographies, 20) (Garland reference library of the humanities, 1870)

"The present volume aims to help the researcher locate visual motifs, whether in medieval art or literature, and to understand how they function in yet other medieval literary or artistic works. . . . We envision . . . the advanced undergraduate, the graduate student, or the literary scholar as the primary audience for the book."—Introd. 1,896 annotated bibliographical entries.

Contents: Part one [research tools]: (1) Art; (2) Other tools. Part two [iconographic themes]: (3) Learned imagery; (4) The Christian tradition; (5) The natural world; (6) Medieval daily life.

Index, p.[413]–37.

F40 Garnier, François. Le langage de l'image au Moyen Age. Paris, Leopard d'or, 1982–[1989]. 2v., il., plates.

Although more of a thesis than a reference book, this is an extremely ambitious and useful iconographical exploration of various compositions and gestures in medieval art. Illustrated chapters are arranged by type of composition or gesture and then further broken down into sections of even greater detail.

Contents: (1) Signification et symbolique: (I) Le langage iconographique; (II) La documentation et son exploitation; (III) Aspects généraux du langage iconographique: cadres et structures; (IV) Les éléments; (V) Les dimensions; (VI) Les situations; (VII) Les positions du corps; (VIII) Positions et expressions de la tête; (IX) Gestes de la main et du bras; (X) Positions et gestes des jambes et des pieds; (XI) Relations avec les objets. Conclusion. (2) Grammaire des gestes: (Première partie) Quelques aspects essentiels du langage iconographique: (I) Réalisme et symbolisme; (II) Figuration du temps; (III) Figuration actif/passif, en état/en action; (IV) Corrélations et contextes; (Deuxième partie) Comportements corporels: (I) Situation: Double silhouetté; (II) La tête; (III) Gestes et positions de la main; (IV) Gestes et positions des bras; (V) Relations avec le pied/la jambe; (Troisième partie) Relations avec les éléments: (I) La boule; (II) La ceinture; (III) La colonne; (IV) La corde au cou; (V) Le cornet; (VI) L'édifice; (VII) La foudre céleste; (VIII) La fleur de lis; (IX) Le miroir; (X) Le phylactère; (XI) L'offrande du poisson; (XII) Le vêtement; (XIII) Vice ou vertu: le suicide; Conclusion provisoire.

Index des significations, v.1, p.249–50. Index des photographies et des dessins, v.1, p.251–54; Index des photographies, des dessins et des gravures, v.2, p.[291]–99. Bibliographie, v.1, p.255–56, v.2, p.[301]–02. Index général, v.1, p.283–84, v.2, p.[285]–89.

- F41 Grabar, André. Les voies de la création en iconographie chrétienne: antiquité et moyen âge. Paris, Flammarion, 1979. 341p. il. (Idées et recherches)

Includes a French translation of his classic Christian iconography: a study of its origins, 1968 (GLAH 1:I159). Augmented ed. of this scholarly work includes a new, second section on the Middle Ages.

Contents: Avant-propos; Antiquité: Première partie. (I) Les premiers pas; (II) L'assimilation de l'iconographie contemporaine. Deuxième partie. (III) Le portrait; (IV) La scène historique; (V) Dogmes exprimés par une image; (VI) Dogmes représentés par des images juxtaposées. Moyen Age: Introduction; Byzance; L'image chrétienne en occident: principes et réalisations; Le problème de l'iconographie populaire au moyen âge; Conclusion.

Bibliographie sommaire, p.203–14. Illustrations, p.215–33. Index, p.335–39.

- F42 Jacobus de Voragine. The golden legend: readings on the saints. Trans. by William Granger Ryan. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1993. 2v.

Trans. of Legenda aurea, based on the Latin ed. of Th. Graesse, Leipzig, 1845. See GLAH 1:F35 for earlier partial trans. (repr., Salem, N.H., Ayer, 1994).

The first complete modern English translation. This 2-vol. set supersedes Ryan's earlier partial translation and will be indispensable to the study of iconography.

Index, p.397–400.

- F43 Kaftal, George. Iconography of the saints in the painting of north west Italy. Firenze, Le Lettere, 1985. ix–xviii, 818 numb. cols. 958 il., col. plates. (Saints in Italian art, 4)

See GLAH 1:F39, GLAH 1:F40 for earlier vols.

"This volume completes [the author's] study of the Iconography of Saints in Italian Painting from its beginning until the early years of the XVIth century. The present volume deals with the iconography of the saints represented on panels, frescoes, mosaics and exceptionally manuscript illuminations belonging to the Schools of North West Italy. Topographically these schools include Lombardy, Piedmonte, Savoy, and Liguria."—Introd.

Contents: (I) Saints and blessed, Unidentified saints and blessed; (II) Index of attributes and distinctive signs; Index of painters; Topographical index of painters; Bibliographical index; Index of saints and blessed.

- F44 Marienlexikon. Hrsg. im Auftrag des Institutum Marianum Regensburg e. V. von Remigius Bäumer und Leo Scheffczyk. St. Ottilien, EOS, 1988–94. 6v., il.

Dense encyclopedia covering the topic of the Virgin Mary and her cult that includes many references to works of art. This ambitious set supersedes the abortive Lexikon der Marienkunde project (GLAH 1:F43). Signed scholarly articles include excellent bibliographical notes and literary references.

- F45 Ohlgren, Thomas H., ed. Corpus of insular and Anglo-Saxon illuminated manuscripts [computer file]. ed. 1.0. Orem, Utah, Infobusiness, 1991. 2 computer disks; 3 3/4 in.

Accompanied by Infobase user; Infobusiness manual; Reference guide, 19p. il.

"Consists of revised and expanded entries from Ohlgren's Insular and Anglo-Saxon manuscripts, an iconographic catalogue (AD 625–1100) [GLAH 2:F48] for 229 illuminated manuscripts produced or owned in the British Isles. Each entry contains codicology and iconographic descriptions, and the software allows users to approach subjects by a variety of search commands."—Manual.

- F46 ———. Illuminated manuscripts: an index to selected Bodleian Library color reproductions. N.Y., Garland, 1977. xxxiii, 646p. il. plates. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 89)

"This reference tool provides intellectual access to five hundred of the Bodleian slide sets containing some 20,000 color transparencies from over 1,100 manuscripts and renaissance books in the Bodleian collection. . . . This volume is unique in giving descriptions of the iconography of each illuminated folio or page. Since each descriptor is followed by a frame number, individual slide retrieval is possible."—General introd. Although the computer technology utilized to compile this index is dated and therefore the presentation is difficult to read and decipher, this index remains unsurpassed in the quantity of iconographical information it provides, making the effort required to use it worthwhile.

Index to slide set titles, p.243–51. Index to negative references, p.252–61. Index to titles of manuscripts, p.262–76.

Index to shelfmarks, p.277-316. Index to provenance, p.317-28. Index to dates executed, p.329-43. Index to languages of texts, p.344-46. Index to artists or schools of illumination, p.347-48. Index to authors of texts, p.349-55. Index to contents, p.368-646.

- F47 ———. Illuminated manuscripts and books in the Bodleian Library: a supplemental index. N.Y., Garland, 1978. xxxii, 583p. il., plates. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 123).

Supplement to the preceding entry. "Comprises an additional 250 abstracts of and indices to the Bodleian Library filmstrips. . . . Altogether, this volume provides access to over ten thousand folios and pages from 672 manuscripts and one hundred printed books . . . dating in the main from the ninth century through the seventeenth century."—Introd.

Index to libraries, p.202. Index to slide set titles, p.203-07. Index to negative references, p.208-12. Index to titles of manuscripts, p.213-31. Index to shelfmarks, p.232-313. Index to provenance, p.314-327. Index to dates executed, p.328-50. Index to languages of texts, p.351-57. Index to artists or schools of illumination, p.358-61. Index to authors of texts, p.362-70. Index to scribes, p.371. Index to types of manuscripts, p.372-86. Index to contents, p.387-583.

- F48 ———. Insular and Anglo-Saxon illuminated manuscripts: an iconographic catalogue, c. A.D. 625 to 1100. N.Y., Garland, 1986. 480p. il. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 631)

An iconographical catalog of all 229 extant English and Irish illuminated manuscripts and their illustrations. The index to iconographical contents ". . . makes this book . . . an extraordinary reference resource. From Aaron (brother of Moses) to Zodiac, there are approximately 3,750 index terms utilized, many of them see and see also cross-references."—Review, Art documentation, v.5, no.4, 1986, p.182. Iconographical descriptions of illustrations are adopted from the Editor's file at the Index of Christian Art at Princeton.

Photo-Bibliography, p. xxi-vii. Index to manuscripts, p.306-14. Index to authors and titles, p.315-18. Index to places of origin and provenance, p.319-21. Index to dates, p.322-24. Index to iconographic contents, p.325-400. Illustrations, p.403-80.

- F49 Roberts, Helene E. Iconographic index to Old Testament subjects represented in photographs and slides of paintings in the visual collections, Fine Arts Library, Harvard University. N.Y., Garland, 1987. xi, 197p. il., plates. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 729)

A highly useful index organized according to the ICON-CLASS system that should assist any researcher looking for works of art on particular Old Testament themes. Companion vol. to the following entry.

Contents: Introduction; Index of concepts, terms, and proper names; Iconclass classification of Old Testament themes; listing of themes and paintings representing them.

- F50 ———, and Hall, Rachel. Iconographic index to New Testament subjects represented in photographs and slides of paintings in the visual collections, Fine Arts Library, Harvard University. Volume I: Narrative paintings of the Italian School. N.Y., Garland, 1992. 254p. il. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 1154)

Companion vol. to the preceding entry, also using the ICON-CLASS system to organize New Testament themes depicted in Italian paintings.

Contents: Introduction; (I) Index of concepts, terms, and proper names; (II) Paintings in the collection: (A) John the Baptist and the early life of Mary; (B) Birth and youth of Christ; (C) Public life of Christ from his Baptism until the Passion; (D) Passion of Christ, Entombment, and Descent into Limbo; (E) Resurrection, Appearance, and Ascension of Christ; Pentecost; Later Life and Assumption of the Virgin; (F) Lives and Acts of the Apostles of Christ, and (G) Revelation of John, the Apocalypse.

- F51 Rochelle, Mercedes. Post-Biblical saints art index: a locator of paintings, sculptures, mosaics, icons, frescoes, manuscript illuminations, sketches, woodcuts, and engravings, created from the 4th century to 1950, with a directory of the institutions holding them. Jefferson, N.C., McFarland, 1994. ix, 357p.

Unique subject index to more than 4,200 saints including some about whom little is known. Entries contain a description of the saint's title and significance, priestly order, martyrdom, dates of death, and feast days. Also included is a locator of depictions of the saint in art that describes the scenes and provides references to their present locations. A directory provides the location of each artwork mentioned. The lengthy index of attributes and events provides detailed access points for identifying saints. Thorough bibliography.

Index of artists, p.247-96. Index of attributes and events, p.297-318. Directory, p.319-42. Bibliography, p.343-57.

- F52 Ross, Leslie. Medieval art: a topical dictionary. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1996. xxiv, 292p.

"This dictionary has been designed to provide a quick reference source for identifying and comprehending the subjects, stories, symbols, and themes frequently represented in early Christian, western medieval, and Byzantine art."—Pref.

Selected bibliography, p.[273]-78. General index, p.[279]-89. Index of saints, p.[291]-92.

- F53 Schenone, Héctor H. Iconografía del arte colonial. [Buenos Aires?], Fundación Tarea, 1992-98. 3v.

Handbook of religious iconography in colonial Latin America. V.1-2 treat the saints, each entry giving brief biography, lists known images at colonial sites, and iconographical attributes. V.3 treats the life of Christ.

Contents: (1-2) Los santos; (3) Jesucristo. Bibliographies in each vol.

- F54 Schiller, Gertrud. Ikongraphie der christlichen Kunst. [1. Aufl. Gütersloh] Mohn, [1966- ]. (5)v.

See GLAH 1:F51 for earlier vols., which began appearing in 2d ed. in 1969.

Contents: (4/2) Maria (1980); (5/1) Die Apokalypse des Johannes: Textteil (1990); (5/2) Die Apokalypse des Johannes: Bildteil (1991).

Registerbeihft zu den Bänden 1 bis 4/2, bearb. von Rupert Schreiner (1980), 120p.

- F55 Sebastián, Santiago. Iconografía e iconología del arte novohispano. Pres. de José Pascual Buxó. México, D.F., Azabache, 1992. 179p. col. il. (Arte novohispano, 6)

Important study of the iconography of colonial art in Latin America.

Contents: Imágenes de la Iglesia; Iconografía de Maria y de Cristo; Las imágenes hagiográficas de las ordenes religiosas; La imagen de la muerte y el mas allá; Las imágenes del humanismo; El lenguaje emblemático; Iconografía del Indio y de los pueblos europeos.

Bibliografía, p.177–79.

- F56 Seibert, Jutta. Lexikon christlicher Kunst: Themen, Gestalten, Symbole. Freiburg im Breisgau, Herder, 1980. 352p. il., plates.

Substantial general iconographical dictionary includes more than 1,000 entries on themes and symbols in Christian art. Richly illustrated with more than 300 line drawings and black and white reproductions. Good cross-references, references to biblical passages, and a very useful index to biblical themes that refers back to the entries in the dictionary.

Literaturhinweise, p.347. Bibelstellen-Register, p.348–52.

- F57 Sinding-Larsen, Staale. Iconography and ritual: a study of analytical perspectives. Oslo, Universitetsforlaget [Distr. by Columbia Univ. Pr., 1984]. 210p.

A scholarly study that "analyzes the methodological basis for investigation of the relationship between liturgy and iconography in Medieval and Renaissance art."—Abstract, RILA, International repertory of the literature of art, v. 14, 1988, p.395. Includes noteworthy bibliographies of non-art historical resources important for the art historian's study of Christian liturgy, ritual, teachings concerning sacred images, and Church furniture.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) Functional context for Christian iconography; (III) Empirical parameters; (IV) Systems in interaction.

Bibliographies, p.196–203. Index, p.204.

- F58 Speake, Jennifer. The Dent dictionary of symbols in Christian art. London, Dent, 1994. xi, 178p.

The more than 800 entries emphasize the biographies and attributes of frequently depicted saints. Good cross-references. "Among recent works (e.g. dictionaries of the saints) no other recent publications match the coverage of this one."—Review, Choice, July/August 1995.

Select bibliography, p.161–62. Some saints' names, p.163–64. Visual index, p.167–78.

- F59 Spitzing, Günter. Lexikon byzantinisch-christlicher Symbole: die Bilderwelt Griechenlands und Kleinasiens. München, Diederichs, 1989. 344p. il., plates.

Important for its focus on the iconography and symbolism of the art of the Byzantine Empire. Detailed entries often include illustrations or tables and charts. Includes bibliographical and cross-references.

Contents: (I) Der Bildkosmos der byzantinischen Kirche; (II) Byzantinisch-christliche Symbole und Bildmotive von ABC bis Zahl; (III) Anhang: Entzifferungshilfen für Bildbeischriften (griechisch-deutsch).

Die Entwicklung des byzantinischen Reiches, p.327–29. Kunstgeschichtliche Epochen von der frühchristlichen Zeit bis zur Gegenwart, p.330–31. Die wichtigsten byzantinischen Monumente, p.332–41. Literaturverzeichnis, p.342–44.

SEE ALSO: Mâle, Religious art in France: the late Middle Ages: a study of medieval iconography and its sources (GLAH 2:I316); Mâle, Religious art in France, the thirteenth century: a study of medieval iconography and its sources (GLAH 2:I317); Mâle, Religious art in France, the twelfth century: a study of the origins of medieval iconography (GLAH 1:I285).

JEWISH

- F60 Index of Jewish art: iconographical index to Hebrew illuminated manuscripts. Ed. by Bezalel Narkiss and Gabrielle Sed-Rajna in collab. with Jonathan Benjamin . . . [et al.] Jerusalem, Israel Academy of Sciences and Humanities, 1976– . (10)v. il. facsim.

Distr. by K.G. Saur, 1978–81.

Each vol. consists of index cards measuring 16 x 21 cm., an index guide, and corrected references to the previous vol. In English, French, and Hebrew. V.5 contains a cumulative subject index to v.1–5.

The Index was devised to complement the Princeton index of Christian art as a comprehensive iconographical index to Jewish art, defined as "objects made for the use and appreciation of people living according to the Jewish tradition, in their ritual and everyday life, including artifacts created by non-Jewish artists. The scope of Jewish, as distinct from early Israelite art is confined in this definition to the Hellenistic period onwards."—Introd. Published to date are the areas with which the Index began, concentrating solely on Hebrew illuminated manuscripts, because this area is the most heavily illustrated in Jewish art. Each vol. consists of an index pamphlet and a collection of index cards. Earlier vols. included more cards with information that by 1994 was streamlined into two types of cards to describe each object. The General card gives a systematic analytical description of each manuscript, and includes the following fields: Index of Jewish art number, object, origin, date, medium, collection number, name/title of manuscript, contents, codicology, binding colophon, history, decoration programme, bibliography. The Object card includes a facsimile photograph and describes the subjects depicted in the manuscript with the following additional fields: folio number; photographer; artist/maker; subject/reference; description. Very high quality black-and-white reproductions. On-line version announced. "A monumental contribution to the history of Jewish art, costume, and customs, and to comparative iconography."—Review, Art bulletin LXI, no.1, March 1979, p.107.

Contents: (1) Birds' Head Haggadah; Erna Michael Haggadah; Chantilly Haggadah; Greek Haggadah (1976?); (2) Index; References (München, K. G. Saur, 1981); II/I: Hileq and Bileq Haggadah, Paris, Bibliothèque Nationale, ms. Hébr. 1933 (1978); II/2: 2nd Nürnberg Haggadah, Jerusalem, Schocken Library, ms. 24087, part 1 (1978); II/3: 2nd Nürnberg Haggadah, Jerusalem, Schocken Library, ms. 24087, part 2 (1981); II/3: Yahuda Haggadah, Jerusalem, Israel Museum, ms. 180/50, parts 1 and 2 (1981); (3) Rothschild Miscellany, Jerusalem, Israel Museum, ms. 180/51; Index, References (1983); (4) Illuminated manuscripts of the Kaufmann Collection at the Library of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences; Index; References (1988); (5) Illuminated manuscripts of the Copenhagen Collection at the Royal Library, Copenhagen; Index; References (1994); (6) Index of ancient Jewish art (1984); (7) Shoshanim Le David: a synagogue and its ritual objects; (8-9) Gross Family Collection: (I) Objects; (II) Manuscripts and printed books (1985); (10) The synagogues of Bar'am; Jerusalem ossuaries (1987).

ASIAN COUNTRIES

China

F61 Eberhard, Wolfram. A dictionary of Chinese symbols: hidden symbols in Chinese life and thought. Trans. by G. L. Campbell. N.Y., Routledge and Kegan Paul, 1986. 332p. il.

Trans. of Lexicon chinesischer symbole. Zürich, Buchclub Ex Libris, 1985.

Includes entries for more than 400 symbols from Chinese culture. Entries are in alphabetical order by the English-language term and include the Chinese term in romanization and character. Definitions frequently make reference to literary or artistic works and occasionally include an illustration.

Bibliography, p.329-32.

F62 Oort, H. A. van. The iconography of Chinese Buddhism in traditional China. Leiden, Brill, 1986. 2v. il., plates. (Iconography of religions. Section 12: East and Central Asia; fasc. 5, 1-2)

A selected bibliography is followed by essays, a catalog of illustrations, and plates. Includes many photographs of sculpture and paintings.

Contents: (1) Han to Liao; (2) Sung to Ch'ing.

Selected bibliography, v.1, p.[ix]-x; v.2, p.[vii]-viii.

EMBLEM BOOKS

F63 AMS studies in the emblem. No. 1-. N.Y., AMS Pr., 1988-.

An irregular monographic series comprised of a variety of scholarly studies of emblem books and emblems.

Contents: (1) Daly, Peter M. The English emblem and the continental tradition (1987); (2) Manning, John, ed. The emblems of Thomas Palmer: two hundred poosees (1988); (3) Young, Alan R. English tournament imprese (1988); (4) Andrea Alciato and the emblem tradition: essays in honor of Virginia Woods Callahan (1989); (6) Daly, Peter M., ed. The Index of Emblem Art symposium (1990); (8) Katz, Wendy R. The emblems of Margaret Gatty: a study of allegory in nineteenth-century children's literature (1993); (9) Tung, Mason. Two concordances to Ripa's Iconologia (1993); (9) [sic] The art of the emblem: essays in honor of Karl Josef Holtgen (1993); (11) Heckscher, William S., and Sherman, Agnes B. Emblematic variants: literary echoes of Alciati's term emblemata: a vocabulary drawn from the title pages of emblem books (1992); (13) Deviceful settings: the English Renaissance emblem and its contexts: selected papers from the Third International Emblem Conference, Pittsburgh (1993) (1999).

F64 Black, Hester M. A short title catalogue of the emblem books and related works in the Stirling Maxwell collection of Glasgow University Library (1499-1917). Ed. and rev. by David Weston. Brookfield, Vt., Scholar Pr., 1988. 99p.

Includes entries for 1,777 editions held in the Stirling Maxwell collection, "... probably the largest [collection] ever assembled ... about 1500 of which are for emblem books, device books, emblematic encyclopaedias, works on emblem theory, and iconologies. The remainder relates to fête and ceremonial books."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; Alphabetical short-title list; Appendix of manuscripts in the Stirling Maxwell and other collections.

Chronological index, p.87-99.

F65 Campa, Pedro F. Emblemata Hispanica: an annotated bibliography of Spanish emblem literature to the year 1700. Durham, Duke Univ. Pr., 1990. xii, 248p. il., plates.

"Comprises the production of Spanish emblem literature published from 1540 to 1700. It includes all the editions of Spanish emblem books, emblem books written by Spaniards in other languages, as well as polyglot editions of emblem books in which Spanish is one of the featured languages."—Introd. Some sources on Spanish-American emblematics are also included. Entries are arranged chronologically by author within thematic sections, and include imprint, pagination, signatures, number of emblems, and notes identifying dedicatees, artists and/or engravers. Bibliographic information and cross-references to other bibliographies, libraries, and call numbers, and descriptions of modern facsimiles, and composite editions follow each entry. Lengthy thematic bibliographies of secondary sources are included in separate sections. Useful appendixes.

Contents: Introduction; Abbreviations; Key to libraries; Major sources for this bibliography; Primary Sources: (A) Alciato in Spain. Editions and commentaries; (S) Emblem books in Spanish. Authors; (T) Translations into Spanish. Authors; (F) Emblem books written by Spaniards in other languages; (P) Polyglot editions containing Spanish text. Authors. Secondary Sources: (I) Emblem Compendia, library inventories, contemporary definitions of emblem, glossaries, commentaries, poetic treatises and emblem theory not contained in emblem books; (II) Mythographies, iconographies, arts of painting, works on paradoxography, numismatic works, emblematic topoi, visual motifs, proverbs and apothegms, studies on collectors and collecting, works on antiquarianism, studies on word and image, works on natural history, cultural studies, studies in mythology, and studies in art history and architecture of importance to Spanish emblem literature; (III) Overviews of Spanish emblem literature and short mentions of Spanish writers not included under studies of individual authors; (IV) Studies about emblem books and about emblem writers included in the primary sources of this bibliography; (V) Emblem literature: the emblem and literature; (VI) The emblem and the arts; (VII) Studies about fêtes, funerals, and royal entries. Appendix X: Bibliographic ghosts, untraceable or lost emblem books, and related items; Appendix Y: Short-title list of items often included in emblem book bibliographies, manuscripts, iconologies, symbologies, bestiaries, and other miscellaneous entries akin to emblem books; Appendix Z: Short-title bibliography to fêtes, royal entries, and funeral books of the Spanish golden age containing emblematic material.

Index of copies examined, p.219. Index of places of publication, p.220–22. Index of dates of publication, p.223–25. Index of printers, publishers, and booksellers, p.226–27. Index of artists, p.228. Index of dedicatees, p.229–30. Index of names, p.231–41. Index of subjects, p.242–48.

F66 Corpus librorum emblematum. 1–. N.Y., Saur; Montreal, McGill-Queen's University Pr., 1987–. Editor: Peter M. Daly. Publisher varies.

A series of studies on and bibliographies of emblem books.

Contents: Daly, Peter M., and Silcox, Mary V. The English emblem: bibliography of secondary literature (1990); Daly, Peter M., and Silcox, Mary V. The modern critical reception of the English emblem (1991); Daly, Peter M., and Dimler, G. Richard, eds. The Jesuit series (1997); Sider, Sandra, and Obrist, Barbara, eds. Bibliography of emblematic manuscripts (1997).

F67 Diehl, Huston. An index of icons in English emblem books, 1500–1700. Norman, Univ. of Oklahoma Pr., 1986. xiii, 258p. il.

A comprehensive complement to Henkel and Schöne's Emblemata (GLAH 1:F73). This subject index "makes available for the first time an alphabetical compilation of every icon in every English emblem book (including the polyglot editions of Continental books with English texts) printed in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. It indexes the twenty-four extant English emblem books of this period and one manuscript."—Introd. Entries are arranged alphabetically by words or phrases that identify the emblematic image and provide references to all extant English emblem books including that image. Provides mottos and descriptions of icons or pictures. Includes cross-references to related images. A separate section on illustrations gives descriptive information about the number, type, format and content of the illustrations in each book, along with a single exemplary image for each title.

Bibliography of sixteenth- and seventeenth-century English emblem books, p.253–54. Index, p.255–58.

F68 Emblem book facsimile series. Brookfield, Vt., Ashgate, 1996–.

A new series created in association with Glasgow University Library and its extensive emblem book holdings. "The general editors decided that the objective initially should be to provide those texts from the late sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries which would be most referred to by the students of the period, or which are too scarce to be easily consulted."—Introd. Includes scholarly introductions.

Contents: Vaenius, Otto. Amorum emblemata, 1996.

F69 Emblem books: a microfiche project [microform]. Zug, InterDocumentation, 1981 [?] [ca. 2000] microfiches + 1 catalog. [4], 23p. il.

Reproduces 354 emblem books.

This enormous collection of emblem books on microfiche is an extremely valuable resource for anyone needing ready access to emblem books. The publisher's ambitious project was "to bring together . . . all known emblem books with the exception of identical later editions and reprints . . . through the cooperation of a number of libraries with strong collections."—Catalog. Incomplete.

The supplements (below) reproduce, respectively, 135 and 279 emblem books from the National Library of Austria in Vienna. Coverage in the supplements is intentionally broad, and includes titles which are often excluded from strict definitions of emblem books, such as books with Dances of Death, iconologies, royal entries, festivities and funerals, hieroglyphs, and books in the tradition of the Stultifera Navis.

Supplement 1: a microfiche project [microform]. Ed. by Wim van Dongen. Zug, Inter Documentation, [198–?]. [ca. 780] microfiches + 1 catalog. 11p. il., plates.

Supplement 2: a microfiche project. Ed. by Wim van Dongen. Zug, Inter Documentation, [1985?]. 1303 microfiches + 1 catalog. 23p. il., plates.

F70 Emblem books at the University of Illinois: a bibliographic catalogue. Boston, Hall, 1993. 363p. il.

Thorough bibliography of emblem books and related items held in the Rare Book and Special Collections Library at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Part One includes descriptions of 601 original editions and some reissues published in 1800 or earlier. Detailed entries are arranged alphabetically by author or title followed by a transcription of the title page, a bibliographic description of an ideal copy, pagination or foliation, formulae, descriptions of illustrated matter, information unique to the university's copy, and bibliographic references. Part Two is a checklist of short-title descriptions of 408 emblem books in reprint, facsimile, or microform ed.

Contents: Part one: original editions. Comp. by Thomas McGeary; Part two: reprints and microforms. Comp. by N. Frederick Nash; Cross-references.

F71 Emblem books in the Princeton University Library: short-title catalogue. Compiled by William S. Heckschier and Agnes B. Sherman with the assistance of Stephen Ferguson. Princeton, Princeton University Library, 1984. vii, 105p.

Alphabetical checklist of nearly 800 original editions, facsimiles, and microfilm reproductions of emblem books held by Princeton University Library. Approximately sixty percent of the entries are for original editions. Entries include cross-references to related editions. Useful indexes.

Contents: Introduction; Note on the collection; Note on indexes; Short-title catalogue of emblem books; Index of printers, booksellers, and publishers.

Indexes to places of publication, p.59–80. Chronological indexes, p.81–105.

F72 Emblematisches Cabinet. 1–. Hrsg. von Wolfgang Harms und Michael Schilling. N.Y., Olms, 1971–.

Series of reprints of a wide range of editions of emblem books published for the most part in Germany and the Netherlands in the 16th and 17th centuries. Each vol. includes substantial scholarly appendices. Size varies. Some vols. unnumbered.

Contents: (2) Veen, Otto van. Amorum emblemata, figuris Aeneis incisa (1608), 1970; (4) Rollenhagen, Gabriel. Nucleus emblematum selectissimorum (1611), 1985; (9) Oettinger, Friedrich Christoph. Biblisches und emblematisches Wörterbuch (1776), 1987; (12) Boissard, Jean Jacques. Emblematum liber (1593), 1977; (s.n.) Dilherr, Johannes Michael. Drei-standige Sonn-und Festtag-Emblemata, oder Sinne-bilder. Nürnberg (1660), 1994; (s.n.) Bry, Johann Theodor de. Emblemata secularia (1611), 1994.

F73 Index emblematicus. Toronto, Univ. of Toronto Pr., 1985–.

Series of critical indexes to and reproductions of emblem books.

Contents: Daly, Peter M., and Callahan, Virginia W., eds. Andreas Alciatus (1985); Daly, Peter M., and Duer, Leslie T., eds. The English emblem tradition (1988–). (5)v.

F74 The Jesuit series. Ed. by Peter M. Daly and G. Richard Dimler. Montreal, McGill-Queen's Univ. Pr., 1997–. (2)v. (Corpus librorum emblematum)

"When completed, the Jesuit Series will encompass all extant books of emblems, works illustrated with emblems, and books dealing with the theory and practice of emblematics written by members of The Society of Jesus. Also included are translations and adaptations in all languages of Jesuit works by Catholics and non-Catholics alike. . . . The complete bibliography will probably comprise some 1,700 entries; about 500 first editions and a further 1,200 subsequent editions, issues, and translations. Many books are described here for the first time." This series is "the keystone of the database known as 'The Union Catalogue of Emblem Books' and of this series of reference works, the 'Corpus Librorum Emblematum'."—Introd.

Contents: Part one (A–D); Part two (D–E).

Includes cross-reference indexes.

F75 Landwehr, John. Emblem and fable books printed in the low countries, 1542–1813: a bibliography. 3d rev. and augm. ed. Utrecht, HES, 1988. 444p.

See GLAH 1:F74 for previous ed.

Revised ed. includes 918 entries for emblem books published in Belgium and Holland from 1554 to 1813, 150 additional titles, and 40 variants. New to this ed. is a lengthy bibliography of 235 Netherlandish fable books (1542–1913) following the same detailed format as the emblem book section. Unlike previous eds., does not contain entries for facsimiles, reprints, or modern editions.

Contents: Reference works (a choice); Anonyms and pseudonyms; List of libraries; Emblem books printed in the Low Countries 1554–1813: Portraits; Bibliography; Concordances, new editions, variants; Fable books printed in the Low Countries 1542–1813: Illustrators; Bibliography.

Indexes: Publishers (printers-booksellers), p.393. Printers-booksellers unknown or not given, p.395–415. "Selbstverlag," p.419. Book illustrators, p.421–28. Original plates, p.428. Manuscripts or copies with manuscript-notes, p.428. General index, p.429–44.

F76 Montagu, Jennifer. An index of emblems of the Italian academies: based on Michele Maylender's Storie [i.e. Storia] delle accademie d'Italia. [London], Warburg Institute, Univ. of London, 1988. iii, 77p.

Intended to be used in conjunction with Michele Maylander's classic Storia delle Accademie d'Italia (Bologna, L. Cappelli, 1926–30). Unique, specialized index designed to assist in the identification of academic imprese found in works of art. Indexes provide access to the emblems either from an alphabetical listing of the mottoes or from verbal descriptions of the figures included in the image, arranged alphabetically by keyword. No illustrations.

F77 Okayama, Yassu. The Ripa index: personifications and their attributes in five editions of the Iconologia. Doornspijk, Davaco, 1992. xiv, 628p.

Indexed editions of Ripa were determined by their availability in libraries in original or reprint.

Useful index to Cesare Ripa's Iconologia (see GLAH 1:F79) conceived by the ICONCLASS team at the University of Leiden in order to facilitate research on personifications and on symbolism in general. Part one indexes "the personifications in alphabetical order according to their Italian names with short descriptions based upon the texts of the five editions. . . . In the second part, the words used to describe the personifications are arranged in alphabetical order, with entries that include the context in which a term is used, and with reference to the Italian (Dutch or French) names of personifications."—Introd. Includes cross-references to ICONCLASS notations (see GLAH 1:F18; GLAH 2:F10).

Contents: Introduction; The personifications; Alphabetical index.

F78 The Renaissance and the Gods: a comprehensive collection of Renaissance mythologies, iconologies and iconographies, with a selection of works from the Enlightenment. Ed. with and introd. by Stephen Orgel. N.Y., Garland, 1976. 53v. il.

A valuable series of reprints that "remains one which no serious college art or literature department can afford to ignore: studies not only in antiquity and the Renaissance, but in the nature of myth and its relation to visual and conceptual schemes will want to draw heavily upon such a resource."—Review, Art in America, v.66, no.2, 1978, p.27. Each vol. is reprinted in its entirety with a brief introduction explaining its history. Various editions of the same title are included, for example, four editions of Cesare Ripa's Iconologia (1611, 1644, 1704, 1766).

F79 Symbola et emblemata = Studies in renaissance and baroque symbolism, 1–. Leiden, Brill, 1989–.

Ongoing monographic series comprised of scholarly studies on emblems and some reprints. Vols. contain high quality black-and-white reproductions.

Contents: (1) Maksimovich-Ambodik, Nestor. Emvlemy i simvol'y, 1788: the first Russian emblem book (1989); (2) The European emblem: selected papers from the Glasgow conference, 11–14 August 1987 (1990); (3) The emblem in Renaissance and baroque Europe: selected papers of the Glasgow International Emblem Conference, 13–17 August 1990 (1992); (4) Spectacle & image in Renaissance Europe: selected papers of the XXXIInd conference at the Centre d'études supérieures de la Renaissance de Tours, 29 June–8 July 1989 (1993); (5) Elders, William. Symbolic scores: studies in the music of the Renaissance (1994); (6) Plett, Heinrich F. English Renaissance rhetoric and poetics: a systematic bibliography of primary and secondary sources (1995); (7) European iconography East and West: selected papers of the Szeged international conference, June 9–12, 1993 (1996).

PORTRAITS

F80 Frazier, Patrick. Portrait index of North American Indians in published collections. 2d ed., rev. and enl. Washington, D.C., Library of Congress, 1996. xx, 200p. ports.

A unique index that "was compiled to provide a means for locating and identifying published portraits of individual Indians within tribes, and to do so by taking into account the several variations by which an Indian may be identified."—Introd. The entries, which range chronologically from the colonial period to the 1990s and are arranged alphabetically by tribe and then by individual, include references to the sources and page numbers in which the individuals are illustrated.

Index, p.133–200.

F81 Dictionary of British portraiture. Ed. by Richard Ormond and Malcolm Rogers. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1979–81. 4v.

"The aim . . . is to provide a listing of the portraits of famous figures in British history that are either in galleries and institutions, or in collections accessible to the public. It is intended for the general researcher and student who needs a reliable guide to portraits on public view of which illustrations can be obtained relatively easily. . . . The question of selection was a thorny one. We have relied heavily, though not exclusively, on the Dictionary of National Biography."—Introd.

Coverage from the 16th to about the mid-20th century. Entries supply name and dates of the subject, a line of biographical data, and then list portraits, giving medium, brief description, location, and, where known, date and artist's name.

Contents: (1) Davies, Adriana. The Middle Ages to the early Georgians: historical figures born before 1700 (1979); (2) Kilmurray, Elaine. Later Georgians and early Victorians: historical figures born between 1700 and 1800 (1979); (3) Kilmurray, Elaine. The Victorians: historical figures born between 1800 and 1860 (1981); (4) Davies, Adriana. The twentieth century: historical figures born before 1900 (1981).

"Abbreviations" at front of all vols. Index [of subjects, i.e., sitters], v.4, p.[125]–76.

F82 National Portrait Gallery, Great Britain. Complete illustrated catalogue 1856–1979. Comp. by K. K. Yung. Ed. by Mary Pettman. London, The Gallery, 1981. x, 749p. il. ports.

"A comprehensive checklist of every painting, drawing, miniature, photograph and work of sculpture in the main collection. All are illustrated, and the catalogue, with some 5,500 entries, now forms the largest and most extensive survey of British portraiture extant."—Dust jacket. Portraits are arranged by type and then alphabetically by sitter. Small black-and-white illustrations.

Contents: Introduction; Catalogue: single and double portraits; Groups; Collections; Unknown sitters.

Index of artists, engravers and photographers p.711–49.

THE AMERICAS

F83 The iconography of Middle American sculpture. Texts by Ignacio Bernal . . . [et al.] [N.Y.], The Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1973. 167p. il.

Papers presented at a symposium held at the Metropolitan Museum of Art (1970). In spite of the dated and succinct texts its articles remain benchmarks in the consideration of iconography of Mexico and Central America.

Contents: The iconology of Olmec art, by Michael Coe; Stone reliefs in the Dainzú area, by Ignacio Bernal; Iconographic aspects of architectural profiles at Teotihuacan and in Mesoamerica, by George Kubler; The eastern Gulf coast, by Gordon Ekholm; Maya rulers of the Classic period and the divine right of kings, by J.E.S. Thompson; The late pre-Hispanic Central Mexican (Aztec) iconographic system, by H.B. Nicholson; West Mexican art: secular or sacred?, by Peter Furst; Stone sculpture from southern Central America, by Wolfgang Haberland; Mesoamerican art and iconography and the integrity of the Mesoamerican ideology system, by Gordon Willey; Science and humanism among Americanists, by George Kubler.

SEE ALSO: Miller and Taube, The gods and symbols of ancient Mexico and the Maya: an illustrated dictionary of Mesoamerican religion (GLAH 2:E193).

G. Historiography, Methodology, and Theory

This chapter is limited to general works on the historiography of art and methodologies of art historical research, including research methods. A small selection of titles (including a few anthologies) dealing with contemporary debates concerning art historical methodology are included in response to the prominence of these debates in contemporary art history. Histories of aesthetics are not included, though major studies of the history and theory of art criticism are cited.

- G1 Academies of art between Renaissance and Romanticism. Ed. by Anton W.A. Boschloo. 's-Gravenhage, SDU Uitgeverij, 1989. 592p. il. (Leids kunsthistorisch jaarboek, 5-6, 1986-1987)

Essays in Dutch (with English summary), English, French, German, and Italian.

Geographical survey of early art academies through the 18th century. "The aim of this publication is to show how matters stand at present with regard to research into the world of academies some half a century after the appearance of Nikolaus Pevsner's standard work Academies of Art past and Present [GLAH 1:G22]. . . . Our aim has been to present a balanced account of the most important academies."—Pref.

Notes at ends of chapters. Bibliography, p.561-90.

- G2 Adams, Laurie. The methodologies of art: an introduction. N.Y., IconEditions, 1996. xvii, 236p. il. (part col.)

"In this book I survey some of the methodologies used in reading pictures, sculptures, and architecture, with a view to enriching the viewer's response to works of art. Each chapter is illustrated with examples, primarily of Western art, that appear in the major textbooks used in American colleges and schools."—Pref. Readable, general introduction to art historical methodologies.

Contents: (1) What is art?; (2) Formalism and style; (3) Iconography; (4) Contextual approaches I: Marxism; (5) Contextual approaches II: Feminism; (6) Biography and autobiography; (7) Semiotics I: Structuralism and Post-Structuralism; (8) Semiotics II: Deconstruction; (9) Psychoanalysis I: Freud; (10) Psychoanalysis II: Winnicott and Lacan; (11) Aesthetics and psychoanalysis: Roger Fry and Roland Barthes.

Bibliography of works cited, p.221-25. Index, p.227-36.

- G3 Altmeister moderner Kunstgeschichte. Hrsg. von Heinrich Dilly. Berlin, Reimer, 1990. 295p. il. (Kunstgeschichte zur Einführung)

Conceived as a supplementary vol. to Kunstgeschichte: Eine Einführung (GLAH 2:G55). Profiles of fifteen 20th-century art historians, modeled upon Wolfgang Waetzoldt's pioneering Deutsche Kunsthistoriker (GLAH 1:G28).

Contents: Einleitung, von Heinrich Dilly; Wilhelm von Bode, von Wolfgang Beyrodt; Alois Riegl, von Wolfgang Kemp; Heinrich Woelfflin, von Nikolaus Meuer; Bernard Berenson, von Heinrich Dilly; Julius Meier-Graefe, von Ron Manheim; Aby Warburg, von Martin Warnke; Emile Mâle, von Heinrich Dilly; Julius von Schlosser, von Edwin Lachnit; Erwin Panofsky, von Renate Heidt Heller; Nikolaus Pevsner, von Stefan Muthesius; Hans van de Waal, von Mechthild Beilmann; A.K. Porter, von Bernd Nikolai; Wilhelm Pinder, von Marlite Halbertsma; Roberto Longhi, von Andreas Beyer; Hans Sedlmayr, von Norbert Schneider.

Notes at ends of chapters. Personenregister, p.[289]-295.

- G4 Art history and its methods: a critical anthology. Selection and commentary by Eric Fernie. London, Phaidon, 1995. 384p. il.

Introduces undergraduates to the variety of approaches and methods constituting art historical study. Divided into three sections: an introductory essay, "A History of methods"; selected texts from historical and contemporary writers (e.g., Giorgio Vasari, Joshua Reynolds, Erwin Panofsky, E. H. Gombrich, and T. J. Clark); and a "Glossary of concepts" including "Hegelianism," "Art history," "Style," "Marxism," arranged alphabetically.

Selected bibliography, p.369. Index, p.370-83.

- G5 Bakewell, Elizabeth; Beeman, William O.; and Reese, Carol McMichael. Object, image, inquiry: the art historian at work. Marilyn Schmitt, general ed. Santa Monica, Getty Art History Information Program, 1988. xii, 199p. il.

"Report on a collaborative study by the Getty Art History Information Program (AHIP) and the Institute for Research in Information and Scholarship (IRIS), Brown University."—Title page. Results of "a nine-month collaborative study of the processes that art historians follow in the conduct of research. . . . The study was intended to serve as a basis for discovering what kinds of automated tools would be of use to art historians."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction: Description of the AHIP-IRIS collaborative study; The interviews; The case studies; Appendixes.

G6 Barasch, Moshe. Modern theories of art. N.Y., New York Univ. Pr., 1990. 2v.

Supplements the author's Theories of art (see following entry). Lucid survey of modern theories of art. Thematic arrangement.

Contents: (1) From Winckelmann to Baudelaire; (2) From Impressionism to Kandinsky.

Notes at ends of chapters. Bibliographical essay, v.1, p.391–407, v.2, p.371–82. Name index, v.1, p.409–14, v.2, p.383–85. Subject index, v.1, p.415–20, v.2, p.386–89.

G7 ———. Theories of art: from Plato to Winckelmann. N.Y., New York Univ. Pr., 1985. xiv, 394p.

Introductory survey of "the major stages in the development of European art theory" through the early 18th century.—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; (1) Antiquity; (2) The Middle Ages; (3) The early Renaissance; (4) The artist and the medium: some facets of the High Renaissance; (5) The late Renaissance; (6) Classicism and the Academy.

Notes at ends of chapters. Name index, p.379–85. Subject index, p.387–94.

G8 Barnett, Sylvan. A short guide to writing about art. 6th ed. N.Y., Longman, 1999.

1st ed., 1981; 2d ed., 1985; 3d ed., 1989; 4th ed., 1992; 5th ed., 1997.

Unusually helpful guide for the art history student, informed and faithfully kept up-to-date.

Contents: (1) Writing about art; (2) Analysis; (3) Writing a comparison; (4) How to write an effective essay; (5) Style in writing.

Index, p.273–80. Symbols commonly used in annotating papers, p.[282]. Frequently asked questions, p.[283].

G9 Bauer, Hermann. Kunsthistorik: eine kritische Einführung in das Studium der Kunstgeschichte. Dritte, durchges. und erg. Aufl. München, Beck, 1989. 213p. 1st ed. 1976.

Systematic introduction to the methodology and terminology of art history. Includes a topical survey of art historical genres; the history of art historical writing; the problematics of art history.

Contents: (1) Das "Kunstwerk" als Gegenstand der Kunstgeschichtsschreibung; (2) Die Geschichte der Kunstgeschichtsschreibung und die Entstehung von Begriffen, Methoden und Problemen; (3) Kunsthistorik; (4) Der Mensch und die Kunstgeschichte; (5) Möglichkeiten und Ziele einer künftigen Kunstgeschichtsschreibung.

Anmerkungen, p.[161]–80. Literaturverzeichnis, p.[181]–207. Register, p.[209]–13.

G10 Baxandall, Michael. Patterns of intention: on the historical explanation of pictures. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1985. xii, 147p. il., plates.

Revised version of lectures delivered at the University of California, Berkeley (1982). "The lectures addressed a question: If we offer a statement about the causes of a picture, what is the nature and basis of the statement? . . . What this book is primarily concerned with is criticism, which I take in the unclassical sense of thinking and saying about particular pictures apt to sharpen our legitimate satisfactions in them. And it is concerned with just one element in criticism, the cause-inferring strain inherent in our thinking about pictures as about other things."—Pref.

Texts and references, p.[138]–47. Index of subjects, p.[148].

G11 Bazin, Germain. Histoire de l'histoire de l'art: de Vasari à nos jours. Paris, Michel, 1986. 652p.

Wide-ranging, personal overview of European writing on the history of art from the Renaissance to the present, by the former chief conservator of paintings at the Louvre. Informed and scholarly but accessible to the student and general reader.

Contents: Avertissement; (I) Les prolégomènes; (II) De l'histoire de l'art à la science de l'art; (III) Voies et moyens; (IV) Territoires; Au fil des temps.

Notes, p.[573]–[626]. Index, p.[627]–[50].

G12 Belting, Hans. The end of the history of art? Trans. by Christopher S. Wood. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1987. xiii, 120p.

Rev. trans. of: Das Ende der Kunstgeschichte? 2. Aufl. München, Deutscher Kunstverlag, 1984; 1. Aufl. 1983; 3. Aufl., München, Beck, 1995, completely rewritten and with the subtitle: "Eine Revision nach zehn Jahren."

"The following essay is above all else an assessment of the discipline as it is practiced today, and more particularly, an inquiry into its old and new problems in light of our contemporary experience of art. The second essay provides what the first lacks, namely, a retrospective on the earlier tradition of art-historical writing."—Pref. "The English version incorporates a number of revisions, clarifications, and altogether new observations, mainly in the sections of the first essay on modern and contemporary art."—Pref.

Contents: (1) The end of the history of art? Reflections on contemporary art and contemporary art history; (2) Vasari and his legacy: The history of art as a process.

Notes, p.97–120.

G13 Bialostocki, Jan. Stil und Ikonographie: Studien zur Kunstwissenschaft. [2d ed.] Köln, DuMont, 1981. 327p. 64 il. (DuMont Taschenbücher, 113)

See GLAH 1:G2 for original ed.

Notes at ends of chapters. Personenregister, p.232–[38].

G14 Brush, Kathryn. The shaping of art history: Wilhelm Vöge, Adolph Goldschmidt, and the study of medieval art. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1996. xiii, 263p. il.

"This study examines some of the intellectual and historical circumstances that helped define the study of art history. It does so by tracing and contextualizing the ways in which the first generation of professional interpreters of art in Germany shaped discourse on medieval art."—Introd.

Contents: Part I: Mentalités: (1) Art history and cultural history during the 1880s: the discursive range. Part II: "Monumental styles" in medieval art history: (2) Wilhelm Vöge and the beginnings of the monumental style in the middle ages (1894); (3) Thematic and methodological range in the scholarship of Goldschmidt and Vöge to ca. 1905. Part III: Resonances: (4) German and international responses at the turn of the century; (5) Implications for later discourse in medieval art history.

Notes, p.155–229. Bibliography, p.231–53. Index, p.255–63.

G15 Cahn, Walter. Masterpieces: chapters on the history of an idea. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1979. xix, 168p. il., plates. (Princeton essays on the arts, 7) Urbane essay in the history of ideas.

Contents: Preface; Introduction; (I) The artisanal masterpiece; (II) Man, the divine masterpiece; (III) Toward the enduring monument: Nantes, Brou, Margaret of Austria; (IV) Masterpieces of the French renaissance; (V) Chef d'oeuvre and masterpiece; (VI) The classic masterpiece; (VII) The absolute masterpiece.

Bibliographical note, p.[157]–59. Index, p.[161]–68.

G16 Calligram: essays in new art history from France. Ed. by Norman Bryson. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1988. xxix, 183p. il. (Cambridge new art history and criticism)

Collection of essays intended "to stimulate awareness of other ways of thinking about images." "All art history needs to do is to appropriate the advance, take from literary criticism everything of service to itself, make reading and practical criticism regular components of art historical training, and the discipline will be at once more stable, more mature, and more nourishing than before."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction, by Norman Bryson; (1) Art as semiological fact, by Jan Mukarovsky; (2) Time and the timeless in Quattrocento painting, by Yves Bonnefoy; (3) Giotto's joy, by Julia Kristeva; (4) The trompe l'oeil, by Jean Baudrillard; (5) Towards a theory of reading in the visual arts: Poussin's The Arcadian Shepherds, by Louis Marin; (6) Las Meninas, by Michel Foucault; (7) The world as object, by Roland Barthes; (8) Ambrosia and gold, by Michel Serres; (9) In black and white, by Jean-Claude Lebensztejn; (10) Turner translates Carnot, by Michel Serres;

Contributors, p.ix–x. Index, p.181–83.

G17 Carrier, David. Artwriting. Amherst, Univ. of Massachusetts Pr., 1987. xii, 161p. il.

"Artwriting is the product of my effort as philosopher and art critic to understand the development of recent American art criticism."—Ackn. Thoughtful and influential essay on the rhetoric of contemporary interpretive writing about art, mindful of the history of art literature.

Contents: Overture; (1) Beginning in narrative art histories; (2) Endings in narrative art histories; (3) The presentness of art; (4) The art system; (5) Art fashion; (6) The rhetoric of artwriting.

Notes, p.141–55. Index, p.157–61.

G18 ———. Principles of art history writing. University Park, Pennsylvania State Univ. Pr., 1991. xiii, 249p. il. Attempts to answer "two simple questions: Why does the argumentation of present-day art historians differ so dramatically from that of earlier artwriters? And since those modern historians often disagree, how is objectivity in art history possible."—Introd. Lucid, careful study of the rhetoric and conventions of writing about art.

Contents: Introduction. Part one: Case studies: interpretation in present-day art history. Part two: the history of art history. Part three: toward a revisionist art history. Conclusion.

Index, p.245–49.

G19 Chandra, Pramod. On the study of Indian art. Cambridge, Mass., Published for the Asia Society by Harvard Univ. Pr., 1983. 134p. il., plates. (Polsky lectures in Indian and Southeast Asian art and archaeology) Thoughtful study of the historiography of Indian art, embracing architecture, sculpture, and painting.

Notes, p.[115]–21. References, p.[122]–29. Index, p.[130]–34.

G20 Critical terms for art history. Ed. by Robert S. Nelson and Richard Shiff. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1996. xvi, 364p. il.

Wide-ranging anthology of "essays about art history in the late twentieth century."—p.ix. Essays on 22 themes prominent in contemporary art historical discourse.

Contents: At the place of a foreword: someone looking, reading, and writing, by Robert S. Nelson; Operations: (1) Representation, by David Summers; (2) Sign, by Alex Potts; (3) Simulacrum, by Michael Camille. Communications: (4) Word and image, by W. J. T. Mitchell; (5) Narrative, by Wolfgang Kemp; (6) Context, by Paul Mattick, Jr.; (7) Meaning/interpretation, by Stephen Bann; Histories: (8) Originality, by Richard Shiff; (9) Appropriation, by Robert S. Nelson; (10) Art history, by David Carrier; (11) Modernism, by Charles Harrison; (12) Avant-garde, by Ann Gibson; (13) Primitive, by Mark Antliff and Patricia Leighton; (14) Ritual, by Suzanne Preston Blier; (15) Fetish, by William Pietz; (16) Gaze, by Margaret Olin; (17) Gender, by Whitney Davis; (18) Modes of production, by Terry Smith; (19) Commodity, by Paul Wood; (20) Collecting/museums, by Donald Preziosi; (21) Value, by Joseph Leo Koerner and Lisbet Koerner; (22) Postmodernism/postcolonialism, by Homi K. Bhabha. Afterword: Figuration, by Richard Shiff.

References, p.329–47. Contributors, p.349–51. Index, p.353–64.

G21 Didi-Huberman, Georges. Devant l'image: question posée aux fins d'une histoire de l'art. Paris, Editions de Minuit, 1990. 332p. il. (Collection "Critique")

Thoughtful critique of art historical claims to objectivity in interpretation, informed by a psychoanalytic perspective.

Includes bibliographical references. Index, p.321–26.

G22 Dilly, Heinrich. Deutsche Kunsthistoriker, 1933–1945. [München], Deutscher Kunstverlag, [1988]. 94p. (Kunstgeschichte und Gegenwart)

Brief but important essay on art historical practice in Nazi Germany.

Contents: Einleitung; Probleme der Kunstgeschichte; Quantitative Entwicklung; Selbstbeschränkung und Standardisierung; Aufgaben der Kunstgeschichtsschreibung; Museumsdienst; Akademische Praxis; Kunstgeschichte auf neuen Wegen; Nachwort.

Personenverzeichnis, p.93–4.

- G23 ———. Kunstgeschichte als Institution: Studien zur Geschichte eine Disziplin. Frankfurt am Main, Suhrkamp, 1979. 300p.

A revision of the author's thesis, Freie Universität Berlin, 1977. "Deals with problems of academic recognition of the field of art history at German speaking universities. Traces this development on three levels: in the area of presentation of art historical objects, in the area of basic scientific hypotheses, and in the field of the prerequisites of organization of art historical theory and usage. The first study, on institutionalization of this field, treats various forms of legitimation of methodical information, appealing to the history of the discipline. The second study compares the hypotheses of Johann Joachim Winckelmann and Carl Friedrich von Rumohr. In the third study, the diverse institutional combinations of both basic concepts of the writing of art history construct a systematic framework for a fragmented history of the recognition of this discipline through the system represented by the universities."— Author abstract, as cited in Bibliography of the history of art, record XRIL41588-G.

Anmerkungen und Quellennachweis, p.259–[65]. Literaturverzeichnis, p.266–[92]. Personenregister, p.293–[301].

- G24 Dvořák, Max. The history of art as the history of ideas. Trans. by John Hardy. Boston, Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1984. ix, 114p. il., plates.

Trans. of Kunstgeschichte als Geistesgeschichte, München, Piper, 1928; 1. Aufl. 1924; new ed. with a postscript by Artur Rosenauer, Berlin, Mann, 1995.

One of the great documents of art historiography. Index, p.109–14.

- G25 Dynes, Wayne, and Mermoz, Gérard. "Art History," in Dictionary of Art [GLAH 2:E4], v.2, p.530–40.

Overview, with brief bibliographies.

Contents: (I) Historical development, by Wayne Dynes; (II) Modern institutional practice, by Wayne Dynes; (III) Contemporary issues, by Gérard Mermoz.

- G26 The Early years of art history in the United States: notes and essays on departments, teaching, and scholars. Ed. by Craig Hugh Smyth and Peter M. Lukehart. Princeton, Dept. of Art and Archaeology, Princeton Univ., 1993. xxiii, 205p. il., 64p. of plates.

Collection of essays first presented at College Art Association of America annual conferences, 1987–89.

Contents: Preface; Part I: Glimpses of some early departments of History of Art in the United States. Part II: Three decades of art history in the United States (1910–1940): five figures. Part III: Institutionalizing art history: the early discipline in the United States.

Notes on the contributors, p.[xiii]–xvii. List of illustrations, p.[xix]–xxiii. Index, p.[195]–205.

- G27 Elkins, James. Our beautiful, dry, and distant texts: art history as writing. University Park, Pennsylvania State Univ. Pr., 1997. xvii, 300p. il.

"This is a book about the vexed relations between art historical writing and attempts to account for that writing. I am interested in what it means to move from studying artists and artworks to considering interpretive methods and historiography. . . . A large portion of this book, and most of its arguments, were prompted by what I take to be limitations of contemporary accounts of art history."—Pref.

Includes bibliographical references. Index, p.[298]–300.

- G28 The Expanding discourse: feminism and art history. Ed. by Norma Broude and Mary D. Garrard. N.Y., IconEditions, 1992. x, 518p. il.

"The twenty-nine essays in this volume represent what is to our minds some . . . of the best feminist art-historical writing of the last decade."—Pref. A sequel to the editors' previous anthology, Feminism and art history (see following entry).

Notes at ends of chapters. Notes on the contributors, p.[503]–05. Index, p.[506]–18.

- G29 Feminism and art history: questioning the litany. Ed. by Norma Broude and Mary D. Garrard. N.Y., Harper & Row, 1982. ix, 358p. il. (IconEditions)

Pioneering anthology of essays, inspired by and in part delivered at sessions of the annual College Art Association conferences (1978–79). "As a compendium of important recent ideas on the subject, the book will, we hope, be of use to scholars, students, and general readers unfamiliar with the effect of feminist thinking on art history."—Pref. and ackn.

Notes at ends of chapters. Notes on contributors, p.[347]–50. Index, p.[351]–58.

- G30 Feminist art criticism: an anthology. Ed. by Arlene Raven . . . [et al.] Ann Arbor, UMI Research Press, 1988. xii, 248p. il. (Studies in the fine arts. Criticism, no. 27)

"The essays fall into two broad categories: accounts of different female artists, and efforts to formulate a female art-criticism."— Foreword.

Notes at ends of chapters. Contributors, p.[239]–42. Index, p.[243]–48.

- G31 Frankfurter Schule und Kunstgeschichte. Hrsg. von Andreas Berndt . . . [et al.] Berlin, Reimer, 1992. 202p. il.

Contents: Zur Einführung, von Heinrich Dilly; Von der Ideologie—zur Ikonologiekritik, die Warburg-Renaissancen, von Michael Diers; Adorno und die kunsthistorische Diskussion der Avantgarde vor 1968, von Jutta Held; Adornos Theorie des Naturschönen, von Norbert Schneider; Der kunsthistorische Nachthimmel, ein Beitrag zur Kritik kunsthistorischer Praxis, von Heinrich Dilly; Thesen der Kritischen Theorie bei der Analyse der NS-Kunst, von Hans-Ernst Mittag; Der simulierte Benjamin, Mittelalterliche Bemerkungen zu seiner Aktualität, von Horst Bredekamp; Kunstgeschichte zwischen affirmativer Kultur und Kulturindustrie, von Michael Müller; Walter Benjamins Passagenwerk als Modell für eine kunstgeschichtliche Synthese, von Otto Karl Werckmeister; Kunst und Geschichte nach dem Mauerfall: Marx zu Hegel—auf den Kopf stellen!, von Berthold Hinz; Kunstgeschichte und Frankfurter Schule—ein Rückblick, von Johann Konrad Eberlein.

Notes at ends of some chapters.

- G32 Freedberg, David. The power of images: studies in the history and theory of response. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1989. xxv, 534p. il.

An important historical exploration of the human response to images. "This book is not about the history of art. It is about the relations between images and people in history. It consciously takes within its purview all images, not just those regarded as artistic ones. It is the product of a long-standing commitment to ideas which traditional forms of the history of art—as well as most current ones—seem either to have neglected or to have left inadequately articulated."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The power of images: response and repression; (2) The god in the image; (3) The value of the commonplace; (4) The myth of aniconism; (5) Consecration: making images work; (6) Image and pilgrimage; (7) The votive image: invoking favor and giving thanks; (8) Invisibilia per visibilia: meditation and the uses of theory; (9) Verisimilitude and resemblance: from sacred mountain to waxworks; (10) Infamy, justice, and witchcraft: explanation, sympathy, and magic; (11) Live images: the worth of visions and tales; (12) Arousal by image; (13) The sense and censorship; (14) Idolatry and iconoclasm; (15) Representation and reality.

Abbreviations, p.443–44. Notes, p.445–505. Bibliography, p.507–17. Index, p.519–34.

- G33 German essays on art history. Ed. by Gert Schiff. N.Y., Continuum, 1988. lxxii, 282p. il., plates (The German library, 79)

"The essays presented in this volume are meant to introduce the interested reader to some of those writers who initiated and shaped the study of art in the German-speaking countries."—Introd. Welcome anthology of selected texts by seminal art historians including Winckelmann, Rumohr, Wickhoff, Riegl, Dvořák, Schlosser, Warburg, and Panofsky. Uniformly fine translations, with helpful annotations and a long historiographic introduction by the editor.

- G34 Germann, Georg. Vitruve et le vitruvianisme: introduction à l'histoire de la théorie architecturale. Trad. de l'allemand par Michele Zaugg et Jacques Gubler. Lausanne, Presses polytechniques et universitaires romandes, 1991. viii, 264p. il. (Collection architecture)

Trans. of Einführung in die Geschichte der Architekturtheorie, 2d. verb. Aufl., Darmstadt, Wissenschaftliche Buchgesellschaft, 1987; 1. Aufl. 1980.

Brief introductory survey of architectural theory from Vitruvius through 19th-century historicism. Focus on the Vitruvian tradition as reflected in seminal theoretical treatises.

Bibliographie, p.[237]–53. Index des noms propres, p.255–64.

- G35 Goldstein, Carl. Teaching art: academies and schools from Vasari to Albers. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1996. xvi, 350p. il.

"This is a book about teaching visual art in the Renaissance tradition. . . . It also examines a range of questions raised during the course of the reaction against this teaching tradition beginning in the nineteenth century, with attention to alternative methods, particularly those grounded in the theory and practice of modernism."—Introd. An important re-examination of a subject pioneered by Nikolaus Pevsner's Academies of art, past and present (GLAH 1:G22).

Contents: Introduction: academic questions; (1) The problem of the first academy; (2) A tradition in the making; (3) The triumph of the academy leading to the reaction of the Avant-Garde; (4) Doctrine 1: art history; (5) Doctrine 2: theory and practice; (6) The copy; (7) The antique; (8) Life drawing; (9) Art and science; (10) Style; (11) Originality; (12) The revolt of the crafts; (13) Teaching modernism; Epilogue: Postmodernist contingencies.

Notes, p.301–20. Bibliography, p.321–39. Index, p. 341–50.

- G36 Greenhalgh, Michael, and Duro, Paul. Essential art history. London, Bloomsbury, 1992. 311p.

Also available on the internet.

Alphabetically arranged dictionary of art-historical terms. Principally devoted to western art, this handy volume focuses upon painting and sculpture to the exclusion of architecture and the decorative arts. Includes artists who have written on art and selected influential art historians. Many entries feature brief bibliographies. Historiographic introduction.

Contents: Introduction: the literature of the discipline; A note on the contents; A note on the references; A–Z section.

- G37 Hadjinicolaou, Nicos. Art history and class struggle. Trans. by Louise Asmal. London, Pluto Pr., 1978. 206p. il., plates.

Trans. with revisions of Histoire de l'art et lutte des classes. Paris, Maspero, 1973; Spanish ed., Mexico, Siglo Veintiuno, 1981 (and later eds.).

"This book is devoted to the study of the bourgeois ideology of 'art' and to its variants, which in practice constitute what is usually described as art history."—Introd. Famous, polemical Marxist analysis of art historical practice.

Includes bibliographical references. Subject index, p.[198]–200. Name index, p.[201]–06.

- G38 Halbertsma, Marlite. Wilhelm Pinder und die deutsche Kunstgeschichte. Worms, Werner, 1992. 246p. il.

Trans. of the author's dissertation, Wilhelm Pinder en de Duitse kunstgeschiedenis, Gröningen, Försten, 1985. Attempts to describe an important phase in the history of German art historical scholarship, from 1900 to 1945, by focusing upon the methodology of one eminent practitioner.

Contents: Einführung; (I) Kunstgeschichte als Geistesgeschichte; (II) Das Problem der Generation; (III) Methodenstreit und Kunstgeographie; (IV) Wilhelm Pinder ergreift Partei; Anlagen; Zusammenfassung.

Anmerkungen, p.186–223. Bibliographie, p.224–40. Register, p.241–[47].

G39 ———, and Zijlmans, Kitty, eds. Gezichtspunten: een inleiding in de methoden van de kunstgeschiedenis. Nijmegen, SUN, 1993. 352p.

A collection of essays by Dutch art historians on the methodologies of art history.

Bibliographies at the end of chapters.

Contents: (1) Het kunstwerk, de context, de tijd en its lovers, van Kitty Zijlmans, Marlite Halbertsma; (2) De geschiedenis van de kunstgeschiedenis in de Duitsprekende landen en Nederland van 1764 tot 1933, van Marlite Halbertsma; (3) Verklaren en ordenen. Over stijlanalytische benaderingen, van Gerrit Willems; (4) Iconologie en historische antropologie: een toenadering, van Reindert Falkenburg; (5) Een bril voor het onschuldige oog. Marxisme, neo-marxisme en post-marxisme in de kunstgeschiedenis, van Frans Jozef Witteveen; (6) Vrouwenstudies kunstgeschiedenis, van Marlite Halbertsma; (7) Kunst, geschiedenis en sociologie, van Ton Bevers; (8) Ceci n'est pas une pipe. Kunstgeschiedenis en semiotiek, van Arie Jan Gelderblom; (9) Kunstgeschiedenis als systeemtheorie, van Kitty Zijlmans.

Over de auteurs, p.345–46. Personenregister, p.347–52.

G40 Haskell, Francis. History and its images: art and the interpretation of the past. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. 558p. il. (part col.)

A pioneering study "devoted to the impact of the image on the historical imagination."—Introd. The author surveys the ways in which cultural historians from the 14th century (Francesco Petrarch) to the 20th (Johan Huizinga) have availed themselves of the visual arts to understand and visualize the past.

Contents: Introduction; Part 1: The discovery of the image; (1) The early numismatists; (2) Portraits from the past; (3) Historical narrative and reportage; (4) The issue of quality. Part 2: The use of the image; (5) Problems of interpretation; (6) The dialogue between antiquarians and historians; (7) The birth of cultural history; (8) The arts as an index of society; (9) The Musée des Monuments Français; (10) Michelet; (11) Museums, illustrations and the search for authenticity; (12) The historical significance of style; (13) The deceptive evidence of art; (14) Art as prophecy; (15) Huizinga and the "Flemish Renaissance."

Notes, p.[496]–519. Works cited in the text and notes, p.[520]–42. Illustrations, p.[543]–48. Index, p.[549]–58.

G41 Hauser, Arnold. The sociology of art. Trans. by Kenneth J. Northcott. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1982. xxi, 776p.

Trans. of Soziologie der Kunst. München, Beck, 1974; Hungarian ed., Budapest, Gondolat, 1982.

Hauser's monumental, posthumous work which attempts to provide a comprehensive analysis of the "sociological problems" of art production, reception, and interpretation. Hauser bases his methodology largely on neo-, or Western, Marxist principles influenced by the Frankfurt School and other adapters of Marxist critique to the aims of cultural studies.

Bibliographical references.

G42 Histoire de l'histoire de l'art: cycles de conférences organisées au musée du Louvre par le Service culturel. Sous la direction scientifique d'Edouard Pommer. [Paris], Louvre, Klincksieck, 1995–. (1)v. (Louvre conférences et colloques)

In French, with translations from English, German, Italian and Spanish. Reproduces four lecture cycles delivered at the Louvre (October 10–November 14, 1991 and January 25–March 15, 1993).

Contents: (1) De l'antiquité au XVIIIe siècle; (II) XVIIIe et XIXe siècles.

Notes at ends of some chapters. Index général, v.1, p.371–86, v.2, p.445–59. Index des notions, p.387–88.

G43 Hüttinger, Eduard. Porträts und Profile: zur Geschichte der Kunstgeschichte. Mit einem Beitrag von Gottfried Boehm. St. Gallen, Erker, 1992. 384p.

Collection of 31 historiographic essays by the author. Most are profiles of individual art historians, published in connection with birthdays or as obituaries between 1961 and 1986.

G44 Isager, Jacob. Pliny on art and society: the Elder Pliny's chapters on the history of art. Odense, Denmark, Odense Univ. Pr., 1991. 263p. (Odense University classical studies, v.17)

Originally presented as the author's thesis, Odense Universitet, 1990.

"The present book aims at being a comprehensive study of the art chapters in books 33 to 37 of the Natural History. This has never been attempted before in spite of the fact that the text by virtue of its status as the sole surviving art history from antiquity has been and always will remain relevant."—Introd.

Summary in Danish, p.244–51. Bibliographical references, p.252–63.

G45 Johnson, William McAllister. Art history: its use and abuse. Toronto, Univ. of Toronto Pr., 1988. xvii, 374p. il.

Idiosyncratic, polemical essay on contemporary academic art history.

Contents: Preface; Introduction: Art history in translation; (1) Research; (2) Bibliography; (3) Writing; (4) University and public life; (5) Cataloguing theory; (6) Cataloguing practice.

Notes, p.[327]–49. Index, p.[351]–73.

G46 Kategorien und Methoden der deutschen Kunstgeschichte, 1900–1930. Beiträge von Oskar Bätschmann . . . [et al.] Hrsg. von Lorenz Dittmann. Stuttgart, Steiner, 1985. 364p. il., plates.

"Aus den Arbeitskreisen 'Methoden der Geisteswissenschaften' der Fritz Thyssen Stiftung."—p.[2]. A collection of essays intended to identify the main problems that engaged German art history from the turn of the century through the Weimar Republic, and to bring them into meaningful relationship to contemporary art history.

Contents: Zur Theorie des Neuen Bauens in Deutschland, von Erik Forssman; Kategorien der Plastik in der deutschen Kunstgeschichte der zwanziger Jahre, von Eduard Trier; Der Begriff des Kunstwerks in der deutschen Kunstgeschichte, von Lorenz Dittmann; Logos in der Geschichte: Erwin Panofsky's Ikonologie, von Oskar Bätschmann; Die Krise der Repräsentation: Die Kunstgeschichte und die moderne Kunst, von Gottfried Boehm; Der Epochenbegriff und die Kunstgeschichte, von Götz Pochat; Nationalstil und Nationalismus in der Kunstgeschichte der zwanziger und dreissiger Jahre, von Lars Olaf Larsson; Die Anfänge der Ostasiatischen Kunstgeschichte in Deutschland, von Eleanor von Erdberg; Art history and the concept of art, von Michael Podro; Transzendente Elemente in der Kunstphilosophie und in der Kunstgeschichte: Zur Geschichte der Kunsttheorie 1900–1930, von Gerd Wolandt; Probleme der allgemeinen Kunstwissenschaft, von Wolfhart Henckmann.

Notes at ends of chapters. Angaben zu den Autoren, p.[335]–44. Namenregister, p.[345]–52. Sachregister, p.[353]–64.

- G47 Kauffmann, Georg. Die Entstehung der Kunstgeschichte im 19. Jahrhundert. Opladen, Westdeutscher Verlag, 1993. 56p. il., ports. (Gerda Henkel Vorlesung)

Important lecture on 19th-century art historians. "Der Vortrag wurde am 24. Januar 1992 in Düsseldorf gehalten"—Verso of t.p.

Contents: Das Panorama; Der romantische Impuls; Der Aufbruch der Wissenschaft; Das "Fach" in der zweiten Jahrhunderthälfte; Ausblick in das 20. Jahrhundert.

Includes bibliographical references. Der Autor, p.[58]. Gerda Henkel Vorlesungen, p.[59]–[60].

- G48 Kleinbauer, W. Eugene. Modern perspectives in Western art history: an anthology of twentieth-century writings on the visual arts. [Reprint.] Buffalo, Univ. of Toronto Pr. in assoc. with the Medieval Academy of America, 1989. xiii, 528p., il. (Medieval Academy reprints for teaching, 25)

Repr. of GLAH 1:G11, commonly used in courses on art historiography and methodology.

- G49 Kris, Ernst, and Kurz, Otto. Legend, myth, and magic in the image of the artist: a historical experiment. Pref. by E. H. Gombrich. Trans. by Alastair Lang, rev. by Lottie M. Newman. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1979. xvi, 159p.

Based on Die Legende vom Kuenstler. Vienna, Krystall, 1934. Additions to the original text by Otto Kurz.

"This book deals with society's attitude to the artist. . . . We hope that this study will constitute the preliminary work for a future sociology of the artist."—Introd. Brief, suggestive study of typical, recurring themes in the biographical literature on artists, from antiquity to the present. A classic.

Contents: Preface, by E. H. Gombrich; (1) Introduction; (2) The heroization of the artist in biography; (3) The artist as magician; (4) The special position of the artist in biography.

Bibliography, p.133–47. Index, p.149–59.

- G50 Kruft, Hanno-Walter. A history of architectural theory: from Vitruvius to the present. Trans. by Ronald Taylor . . . [et al.] N.Y., Princeton Architectural Pr., 1994. 706p. il., plates.

Trans. of Geschichte der Architekturtheorie: von der Antike bis zur Gegenwart, Munich, Beck, 1985; 2d ed. 1986; 3d rev. "Studienausgabe," 1991; Italian ed., Roma, Laterza, 1988.

Magisterial survey of European and American architectural theory from antiquity to the present. Informed, judicious, authoritative. Will be the standard textbook for the foreseeable future.

Notes [including texts of quotations in the original language], p.447–609. Bibliography, p.[613]–73. Supplement to the bibliography, p.[674]–80. English-language translations of sources, p.[681]–84. Index of names, p.[685]–706.

- G51 Kubler, George. Esthetic recognition of ancient Amerindian art. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1991. xvi, 276p. il. (Yale publications in the history of art)

70 brief biographical essays on individuals (69 men, one woman) who wrote on Amerindian esthetics, from Christopher Columbus to Sir John Eric Sidney Thompson (d. 1975). "The object of this book is to find how ancient American objects of esthetic value in the visual order have been considered since the Discovery by Columbus."—Author's pref.

Contents: (1) American antiquity; (2) Salvaging Amerindian antiquity before 1700; (3) Idealist studies of Amerindia from above; (4) Empiric esthetics from below; (5) Americanist historians of art since 1840; (6) Anthropologists and archaeologists after 1875; Epilogue.

Notes, p.200–41. Bibliography, p.243–70. Index, p.271–76.

- G52 Kultermann, Udo. The history of art history. N.Y., Abaris Books, 1993. ix, 278p. ports.

Trans. of Geschichte der Kunstgeschichte (GLAH 1:G13); 2. Aufl. Frankfurt, Ullstein, 1981; 3. überarb. und erw. Aufl., München, Prestel, 1990.

Introductory historical survey of European and American literature on the history of art from the Renaissance to the present. Attempts to present "enduring achievements in the literature of art history," to trace the evolution of art history as a scholarly and academic discipline, and "to set the various periods of art historiography within their contemporary artistic context."—Pref. Includes many portraits of writers and art historians.

Contents: Introduction; (I) Artists' histories; (II) Poussin and the French Academy; (III) Art in the Enlightenment; (IV) The Laocoön debate; (V) Winckelmann's revolution; (VI) Toward an historical discipline; (VII) Goethe as art historian; (VIII) Art history in Romanticism; (IX) Rumohr and the Berlin School; (X) Jakob Burckhardt and the Renaissance; (XI) Reality and method; (XII) Art history in the Gründerzeit; (XIII) The Dresden Holbein debate; (XIV) Impressionist aesthetics; (XV) The Vienna School; (XVI) The discovery of form; (XVII) Art history at the turn of the century; (XVIII) Art history of Expressionism; (XIX) The founding of iconology; (XX) Foundations of art history today; Epilogue: The image of the art historian.

Notes, p.253–69. Suggestions for further reading, p.270. Index of names, p.271–78.

- G53 ———. Kleine Geschichte der Kunsttheorie. Darmstadt, Wissenschaftliche Buchgesellschaft, 1987. xviii, 369p.

Introductory historical survey of art theory from antiquity to the late 20th century. Brief description of non-western developments. Emphasis upon German philosophical aesthetics and 20th-century developments.

Contents: Vorwort; Einleitung; Pygmalion und das Symbol des Künstlers; (1) Vorgeschichte und Altertum; (2) Das Mittelalter; (3) Die Renaissance; (4) Manierismus und Barock; (5) Das 18. Jahrhundert; (6) Klassik und Romantik; (7) Kunst als Arbeit—Die Kunsttheorie des Realismus; (8) Form und Symbol; (9) Abstraktion; (10) Neue Grundlagen; (11) Zeitgenössische Tendenzen; (12) Schluss.

Literaturverzeichnis, p.319–56. Register, p.[357]–69.

- G54 Kunst und Kunsttheorie: 1400–1900. Hrsg. von Peter Ganz . . . [et al.] Wiesbaden, Harrassowitz, 1991. viii, 462p. il. (Wölfenbütteler Forschungen, 48)

Wide-ranging series of lectures delivered at the 22nd Wölfenbütteler Symposium, December 1–5, 1987 ("Kunstgeschichte von Vasari bis Winckelmann") and at the 24th Wölfenbütteler Symposium, November 27–December 1, 1988 ("Kunstgeschichte seit Winckelmann") in the Herzog August Bibliothek Wölfenbüttel.

Contents: Ghiberti, Alberti und die frühen Italianer, von Gerda S. Panofsky; Giorgio Vasari: Kunstgeschichtliche Perspektiven, von Julian Kliemann; The dispute about Disegno and Colorito in Venice: Paolo Pino, Lodovico Dolce and Titian, by Thomas Puttfarcken; Carel van Mander zwischen Vasari und Winckelmann, von Wolfgang Freiherr von Löhneysen; Kunst vor ihrer Geschichte: Zum kunsthistoriographischen Verfahren des Franciscus Junius, von Martin Warnke; "La più bella antichità che sappiate desiderare": History and style in Giovan Pietro Bellori's "Lives," by Elisabeth Cropper; Roger de Piles and the history of art, by Svetlana Alpers; Zur Entwicklung des Stilbegriffs bei Winckelmann, von Lorenz Dittmann; Die Museifizierung der Kunst und die Folgen für die Kunstgeschichte, von Günter Busch; Der letzte Homer: Zum philosophischen Ursprung der Kunstgeschichte im Deutschen Idealismus, von Beat Wyss; ". . . Woran meine ganze Seele gesogen . . .": Das Galerieerlebnis—eine verlorene Dimension der Kunstgeschichte? von Klaus Herding; Spontaneität und Rekonstruktion: Zur Rolle, Organisationsform und Leistung der Kunstkritik im Spannungsfeld von Kunsttheorie und Kunstgeschichte, von Stefan Germer, Hubertus Kohle; Kunstgeschichte als Universitätsfach, von Wolfgang Beyrodt; Kunstbeschreibung und Illustration in Deutschland im 19. Jahrhundert, von Regine Timm; Die Anfänge der historisch-kritischen Kunstgeschichtsschreibung, von Gabriele Bickendorf; National Museum, the art market and Old Master paintings, by Jaynie Anderson; Are works of art provisional or canonical in form? Fiedler, Hildebrand and Woelfflin, by Michael Podro; Kunstgeschichte und Kulturgeschichte oder Kunstgeschichte nach Aufgaben, von Mikolaus Meier; Alois Riegl and the aesthetics of disintegration, by Margaret Iversen.

Includes bibliographical references. Personenregister, p.453–62.

- G55 Kunstgeschichte: eine Einführung. Hrsg. von Hans Belting . . . [et al.] 3. durchges. und erw. Aufl. Berlin, Reimer, [1990?]. 377p. il.

1st ed., 1986.

Collection of essays by 15 specialists, intended to provide a comprehensive introduction to the scope of art history as an academic discipline.

Contents: Einleitung, von Heinrich Dilly; Teil 1: Gegenstandsbestimmung; Gegenstandsbereiche der Kunstgeschichte, von Martin Warnke; Teil 2: Gegenstandssicherung; Die Gegenstandssicherung allgemein, von Willibald Sauerländer; Materiale Befundssicherung an Skulptur und Malerei, von Ulrich Schiessl; Befundssicherung an Architektur, von Dethard von Winterfeld; Alterssicherung, Ortssicherung und Individualsicherung, von Willibald Sauerländer; Teil 3: Gegenstandsdeutung; Einleitung, von Hans Belting und Wolfgang Kemp; Form, Struktur, Stil: Die formalanalytischen und formgeschichtlichen Methoden, von Hermann Bauer; Inhalt und Gestalt: die ikonographisch-ikonologische Methode, von Johan Konrad Eberlein; Anleitung zur Interpretation: kunstgeschichtliche Hermeneutik, von Oskar Bätschmann; Das Werk im Kontext, Hermann Bauer; Kunstwerk und Betrachter: Der rezeptionsästhetische Ansatz, von Wolfgang Kemp; Kunst als Zeichen: Die semiotisch-[semantische?] Methode, von Rolf Duroy und Guenter Kerner; Dyaden zu dritt: Der (analytisch-) kunstpsychologische Ansatz, von Hartmut Kraft; Kunst und Gesellschaft: Der sozialgeschichtliche Ansatz, von Norbert Schneider; Geschichte und Geschlecht: Der feministische Ansatz, von Ellen Spickernagel; Wechselseitige Erhellung: Die Kunstgeschichte und ihre Nachbardisziplinen.

Notes at ends of chapters. Sachregister, p.367–71. Namenregister, p.372–75.

- G56 Kunsthistoriker in eigener Sache: Zehn autobiographische Skizzen. Hrsg. von Martina Sitt. Einl. von Heinrich Dilly. Berlin, D. Reimer, 1990. 330p. il., ports.

Autobiographical sketches by ten prominent contemporary art historians. Intended to explore and elucidate the art historian's choice of vocation.

Portraits of the authors, passim. Notes at ends of chapters.

Contents: Vorwort, von Martina Sitt; Einleitung, von Heinrich Dilly; Am Anfang war das Auge: Otto Pächt, von Martina Sitt; "Wenn's euch Ernst ist, was zu sagen . . ." Wandlungen in der kunstgeschichtlichen Betrachtung, von Ernst H. Gombrich; Produktive Konflikte, von Werner Hofmann; Erinnerungen, von Joseph Gantner; Das Kunstwerk als Kraftquelle, von Werner Schmalenbach; Zur Psychologie der Kunst und ihrer Geschichte, von Rudolf Arnheim; Kunst und Wahrheit, von Heinrich Lützel; Bis an die Grenze des Aussagbaren . . . , von Max Imdahl; Frühe Wege zur Kunstgeschichte, von J. A. Schmoll gen. Eisenwerth; Zersplitterte Erinnerung, von Willibald Sauerländer.

Personenregister, p.[325]–30.

- G57 The language of art history. Ed. by Selim Kemal and Ivan Gaskell. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1991. x, 245p. (Cambridge studies in philosophy and art)

"The purpose of this volume . . . is to offer a range of responses by philosophers and art historians to some crucial issues generated by the relationship between the art object and the language of art history."—p. I.

Contents: (1) Art history and language: some issues, by Selim Kemal and Ivan Gaskell; (2) Presence, by Jean-François Lyotard; (3) Writing and painting: the soul as hermeneut, by Stanley Rosen; (4) Correspondence, projective properties, and expression in the arts, by Richard Wollheim; (5) The language of art criticism, by Michael Baxandall; (6) Baxandall and Goodman, by Catherine Lord and José A. Benardete; (7) Figurative language in art history, by Carl R. Hausman; (8) Cézanne's physicality: the politics of touch, by Richard Shiff; (9) Conditions and conventions: on the disanalogy of art and language, by David Summers; (10) A minimal syntax for the pictorial: the pictorial and the linguistic—analogies and disanalogies, by Andrew Harrison.

Notes at ends of chapters. Index, p.240–45.

- G58 Lavalleye, Jacques. Introduction à l'archéologie et à l'histoire de l'art. 4. ed. Louvain-La-Neuve, Institut supérieur d'archéologie et d'histoire de l'art, 1979. xxii, 221p. il. (Publications d'histoire de l'art et d'archéologie de l'Université catholique de Louvain, 17)

See GLAH 1:G15 for previous eds.

- G59 Lützel, Heinrich. Kunsterfahrung und Kunstwissenschaft: systematische und entwicklungsgeschichtliche Darstellung und Dokumentation des Umgangs mit der bildenden Kunst. Freiburg, Alber, 1975. 3v. (Orbis academicus, 1/15, 1–3)

Ambitious, thematic anthology documenting mankind's encounter with art in Europe from late antiquity to the 20th century. To a significant extent, a genre-based survey of the literature of art, with an emphasis upon historiography and methodology.

Contents: (1) Einleitung; Erster Teil: Die ausserwissenschaftliche Kunsterfahrung [includes poetic responses to the visual arts, art criticism, the relationship of art and society, the evaluation of art]; Zweiter Teil: Die vorwissenschaftliche Kunsterfahrung [includes travel guides, biographies of artists, chronicles]; Dritter Teil: Künstler über Kunst [includes instructional manuals, art theory, self-portraiture]; Vierter Teil: Kunsterfahrung in der Wissenschaft: Überblick [includes methodology and historiography]; Fünfter Teil: Grundlagen der Kunstwissenschaft [includes connoisseurship, hermeneutics, style, tradition, epistemology, description of artworks, aesthetic values]. (2) Sechster Teil: Die heteronome Grundlegung der Kunstwissenschaft [includes theology, philosophy, psychology, social history of art, art and science]; Siebter Teil: Die autonome Grundlegung der Kunstwissenschaft [includes iconography, iconology, formalism, the materials of the artist]; Achter Teil: Die Offenheit des Kunstwerkes [includes structuralism, the non finito, Geistesgeschichte, sociology of art, patronage, the art market, the idea of the great artist, biography of artists, geography and nationalism, history of world art, comprehensive surveys, comparative art history. (3) [Notes, bibliography, indexes, plates].

Anmerkungen: Bd.3, p.[1519]–63. Bibliographie, Bd.3, p.[1565]–1706. Personen- und Ortsregister, Bd.3, p.1709–70. Sachregister, Bd.3, p.1771–1849.

- G60 Metzler Kunsthistoriker Lexikon: zweihundert Porträts deutschsprachiger Autoren aus vier Jahrhunderten. Von Peter Betthausen, Peter H. Feist und Christiane Fork unter Mitarb. von Karin Rührdanz und Jürgen Zimmer. Stuttgart, Metzler, 1999. xvii, 523p.

200 biographical sketches of Germanophone art historians. Bibliographie, p.501–10. Namenregister, p.511–23.

- G61 Michels, Karen. Transplantierte Kunstwissenschaft: deutschsprachige Kunstgeschichte im amerikanischen Exil. Berlin, Akademie, 1999. xvii, 255p., ports. (Studien aus dem Warburg-Haus, 2)

Revision of the author's Habilitationsschrift, University of Hamburg. Important analysis of the emigration of Germanophone art historians to the United States during the Nazi years, focusing upon institutional settings, pedagogical and research programs.

Verzeichnis der emigrierten deutschsprachigen Kunsthistoriker, p.195–200. Siglenverzeichnis, p.201. Literaturverzeichnis, p.202–30. Personenregister, p.231–37.

- G62 Miedema, Hessel. "Kunst" historisch. Maarssen, Gary Schwartz, 1989. 221p. il.

An important, untranslated essay on art historical methodology by an accomplished student of Dutch art history.

Contents: Kunst; Historisch: Iconografie; Kunsttheorie; Stilistiek; Iconology; Het aanzien van het kunstwerk; Het aanzien van de kunstenaar; Het aanzien van de kunst; Besluit.

Includes bibliographical references.

- G63 Minor, Vernon Hyde. Art history's history. Englewood Cliffs, N.J., Prentice Hall, 1994. xii, 211p. il.

"It is my intention to attempt to describe in this book what art history is, where it came from, what ideas, institutions and practices form its background, how it achieved its present shape, and what critical methods it uses."—Introd. Aimed at "those who are encountering art history for the first time or nearly the first time."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: The Academy. Part two: What is art? Answers from antiquity to the eighteenth century. Part three: The emergence of method and modernism in art history.

Bibliographies at the end of chapters. Index, p.207–11.

- G64 Mitter, Partha. Much maligned monsters: a history of European reactions to Indian art. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1992. xxiii, 351p. il.

1st ed. Oxford, Clarendon Press, 1977. Originally presented as the author's thesis, University of London.

Informed study of the western reception of Indian art, including western historiography.

Contents: (I) Indian art in travellers' tales; (II) Eighteenth century antiquarians and erotic gods; (III) Orientalists, picturesque travellers, and archaeologists; (IV) Historical and philosophical interpretations of Indian art; (V) The Victorian interlude; (VI) Toward the twentieth century: a reassessment of present attitudes. Appendix 1: Outline of early European collections of Indian art; Appendix 2: On Elephanta and Salsette from Castro's Roteiro.

Notes, p.287–320. Bibliography, p.330–43. Index, p.345–51.

G65 Moxey, Keith P. F. The practice of theory: poststructuralism, cultural politics, and art history. Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1994. xv, 153p. il.

"This book is intended to promote a theoretical awareness that will enable . . . [previous conventions of art history writing] to locate themselves within the broader intellectual landscape offered by the humanities as a whole" and to challenge the claim that "there is no place in art history for theory and that our discipline's success depends upon its capacity to assume that the theories on which it bases its results cannot be called into question."—Pref.

Contents: Preface; Part one: Cultural politics: Theory; Introduction; (1) Representation; (2) Ideology; (3) Authorship; Part two: Cultural politics: practice; (4) Panofsky's Melancolia; (5) The paradox of mimesis; (6) Seeing through; (7) Making "genius."

Index, by Celeste Newbrough, p.[149]–53.

G66 The New art history. Ed. by Frances Borzello and A. L. Rees. London, Camden Pr., 1986. 173p.

An influential anthology that offers "a review of the new developments in art history for the interested but not necessarily specialist reader. . . . All contributors share the conviction that the principles and methods of traditional art history must come under scrutiny."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction, by A. L. Rees and Frances Borzello; Reviewing art history, by Dawn Ades; How revolutionary is the new art history? by Stephen Bann; On newness, art and history: reviewing Block, 1979–85, by Jon Bird; "Something about photography theory," by Victor Burgin; Teaching and learning, by Mary F. Gormally and Pamela Gerrish Nunn; New lamps for old, by Tom Gretton; Taste and tendency, by Charles Harrison; Saussure v. Peirce: Models for a semiotics of visual art, by Margaret Iversen; Photography, history and writing, by Ian Jeffrey; The landscape of reaction: Richard Wilson (1713?–1782) and his critics, by Neil McWilliam and Alex Potts; Feminism, art history and cultural politics, by Lynda Nead; Pater, Stokes and art history: the aesthetic sensibility, by Michael O'Pray; The new art history and art criticism, by Paul Overy; History of art and the undergraduate syllabus: is it a discipline and how should we teach it?, by Marcia Pointon; Art's histories, by Adrian Rifkin; Art history and difference, by John Tagg.

Notes at ends of some chapters. Notes on contributors, p.[172]–73.

G67 New feminist criticism: art, identity, action. Ed. by Joanna Frueh . . . [et al.] N.Y., IconEditions, 1994. xxii 345p. il.

"Offers a wide range of feminist criticism, sparked by ideas and events of the 1980s and early 1990s."—Introd.

Notes at ends of chapters. Notes on contributors, p.[327]–30. Index, p.[331]–45.

G68 Panichi, Roberto. La teoria dell'arte nell'antichità. Firenze, Alinea, 1997. 141p. il. (Saggi e documenti, 161)

Lucid, scholarly study of art theory in classical antiquity, embracing art criticism, philosophy of art, and esthetics.

Contents: (1) Linee generali; (2) Per la definizione del concetto di critica; (3) Categorie critiche; (4) La storia naturale di Plinio e le sue fonti; (5) Note pliniane su Protegene, Timante, Lisippo, Apelle. La questione dell'ethos in Polignoto e Zeusi secondo la poetica aristotelica; (6) Letteratura periegetica. Pausania; (7) Marco Vitruvio Pollione: la restaurazione del noto; (8) Agatarco di samo e la prospettiva; (9) Il caso di Apaturio di Alabanda; (10) L'architettura nella teoria dell'arte; (11) L'anomino del sublime; (12) Spunti di critica nell'età imperiale; (13) Fondamenti estetici: Platone; (14) L'indirizzo psicologico: Aristotele; (15) La soluzione mistica: Plotino; (16) Il sacro fuoco d'Olimpia; (17) Nel salotto di Diotima.

Bibliografia, p.[139]–41.

G69 Panofsky, Erwin. Perspective as symbolic form. Trans. by Christopher S. Wood. N.Y., Zone Books (Distr. by MIT Pr., 1991). 196p.

Trans. of Die Perspektive als symbolische Form, which first appeared in Vorträge der Bibliothek Warburg 4 (1924–1925), p.[258]–330; French ed. Paris, Éditions de minuit, 1973; Italian ed. Milano, Feltrinelli, 1961; 4a ed. 1979.

Includes bibliographical references.

G70 Pevsner, Nikolaus. Academies of art, past and present. [Reprint.] New pref. by the author. N.Y., Da Capo, 1973. x, xiv, 323p. il.

See GLAH 1:G22 for original ed. (1940). Spanish trans., Academias de arte: pasado y presente. Madrid, Ediciones Catedra, 1982.

G71 Podro, Michael. The critical historians of art. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1982. xxvi, 257p. il.

"The present book examines a central tradition within the literature of the visual arts. The foundations of that tradition lay in German philosophical aesthetics of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth century and it stretches from roughly 1827 to 1927, from the writings of Hegel and Rumohr to that of Riegl, Wölfflin, Warburg and Panofsky."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; Part one: (I) The project; (II) Hegel; (III) Schnaase's prototype of critical history; (IV) From Semper to Goeller. Part two; Introduction to part two; (V) Riegl; (VI) Wölfflin; (VII) The Principles and its problems; (VIII) From Springer to Warburg; (IX) Panofsky; (X) The tradition reviewed.

Notes, p.[218]–50. A select bibliography, p.[251]–54. Index, p.[255]–57.

G72 ———. The manifold in perception: theories of art from Kant to Hildebrand. Oxford, Clarendon Pr., 1972. xv, 129 il., plates.

A rigorous examination of "German aesthetic theory from Kant through the end of the 19th Century." Examines pertinent texts "in order to re-locate notions in current use, like 'aesthetic detachment,' within the sustained systematic discourse of which they were once part."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Introduction: three types of demarcation; (II) Kant; (III) Schiller's conception of morality and its visual image; (IV) The Aesthetic education of mankind; (V) Herbart's vision of the mind; (VI) Visual perception; (VII) Schopenhauer's theories of art; (VIII) Fiedler's analogy of vision and language; (IX) The tradition from Kant in contemporary retrospect.

Bibliography and abbreviations, p.[xiii]–xv. Index, p.[127]–29.

G73 Preziosi, Donald, ed. The Art of art history: a critical anthology. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1998. 595p. il. (part col.), facsim., ports. (Oxford history of art)

A "collection of resources for constructing a critical history of art history . . . made up of essays and excerpts from books written on a number of interrelated themes over the past two centuries."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction: Art history: making the visible legible, by Donald Preziosi; (1) Art as history; (2) Aesthetics; (3) Style; (4) History as an art; (5) Mechanisms of meaning: iconography and semiology; (6) Modernity and its discontents; (7) The gendered subject; (8) Deconstruction and the limits of interpretation; (9) The Other: art history and/as museology; Afterword.

Notes, p.528–68. List of texts, p.569–70. Biographical notes, p.574–75. Glossary, p.576–83. Index, p.584–95.

G74 ———. Re-thinking art history: meditations on a coy science. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1989. xvi, 269p. il.

"The six chapters of the book represent several probes into the archaeology of art history—several test trenches beneath the rhetorical surfaces of disciplinary practice . . . [with] the modest aim of foregrounding some of the primary metaphorical substructures of modern art historical practice."—Pref.

Notes, p.181–244. Bibliography, p.245–64. Index, p.265–69.

G75 Problemi di metodo: condizioni di esistenza di una storia dell'arte. A cura di Lajos Vayer. Bologna, CLUEB, [1982]. 268p. il., plates. (Atti del XXIV Congresso internazionale di storia dell'arte, v. 10)

Contributions in English, French, German, Italian, and Spanish.

Wide-ranging collection of lectures on the methodologies of art history, presented at the 24th International Congress of the History of Art, Bologna (1979).

Bibliographical references at the end of most lectures.

G76 Riegl, Alois. Problems of style: foundations for a history of ornament. Trans. by Evelyn Kain. Annotations, glossary, and introd. by David Castriota. Pref. by Henri Zerner. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1992. xxxiii, 406p. il.

Trans. of Stilfragen: Grundlegungen zu einer Geschichte der Ornamentik. Berlin, Siemens, 1893; repr.: Mittenwald, Maander, 1985 (Kunstwissenschaftliche Studententexte, Bd. 1); Italian ed. Milano, Feltrinelli, 1963.

Well-translated, annotated English version of a classic of the historiography of art; central to subsequent discussions of the evolution of artistic styles, periodization in art history, and the history of ornament.

Annotations, p.307–96. Glossary of terms and concepts used by Riegl, p.397–406.

G77 Roskill, Mark. The interpretation of pictures. Amherst, Univ. of Massachusetts Pr., 1989. xvi, 124p. il. "This book is a series of essays on the way that pictures are interpreted. Uses examples from the Renaissance to the modern period to bring out the principles and problems that govern the bringing into being of a considered text that, if generally accepted, causes the work of art that is its subject to be viewed in a certain light."—Pref.

Contents: (1) The rhetoric of art historical writing: employment, tenor, tropology; (2) The study of imagery and creative processes; (3) Indeterminacy and the institutions of art history; Conclusion: Revisionist interpretation and art history today; Supplements: (1) Iconography; (2) Style as a tool of interpretation.

Notes, p.[103]–20. Index, p.[121]–24.

G78 ———. What is art history? 2d ed. Amherst, Univ. of Massachusetts Pr., 1989. 192p. il.

See GLAH 1:G23 for original ed. Changes in this ed. are limited to corrections of mistakes, updating of captions when locations of works have changed, etc. Includes an Introduction to the second edition.

References and books for further reading, p.183–88. Index, p.189–92.

G79 Sciolla, Gianni Carlo. Materiali per la storia della critica d'arte del Novecento. Torino, Editrice Tirrenia-Stampatori, 1980. 193p.

Studies of major 20th-century art historians, based upon the author's academic lectures on the history of art criticism, University of Turin, delivered since 1972.

Contents: Parte prima: La "scuola" di Vienna e la critica d'arte del primo Novecento; Parte seconda: Orientamenti storiografici e problemi metodologici della critica d'arte fra le due guerre; Parte terza: Orientamenti storiografici e problemi metodologici dal secondo dopoguerra agli anni settanta; Parte quarta: Problemi e prospettive degli anni settanta.

Bio-bibliographies of art historians at the end of chapters.

G80 "State of research in . . ." Published periodically in Art bulletin, v.68, 1986–.

Series of articles on current methodologies in specific areas of the history of art. Title varies.

Contents: Corn, Wanda, "Coming of age: historical scholarship in American art," v.70, June 1988, p.188–207; Cropper, Elizabeth, and Dempsey, Charles, "Italian painting of the seventeenth century," v.69, December 1987, p.494–509; Gouma-Peterson, Thalia, and Mathews, Patricia, "The feminist critique of art history," v.69, September 1987, p.326–

57; Haverkamp-Begemann, Egbert, "Northern baroque art," v.69, December 1987, p.510-19; Hood, William, "Italian renaissance art," v.69, June 1987, p.174-86; Kessler, Herbert L., "On the state of medieval art history," v.70, June 1988, p.166-87; Kuspit, Donald, "Conflicting logic: twentieth century art at the cross roads," v.69, March 1987, p.117-32; Ridgway, Brunhilde Sismondo, "The state of research on ancient art," v.68, March 1986, p.7-23 (response by Hood, William, "In defense of art history: a response to Brunhilde Sismondo Ridgway," v.68, September 1986, p.480-81; reply by Ridgway, p.481-82); Shiff, Richard, "Art history and the nineteenth century: realism and resistance," v.70, March 1988, p.25-49; Silver, Larry, "Northern European art of the renaissance era," v.68, December 1986, p.518-35 (response by Hindman, Sandra, "The illustrated book: an addendum to the state of research in northern renaissance art," v.68, December 1986, p.536-42); Spector, Jack, "The state of psychoanalytic research in art history," v.70, March 1988, p.49-76; Stafford, Barbara Maria, "The eighteenth century: towards an interdisciplinary model," v.70, March 1988, p.6-25; Trachtenberg, Marvin, "Some observations on recent architectural history," v.70, June 1988, p.208-41.

G81 The subjects of art history: historical objects in contemporary perspective. Ed. by Mark A. Cheetham, Michael Ann Holly, Keith Moxey. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1998. xii, 336p. il.

Collection of 16 essays by the editors and 13 other writers, seeking to provide "an introduction to the historiography and theory of the history of art."—Pub. advertisement.

Contents: Part one: Philosophy of history and historiography; Part two: The subjects and objects of art history; Part three: Places and spaces for visual studies.

Index, p.329-36.

G82 Theories of the arts in China. Ed. by Susan Bush and Christian Murck. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1983. xxvi, 447p. il.

Papers presented at a conference sponsored by the Committee on Studies of Chinese Civilization of the American Council of Learned Societies held June 6-June 12, 1979, at the Breckinridge Public Affairs Center of Bowdoin College, York, Maine.

Notes at ends of chapters. Contributors, p.[425]-26. Glossary for Chinese and Japanese texts in the notes, p.[427]-34. Index-Glossary, p.[435]-47.

G83 Tournikiotis, Panayotis. The historiography of modern architecture. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1999. xi, 334p. il., plans.

"A thoughtful, intelligent, and sometimes astute study of a reasonable number (and choice) of historians of the modern movement: Nikolaus Pevsner, Emil Kaufmann, Siegfried Giedion, Bruno Zevi, Leonardo Benevolo, Henry-Russell Hitchcock, Reynier Banham, Peter Collins, and Manfredo Tafuri."—Review by Harry Malgrave in CAA reviews (Jan.-June 2000).

Contents: (1) The art historians and the founding genealogies of modern architecture; (2) The critical resurgence of modern architecture; (3) The social confirmation of modern architecture; (4) The objectification of modern architecture; (5) History in search of time present; (6) Architecture, time past, and time future; (7) History as the critique of architecture; (8) Modern architecture and the writing of histories.

Notes, p.269-317. Bibliography, p.319-35. Index of names, p.337-44.

G84 Vanbergen, J. F. H. H. Voorstelling en betekenis: theorie van de kunsthistorische interpretatie. Assen, Van Gorcum, 1986. 208p. il. (Ancorae, v.3)

An introduction to art historical theories and methods of explanation and interpretation.

Contents: (1) Inleiding; (2) De iconologische theorie; (3) Typus; (4) Modus; (5) Stijl; (6) Expressie en intentie; (7) De voorstelling as tekst; (8) Metataal en kritiek; (9) Noten.

Noten, p.168-95. Register, p.207-8.

G85 Vansina, Jan. Art history in Africa: an introduction to method. Drawings by C. Vansina. N.Y., Longman, 1984. xiv, 233p. il.

"The book is an exposé of the approach to art history in general as it relates to Africa. It is an introduction to the questions art historians should ask about the objects of study and to the ways they should follow when seeking answers to such questions. It applies the general epistemology and methods used in the discipline to the specific situation of art in Africa."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Identification; (3) Society, the mother of art; (4) Media and techniques; (5) Style; (6) The interpretation of icons; (7) Culture and art; (8) The creative process; (9) The creative process: foreign inputs; (10) Wider perspectives; (11) Art in history.

References and further reading, p.214-23. Index, p.225-33.

G86 Visual culture: images and interpretations. Ed. by Norman Bryson . . . [et al.] Hanover, N.H., University Pr. of New England, 1994. xxix, 429p. il.

"Essays originally written for a National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Institute entitled 'Theory and Interpretation in the Visual Arts,' held at the University of Rochester during July and August 1989."—Pref. 15 essays intended "to encourage discussion of theoretical perspectives in art history."—Pref. A sequel to Visual theory (see following entry).

Contents: Introduction; Feminism/Foucault—Surveillance/sexuality, by Griselda Pollock; Men's work? Masculinity and modernism, by Lisa Tickner; The discontinuous city: picturing and the discursive field, by John Tagg; Hieronymus Bosch and the "World Upside Down": the case of The Garden of Earthly Delights, by Keith Moxey; Observations on style and history in French painting of the male nude, 1785-1794, by Thomas Crow; The renunciation of reaction in Girodet's Sleep of Endymion, by Whitney Davis; The theater of revolution: a new interpretation of Jacques-Louis David's Tennis Court Oath, by Wolfgang Kemp; Géricault and "masculinity," by Norman Bryson; Strategies of identification, by Ernst van Alphen; Fassbinder and Lacan: a reconsideration of gaze, look, and image, by Kaja Silverman; Feminism, psychoanalysis, and the study of popular culture, by Constance Penley; The ecology of images, by Andrew Ross; Wölfflin and the imagining of the Baroque, by Michael Ann Holly; Dead flesh, or the smell of painting, by Mieke Bal; Form and gender, by David Summers.

Notes at ends of chapters. Contributors, p.[413]–15. Index, p.[417]–29. Contributors, p.[413]–15. Index, p.[417]–29.

G87 Visual theory: painting and interpretation. Ed. by Norman Bryson . . . [et al.] N.Y., HarperCollins, 1991. ix, 286p. il.

Lectures delivered at an institute on "Theory and Interpretation in the Visual Arts," held at Hobart and William Smith Colleges in July and August 1987. Selected lectures were chosen for publication with a goal of "locating art history within the context of theoretical debates currently taking place in other fields and . . . examining interpretative models that might generate the basis for future art historical work."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction; (1) Women, art and power, by Linda Nochlin; commentaries by Ellen Wiley Todd and Ludmilla Jordanova; (2) Semiology and visual interpretation, by Norman Bryson; commentary by Stephen Melville; (3) Using language to do business as usual, by Rosalind Krauss; commentary by Norman Bryson; (4) What the spectator sees, by Richard Wollheim; commentaries by Flint Schier and Martin Kelly; (5) Depiction and the golden calf, by Michael Podro; commentary by Timothy Erwin; (6) Description and the phenomenology of perception, by Arthur C. Danto; commentaries by Martin Donoghoe and Garry Hagberg; (7) Real metaphor: towards a redefinition of the "conceptual" image, by David Summers; commentaries by David Radcliffe and Shelly Errington.

Notes at ends of each chapter. Notes on contributors, p.[274]–75. Index, p.[276]–86.

G88 Waetzoldt, Wilhelm. Deutsche Kunsthistoriker. [Reprint]. Berlin, Spiess, 1986. 2v.
Reprint of GLAH 1:G28

G89 Watkin, David. The rise of architectural history. Westfield, N.J., Eastview, 1980. xi, 204p.

"This book is a first attempt to sketch the outline of the study of architectural history from the seventeenth century to the present day, primarily in England, though also taking into account German, French, Italian and American historiography."—Pref.

Contents: Preface; (I) The continental background 1700–1914; (II) America; (III) English antiquarians and the Gothic Revival; (IV) The history of the "English Tradition": 1900–1945; (V) The establishment of art history; (VI) Victorian and Neo-Classical studies; (VII) Some recent tendencies.

Select bibliography, p.191–96. Index, p.197–204.

G90 Wendland, Ulrike. Biographisches Handbuch deutschsprachiger Kunsthistoriker im Exil: Leben und Werk der unter dem Nationalsozialismus verfolgten und vertriebenen Wissenschaftler. München, Saur, 1999. 2v.

Biographical dictionary of émigré Germanophone art historians who went into exile during the Nazi era.

Contents: (1) A–K; (2) L–Z.

Abkürzungsverzeichnis, v.1, p.[xxi]–xxii. Abkürzungen der Literatur und Archivalien, p.[xxiv]–xlii.

G91 Wien und die Entwicklung der kunsthistorischen Methode. Leitung der Sektion: Leopold D. Ettlinger. Red.: Stefan Krenn, Martina Pippal. Wien, Böhlau, 1984. 127p. (Akten des XXV. Internationalen Kongresses für Kunstgeschichte, 1)

Contributions in English, French, German, and Italian.

Essays on seminal figures of the Vienna School of art history, presented at the International Congress of the History of Art (Vienna, 1983).

G92 Wolff, Janet. Aesthetics and the sociology of art. 2d ed. Ann Arbor, Univ. of Michigan Pr., 1993. xiv. 130p.

1st ed., Boston, Allen & Unwin, 1983.

"This book deals with what I have called 'the sociological challenge to aesthetics.' It reviews the many ways in which sociological approaches . . . raise uncomfortable and important questions for traditional aesthetics."—Introd. to the second ed. Well-known, brief, and accessible text.

References at end of each essay. Bibliography, p.117–26. Index, p.127–30.

G93 ———. The social production of art. 2d ed. Washington Square, New York Univ. Pr., 1993. 207p.

1st ed., N.Y., St. Martin's Press, 1981.

Sociological study of the production, distribution, and reception of art.

Notes and references, p.[144]–65. Bibliography p. [166]–86. Index, p.[187]–96.

G94 Women as interpreters of the visual arts, 1820–1979. Ed. by Claire Richter Sherman and Adele M. Holcomb. Westport, Conn., Greenwood, 1981. xxiv, 487p. il. (Contributions in women's studies, 18)

"This volume attempts to repair the neglect of women's attainments as interpreters of the visual arts. . . . Twelve biographical and critical essays on representative European and American women reveal the range of their contributions to the field. These essays are preceded by three introductory chapters that review the careers of about a hundred other women who, from 1820 until 1979, made important contributions as interpreters of the visual arts."—Introd. note.

Selected bibliography, p.[441]–57. Index, p.[459]–83. Notes on contributors, p.[485]–87.

G95 Wrigley, Richard. The origins of French art criticism: from the Ancien Régime to the Restoration. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1993. xii, 427p. il., plates.

"This book is a study of the circumstances in which art criticism came to be an established form of commentary on contemporary art in France, and how those specific conditions shaped the nature of the criticism that was produced."—Introd. Exemplary study.

Contents: Introduction; (1) The Salon in context; (2) The Salon; (3) In search of an art public; (4) Between the studio and the Salon; (5) Censorship and diffusion of criticism during the Ancien Régime; (6) The status of criticism; (7) The language of art criticism; (8) The hierarchy of the genres; Conclusion. Appendices: (I) Some independent exhibitions, lotteries, and subscription schemes; (II) Some extensions to Salon exhibitions; (III) Production of Salon pamphlets and press reviews; (IV) A question of attribution: Lefébure or Carmontelle?

Abbreviations, p.[xi]–xii. Bibliography, p.[363]–416. Index, p.[417]–27.

SEE ALSO: Architectural theory and practice from Alberti to Ledoux (GLAH 2:J199); Art in theory, 1815–1900 (GLAH 2:I245); Art in theory, 1900–1990 (GLAH 2:I246); Belting, Likeness and presence (GLAH 2:I211); Chipp, Theories of modern art (GLAH 1:I238); Ehresmann, Fine arts: a bibliographic guide (GLAH 2:A38); Kleinbauer and Slavens, Research guide to the history of western art (GLAH 2:A44); Stiles and Selz, Theories and documents of contemporary art: a sourcebook of artists' writings (GLAH 2:I294); Tafuri, Theories and history of architecture (GLAH 2:J128); Taylor, Nineteenth-century theories of art (GLAH 2:I295).

H. Sources and Documents

This bibliography of sources and documents is highly selective. With the exception of general anthologies and collections, these titles embrace the period from antiquity to the mid-19th century. Late 19th- and 20th-century sources, both individual titles and collections, are listed elsewhere (mostly in Chapter I, Histories and Handbooks) and may be located by title and subject through the index.

GENERAL WORKS

- H1 Documents of art and architectural history. N.Y., Broude, 1981-92. (9?)v.

Most vols. published in 1980-81.

"Documents of art and architectural history is a numbered series of facsimile editions of major works relevant to the history of painting, sculpture, and architecture from the Renaissance to the present. Each volume . . . is a full-size reproduction of the original text . . . prefaced by a note dealing with the printing history of the edition reproduced and with matters of textual and bibliographical interest."—Pub. note.

Contents: Series 1: Biography and lexicography; Series 2: Theory and practice. Sample titles: Algarotti, Francesco. Saggio sopra la pittura (1763); Baldinucci, Filippo. Vocabolario toscano dell'arte del disegno (1681); Bellori, Giovanni Pietro. Le vite de' pittori, scultori ed architetti moderni: parte prima (1672); Bosse, Abraham. Sentimens sur la distinction des diverses manières de peinture . . . etc. (1649); Cellini, Benvenuto. Due trattati (1568); Gaurico, Pomponio. De sculptura (1504); Mander, Carel van, Het Schilder-Boeck (1604); Orlandi, Pellegrino Antonio. Abecedario pittorico (1704); Piero della Francesca. De prospectiva pingendi (manuscript facs.) (published in 1992); Vasari, Le vite de più eccellenti architetti, pittori, et scultori italiani (1550).

- H2 Fonti per la storia dell'arte. Treviso, Canova, 1973- . (13?)v.

Loosely coordinated series of reprints and studies of sources and documents in the history of art; unrelated to following entry.

Selective contents: Carradori, Francesco. Istruzione elementare per gli studiosi della scultura, 1802 (1979); Cozens, Alexander. A new method of assisting the invention in drawing original compositions of landscape, 1785 (1981); Lanzi, Luigi. Viaggio del 1793 pel Genovesato e il Piemontese (1984); Ludovico da Pietralunga. Descrizione della basilica di S. Francesco e di altri santuari di Assisi (manuscript facs., 1982); Marulli, Vincenzo. Su l'architettura e su la nettezza delle città, 1807 (1975); Moreno, Paolo. Testimonianze per la teoria artistica di Lisippo (1973); Orsini, Baldassare. Guida al forestiere per l'augusta città di Perugia, 1784 (1973); Ottonelli, Giovanni Domenico. Trattato della pittura e scultura uso et abuso loro, 1652 (1973); Pascoli, Leone. Vite de' pittori, scultori, ed architetti viventi (manuscript facs., 1981); Ridolfi, Carlo. Le maraviglie dell'arte, 1648 (repr. of 1914-24 ed., Roma, SOMU, 1965); Silos, Giovanni Michele. Pinacotheca, sive Romana pictura et sculptura, 1673 (1979).

- H3 Fonti per la storia dell'arte. Firenze, Le Lettere, 1991- . (3)v.

Loosely coordinated series of reprints of sources and documents in the history of art; unrelated to preceding entry.

Contents: (1) Biffi, Giuseppe. Pitture, sculture et ordini d'architettura (1990); (2) Schlosser, Julius. Quellenbuch: repertorio di fonti per la storia dell'arte del medioevo occidentale (1992); (3) Bon Castellotti, Marco. Collezionisti a Milano nel '700 (1991).

- H4 Friedenthal, Richard. Letters of the great artists. London, Thames and Hudson, [1963.] 2v. il., plates.

A select, readable anthology of letters, personal documents, and other self-revelatory writings (e.g., poetry), theoretical and programmatic statements. Capsule biographies.

Contents: (1) From Ghiberti to Gainsborough; (2) From Blake to Pollock.

- H5 Holt, Elizabeth Gilmore. A Documentary history of art. [Reprint.] Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1981-1986. 3v.

See GLAH 1:H3 for previous eds.

Continued by The Triumph of art for the public: the emerging role of exhibitions and critics. Garden City, Anchor, 1979 (Repr.: Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1983); The Art of all nations, 1850-73: the emerging role of exhibitions and critics. Garden City, N.Y., Anchor, 1981 (Repr.: Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1982); and The expanding world of art, 1874-1902. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1988 (1)v. No more published.

H6 The printed sources of western art. Portland, Ore., Collegium Graphicum, 1972. 43v.

Series of facsimile reprints of early modern treatises on art and architecture. No modern critical apparatus. Gen. ed. Theodore Besterman.

Selective contents: (7) Alberti, Leon Battista. De pictura praestantissima (1540); (25) Junius, Franciscus. De pictura veterum. Libri III (1637).

H7 Quellen und Schriften zur bildenden Kunst. Berlin, Hessling, 1966–79; Berlin, Spiess, 1979–. (6)v.

See GLAH 1:R54 for previous vols.

Selective contents: (5) Die Kataloge der Dresdner Akademisch-Ausstellungen 1801–1850 (1975); (6) C. P. Warnke. Die ornamentale Grotteske in Deutschland 1500–1650, 2v. (1979).

H8 Sources and documents in the history of art series. Englewood, N.J., Prentice-Hall, 1965–80.

Series ed.: Horst W. Janson. See GLAH 1:H6 for previous vols.

Contents: Pollitt, Jerry Jordan. The art of ancient Greece, 1400–31 B.C. (rev. ed., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1990); ———, The art of Rome, c. 753 B.C.–337 A.D. (repr. Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1983); Mango, Cyril. The art of the Byzantine Empire, 312–1452 (repr. Univ. of Toronto Pr., 1986); Frisch, Teresa G. Gothic art, 1140–c. 1540 (repr. Univ. of Toronto Pr., 1987); Klein, Robert, and Henri Zerner. Italian art, 1500–1600 (repr. Northwestern Univ. Pr., 1989); Stechow, Wolfgang. Northern Renaissance art, 1400–1600 (repr. Northwestern Univ. Pr., 1989); Engass, Robert, and Jonathan Brown. Italy and Spain, 1600–1750 (repr. Northwestern Univ. Pr., 1992); Eitner, Lorenz. Neoclassicism and romanticism, 1750–1850: (1) Enlightenment / revolution; (2) Restoration / twilight of humanism (repr. Harper & Row, 1989); Davis-Weyer, Caecilia. Early medieval art, 300–1150 (repr. Univ. of Toronto Pr., 1986); Gilbert, Creighton. Italian art, 1400–1500 (1980; repr. Northwestern Univ. Pr., 1992).

ANCIENT

Single Sources

H9 Pausanias. Guide to Greece. Trans. with an introd. by Peter Levi. Illustrated with drawings from Greek coins by John Newberry. Maps and plans by Jeffery Lacey. [Harmondsworth], Penguin, [1971]. 2v. il., maps, plans.

See GLAH 1:H8 for James Frazer's standard Eng. ed.

Readable, reliable English paperback version of the classic 2d-century A.D. guide to ancient Greece, with a modest running commentary reflecting modern scholarship on the monuments and sites.

Contents: (1) Central Greece; (2) Southern Greece.

Select bibliography, v.1, p.517–[19], v.2, p.503–4. Index, v.1, p.543–[87], v.2, p.505–32.

Vol.1 and 8 of a new bilingual French ed. with the Greek on facing pages have recently appeared: Description de la

Grèce. Texte établi par Michel Casevitz, trad. par Jean Pouilloux, commenté par François Chamoux. Paris, Belles Lettres, 1992 (Collection des universités de France). There is also a recent reprint of an important 19th century ed.: Pausanias Graeciae descriptio. Ediderunt Hermann Hitzig et Hugo Blümner, N.Y., Olms, 1984, 3v., originally published Leipzig, O.R. Reisland, 1896–1910.

H10 Plinius Secundus, C. The Elder Pliny's Chapters on the history of art. Trans. by K. Jex-Blake. With commentary and historical introd. by E. Sellers. Additional notes contributed by Heinrich Ludwig Ulrichs. Pref. to the 1st and 2d American ed. and select bibliography by Raymond V. Schoder. [Reprint.] Chicago, Ares, 1977. [A]–Y, c, 252p.

Reprint of GLAH 1:H9, with a new preface and "further bibliography 1960–1975."

H11 Vitruvius, Pollio. Vitruvius, ten books on architecture. Trans. by Ingrid D. Rowland. Commentary and ill. by Thomas Noble Howe. With additional commentary by Ingrid D. Rowland and Michael J. Dewar. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1999. xvi, 333p. il.

Supersedes the previously standard English ed. (GLAH 1:H10).

Index, p.319–33.

Other noteworthy recent Vitruvius editions include: De l'architecture. Texte établi, trad. e commenté par Jean Soubiran. Paris, Société d'édition "Les Belles lettres," 1969–95. 10v. (Collection des universités de France). Includes the Latin text with French transl. Each vol. ed., trans. and with commentary by a different scholar.

Louis Callebat has produced a monumental dictionary of technical Vitruvian vocabulary: Dictionnaire des termes techniques du De architectura de Vitruve. Éd. par Louis Callebat et Philippe Fleury avec la collaboration de Marie-Thérèse Cam . . . [et al.] N.Y., Olms-Weidmann, 1995 (Alpha-Omega. Reihe A, Lexika, Indizes, Konkordanzen zur klassischen Philologie, 123); and an equally ambitious concordance: Vitruve De architectura concordance: documentation bibliographique, lexicale et grammaticale. Ed. L. Callebat, P. Bouet, Ph. Fleury, M. Zuinghedau. N.Y., Olms-Weidmann, 1984. 2v. (Alpha-Omega. Reihe A, Lexika, Indizes, Konkordanzen zur klassischen Philologie, 43).

A handy, small-format Latin ed. has also appeared, ed. by Laura Cherubini. Pisa, Giardini, 1975 (Scriptorum Romanorum quae extant omnia, 218–221).

A scholarly Italian ed. with commentary is Di architettura. A cura di Pierre Gros. Trad. e commento di Antonio Corso e Elisa Romano. 2v. Torino, Einaudi, 1998 (I millenni).

Gustina Scaglia has published an annotated Italian version of Francesco di Giorgio's important 15th-century Italian translation of Vitruvius, based upon the autograph manuscript bound into the Codex Magliabechianus II.1.141 in the Biblioteca Nazionale, Florence: Il "Vitruvio Magliabechiano" di Francesco di Giorgio Martini. Firenze, Edizioni Gonnelli, 1985 (Documenti inediti di cultura toscana, 6).

For recent editions of other early translations see: De architectura libri I–V, tradotto in volgare da Giambattista Caporali e stampato in Perugia da Iano Bigazzini nel 1536 (repr. Perugia, Volumnia, 1985); and L'architettura di Vitruvio nella versione di Carlo Amati (1829–1830), a cura di Gabriele Morolli. Firenze, Alinea, 1988 (Saggi e documenti. Sezione letteratura architettonica, 67) reprinted, with a brief introduction, from the original ed. published in two vols., Milan, G. Pirola, 1829–30.

Collections

- H12 Hebert, Bernhard D. Schriftquellen zur hellenistischen Kunst: Plastik, Malerei und Kunsthandwerk der Griechen vom vierten bis zum zweiten Jahrhundert. Horn, F. Berger, 1989. xiv, 300p. (Grazer Beiträge. Supplementband, 4)

Includes numerous excerpts from Greek and Latin sources.

Literaturhinweise und Abkürzungsverzeichnis, p.xi–xii. Konkordanz mit Overbeck, p.283–85. Register, p.286–300.

- H13 Reinach, Adolphe Joseph. Recueil Milliet: textes grecs et latins relatifs à l'histoire de la peinture ancienne. Pub., trad. et commentés, sous le patronage de l'Association des études grecques, par Adolphe Reinach. Avant-propos par S. Reinach. [Reprint.] Chicago, Ares, 1981. viii, 429p.

See GLAH 1:H16 for original ed. Also recently reprinted, with an introd. and notes by Agnes Rouveret. Paris, Macula, 1985 (Collection Deucalion)

MEDIEVAL

Single Sources

- H14 Cennini, Cennino. Il libro dell'arte. Pref., commento e note di Mario Serchi. Firenze, Le Monnier, 1991. 194p. il. (part col.), plates.

See GLAH 1:H17 for the standard ed. with Eng. trans.

Bibliografia, p.183–6. Index alfabetico della materia, p.177–82.

For a recent French trans. see Le livre de l'art. Trad. critique, commentaires et notes par Colette Deroche. Paris, Berger-Levrault, 1991.

- H15 Suger, Abbot of Saint Denis. Abbot Suger on the Abbey Church of St.-Denis and its art treasures. Ed., trans., and annot. by Erwin Panofsky. 2d ed. by Gerda Panofsky-Soergel. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1979. xix, 285p. il.

See GLAH 1:H18 for 1st ed.

First published in 1946, this brilliant study, with English translations of the writings of Abbot Suger (1081–1151) on the rebuilding of the abbey church of St. Denis, has been revised for the second ed. by the author's widow with the aid of an advisory panel of distinguished medievalists. It incorporates the corrections and additions left by the author at his death in 1968 and thus reflects the current state of Suger scholarship at that time.

Glossary, p.260–61. Bibliographic abbreviations, p.262–63. Additional bibliography since 1945, p.264–75. Index, p.277–85.

- H16 Theophilus, called also Rugerus. The various arts. Ed. and trans. by C. R. Dodwell. [Reprint.] N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1986. lxxvii, 178p. (Oxford medieval texts)

Reprint of GLAH 1:H19.

- H17 Villard de Honnecourt, 13th century. Carnet de Villard de Honnecourt: d'après le manuscrit conservé à la bibliothèque Nationale de Paris (no. 19093). Présenté et commenté par Alain Erlande-Brandenburg, et al. Paris, Stock, 1986. 126p., facsim.

See GLAH 1:H20 for an earlier facsimile ed., with commentary in German.

Full-page black-and-white illustrations of the 33 leaves of the Villard portfolio, accompanied by essays by four scholars.

Contents: Villard de Honnecourt, témoin de son temps, par Régine Pernoud; Villard de Honnecourt, l'architecture et la sculpture, par Alain Erlande-Brandenburg; Villard de Honnecourt, architecte-ingénieur, par Jean Gimpel; Les dessins techniques du Carnet de Villard de Honnecourt, par Roland Bechmann.

Orientation bibliographique, p.51–[52].

Collections

- H18 Knögel-Anrich, Elsmarie. Schriftquellen zur Kunstgeschichte der Merowingerzeit. Mit einem Vorwort von Kurt Böhner. N.Y., Olms, 1992. xii, 258p., 1 port.

See GLAH 1:H22 for 1st ed.

The new ed. features a 12-page essay by Böhner, placing the author's achievement in the context of the historiography of medieval art in the 1930s.

- H19 Mortet, Victor, and Deschamps, Paul. Recueil de textes relatifs à l'histoire de l'architecture et à la condition des architectes en France, au moyen âge, XIIe-XIIIe siècles. Pref. de Léon Pressouyre. Bibliographies des sources, Olivier Guyotjeannin. Paris, Ed. du Comité des travaux historiques et scientifiques, 1995. 1096p. (CTHS format, 15)

Reprint in one vol. of GLAH 1:H25–26.

- H20 Schlosser, Julius, von. Quellenbuch: repertorio di fonti per la storia dell'arte del medioevo (secoli IV–XV). Con un'aggiunta di nuovi testi e aggiornamenti critico-bibliografici a cura di Janos Vegh. Firenze, Le Lettere, 1992. xxx, xxiv, 598p. il. (Fonti per la storia dell'arte, 2)

See GLAH 1:H28 for 1st ed. (Repr.: Hildesheim, Olms, 1976).

Reprints the German text of the 1st ed., adding 190 pages of critical material in Italian, including translations and additional bibliography.

- H21 ———. Schriftquellen zur Geschichte der karolingischen Kunst. [Reprint.] 2. Nachdruck der Ausgabe Wien 1892. N.Y., Olms, 1988. xvi, 482p.
Reprint of GLAH 1:H29 and GLAH 1:H5 (n.F. Bd. 4)

RENAISSANCE—NEOCLASSICAL

Single Sources

15th–16th Centuries

- H22 Alberti, Leone Battista. On the art of building in ten books. Trans. by Joseph Rykwert with Neil Leach and Robert Tavernor. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1988. xxiii, 442p. il.
See GLAH 1:H31 for original annotation. Supersedes Leoni's 17th-century translation.
Abbreviations used in the notes, p.363–65. Notes, p.366–416. Bibliography, p.417–19. Glossary, p.420–28. Index, p.429–42.
Other recent scholarship includes a word concordance and facsimile of the 1st Latin ed. (1485): Lücke, Hans-Karl. Alberti Index: Leon Battista Alberti. De re aedificatoria 1485: Index verborum. München, Prestel, 1975–79. 4v. There is also a lemmatized concordance: Fresnillo Núñez, Javier. Leon Battista Alberti, De re aedificatoria: a lemmatized concordance. N.Y., Olms-Weidmann, 1996. 3v. (Alpha-Omega. Reihe B, Indizes, Konkordanzen, statistische Studien zur mittellateinischen Philologie, 7)
Recent Italian ed.: L'architettura. Trad. di Giovanni Orlandi. Introd. e note di Paolo Portoghesi. Milano, Il Polifilo, 1989. Revised reprint in one vol. of the Italian translation that appeared alongside the original Latin in GLAH 1:H31.
Spanish facsimile ed.: A facsimile reprint of Francisco Locano's 1582 Spanish trans. with an introduction by José María de Azcárate: Los diez libros de arquitectura. [Valencia], Albatros, 1977. (Colección Juan de Herrera, 3)
A critical ed. of Pellegrino Tibaldi's important commentary on Alberti's treatise is Sandro Orlando ed., L'Architettura di Leon Battista Alberti nel commento di Pellegrino Tibaldi. Roma, De Luca, 1988.
- H23 ———. De statua. A cura di Marco Collareta. Livorno, Sillabe, [1998]. 54p. il. (Arte e memoria, 2)
Latin text with Italian trans. and commentary.
Includes bibliographical references, p.53–54.
Another recent Italian ed.: De statua. Introd., trad., e note a cura di Mariarosaria Spinetti. Napoli, Liguori, 1999 (Domini) (Critica e letteratura, 9). Includes Latin text with Italian trans. and commentary.
- H24 ———. On painting. Trans. by Cecil Grayson. With an introd. and notes by Martin Kemp. N.Y., Penguin, 1991. 101p. il.
The English text, reprinted from the bilingual GLAH 1:H32. Explanatory notes, p.97–101.
Lodovico Domenichi's 1547 Italian ed. has been recently reprinted: Sala Bolognese, Forni, 1988.
- H25 Armenini, Giovanni Battista. De' veri precetti della pittura. Ed. a cura di Marina Gorreri. Pref. di Enrico Castelnuovo. Torino, Einaudi, 1988. lxxv, 292p. il., plates (part col.) (I Millenni)
See GLAH 1:H33 for earlier eds.
The latest and most complete Italian ed. of a notable treatise on the practical aspects of painting. Important for the study of 16th-century art.
English ed.: On the true precepts of the art of painting, ed. and trans. from the Italian with an introductory study, critical and historical notes, and bibliography by Edward J. Olszewski. N.Y., Franklin, 1977.
- H26 Cellini, Benvenuto. I trattati dell'oreficeria e della scultura. Novamente messi alle stampe secondo la originale dettatura del codice Marciano per cura di Carlo Milanese. Si aggiungano i discorsi e i ricordi intorno all'arte, le lettere e le suppliche, le poesie. [Reprint.] Firenze, Le Monnier, 1994. xiv, lviii, 487p., [1] leaf of plates, geneal. table.
See GLAH 1:H36 for original ed. This ed. originally published in 1857. Includes index.
Léopold Laclanché's 1847 French trans. has recently been reprinted: Traité de l'orfèvrerie et de la sculpture. Paris, École nationale supérieure des beaux-arts, 1992. 217p. (Beaux-arts histoire). This features a "Preface, index, glossaire, bibliographie, chronologie d'Adrien Goetz."
- H27 Colonna, Francesco. Hypnerotomachia Poliphili. The strife of love in a dream. The entire text translated for the first time into English with an introd. by Joscelyn Godwin. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1999. xix, 474p. il.
See GLAH 1:H37 for earliest eds.
The first complete Eng. trans. Includes the original woodcut illustrations.
For a critical ed. of the original text, see Hypnerotomachia Poliphili. Ed. crit. e commento a cura di Giovanni Pozzi e Lucia A. Ciapponi. Ristampa anastatica in formato ridotto con correzioni, una premessa e un aggiornamento bibliografico. Padova, Antenore, 1980. 2v. il. (Medioevo e umanesimo, 38–39).
The 1499 Aldine text has recently been reprinted, with a new Italian translation and commentary, by Marco Ariani and Mino Gabriele (Milano, Adelphi, 1998 [Classici, 66]).
The text has also been reproduced in The dream of Poliphilo: the soul in love. Related and interpreted by L. Fierz-David. Trans. By Mary Hottinger. Dallas, Spring Publications, 1987 (The Jungian classics series, 8); first published N.Y., Pantheon, 1950 (The Bollingen series, 25).
- H28 Della prospettiva. [By] Paolo dal Pozzo Toscanelli. A cura di Alessandro Parronchi. Milano, Edizioni Il Polifilo, 1991. liii p., 23 leaves, il. (Testi e documenti, 5)
Includes a slightly reduced facsimile and transcription of the anonymous illustrated text contained in Codex 2110 of the Biblioteca Riccardiana, Florence, Italy, written in the early 1460s, previously believed to be the work of Leon Battista Alberti and now attributed to Toscanelli. Includes an introd. by the ed., with bibliographical references.

- H29 Dolce, Lodovico. Dialogo nel quale si ragiona della qualità, diversità e proprietà dei colori. [Bologna], Forni, 1985. 87 [i.e., 174]p.
Facsim. of: Venetia, G.B., M. Sessa, 1565. See GLAH 1:H39 for Dolce's treatise on painting.
- H30 Filarete, Antonio Averlino, known as, 15th cent. Trattato di architettura. Testo a cura di Anna Maria Finoli e Liliana Grassi. Introd. e note di Liliana Grassi. Milano, Il Polifilo, [1972]. 2v. il., 141p. of facsim. (Classici italiani di scienze tecniche e arti. Trattati di architettura, v.2)
See GLAH 1:H40 for the standard Eng. ed. and facsimile.
This ed. includes facsimile reproductions from the Codex Magliabechiano and Codex Palatino; it is "published with the cooperation of the Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche."
Indice dei nomi e delle cose notevoli, p.[705]–29.
A Spanish ed. has also recently appeared, Tratado de arquitectura. Ed. de Pilar Pedraza. Vitoria-Gasteiz: EPHIALTE, Instituto de Estudios Iconograficos, 1990 (Colección fuentes para el estudio de la historia del arte, 1)
- H31 Ghiberti, Lorenzo. I commentarii: Biblioteca nazionale centrale di Firenze, II, I, 333. Introd. e cura di Lorenzo Bartoli. Firenze, Giunti, 1998. 316p. il. (Biblioteca della scienza italiana, 17)
Critical ed., based upon the sole surviving manuscript, with a long introduction by the editor.
Includes bibliographical references. Indice delle fonti, p.[309]. Indice dei nomi, p.[311]–16.
For a partial English trans., see The commentaries of Lorenzo Ghiberti. [Extracts, with trans. and notes by members of the staff of the Courtauld Institute of Art]. [London], Courtauld Institute of Art [194–?]. 36 leaves. See also Der dritte Kommentar Lorenzo Ghibertis: Naturwissenschaften und Medizin in der Kunsttheorie der Frührenaissance. Eingel., komment. und übers. von Klaus Bergdolt. Weinheim, VCH, Acta Humaniora, 1988. ci, 584p. il. This includes the text of Book three of Ghiberti's Commentarii, in German and Italian, with an important scholarly commentary on facing pages. Originally the author's doctoral thesis, Universität Heidelberg, 1986.
- H32 Gilio, Giovanni Andrea. Due dialogi. [A cura di Paolo Barocchi.] Firenze, Studio per edizioni scelte, 1998. xv, 144p. (Tabulae artium, 1)
Facsimile reprint of the 1564 ed., with a brief preface by the editor.
Notizie biografiche, p.[146]. Dati bibliografici, p.[146–47].
- H33 Leonardo da Vinci. Libro di pittura: edizione in facsimile del Codice Urbinat lat. 1270 nella Biblioteca apostolica vaticana. A cura di Carlo Pedretti. Trascrizione critica di Carlo Vecce. Firenze, Giunti, 1995. 2 v. il. (part col.), facsim.
Also available in a paperback trade ed. (Biblioteca della scienza italiana, 9)
Contents: facsimile vol. of Libro di pittura (Codice Urbinat lat. 1270) and commentary vol. accompanied by publisher's leaflet ([4]p.).
Includes bibliographical references.
- H34 Lomazzo, Giovanni Paolo. Idea del tempio della pittura. Ed. commentata e trad. di Robert Klein. Firenze, Istituto nazionale di studi sul Rinascimento, 1974. 2v. il.
Italian text with French trans. and commentary.
Notes, v.2, p.[647]–745. Notes sur le texte, v.2, p.[747]–68. Les oeuvres peintes, v.2, p.[769]–84.
- H35 ———. Scritti sulle arti. A cura di Roberto Paolo Ciardi. Firenze, Marchi & Bertolli, 1973–74. 2v. (Raccolta pisana di saggi e studi, 33–34)
Vol. 2 published by Centro Di.
Scholarly ed. of Lomazzo's principal writings on art, some never before published.
Contents: (1) Introduzione; Appendice bibliografica; nota filologica; Bibliografia; Libro de sogni; Idea del tempio della pittura; (2) Trattato dell'arte della pittura, scultura et architettura.
Bibliografia, v.1, p.[xciii]–cxii. Appendici bibliografica, v.2, p.633–34. Indice analitico, p.635–719.
- H36 ———. A tracte containing the artes of curious paintinge carvinge and buildinge. [Reprint.] Trans. by Richard Haydocke. England, Gregg International, 1970. 11, 9, 218p. il.
Reprint in one vol. of the 1598 ed. (See GLAH 1:H43, annotation.)
- H37 Martini, Francesco di Giorgio. "Taccuino": Urb. lat. 1757: seconda metà del xv sec. Milano, Jaca book, 1991. 191 leaves il., facsim. (Codices e Vaticanis selecti, LXXX)
"Il volume, in edizione facsimile, è una copia fedele del codice Urb. lat. 1757. Nella riproduzione si è sempre avuto a disposizione l'originale."
Commentary vol. by Luigi Michellini Tocci. Facsimile and commentary issued together in a box (20 cm.). Commentary vol. includes bibliographical references and index.
- H38 ———. Trattato di architettura. Pres. di Luigi Firpo. Introd., trascriz. e note di Pietro C. Marani. Firenze, Giunti Barbèra, 1979–1994. 3v. col. facsim. (Testi e codici rinascimentali. Fondazione Leonardo da Vinci)
See GLAH 1:H44 for earlier ed.
Critical ed. of the Codex Ashburnham 361 (Biblioteca Laurenziana, Florence), one of the principal surviving manuscripts containing Francesco di Giorgio's writings and drawings on architecture, city planning, engineering, and military architecture.
For an account of the surviving manuscripts, see Gustina Scaglia, Francesco di Giorgio: checklist and history of manuscripts. . . . Bethlehem, Lehigh Univ. Pr., 1992. 298p.
Contents: v.1 contains a scholarly introduction, and a transcription of the manuscript with critical apparatus; v.2 is a facsimile of the manuscript, written in 1489 (54 numbered leaves, written on both sides, with colored il.); v.3, an "appendix" published in 1994, contains an introduction, transcription, and facsimile of an eight-page fragment of the Ashburnham codex discovered in the early 1980s in the Biblioteca Municipale in Reggio Emilia.

- H39 Michiel, Marcantonio. Der Anonimo Morelliano: mit Text und Übers. von Theodor Frimmel. 1. Abt. N.Y., Olms, 1974. xxix, 126p.

Reprint of GLAH 1:H5 (Neue Folge, Bd. 1). Bound with Paccioli, Luca. Divina proportione.

See GLAH 1:H45 for an English ed.

- H40 Norgate, Edward. Miniatura or the art of limning. Ed., introd. and annot. by Jeffrey M. Muller & Jim Murrell. New Haven, Published for the Paul Mellon Centre for British Art by Yale Univ. Pr., 1997. ix, 297p. il. (part col.), plates.

The first critical ed. of "the most important source for the study of Tudor and Stuart miniature painting."—Pref. Supersedes the only previous ed. (1919). Includes a scholarly introduction, historical notes and appendixes.

Bibliography, p.259–77. Index, p.278–97.

- H41 Palladio, Andrea. The four books on architecture. Trans. by Robert Tavernor and Richard Schofield. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1997. xxxv, 436p. il.

See GLAH 1:H46 for the original 1570 ed. and subsequent eds. This excellent, scholarly trans. supersedes Isaac Ware's 1738 version.

Notes, p.[347]–78. English and Italian glossary, by Richard Schofield, p.379–419. Bibliography, p.421–30.

For a recent, critical Italian ed. see I quattro libri dell'architettura. A cura di Licio Magagnato e Paola Marini. Introd. di Licio Magagnato. Milano, Edizioni Il Polifilo, 1980. 4v. in 1 (lxxi, 580 p.), il. plans (Classici italiani di scienze tecniche e arti. Trattati di architettura, v.6)

A recent selection of Palladio's lesser-known writings on art: Scritti sull'architettura (1554–1579). A cura di Lionello Puppi. Vicenza, Neri Pozza, 1988.

- H42 Pellegrini, Pellegrino. L'architettura. Ed. critica a cura di Giorgio Panizza. Introd. e note di Adele Buratti Mazzotta. Milano, Il Polifilo, 1990. lxiv, 486p. il. (Classici italiani di scienze tecniche e arti. Trattati di architettura, v.7, pt.1)

Critical ed. of Pellegrini's treatise.

Elenco delle sigle e delle opere citate in forma abbreviata, p.[lxi]–lxiv. Nota sul testo, p.[425]–74. Indice delle note linguistiche e filologiche, p.[477]–79. Indice dei nomi, p.[480]–86.

- H43 Serlio, Sebastiano. Architettura civile. Libri sesto, settimo e ottavo nei manoscritti di Monaco e Vienna. A cura di Francesco Paolo Fiore. Premesse e note di Tancredi Carunchio e Francesco Paolo Fiore. Milano, Il Polifilo, 1994. li, 662p. il. (Classici italiani di scienze, tecniche e arti. Trattati di architettura, v.5, pt.1)

Critical ed. of the sixth, seventh, and eighth "books" of Serlio's great treatise, based on surviving manuscripts.

Nota al testo, p.[623]–24. Elenco delle opere citate in forma abbreviata, p.[625]–52. Indice dei nomi e dei luoghi, p.[653]–62.

- H44 ———. Sebastiano Serlio on architecture: Books I–V of Tutte l'opere d'architettura et prospetiva. Trans. from the Italian with an introd. and commentary by Vaughan Hart and Peter Hicks. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1996–. (1)v. il.

See GLAH 1:H47 for original ed.

Superb scholarly English translation of Books I–V of Serlio's great treatise.

Commentary [i.e., Notes], p.[430]–56. Glossary, p.[457]–59. Bibliography, p.[460]–65. Index, p.[475]–84.

- H45 Vandelvira, Alonso de. El tratado de arquitectura de Alonso de Vandelvira. Ed. con introd., notas, variantes y glosario hispano-francés de arquitectura. [Por] Geneviève Barbé-Coquelin de Lisle. Madrid, Confederación Española de Cajas de Ahorros, 1977. 2v.

Critical ed. with facsimile of an important 16th-century Spanish architectural treatise.

Contents: (1) Text; (2) Facsimile.

Glosario hispano-francés de arquitectura, t.1, p. [171]–88. Fuentes manuscritas, t.1, p.[189]. Bibliografía, t.1, p.[191]–206.

- H46 Vasari, Giorgio. Le vite de' più eccellenti pittori, scultori e architettori: nelle redazioni del 1550 e 1568. Testo a cura di Rosanna Bettarini. Commento secolare a cura di Paola Barocchi. Firenze, Sansoni, 1966–. (14)v.

See GLAH 1:H48a for previous vols. Imprint varies: v.4–5 pub. Firenze, Studio per edizioni scelte.

Each vol. consists of separately bound text and commentary parts with "testo" pt. 1 and "commento" pt. 2. The text vols. offer the text of both the first (1550) ed. and the second (1568) ed.

Includes bibliographical references and indexes, as well as a concordance and philological indexes.

A critical ed. of the original ed. (1550) of Vasari's lives (see GLAH 1:H48) has recently appeared: Le vite de' più eccellenti architetti, pittori, et scultori italiani, da Cimabue insino a' tempi nostri, nell'edizione per i tipi di Lorenzo Torrentino, Firenze 1550. A cura di Luciano Bellosi e Aldo Rossi. Pres. di Giovanni Previtali. Torino, Giulio Einaudi, 1986. lxxv, 1,037p. il., plates, ports. (I millenni)

Three recent Eng. eds. have appeared:

The lives of the artists. Trans. with an introd. and notes by Julia Conaway Bondanella and Peter Bondanella. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1991. xxiii, 586p. (The World's classics). An accessible, modern English trans. of 36 of Vasari's Lives.

Lives of the artists: a selection. Trans. by George Bull. N.Y., Viking Penguin, 1987. 2v. (Penguin classics). 39 of Vasari's Lives. Vol.1 of this trans. first published in 1965; v.2 first published in 1987.

Lives of the painters, sculptors, and architects. Trans. by Gaston du C. de Vere. With an introd. and notes by David Ekserdjian. N.Y., Knopf (Distr. by Random House, 1996). 2v. (Everyman's library). Reprint in 2 vols. of the only complete English trans. of Vasari's Lives (see GLAH 1:H48a, annotation).

Also noteworthy is a complete French trans.: Le vies des meilleurs peintres, sculpteurs et architectes. Trad. e commentée sous la dir. d'André Chastel. Paris, Berger-Levrault, 1981-89. 12v.

H47 Vignola, Giacomo Barozzi, known as. Le due regole della prospettiva pratica: a reproduction of the copy in the British Library. Ed. I. Danti. [Reprint.] Alburgh, Archival Facsimiles, 1987. [176]p. Facsimile of ed. published Rome, Zannetti, 1583.

H48 ———. Regola delli cinque ordini d'architettura. [Reprint.] [Bologna?], Cassa di risparmio di Vignola, 1974. 32, [5] leaves, all il. Reprint of the 1563 ed. See GLAH 1:H49 for 1562 ed.

17th Century

H49 Baglione, Giovanni. Le vite de' pittori, scultori et architetti: dal pontificato di Gregorio XIII del 1572 in fino à tempi di Papa Urbano Ottavo nel 1642. Ed. comment. a cura di Jacob Hess e Herwarth Rottgen. Città del Vaticano, Biblioteca apostolica vaticana, 1995-. (3)v. (Studi e testi [Biblioteca apostolica vaticana], 367-369)

"In collaborazione con la Bibliotheca Hertziana, Roma (Max-Planck-Institut)." See GLAH 1:H50 for earlier eds.

Facsimile ed., with commentary, of the 1642 copy of Baglione's Lives in the Vatican Library.

Contents: (1) Ristampa anastatica [of the Rome, Andrea Fei, 1642 ed.]; (2) Varianti, postille, commenti: prima e seconda Giornata; (3) Varianti, postille, commenti: terza Giornata.

For an ed. that includes a reprint of the 2d ed., published in Rome by Manelsi in 1649, as well as the index produced in Velletri by Zampetti in 1924, see the 1990 Forni reprint edited by C. Gradara Pesci.

Abbreviazioni bibliografiche, v.3, p.[735]-45. Indice onomastico, p.[749]-87. Indice toponomastico, p.[789]-848.

H50 Baldinucci, Filippo. Notizie dei professori del disegno da Cimabue in qua: per le quali si dimostra come, e per chi le belle arti di pittura, scultura, e architettura lasciata la rozzezza delle maniere greca, e gottica, si siano in questi secoli ridotte all' antica loro perfezione. Opera di Filippo Baldinucci Fiorentino distinta in secoli, e decennali. Firenze, S.P.E.S., 1974-1975. 7v. fold. geneal. tables.

Reprint (with new materials) of GLAH 1:H52

Selective contents: (2)-(5) Con nuove annotazioni e supplementi per cura di F. Ranalli; (6) Appendice con nota critica e supplementi per cura di Paola Barocchi; (7) Appendice per cura di Paola Barocchi; indice per cura di Antonio Boschetto.

H51 Boschini, Marco. Il gioielli pittoreschi: virtuoso ornamento della città di Vicenza. [Reprint.] Bologna, Forni, 1976.

Reprint of the 1677 ed., Venice, Nicolini.

H52 Caramuel Lobkowitz, Juan. Arquitectura civil recta y oblicua. [Reprint.] Estudio preliminar, Antonio Bonet Correa. Madrid, Ediciones Turner, [1984.] 3v. il., plans.

Reprint, with new introd. Originally published 1678. Contents: (1-2) Facsimile of text; (3) Plates.

H53 Carducci, Vincenzo. Vincente Carducho: Dialogos de la pintura: su defensa, origen, esencia, definicion, modos y diferencias. Ed., prólogo y notas de Francisco Calvo Serraller. Madrid, Turner, 1979. cxxxiii, 483p. il., facsim.

Text taken from 1633 ed. (GLAH 1:H59). Notes in French, Italian, Latin, or Spanish.

Bibliography, p.cxxxi-cxxxii. Indice onomastico y analítico, p.453-83.

H54 Cropper, Elizabeth. The ideal of painting: Pietro Testa's Düsseldorf notebook. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1984. xviii, 288p. il., 72p. of plates.

Publishes for the first time, with transcription and commentary, Pietro Testa's (1611-1650) important notebook in the Kunstmuseum Düsseldorf (Budde 132), described as "neither a treatise nor a sketchbook but a gathering of fragmentary notes on different subjects made at different moments in Testa's life; they were assembled after his death and Testa never intended for them to be published as a whole."—Introd. Includes a monographic study of Testa.

Contents: Part One. (1) A Lucchese artist in Rome; (2) Bound theory and blind practice: Il Liceo della Pittura; (3) The garden of letters; (4) Pietro Testa and Roman Classicism. Part Two. Pietro Testa's Notebook in the Kunstmuseum, Düsseldorf; Note to the reader; Editorial symbols; Transcription of the Düsseldorf Notebook and commentary. Appendix One: Sources cited by Testa in the Düsseldorf Notebook; Appendix Two: Mounting, size, and numbering of folios.

Bibliography, p.[275]-282. Index, p.[283]-88.

H55 Félibien, André, Sieur des Avaux et de Javeroy. Entretiens sur les vies et sur les ouvrages des plus excellens peintres, anciens et modernes: (entretiens I et II). [Reprint.] Introd., établissement du texte et notes par René Démoris. Paris, Société d'édition "Les Belles Lettres," 1987. 374p. il., plates, facsim. (Nouveaux confluent)

See GLAH 1:H62 for previous eds. The text used is that of the 2d ed., Paris, Mabre-Cramoisy, 1685-88, which is identical with that of 1690, the last seen by Félibien himself.

Wherever possible, the editor has indicated the present location of the works mentioned by Félibien. Variant spellings and terms from the 1666 ed. are indicated in the margins of the text; a listing of them appears on p.359ff. The bibliography chapter consists of a publication history of the Entretiens and of other works by Félibien, and of a critical bibliography.

Contents: Introduction; Note sur cette édition; Épitre; Préface; Premier entretien; Second entretien; Notes de l'éditeur; Table (index fourni par Félibien); Variantes.

Note bibliographique, p.[369]-74.

- H56 Guarini, Guarino. Architettura civile. Introd. di Nino Carboneri. Note e appendice a cura di Bianca Tavassi La Greca. Milano, Il Polifilo, 1968. xlviii, 471p. plates (Classici italiani di scienze tecniche e arti. Trattati di architettura, v. 8)

Critical ed. of Guarini's treatise.

Bibliography, p.xl–xlvi.

- H57 Junius, Franciscus. De pictura veterum libri tres (Rotterdam 1694). Ed., trad. et commentaire du livre I par Colette Nativel. Genève, Droz, 1996. 725p. il. (Travaux du grand siècle, 3)

See GLAH 1:H64 for previous eds. Latin text of Book I with translation and commentary in French.

Bibliographie, p.[593]–689. Index (index locorum, index nominum), p.[691]–719.

- H58 ———. The literature of classical art. Ed. by Keith Aldrich, Philipp Fehl, Raina Fehl. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1987. 2v. il. (California studies in the history of art, 22)

See GLAH 1:H64 for previous eds. Translated from Latin. Vol. 2 also translated by the editors.

Contents: (1) The painting of the ancients; (2) A lexicon of artists & their works.

Bibliography, v.2, p.427–507. Index locorum antiquorum, v.2, p.511–48. General index, v.2, p.549–611.

- H59 Mander, Carel van. The foundation of the noble free art of painting. Trans. by J. Bloom . . . [et al.] Ed. by Elizabeth A. Honig. [New Haven, Yale University], 1985. 81 leaves.

Trans. of: Den grondt der edel vry schilder-const, "undertaken by the members of the seminar 'Early Defenses of Netherlandish Art' taught in the Fall of 1984 by Celeste Brusati" at Yale University.

Privately distributed in mimeograph. The only complete if expressly "amateurish" English trans. of this important source.

- H60 ———. Karel van Mander, the lives of the illustrious Netherlandish and German painters, from the first edition of the Schilder-boeck (1603–1604): preceded by the lineage, circumstances and place of birth, life and works of Karel van Mander, painter and poet and likewise his death and burial, from the second edition of the Schilder-boeck (1616–1618). With an introd. and trans., ed. by Hessel Miedema. Doornspijk, Davaco, 1994–. (6)v.

See GLAH 1:H69 for previous eds. Supersedes the previous English ed. of C. Van de Wall.

Contents: (1) The text; (2) Commentary on biography and lives, fol.196r01–211r35; (3) Lives, fol.211r36–236v36; (4) Lives / fol.236v37–261v44; (5) Commentary on lives, fol.262r01–291r47; (6) Commentary on lives, 291v01–end.

- H61 Pacheco, Francisco. Arte de la pintura. Ed., introd. y notas de Bonaventura Bassegoda i Hugas. Madrid, Catedra, 1990. 782p.

See GLAH 1:H71 for earlier eds. of this important treatise on painting.

Indice, p.751–78.

- H62 Passeri, Giovanni Battista. Vite de' pittori, scultori ed architetti che anno lavorato in Roma, morti dal 1641 fino al 1673. [Reprint.] [Bologna], Forni, 1976 (It-alica gens, repertori di bio-bibliografia italiana, 84) Reprint of the 1772 ed. (GLAH 1:H72). Another reprint: Roma, Vivarelli, 1977. The 1934 German critical ed. (See GLAH 1:H72 annotation) has been reprinted recently, Worms, Wernersche Verlagsgesellschaft, 1995.

18th–Early 19th Centuries

- H63 Bossi, Giuseppe. Scritti sulle arti. A cura di Roberto Paolo Ciardi. Firenze, Studio per Edizioni Scelte, 1982. 2v.

First scholarly ed. of Bossi's writings on art.

Contents: (1) Nota critica; La teoria artistica; La didattica artistica e la considerazione dell'opera d'arte; (2) Epistolario; Epistolario canoviano; Appunti di viaggio; Poesie. Appendice: Relazione su un disegno dell'Appiani.

Criteri di trascrizione e di edizione, p.845–47; Note, p.849–942; Elenco cronologico delle lettere, p.943–50. Indice onomastico e toponomastico, p.951–1006.

- H64 Diderot, Denis. Diderot on art. Ed. and trans. by John Goodman. Introd. by Thomas Crow. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. 2v. il.

See GLAH 1:H91 for a critical French ed. of the Salons.

The first reliable English selection of Diderot's important writings on the art and public exhibitions of his time.

Contents: (1) The Salon of 1765 and Notes on painting; (2) Salon of 1767.

Select bibliography, v.1, p.[241]–42, v.2, p.[333]–34. Index, v.1, p.[243]–50, v.2, p.[335]–44.

- H65 Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von. Goethe on art. Sel., ed., and trans. by John Gage. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1980. xx, 251p. il.

Excellent anthology, authoritatively ed. and trans.

Contents: Introduction; (I) General aesthetics; (II) Classical art; (III) Medieval and Renaissance art; (IV) Baroque and contemporary art.

Further reading, p.[245]–46. Index, p.[247]–51.

- H66 Hogarth, William. The analysis of beauty. Ed. with an introd. and notes by Ronald Paulson. New Haven, Published for the Paul Mellon Centre for British Art by Yale Univ. Pr., 1997. lxii, 162p. il., plates (some folded).

Critical ed. of the entire text of Hogarth's great treatise on aesthetics.

Manuscripts of The Analysis of Beauty; supplementary pages, p.[115]–37. Notes to the illustrations, p.[143]–55. Index, p.[157]–62.

- H67 Le Brun, Charles. L'expression des passions & autres conférences; Correspondance. Prés. par Julien Phi-lipe. Paris, Éd. Dédale; Maisonneuve et Larose, 1994. 281p. il. (part col.) (Collection "L'art écrit") Contents: Présentation; Les Conférences; Correspondance.

Chronologie, p.267-[76]. Bibliographie sélective, p.277-[80].

H68 Palomino de Castro y Velasco, Antonio. Lives of the eminent Spanish painters and sculptors. Trans. by Nina Mallory. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1987. xviii, 405p. il.

Scholarly trans. of: Vidas de los pintores y estatuarios eminentes españoles (GLAH 1:H111).

Table of names of the painters and sculptors whose lives are contained in this volume, p.387-88. Bibliography, p.389-397. Index, p.398-405.

H69 Pascoli, Leone. Vite de' pittori, scultori, ed architetti moderni. Ed. critica dedicata a Valentino Martinelli. Introd. di Alessandro Marabottini. Perugia, Electa Editori Umbri, 1992. 1170p. il., plates.

Original ed. in 2v., 1730-1736 (see GLAH 1:H112). Includes updated biographical and archival information as well as critical commentary contributed by forty-six scholars.

Bibliografia, coordinamento di Letizia Lanzetta, p.1041-1105. Indice dei nomi e dei luoghi, a cura di Raffaella Stanzone, p.1106-70.

H70 Reynolds, Joshua, Sir. Discourses on art. [Reprint.] Ed. by Robert R. Wark. New Haven, Published for the Paul Mellon Centre for Studies in British Art by Yale Univ. Pr., 1997. xxxv, 349p. il., plates.

1st ed. San Marino, Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery, 1959; 2d ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1975. Text of the 1797 ed., the last which passed through Reynolds' hands.

Selected bibliography, p.337-41. Index, p.343-49.

H71 Viollet-le-Duc, Eugène-Emmanuel. The foundations of architecture: four essays from the Dictionnaire raisonné of Viollet-le-Duc. Introd. by Barry Bergdoll. Trans. by Kenneth D. Whitehead. N.Y., Braziller, 1990. 272p. il.

Contents: Introduction: The Dictionnaire raisonné: Viollet-le-Duc's encyclopedic structure for architecture; Selections from the Dictionnaire raisonné: Architecture; Construction; Restoration; Style.

Notes, p.265-72.

H72 Zanetti, Antonio Maria. Della pittura veneziana, in cui osservasi l'ordine del Busching, e si conserva la dottrina e le definizioni del Zanetti. [Reprint.] Bologna, Forni, 1978. 2v. in 1, fronts.

Reprint of the 1797 ed., Venice, F. Tosi.

Collections

France

H73 Collection des pièces sur les beaux-arts (1673-1808) [microform]: dite Collection Deloynes. Paris, Bibliothèque Nationale, 1980. 504 microfiches.

Microform of the 63-vol. Deloynes collection in the Département des estampes et de la photographie, Bibliothèque Nationale. Includes pamphlets, manuscripts, exhibition catalogs, etc. See GLAH 1:A33 for Georges Duplessis' well-known catalog of the Deloynes collection.

H74 France. Archives nationales. Archives de l'École nationale supérieure des beaux-arts (AJ52 1 à 1415). Inventaire par Brigitte Labat-Poussin avec la collab. de Caroline Obert. Paris, Centre historique des archives nationales, 1998. 576p.

Important archival inventory which documents the administration of the school, its library and museum collections, and instruction, 1793-present.

Sources complémentaires, p.[17]-20. Table générale des dossiers du personnel et des élèves, p.[237]-515. Index de l'inventaire, p.[517]-76.

H75 Grant, Susan. Paris: a guide to archival sources for American art history. Washington, D.C., Archives of American Art, Smithsonian Institution, 1997. 89p. il. "Conceived as a tool to help scholars locate archival material germane to the history of the American visual arts in Paris."—Pref. and ackn.

Contents: Section I: Paris sources; Section II: Sources outside Paris; Section III: Research aids.

Index of American artists' names, p.81-89.

Germany and Austria

H76 Kunsttheorie und Kunstgeschichte des 19. Jahrhunderts in Deutschland: Texte und Dokumente. Hrsg. von Wolfgang Beyrodt . . . [et al.] Stuttgart, Reclam, 1982-. (3)v. (Universal-Bibliothek, Nr. 7888-[7889 (5), 8043 (4)])

Anthology of literary texts on German art, art historiography, and theory in the 19th century.

Each vol. includes bibliographical references, biographical sketches, and indexes of personal names.

Selective contents: (1) Kunsttheorie und Malerei, hrsg. von Werner Busch; Kunstwissenschaft, hrsg. von Wolfgang Beyrodt; (2) Architektur, hrsg. von Harold Hammer-Schenk; (3) Skulptur und Plastik, hrsg. von Ulrich Bischoff.

Great Britain and Ireland

H77 British Architectural Library. Architecture in manuscript, 1601-1996: a guide to the British Architectural Library manuscripts and archives collection. Comp. by Angela Mace. Herndon, Va., Mansell, 1998. xxiv, 628p. il.

"The RIBA Architectural Library's collections of manuscripts and archives is, in effect, the national collection of the papers of past and present British architects."—Introd.

Name index, p.469-508. Place index, p.509-42. Subject index, p.543-628.

- H78 Tate Gallery. Archive. The Tate Gallery Archive, and index on microfiche [microform]. N.Y., Clearwater, 1986. 122 microfiches + guide (ix leaves).

"Contains more than 26,500 entries . . . of the catalogued contents of the Archive."—Guide.

Italy

- H79 L'arte del Quattrocento nelle testimonianze coeve. [By] Creighton E. Gilbert. Firenze; Vienna, IRSA, 1988. 249p. il. (Biblioteca artibus et historiae)

Italian ed. of the excellent anthology which the author contributed to Prentice-Hall's Sources and documents in the history of art series (GLAH 2:H8). Reproduces the sources in the original languages, mostly Italian and Latin. Some excerpts are more fully reproduced than in the previous ed., and a few other slight changes have been introduced. A very few new texts have been included.

Indice dei nomi citati, p.241–49.

- H80 Barocchi, Paola. Pittura e scultura nel Cinquecento. Livorno, Sillabe, 1998. xix, 170p. il., plates. (Arte e memoria, 1)

Critical ed. of a small selection of Cinquecento works.

Contents: Varchi, Benedetto. Lezione della maggioranza delle arti; Lettere di artisti a Benedetto Varchi; Borghini, Vincenzio. Da una "Selva di notizie."

Tavole delle abbreviazioni, p.[xvii]–xix. Indice, p.[145]–70.

- H81 Borghesi Bichi, Scipione, conte. Nuovi documenti per la storia dell' arte senese. Raccolti da S. Borghesi e L. Banchi. Appendice alla raccolta dei documenti pubblicata dal comm. Gaetano Milanese. [Reprint.] Siena, E. Torrini, 1898. [Soest, Netherlands, DAV-ACO, 1970] ix, 702p. plates, facsim.

Reprint of GLAH 1:H167.

- H82 Classici italiani di scienze tecniche e arti. Trattati di architettura. Milano, Edizioni Il Polifilo, 1966– . (??)v.

An important series of critical eds. of Italian treatises on architecture.

Contents: (1) Alberti, Leon Battista. L'architettura (De re aedificatoria) (2v., 1966) (see GLAH 1:H31); (2) Filarete, Antonio Averlino. Trattato di architettura (2v., 1972); (3) Martini, Francesco di Giorgio. Trattati di architettura ingegneria e arte militare (2v., 1967) (see GLAH 1:H44); (4) Scritti rinascimentali di architettura (1978); (5, pt. 1) Serlio, Sebastiano. Architettura civile. Libri sesto, settimo e ottavo nei manoscritti di Monaco e Vienna (1994); (5, pt.2) Trattati [di] Pietro Cataneo, Giacomo Barozzi da Vignola . . . [et al.] (1985); (6) Palladio, Andrea. Quattro libri dell'architettura (1980); (7, pt.1) Pellegrini, Pellegrino. L'architettura (1990); (7, pt.2) Borromini, Francesco. Opus architectonicum (1998).

- H83 Documenti per la storia dell'arte a Padova. [Raccolti da] Antonio Sartori. A cura di Clemente Fillarini.

Con un saggio di Franco Barbieri. Vicenza, N. Pozza, 1976. [xxiv], 666p., port. (Fonti e studi per la storia del Santo a Padova, 4; Fonti, 3)

Documents for the history of art in Padua.

Contents: Artisti: pittori, scultori e architetti; Orefici; Maestranze artistiche.

Sigle e abbreviazioni, p.[xxiv]. Indice dei nomi, p.[625]–66.

- H84 Fonti per la storia dell'arte e dell'architettura. Roma, Archivio Guido Izzi, 1989– . (3)v. il. (Also v.1–3 in the series Parole e forme)

New critical eds. of source documents.

Contents: (1) Vasari, Giorgio. Proporzioni. A cura e con introd. di Mario Curti (1989); (2) Baglione, Giovanni. Le nove chiese di Roma (1639). A cura e con introd. di Liliana Barroero (1990); (3) Introduzione alli cinque ordini dell'architettura: trattato anonimo della fine del Seicento. A cura di Mario Curti e Paola Zampa (1995).

- H85 Letteratura artistica dell'età barocca: antologia di testi. A cura di Gianni Carlo Sciolla, con la collab. di Tiziano Marghetich. Torino, Giappichelli, 1983. 316p.

Handy, modestly produced anthology of literary sources for 17th-century art history.

Contents: (I) Scritti e trattati teorici; (II) Biografie d'artisti; (III) Diari e autobiografie; (IV) Componimenti in versi; (V) Scritti sulle tecniche; (VI) Periegetica; (VII) Lettere; (VIII) Appendice.

Includes bibliographical references.

- H86 Letteratura artistica dell'età dell'umanesimo: antologia di testi, 1400–1520. A cura di Gianni Carlo Sciolla, con la collab. di Antonio Tessari. Torino, Giappichelli, 1982. 232p.

Handy, modestly produced anthology of literary sources for Renaissance art history.

Contents: (I) Trattati teorici; (II) Elogi e vite d'artisti; (III) Ricordi; (IV) Componimenti poetici e letterari; (V) Trattati tecnici; (VI) Periegetica; (VII) Lettere; (VIII) Contratti e donazioni dei beni.

Includes bibliographical references.

- H87 Letteratura artistica del Settecento: antologia di testi. A cura di Gianni Carlo Sciolla, con la collab. di Angela Griseri e Tiziano Marghetich. Torino, Giappichelli, 1984. 323p.

Handy, modestly produced anthology of literary sources for 18th-century art history.

Contents: (I) Gli artisti del passato e del presente; (II) Il culto dell'antico; (III) La riscoperta del medioevo; (IV) La teoria sulle arti; (V) Le tecniche artistiche; (VI) Descrizioni di opere d'arte e di collezioni; (VII) Restauro e conservazione delle opere d'arte; (VIII) Il dibattito sull'architettura e la città.

Includes bibliographical references.

- H88 Scritti d'arte del Cinquecento. A cura di Paolo Barocchi. Milano-Napoli, Ricciardi, 1971–77. 3v. (La letteratura italiana. Storia e testi, 32). Reprint in 9 vols.: Torino, Einaudi, 1977-79 (Classici Ricciardi, 33, 74, 79, 82, 91, 94, 97-99)

Magisterial anthology of literary sources of 16th-century Italian art history. Includes painting, sculpture, and architecture. Supplements GLAH 1:H156.

Contents: (1) Generalia; Arti e scienze; Le arti; Pittura, scultura, poesia, musica; Pittura e scultura; Pittura; (2) Scultura; L'artista; L'imitazione; Bellezza e grazia; Proporzioni, misure, giudizio; Disegno; Colore; (3) L'invenzione; Le grottesche; I ritratti; Imprese; Collezionismo; Vitruviana; La città; La villa; La fortificazione.

Tavola delle abbreviazioni, v.1, p.[xviii]-xxxi; v.2, p.[xi]-xxviii; v.3, p.[xi]-xxx. Nota ai testi, v.1, p.[1051]-1133; v.2, p.[2345]-78; v.3, p.[3541]-91.

- H89 Gli Scritti dei Carracci: Ludovico, Annibale, Agostino, Antonio, Giovanni Antonio. A cura di Giovanna Perini. Introd. di Charles Dempsey. Bologna, Nuova Alfa, 1990. 202p. (Villa Spelman colloquia, v.2)

Publishes for the first time all known writings by or attributed to the Carracci, along with a selection of letters, most previously unpublished, pertinent to the texts.

Glossario, p.185. Bibliografia, p.187-92. Indice dei nomi, p.[193]-202.

- H90 Scritti rinascimentali di architettura: patente a Luciano Laurana, Luca Pacioli, Francesco Colonna, Leonardo da Vinci, Donato Bramante, Francesco di Giorgio, Cesare Cesariano, Lettera a Leone X. A cura di Arnaldo Bruschi, Corrado Maltese, Manfredo Tafuri . . . [et al.] Milano, Il Polifilo, 1978. lxx, 499p. il., plates (Classici italiani di scienze tecniche e arti. Trattati di architettura, 4)

Contents: Introd., di Arnaldo Bruschi; Federico da Montefeltro, Patente a Luciano Laurana, a cura di Arnaldo Bruschi, trascr. di Domenico De Robertis; Luca Pacioli, De divina proportione, a cura di Arnaldo Bruschi, trascr. di Andrea Masini; Francesco Colonna, Hypnerotomachia Poliphili, a cura di Arnaldo Bruschi; Leonardo da Vinci, Frammenti sull'architettura, a cura di Corrado Maltese; Pareri sul tiburio del Duomo di Milano: Leonardo, Bramante, Francesco di Giorgio, a cura di Arnaldo Bruschi; verbale con il Consiglio di Francesco di Giorgio trascr. da Domenico De Robertis; Cesare Cesariano et gli studi vitruviani nel Quattrocento, a cura di Manfredo Tafuri; Brani dal Vitruvio del Cesariano, trascr. di Andrea Masini; Lettera a Leone X, a cura di Renato Bonelli.

Indice dei fogli dei codici di Leonardo, p.[487]-88. Indice dei nomi e delle cose notevoli, p.[489]-99.

Latin America

- H91 Archivo General de la Nación (México). Catálogos de documentos de arte en el Archivo General de la Nación, México. México, D.F., Univ. Nacional Autónoma de México, Instituto de Investigaciones Estéticas, 1984-. (26)v.

Collection of documents on the art of Mexico; some vols. are catalogs of the holdings of the Archivo General de Notarias.

Contents: (1) Ramo: Matrimonios (pt.1); (2) Ramo: Templos y conventos (pt.1); (3) Ramo: Obras públicas; (4) Ramos: Mercedes; (5) Ramo: Matrimonios (pt.2); (6) Ramo: Real fisco; (7) Notarios; (8) Ramo: Indios; (9) Ramo: Templos y conventos (pt.2); (10) Ramo: Reales cédulas duplicados; (11) Colección Abelardo Carillo y Gariel; (12) Ramo: Templos y conventos (pt.2, v.2); (13) Ramo: Ordenanzas; (14) Ramo: Templos y conventos (pt.2, v.3); (15) [Untitled]; (16) Protocolos (pt.1); (17) Ramo: Templos y conventos (pt.2, v.4); (18) Ramo: Matrimonios (pt.3); (19) Colección Manuel Toussaint; (20) Ramo: Historia; (21) Real casa de moneda y apartado; (22) Críticas y noticias en el periódico Excelsior, 1940-1949; (23) Real casa de moneda y apartado (pt.2); (24) Colección Manuel Toussaint (pt.2); (25) Noticias y opiniones sobre música y artes plásticas en el periódico Excelsior durante 1917; (26) Archive Erasto Cortés Juárez.

- H92 Fernández, Justino, and Báez Macías, Eduardo. Guía del archivo de la antigua Academia de San Carlos. México, [Univ. Nacional Autónoma de México], 1968-93. 4v. il. (v.1: Anales del Instituto de Investigaciones Estéticas, 37, suplemento 3) (v.2-4: Instituto de Investigaciones Estéticas. Estudios y fuentes del arte en México, 31, 35, 36)

Chronological guide to nearly 10,000 documents useful for the study of colonial and 19th-century Mexican art.

Contents: (1) 1781-1800; (2) 1801-1843; (3) 1844-1867; (4) 1867-1907.

Indexes in each vol.

- H93 The papers of Latino & Latin American artists. [Washington, D.C.], Archives of American Art, Smithsonian Institution, 1996. 48p. il. (part col.)

"In this guide, [the] term Latino refers to Americans of Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Dominican, and Central and South American descent. Latin American refers to Mexicans, Central and South Americans, and peoples of the Caribbean of Spanish and French heritage. . . . Through the accumulation of these separate but interrelated collections, the Archives of American Art gathers together in one place cross-cultural documentation on such subjects as Mexican muralism in the United States, European and Latin American strains of surrealism, New Deal art patronage, and the Chicano art movement."—Introd. Describes 148 discrete collections.

Index, p.41-48.

Low Countries

- H94 Fontes historiae artis Neerlandicae. Duverger, Erik. Brussel, Koninklijke Academie voor Wetenschappen, Letteren en Schone Kunsten van België, 1984-. (10)v.

Contents: Duverger, Erik. Antwerpse kunstinventarissen uit de zeventiende eeuw (1984-. [9]v.); Schouteet, Albert. De vlaamse primitieven te Brugge: bronnen voor de schilderkunst te Brugge tot de dood van Gerard David (1989-. [1]v.)

Spain and Portugal

- H95 Artists' techniques in Golden Age Spain: six treatises in translation. Ed. and trans. by Zahira Veliz. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1986. xix, 224p. il.

Includes texts listed in GLAH 1:H71 (Pacheco) and H111 (Palomino).

Contents: Arts of poetry, and of painting and symmetry, with principles of perspective, by Felipe Núñez; Dialogues on paintings, by Vicente Carducho; The art of painting, by Francisco Pacheco; A tract on the art of painting: Anonymous treatise ca.1656; Principles for studying the sovereign and most noble art of painting, by José García Hidalgo; The pictorial museum and optical scale, by Antonio Palomino y Velasco.

Notes, p.191-216. Selected bibliography, p.217-20. Index, p.221-24.

United States

- H96 Archives of American Art. Archives of American Art, Smithsonian Institution: a checklist of the collection, September 1977. 2d ed. rev., ca. 200p. 1st ed. 1975.

"The present revised edition includes a listing of all collections."—Foreword.

- H97 ———. The card catalog of the manuscript collections of the Archives of American Art. Wilmington, Del., Scholarly Resources, 1980. 10v.

Photographic reproduction of the card catalog of the leading collection of primary sources for American art. The Archives was founded in 1954 and incorporated into the Smithsonian Institution in 1970.

———. 1981-1984 supplement. Wilmington, Scholarly Resources, 1985. vii, 542p.

- H98 ———. The card catalog of the oral history collections of the Archives of American Art. Wilmington, Del., Scholarly Resources, 1984. vii, 343p.

Photographic reproduction of the catalog.

"The catalogue of the Archives of American Art oral history collections consists of 2,500 cards describing both transcribed and untranscribed tape recordings. The majority refer to interviews, but they also cover panel discussions, symposia, meetings, lectures, readings, and monologues."—Pref.

- H99 ———. Government and art: a guide to sources in the Archives of American Art. Washington, D.C., The Archives, 1995. 206p. il.

Focuses upon federal involvement with the arts, but includes "papers relating to state, city, and local government's connections with art as well as papers of international scope. This is not a guide to collection but to those parts of collections . . . that concern this topic."—Introd.

Index, p.177-206.

- H100 ———. Guide to archival sources for French-American art history in the Archives of American Art. Washington, D.C., The Archives, 1992. iv, 128p. il.

Entries are chronological. The original papers are in the Archives unless otherwise noted. Collections that have been microfilmed are identified and are available at the Archives' several offices around the country or through interlibrary loan.

Index, p.13-28.

- H101 ———. Guide to archival sources for Italian-American art history in the Archives of American Art. Washington, D.C., The Archives, [1994?]. xi, 73p. il.

Entries are chronological. The original papers are in the Archives unless otherwise noted. Collections that have been microfilmed are identified and are available at the Archives' several offices around the country or through interlibrary loan.

Index, p.63-73.

- H102 ———. Reading records: a researcher's guide to the Archives of American Art. Washington, D.C., The Archives, 1997. 120p. il. (part col.), facsim. (Archives of American art journal, v.35, no.1-4, 1995).

A helpful illustrated overview of the Archives' rich collections.

- H103 New York Public Library. The artists file [microform]. Alexandria, Va., Chadwyck-Healey, [1987]-89. 11,281 microfiches il. + index (10 microfiches in looseleaf binder)

Reproduces the Library's valuable clippings file of more than 1.5 million items.

- H104 Pacini, Marina. Philadelphia: a guide to art-related archival materials. Washington, D.C., Archives of American Art, 1994. x, 144p. il., ports.

Supersedes the preliminary guide, Art-related archival materials in the Philadelphia region, 1984-1989: survey, published in 1990.

Contents: Section I: Institutional holdings; Section II: Gift and loan materials available at the Archives of American Art.

Index, p.125-44.

SEE ALSO: Art in theory, 1815-1900 (GLAH 2:I245); Art in theory, 1900-1990 (GLAH 2:I246); Chipp, Theories of modern art (GLAH 1:I238); Stiles and Selz, Theories and documents of contemporary art (GLAH 2:I294); Taylor, Nineteenth-century theories of art (GLAH 2:I295).

ASIAN COUNTRIES

Collections

China

- H105 Bush, Susan, and Shih, Hsio-yen, eds. Early Chinese texts on painting. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Pr., 1985. xii, 391p. il., plates.

An anthology of more than 30 texts about painting presented in chronological chapters from the Han dynasty of 3d century B.C. to the Yüan dynasty of 14th century A.D. Within the chapters, the texts are grouped by subject.

Contents: (1) Pre-T'ang interpretation and criticism; (2) T'ang criticism and art history; (3) Sung art history; (4) The landscape texts; (5) Sung literati theory and connoisseurship; (6) Yüan criticism and writings on special subjects.

Biographies of painters, critics and calligraphers, p.291–351. Glossary of Chinese terms, p.352–54. Glossary of Chinese names and titles, p.355–62. Bibliography, p.[363]–78. Index, p.379–91.

I. Histories and Handbooks

This chapter includes histories, handbooks, manuals, encyclopedic series, and exhibition catalogs that treat more than one medium. General dictionaries of art and archeology may be found in Chapter E, Dictionaries and Encyclopedias. Sources and documents for the period before the late 19th century are in Chapter H, Sources and Documents, and general bibliographies are in Chapter A.

COLLECTIONS AND INVENTORIES

- I1 The Frick Collection: an illustrated catalogue. N.Y., The Frick Collection (Distr. by Princeton Univ. Pr., 1968- ). (7)v. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:I1 for original annotation and previous vols.

Contents: (5) Furniture, Italian and French (1992); (6) Furniture and gilt bronzes, French (1992).

- I2 Kupferstichkabinett Berlin. Das Berliner Kupferstichkabinett: ein Handbuch zur Sammlung. Hrsg. von Alexander Duckers. Mit Beitr. von Sigrid Achenbach . . . [et al.] Berlin, Akademie, 1994. 571p. il. (part col.)

Splendid handbook embracing prints and drawings.

Verzeichnis der abgekürzt zitierten Literatur, p.537-56. Literatur zu den Sammlungsbeständen und zur Sammlungsgeschichte, p.557-63. Verzeichnis der in der Sammlung vertretenen und im Handbuch genannten Künstler, p.564-71.

- I3 New York. Metropolitan Museum of Art. The Metropolitan Museum of Art at home. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1987. 12v.

Series title used in advertising, not present in each vol. This series of 12 vols. seeks, collectively, to "represent the scope of the Metropolitan Museum's holdings while selectively presenting the very finest objects from each of its curatorial departments."—Dir. foreword to v.1. Texts by the museum's curators; well-illustrated in color.

Contents: Greece and Rome; Egypt and the Ancient Near East; Europe in the Middle Ages; The Renaissance in Italy and Spain; The Renaissance in the North; Europe in the age of monarchy; Europe in the age of Enlightenment and Revolution; Modern Europe; The United States of America; Asia; The Islamic world; The Pacific islands, Africa, and the Americas.

- I4 ———. The Robert Lehman Collection. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1987- . (10)v. il. (part col.), facsim., ports.

Magnificent, scholarly catalog of this outstanding collection.

Contents: (1) Pope-Hennessy, John. Italian paintings; (2) Sterling, Charles . . . [et al.] Fifteenth to eighteenth century European paintings: France, Central Europe, the Netherlands, Spain, and Great Britain; (4) Hindman, Sandra . . . [et al.] Illuminations; (5) Forlani Tempesti, Anna. Italian fifteenth- to seventeenth-century drawings; (6) Shaw, James Byam, and Knox, George. Italian eighteenth-century drawings; (7) Haverkamp-Begemann, Egbert . . . [et al.] Fifteenth- to eighteenth-century European drawings: Central Europe, The Netherlands, France, England; (8) Clark, Carol. American drawings and watercolors; (10) Rasmussen, Jörg. Italian majolica; (11) Lanmon, Dwight P., with Whitehouse, David B. Glass; (14) Mayer-Thurman, Christa C. European textiles.

Includes bibliographical references and indexes.

GENERAL WORKS

- I5 Adams, Laurie Schneider. Art across time. Boston, McGraw-Hill College, 1999. 2v. il. (part col.), maps, plans, ports.

"While comprehensive, Art across Time avoids an encyclopedic approach to art history and attempts instead a more manageable narrative that is suitable for a one-year survey course."—Pref. Emphasis upon pedagogical features.

Contents: (1) Prehistory to the fourteenth century; (2) The thirteenth century to the present.

Separately paginated glossary, suggestions for further reading, notes, index, at back of each vol.

- I6 ———. A history of Western art. N.Y., Abrams, 1994. 512p. il. (part col.), col. maps.

"The object of this text is to introduce students to the history of western art and of its most important styles. . . . This book differs from most others in its focus on relatively fewer works in greater depth."—Pref.

Contents: Part one: Introduction; Part two: The ancient world; Part three: The Christian world; Part four: The Renaissance; Part five: Early modern through the Nineteenth Century; Part six: The Twentieth Century.

Glossary, p.[485]–92. Suggestions for further reading, p.[493]–500. Notes, p.[501]. Index, p.[504]–12.

I7 Art & ideas. London, Phaidon, 1997–. (8)v.

Unnumbered series of monographs on the major regions, periods, and styles of the history of world art. Titles in this series are not cited individually in GLAH 2.

Selective contents: Bloom, Jonathan M. Islamic arts (1997); Dehejia, Vidya. Indian art (1997); Gale, Matthew. Dada & surrealism (1997); Godfrey, Tony. Conceptual art (1998); Irwin, David. Neoclassicism (1997); Lowden, John. Early Christian & Byzantine art (1997); Morphy, Howard. Aboriginal art (1998); Spivey, Nigel Jonathan. Greek art (1997).

I8 L'Art et les grandes civilisations. Paris, Mazenod, 1965–. (29)v.

Lavishly produced monographic survey of world art. Some vols. published by Citadelles or jointly by Citadelles and Mazenod. A few early vols. are recorded in GLAH 1 under their monographic titles. Recent Eng. translations, which do not appear as a series, are cited individually elsewhere in this chapter.

Contents: (1) Leroi-Gourhan, André. Préhistoire de l'art occidental (1965; new ed. 1995; Eng. ed. GLAH 1:I30); (2) Michalowski, Kazimierz. L'art de l'ancienne Égypte (1968; new ed. 1994; Eng. ed. GLAH 1:I43); (3) Papaioannou, Kostas. L'art grec (1972; new ed. 1993; Eng. ed. 1989); (4) Andrae, Bernard. L'art de l'ancienne Rome (1973; new ed. 1998; Eng. ed. 1977); (5) Sivaramamurti, Calambur . . . [et al.] L'art en Inde (1974; new ed. 1999; Eng. ed. 1977); (6) Papadopoulos, Alexandre. L'Islam et l'art musulman (1976; Eng. ed. 1976); (7) Amiet, Pierre. L'art antique du Proche-Orient (1977); (8) Alcina Franch, José. L'art précolumbien (1978; 1996; Eng. ed. 1983); (9) Watson, William. L'art de l'ancienne Chine (1979; new ed. 1997; Eng. ed. 1981); (10) Elisseeff, Danielle. L'art de l'ancien Japon (1980; Eng. ed. 1985); (11) Coche de la Ferté, Étienne. L'art de Byzance (1981); (12) Durliat, Marcel. L'art roman (1982); (13) Erlande-Brandenburg, Alain. L'art gothique (1983; Eng. ed. 1989); (14) Jestaz, Bertrand. L'art de la renaissance (1984; Eng. ed. 1995); (15) Durliat, Marcel. Des barbares à l'an mil (1985); (16) Bottineau, Yves. L'art baroque (1986); (17) Thierry, Jean Michel. Les arts arméniens (1987; Eng. ed. 1989); (18) Kerchache, Jacques. L'art africain (1988; Eng. ed. 1993); (19) Vaughan, William. L'art du XIXe siècle, 1780–1850 (1989; Eng. ed. GLAH 2:I298); (20) Cachin, Françoise. L'art du XIXe siècle, 1850–1905 (1990; Eng. ed. 1999); (21) Allenov, Mikhail Mikhailovich . . . [et al.] L'art russe (1991); (22) Martin, Jennifer. L'art des États-Unis (1992); (23) Kaepler, Adrienne Lois . . . [et al.] L'art océanien (1993; Eng. ed. 1997); (24) Girard-Geslan, Maud. L'art d'Asie du Sud-Est (1994; Eng. ed. 1998); (25) Sed-Rajna, Gabrielle. Art juif (1995; Eng. ed. 1997); (26) Bouillon, Jean-Paul . . . [et al.] L'art du XXe siècle, 1900–1939 (1996); (27–28) Morel, Philippe . . . [et al.] L'art italien (2v., 1997–98); (29) Chuvin, Pierre. L'art de l'Asie centrale (1999).

I9 Berthoud, Émile. 2000 ans d'art chrétien. Chambray-lès-Tours, CLD, [1997]. 473p. col. il.

Beautifully illustrated survey of Christian art across two millennia, intended for a general audience. Lacks any scholarly apparatus.

I10 Cambridge introduction to the history of art. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1981–85. 8v. il.

Most vols. are brief handbooks on the history of western art.

Contents: (1) Woodford, Susan. The art of Greece and Rome (1982); (2) Shaver-Crandell, Anne. The middle ages (1982); (3) Letts, Rosa Maria. The renaissance (1981); (4) Mainstone, Madeleine, and Mainstone, Rowland. The seventeenth century (1981); (5) Jones, Stephen. The eighteenth century (1985); (6) Reynolds, Donald. The nineteenth century (1985); (7) Lambert, Rosemary. The twentieth century (1981); (8) Woodford, Susan. Looking at pictures (1983).

I11 Cornell, Sara. Art: a history of changing style. Englewood Cliffs, Prentice-Hall, 1983. 455p. il. (part col.)

Introductory survey of western art history intended for secondary school students and others "unfamiliar with the subject."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction; Part 1: The ancient world. Part 2: The middle ages. Part 3: The renaissance. Part 4: The romantics. Part 5: The modern world.

Bibliography, p.[437]–41. Sources of quotations, p.441–42. Index, p.[443]–55.

I12 Cossío, Manuel Bartolomé and Pijoán y Soteras, José. Summa artis; historia general del arte. Bilbao, Espasa-Calpe, 1931–. (41)v. il., plates (part col.)

See GLAH 1:I5 for previous vols.

Contents: (24) Camon Aznar, José. La pintura española del siglo XVI (2d ed., 1979); (25) ———. La pintura española del siglo XVII (2d ed., 1989); (26) Hernandez Diaz, José. La escultura y la arquitectura españolas del siglo XVII (1982; 5th ed., 1991); (27) Camon Aznar, José. Arte español del siglo XVIII (1984; 4th ed., 1991); (28/29) Sebastian, Santiago. Arte iberoamericano desde la colonización a la independencia (2v., 1985; 4th ed., 1992); (30) Franca, José Augusto. Arte portugués (1986; 3d ed., 1991); (31/32) Carrete Parrondo, Juan. El Grabado en España (2v.; 4th ed., 1994); (33) Luna, Juan J. Pintura británica (1500–1820) (2d ed., 1990); (34) Buendía, J. Rogelio. Arte europeo y norteamericano del siglo XIX (2d ed., 1991); (35, Pt.1) Gómez-Moreno, María Elena. Pintura y escultura españolas del siglo XIX (1993); (35, Pt.2) Navascués Palacio, Pedro. Arquitectura española, 1808–1914 (1993); (36/37) Bozal Fernández, Valeriano. Pintura y escultura españolas del siglo XX (1900–1939). (2v., 1993); (38) Marchán Fiz, Simón. Fin de siglo y los primeros "ismos" del XX (1890–1917) (1994); (39) Marchán Fiz, Simón. Las Vanguardias históricas y sus sombras (1917–1930) (1995); (40) Baldellou Santolaria, Miguel Angel and Capitel, Antón. Arquitectura española del siglo XX

- (1995); (41) Capitel, Antón. Arquitectura europea y americana después de las vanguardias (1996); (42) Cerámica española (1997); (43) Arte africano (1998); (44) Arte ruso (1998); (45) Artes decorativas I-II (2v., 1999).
- I13 Gage, John. Color and culture: practice and meaning from antiquity to abstraction. Boston, Little, Brown, 1993. 335p. il. (part col.)
Pioneering cultural history of color, from the ancient Greeks to the late 20th century. Treats color theory, color perception, and color symbolism. "This is an historical study . . . [which] looks for the origins of the methods and concepts of visual art and treats art as the most vivid surviving manifestation of general attitudes toward colour expressed in visual form."—Introd. The author has also published a companion volume, containing further studies in the history and theory of color: Color and meaning: art, science and symbolism (Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1999).
Contents: Introduction; (1) The classical inheritance; (2) The fortunes of Apelles; (3) Light from the east; (4) A Dionysian aesthetic; (5) Colour-language, colour-symbols; (6) Unweaving the rainbow; (7) Disegno versus colore; (8) The peacock's tail; (9) Colour under control; the reign of Newton; (10) The palette: "mother of all colours"; (11) Colours of the mind: Goethe's legacy; (12) The substance of colour; (13) The sound of colour; (14) Colour without theory: the role of abstraction.
Notes to the text, p.271–302. Bibliography, p.303–23. Index, p.328–35.
- I14 Gardner, Helen. Art through the ages. 10th ed. Ed. by Richard G. Tansey, Fred S. Kleiner. Fort Worth, Tex., Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1996. xvi, 1200p. il. (part col.)
See GLAH 1:I7 for 6th ed. 7th ed. 1980; 8th ed. 1986; 9th ed. 1991.
"The text has been thoroughly revised and in large part rewritten. We have endeavored to update it in accordance with contemporary art-historical and archeological scholarship. Specialists have reviewed each chapter. . . . A great effort has been made to enhance the quality of the photographs. . . . New maps and timelines open each chapter, and more works in North American collections have been included to encourage the careful study of originals. A comprehensive package of teaching and study aids also accompanies the tenth edition."—Pref.
Glossary, p.[1158]–68. Bibliography, p.[1169]–79. Index, p.[1182]–1200.
- I15 Gombrich, E. H. The story of art. 16th ed., exp. and redesigned. London, Phaidon, 1995. 688p. il. (part col.), maps.
See GLAH 1:I9 for the 12th ed.; 13th ed. 1978; 14th ed. 1984; 15th ed. 1989.
Latest version of a classic introduction to the history of art, by a great practitioner.
"A note on art books," p.638–54. Chronological charts and maps, p.655–69. List of illustrations by location, p.670–73. Index and glossary, p.674–86.
- I16 Greenhalgh, Michael. The classical tradition in art. Dallas (Distr. by Southwest Book Services, 1978). 271p. il., plans.
"This book is a survey of the development of the classical tradition in art and architecture from the fall of the Roman Empire to the time of Ingres. . . . What I have attempted to describe is the history of an intellectual attitude toward Antiquity which led certain artists to re-interpret antique ideas and antique models not slavishly but creatively."—Foreword.
Contents: Acknowledgements; Foreword; Introduction: What is Classicism?; (1) Classicism from the fall of Rome to Nicola Pisano: survival and revival; (2) Antique art and the Renaissance: a gallery of types; (3) Roma quanta fuit, ipsa ruina docet; (4) Nicola Pisano and Giotto: founders of Renaissance Classicism; (5) The early Renaissance; (6) The high Renaissance; (7) Classicism in Italian architecture; (8) The classical revival in seventeenth-century Italy; (9) Art in seventeenth-century France; (10) Architecture in France: Renaissance to Neoclassicism; (11) Neoclassicism in painting and sculpture; (12) Ingres and the subversion of the classical tradition.
Bibliography, p.235–62. Index, p.263–71.
- I17 Harris, Ann Sutherland, and Nochlin, Linda. Women artists 1550–1950. Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Museum of Art, 1976. 368p. il. (part col.)
Catalog of the pioneering exhibition, Los Angeles County Museum of Art (1976–77), and other locations. Includes an introductory overview of the subject.
Artists' bibliographies, collections, exhibitions, literature, p.339–62. General bibliography, p.362–65. Index of artists, p.366–67.
- I18 Hartt, Frederick. Art: a history of painting, sculpture, architecture. 4th ed. N.Y., Abrams, 1993. 1127p. il. (part col.), maps.
See GLAH 1:I11 for original ed. 2d ed. 1986; 3d ed. 1989. The 4th ed. of this standard survey features 100 more color illustrations. The number of women artists has been "somewhat" increased.
- I19 Heller, Nancy. Women artists: an illustrated history. N.Y., Abbeville, 1987. 224p. il. (part col.), ports.
"The purpose of this book is to provide a richly illustrated overview of some of the most interesting professional women painters and sculptors in the Western world, from the Renaissance to the present."—Pref.
Notes, p.210–17. Selected bibliography, p.218–21. Index, p.222–24.
- I20 Histoire de l'art. [Par Albert Chatelet, Bernard Philippe Groslier.] Paris, Larousse, 1985. 2v. (Repr., 1995 in one vol.)
Popular reference volume.
Index, p.769–80.
- I21 Histoire de l'art Flammarion. Ouvrage dirigé par Françoise Hamon et Philippe Dagen. Paris, Flammarion, 1995–. (4)v. il. (chiefly col.)

Beautifully illustrated history of the world's art to be completed in 6 vols.

Forthcoming: Arts premiers; Asie.

Contents: Préhistoire et antiquité (1997); Moyen Âge: la Chrétienté et l'Islam (1996); Temps Modernes (XVe-XVIIIe siècles) (1996); Époque contemporaine (XIXe-XXe siècles) (1995).

- 122 Histoire de l'art 1000-2000. Sous la dir. d'Alain Mérot. [Paris], Hazan, 1995. 542p. color il.

Well-produced survey of western art from Romanesque to the 20th century, with texts provided by a team of specialists.

Bibliographie, p.[509-15]. Lexique, p.516-23. Index, p.524-42.

- 123 Honour, Hugh, and Fleming, John. The visual arts: a history. 5th ed. N.Y., Abrams, 1999. 928p. il. (part col.), col. maps 1st ed. 1982; 2d ed. 1986; 3d ed. 1991; 4th ed. 1995. 5th ed. published in the U.K. under the title A world history of art. London, Lawrence King, 1999.

The 4th ed. was substantially revised and expanded throughout. It included a fuller account of art techniques and greater attention to the social role of the arts; a new chapter on the 1980s and 1990s; supplementary sections devoted to sources and documents; and brief descriptions of works "in context." The "substantial additions made to the fourth edition have now been supplemented by a 'Concepts' section" and other features.—Pref. to the fifth ed.

Glossary, p.[888]-900. For further reading, p.[901]-09. Index, p.[910]-26.

- 124 Hooker, Denise, ed. Art of the western world. London, Boxtree, 1989. 464p. il. (part col.)

"Unlike previous histories of art written from a single viewpoint, this book brings together distinguished scholars whose specialist interests span Western art from Classical antiquity to the present day. . . . They introduce the reader to the diversity of approaches now current within art history, ranging from detailed analyses of different styles and techniques of art and architecture to feminist, Marxist and post-modernist interpretations."—Pref. Based on a British television series.

Contents: (1) Greek art, by John Boardman; (2) Roman art, by Richard Brilliant; (3) The early Middle Ages, by Paul Crossley; (4) Gothic, by William Clark; (5) The early Renaissance in Italy, by John White; (6) The early Renaissance in the North, by Catherine Reynolds; (7) The High Renaissance in Rome, by A. Richard Turner; (8) The High Renaissance in Venice, by David Rosand; (9) Italy, France and Austria in the 17th century, by Jeremy Wood; (10) Spain and the Netherlands in the 17th century, by Ivan Gaskell; (11) The age of reason, by Robin Middleton; (12) The age of passion, by Robin Middleton; (13) Realism and Impressionism, by John House; (14) Post-Impressionism, by Griselda Pollock; (15) Alienation and innovation, 1900-1918, by Christopher Green; (16) Between utopia and crisis, 1918-1939, by Christopher Green; (17) The last moderns, by Rosalind Krauss; (18) Post-modernism: within and beyond the frame, by Rosalind Krauss.

Further reading, p.448-50. Glossary, p.451-52. Index, p.461-64.

- 125 Janson, H. W. History of art. Rev. and exp. by Anthony F. Janson. N.Y., Abrams, 1997. 1000p. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:115 for 1st and 2d eds. 3d ed. 1986; 4th ed. 1991; 5th ed. 1995.

Remains the standard textbook survey of the history of art. The 5th ed. featured 119 excerpted primary source readings; 111 redrawn line drawings, diagrams, and floor plans; heavily revised sections on Baroque, Rococo, and contemporary art; addition of 18 new artists, many African-American; redesigned timelines; sections on techniques and processes; and a newly updated bibliography. This revision "completes the process of transforming the book into purely a history of western art."—Pref. and ackn. to the fifth ed. rev.

Books for further reading, by Max Marmor, p.926-35. Glossary, p.935-42. Index, p.943-59.

- 126 Kemp, Martin. The science of art: optical themes in western art from Brunelleschi to Seurat. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1990. 375p. il. (part col.)

"My intention has been to outline . . . the major profiles of optically minded theory and practice in art, and to set these profiles beside the geometry of vision and the physics of colour in the history of scientific thought."—Introd. An original and important study of the formative contribution of science to the visual arts from the Renaissance to the 19th century.

Contents: Introduction; Part I: Lines of sight; Part II: Machine and mind; Part III: The colour of light; Appendix I: Explanation of linear perspective; Appendix II: Brunelleschi's demonstration panels.

Notes, p.346-62. Select bibliography, p.363-64. Index, p.365-74.

- 127 Kissick, John. Art, context and criticism. 2d ed. Boston, McGraw-Hill; Madison, Brown & Benchmark, 1996. 512p. il. (part col.)

1st ed., Madison, Brown & Benchmark, 1993.

"My method . . . is to place considerable weight on the idea of art as a socially generated idea, carrying with it the values of its historical situation and telling us, as a modern audience, about our own values and biases."—Pref. "The second edition . . . presents the reader with an expanded overview of the social and contextual issues."—Pref. to second ed.

Contents: Introduction; (1) The beginnings of art; (2) The art of the classical world; (3) Art and religion: the visual worlds of Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism, and Buddhism; (4) Issues and ideas in Renaissance art; (5) Arts, issues, and innovations in the Baroque era; (6) Reason and revolution: eighteenth- and early nineteenth-century art in Europe; (7) The modern world and its art; (8) Art in the Americas; (9) Art in the twentieth century; (10) Contemporary art, issues, and ideas.

Glossary, p.[495]-501. Suggested reading, p.[502]-03. Index, p.[505]-12.

- I28 Lohneysen, Wolfgang, Freiherr von. Eine neue Kunstgeschichte. N.Y., De Gruyter, 1984. 464p. il.
A thematic, theoretically engaged exploration of the history of art.
Contents: Einleitung; (1) Wirklichkeit; (2) Macht und Glaube; (3) Gesellschaft; (4) Gemeinschaft, Staat und Revolution.
Anhang: Chronologie der abgebildeten Werke, p.444–46. Kleines Lexikon zum Text, p.447–62. Abkürzungsverzeichnis, p.463.
- I29 Oxford history of art. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1997–. (16)v.
A new series of "up-to-date, fully illustrated introductions to a wide variety of subjects written by leading experts in their field. They will appear regularly, building into an interlocking and comprehensive series."—Pub. note. Projected in more than 50 vols. Titles in this series are not cited individually elsewhere in this chapter.
Selective contents: Andrews, Malcolm. Landscape and western art (1999); Berlo, Janet Catherine. Native North American art (1998); Brettell, Richard R. Modern art 1851–1929 (1999); Causey, Andrew. Sculpture since 1945 (1998); Clarke, Graham. The photograph (1997); Clunas, Craig. Art in China (1997); Craske, Matthew. Art in Europe 1700–1830 (1997); Curtis, Penelope. Sculpture 1900–1945: after Rodin (1999); Elsner, Jas. Imperial Rome and Christian triumph (1998); Osborne, Robin. Archaic and classical Greek art (1998); Patton, Sharon F. African-American art (1998); Preziosi, Donald, ed. The art of art history: a critical anthology (1998); Stalley, R. A. Early medieval architecture (1999); Upton, Dell. Architecture in the United States (1998); Welch, Evelyn S. Art and society in Italy, 1350–1500 (1997); Woodham, Jonathan M. Twentieth century design (1997).
- I30 Oxford history of western art. Ed. by Martin Kemp. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 2000. xii, 564p. il.
Important, multi-author survey with more than 50 distinguished contributors.
Contents: (1) The foundations: Greece and Rome c.600 BC–410 AD; (2) Church and state: the establishing of European visual culture 410–1527; (3) The art of nations: European visual regimes 1527–1770; (4) The era of revolutions 1770–1914; (5) Modernism and after 1914–2000; Epilogue.
Chronology, p.528–35. Glossary, p.536–39. Further reading, p.540–47. Index, p.550–64.
- I31 Perspectives. N.Y., Abrams, 1995–.
Published in the U.K. as Everyman art library. London, Weidenfeld and Nicolson. Unnumbered series of accessible handbooks for the general reader. Titles in this series are not cited individually elsewhere in this chapter.
Contents: Blier, Suzanne Preston. The royal arts of Africa (1998); Camille, Michael. Gothic art: glorious visions (1996); Clark, Toby. Art and propaganda in the twentieth century (1997); Cole, Alison. Virtue and magnificence: the art of the Italian Renaissance courts (1995); D'Alleva, Ann. Art of the Pacific islands (1998); Flynn, Tom. The body in three dimensions (1998); Fortini Brown, Patricia. Art and life in Renaissance Venice (1997); Green, Miranda J. Celtic art: reading the messages (1997); Guth, Christine. Art of Edo Japan (1996); Harbison, Craig. The mirror of the artist: northern Renaissance art in its historical context (1995); Irwin, Robert. Islamic art in context (1997); Mathews, Thomas F. Byzantium: from antiquity to the Renaissance (1998); Partridge, Loren W. The art of Renaissance Rome, 1400–1600 (1996); Petzold, Andreas. Romanesque art (1995); Pultz, John. The body and the lens: photography 1839 to the present (1995); Smith, Paul. Impressionism: beneath the surface (1995); Taylor, Brandon. Avant-garde and after: rethinking art now (1995); Tomlinson, Janis A. From El Greco to Goya: painting in Spain, 1561–1828 (1997); Turner, A. Richard. Renaissance Florence: the invention of a new art (1997); Westermann, Mariët. A worldly art: the Dutch republic, 1585–1718 (1996).
- I32 Pischel-Fraschini, Gina. A world history of art: painting, sculpture, architecture, decorative arts. With an introd. by Luisa Becherucci. Rev. ed. N.Y., Simon and Schuster, 1975. 754p. col. il.
Trans. of GLAH 1:I22, though not obviously related.
- I33 Sed-Rajna, Gabrielle. Jewish art. With essays by Ziva Amishai-Maisels . . . [et al.] Trans. from the French by Sara Friedman and Mira Reich. N.Y., Abrams, 1997. 635p. il. (part col.)
First pub. in French trans. as part of the series L'art et les grandes civilisations (GLAH 2:I8). Lavishly illustrated survey of the subject, edited by an authority.
Contents: Oriental sources of Jewish art: sacred spaces; Ancient synagogues: architecture, murals, mosaics; The development of Jewish art in the west: architecture, illumination, ritual objects; Jewish artists: from the eighteenth century to the present day; Documentation.
Chronology, p.611–15. Glossary, p.616–18. Bibliography, p.619–27. Index, p.628–35.
- I34 Silver, Lawrence. Art in history. N.Y., Abbeville Press, 1993. 496p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.
"Art in History . . . was written with a specific goal in mind: to present works of art with a greater depth of treatment and a more historical and contextual view of their audiences and cultures than most survey volumes. . . . This volume aims to provide an introduction to the means by which art functions in and for its culture, while providing a visual primer of images saturated in the significance of their distinctive epochs."—Pref.
Contents: (1) Introduction: the roles of the artist; (2) Ancient ancestors; (3) Christian culture; (4) Early renaissance; (5) Later renaissance in Italy; (6) Age of Absolutism; (7) Dawn of the modern era; (8) Nature and novelty; (9) In search of modernity; (10) World War II to present.
Glossary, p.474–80. Bibliography, p.482–86. Index, p.487–96.
- I35 Steer, John, and White, Antony. Atlas of western art history: artists, sites, and movements from ancient Greece to the modern age. N.Y., Facts on File, 1994. 335p. il., maps (part col.)
A color atlas of western art history from the ancient world (700 B.C.) to 1950. Chronologically arranged entries with maps on facing pages. "The texts relate to the maps and we hope that by using them the purpose and function of the maps will become clear to the reader. But equally they are designed to provide a general introduction to someone approaching each subject for the first time. . . . In principle the virtue of the cartographic approach is to tie the subject quite literally to the ground: to where works of art were produced."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; The ancient world: 700 B.C.–313 A.D.; The medieval world: 4th–15th centuries; The renaissance; Baroque and rococo: 1600–1789; The modern world: 1789–1950.

Consultants and contributors, p.12. Index, p.314–31.

- I36 Stokstad, Marilyn. Art history. [By] Marilyn Stokstad with the collab. of Bradford R. Collins and with chapters by Stephen Addiss, Chu-ting Li, Marilyn M. Rhie . . . [et al.] Rev. ed. N.Y., Abrams, 1999. 2v. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

1st ed., 1995.

An unusually wide-ranging and imaginative survey textbook aimed at the general reader and undergraduate student. "What is needed is a new text for a new generation of teachers and students, a text that balances formalist traditions with the newer interests of contextual art history and also meets the needs of a diverse and fast-changing student population."—Pref. to the first ed. Includes a "complete ancillary package, including slide sets, CD-ROM, videodisc, a student Study Guide, and an Instructor's Resource Manual with Test Bank."—Pref. to the first ed. The revised ed. includes substantive changes in the treatment of Western art of the Renaissance, Baroque and Rococo, and Modern periods.

Each vol. includes a separately paginated glossary, bibliography, "website directory of museums and sites," and index.

Contents: Vol.1: (1) Prehistory and prehistoric art of Europe; (2) Art of the Ancient Near East; (3) Art of ancient Egypt; (4) Aegean art; (5) Art of ancient Greece; (6) Etruscan art and Roman art; (7) Early Christian, Jewish, and Byzantine art; (8) Islamic art; (9) Art of India before 1100; (10) Chinese art before 1280; (11) Japanese art before 1392; (12) Art of the Americas before 1300; (13) Art of ancient Africa; (14) Early medieval art in Europe; (15) Romanesque art; (16) Gothic art. Vol.2: (17) Early renaissance art in Europe; (18) Renaissance art in sixteenth-century Europe; (19) Baroque, Rococo, and Early American art; (20) Art of India after 1100; (21) Chinese art after 1280; (22) Japanese art after 1392; (23) Art of the Americas after 1300; (24) Art of Pacific cultures; (25) Art of Africa in the modern era; (26) Neoclassicism and Romanticism in Europe and the United States; (27) Realism to Impressionism in Europe and the United States; (28) The rise of modernism in Europe and the United States; (29) Art in the United States and Europe since World War II.

- I37 Storia dell'arte europea. Milano, Jaca Book, 1995–. (4v. il. (part col.), plans, ports.

Multi-vol. survey of European art, medieval and after, by a team of specialists.

Contents: Castelfranchi Vegas, Liana. L'arte del medioevo (rev. ed., 1994); Cassanelli, Roberto . . . [et al.] Cantieri medievali (1995); Castelfranchi Vegas, Liana, and Santoro, Fiorella Sricchia. L'arte del rinascimento (2v., 1996–97; v.1 first published as L'arte del Quattrocento in Italia e in Europa); Béguin, Sylvie. La bottega dell'artista: tra Medioevo e Rinascimento (1998).

- I38 Storia universale dell'arte. [Torino], Unione Tipografico-Editrice Torinese, 1953–. il., plates, plans.

Successor series to GLAH 1:I22, with new authors. The unnumbered titles in this series are not cited individually elsewhere in GLAH 2.

Contents: Sezione prima, Civiltà antiche e primitive. Nougier, Louis-René. La Preistoria (1982); Moscati, Sabatino. Il mondo punico, (2v., 1980); Donadoni, Sergio. L'Egitto (1981); Moscati, Sabatino. Le civiltà periferiche del vicino oriente antico: mondo anatolico e mondo siriano (1989); Martin, Roland. La Grecia e il mondo greco, (2v., 1984); Mansuelli, Guido Achille. Roma e il mondo romano, (2v., 1981); Grottanelli, Vinigi L. Le Americhe (1983). Sezione seconda, Civiltà dell'Oriente. Bussagli, Mario. L'Arte del Gandhāra (1984); Boisselier, Jean. Il Sud-Est asiatico (1986). Sezione terza, Civiltà dell'Occidente. Skubiszewski, Piotr. L'arte europea dal VI al IX secolo (1995); Cutler, Anthony. L'arte bizantina e il suo pubblico (1986); De Fusco, Renato. Il Quattrocento in Italia (1984); Bialostocki, Jan. Il Quattrocento nell'Europa settentrionale (1989) (trans. of GLAH 1:I396); Collareta, Marco. L'arte in Europa, 1500–1570 (1998); Arbore-Popescu, Grigore. L'arte nell'età delle monarchie assolute (1997); De Seta, Cesare. Il secolo della borghesia (2v., 1999); Gualdoni, Flaminio. Le forme del presente (1997).

- I39 Univers des formes. Paris, Gallimard, 1960–.

See GLAH 1:I4 for titles available in the Amer. ed., entitled Arts of mankind, and titles through v.24 not translated into English. Titles in this series are not cited individually elsewhere in this chapter.

Contents: (25) Duval, Paul Marie. Les Celtes (1977); (26) Aldred, Cyril, et al. Les temps des pyramides: de la préhistoire aux Hyksos 1560 av. J.-C. (1978); (27) Aldred, Cyril, et al. L'Empire des conquérants: l'Égypte au Nouvel Empire (1560–1070) (1979); (28) Aldred, Cyril, et al. L'Égypte du crépuscule: de Tanis à Méroé, 1070 av. J.-C.–IV<sup>e</sup> siècle apr. J.-C. (1980); (29) Avril, François, et al. Les temps des Croisades (1982); (30) Avril, François, et al. Les royaumes d'Occident (1983); (31) Baudez, Claude F. et al. Les Mayas (1984); (32) Lavallée, Danièle. Les Andes de la Préhistoire aux Incas (1985); (33) Bernal, Ignacio. Le Mexique des origines aux Aztèques (1986); (34) Erlande-Brandenburg, Alain. Le conquête de l'Europe, 1260–1380 (1987); (35) Recht, Roland. Automne et renouveau: 1380–1500 (1988); (36?) Sauerländer, Willibald. Le siècle des cathédrales, 1140–1260 (1989); (37) Vialou, Denis. La préhistoire (1991); (38) Kruta, Venceslas. L'Europe des origines: la protohistoire 6000–500 avant J.-C. (1992); (39) Schiltz, Véronique. Les Scythes et le nomades des steppes: VIII<sup>e</sup> siècle avant J.-C.–I<sup>er</sup> siècle après J.-C. (1994); (40) Hofmann, Werner. Une époque en rupture, 1750–1830 (1995); (41) Cutler, Anthony. Byzance médiévale, 700–1204 (1996); (42) Arasse, Daniel. Le Renaissance maniériste (1997).

- I40 Yale University Press Pelican history of art. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1992-. il., plates (part col.)

Revised editions and reissues (sometimes difficult to distinguish) of volumes in the distinguished Pelican history of art series, originally ed. by Nikolaus Pevsner (GLAH 1:I18). Some vols. in the original series have been split into two vols. Many but by no means all of the voluminous titles in the new series are cited individually throughout GLAH 2.

Selective contents: Blair, Sheila S., and Bloom, Jonathan M. The art and architecture of Islam 1250–1800 (1994); Blunt, Anthony. Art and architecture in France, 1500–1700, 5th ed. (1999); Brendel, Otto. Etruscan art, 2d ed. (1995); Brown, Jonathan. Painting in Spain: 1500–1700 (1998); Conant, Kenneth John. Carolingian and Romanesque architecture, 800 to 1200, 2d integrated ed. rev. (1978); Dodwell, C. R. The Pictorial arts of the West 800–1200 (1993); Ettinghausen, Richard, and Grabar, Oleg. The art and architecture of Islam, 650–1250 (1994); Frankfort, Henri. The art and architecture of the ancient Orient, 4th ed. (1996); Freedberg, S. J. Painting in Italy, 1500–1600, 3d ed. (1993); Hamilton, George Heard. The art and architecture of Russia (1993); Heydenreich, Ludwig. Architecture in Italy, 1400–1500 (1996); Hamilton, George Heard. Painting and sculpture in Europe, 1880–1940, 6th ed. (1993); Hitchcock, Henry Russell. Architecture: nineteenth and twentieth centuries, 4th ed. (1992); Hood, Sinclair. The arts in prehistoric Greece (1997); Kalnein, Wend von. Architecture in France in the eighteenth century (1995); Krautheimer, Richard. Early Christian and Byzantine architecture. 4th ed. rev. (1986); Lasko, Peter. Ars sacra, 800–1200, 2d ed. (1994); Lawrence, A. W. Greek architecture, 5th ed. (1996); Levey, Michael. Painting and sculpture in France, 1700–1789 (1993); Lotz, Wolfgang. Architecture in Italy, 1500–1600 (1995); Novotny, Fritz. Painting and sculpture in Europe, 1780–1880 (1992?); Rosenberg, Jakob; Slive, Seymour; and E.H. ter Kuile. Dutch art and architecture, 1600–1800, 3d ed. (1993); Sandars, N. K. Prehistoric art in Europe (1992); Sickman, L. C. S. The art and architecture of China (1992); Slive, Seymour. Dutch painting 1600–1800 (1995); Smith, William Stevenson. The art and architecture of ancient Egypt. Rev. with additions (1998); Strong, Donald Emrys. Roman art, 2d ed. (1988); Summerson, John. Architecture in Britain, 1530 to 1830, 9th ed. (1993); Vlieghe, Hans. Flemish art and architecture, 1585–1700 (1998); Ward Perkins, J.B. Roman imperial architecture, 2d integ. ed. (1981); Watson, William. The arts of China to AD 900 (1995); Waterhouse, Ellis Kirkham. Painting in Britain 1530 to 1790, 5th ed. (1994); White, John. Art and architecture in Italy 1250–1400, 3d ed. (1993); Williamson, Paul. Gothic sculpture 1140–1300 (1995); Wittkower, Rudolf. Art and architecture in Italy, 1600 to 1750 (1999).

- I41 Wilkins, David G.; Schultz, Bernard; and Linduff, Kathryn M. Art past/art present. 3d ed. N.Y., Abrams, 1997. 628p. il. (part col.)
1st ed. 1990; 2d ed. 1994.

"We have written Art past/art present especially for the person with a general interest in learning about art and art history, and for the one-semester introductory course in art history or art appreciation."—Pref. and ackn. to the third ed.

A survey textbook, chronologically arranged.

Glossary, p.604–12. Bibliography, p.613–15. Index, p.616–28.

TECHNIQUES

- I42 Ayres, James. The artist's craft: a history of tools, techniques, and materials. Oxford, Phaidon, 1985. 240p. il. (part col.)

Well-illustrated survey. Does not include printmakers' tools.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) The studio; (III) Drawing; (IV) Painting; (V) Sculpture; (VI) Postscript; Appendices.

Notes, p.215–28. Select bibliography, p.229–31. Glossary, p.232–34. Index, p.236–40.

PREHISTORIC

- I43 L'art des cavernes: atlas des grottes ornées paléolithiques françaises. Avant-propos d'André Leroi-Gourhan. Paris, Ministère de la culture, Direction du patrimoine, Sous-direction de l'archéologie, Impr. nationale, 1984. 673p. il. (part col.), plates. (Atlas archéologiques de la France)

Monumental topographical survey of cave painting in France.

Bibliographie générale, p.635–59. Index des noms d'auteurs, p.661–64. Index des termes scientifiques et techniques définis dans les chapitres d'introduction, p.665–66. Index des noms, p.667–70.

- I44 Leroi-Gourhan, André. The dawn of European art: an introduction to Palaeolithic cave painting. Trans. by Sara Champion. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1982. 77p. il., plates (Imprint of man)

Trans. of Più antichi artisti d'Europa.

Popular introduction by an expert.

Contents: Introduction; Technique; Form; Space; Animation and time; The message; The actors; The contents of the message.

Bibliography, p.77. No index.

- I45 Sandars, N. K. Prehistoric art in Europe. [New Haven], Yale Univ. Pr., [1992?] 508p. il., maps (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I33 for original ed.

"In the first chapter fresh material discoveries and techniques have brought about an extraordinary lengthening of the time-scale; later . . . new attitudes have led to some radical rethinking on such things as the origins of the western Megalithic tradition in building, and the role of the east Mediterranean and the Middle East in the development and spread of metallurgy."—Foreword to the second ed.

- 146 Twhig, Elizabeth Shee. The megalithic art of Western Europe. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1981. xi, 259p. il. (part col.), plates

"This publication provides a catalogue and study of the megalithic art of western Europe."—Introd.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) Discussion: (1) General introduction to megalithic monuments and art; (2) Iberian megalithic art; (3) French megalithic art; (4) Irish and British megalithic art; (5) Art possibly related to megalithic art; (6) Origin and function of megalithic tombs; (7) Summary and conclusions; (III) Catalogue: (1) Iberia; (2) France; (3) Ireland and Britain; Appendix 1: Iberian sites claimed as megalithic art; Appendix 2: Ireland and Scotland: miscellaneous sites.

List of decorated sites, p.[ix]–xi. List of discussion figures, maps and tables, p.[xii]. Bibliography, p.[240]–51. Index, p.[252]–59.

ANCIENT

General Works

- 147 L'art de l'antiquité. Paris, Gallimard; Réunion des musées nationaux, 1995–97. 2v. il., maps (part col.) (Collection manuels d'histoire de l'art)

Survey of the art of the Mediterranean world from prehistory to the fall of Rome.

Contents: (1) Les origines de l'Europe; (2) L'Egypte et le Proche-Orient.

Glossaire, v.1, p.568–71, v.2, p.446–48. Bibliographie, v.1, p.572–77, v.2, p.450–52. Index, v.1, p.578–89, v.2, p.454–61.

- 148 Art in the ancient world: a handbook of styles and forms / Pierre Amiet . . . [et al.] Trans. by Valerie Bynner. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1981. 567p. il., maps, plans.

A handbook produced as part of a series by a team of experts at the Louvre. Intended for "travellers, scholars, art-lovers and dealers, among others." Employs line drawings as its principal vehicle, with accompanying captions.

Contents: The Middle East; Egypt; Greece: Etruria and the Etruscans; Rome.

List of abbreviations, p.8. Glossary, p.565–67.

- 149 Glories of the past: ancient art from the Shelby White and Leon Levy collection. Ed. by Dietrich von Bothmer. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art (Distr. by Abrams, 1990). x, 280p. il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1990–91). Beautifully illustrated catalog of an excellent private collection.

Contents: Early Aegean; Ancient Near East and Central Asia; Greek and Etruscan; Roman; Late Antique.

Bibliographical abbreviations, p.268. Glossary, p.269–70. Index, p.271–80.

- 150 Handbuch der Archäologie, im Rahmen des Handbuchs der Altertumswissenschaft. Neu hrsg. von Ulrich Hausmann. München, Beck, 1969–. (5)v. il.

See GLAH 1:136 for previous vols.

Contents: (2) Kuhn, Hans-Peter. Vorderasien II: Palästina in Griechisch-Römischer Zeit (1990); (3) Zazoff, Peter. Die antiken Gemmen (1983); (4) Koch, Guntram und Sichtermann, Hellmut. Römische Sarkophage (1982); [Unnumbered] Fuchs, Werner und Floren, Josef. Die griechische Plastik, Bd. 1, Die geometrische und archaische Plastik.

- 151 Wolf, Walther. The origins of Western art: Egypt, Mesopotamia, the Aegean. N.Y., Universe Books (Distr. by St. Martin's, 1989). 207p. il. (part col.) (Herbert history of art and architecture)

Trans. of Frühe Hochkulturen. Stuttgart, Belser, 1969. Originally published as: The origins of western art. London, Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1972.

A comparative study of the three artistic traditions, each seen as embodying "vastly different solutions to artistic problems."—Foreword.

Bibliography, p.202–03. Index, p.204–07.

Egypt

- 152 Ägyptisches Museum. [Hrsg. von] Staatliche Museen zu Berlin, Stiftung Preussischer Kulturbesitz. [Hrsg.: Karl-Heinz Priese. Autoren, Caris-Beatrice Arnst . . . et al.] Mainz, Zabern, 1991. xii, 285p. chiefly col. il., maps.

Catalog of the exhibition held at the former East Berlin part of the Ägyptisches Museum at the Museumsinsel Berlin (1991), documenting one of the premier collections of Egyptian art.

Contents: Das vor- und frühstaatliche Ägypten; Das Alte Reich; Das Mittlere Reich; Das frühe Neue Reich; Amarna; Das späte Neue Reich ("Ramessidenzeit"); Die Spätzeit; Die griechisch-römische Zeit; Bestattung und Bestattungsbeigaben; Bronzen, Kunstgewerbe, Schmuck, Skarabäen; Nubien und Nordsudan; Die Papyrussammlung.

Konkordanzliste, p.284–85.

- 153 Africa in antiquity: the arts of ancient Nubia and the Sudan. Brooklyn, Brooklyn Museum, 1978. 2v. Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Brooklyn Museum (1978), and other locations. For the proceedings of a related symposium see Africa in antiquity: the arts of ancient Nubia and the Sudan. Proceedings of the symposium held in conjunction with the exhibition.

Contents: (1) The essays; (2) Wenig, Steffen. The catalogue.

Abbreviations, v.1, p.13, v.2, p.9. Subject bibliography, v.1, p.139–41, v.2, p.333–46. Concordances, v.2, p.347–52. Index, v.2, p.354–63.

- 154 Aldred, Cyril. Egyptian art, in the days of the pharaohs, 3100–320 B.C. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1980. 252p. il. (part col.) (World of art)

Introductory historical survey by an authority.

- Select bibliography, p.241–42. Index and glossary, p.248–52.
- 155 Bourriau, Janine. Pharaohs and mortals: Egyptian art in the Middle Kingdom. Catalogue by Janine Bourriau. With a contrib. by Stephen Quirke. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr.; Cambridge, [Eng.], Fitzwilliam Museum, 1988. vi, 167p. il. (part col.), plates.
Catalog of the exhibition, Fitzwilliam Museum (1988), intended "to illustrate the distinctive style of the epoch in all the arts . . . no previous exhibition on this theme has been mounted."—Foreword.
Contents: Foreword by Michael Jaffé; Introduction; (1) Royal and private sculpture; (2) Writing and literature; (3) Funerary art; (4) Art and magic; (5) Decorative art.
Abbreviations and concordances, p.6. Index of private names and titles, p.164–66.
- 156 Brooklyn Museum. Ancient Egyptian art in the Brooklyn Museum. [By] Richard Fazzini . . . [et al.] N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1989. xv, 100p. il. (part col.), map.
Accessible introduction to one of the outstanding collections of Egyptian art, beautifully illustrated, with a catalog of 100 objects and a brief history of the collection.
Abbreviations, p.xiv–xv.
- 157 D'Auria, Sue; Lacovara, Peter; and Roehrig, Catharine H. Mummies & magic: the funerary arts of ancient Egypt. Boston, Museum of Fine Arts, 1988. 272p. il. (part col.), map, plans.
Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (1988), based upon the Museum's collections.
Bibliography, p.248–65. Index, p.266–72.
- 158 Davis, Whitney. The canonical tradition in ancient Egyptian art. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1989. xx, 272p. il. (Cambridge new art history and criticism)
Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The canonical representation of figures and groups; (3) Variability, convention, and laws; (4) The order of iconography; (5) Academic production; (6) The emergence of canonical conventions; (7) The explanation of variance: toward a history of the authority of the canonical image.
Notes, p.225–44. List of abbreviations, p.[245]–46. References, p.247–67. Index, p.269–72.
- 159 Egypt's dazzling sun: Amenhotep III and his world. By Arielle P. Kozloff and Betsy M. Bryan with Lawrence M. Berman and an essay by Elisabeth Delange. Cleveland, Cleveland Museum of Art (Distr. by Indiana Univ. Pr., 1992). xxiv, 476p. il. (part col.)
Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Cleveland Museum of Art (1992), and other locations. "Amenhotep III's reign was one of the most artistically productive in Egypt's history. . . . Attempting to define systematically the art production of a single reign is a rare, perhaps unique undertaking in the field of Egyptology."—Foreword. Organized by medium and genre.
Includes bibliographical references. Chronology, p.xxi. Key to abbreviations, p.452–60.
- 160 Egypt's golden age: the art of living in the New Kingdom 1558–1085 B.C. Boston, Museum of Fine Arts, 1982. 336p. il.
Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (1982), and other locations. Based upon the collections of the Museum. The objects in this exhibition, most excavated by the museum personnel, "derive not from royal tombs or temples but from the homes of average Egyptians."—Foreword. Arranged by form of domestic object.
Bibliography, p.312–33. Concordance, p.333. Addenda and errata, p.334.
- 161 Gaballa, G. A. Narrative in Egyptian art. Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1976. 167p. il., plates.
At head of title: Deutsches Archäologisches Institut. Abteilung Kairo. A careful survey of narrative pictorial conventions and techniques in Egyptian two-dimensional art.
Contents: Introduction; Part one: From the Predynastic Period to the end of the Middle Kingdom; Part two: The New Kingdom and Later.
Notes, p.142–58. Index, p.159–67.
- 162 Götter, Pharaonen. [Wissenschaftliche Bearb. und Katalog, Dietrich Wildung, Günter Grimm]. [Recklinghausen, Auslieferung, A. Bongers, 1978]. 36, [292]p. chiefly il. (part col.)
Catalog of the exhibition, Villa Hügel, Essen (1978), and other locations. Catalog of 175 objects, derived mostly from the collections of the Egyptian Museum, Cairo and the Greco-Roman Museum, Alexandria.
Empfohlene Literatur, [p.289–90].
- 163 Hayes, William Christopher. The scepter of Egypt: a background for the study of the Egyptian antiquities in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. 5th printing, rev. N.Y., The Museum (Distr. by Abrams, 1990). 2v. il., fold. maps.
See GLAH 1:141 for original ed. This ed. includes a list of accession numbers for all objects illustrated and an up-to-date chronology.
- 164 Iversen, Erik. Canon and proportions in Egyptian art. 2d ed., fully revised in collab. with Yoshiaki Shibata. Warminster, Aris and Phillips, 1975. [2], 94p. il.
Contents: Metrology and canon; The Egyptological history of the canonical problem; The structure of the canon; The application of the system of proportion; The origin of the canon; The typology of the canon; The late canon.
Bibliography and list of abbreviations, p.89–91.
- 165 Museo archeologico nazionale di Napoli. La Collezione egiziana del Museo archeologico nazionale di Napoli. Napoli, Arte tipografica, [1989]. v, 314p. il. (part col.), map, plans.
Catalog of an important collection derived mostly from distinguished private collections, and thus bearing witness to the history of responses to Egyptian art. Published in conjunction with a reorganization of the collection.
Glossario, p.285–92. Quadro cronologico, p.293. Lista dei nomi egiziani, p.294–98. Bibliografie, p.299–309. Abbreviazioni bibliografiche, p.310. Tavola di concordanza, p.311–14.

- I66 Museo civico archeologico di Bologna. La collezione egiziana. [Catalogo a cura di Sergio Pernigotti.] [Milano], Leonardo arte, 1994. 143p. col. ill.

Catalog of the exhibition, Museo civico archeologico di Bologna (1994), documenting an excellent collection of Egyptian art, organized into a new department of the museum in 1993.

Bibliografia essenziale, p.[142]–43.

- I67 Museo egizio di Torino. Catalogo del museo egizio di Torino. Serie seconda, Collezioni. Torino, Pozzo, 1972–. (7)v.

Catalog of one of the outstanding Egyptological collections in the world. Supplements Serie 1: Monumenti e testi. 8v.

Contents: (1) Tosi, Mario. Stele e altre epigrafi di Deir el Medina, n.50001–50262; (2) Habachi, Labib. Tavole d'offerta, are a bacili da libagione, n.22001–22067; (3) López, Jesús. Ostraca ieratici, 4v.; (4) Dolzani, Claudia. Vasi canopi, n.19001–19153; (5) Bergamini, Giovanni. Sigilli a cilindro mesopotamici, n.7001–70044; (6) Delorenzi, Enzo. Le mummie del Museo egizio di Torino, n.13001–13026; (7) Archi, Alfonso, and Pomponio, Francesco. Testi cuneiformi neo-sumerici da Drehem, n.0001–0412.

- I68 Museu Nacional (Brazil). Catálogo da Coleção do Egito Antigo existente no Museu Nacional, Rio de Janeiro = Catalogue of the Egyptian Collection in the National Museum, Rio de Janeiro. Por Kenneth A. Kitchen. Prep. com a colabor. da Maria da Conceição Beltrao. Rio de Janeiro, Museu Nacional, Universidade Federal de Rio de Janeiro; Warminster, England, Aris & Phillips, 1990, 1988. 2v. il.

Catalog of the collection, illustrated with inadequate black-and-white photographs and hieroglyphic transcriptions.

Contents: (I) Texto = Text; (II) Ilustrações = Plates.

Bibliografia selecionada = select bibliography, v.1, p.262. Índices e concordâncias, v.1, p.263–76.

- I69 Paris. Musée National du Louvre. Département des antiquités égyptiennes. Catalogue des stèles, peintures et reliefs égyptiens de l'Ancien Empire et de la Première Période Intermédiaire: vers 2686–2040 avant J.-C. Par Christiane Ziegler. Paris, Réunion des musées nationaux; Ministère de la culture, de la communication, des grands travaux et du Bicentenaire, 1990. 375p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalogue of the Louvre's major collection of Egyptian antiquities of the Old Empire.

Includes bibliographical references. Abréviations bibliographiques, p.332–46. Index, p.349–51. Index des traductions conventionnelles, p.352–57. Index des textes hiéroglyphiques, p.358–75.

- I70 Robins, Gay. Proportion and style in ancient Egyptian art. Drawings by Ann S. Fowler. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1994. x, 283p. il.

"This book is a study of a fundamental aspect of ancient Egyptian art, namely, the use of squared grids made by artists in drawing preliminary sketches of scenes and figures."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Previous work on the grid and proportions; (3) Methods; (4) Proportions in the Old and Middle Kingdom; (5) Proportions in the New Kingdom; (6) Changes in the Amarna period; (7) The Late Period and after; (8) Composition and the grid; (9) Nonhuman elements and the grid; (10) Changing proportions and style.

Abbreviations, p.[261]. Notes, p.[263]–72. Bibliography, p.[273]–78. Index, p.[279]–83.

- I71 Saleh, Mohamed. The Egyptian Museum, Cairo: official catalog. [By] Mohamed Saleh and Hourig Sourouzian. Photographs: Jürgen Liepe. [Trans. by Peter Der Manuelian and Helen Jacquet-Gordon.] Mainz, Zabern, 1987. 268p. il. (chiefly col.), 1 map, 2 plans. Trans. of Hauptwerke im Ägyptischen Museum Kairo. Mainz, Zabern, 1987.

Official catalog of the "largest and most important material source on ancient Egyptian civilization."—Pref.

Glossary, p.31–34. Key to the bibliography and selected works, p.35–38.

- I72 Scott, Gerry D. Ancient Egyptian art at Yale. New Haven, Yale University Art Gallery, 1986. 229p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the collection of Egyptian artifacts housed in both the Peabody Museum of Natural History and in the Yale University Art Gallery.

Bibliography, p.207–17. Concordance, p.218–19. Indices, p.221–29.

- I73 Seipel, Wilfried. Götter, Menschen, Pharaonen: 3500 Jahre ägyptische Kultur: Meisterwerke aus der Ägyptisch-Orientalischen Sammlung des Kunsthistorischen Museums Wien. Hrsg. von Meinrad Maria Grewenig. Stuttgart, Hatje, 1993. 320p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Historisches Museum der Pfalz (1993), and other locations, documenting works from the outstanding Egyptian collection of the Kunsthistorisches Museum, Vienna.

Literatur, p.317–20.

- I74 Il Senso dell'arte nell'antico Egitto. Milano, Electa, 1990. 263p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Museo Civico Archeologico, Bologna (1990). Catalog of 242 objects, with a focus upon artistic quality and appreciation, preceded by a historical introduction.

Glossario, p.257–59. Bibliografia, p.260–63.

- I75 Smith, William Stevenson. The art and architecture of ancient Egypt. Rev. with additions by William Kelly Simpson. N.Y., Penguin, 1998. xiii, 296p. il. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:145 for original ed. and annotation; rev. ed. with additions, 1981. The preface to the new ed. outlines recent developments in the field, including major excavations, publication of museum holdings, and new scholarship.

Abbreviations, p.252. Notes, p.253–77. Bibliography, p.278–90. Index, p.291–96.

- 176 Studien zur ägyptischen Kunstgeschichte. Hrsg. von Marianne Eaton-Krauss und Erhart Graefe. Hildesheim, Gerstenberg, 1990. x, 112p. il., plates (Hildesheimer ägyptologische Beiträge, 29)
Papers presented at a conference held 1987 in Münster/Westfalen, intended to survey the status of studies in Egyptian art history.
Includes bibliographical references. Abkürzungsverzeichnis, p.ix-x.
- 177 Sudan: ancient kingdoms of the Nile. Ed. dir. by Dietrich Wildung. Trans. from the German by Peter Der Manuelian. Trans. from the French by Kathleen Guillaume. N.Y., Flammarion, 1997. xi, 428p. il. (chiefly col.), maps.
German ed. Sudan, Antike Königreiche am Nil. Tübingen, Wasmuth, 1996. Beautifully illustrated, scholarly catalog of the exhibition, Institut du Monde Arabe (1997), and other locations.
Contents: The prehistory of the Sudan; The first kingdoms (2500-1075 B.C.); Napata and the Kushite Dynasty: kings of the sacred mountain (1000-656 B.C.); The kingdom of Napata and Meroe.
Notes, p.418-21. Bibliography, p.422-24.
- 178 Vassilika, Eleni. Egyptian art. [By] Eleni Vassilika with contrib. from Janine Bourriau. Photography by Bridget Taylor and Andrew Morris. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1995. viii, 139p. col. il. (Fitzwilliam Museum handbooks)
"This book is an introduction to four thousand years of Egyptian art illustrated by a selection of highlights from the collections of the Fitzwilliam Museum."—Introd.
Glossary of Egyptian deities, p.5-9. Selected bibliography and abbreviations, p.138-39.
- 179 Wildung, Dietrich. Sesostri und Amenemhet: Ägypten im Mittleren Reich. München, Hirmer, 1984. 255p. il. (part col.), maps.
French ed.: L'âge d'or de l'Égypte: le Moyen Empire. Paris, Presses Univ. de France, 1984.
Survey of the Middle Kingdom by an authority.
Contents: Das Mittlere Reich im Blickfeld der Nachwelt; Theben—Die Wiege des Mittleren Reiches; Memphis—Die Reichshauptstadt; Das Leben in der Provinz; Die Nachbarvölker; Das Bild der Zeit im Spiegel der Kunst; Ausklang.
Chronologie des Mittleren Reiches, p.236. Verzeichnis der Abbildungen, p.237-46. Ausgewählte Bibliographie, p.247-48. Nachweis der zitierten altägyptischen Texte, p.248. Register, p.249-55.
- 180 Wilkinson, Richard H. Reading Egyptian art: a hieroglyphic guide to ancient Egyptian painting and sculpture. London, Thames & Hudson, 1992. 224p. il.
"This book has been designed with this goal in mind—to allow the non-specialist to 'read' the major hieroglyphs found in Egyptian painting and sculpture and to understand much of the symbolic content of Egyptian art which is usually only accessible to the trained Egyptologist."—Pref.
Contents: Preface; How to use this book; Introduction; Catalog of hieroglyphs.
Glossary, p.218-20. Further reading, p.220-22 (arranged by hieroglyphics). Location of illustrated objects, p.222-23. Index, p.224.
- 181 Ziegler, Christiane. The Louvre: Egyptian antiquities. With the collab. of Christophe Barbotin and Marie-Hélène Rutschowskaya. London, Scala, 1990. 95p. col. il.
Brief overview of the Louvre's magnificent collection, with color illustrations and accompanying text.
- ## Western Asia
- ### General Works
- 182 Amiet, Pierre. Art of the ancient Near East. Trans. from the French by John Shepley and Claude Choquet. [Ed. by Naomi Noble Richard.] N.Y., Abrams, 1980. 618p. il. (part col.)
Trans. of L'art antique du proche-orient. Paris, Mazenod, 1977 (L'art et les grandes civilisations, 7).
A monumental survey of Ancient Near Eastern art and architecture.
Contents: Part one: The historical perspective; Introduction: The rediscovery of the Ancient Near East; The prehistoric foundations of Eastern civilization; The birth of historical civilizations; The early dynastic period and the beginnings of history; The second millennium: the center shifts; The first millennium: toward the universal empire. Part two: The image as document; Documentary photographs; Identification of the photographs. Part three: The principal sites of Ancient Near Eastern art. Part four: Reconstructions. Part five: A lexicon; Images of gods and goddesses; Lists of gods and goddesses; Kings and sovereigns.
Historical chronology, p.[599-604]. Glossary, p.[605]-06. Bibliography, p.[607]-10. Index, p.[611]-18.
- 183 Chronologies in Old World archaeology. Ed. by Robert W. Ehrich. 3d ed. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1992. 2v. il., maps.
See GLAH 1:I51 for previous versions and eds.
"This present edition reflects not only the explosion of archaeological activity in the years since [1961] but also the spate of publication, improved communications between archaeologists and scholars in related fields, and the practice of holding focused symposia of general and specific interest attended by specialists from several countries. . . . It has been necessary to concentrate on four major objectives: (1) sequences, (2) distributions and relationships, (3) calibrated radiocarbon and relative dates, and (4) pertinent bibliographies and sources."—Introd.
- 184 Collon, Dominique. Ancient Near Eastern art. London, Published for the Trustees of the British Museum by British Museum Pr., 1995. 247p. il. (part col.), maps.
"This survey of Ancient Near Eastern art is based on the collections of the British Museum."—Ackn. While "some periods and areas are poorly represented in the Museum's collections" (Introd.)—e.g., Neolithic outside Jericho; Syria, Lebanon, Iran and Turkey—this is an excellent survey of the subject.

Contents: Introduction; (1) From village to town before 3000BC; (2) Temple, cemetery and palace: the 3rd millennium BC; (3) Trade and diplomacy: the 2nd millennium BC; (4) Great empires: the 1st millennium BC; (5) Parthians and Sasanians beyond the Euphrates: c.238BC–AD651; (6) Survival and revival.

General chronology, p.228–29. Mesopotamian chronology, by C. B. F. Walker, p.230–38. Further reading, p.239. Sources of illustrations, p.240–41. Index, p.242–47.

- 185 Frankfort, Henri. The art and architecture of the ancient Orient. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1996. 456p. il. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)
Reissue of this standard work, based upon the fourth (revised) impression; see GLAH 1:152.

- 186 Paris. Musée National du Louvre. The royal city of Susa: ancient Near Eastern treasures in the Louvre. Ed. by Prudence O. Harper, Joan Aruz, and Françoise Tallon. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art (Distr. by Abrams, 1992). xix, 316p. il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1992–93).

A selection from "the antiquities found during French excavations at Susa over the last hundred years, which are now in the Louvre [and] include some of the masterpieces of Ancient Near Eastern art."—Foreword.

Contents: Susa in the Ancient Near East, by Pierre Amiet; Prehistoric Susa, by Elizabeth Carter . . . [et al.]; Protoliterate Susa, by Elizabeth Carter . . . [et al.]; The Old Elamite period, by Elizabeth Carter . . . [et al.]; The Middle Elamite period, by Elizabeth Carter . . . [et al.]; The Mesopotamian presence, by Prudence O. Harper and Pierre Amiet; Popular art at Susa, by Agnès Spycket; The Neo-Elamite period, by Elizabeth Carter . . . [et al.]; Susa in the Achaemenid period, by Oscar White Muscarella . . . [et al.]; The written record, by Matthew W. Stolper and Béatrice André-Salvini; Technical appendix, by Annie Caubet . . . [et al.]

Contributors to the catalogue, p.288. Concordance, p.289–90. Bibliography, p.291–306. Index, p.307–15.

Anatolia

- 187 The Anatolian civilisations. [Ed. by Ferit Edgü.] [Istanbul], Turkish Ministry of Culture and Tourism, [1983]. 3v. il. (part col.) (The Council of Europe, XVIIIth European art exhibition)

Catalog of the exhibition, Topkapi Palace Museum, Istanbul (1983), and other locations.

Contents: (1) Prehistoric/Hittite/Early Iron Age; (2) Greek/Roman/Byzantine; (3) Seljuk/Ottoman.

Abbreviations and bibliography, v.1, p.304–11, v.2, p.201–3, v.3, p.316–23.

Cyprus

- 188 Karageorghis, Vassos. Archaia kypriaké techné sto Mouseio tou Hidrymatos Pieridé = Ancient Cypriote art in the Pierides Foundation Museum. Larnaka, Cyprus, Hidryma Pieridé, 1985. 279p. il.

In English and Greek.

"The archaeological collection of the Pierides Foundation Museum is perhaps the richest private collection of Cypriote antiquities in Cyprus."—p.[13]. Beautifully illustrated, scholarly catalog.

Chronological table, p.7. Bibliography, p.278–79.

- 189 Morris, Desmond. The art of ancient Cyprus, with a check-list of the author's collection. Oxford, Phaidon Press in assoc. with Jonathan Cape, 1985. 368p. il. (part col.)

Aims to provide "an overall introduction to the subject" (Pref.) while also providing a catalog of the author's distinguished collection of Cypriot antiquities.

Contents: (I) Epochs; (II) Vessels; (III) Representations; (IV) Decorations.

Check-list of the author's collection, p.353–59. Bibliography, p.360–63. Restorations, p.364. Index, p.365–67.

- 190 New York. Metropolitan Museum of Art. Ancient art from Cyprus: the Cesnola collection at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. [By] Vassos Karageorghis, in collab. with Joan R. Mertens and Marice E. Rose. N.Y., The Museum (Distr. by Abrams, 2000). xiii, 305p. il. (chiefly col.), col. maps.

Beautifully illustrated catalog of an important collection, "the first group of Mediterranean antiquities to enter the nascent museum."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction; (I) The prehistoric period (ca. 10,000–ca. 1050 B.C.); (II) The Cypro-Geometric and Cypro-Achaic periods (ca. 1050–ca. 480 B.C.); (III) The Cypro-Classical period (ca. 480–ca. 310 B.C.); (IV) The Hellenistic and Roman periods (ca. 310 B.C.–ca. A.D. 330).

Note to the reader, p.xi. Chronology, p.xii–xiii. Bibliography of works cited, p.294–305.

Mesopotamia

- 191 Lloyd, Seton. The archaeology of Mesopotamia: from the Old Stone Age to the Persian conquest. Rev. ed. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1984. 251p. il.

Standard introduction to the subject, chronologically arranged and principally concerned with "the material remains and with the progress of excavations which have revealed them . . . rather than with the philological contribution."—Pref. to the first ed.

Notes on the text, p.233–38. Bibliography, p.239–44. Index, p.246–51.

Persia (Ancient Iran)

- 192 The Arts of Persia. Ed. by R. W. Ferrier. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1989. x, 334p. il.

A major collaborative survey, with chapters by specialists in the principal media.

Contents: (1) Historical introduction, by R. W. Ferrier; (2) Early art, by C. Hill; (3) The art of the Achaemenians, by M. Roaf; (4) The art of the Parthians, by E. Keal; (5) The art of the Sasanians, by G. Hermann; (6) Architecture, by Robert Hillenbrand; (7) Some vernacular buildings of the plateau, by E. Beazley; (8) Carpets, by J. Housego; (9) Textiles, by J. Allgrove McDowell; (10) Metalwork, by J. Allan; (11) Jewellery, by R. W. Ferrier; (12) Coins, by H. Mitchell-Brown; (13) Painting, by Ernst Grube and Eleanor Sims; (14) Painting in the Post-Safavid Period, by B. W. Robinson; (15) The arts of the book, by Barbara Brend; (16) Lacquerwork, by L. Diba; (17) Ceramics, by M. Rogers; (18) Tilework, by J. Scarce; (19) Glass, by R. Charleston; (20) Calligraphy, by A. Schimmel.

Maps, p.[viii]–[ix]. Glossary, p.x. Notes and bibliographies, p.315–31. Index, p.332–34.

- 193 Highlights of Persian art. Ed. by Richard Ettinghausen and Ehsan Yarshater. Boulder, Westview, 1979. xviii, 391p. il. (chiefly col.) (Persian art series, 1)

"Brings together within two covers an exploration of the salient features and phases of the whole spectrum of Persian art."—Foreword. Essays by authorities.

Contents: Introduction: the immanent features of Persian art, by Richard Ettinghausen; (1) Questions and comments on "Amlash" pottery, by Robert H. Dyson; (2) Ancient bronzework from Luristan, by P. R. S. Moorey; (3) Pursuing Scythian art, by Ann Farkas; (4) Achaemenid art, monumental and minute, by Edith Porada; (5) Court silver of Sasanian Iran, by Prudence O. Harper; (6) Color and design in Persian pottery, by Charles K. Wilkinson; (7) Iranian architecture: the evolution of a tradition, by Priscilla Soucek; (8) The heroic art of the East Iranian world, by Guitty Azarpay; (9) Poetry and calligraphy: thoughts about their interrelation in Persian culture, by Annemarie Schimmel; (10) Isfahan as a mirror of Persian architecture, by Oleg Grabar; (11) World awareness and human relationships in Iranian painting, by Richard Ettinghausen; (12) Safavid textiles and rugs, by M. S. Diamond; (13) The tradition of wall painting in Iran, by Basil Gray; (14) Persian painting in the Qajar period, by B. W. Robinson; (15) Contemporary Persian painting, by Ehsan Yarshater.

Concordance, p.379–85.

Syria and Palestine

- 194 The Phoenicians. Under the scientific dir. of Sabatino Moscati. N.Y., Abbeville, 1988. 764p. il. (part col.) Trans. of I fenici. Milan, Bompiani, 1988.

Monumental catalog of the exhibition, Palazzo Grassi, Venice (1988).

Contents: (I) Phoenician civilization; (II) The great areas; (III) The world of art; (IV) The Phoenicians and the world outside.

General bibliography, p.575–80. Catalogue, p.[583]–749. Catalogue bibliography, p.750–54.

Classical World

General Works

- 195 Burn, Lucilla. The British Museum book of Greek and Roman art. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1992. 223p. il. (part col.), maps

"This book is written not for the specialist, but for anyone curious about Greek and Roman art. . . . The purpose of the book is to introduce the British Museum's collection of Greek and Roman antiquities . . . and at the same time to provide a general introduction to Greek and Roman art and culture."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Greece in the Bronze Age; (2) The emergence of Greece: the Geometric and Orientalizing periods; (3) Archaic Greece; (4) Classical Greece: sculpture in bronze and marble; (5) Classical Greece: the minor arts; (6) The Greeks in Southern Italy and Sicily; (7) Monumental sculpture in Lycia and Caria; (8) The Hellenistic world; (9) Cyprus; (10) Italy before the Romans; (11) The Roman world: sculpture, coinage, and the Emperor; (12) The Roman world: the decorative and minor arts.

Suggestions for further reading, p.212–14. Maps, p.215–17. Glossary, p.218–19. Illustration references, p.220. Index, p.221–23.

- 196 The Oxford history of classical art. Ed. by John Boardman. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr. 1993. ix, 406p. il. (part col.), 28 pages of plates, maps, plans.

"This volume has been designed . . . to serve a public interested in classical antiquity both for its own sake and for its legacy to the western world. . . . The aim has been less to provide a historical narrative or categorization of the arts with pictures attached than to engage the reader's attention more directly by pictures of objects and monuments."—Ed. pref.

Contents: (1) Introduction, by John Boardman; (2) Pre-classical Greece, by Alan Johnston; (3) The classical period, by John Boardman; (4) The Hellenistic period, by R. R. R. Smith; (5) Rome: the Republic and early Empire, by J. J. Pollitt; (6) The later Roman Empire, by Janet Huskinson; (7) The diffusion of classical art, by John Boardman.

List of colour plates, p.viii–ix. List of maps, p.ix. Further reading, p.[379]–82. List of illustrations, p.[383]–92. General index, p.[393]–406.

Crete, Mycenae, Greece

- 197 Ancient Greek art and iconography. Ed. by Warren G. Moon. Madison, Univ. of Wisconsin Pr., 1983. xviii, 346p. il.

"The essays in this volume were presented as papers in Madison, Wisconsin, 9–11 April 1981."—Pref. "The essays in this volume illustrate the changing modes of storytelling and of style in ancient Greek art from the Bronze Age of the fifteenth century BC through the Greco-Roman period. . . . The essays present a selective history of Greek art."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; (1) The iconography of the ship fresco from Thera, by Ellen N. Davis; (2) Symbol and story in Geometric art, by John Boardman; (3) Archaic vase-painting vis-à-vis "free" painting at Corinth, by D. A. Amyx; (4) Stesichoros and the François Vase, by Andrew Stewart; (5) An Exekian puzzle in Portland: further light on the relationship between Exekias and Group E, by Evelyn Elizabeth Bell; (6) Painting, politics, and genealogy: Peisistratos and the Neleids, by H. A. Shapiro; (7) The Priam Painter: some iconographic and stylistic considerations, by Warren G. Moon; (8) Some thoughts on the origins of the Attic Head Vase, by William R. Biers; (9) Achilles Lord of Scythia, by Gloria Ferrari Pinney; (10) Euphronios and his fellows, by Jiri Frel; (11) The Centaur's smile: Pindar and the Archaic aesthetic, by Barbara Hughes Fowler; (12) Paragone: sculpture versus painting, Kaineus and the Kleophrades Painter, by Beth Cohen; (13) Painterly and pictorial in Greek relief sculpture, by Brunilde Sismondo Ridgway; (14) Attic vase-painting and the home textile industry, by Eva C. Keuls; (15) Mythological repertoire of Brauron, by Lilly Kahil; (16) The lettering and the iconography of "Macedonian" coinage, by N. G. L. Hammond; (17) A Dionysiac procession on a monumental Shape 8 oinochoe, by Konrad Schauenburg; (18) Some aspects of the Gospel in the light of Greek iconography, by Karl Schefold.

Notes at end of chapters. Glossary, p.299–300. Selected bibliography, p.301–32. Index of artists, p.333–34. Index of collections, p.335–42. General index, p.343–46.

- 198 Arte e artigianato in Magna Grecia. A cura di Enzo Lippolis. Napoli, Electa, 1996. 541p. il. (part col.), maps. (I Greci in Occidente).

Catalog of the exhibition, ex Convento di San Domenico, Taranto (1996), one of a series of four exhibitions devoted to the theme "I Greci in Occidente." Focus upon craftsmen and materials.

Contents: Il reperimento e la lavorazione delle materie prime; La produzione artigianale.

Bibliografia, p.513–39.

- 199 Barber, R. L. N. The Cyclades in the Bronze Age. Iowa City, Univ. of Iowa Pr., 1987. xiii, 283p. il., plans.

Careful survey of archeological evidence for Bronze Age civilization.

Notes, p.[247]–62. Bibliography, p.[263]–75. Index, p.[276]–83.

- 1100 Biers, William R. The archaeology of Greece: an introduction. 2d ed. Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1996. 350p. il. (part col.), maps.

1st ed. 1980; rev. ed. 1987.

A solid introductory survey, chronologically arranged.

Suggestions for further reading, p.336–38. Select bibliography, p.339–40. Glossary, p.341–44. Index, p.345–50.

- 1101 Boardman, John. The diffusion of classical art in antiquity. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1994. 352p. il., maps (The A.W. Mellon lectures in the fine arts, 1993) (Bollingen series XXXV, 42)

"This book is about Greek art as a medium of communication to non-Greek cultures and it therefore deals more with the responses to images that are sometimes misunderstood and often reinterpreted than with the communication of shared ideas. . . . We look at Greek art from the outside for a change, as a foreign art, and at styles and subjects sometimes long divorced from their origins."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction; (1) Greek art; (2) The Near East and the Persian Empire; (3) The Semitic world and Spain; (4) The East after Alexander the Great; (5) Egypt and North Africa; (6) The countries of the Black Sea; (7) Italy; (8) Europe; (9) Conclusion.

List of maps, p.9. Abbreviations, p.323. Notes, p.323–48. Index, p.349–52.

- 1102 ———. Greek art. 4th ed. rev. and exp. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1996. 304p. il. (part col.), map (World of art)

See GLAH 1:184 for previous eds. of this authoritative, popular treatment. "The difference in this new edition lies partly in its increased length, in fuller account of various aspects of architecture and decoration, and of the role of art and artists in Greek society."—Pref.

- 1103 Carpenter, Thomas H. Art and myth in ancient Greece: a handbook. London, Thames and Hudson, 1991. 256p. il. (World of art)

"This book is an introductory survey of myth as it appears in surviving ancient Greek visual arts created between about 700 and 323 B.C. . . . The focus is ancient Greek narrative art."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) A demonstration of method: the return of Hephaistos; Troilos and Achilles; (3) Portraits of the gods; (4) The ascendancy of the Olympians; (5) Perseus; Bellerophon; (6) Herakles; (7) Theseus; (8) Argonauts; Calydonian boar hunt; (9) The Trojan War; (10) The aftermath of the war.

Abbreviations, p.246. A selected list of further reading, p.247–49. Index of mythological subjects, p.253–56. Index of common attributes, p.256.

- 1104 Coldstream, J. N. Geometric Greece. [Maps by Kenneth Clarke.] N.Y., St. Martin's, 1977. 405p. il.

The standard survey of the period. "This book deals with Greek civilization from c.900 to c.700 B.C. . . . The purpose of this book . . . is to provide an archaeological survey of the Geometric period, amplified where possible by information from literary sources."—Introd.

Contents: (I) The passing of the Dark Ages, c.900–770 B.C.; (II) The Greek renaissance, c.770–700 B.C.: regional survey; (III) Life in eighth-century Greece.

Abbreviations, p.13–15. Glossary, p.371–72. Bibliography and site index, p.373–91. Index, p.395–405.

- 1105 Doumas, Christos. Cycladic art: ancient sculpture and ceramics of the Aegean from the N. P. Goulandris Collection. [Trans. by Alexandria Doumas.] Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art, 1979. 124p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, National Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C. (1979), and other locations. The Goulandris collection is "the largest and most important assemblage of this material in private hands anywhere in the world."—Foreword.

- I106 Getz-Preziosi, Pat. Early Cycladic art in North American collections. With essays by Jack L. Davis and Elizabeth Oustinoff. Richmond, Virginia Museum of Fine Arts (Distr. by the University of Washington Press, 1987). xx, 345p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Virginia Museum of Fine Arts (1987). "Early Cycladic Art in North American Collections is the first exhibition to focus solely on Early Cycladic figures and vessels in the museums and private collections of this continent. It is unusual in that it places nearly equal emphasis on the two types of marble objects, and it treats their development in an integrated manner."—Pref.

Contents: Perspectives on the prehistoric Cyclades: an archaeological introduction, by Jack L. Davis; Mastery in marble: the early Cycladic figures and vessels, by Pat Getz-Preziosi; The early Cycladic sculptor: materials and methods, by Elizabeth Oustinoff.

Lenders to the exhibition, p.xii–xiii. Abbreviations, p.xiv–xx. Catalogue of figures and vessels, by Pat Getz-Preziosi, p.122–327. Concordances, p.328–331. Select bibliography, p.332–33. Index of figures and vessels by collection, p.334–41. Index of sculptors, p.342–43.

- I107 The Greek world: art and civilization in Magna Graecia and Sicily. Ed. by Giovanni Pugliese Carratelli. [Trans. Andrew Ellis . . . (et al.)]. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1996. 799p. il. (part col.), maps (part col.)

Italian ed. Milano, Bompiani, 1996. Catalog of the exhibition, Palazzo Grassi, Venice (1996), one of a series of four major exhibitions on Greek civilization.

Works on exhibit, p.[659]–758. Bibliography, p.[759]–71. Bibliography of the files, p.772–79. Index of names, p.[781]–95.

- I108 Hampe, Roland, and Simon, Erika. The birth of Greek art: from the Mycenaean to the archaic period. Foreword by John Boardman. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1981. 316p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

Trans. of Tausend Jahre frühgriechische Kunst. München, Hirmer, 1980.

A monumental attempt to demonstrate the continuity of Mycenaean and Greek art. "The period to be dealt with extends from about 1600 BC beyond the end of the Mycenaean world (c. 1100 BC) into the so-called Dark Ages, through the Geometric and down to the end of the Orientalizing period (c. 600 BC)."—Introd. "Where most accounts of the arts of Greece deal with either the Bronze Age on its own, or the better charted later progress to the Classical, this book concentrates on the exploration of continuity between the two, setting the achievements of the last phase of the Bronze Age of Mycenaean Greece beside those of the later renaissance Greece, and continuing the story on into the early Archaic, where new influences from the non-Greek world begin to work their spell, sometimes quickening, sometimes hindering that progress to the Classical."—Foreword.

Contents: Introduction; Architecture and planning; Metalwork; Weapons; Stone vessels; Pottery; Engraving; Jewellery and ornament; Ivory, bone and wood; Sculpture; Conclusion.

Bibliography, p.285–309. Glossary, p.310–13. Index, p.314–16.

- I109 Havelock, Christine Mitchell. Hellenistic art: the art of the classical world from the death of Alexander the Great to the Battle of Actium. 2d ed. N.Y., Norton, 1981. 283p. il.

See GLAH 1:195 for previous ed. The 2d ed. incorporates the most significant scholarly contributions made in the decade since the first edition, and includes an updated bibliography.

- I110 Higgins, Reynold Alleyne. Minoan and Mycenaean art. New rev. ed. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 216p. il. (part col.), maps, plans. (World of art)

See GLAH 1:196 for original ed. Rev. ed. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1981. "This edition was prepared with the assistance of Dr Lyvia Morgan. Recent research and discoveries have been incorporated in text and illustrations."—Note on the new rev. ed.

- I111 Holloway, R. Ross. A view of Greek art. Providence, Brown Univ. Pr., [1973]. xxii, 213p. il.

"This book . . . is concerned with the monumental art of ancient Greece. However, it is not a history of Greek monuments (still less, a history of Greek art) but a discussion of essential elements that affected the nature of Greek creative expression in visual form."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Archaic sculptural form; (2) Archaic architectural form; (3) Narration in archaic art; (4) Olympia; (5) The Parthenon; (6) Late Phidian expressionism; (7) Change in the fourth century; (8) The hellenistic epilogue; Appendix A: Greek authors of the fifth century on art; Appendix B: Chronological chart.

List of maps and illustrations, p.[vii]–xx. Bibliographical note, p.[203]. Index, p.[205]–13.

- I112 Hood, Sinclair. The arts in prehistoric Greece. N.Y., Penguin, 1978. 311p. il. (Pelican history of art) (Repr.: New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1994)

Authoritative survey. Arranged by medium.

Abbreviations, p.[242]. Notes, p.[243]–75. Bibliography, p.[277]–[89]. Index, p.301–11.

- I113 Hurwit, Jeffrey M. The art and culture of early Greece, 1100–480 B.C. Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1985. 367p. il.

"This book presents a synthesis of Archaic culture: it seeks to place the art and architecture of early Greece in its literary, historical, and intellectual contexts. . . . I am concerned about origins: the origins of representation, of epic poetry, of the polis, of the stone temple, of mythological narrative art, of lyric poetry, of monumental stone sculpture, of philosophy, of tragedy, of the so-called optical revolution, of democracy, and even of the Classical style."—Pref.

Abbreviations, p.11–12. Glossary of Greek words and technical terms, p.357–60. Index, p.361–67.

- I114 Martin, Roland. L'art grec. [Paris], Livre de Poche, 1994. 730p. il. (part col.) (Encyclopédies d'aujourd'hui)

Survey by an authority on Greek architecture. First pub. in an Italian trans. in 2 vols., La Grecia e il mondo greco. Torino, UTET, 1984 (Storia universale dell'arte. Sezione prima, Civiltà antiche e primitive).

Bibliographie, p.[683]–97. Chronologie, p.[699]–704. Glossaire, p.[705]–13. Index de noms de lieux, p.[715]–21. Index de noms de personnes, p.[723]–30.

- I115 Morris, Sarah. P. Daidalos and the origins of Greek art. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1992. xxx, 411p. il., plates.

Speculative, wide-ranging essay on the origins of Greek art. Abbreviations, p.xxv–xxx. Bibliography, p.[387]–400. Index of ancient sources, p.[401]–6. General index, p.[407]–11.

- I116 New perspectives in early Greek art. Ed. by Diana Buitron-Oliver. Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art (Distr. by the University Press of New England, 1991). 308p. il. (part col.) (Studies in the history of art, 32) (Studies in the history of art. Symposium papers, 16)

Proceedings of a symposium sponsored by the Center for Advanced Studies in the Visual Arts (May 1988) and held in conjunction with the exhibition, "The human figure in early Greek art," National Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C. (1988). Important papers by leading scholars.

Contents: Archaic Greece: an era of discovery, by Alan L. Boegehold; The social function of art in early Greece, by Oswyn Murray; The representation of nature in early Greek art, by Jeffrey M. Hurwit; The alphabetic impact on Archaic Greece, by Mabel L. Lang; Homer's Anthropomorphism: narrative and ritual, by Walter Burkert; The human figure in Homer, by Bernard Knox; Myth and tradition from Mycenae to Homer, by Emily Vermeule; Theseus: aspects of the hero in Archaic Greece, by H. A. Shapiro; Aegean sanctuaries: forms and function, by Bernard C. Dietrich; Early monumental religious architecture at Old Smyrna, by Richard V. Nicholls; The sanctuary of Iria on Naxos and the birth of monumental Greek architecture, by Vassilis Lambrinou-dakis; A vase-painter as dedicator on the Athenian Acropolis: a new view of the Painter of Acropolis 606, by Olga Tzahou-Alexandri; The dress of the Archaic Greek korai, by Evelyn B. Harrison; Early bronze sheets with figured scenes from the Acropolis, by Evi Touloupa; The human figure in Archaic Greek coinage, by Mando Oeconomides; The drawing of the human figure on early red-figure vases, by Dyfri Williams.

Notes at ends of chapters. Abbreviations, p.303–6.

- I117 Onians, John. Art and thought in the Hellenistic Age: the Greek world view, 350–50 BC. London, Thames and Hudson, 1979. 192p. il., map.

A speculative exploration of the parallels between Hellenistic art, literature, philosophy, and science.

Contents: Prologue: Athens and Atlantis—a myth of style and civilization; (1) Fourth-century attitudes; (2) Art: its classification and criticism; (3) Allegory, images and signs; (4) Measure and scale; (5) Time and space; Greek epilogue—Roman prologue.

Guide to further study, p.182–83. Index, p.189–92.

- I118 Papaioannou, Kostas. The art of Greece. Trans. from the French by I. Mark Paris. N.Y., Abrams, 1989. 637p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of L'art grec. Paris, Mazenod, 1972 (L'Art et les grandes civilisations, 3); new, rev. ed. 1993.

A standard survey of Greek art and architecture, authoritative, richly illustrated and documented.

Contents: Part one: The art and civilization of ancient Greece; The Creto-Mycenaean heritage; The Dark Age and Geometric art; Gods and divinity; Pre-classical Greece; The triumph of Freedom; Man and the universe in classical thought; The birth and development of classical forms; The city in crisis; Post-classical art of the fourth century; The legacy of Alexander. Part two: The image as document; Color plates; Documentary photographs; Identification of the photographs. Part three: Principal archaeological sites of the ancient Greek world. Part four: Forms and structures; Architecture; Vases. Part five: A lexicon; Political and military chronology; Catalogues: Gods, heroes and other mythological figures; Architects; Sculptors; Painters of murals and panels; Vase painters; Philosophers; Writers and orators. Bibliography, p.621–23. Index, p.624–37.

- I119 Pedley, John Griffiths. Greek art and archaeology. 2d ed. N.Y., Abrams, 1997. 384p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

1st ed. 1992.

Excellent survey by period, Bronze Age through Hellenistic. "The main purpose of this book is to introduce beginning students . . . to the major monuments of Greek archaeology . . . Another purpose is to make the principal documents of Greek art and archaeology more easily accessible."—Pref. The 2d ed. features an increased emphasis upon the Hellenistic period.

Glossary, p.[368]–71. Select bibliography, p.[372]–75.

- I120 Pollitt, J. J. Art in the Hellenistic age. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1986. [xii], 329p. il., maps.

"The chapters of this book have two aims. One is to explore the ways in which Hellenistic art is an expression of the cultural experience and aspirations of the Hellenistic age. . . . The other is to present a selective history of the formal development of this art around those genres, schools, or styles which seem to me to have been of particular importance."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction: Hellenistic art and the temperament of the Hellenistic age; Prologue: the phases of Hellenistic art; (1) Royal iconography; (2) Lysippos and his school; (3) Personality and psychology in portraiture; (4) The sculpture of Pergamon; (5) Hellenistic baroque; (6) Rocco, realism and the exotic; (7) Rome as a center of Hellenistic art; (8) Style and retrospection: neoclassicism and archaism; (9) Pictorial illusion and narration; (10) Hellenistic mosaics; (11) Hellenistic architecture: theatrical and scholarly forms; (12) Alexandria and the Pharaoh; Appen-dixes: (I) The chronology of Hellenistic sculpture; (II) The ruler cult and its imagery; (III) Aspects of royal patronage; (IV) Bactria and India; (V) The tomb at Belevi.

Abbreviations, p.291–92. Bibliography, p.293–301. Notes, p.303–19. Sources of illustrations, p.321–23. Index, p.325–29.

I121 Richter, Gisela Marie Augusta. A handbook of Greek art. 9th ed. N.Y., Da Capo Press, 1987. 431p. il. See GLAH 1:I107 for 6th ed. 7th ed. 1974; 8th ed. 1983.

The 9th ed. incorporates corrections listed as corrigenda in the 8th ed. Two recent publications are added to the Addendum to the bibliography. No other changes.

I122 Robertson, Martin. A shorter history of Greek art. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1981. xi, 240p. il. See GLAH 1:I108 for original 2v. ed.

"This is a shortened version of A History of Greek Art . . . Since it is less than a quarter the length the scope is very different. . . . The book is meant to be a more or less self-sufficient introduction to the subject."—Pref.

Contents: (1) The seeds of Greek art: Geometric and Orientalising; (2) The beginning of monumental Greek art: the early Archaic period; (3) Ripe Archaic art; (4) The great change: Late Archaic and Early Classical; (5) The Classical moment; (6) Developments into the fourth century; (7) The second change: Classical to Hellenistic; (8) Hellenistic art.

Notes, p.209–15. Abbreviations and bibliography, p.217–18. Indexes, p.225–36 (general index), p.236–40 (museums and collections).

I123 Whitley, James. Style and society in dark age Greece: the changing face of a pre-literate society, 1100–700 BC. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1991. xx, 225p. il., plates (New studies in archaeology)

"This book is a study of the connexions between style, burial and society in Athens during the so-called Dark Ages (1100–700 BC). . . . My main proposition is that art historical and historical research, particularly in the absence of written sources, must go hand in hand."—Pref. and ackn.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Theoretical perspectives; (3) Athens and Attica: the historical background; (4) Methods and chronology; (5) Athens: the analysis of the burials; (6) The wider Dark Age world; (7) Conclusions.

List of tables, xiv. List of abbreviations, p.xix–xx. Appendix: grave index, p.199–208. Bibliography, p.209–20. Index of sites and regions, p.221–22. General index, p.223–25.

I124 Woodford, Susan. An introduction to Greek art. Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1986. xiii, 186p., il. (part col.), plates.

"The purpose of this book is to make the beauty of Greek art more readily accessible and comprehensible."—Pref. A slight but informed introduction for the general reader.

Note on terminology, p.xi. Glossary, p.177–80. Further reading, p.181. Index, p.183–86.

Etruria and Rome

I125 Andrae, Bernard. The art of Rome. Trans. from the German by Robert Erich Wolf. N.Y., Abrams, 1977. 655p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of L'art de l'ancienne Rome. Paris, Mazenod, 1973 (L'Art et les grandes civilisations, 4). German ed., Freiburg, Herder, 1973, entitled Römische Kunst (Ars antiqua, 5). The standard survey of Roman art and architecture, authoritative, richly illustrated and documented.

Contents: Introduction. Part one: City to Empire in the world of the Spirit; (I) "These are imperial arts, and worthy thee"; (II) The rise of Rome: toward political hegemony; (III) The Roman revolution: toward artistic hegemony; (IV) The age of Augustus; (V) The Julio-Claudian house; (VI) The Flavian house; (VII) Nerva and Trajan; (VIII) Hadrian and Antoninus Pius; (IX) Marcus Aurelius, Lucius Verus Commodus: the last of the Antonines; (X) The Severan Dynasty; (XI) The soldier-emperors; (XII) The tetrarchy and the triumph of Christianity under Constantine the Great. Part two: The image as document; Documentary photographs; Identification of the photographs. Part three: Description of archaeological sites: architecture and urbanism in the Roman Empire. Part four: Roman architecture: techniques and types. Part five: A lexicon; Events in Roman history; Imperial genealogies; Biographical information; Terms in art and architecture.

Notes to the text, p.629–30. Bibliography, p.[631]–45. Index, p.646–55.

I126 L'art des peuples italiques: 3000 à 300 avant J.-C. [Naples], Electa Napoli, 1993. 406p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Musée Rath, Geneva (1993–94), and other locations, based upon the Etruscan and Roman collections of the Musée d'art et d'histoire, Geneva and private collections in Switzerland.

Glossaire, p.403–4. Abréviations, p.405. Index de prêts, p.406.

I127 Brendel, Otto. Etruscan art. 2d ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. 535p. il., map. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

A monumental study, published posthumously in 1978, and revised and updated for this second ed. "Otto Brendel's exploration of the art, culture and society of Etruria takes us through the four main periods of creativity: the Villanovan and Orientalizing era, the Archaic era, the Classical era, and culminates in the Hellenistic era when Etruscan art became extinct."—Pub. note.

Contents: Editor's foreword. Part one: the Villanovan and Orientalizing periods. Part two: the early and middle Archaic periods. Part three: the late Archaic period. Part four: the Classical era: the fifth century. Part five: the Classical era: the fourth century. Part six: the Hellenistic period: late manifestations and legacy.

List of abbreviations, p.[433]. Notes, p.435–80. Select bibliography, p.[481]–85. Additional bibliography 1978–1994 [by Francesca R. Serra Ridgway], p.[486]–513. List of illustrations, p.[514]–21. Index, p.[522]–35.

- 1128 Buranelli, Francesco. The Etruscans: legacy of a lost civilization from the Vatican Museums. With an introd. and trans. by Nancy Thomson de Grummond. Memphis, Lithograph Pub. Co., 1992. 207p. il. Catalog of an exhibition. Well-illustrated introduction for a general audience.
Glossary, p.200–01. Suggestions for further reading on the Etruscans in English, p.202. Bibliography, p.203–07.
- 1129 Civiltà dei Romani. A cura di Salvatore Settis. Milano, Electa, 1990–1993. 4v. il. (part col.), maps, plans.
Monumental collaborative study of Roman civilization, including the arts, architecture, and material culture. Richly illustrated.
Bibliography and index in each vol.
Contents: (1) La città, il territorio, l'impero; (2) Il potere e l'esercito; (3) Il rito e la vita privata; (4) Un linguaggio comune.
- 1130 Cristofani, Mauro. L'arte degli etruschi: produzione e consumo. Torino, Einaudi, 1978. xxiii, 227p. il., plates (Saggi, 605)
Important, somewhat polemical study of Etruscan art by an authority, emphasizing culture over material culture.
Contents: L'arte degli Etruschi; Storia di una problema; Il retaggio protostorico e l'influenza dell'arte orientale; Il contatto con il mondo greco e l'organizzazione delle maestranze artistiche; Maestranze greche e maestranze locali; Arte rurale e arte urbana; Il problema della recezione dell'arte classica; L'Ellenismo.
Notes at ends of chapters. Indice dei luoghi e dei nomi, p.[217]–27.
- 1131 Etruscan life and afterlife: a handbook of Etruscan studies. Ed. by Larissa Bonfante. Detroit, Wayne State Univ. Pr., 1986. xxviii, 289p. il., maps.
A collection of studies "designed to complement more popular works, and to lead students back to the standard texts, as well as to more specialized literature in the field."—Pref.
Contents: (I) Rediscovery, by Nancy Thomson de Grummond; (II) History: land and peoples, by Mario Torelli; (III) International contacts: commerce, trade, and foreign affairs, by Jean MacIntosh Turfa; (IV) Art, by Marie-Françoise Briquet; (V) Architecture, by Friedhelm Prayon; (VI) Coinage, by David Enders Tripp; (VII) An archaeological introduction to the Etruscan language, by Emeline Richardson; (VIII) Daily life and afterlife, by Larissa Bonfante.
Abbreviations, p.xvi–xviii. Bibliographies at ends of chapters. Selected readings, p.279–81. Index, p.282–91.
- 1132 Gli Etruschi: mille anni di civiltà. [Dir. responsabile, Giovanna Magi. Coord. e consulenza, Maurizio Martinelli. Introd. a cura di Giovannangelo Camporeale, Gabriele Morolli]. Firenze, Bonechi, 1990–. (1)v. 640p., col. il., maps, plans.
Regional survey of Etruscan art and civilization. Published to date: v.1.
Glossario, v.1, p.37–40.
- 1133 Grant, Michael. Art in the Roman Empire. N.Y., Routledge, 1995. xxii, 146p. il., maps
"I have chosen the title Art in the Roman Empire, rather than the more usual one of Roman Art, because I want readers to appreciate that all the art of the Roman empire was not concentrated in Rome. . . . I have avoided attempting yet another general handbook, and have instead tried my best to be selective."—Introd. A popular treatment by a well-known classicist.
Contents: Introduction. Part I: Sculpture. Part II: Architecture. Part III: Other arts; Epilogue.
List of Roman Emperors, p.123–24. Notes, p.125–33. Select bibliography, p.134–41. Index, p.142–46.
- 1134 A handbook of Roman art: a comprehensive survey of all the arts of the Roman world. Ed. by Martin Henig. Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1983. 288p. il. (part col.), plates.
Expressly conceived as a companion to Richter's classic Handbook of Greek art (GLAH 2:1121). An informed survey of Roman art arranged according to media, by a group of specialists.
Contents: Introduction; (1) Early Roman art, by Tom Rasmussen; (2) Architecture, by Thomas Blagg; (3) Sculpture, by Anthony Bonanno; (4) Wall painting and stucco, by Joan Liversidge; (5) Mosaics, by David Smith; (6) The luxury arts: decorative metalwork, engraved gems and jewellery, by Martin Henig; (7) Coins and medals, by Richard Reece; (8) Pottery, by Anthony King; (9) Terracotta revetments, figurines and lamps, by Donald Bailey; (10) Glass, by Jennifer Price; (11) Epigraphy, by Robert Ireland; (12) Late antiquity, by Richard Reece.
Abbreviations, p.[249]. Vessel forms, p.[250]. Glossary, p.[251]–54. Notes, p.[256]–70. Select general bibliography, p.[271]–80. Index, p.[281]–88.
- 1135 Hannestad, Niels. Roman art and imperial policy. Højbjerg, Jutland Archaeological Society (Distr. by Aarhus University Press, 1986). 485p. il. (part col.), maps, plans, ports.
Trans. of Romersk kunst som propaganda. Copenhagen, Berlingske, 1976 (Berlingske leksikonbibliotek, 103).
"Most of what we normally perceive as art during the Roman period may be regarded as more or less direct manifestations of propaganda. Art served primarily . . . to strengthen the power and reputation of the person who paid for or commissioned it. . . . My intention in this study . . . is . . . to elucidate the form and function of state art and propaganda in Rome in the Republican and Imperial periods."—Introd.
Contents: Preface; Introduction; (I) The Republic; (II) The Augustan principate; (III) The Julio-Claudians; (IV) The Flavians; (V) The adoptive Emperors; (VI) The Severans; (VII) The Dominate; Conclusion; Epilogue.
Notes, p.351–422. Bibliography, p.423–58. Abbreviations, p.458–60. Index, p.465–73. Dansk resumé, p.475–78. Chronological table of emperors, p.479–83.
- 1136 Heintze, Helga, Freifrau von. Roman art. [Reprint] N.Y., Universe Books (Distr. to the trade by St. Martin's Press, 1990). 200p. il. (part col.) (The Universe history of art and architecture)

Repr. of 1972 ed. Trans. of Römische Kunst. Stuttgart, Belser, 1969 (Belser Stilgeschichte, 3); repr. München, Deutscher Taschenbuch Verlag, 1978. Respected survey.

Contents: Architecture; Relief sculpture; Painting and mosaics; Statues; Portrait sculpture.

Bibliography, p.193–95. Index, p.196–200.

I137 Ramage, Nancy H., and Ramage, Andrew. The Cambridge illustrated history of Roman art. Cambridge, Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1991. 304p. il. (part col.), ports.

"The book is intended first and foremost for students and readers who are launching into the study of Roman art perhaps for the first time. We . . . have tried to explain what may not be obvious in terms of background, be it linguistic, historical, or religious."—Pref. Solid, well-written historical survey.

Glossary, p.290–93. Select bibliography, p.294–96. Index, p.298–304.

I138 ———. Roman art: Romulus to Constantine. 2d ed. Englewood Cliffs, N.J., Prentice Hall, 1996. 320p. il. (part col.)

"This book is intended first and foremost for students and readers who are launching into the study of Roman art perhaps for the first time."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction; (1) The Villanovan and Etruscan forerunners, 1000–200 BC; (2) The Roman Republic, 200–27 BC; (3) Augustus and the Imperial idea, 27 BC–AD 14; (4) The Julio-Claudians, AD 14–68; (5) The Flavians, AD 68–98; (6) Trajan, optimus princeps, AD 98–117; (7) Hadrian and the Classical revival, AD 117–138; (8) The Antonines, AD 138–193; (9) The Severans, AD 193–235; (10) The soldier emperors, AD 235–284; (11) The tetrarchs, AD 284–312; (12) Constantine, AD 307–337 and the aftermath.

Roman emperors, p.288. Ancient authors, p.289. Glossary, p.290–93. Select bibliography, p.294–96. Index, p.298–304.

I139 Rasenna: storia e civiltà degli Etruschi. [By] Massimo Pallottino . . . [et al.] Pref. di Giovanni Pugliese Carratelli. Milano, Libri Scheiwiller, 1986. xiv, 729p. il. (part col.) (Antica madre, 9)

Monumental survey of Etruscan history and culture, each chapter by a leading authority.

Contents: Immagini e realtà della civiltà etrusca, di Massimo Pallottino; La storia, di Mario Torelli; Economia e società, di Mauro Cristofani; La religione, di Mario Torelli; Vita privata, di Giovannangelo Camporeale; I documenti scritti e la lingua, di Massimo Pallottino; Urbanistica e architettura, di Giovanni Colona; L'arte, di Francesco Roncalli; Topografia storica della regione etrusca, di Guido A. Mansuelli; Appendice: Gli Etruschi e la Magna Grecia, di Maria Bonghi Jovino; La stele di Lemnos, di Carlo de Simone; Il "liber linteus" di Zagabria, di Francesco Roncalli.

Bibliographies at end of chapters. Abbreviazioni, p.728.

I140 Spivey, Nigel Jonathan. Etruscan art. London, Thames and Hudson, 1997. 216p. il. (part col.), map (World of art)

Contents: Introduction: Etruria and the limits of demystification; (1) The emergence of Etruscan culture; (2) Etruria and the orient; (3) Etruria hellenized; (4) The Etruscan cities as centres of art; (5) From Etruscan Rome to Roman Etruria; (6) The Etruscan legacy.

Timeline, p.200. Chronology, p.201–2. Bibliography and sources, p.203–6. Index, p.213–16.

I141 Sprenger, Maja, and Bartolini, Gilda. The Etruscans: their history, art, and architecture. [Foreword, by Max Hirmer.] Photographs by Max and Albert Hirmer. Trans. from the German and the Italian by Robert Erich Wolf. N.Y., Abrams, 1983. 176, [211]p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Die Etrusker. München, Hirmer, 1977.

An important and comprehensive re-examination of eight centuries of Etruscan art, richly illustrated with 288 photographs, most made for this publication.

Contents: Outline of Etruscan history, by Maja Sprenger; Development and characteristics of Etruscan art; The artistic creations; Plates; Documentary catalogue of the plates, by Gilda Bartolini.

Appendices: Chronology of Etruscan history, p.161–62. The gods, p.162. The twelve cities of the Etruscan Confederacy, p.162. Concise glossary, p.163–64. Bibliography, p.164–67. List of works and monuments by location, p.168–71. Index, p.172–76.

I142 Strong, Donald Emrys. Roman art. Prepared for press by J. M. C. Toynbee. 2d ed., rev. and annot. under the editorship of Roger Ling. N.Y., Penguin Books, 1988. 408p. il. (Pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:A135 for previous ed. "The guiding principle of the new edition has been to interfere with the text as little as possible and to concentrate on providing full annotation, absent in the first two [printings]."—Pref. to the second ed. See GLAH 1:I135 for the circumstances that caused this lacuna.

List of abbreviations, p.[329]–31. Notes, p.[332]–71. Glossary, p.[372]–74. Bibliography, p.[375]–87. Index, p.[395]–406.

I143 Torelli, Mario. L'arte degli Etruschi. Con un'appendice di Giampiero Pianu. Roma, Laterza, 1985. 356p. il. (part col.) (Grande opere)

"One of the best recent surveys of Etruscan art, expressly focusing upon craftsmanship (produzione artigianale)."—Brendel, Etruscan art (GLAH 2:I127) [bib supp].

Contents: Premessa; (1) La fase formativa; (2) La cultura orientalizzante; (3) L'arcaismo; (4) Il V secolo; (5) La cultura figurativa della koiné; (6) Il tardo ellenismo in Etruria; Postfazione.

Bibliografia, p.[337]–43. Glossario, p.[345]–46. Indice dei nomi, p.[349]–53. Fonti iconografiche, p.[354].

I144 Turcan, Robert. L'art romain dans l'histoire: six siècles d'expressions de la romanité. Paris, Flammarion, 1995. 383p. il. (part col.)

A beautifully illustrated survey of Roman art. Focuses upon the art of Rome and Italy to the exclusion of provincial art.

Contents: Introduction: Problématique d'un art "romain"; (I) L'hommage des images aux morts; (II) La mémoire et la gloire; (III) Ut poesis pictura; les arrière-mondes du décor peint; (IV) Le classicisme augustéen; (V) Mutations d'un long siècle: de Tibère à Nerva; (VI) Quasi reddita jinventute: les années 100; (VII) Hadrien ou l'arbitre des arts; (VIII) La paix antoninienne; (IX) La crise et le tournant du siècle d'or; (X) Rome sévérienne; (XI) Temps d'anarchie militaire; ferments et foisonnements précurseurs; (XII) La brique et la courbe ou l'apogée d'un crépuscule; Epilogue.

Chronologie, p.362-63. Glossaire, p.364-66. Bibliographie, p.367-[75]. Principales abréviations, p.[375]. Index des noms propres, p.[376]-[380]. Index des lieux et monuments, p.381-83.

- I145 Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. Art of late Rome and Byzantium in the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. By Anna Gonosová and Christine Kondoleon. Technical entries by Lawrence Becker . . . [et al.] Richmond, Va., The Museum, 1994. xvii, 451p. il., map.

"The collection of Late Roman and Byzantine art in the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts consists of 136 objects that date between A.D. 250 and 1450 and come from both the eastern and western parts of the Late Roman and Byzantine Empires. All major categories of artistic media are represented."—Introd.

Contents: The Catalogue: (1) Jewelry; (2) Domestic art; (3) Coins; (4) Works of doubtful authenticity; Appendices: technical and material studies.

Abbreviations, p.xv. Glossary, p.416-19. Bibliography, p.421-43. Concordance, p.444-45. Index, p.447-51.

- I146 Walker, Susan. Roman art. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Pr., 1991. 72p. il. (part col.)

"This is a very personal view of Roman art. Rather than attempt in a short book a history of artistic developments at Rome from the early days on the Palatine to the rise of the Christian city, I have chosen to write about four important themes."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Learning to love luxury: the Romans and Greek art; (2) Roman portraits; (3) From Bath to Baalbek: public art in the Roman empire; (4) The Romans at home.

Further reading, p.71. Index, p.72.

- I147 Die Welt der Etrusker: archäologische Denkmäler aus Museen der sozialistischen Länder. [Katalogred., Max Kunze, Volker Kästner]. Berlin, Henschelverlag, 1988. 436p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Altes Museum, Berlin (1988), and other locations. Documents the rich Etruscan collections of the DDR, Hungary, Poland, and Russia. See also the proceedings of a related symposium: Die Welt der Etrusker: internationales Kolloquium. Hrsg. von Huberta Heres und Max Kunze. Berlin, Akademie-Verlag, 1990.

Contents: Die Welt der Etrusker: zur Einführung; (A) Die Formierung der etruskischen Kultur im Rahmen der italischen Eisenzeit (10.-7. Jh. v.u.Z.); (B) Die Blütezeit der etruskischen Stadtkulturen in Italien (7. bis Mitte 5. Jh. v.u.Z.); (C) Die Etrusker in Kampanien; (D) Die etruskischen Stadtkulturen von der 2. Hälfte des 5. Jh. v.u.Z. bis zum Hellenismus und der Eingliederung in den römischen Staat; (E) Goldschmiedekunst; (F) Spiegel; (G) Steinschneidekunst; (H) Münzen; (I) Der etruskische Norden und die Auswirkungen der etruskischen Kultur auf Mitteleuropa; (K) Fälschungen etruskischer Kunstwerke; (L) Etruskische Kunst in Berlin.

Verzeichnis der Fachausdrücke, p.425-27. Abkürzungsverzeichnis zur Literatur, p.428-30. Ortsverzeichnis, p.431-32. Verzeichnis der älteren Sammlungen, p.433-34. Mythologisches Register, p.435-36.

- I148 Zanker, Paul. The power of images in the Age of Augustus. Trans. by Alan Shapiro. Ann Arbor, Univ. of Michigan Pr., 1988. vii, 385p. il.

"Art and architecture are mirrors of a society. . . . This book tries to illustrate how a fundamental change in the political system led to the creation of a new visual language that both reflects an altered mentality and contributed significantly to the process of change. . . . This book is based upon lectures delivered in Ann Arbor [Michigan] and at the American Academy in Rome in 1983 and 1984 as the Thomas Spencer Jerome Series."—Introd. An unusually imaginative and influential study.

Contents: Introduction; (1) Conflict and contradiction in the imagery of the dying Republic; (2) Rival images: Octavian, Antony, and the struggle for sole power; (3) The great turning point: intimations of a new Imperial style; (4) The Augustan program of cultural renewal; (5) The mythical foundations of the new Rome; (6) Form and meaning of the new mythology; (7) The new imagery in the private sphere; (8) The Roman Empire of Augustus: Imperial myth and cult in east and west; Conclusion.

Notes and references for further reading, p.341-70. Illustration sources, p.371-79. Index of sites and museums, p.381-85.

CELTIC AND GERMANIC

- I149 Celtic art. Ed. by Barry Raftery with the collab. of Paul-Marie Duval . . . [et al.] [Paris], Unesco; Flammarion, 1990. 171p. il. (part col.), maps (Unesco collection of representative works. Art album series)

Accessible survey.

Contents: Introduction, by Otto-Herman Frey; (1) The rise of Celtic art, by Venceslas Kruta; (2) The climax of Celtic art, by Miklós Szabó; (3) Celtic coins, by Paul-Marie Duval; (4) The end of Celtic art on the continent: later Celtic art in the southern region, by Gilbert Kaenel; (5) Celtic art in Britain and Ireland, by Andrew Sherratt and Barry Raftery; (6) Aftermath: Celtic Christianity, by Michael Ryan; Conclusion: The unity of Celtic art, by Paul-Marie Duval.

Chronology, p.158-59. Glossary, p.161-65. Bibliography, p.166-67. Index, p.168-70.

- I150 The Celts. Ed. by Sabatino Moscati . . . [et al.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1991. 711p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of: I Celti. Milano, Bompiani, 1991. Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Palazzo Grassi (Venice, 1991).

Monumental survey of Celtic civilization.

Contents: In search of the ancient Celts; The age of the princes, sixth century B.C.; The formation of the La Tène culture, fifth century B.C.; The first historical expansion, fourth century B.C.; The age of the warriors, third century B.C.; The Celts of Iberia; The Era of the Oppida, second-first century B.C.; The island Celts; The Christian Celts; Appendix: the ancient writers, ed. by Luana Kruta Poppi.

General bibliography, p.[691]–700. Index, p.[701]–10.

- I151 Das Keltische Jahrtausend. Hrsg. von Hermann Dannheimer und Rupert Gebhard. Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1993. xv, 400p. il. (part col.) (Ausstellungskataloge der Prähistorischen Staatssammlung, 23)

At head of title: Prähistorische Staatssammlung München, Museum für Vor- und Frühgeschichte.

Catalog of the exhibition, the Museum (1993), and other locations.

Seeks to provide an archeological overview of 1,000 years of Celtic culture.

Contents: Einführung; Gesellschaft; Besiedlung; Mensch, Natur und Umwelt; Kunst; Kult; Wirtschaft und Handel; Keltisches Geld; Nachbarvölker; Keltisches Tradition; Katalog der Ausstellung.

Glossar, p.369–71. Zeittafel, p.372. Verzeichnisse, p.373. Verzeichnis der abgekürzte zitierten Literatur, p.374–92. Quellenverzeichnis, p.393.

- I152 Kruta, Venceslas. The Celts of the West. Photographs by Werner Forman. Trans. by Alan Sheridan. London, Orbis, 1985. 128p. col. il. (Echoes of the ancient world)

Accessible introduction by an authority. Original language undetermined.

Contents: The Celts of the Western Seaboard enter history; Daily life and work; Society; The heroic ideal; Art; The gods; Epilogue.

Bibliography, p.124. Index, p.125–27.

- I153 Laing, Lloyd Robert, and Laing, Jennifer. Art of the Celts. London, Thames and Hudson, 1992. 216p. il. (part col.) (World of art)

Readable survey.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The beginnings of Celtic art; (3) La Tène art in Europe; (4) Art in Iron Age Britain and Ireland; (5) The renaissance of Celtic art, c.400–1200; (6) Celtic revivals.

Glossary, p.209–10. Select bibliography, p.211–12. Location of objects, p.212–13. Index, p.214–16.

- I154 Lessing, Erich. Les Celtes. Racontés en images par Erich Lessing. Textes écrits par Venceslas Kruta. Préf. Paul-Marie Duval. Pour le chapitre "Les Celtes danubies et l'expansion balkanique," Miklós Szabó. Fribourg, Hatier, 1982. 255p. il. (part col.)

Beautifully illustrated evocation of Celtic art and culture.

Quelques dates marquantes du passé celtique. Index des documents. Bibliographie (all unpaginated).

Contents: La redécouverte du passé celtique; Les Celtes, entre la préhistoire et l'histoire; De la forêt hercynienne aux Apennins; Les Celtes danubies et l'expansion balkanique; Les oppida des Iie et Ier siècles avant notre ère; Celtes païens des Iles britanniques; Les Génie celtique et civilisation européenne; Le monde d'images des Celtes.

- I155 Megaw, M. Ruth, and Megaw, Vincent. Celtic art: from its beginnings to the Book of Kells. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1989. 288p. il. (part col.), maps. "Our central theme is the prehistory of the Celts of the continent and basically, this book is as much archaeology as it is art history."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction; (1) The antecedents of Celtic Iron Age art; (2) The chieftainly art of the early La Tène Celts; (3) The arts of expansion; (4) The sword bearers: the Celts of the later third and second centuries BC; (5) Cities, centralization and coinage; (6) Insular pre-Roman Celtic art; Epilogue: into the Christian era.

Chronological table, p.[258]. Bibliography, p.259–76. Sources of illustrations, p.276–79. Index, p.280–88.

- I156 Musée des antiquités nationales. L'art celtique de la Gaule au Musée des antiquités nationales. Par Alain Duval. Paris, Ministère de la culture, de la communication, du Bicentenaire et des grands travaux; Ed. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1989. 135p. il. (part col.), maps (part col.) (Monographies des musées de France)

Contents: (1) Le premier style; (2) Les débuts du style végétal continu; (3) Du style végétal continu au style plastique; (4) Le style plastique; (5) Le style sévère; Conclusion.

Chronologie, p.14. Orientation bibliographique, p.133–35.

EARLY CHRISTIAN—BYZANTINE

- I157 Age of spirituality: a symposium. Ed. by Kurt Weitzmann. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art, published in assoc. with Princeton Univ. Pr., 1980. viii, 174p. il.

Proceedings of a symposium held in conjunction with the exhibition of the same title (see following entry).

Contents: Introduction, by Kurt Weitzmann; After Gibbon's decline and fall, by Arnaldo Momigliano; Art and society in Late Antiquity, by Peter R. L. Brown; Constantinople: the rise of a new capital in the East, by Hans-Georg Beck; The Imperial heritage of Early Christian Art, by Beat Brenk; A shadow outline of virtue: the classical heritage of Greek Christian literature (second to seventh century), by Ihor Ševčenko; The continuity of Classical art: culture, myth, and faith, by George M. A. Hanfmann; Christology: a central problem of Early Christian theology and art, by Massey H. Shepherd, Jr.; Success and failure in Late Antique church planning, by Richard Krautheimer; Christian imagery: growth and impact, by Ernst Kitzinger.

Notes at ends of chapters. Index, p.165–74.

- I158 Age of spirituality: late antique and early Christian art, third to seventh century. Ed. by Kurt Weitzmann.

N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art, published in assoc. with Princeton Univ. Pr., 1979. xxxi, 735p. il., plates.

Monumental catalog of the pioneering exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1977-78).

Contents: (I) The imperial realm; (II) The classical realm; (III) The secular realm; (IV) The Jewish realm; (V) The Christian realm. Appendix: Chronology.

Glossary, p.674-81. Bibliography, p.682-723. Index, p.724-35.

- I159 Art of the Christian world, A.D. 200-1500: a handbook of styles and forms. By Yves Christe . . . [et al.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1982. 504p. il., maps, plans.

Trans. of Le Monde chrétien. Paris, Bibliothèque des arts, 1982. British ed. has title: Art in the Christian world, 300-1500. A quick-reference handbook. Brief period introductions, followed by maps and line drawings of "carefully selected buildings and monuments, sculptures, and other objets d'art."—Pref.

Contents: Christian art from its origins to the beginning of the 11th century; Byzantine art from the 9th to the 15th century; Romanesque art and the origins of Gothic art; Gothic art.

Glossary, p.503-04.

- I160 Arte profana e arte sacra a Bisanzio. A cura di Antonio Iacobini, Enrico Zanini. Roma, Argos, 1995. 671p. il. (Milion, 3)

Papers presented to the international conference, "L'arte profana a Bisanzio," Rome (1990), now revised. Texts in Italian, English, French, or German.

Contents: Il Foro di Teodosio I a Costantinopoli, di Claudia Barsanti; Cisterne a Dara, di Italo Furlan; Il restauro giustiniano delle mura di Palmira, di Enrico Zanini; Il palazzo di Qasr ibn-Wardan dopo gli scavi e i restauri, di Fernanda de' Maffei; Les thèmes iconographiques profanes dans la peinture monumentale byzantine du VIe au XVe siècle, di Jacqueline Lafontaine-Dosogne; Profane art in Byzantium?, di John Lindsay Opie; Archäologie und Denkmalpflege im Bereich des "Grossen Palastes" von Konstantinopel, di Werner Jobst; Nuovi mosaici pavimentali nella regione di Hamā, di Abdurrazzaq Zaquq; Il mosaico pavimentale d'epoca umayyade della chiesa di S. Giorgio nel Deir al-Adas (Siria), di Raffaella Farioli Campanati; L'Ascensione di Alessandro in un pluteo del Museo di Mitra, di Patrizia Angiolini Martinelli; I musici dell'affresco detto degli "Skomorochi" nella cattedrale della Santa Sofia a Kiev, di I. F. Točkaja, A. M. Zajaruznyj; Per una lettura musicologica dell'affresco detto degli "Skoromochi" nella cattedrale della Santa Sofia di Kiev, di Francesco Luisi; Sacred and profane: the locus of the political in middle Byzantine art, di Anthony Cutler; La cartografia bizantina, le sue fonti classiche e il suo rapporto con le arti figurative, di Mauro della Valle; L'Epitalamio di Andronico II. Una cronaca di nozze dalla Costantinopoli paleologa, di Antonio Iacobini; Raffigurazioni di strumenti agricoli in un manoscritto di Esiodo nella Biblioteca Ariostea di Ferrara, di Andrea Paribeni; I disegni nei manoscritti delle Opere i giorni di Esiodo; problemi della tradizione iconografica e testuale, di Giovanna Derenzini; Quelque observation sur les fragments du tissu "aux lions passants" de Siegburg: une proposition de reconstruction, di Laura d'Adamo; Le vesti nel "De cerimoniis aulae Byzantinae" di Costantino VII Porfirogenito, di Guido Fauro; I due medaglioni di Adana nel Museo Archeologico di Istanbul, di Asnû Bilban Yalçın; Arte e artigianato artistico profano nel Corpus degli oggetti d'arte bizantina in Italia, di Mara Bonfioli; The Mandyliion at Monreale, di Ernst Kitzinger; Reimpiego di marmi bizantini a Torcello, di Alessandra Guiglia Guidobaldi; Il piatto d'argento con Nereide nella Galleria Sabauda di Torino, di Silvia Pasi; Pantaleone d'Amalfi e le porte bizantine in Italia meridionale, di Maria Vittoria Marini Clarelli; Il calamaio argenteo nel Tesoro del Duomo di Padova, di Giulia Grassi. Notes at ends of chapters.

- I161 Bank, A. V. (Alisa Vladimirovna). Byzantine art in the collections of Soviet museums. [Text and sel. by Alice Bank]. [Enl. ed.?] Leningrad, Aurora, 1985. 337, [1]p. chiefly il. (part col.)

Trans. of Vizantiiskoe iskusstvo v sobraniakh Sovetskogo Soiza. Izd. 3-e, dop.

Well-illustrated survey of the rich Byzantine collections in the former Soviet Union.

Notes on the plates, p.[269]-[328]. Abbreviations, p.330-[35]. Bibliography, p.336-[338].

- I162 Beckwith, John. Early Christian and Byzantine art. 2d (integrated) ed. N.Y., Penguin Books, 1979. 405p. il.

See GLAH 1:I149 for original ed.

"For the second edition it has proved necessary to make only one or two changes in the text, but the Notes and Bibliography have been extensively amplified."—Foreword [to the 2d ed.].

- I163 Byzance et les images. Sous la dir. d'André Guillou et de Jannic Durand. Paris, La Documentation française, 1994. 379p. il. (Louvre conférences et colloques)

Proceedings of the symposium, Musée du Louvre (1992), held on the occasion of the exhibition, Byzance, l'art byzantin dans les collections publiques françaises (see following entry).

Contents: Le monde des images à Byzance, par André Guillou; Images sculptées et propagande impériale du IVe au VIe siècle: recherches récentes sur le colonnes honorifiques et les reliefs politiques à Byzance, par Jean-Pierre Sodini; L'attitude byzantine à l'égard des antiquités gréco-romaines, par Cyril Mango; L'image de culte et le portrait, par Gilbert Dagron; The emancipation of the Crucifixion, par Anna Kartsonis; Les images byzantines et leurs degrés de signification: l'exemple de l'Hodigitria, par Gordana Babić; The Emperor at St. Sophia: viewer and viewed, par Robin Cormack; Close encounters: contact between holy figures and the faithful as represented in Byzantine works of art, par Nancy Patterson Ševčenko; Uses of luxury: on the functions of consumption and symbolic capital in Byzantine culture, par Anthony Cutler; L'iconoclasme, par Todor Sabev.

Notes at ends of chapters. Index, p.371–77.

- I164 Byzance, l'art byzantin dans les collections publiques françaises. [Coord. ed., Marie-Claude Bianchini.] Paris, Bibliothèque nationale; Ed. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1992. 528p. il. (part col.), facsim., geneal. tables, maps.

Monumental catalog of the exhibition, Musée du Louvre (1992), and other locations. See previous entry for the symposium held on this occasion.

As noted in the Introduction, French collections are especially rich in examples of the sumptuary arts of Byzantium: illuminated manuscripts, ivories, etc.

Contents: Introduction, par Jannic Durand; (1) Les origines: de Constantin à l'Iconoclisme; (2) L'Empire iconoclaste; (3) L'Empire des Macédoniens et des Comnènes; (4) L'empire latin et l'Empire de Paléologues.

Chronologie, p.502–07. Glossaire, p.508–09. Bibliographie des ouvrages cités, p.510–22. Expositions, p.523. Index, p.524–28.

- I165 Byzantine and Post-Byzantine art. [Ed. by Acheimastou-Potamianou . . . (et al.) Trans. by Timothy Cullen, Thetis Xanthaki.] Athens, Ministry of Culture, 1985. 265p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Old University, Athens, Greece (1985–86).

"The aim of the Exhibition of Byzantine and Post-Byzantine Art was to present works of art produced in the Byzantine period and after the fall of Constantinople . . . with special emphasis on those brought to light in the last twenty years."—Introd.

Contents: Sculpture—wood-carvings; Wall-paintings; Icons; Manuscripts; Goldsmith-work, silver, metalwork; Minor sculpture; Church embroideries; Ceramics; Coins.

Bibliography-abbreviations, p.252–62. Index of exhibits [i.e., index of exhibited objects], p.263. Iconographical index, p.264–65.

- I166 Effenberger, Arne. Frühchristliche Kunst und Kultur: von den Anfängen bis zum 7. Jahrhundert. München, Beck, 1986. 383p. il. (part col.), [2] folded p. of plates, maps, plans.

Survey of early Christian art and civilization aimed at a popular audience.

Contents: Die Anfänge der christlichen Kunst; Spätantike und frühchristliche Denkmäler des 3. Jahrhunderts; Die Kunst im 4. Jahrhundert; Die Kunst im 5. und 6. Jahrhunderte.

Literaturhinweise, p.332–51. Register, p.368–83.

- I167 The glory of Byzantium: art and culture of the Middle Byzantine era, A.D. 843–1261. Ed. by Helen C. Evans and William D. Wixom. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art (Distr. by Abrams, 1997). xxvii, 574p. il. (chiefly col.), map, plans.

Monumental catalog of the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1997). "The Glory of Byzantium" focuses on the four centuries that embrace the second great era of Byzantine culture (843–1261). . . . The exhibition and the accompanying catalogue explore four interrelated themes: the religious and secular cultures of the Byzantine Empire during its Second Golden Age; the empire's interactions with its Christian neighbors and rivals, its relations with the Islamic East, and its contact with the Latin West."—Pref.

Contents: Byzantine society and civilization, by Speros P. Vryonis, Jr.; Religious organization and church architecture, by Thomas F. Mathews; Manuscripts, by Jeffrey C. Anderson; Popular imagery, by Annemarie Weyl Carr; Images of the court, by Henry Maguire; Secular architecture, by Robert G. Ousterhout; Luxury objects, by Ioli Kalavrezou; Ceramic arts of everyday life, by Eunice Dauterman Maguire; Christian neighbors, by Helen C. Evans; Kievan Rus', by Olenka Z. Pevny; The Bulgarians, by Joseph D. Alcherms; The Georgians, by S. Peter Crowe; The Armenians, by Helen C. Evans; Christians in the Islamic east, by Thelma K. Thomas; Crusader art, by Jaroslav Folda; Byzantium and the Islamic east, by Priscilla Soucek; Byzantine art and the Latin west, by William D. Wixom.

Lenders to the exhibition, p.xxii–xxiv. Contributors to the catalogue, p.xxv–xxvii. Notes to the essays, p.510–21. Bibliography, p.522–59. Glossary, p.560–62. Index, p.563–74.

- I168 Gough, Michael. The origins of Christian art. N.Y., Praeger, [1973]. 216p. il. (part col.)

Introductory survey.

Contents: (1) Prologue: the classical world and its heritage; (2) Paganism baptized: Christian art before Constantine; (3) From Constantine to Justinian; (4) Justinian and after.

Bibliography, p.203–04. Index, p.212–16.

- I169 Innovation in der Spätantike: Kolloquium Basel 6. und 7. Mai 1994. Hrsg. von Beat Brenk. Wiesbaden, Reichert, 1996. 455p. il., plates (Spätantike, frühes Christentum, Byzanz. Reihe B, Studien und Perspektiven, Bd. 1)

Proceedings of a symposium devoted to innovation in late antique, early Christian and Byzantine art, architecture, and iconography.

Includes bibliographical references.

- I170 Kemp, Wolfgang. Christliche Kunst: ihre Anfänge, ihre Strukturen. München, Schirmer/Mosel, 1994. 307p. il. (part col.), 16p. of plates

Attempts to define the nature of Christian art through the interpretation of selected exemplars of early Christian art, mostly from the post-Constantinian period (5th–6th centuries).

Contents: Beziehungssinne; (1) "Multis modis"—"Auf vielerlei Weise"; (2) Bezugssysteme in Vergleich: Pagane und christliche Bildsummen; (3) Der "Grosse Code": Die Bibel und ihre frühchristliche Rezeption; (4) Die illustrierte Bibel als Geschichtsbuch und als visuelle Synthese; (5) "Argumentum Historiae": Die Mosaiken von Santa Maria Maggiore in Rom; (6) Chresis und Diakrisis: Über christliche Diptychen; (7) "Die Fuelle des Sinnes": die Bildertuer von Santa Sabina in Rom; Nachwort: "Spolia multa"—"Reiche Beute"; Nachbemerkung.

Anmerkungen, p.288–306.

- I171 Kitzinger, Ernst. Byzantine art in the making: main lines of stylistic development in Mediterranean art, 3rd-7th century. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Pr., 1977. xii, 175p. il. (part col.), plates.

A classic volume, based upon the author's lectures as Slade Professor of Fine Art at the University of Cambridge, 1974. "The book is concerned with art in the Mediterranean world from the third through the seventh century. . . . It will extend only to the pictorial arts and will not include architecture. It will be my purpose to trace, on the basis of a representative series of monuments, the main lines in the evolution of artistic forms."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; (1) Ancient art in crisis; (2) Regeneration; (3) Fifth-century conflicts—1; (4) Fifth-century conflicts—2; (5) The Justinian synthesis; (6) Polarization and another synthesis—1; (7) Polarization and another synthesis—2; Epilogue.

Notes, p.129–53. Index of modern authors cited, p.167–69. General index, p.171–75.

- I172 Koch, Guntram. Early Christian art and architecture: an introduction. London, SCM Pr., 1996. vii, 184p. il., 32 pages of plates.

"The present volume is an 'introduction' to the architecture and art of the early Christian period, not a 'history of early Christian art'."—Postscript.

Contents: (I) General; (II) Architecture; (III) Burials; (IV) Paintings and mosaics; (V) Sculptures; (VI) Small-scale forms of art; (VII) Museums and collections with Early Christian Art; (VIII) Bibliographies on individual chapters; (XI) Abbreviations; (X) Postscript.

Bibliographies on individual chapters, p.[160]–75. Abbreviations, p.[176]–77. Index, p. [180]–84.

- I173 Maguire, Henry. Art and eloquence in Byzantium. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1981. xxii, 148p. il. plates.

"The essential premise of this book is . . . that the sermons and hymns of the Byzantine church influenced the ways in which Byzantine artists illustrated narrative texts."—Introd. A thoughtful exploration.

Contents: (I) Rhetoric in the Byzantine church; (II) Description; (III) Antithesis; (IV) Hyperbole; (V) Lament; Conclusion.

Notes, p.[113]–41. Index, p.[143]–48.

- I174 Mathews, Thomas F. The clash of gods: a reinterpretation of early Christian art. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1993. x, 223p. il. (part col.)

"This is a study of that critical period of art when a new Christian pantheon replaced the Greco-Roman panoply of pagan gods."—Ackn. A radical reinterpretation of early Christian imagery, polemicizing against traditional attempts to interpret the imagery of early Christian art as an adaptation of imperial Roman imagery.

Contents: (1) The mistake of the emperor mystique; (2) The chariot and the donkey; (3) The magician; (4) Larger-than-life; (5) Christ chameleon; (6) Convergence; Epilogue.

List of abbreviations, p.181. Notes, p.183–203. List of figures, p.205–11. Index, p.213–23.

- I175 Milburn, R. L. P. Early Christian art and architecture. Aldershot, England, Scolar Press, 1988. xviii, 318p. il., facsim., maps, plans.

"The purpose of this book is to survey the several elements of [the] Christian heritage from its early beginnings to the middle of the sixth century."—Foreword. Wide-ranging survey.

Contents: (1) Signs and symbols; (2) House-churches; (3) The catacombs I; (4) The catacombs II; (5) Stone carving; (6) Church buildings; (7) Church buildings in Asia; (8) Egypt: Nubia and Ethiopia: the churches of North Africa; (9) Greece and the Balkans; Spain; (10) Ravenna; (11) The foundations of Justinian; (12) Fonts and baptisteries; (13) Mosaic; (14) Carved ivories; (15) Arts and crafts; (16) Coins and gems; (17) Textiles; (18) Writings and illustrated books; Epilogue.

Bibliography, p.[306]–12. Index, p.[313]–18.

- I176 Naissance des arts chrétiens: atlas de monuments paléochrétiens de la France. [Comité de red. Noël Duval . . . et al.] Paris, Imprimerie nationale, 1991. 434p. il. (chiefly col.), plans, ports.

Monumental atlas of Early Christian art in France. Texts by leading authorities.

Contents: Le premiers siècles du christianisme en Gaule; Sources écrites et numismatiques; Édifices de culte, décor architectural et mobilier liturgique; Sarcophages sculptés, mobilier funéraire et arts mineurs; Histoire de l'archéologie chrétienne.

Bibliographies at end of chapters. Références bibliographiques, p.369–86. Glossaire, p.387–404. Index nominum, p.405–20. Index topographique, p.421–34.

- I177 Les premiers monuments chrétiens de la France. Sous la dir. scientifique de Noël Duval. Introd. de Jean Guyon. Paris, Picard; Ministère de la culture et de la francophonie, Direction du patrimoine, Sous-direction de l'archéologie, 1995– . (3)v. il., maps, plans. (Atlas archéologiques de la France)

Archeological atlas of Early Christian monuments in France.

Contents: (1) Sud-Est et Corse; (2) Sud-Ouest et Centre; (3) Ouest, Nord et Est.

Includes bibliographical references.

- I178 Rodley, Lyn. Byzantine art and architecture: an introduction. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1994. xiv, 380p. il., maps, plans.

"This book is directed towards university students of either art history or Byzantine studies, and others whose interest in Byzantine art and architecture demands more than a popular treatment. . . . My object, then, has been to offer a brief survey of selected examples of Byzantine art and architecture, discussion of the particular difficulties presented by some of this material, and assessment of the issues, controversies and approaches it has generated. I hope thus to equip the student with a critical framework with which to approach the more specialized scholarly literature."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction; (1) The early Christian period; (2) The sixth century; (3) The dark ages and iconoclasm; (4) The Macedonian dynasty; (5) The Comnene dynasty;

(6) The Latin occupation of Constantinople; (7) Palaiologan period; (8) Approaches to the study of Byzantine art and architecture; Appendices: (1) Armenian art and architecture; (2) The Copts; (3) Byzantine ceramics; (4) Byzantine coins and seals; (5) Byzantine emperors.

List of abbreviations, p.[xi]. Glossary, p.[355]–60. Select bibliography, p.[361]–63. Sources of plans, p.[364]–67. Index, p.[370]–80.

I179 Schug-Wille, Christa. Art of the Byzantine world. Text by Christa Schug-Wille. [Trans. from the German by E. M. Hatt.] N.Y., Abrams, [1969.] 263p. il. (part. col.), map. (Panorama of world art)

Trans. of Byzanz und seine Welt. Baden-Baden, Holle, 1969. French and Italian eds., 1970.

Solid survey.

Contents: Art of the Early Christian Church; Constantine and Theodosius; Justinian and Ravenna; Justinian and Byzantium; The Macedonian Renaissance and Byzantine Classicism; The spread of Byzantine art in the west; Late Byzantine art; The spread of Byzantine art in the east: Serbia, Macedonia, and Romania; Russian art.

Chronological tables, p.253–55. Bibliography, p.257–59. Index, p.260–62.

I180 Spätantike und frühes Christentum. [Hrsg. des Katalogs und Ausstellungsleitung: H. Beck und P.C. Bol im Auftrag des Dezernats Kultur und Freizeit der Stadt Frankfurt am Main]. Frankfurt am Main, Liebieghaus Museum Alter Plastik, 1983. xiii, 698p. il. Monumental catalog of the exhibition, Liebieghaus (1983). A major exhibition catalog devoted to the evolution of late antique and early Christian art, with special attention to the historical, philosophical, and religious background.

Contents: Vorwort; (I) Die Christen und der Stadt; (II) Die Religionen im Römischen Reich; (III) THEIOS ANER [GK]; (IV) Die Christen und die Kunst; Katalog.

Leihgeber, p.xi–xiii.

I181 Weitzmann, Kurt, and Kessler, Herbert L. The frescoes of the Dura synagogue and Christian art. Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks Research Library and Collection, 1990. xiv, 202p. il., plates.

Important study of the parallels between the 3d-century fresco panels at the Dura Europas synagogue and early Christian art.

Contents: Part I, by Kurt Weitzmann, devoted to the individual panels and their Christian parallels; Part II, by Herbert L. Kessler, devoted to the program and structure of the frescoes.

Includes bibliographical references. Selected bibliography, p.185–95. Index, p.197–202.

I182 Wharton, Annabel Jane. Art of empire: painting and architecture of the Byzantine periphery: a comparative study of four provinces. University Park, Pennsylvania State Univ. Pr., 1988. 198p. il.

"In this study I hope to show how a context in the hinterlands of the Empire affected the making of all provincial buildings—great and small. Local traditions and distinct patterns of patronage made their marks on even the most cosmopolitan structures. At the same time, I argue that the relative receptivity of the provinces to metropolitan artistic conventions indicates the ideological power of those conventions."—Chapter I.

Notes, p.[165]–87. Index of names, p.[190]–95. Iconographic index, p.[197]–98.

ISLAMIC

I183 Atil, Esin. The age of Sultan Süleyman the Magnificent. Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art; N.Y., Abrams, 1987. 356p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, National Gallery of Art (1987), and other locations. Authoritative survey of the efflorescence of Ottoman art under the patronage of the great sultan (1520–1566). See also the catalogs of the British Museum and Grand Palais exhibitions (GLAH 2:I204, GLAH 2:I206).

List of objects, p.305–23. Concordance, p.325–26. Shortened references, p.327–37. Select bibliography, p.339–45. Glossary, p.347–50. Index, p.351–56.

I184 Blair, Sheila, and Bloom, Jonathan M. The art and architecture of Islam 1250–1800. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1994. xiii, 348p. il., maps (part col.) (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

A sequel to Ettinghausen and Grabar's volume in the same series on Islamic art and architecture 650–1250 (GLAH 2:I191). "This book surveys the art and architecture of the traditional Islamic lands between the Atlantic and Indian oceans and the Eurasian steppe and the Sahara in the period from the Mongol conquests in the early thirteenth century to the European conquests of the early nineteenth."—Introd.

Contents: Part I: 1250–1500; (1) Introduction; (2) Architecture in Iran and Central Asia under the Ilkhanids and their successors; (3) The arts in Iran and Central Asia under the Ilkhanids and their successors; (4) Architecture in Iran and Central Asia under the Timurids and their contemporaries; (5) The arts in Iran and Central Asia under the Timurids and their contemporaries; (6) Architecture in Egypt under the Bahri Mamluks (1260–1389); (7) Architecture in Egypt, Syria, and Arabia under the Circassian Mamluks (1389–1517); (8) The arts in Egypt and Syria under the Mamluks; (9) Architecture and the arts in the Maghrib under the Hafids, Marinids, and Nasrids; (10) Architecture and the arts in Anatolia under the Beyliks and Early Ottomans; (11) Architecture and the arts in India under the Sultanates. Part II: 1500–1800; (12) The arts in Iran under the Safavids and Zands; (13) Architecture in Iran under the Safavids and Zands; (14) Architecture and the arts in Central Asia under the Uzbeks; (15) Architecture under the Ottomans after the conquest of Constantinople; (16) The arts under the Ottomans after the conquest of Constantinople; (17) Architecture and the arts in Egypt and North Africa; (18) Architecture in India under the Mughals and their contemporaries in the Deccan; (19) The arts in India under the Mughals and their contemporaries in the Deccan; (20) The legacies of later Islamic art.

Notes, p.[315]–32. Bibliography, p.[333]–39. Glossary, p.[340]. Index, p.[341]–48.

I185 Brend, Barbara. Islamic art. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Pr., 1991. 240p. il.

Introductory survey.

Contents: Introduction; (1) The legacy of empires: Syria, Iraq and Iran under the caliphs; (2) Lands of the west: Egypt, North Africa and Spain; (3) Renewal from the east: the Seljuks enter Iran and Anatolia; (4) The rule of lords and slaves: Zangids, Ayyubids and Mamluks; (5) The last eastern invaders: the Mongol and Timurid empires; (6) Fervour, opulence and decline: Iran under the Safavids and Qajars; (7) East and west of the Bosphorus: the Ottoman Empire; (8) Emperors in Hindustan: Sultanate and Mughal India; Conclusion.

Select bibliography, p.233–34. Glossary, p.235–37. Index, p.238.

I186 Brentjes, Burchard. Mittelasiens, Kunst des Islam. Unter Mitarb. von Karin Rührdanz. 2. Aufl. Leipzig, Seemann, 1982. 399p. il. (part col.), maps.

Study of Islamic art in Central Asia.

Contents: Islam und Kunst; Die mittelalterliche Architektur in Mittelasiens; Die bildende Kunst Mittelasiens; Die angewandten und dekorativen Künste Mittelasiens in Tradition und Gegenwart.

Anmerkungen, p.363–70. Begriffserklärungen, p.371–72. Wichtige Dynastien Mittelasiens, p.373–75. Zeittafel, p.[376–78]. Literaturhinweise, p.381–86. Register, p.393–400].

I187 Derman, M. Ugur. Letters in gold: Ottoman calligraphy from the Sakip Sabanci collection, Istanbul. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art (Distr. by Abrams, 1998). xii, 196p. col. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York (1998), and other locations. Includes "seventy one rare and beautiful calligraphies and illuminated manuscripts from the magnificent collection assembled by the prominent Turkish businessman and philanthropist Sakip Sabanci. . . . Almost every major Ottoman calligrapher working in the fifteenth to the early twentieth century is represented."—Dir. Foreword.

Note to the reader, p.xi. The genealogy of Ottoman calligraphers, p.186. The six scripts, p.187–88. Glossary, p.189–91. Selected bibliography, p.192–93. Index, p.194–96.

I188 Dreaming of paradise: Islamic art from the collection of the Museum of Ethnology, Rotterdam. [Rotterdam?], Martial & Snoeck, [1993]. 221p. il. (part col.), maps.

Beautifully illustrated catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Ethnology, Rotterdam (1993–96).

Includes bibliographical references. Bibliography, p.201–05. Spelling, dates and translations, p.211. Chronological chart of Islam, p.[214–15]. MESA transcription system, p.216–17.

I189 Enderlein, Volkmar. Islamische Kunst. Dresden, VEB Verlag der Kunst, 1990. 324p. il. (part col.), plans

Textbook survey.

Contents: Einführung; Die Kunst im Zeitalter des arabischen Kalifats; Die Kunst der Seldschukenzeit; Die Kunst der Mongolenzeit; Die Kunst in den islamischen Grossreichen des Osmanen, der Safawiden und der Moghuln; Die Auflösung der islamischen Kunst im Zeitalter des Kolonialismus und das Entstehen nationaler Kunstausserungen im 20. Jahrhunderts; Anhang.

Fachwörterverzeichnis, p.262–[65]. Zeittafeln, p.266–[79]. Bibliographie zur islamischen Kunst, bearb. von Regina Hickmann, p.[280]–319. Register, p.321–[25].

I190 Eredità dell'Islam: arte islamica in Italia. A cura di Giovanni Curatola. [Testi di Bianca Maria Alfieri . . . et al.] [Italy], Silvana, 1993. 518p. col. il., map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Palazzo Ducale, Venice (1993–94). A scholarly survey with illustrated catalog entries incorporated alongside the text. Each chapter by an authority.

Bibliographical references at end of chapters. Bibliografia, p.499–518. Cronologia, p.518.

I191 Ettinghausen, Richard, and Grabar, Oleg. The art and architecture of Islam, 650–1250. [Reprint.] New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1994. 448p. il. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

Reprint of 1987 ed.; previous reprints, 1989, 1991.

The standard treatment by two great authorities. Complemented by Blair and Bloom's vol. in the same series (GLAH 2:I184).

Contents: Part one: The Caliphate; (1) The rise of Islam and the artistic climate of the period; (2) The Umayyads and their art: 650–750; (3) The Abassid tradition: 750–950. Part two: The breakdown of the Caliphate; (4) The Muslim west: 750–1260; (5) The Fatimids in North Africa and Egypt: 910–1171; (6) Iran and Central Asia. Part Three: The Eleventh to Thirteenth Centuries; (7) Architecture; (8) The decorative arts.

List of the principal abbreviations, p.[385]. Notes, p.[387]–414. Bibliography, p.[415]–28. Index, p.439–48.

I192 ———. Islamic art and archaeology: collected papers. Prepared and ed. by Myriam Rosen-Ayalon. With an introd. by Oleg Grabar. Berlin, Mann, 1984. 1320p. il.

58 papers of the great scholar, with an introductory appreciation.

Contents: (A) On the nature of Islamic art; (B) Islamic themes in Islamic art; (C) The interpretation of key pieces; (D) In search of lost meaning or function; (E) Regional aspects of Islamic art; (F) Interactions between Islamic art and that of other arts; (G) The Islamic world as seen by outsiders; (H) The study of Islamic art; (I) Published posthumously.

Sources of Richard Ettinghausen's papers reprinted in this volume, p.1319–20.

I193 Die Gärten des Islam. Hrsg.: Hermann Forkl, Johannes Kalter, Thomas Leisten . . . [et al.] Stuttgart,

- Hansjörg Mayer, in Zusammenarb. mit dem Linden-Museum Stuttgart, 1993. 388p. il. (part col.)
 Catalog of the exhibition, Linden-Museum, Stuttgart (1993). Attempts to exemplify the multifaceted character of Islamic art and culture from Sub-Saharan Africa to Pakistan, Central and Southeast Asia, employing as a central theme the "Islamic garden."
 Literaturverzeichnis, p.382–87.
- I194 Grabar, Oleg. The formation of Islamic art. Rev. and enl. ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1987. xix, 232p. il.
 See GLAH 1:I176 for original ed.
 "Revising the book . . . was not merely a question of updating its information and bibliography . . . ; I also wished to review, modify, and perhaps expand certain conclusions and especially some of the explicit or implicit hypotheses that guided the earlier work."—Postscriptum: twelve years later (p.203). The author's revisions to this standard introduction focus upon "history and chronology," "theory and interpretation," and the "contemporary significance" of Islamic art.
 List of illustrations, p.ix–xiv. Appendix: chronology of the early Muslim world, p.215. Bibliography, p.217–26. Index, p.227–32.
- I195 Hillenbrand, Robert. Islamic art and architecture. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1999. 288p. il. (part col.) (World of art)
 Readable, chronological survey by an authority.
 Select bibliography, p.281–82. Glossary, p.283–84. Index, p.285–88.
- I196 L'Islam dans les collections nationales. Paris, Éditions des Musées nationaux, 1977. 301p. il. (part col.)
 Catalog of the exhibition, Grand Palais, Paris (1977). Includes more than 700 objects from French collections.
 Bibliographie, p.297–301.
- I197 Islamic art: common principles, forms and themes. Ed. by Ahmed Mohammed Issa, Tahsin Ömer Ta-haoglu. Damascus, Dar Al-Fikr, 1989. 289, 165p. il. (part col.), plans.
 Proceedings of the International Symposium held in Istanbul (1983). Wide-ranging collection of papers, many by leading authorities. Text in English, with some contributions in French and Arabic.
 Includes bibliographical references.
- I198 Lentz, Thomas W., and Lowry, Glenn D. Timur and the princely vision: Persian art and culture in the fifteenth century. Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Museum of Art, 1989. 395p. il. (part col.)
 Catalog of the exhibition, the Museum (1989), and other locations. "A first step toward understanding the relationship between Timurid art and its political and historical context."—Introd. See also the anthology of related texts published as: A Century of princes: sources on Timurid history and art. Sel. and trans. by W. M. Thackston. Cambridge, Mass., The Aga Khan Program for Islamic Architecture, 1989.
 Contents: Introduction; (I) Timur and the image of power; (II) Shahrukh and the princely network; (III) The Kitabhkhana and the dissemination of the Timurid vision; (IV) Sultan-Husayn and the restructuring of the Timurid facade; (V) The Timurid resonance; Catalogue; Appendices.
 Glossary, p.380–81. Bibliography, p.382–86. Index, p.387–92. Lenders to the exhibition, p.394–95.
- I199 The Nasser D. Khalili Collection of Islamic Art. General ed., Julian Raby. N.Y., Nour Foundation in assoc. with Azimuth Eds. and Oxford Univ. Pr., 1992– . (27)v. il. (chiefly col.)
 Magnificent scholarly catalog of the great private collection of Islamic art in all media.
 Selective contents: (1) Déroche, Françoise. The Abbasid tradition (1992); (2) James, David. The master scribes (1992); (3) James, David. After Timur: Qur'ans of the 15th and 16th centuries (1992); (4, part 1) Bayani, Manijeh; Contadini, Anna; and Stanley, Tim. The decorated word: Qur'ans of the 17th to 19th centuries (1999); (5) Safwat, Nabil F. The art of the pen (1996); (6) Khan, Geoffrey. Bills, letters and deeds: Arabic papyri of the 7th to 11th centuries (1993); (8) Leach, Linda York. Paintings from India (1998); (9) Grube, Ernst J. Cobalt and lustre (1994); (12) Science, tools & magic (2v., 1997); (16) Wenzel, Marian. Ornament and amulet: rings of the Islamic lands (1993); (21) Alexander, David. The arts of war: arms and armour of the 7th to 19th centuries (1992); (22) Lacquer of the Islamic lands (2v., 1996–97); (23) Venoit, Stephen. Occidentalism, Islamic art in the 19th century (1997); (27) Blair, Sheila S. A compendium of chronicles: Rashid al-Din's illustrated history of the world (1995).
- I200 New York. Metropolitan Museum of Art. Islamic art in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Ed. by Richard Ettinghausen. [N.Y.], Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1972. vii, 334p. il.
 Published in conjunction with the Museum's centennial (1970–71). Scholarly catalog of the collection, organized by medium, with each section written by a specialist.
 Contents: Painting; Pottery; Metal; Wood; Stone; Carpets; Combined media; Islam in Europe.
 Bibliographical references at ends of sections.
- I201 Papadopoulo, Alexandre. Islam and Muslim art. Trans. from the French by Robert Erich Wolf. N.Y., Abrams, 1976. 631p. il. (part col.)
 Trans. of Islam et l'art musulman. Paris, Mazenod, 1976 (L'art et les grandes civilisations, 6). Magnificent survey of Islamic and Muslim art.
 Contents: Part one: Islam and Muslim civilization; Part two: The Muslim arts; Part three: Architecture; Part four: The image as document [documentary photographs]; Part five: The principal sites of Muslim art; Part six: Prayer halls and other interiors; Part seven: a lexicon [of historical characters].
 Glossary, p.608–11. Notes to the text, p.612–14. Bibliography, p.615–19. Index, p.620–31.
- I202 Rogers, J. M. Empire of the Sultans: Ottoman art from the collection of Nasser D. Khalili. [Catalogue written by J. M. Rogers, devised and arranged by Julian Raby.] Geneva, Musée d'art et d'histoire; [London], Nour Foundation in assoc. with Azimuth Editions, 1995. 285p. col. il., map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Musée Rath, Geneva (1995). Beautifully illustrated scholarly catalog of nearly 200 of the 20,000 objects in the prestigious Khalili collection. See also the multi-vol. catalog of the Khalili collection in course of publication (GLAH 2:I199).

Concordance by catalogue number, p.276. Concordance by accession number, p.277. Bibliography, p.278–85.

- I203 ———. Islamic art & design, 1500–1700. London, Published for the Trustees of the British Museum by British Museum Publications, 1983. 167p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, British Museum, London (1983). More than 200 examples of Islamic painting, manuscript illumination, calligraphy, paper-cuts, textiles, pottery, metalwork, and jewelry.

Ottoman, Safavid and Mughal rulers, p.159. Glossary, p.160–61. Bibliography of works cited, p.162–67.

- I204 ———, and Ward, R. M. Süleyman the Magnificent. London, British Museum, 1988. xiv, 225p. il. (part col.), maps, ports. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, British Museum, London (1988), and other locations. Includes more than 160 objects from the British Museum collection and the Turkish national collections documenting the efflorescence of Ottoman art under the patronage of the great sultan (1520–1566). See also the catalogs of the Grand Palais and National Gallery of Art (U.S.) (GLAH 2:I206, GLAH 2:I183) exhibitions.

Note on transliteration, p.xiii. Abbreviations, p.xiii. Chronology, p.xiv. Glossary, p.216–18. Bibliography, p.219–24. Concordance, p.225.

- I205 Schimmel, Annemarie. Calligraphy and Islamic culture. N.Y., New York Univ. Pr., 1984. xiv, 264p., il., plates (part col.)

Based upon the author's Kevorkian lectures, New York University (1981–82). Treats the position and training of the Islamic calligrapher, and the religious significance of calligraphy in Muslim culture.

Contents: (I) Styles of calligraphy; (II) Calligraphers, derivatives, and kings; (III) Calligraphy and mysticism; (IV) Calligraphy and poetry; Appendixes.

The Arabic alphabet, p.xiii–xiv. Abbreviations in notes and bibliography, p.159–60. Notes, p.161–207. Bibliography, p.209–31. Index of proper names, p.233–50. Index of technical terms, p.251–59. Index of Koran and prophetic traditions, p.260–61. Index of book titles, p.262–64.

- I206 Soliman le Magnifique. Paris, Ministère des affaires étrangères; Secrétariat d'Etat aux relations culturelles internationales; Association française d'action artistique, 1990. 388p. il. (chiefly col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Grand Palais, Paris (1990) devoted to the efflorescence of Ottoman art under the patronage of the great sultan (1520–1566). See also the catalogs of the British Museum and National Gallery of Art (U.S.) exhibitions (GLAH 2:I204, GLAH 2:I183). Accompanied by a scholarly conference, with the proceedings published as Soliman le Magnifique et son temps. Ed. by Gilles Veinstein. Paris, Documentation française, 1992.

Glossaire, p.317. Bibliographie, p.318–25. Index, p.327–38.

- I207 Treasures of Islam. [Ed. by Toby Falk]. London, Sotheby's; Philip Wilson, 1985. 400p. col. il.

Catalog of the important exhibition, Musée Rath, Geneva (1985).

Contents: Introduction, by Oleg Grabar; The aesthetics of Islam, by A. S. Melikian-Chirvani; Private collectors and Islamic arts of the book, by Stuart Cary Welch; The arts of the book; The Arab lands; Iran, Afghanistan and Central Asia; Turkey; India, by Anthony Welch; Lacquer, oil-paintings and later arts of the book, by B. W. Robinson; Ceramics, by Oliver Watson; Metalwork, by James W. Allan; Arms and armour, by David Alexander and Howard Ricketts; Carpets and textiles, by Donald King; Architectural ornament and decorative arts, by Marilyn Jenkins; The art of Islamic coinage, by Michael L. Bates and Robert E. Darley-Doran.

Additional exhibits, p.396. Bibliography, p.396–97. Index, p.398–400.

- I208 Welch, Anthony. Calligraphy in the arts of the Muslim world. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., published in coop. with The Asia Society, 1979. 216p. il.

Catalog of the loan exhibition, Asia House Gallery, N.Y. (1979), and other locations. Includes more than 90 objects.

The Arabic alphabet, p.212. Bibliography, p.213–16.

CAROLINGIAN—GOTHIC

- I209 L'art du Moyen Age: Occident, Byzance, Islam. Sous la dir. de Jean-Pierre Caillet. Paris, Gallimard; Réunion des musées nationaux, 1995. 589p. il. (part col.), col. maps (Collection manuels d'histoire de l'art)

Contents: Occident, par Jean-Pierre Caillet et Fabienne Joubert. (I) Le premier essor de l'art chrétien; (II) Permanences, acculturations et résistances dans l'Europe barbare; (III) La "renaissance carolingienne"; (IV) Mutations autour de l'an mil; (V) L'établissement de l'ordre roman; (VI) L'humanisme gothique; (VII) L'Italie, ou les fondements d'un autre humanisme; (VIII) Vers un art "international"?; (IX) Les derniers feux du Moyen Age occidental: Byzance, par Catherine Jolivet-Lévy. (I) "Siècles obscurs" et iconoclasme: rupture ou continuité?; (II) L'apogée: l'art byzantin sous les Macédoniens et les Comnènes; (III) La domination latine (1204–1261); (IV) La Renaissance des Paléologues, ultime floraison artistique (1261–1453); (V) L'héritage de Byzance: l'art post-byzantin. Islam, par Marianne Barrucand. (I) Le premier art islamique: le Proche-Orient umayyade (660–750); (II) L'art classique abbasside et ses prolongements provinciaux; (III) Turcs et Mongols; (IV) Le

Proche-Orient des Fatimides aux Mamelouks; (V) Al-Andalus et les empires maghrébins; (VI) L'art de l'Islam post-médiéval.

Cartographie, p.544–57. Glossaire, p.560–66. Bibliographie, p.567–72. Index, p.573–89.

I210 Barral i Altet, Xavier. Artistes, artisans et production artistique au Moyen Age. Organisé et éd. par Xavier Barral i Altet. Paris, Picard, 1986–1990. 3v. il., maps, plans.

Proceedings of an important international colloquium on medieval art production, devoted to the definition of the artist and the artisan and their place in society, professional structures, and the role of collaboration and specialization (Rennes, 1983). Texts in French, English, and Spanish.

Contents: (1) Les hommes; (2) Commande et travail; (3) Fabrication et consommation de l'œuvre.

I211 Belting, Hans. Likeness and presence: a history of the image before the era of art. Trans. by Edmund Jephcott. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1994. xxiv, 651p. il. (part col.), plates.

Trans. of Bild und Kult—eine Geschichte des Bildes vor dem Zeitalter der Kunst. München, Beck, 1990.

An important, wide-ranging exploration of the meaning of "holy images" in medieval art and culture. "My book does not 'explain' images nor does it pretend that images explain themselves. Rather, it is based on the conviction that they reveal their meaning best by their use. I therefore deal with people and with their beliefs, superstitions, hopes, and fears in handling images."—Foreword.

Appendix: texts on the history and use of images and relics, p.491–556. Notes, p.557–603. Bibliography, p.605–15. Index of persons and places, p.617–32. Index of subjects, p.633–50.

I212 Calkins, Robert G. Monuments of medieval art. N.Y., Dutton, 1979. xx, 299p. il. (part col.), plates.

A study of "representative examples of major art forms."—Pref. "The following topical discussions are intended to serve as an introduction to the art and architecture of the Middle Ages. Although they are arranged more or less chronologically . . . they are not intended to present a complete survey of medieval art."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction; (I) The early Christian period; (II) The Byzantine era; (III) The period of the barbarian invasions; (IV) The Carolingian and Ottonian empires; (V) The Romanesque period; (VI) The Gothic period; (VII) The medieval illuminated manuscript; (VIII) The secular realm.

Selected bibliography, p.[273]–80. Index, p.[281]–99.

I213 Camille, Michael. The Gothic idol: ideology and image-making in medieval art. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1989. xxxii, 407p. il.

An important study of idolatry in medieval art, which "charts the complex interdependence of scriptural and visual traditions . . . [and] also attempts to uncover realms of intervisual and not just intertextual meanings, where images do not just 'reflect' texts innocently but often subvert or alter their meaning."—Pref.

Contents: Part one: The Gothic anti-image; (1) Idols and originals; (2) Idols of the pagans; (3) Idols of the Saracens; (4) Idols of the Jews; Part two: Gothic idols; (5) Idols in the Church; (6) Idols in society; (7) Idols in the mind; Epilogue: Idols as art.

Notes, p.353–98. Index, p.399–407.

I214 Duby, Georges. The age of the cathedrals: art and society, 980–1420. Trans. by Eleanor Leveux and Barbara Thompson. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1981. v, 312p. il., plates.

Trans. of Temps des cathédrales. Paris, Gallimard, 1976. Originally published in 3 vols., Geneva, Skira, 1966–67; German ed. Frankfurt am Main, Suhrkamp, 1980; Hungarian ed. Budapest, Gondolat, 1984.

A suggestive essay on medieval art by a distinguished French medievalist. Attempts to trace in broad strokes the impact of deep societal changes (e.g., the rise of feudalism) on the art of the middle ages.

Contents: Part one: The monastery, 980–1130; Part two: The cathedrals, 1130–1280; Part three: The palace, 1280–1420; Illustrations.

Index, p.307–12.

I215 ———. Medieval art. Switzerland, Brooking International, 1995. 3v. il. (part col.)

First published Geneva, Skira, 1966–67. Repr. in one vol. as History of medieval art, 980–1440. New ed. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1986.

Contents: Making of the Christian west; Europe of the cathedrals; Foundations of a new humanism.

I216 Erlande-Brandenburg, Alain. Gothic art. Trans. from the French by I. Mark Paris. N.Y., Abrams, 1989. 630p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of L'art gothique. Paris, Mazenod, 1983 (L'art et les grandes civilisations, 13). Monumental survey by an authority.

Contents: Part one: The evolution of Gothic art; (I) The Gothic vision; (II) The context of creation; (III) The birth of a style; (IV) The Gothic explosion; (V) The Gothic of invention; (VI) The Gothic of princes and burghers. Part two: The image as document; Color plates; Documentary photographs; Identification of the photographs. Part three: The great monuments of Gothic architecture; Early Gothic art: the birth of a style; High Gothic in Europe; Rayonnant art: the Gothic of invention; Flamboyant art: the Gothic of princes and burghers; Military, domestic, and civil architecture; Rib vaulting: techniques and achievements. Part four: Lexicon; Biographical notes.

Glossary, p.615–6. Bibliography, p.617–21. Index, p.622–30.

I217 Europäische Kunst um 1300. Leitung der Sektion, Gerhard Schmidt. Red., Elisabeth Liskar. Wien, Böhlau, 1986. 409p. il. (International Congress of the History of Art, 25th: 1983: Vienna, Austria. Akten des XXV. Internationalen Kongresses für Kunstgeschichte, Bd. 6)

Selected papers presented at the 25th International Congress of the History of Art, Vienna (1983). Texts in English, French, German, and Italian.

Includes bibliographical references.

- I218 Les Fastes du Gothique: le siècle de Charles V. Paris, Éd. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1981. 461p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the important exhibition, Grand Palais, Paris (1981–1982). Encyclopedic overview of Gothic art in France.

Répertoire des artistes, p.429–35. Liste des ouvrages cités en abrégé, p.436–37. Bibliographie, p.438–47. Expositions, p.448–49. Table des manuscrits exposés, p.450–51. Index, p.452–56.

- I219 Folda, Jaroslav. The art of the crusaders in the Holy Land, 1098–1187. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1995. xxx, 672p. il. (part col.), plates.

A monumental "attempt to discuss what we know about the art of the Crusades in the Holy land, using art historical method to its fullest potential for synthetic interpretive study," addressing the fact that no previous study "attempts to present [Crusader art] as a coherent chapter in the history of medieval art with adequate photographic documentation."—Introd.

Notes, p.481–603. Gazetteer, p.605–11. Bibliography, p.613–37. General index, p.639–59. Personal proper names index, p.660–70. Index of manuscript repositories, p.671–72.

- I220 Formes de la nuit. Saint-Léger-Vauban, Zodiaque, 1981–. (12)v. il. (part col.)

Notable series of monographs on medieval art.

Contents: (1) Brozzi, Mario. Les Lombards (1981); (2) Crespi, Gabriele. L'Europe musulmane (1982); (3) Newman, John Henry. L'Europe des monastères (2d ed., 1988); (4) Lévis-Godechot, Nicole. Chartres: révélée par sa sculpture et ses vitraux (1987); (5–6) Oursel, Raymond. France romane (2v., 1989–91); (7) Cirkovic, Sima M. La Serbie au Moyen Age (1992); (8) Durliat, Marcel. L'Espagne romane (1993); (9) Kinder, Terryl Nancy. L'Europe Cistercienne (1997); (9 [sic]) Velmans, Tania, and Novello, Adriano Al-pago. Miroir de l'invisible: peintures murales et architecture de la Géorgie (VIe–XVe s.) (1996); (10) Kinder, Terryl Nancy. L'Europe cistercienne (2d ed., 1988); (11) Harbison, Peter. L'art médiéval en Irlande (1998); (12) Christe, Yves. Jugements d'erner (2000).

- I221 Gaignebet, Claude, and Lajoux, Jean-Dominique. Art profane et religion populaire au Moyen Age. Paris, Presses Univ. de France, 1985. 363p. il. (part col.), plates.

Wide-ranging study of medieval secular art and popular piety, including folklore and erotica.

Bibliographie, p.327–36. Index, p.337–63.

- I222 Huizinga, Johan. The autumn of the Middle Ages. Trans. by Rodney J. Payton and Ulrich Mammitzsch. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1996. xxii, 467p. il.

Trans. of Herfsttij der Middeleeuwen (see GLAH 1:I193 for the previous, abridged Eng. trans.). Includes a trans. introd. as well as the text of the prefaces to the Dutch and German eds., in trans. Includes documentation missing from the previous trans. as well as revised trans. of citations previously published only in the original languages.

Notes (including translator's notes to this ed.), p.397–440. Bibliography, p.441–49. Index, p.451–67.

- I223 Jantzen, Hans. High Gothic: the classic cathedrals of Chartres, Reims, Amiens. [Reprint.] Trans. from the German by James Palmes. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1984. xiii, 181p. il., plates.

See GLAH 1:I162 for earlier U.S. eds. and original annotation. Repr. of N.Y., Pantheon, 1962. Trans. of Kunst der Gotik. Hamburg, Rowohlt, 1957; new ed., exp. and rev. and with a new preface, Berlin, Reimer, 1987. Dutch ed., 1959.

- I224 Lasko, Peter E. Ars sacra, 800–1200. 2d ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1994. xii, 319p. il. (part col.), maps. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I198 for previous ed.

"The second edition has been expanded in two ways. First, the virtual explosion of literature in this field . . . has resulted not only in the need to add considerably to the references, but has also resulted in some changes of mind on my part. . . . Second, the editorial decision to incorporate the art and architecture of Britain . . . has meant the inclusion of a new chapter on Anglo-Saxon art and some expansion in Chapters 13 and 21."—Pref. to the second ed.

- I225 Mellinkoff, Ruth. Outcasts: signs of otherness in northern European art of the late Middle Ages. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1993. 2v. il. (part col.)

A pioneering study of the iconography of "otherness" in the art of the period, focusing upon marginalized elements of society: heretics, Muslims, Jews, racial and ethnic minorities, and the other stigmatized groups.

Contents: (1) Text; (2) Illustrations.

Abbreviations, v.1, p.235–38. Notes, v.1, p.239–315. Bibliography, v.1, p.317–40. Index, v.1, p.341–60.

- I226 Nichols, Stephen G. Romanesque signs: early medieval narrative and iconography. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1983. xiii, 248p. il.

An important study of narrative techniques and historicizing iconography in Romanesque art.

Contents: (1) The discourse of history; (2) Historia and theosis; (3) Charlemagne redivivus: from history to Historia; (4) Historia and the poetics of the Passion; (5) Roncevaux and the poetics of place/person in the Song of Roland.

Notes, p.205–36. Index, p.237–48.

- I227 Ornamenta ecclesiae: Kunst und Künstler der Romanik. Hrsg. von Anton Legner. Köln, Stadt Köln, 1985. 3v. il.

Monumental catalog of the important exhibition of Romanesque church art, Schnütgen-Museum in der Josef-Haubrich-Kunsthalle, Köln (1985).

Contents: (1) (A) Ordo et artes; (B) Fabrica; (C) Liturgica; (2) (D) Coloniensia; (E) Ornamenta ecclesiarum coloniensium; (F) Kölner Kunst der Romanik; (3) (G) Antike und Byzanz; (H) Sacrae reliquiae.

Abgekürzt zitierte Literatur, v.3, p.204–06.

- I228 Scheller, R. W. Exemplum: model-book drawings and the practice of artistic transmission in the Middle Ages (ca. 900–ca. 1470). Trans. by Michael Hoyle. Amsterdam, Amsterdam Univ. Pr., 1995. xi, 434p. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:I203 for the author's previous Survey of medieval model books. (Note: the author's name is misspelled in GLAH 1). The present volume is "much more comprehensive." "The accent has now been placed more explicitly on issues for which model books may supply important evidence but which cover a broader terrain, such as the relationship between original and copy, production processes and the various forms of artistic transmission in the Middle Ages."—Pref.

Index, p.[413]–34.

- I229 Snyder, James. Medieval art: painting-sculpture-architecture, 4th–14th century. N.Y., Abrams, 1989. 511p. il. (part col.)

Standard historical survey of the art of the Middle Ages by a specialist in the art of northern Europe. The treatment of medieval architecture focuses upon decoration and ornament.

Notes, p.[475]–86. Select bibliography, p.[487]–93. Time-tables of medieval history and art, p.[494]–97. Index, p.[498]–511.

- I230 Stokstad, Marilyn. Medieval art. N.Y., Harper & Row, 1986. xxix, 446p. il. (part col.), plates.

"My purpose in writing Medieval art has always been to introduce the lay reader, the museum visitor, and the student to this period. . . . Medieval art includes the art and building of what is now Western Europe from the second to the fifteenth centuries."—Pref. A solid introductory study.

Contents: Preface; (I) Art in the first centuries of the Christian era; (II) The art of the triumphant Christian church; (III) The golden age of Byzantium; (IV) Barbarian art; (V) Carolingian art; (VI) Art outside the Carolingian Empire; (VII) The imperial tradition: Ottonian and Romanesque art in the Holy Roman Empire; (VIII) Romanesque art in Western Europe; (IX) The origins of the Gothic style; (X) High Gothic art in France; (XI) National styles in Gothic art; (XII) Late Gothic art.

Chronological table, p.xxiv–xxvii. Glossary, p.397–411. Suggestions for further reading, p.413–23. Index, p.425–46.

- I231 Swaan, Wim. The late Middle Ages: art and architecture from 1350 to the advent of the Renaissance. With photos by the author. Ithaca, N.Y., Cornell Univ. Pr., 1977. 232p. il. (part col.)

"Our subject is the final harvest of the Gothic style, from 1350 to the advent of the Renaissance, in the countries of Northern Europe and the Iberian Peninsula."—Pref. Organized by country.

Notes, p.[210]–19. Glossary, p.221–23. Bibliography, p.[224]–27. Index, p.[229]–32.

- I232 Zarnecki, George. Romanesque. N.Y., Universe Books (Distr. by St. Martin's Pr., 1989). 196p. il. (part col.) (The Universe history of art and architecture)

Previously published as: Romanesque art. 1971.

RENAISSANCE—BAROQUE

- I233 Bauer, Hermann. Barock: Kunst einer Epoche. Berlin, Reimer, 1992. 292p. il. (part col.), plates.

Thoughtful essay by an authority.

Contents: (I) Eine Anekdote anstelle einer Einleitung; (II) Der Begriff "Barock"—Zur Geschichte der Barockforschung; (III) " . . . IAM REGNAT APOLLO"; (IV) Rom, das "neue Theater"; (V) Das barocke Schloss; (VI) Barockkunst und barockes Fest; (VIII) Zeremoniell und Repräsentation; (VIII) Concettismo; (IX) Theater und Theatralik; (X) Illusionismus.

Notes at ends of chapters. Glossary, p.[287]–91.

- I234 Boone, Danièle. L'art baroque. Neuchâtel, Ides et Calendes, 1988. 256p. il. (part col.)

Survey addressed to a general audience.

Contents: Rome; Cortone, Bernini, Borromini; Les dernières splendeurs romaines; Le relais piémontais; L'éternelle mouvance vénitienne; Les royaumes du sud; Des lieux et des hommes; Prague la magnifique; Le siècle de Rubens; L'Europe réformée; Le choix français; Pierre Puget; Le baroque ibérique; Annexes.

Bibliographie, p.251–252. Index, p.253–55.

- I235 Held, Julius Samuel, and Posner, Donald. 17th and 18th century art: baroque painting, sculpture, architecture. N.Y., Abrams, [1971]. 439p. il. (part col.) (Library of art history)

Standard survey text.

Contents: (1) Italy in the seventeenth century; (2) France in the seventeenth century; (3) Spain in the seventeenth century; (4) Flemish painting in the seventeenth century; (5) Dutch painting in the seventeenth century; (6) Northern European architecture in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries; (7) France in the eighteenth century; (8) Italy in the eighteenth century; (9) English painting in the eighteenth century; (10) Germany and Austria in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Notes, p.409–[19]. Chronological chart, p.420–[23]. Selected bibliography, p.424–[27]. Index, p.428–38.

- I236 Jestaz, Bertrand. The art of the Renaissance. Trans. from the French by I. Mark Paris. N.Y., Abrams, 1995. 608p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Art de la renaissance. Paris, Mazenod, 1984 (L'art et les grandes civilisations, 14). Lavishly produced and illustrated survey.

Contents: The recovery period, 1400 to c.1480; The age of classicism, 1480 to c.1520; Classicism's developments and challenges, 1520 to c.1600.

Catalogue: great architecture of the Renaissance, p.[469]–575. Biographies, p.577–90. Bibliography, p.591–97. Index, p.598–607.

I237 Martin, John Rupert. Baroque. N.Y., Harper & Row, 1977. 367p. il.

Thematic survey by an authority, "attempting to define the essential characteristics of Baroque art."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The question of style; (2) Naturalism; (3) The passions of the soul; (4) The transcendental view of reality; (5) Space; (6) Time; (7) Light; (8) Attitudes to antiquity; Appendix A: Peter Paul Rubens, On the imitation of statues; Appendix B: Paul Fréart de Chantelou, Bernini in France; Appendix C: Arnold Houbraken, life of Rembrandt; Appendix D: Francisco Pacheco, On the aim of painting; Appendix E: Philippe de Champaigne, On Poussin's Rebecca and Eliezer.

Notes, p.[297]–304. Books for further reading, p.[305]–9. Catalogue of illustrations, p.[311]–57. Index, p.[359]–67.

I238 Snyder, James. Northern Renaissance art: painting, sculpture, the graphic arts from 1350 to 1575. N.Y., Abrams, 1985. 559p. il. (part col.)

Standard survey text.

Contents: Part One: The International style; Part Two: Painting, graphics, and sculpture in the Netherlands, Germany, and France from 1425 to 1500; Part Three: The Renaissance in Germany, the Netherlands, and France from 1500 to 1575.

Notes, p.[524]–33. Select bibliography, p.[534]–37. Genealogy of the House of Valois, p.[538]. Timetable of the arts, history, and science 1300–1575, p.[538]–45. Index, p.[546]–59.

I239 Welt des Barock. Hrsg. von Rupert Feuchtmüller und Elisabeth Kovács. Wien, Herder, 1986. 2v. il. (part col.), facsim., plates, ports.

Catalog of the exhibition, Augustiner Chorherrenstift St. Florian (1986). Substantial, wide-ranging exhibition catalog, with essays, devoted to the culture of the Austrian Baroque.

Contents: (1) Text; (2) Katalog.

Gekürzt zitierte Literatur, v.1, p.18–19. Verwendete Abkürzungen, v.1, p.20.

NEOCLASSICAL—MODERN

I240 Ades, Dawn. Dada and surrealism reviewed. Introd. by David Sylvester and a supplementary essay by Elizabeth Cowling. London, Arts Council of Great Britain, 1978. xi, 475p., il. (part col.), plates.

Catalog of the important exhibition, Hayward Gallery, London (1978). Survey of the movements structured around their critical reception.

Addenda, p.469. Corrigenda, p.470. Indices, p.471–75.

I241 The age of modernism: art in the 20th century. Ed. by Christos M. Joachimides and Norman Rosenthal. Essays by Brooks Adams . . . [et al.] Co-ord. eds., Gerti Fietzek and Henry Meyric Hughes. Stuttgart, Hatje, 1997. 672p. il. (part col.), ports.

Catalog of the exhibition, Martin-Gropius-Bau, Berlin (1997). Portions of text trans. from the German. "This exhibition is not about the whole evolution of twentieth-century art; it is about Modernism in art."—p.9. Focuses on "the essential media of painting and sculpture" broadly construed, from 1907 to the present, attempting to offer a retrospective on Modernism from a contemporary perspective. Beautifully illustrated, wide-ranging, provocative.

Biographies of the artists [with portraits], p.574–660. The authors, p.661. Lenders to the exhibition, p.662–63. Index of names, p.666–72.

I242 Archer, Michael. Art since 1960. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1997. 224p. il. (World of art)

Brief, accessible survey.

Contents: (1) The real and its objects; (2) The expanded field; (3) Ideology, identity and difference; (4) Postmodernism; (5) Assimilations; Conclusion.

Timeline, p.216–17. Select bibliography, p.218. Index, p.223–24.

I243 Arnason, H. H. History of modern art: painting, sculpture, architecture, photography. [With] Daniel Wheeler, revising author. 4th ed. N.Y., Abrams, 1998. 856p. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:I235 for the 1st and 2d eds. 3d ed., 1986 [Marla F. Prather, revising author].

Latest ed. of the standard textbook survey of modern art. Bibliography, p.[806]–28. Index, p.[829]–53.

I244 Art after modernism: rethinking representation. Ed. and with an introd. by Brian Wallis. Foreword by Marcia Tucker. N.Y., New Museum of Contemporary Art; Boston, Godine, 1984. xviii, 461p. il. (Documentary sources in contemporary art)

Important anthology of essays on contemporary art.

Contents: (I) Image/author/critique; (II) Dismantling Modernism; (III) Paroxysms of painting; (IV) Theorizing Postmodernism; (V) The fictions of mass media; (VI) Cultural politics; (VII) Gender/difference/power.

I245 Art in theory, 1815–1900: an anthology of changing ideas. Ed. by Charles Harrison and Paul Wood, with Jason Gaiger. Malden, Mass., Blackwell, 1998. xx, 1097p.

"The aim of this book is to provide students of art, art history and aesthetics as well as the interested general reader with a substantial and representative collection of texts, drawn from a wide variety of nineteenth-century sources."—Introd. Supplements the following entry.

Contents: (I) Feeling and nature; (II) The demands of the present; (III) Modernity and bourgeois life; (IV) Temperaments and techniques; (V) Aesthetics and historical awareness; (VI) The idea of modern art.

Bibliography, p.[1067]–80. Index, p.[1084]–97.

- I246 Art in theory, 1900–1990: an anthology of changing ideas. Ed. by Charles Harrison and Paul Wood. Cambridge, Mass., Blackwell, 1992. xxv, 1189p.

"The aim of this book is to equip the student of modern art and the interested general reader with a substantial and representative collection of relevant texts, drawn from a wide variety of sources."—Introd. Substantial anthology of the literature of modern art, mostly presented as excerpts from longer texts. All excerpts include references to the full text. Brief biographical notes on the authors.

Contents: (I) The legacy of Symbolism; (II) The idea of the modern world; (III) Rationalization and transformation; (IV) Freedom, responsibility and power; (V) The individual and the social; (VI) Modernization and Modernism; (VII) Institutions and objections; (VIII) Ideas of the Postmodern.

Bibliography, p.1129–54. Index, p.1169–89.

- I247 Boime, Albert. A social history of modern art. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1987–90. 2v.

Series "devoted to the social history of art in the modern epoch" making "a distinct leap in art history studies by moving beyond stylistic divisions and viewing developments in terms of major historical periods."—Pref. to v.1.

Contents: (1) Art in an age of revolution, 1750–1800 (1987); (2) Art in an age of Bonapartism, 1800–1815 (1990).

Notes, v.1, p.491–510, v.2, p.657–88. Index, v.1, p.511–21, v.2, p.691–706.

- I248 Busch, Werner. Das sentimentalische Bild: die Krise der Kunst im 18. Jahrhundert und die Geburt der Moderne. München, Beck, 1993. 537p. il.

Wide-ranging study of the roots of "the modern" in late-18th century art.

Contents: (1) Historie; (2) Genre; (3) Landschaft; (4) Porträt; (5) Karikatur.

Anmerkungen, p.483–506. Bibliographie, p.507–30. Register, p.531–36.

- I249 Concepts of modern art: from fauvism to postmodernism. 3d ed., exp. and upd. Ed. by Nikos Stangos. London, Thames and Hudson, 1994. 424p. il.

1st ed. Harmondsworth, Penguin, 1974; rev. and enl. ed., N.Y., Harper and Row, 1981.

A useful dictionary of modern art movements, with essays on 18 movements by specialists.

Selected bibliographies, p.410–15. Index, p.416–24.

- I250 Dada: l'arte della negazione. [Cura della mostra, Giovanni Lista, Arturo Schwarz, Rosella Siligato.] Roma, De Luca, 1994.

Catalog of the exhibition, Palazzo delle Esposizioni, Rome (1994). Survey of the Dada movement worldwide.

Biografie degli artisti, p.[333]–68. Bibliografie, p.[369]–74.

- I251 Documents of twentieth-century art. N.Y., Viking, 1971–.

See GLAH 1:I240 for previous (and anticipated) vols. in series. Various publishers (most Boston, Hall; some Berkeley, Univ. of Calif. Pr.). Originally, N.Y., Viking.

Selective contents: Autobiography of Surrealism (1980); Dada painters and poets: an anthology (1981); Kandinsky, complete writings on art (1982); Marcel Duchamp, notes (1983); Joan Miro, selected writings and interviews (1986); The new art, the new life, the complete writings of Piet Mondrian (1986); Russian art of the avant-garde (1988); Motherwell, Robert. Collected writings (1992); German Expressionism, documents . . . [etc.] (1993); Matisse on art (1995; 1st ed. 1973, 2d ed. 1978); Robert Smithson, the collected writings (1996; first ed. 1979); Flight out of time: a Dada diary by Hugo Ball (1996; first pub. 1974); Pop art: a critical history (1997).

- I252 Durozoi, Gérard. Histoire du mouvement surréaliste. Paris, Hazan, 1997. 759p.

Monumental history of the surrealist movement, 1919–69.

Biographies, p.649–712. Bibliographie, p.713–37. Index des noms de personnes, p.738–50. Index des revues, p.751–52.

- I253 Einstein, Carl. Die Kunst des 20. Jahrhunderts. Hrsg. und komment. von Uwe Fleckner und Thomas W. Gaetgens. Berlin, Fannei & Walz, 1996. 363p. il. (part col.) (Werke / Carl Einstein, Bd. 5)

See GLAH 1:I241 for original ed. New. ed. appearing as part of the author's collected writings.

- I254 Eisenman, Stephen. Nineteenth century art: a critical history. [With contrib. by] Thomas Crow . . . [et al.] London, Thames and Hudson, 1994. 376p. il. (part col.)

"This is a radical reconsideration of the origins of modern painting and sculpture in Europe and North America. . . . [It] embraces many aspects of the so-called 'new' art history—attention to issues of class and gender, reception and spectatorship, racism and Eurocentrism. . . . The authors insist that there is a profound sympathy between these new methods and the art under examination."—Dust jacket.

Contents: Introduction: critical art and history; Classicism and romanticism; New world frontiers; Realism and materialism; Modern art and life.

Chronology, p.351–64. Selected bibliography, p.365–67. Index, p.373–76.

- I255 Face à l'histoire, 1933–1996: l'artiste moderne devant l'événement historique. Conception et réalis., Jean-Paul Ameline. Paris, Flammarion; Ed. du Centre Pompidou, 1996. 620p. il. (part col.), ports.

Wide-ranging collection of essays on the modern artist's confrontation with historical and political events.

Bibliographie, p.601–04. Liste des oeuvres, p.605–17. Index, p.617–20.

- I256 Golding, John. Cubism: a history and an analysis, 1907–1914. 3d ed. Cambridge, Mass., Belknap Press of Harvard Univ. Pr., 1988. xvi, 237p. il., plates.

See GLAH 1:I244 for previous eds. Includes a narrative Preface to the third edition, which discusses the evolution of the author's views.

Bibliography, p.202–18. Index, p.227–37.

- I257 Goldwater, Robert John. Primitivism in modern art. Enl. ed. Cambridge, Mass., Belknap Pr. of Harvard Univ. Pr., 1986. xxv, 339p. il.

See GLAH 1:I245 for original ed. "For this new expanded paperback edition . . . two important essays by Robert Goldwater have been added . . . and a bibliography of the author's work is appended. No changes have been made in the text as it appeared in the second, revised edition."—Pub. note to the enl. ed.

- I258 ———. Symbolism. N.Y., Harper & Row, 1979. [vii], 286p. il.

Wide-ranging, authoritative essay on Symbolism as movement and philosophy, published posthumously.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) From Synthetism to Symbolism; (3) Suggestion, mystery, dream; (4) Supernaturalism and Naturalism; (5) Criticism and theory; (6) Idéistes; (7) Correspondences.

Abbreviations used in catalogue of illustrations, p.259–60. Catalogue of illustrations compiled by Kristin Murphy, p.261–81. Index, p.282–86.

- I259 Green, Christopher. Cubism and its enemies: modern movements and reaction in French art, 1916–1928. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1987. 325p. il. (part col.)

Important contextual study of the movement. "I have tried . . . to look at Cubism and art in France between 1916 and 1928 in terms of the meanings available then. It is this concern that has led me to structure the book in terms of oppositions. . . . A major intention is to explore the works, theories and attitudes of the Cubists . . . in contradistinction to other very different works, theories and attitudes in other milieux."—Introd.

Contents: (I) Late Cubism in France, 1916–1928: a narrative; (II) Art worlds; (III) Cubism and the conservative opposition; (IV) Radical alternatives.

Abbreviations, p.[300]. Notes, p.[301]–20. Index, p.[321]–25.

- I260 Grundberg, Andy, and Gauss, Kathleen McCarthy. Photography and art: interactions since 1946. Fort Lauderdale, Fort Lauderdale Museum of Art; N.Y., Abbeville, 1987. 272p. il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Fort Lauderdale Museum of Art (1987), and other locations. Aims to chart "the emergence of photography as a vital force in contemporary art since the end of World War II [and] to show the enormous influence photographic imagery has had on the more traditional . . . visual arts of painting, sculpture, drawing, and printmaking."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction, by Andy Grundberg and Kathleen McCarthy Gauss; (1) The enduring Modernist impulse, by Andy Grundberg; (2) Surrealism, Symbolism, and the fictional photograph, by Kathleen McCarthy Gauss; (3) Popular culture, Pop art, by Andy Grundberg; (4) Breaking the mold: experiments in technique and process, by Kathleen McCarthy Gauss; (5) Conceptual art and the photography of ideas; (6) In the studio: construction and invention; (7) Camera culture in a postmodern age, by Andy Grundberg.

Notes to the text, p.232–34. Artists' biographies, p.236–63. Bibliography, p.264–68. Index, p.269–71.

- I261 Hamilton, George Heard. Painting and sculpture in Europe, 1880–1940. 6th ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. 621p. il. (part col.) ([Yale University Press] pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I247 for previous eds. 3d ed. 1979, repr. with corrections 1982. "In this new edition changes of ownership have been recorded wherever possible, and death dates added. For the first time, colour plates replace some of the black and white illustrations and the bibliography has been extensively enlarged and updated by Richard Cork."—Foreword [to the 6th ed.].

Bibliography, p.[553]–91. Index, p.[601]–21.

- I262 Hillier, Bevis. The style of the century, 1900–1980. New chapter by Kate McIntyre. London, Herbert Pr., 1998. 239p. il. (part col.)

1st ed. 1983.

"This book attempts to convey the pervasiveness of style, and to show its close relation to 'lifestyle'. My canvas is the whole of the twentieth century so far."—Introd. Survey, from Edwardiana to "punk."

Index, p.235–39.

- I263 Honour, Hugh. Romanticism. N.Y., Harper & Row, 1979. 415p. il.

A sequel to the author's equally important and wide-ranging Neo-Classicism (GLAH 1:I249). Devoted to "Romanticism as an historical phenomenon, not as a state of mind found in all periods and cultures."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; (1) For lack of a better name; (2) The morality of landscape; (3) Frozen music; (4) The last enchantments of the Middle Age; (5) The sense of the past; (6) The cause of liberty; (7) Artist's life; (8) The mysterious way; (9) Epilogue.

Notes, p.325–65. Books for further reading, p.366–71. Catalogue of illustrations, p.372–408. Index, p.[409]–15.

- I264 Hulten, Karl Gunnar Pontus. Futurism & futurisms = Futurismo & Futurismi. N.Y., Abbeville Pr., 1986. 639p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Futurismo e futurismi. Milano, Bompiani, 1986. French ed., Futurisme et futurismes. Paris, Chemin vert, 1986.

Catalog accompanying the exhibition, Palazzo Grassi, Venice (1986), the first major Futurism exhibition in Europe.

Contents: Futurism & Futurisms, by Pontus Hulten; Futurist prophecies, by Pontus Hulten; Toward Futurism 1880–1909; Futurism, 1909–1918; Futurisms 1909–1930; Dictionary of Futurism.

Chronology, p.616–22. Catalog of the works exhibited (not reproduced in color section), p.623–31. Bibliography, p.632–33. Index, p.634–37.

- I265 Hunter, Sam, and Jacobus, John. Modern art: painting, sculpture, architecture. 3d rev. ed. N.Y., Abrams, 2000. 448p. il. (part col.)

1st ed., 1976; 2d ed. 1985. "Produced by the Vendome Press/ an Alexis Gregory book"; 3d ed. 1992.

A "history of the ideas, forms, and events that have brought us to the modern and post-modern worlds of art and architecture."—Pref. and ackn. Intended for the general reader and undergraduates. Chronological in arrangement, with the focus upon distinct movements in modern art.

Notes, p.441. Bibliography, p.441–44. Index, p.445–48.

- I266 Individuals: a selected history of contemporary art, 1945–1986. Essays by Kate Linker, Donald Kuspit, Hal Foster . . . [et al.] Organized by Julia Brown Turrell. Ed. by Howard Singerman. Los Angeles, Museum of Contemporary Art; N.Y., Abbeville, 1986. 371p. il.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Museum of Contemporary Art, Los Angeles (1986–88). Important exhibition and catalog on post-war art.

Checklist of the exhibition, p.338–62. Index, p.365–69.

- I267 Lucie-Smith, Edward. Art of the 1930s: the age of anxiety. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1985. 264p. il. (part col.)

"This book . . . takes a particularly crucial epoch, and tries to relate the Modernist painting and sculpture of the period to other developments, many of them deeply hostile to everything the artists of the avant-garde stood for."—Author's note.

Contents: (1) The end of Weimar and the making of Nazi art; (2) Socialist Realism in Russia; (3) Italy: pluralism under a dictatorship; (4) The Mexican muralists; (5) The middle age of the École de Paris; (6) Parisian fashions: Surrealism and Neo-Classicism; (7) Abstraction, Neo-Romanticism and Social Realism in France; (8) England: the struggle to be modern; (9) English Abstract art; (10) Portugal, Latin America, Holland and Belgium in the 1930s; (11) The fate of the refugees; (12) American Abstract art; (13) Social Realism in America; (14) Patronage of the arts in America.

Chronology, p.255–57. Bibliography, p.258–60. Index, p.261–64.

- I268 ———. Art today. London, Phaidon, 1995. 511p. col. il.

"This book is a survey of the . . . period from 1960 to the present."—Introd.

Contents: Pop & after; The survival of Abstraction; Minimal & Conceptual; Land art, light and space, Body art; Neo-Dada, Arte Povera & Installation; Neo-Expressionism; Realism in America; Post-Modernism and Neo-Classicism; British figurative painting; New British sculpture; New art in New York; Out of New York; Latin America; Perestroika art; The Far East; African & Afro-Caribbean art; Racial minorities; Feminist & gay.

Notes, p.480. Artists' biographies, p.481–97. Bibliography, p.498–503. Chronology, p.504–05. Index, p.507–10.

- I269 ———. Movements in art since 1945. 3d rev. and exp. ed. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1995. 304p. il. (part col.) (World of art)

1st published in the U.S. under the title Late Modern: the visual arts since 1945 (N.Y., Praeger, 1969). New, rev. ed. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1985.

Introductory survey of post-war art.

Contents: (1) Style into content; (2) Abstract Expressionism; (3) The European scene; (4) Post-painterly Abstraction;

(5) Pop, environments and happenings; (6) Abstract sculpture, Minimal Art, Conceptual Art; (7) Arte povera, Post-Minimalism and their heritage; (8) Neo-Expressionist tendencies in the 1980s; (9) America in the 1980s; (10) Questioning the western modernist canon from the "margins"; (11) Issue-based art: African-American, Afro-Caribbean, feminist and gay art.

Text references, p.289–90. Select bibliography, p.290–95. Index, p.301–04.

- I270 ———. Visual arts in the twentieth century. London, L. King, 1996. 400p. il. (part col.), ports.

A chronological survey of the arts of the 20th century, by decade, through 1995. Each chapter is divided by medium (architecture, painting, sculpture, photography).

Notes, p.384–86. Bibliography, p.387–91. Index, p.394–400.

- I271 Lynton, Norbert. The story of modern art. 2d ed. Englewood Cliffs, Prentice Hall, 1989. 400p. il. (part col.), ports.

1st ed., Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1980. "For this edition I have been able to make some amendments in the text, convert some black-and-white illustrations into colour plates, trim the last chapter, add a new chapter for the 1980s, and add to and update the biographies and bibliography."—Pref. to the second ed.

Popular survey of modern art for the general reader.

Biographical notes, p.365–91. Bibliography, p.392–95. Index, p.397–400.

- I272 Making their mark: women artists move into the mainstream, 1970–85. [By] Randy Rosen, curator [and] Catherine C. Brawer, assoc. curator. N.Y., Abbeville Pr., 1989. 300p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Cincinnati Art Museum (1989), and other locations. Important treatment of a seminal moment, documenting "the prominent and catalytic role played by so many women in redirecting and redefining the interest of mainstream art."—p.7.

Artists' biographies, p.237–65. Selected group exhibitions, p.266–69. Public collections, p.270–74. Selected general bibliography, p.275–77. Checklist of the exhibition, p.284–92. Index, p.293–300.

- I273 Martin, Marianne W. Futurist art and theory, 1909–1915. [Reprint.] N.Y., Hacker Art Books, 1978. xxxii, 228p. il., plates.

First pub. Oxford, Clarendon, 1968.

Contents: (I) Painting and sculpture in Italy during the later nineteenth century; (II) New directions: the Florentine movement; (III) F. T. Marinetti: life and work before the launching of Futurism; (IV) The first manifesto and the Futurist aesthetic; (V) Futurist painting theory and its sources; (VI) The artists: their beginnings; (VII) The first Futurist paintings of Boccioni, Carrà and Russolo: 1910 to summer 1911; (VIII) Severini's work, 1910–11; (IX) the Milanese artists and Cubism in 1911; (X) The Paris exhibition and its aftermath: theory 1912–13; (XI) Painting 1912–13: Severini; (XII) Painting 1912–13: The Milanese artists and Soffici;

(XIII) Boccioni's sculpture: 1912-13; (XIV) Giacomo Balla: 1912-13; (XV) The final years: 1914-15; Appendix: On the Futurists' controversies.

Selected bibliography, p.[207]-13. Index, p.215-28.

I274 McShine, Kynaston. An international survey of recent painting and sculpture. [Ed. by Harriet Schoenholz Bee and Jane Fluegel.] N.Y., Museum of Modern Art, 1984. 364p.

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Modern Art (1984). "Featuring work of the last decade by an international group of artists, it is the first contemporary survey of painting and sculpture organized by the Museum in some years."—Introd.

Documentation [individual and group exhibition histories], p.[342]-59.

I275 Minimal art: a critical anthology. Ed. by Gregory Battcock. Introd. by Anne M. Wagner. Berkeley, Univ. of Calif. Pr., 1995. xv, 454p. il.

1st ed. N.Y., Dutton, 1968. Reprinting of a classic anthology on Minimalism, with a new introduction, "Reading Minimal Art," by Anne M. Wagner.

Bibliography, p.445-47. Supplementary bibliography, p.447-49. Index, p.[451]-54.

I276 Modern art: practices and debate. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., in assoc. with the Open University, 1993. 4v.

"A series of four books about art and its interpretation from the mid-nineteenth century to the end of the twentieth. Each of the books is self-sufficient and accessible to the general reader. As a series, they form the main texts of an Open University course. . . . They represent a range of approaches and methods characteristic of contemporary art-historical debate."—Pref. to v.4.

Contents: Frascina, Francis. Modernity and modernism: French painting in the nineteenth century; Harrison, Charles; Frascina, Francis; and Perry, Gill. Primitivism, cubism, abstraction: the early twentieth century; Fer, Briony. Realism, rationalism, surrealism: art between the wars; Wood, Paul, et al. Modernism in dispute: art since the Forties.

I277 Movements in modern art. London, Tate Gallery, 1997-. 8v. il. (part col.)

Accessible, brief surveys.

Contents: Batchelor, David. Minimalism (1997); Harrison, Charles. Modernism (1997); Malpas, James. Realism (1997); Cottington, David. Cubism (1998); Behr, Shulamith. Expressionism (1999); Humphreys, David. Futurism (1999); McCarthy, David. Pop art (2000); Heartney, Eleanor. Post-modernism (2001).

I278 Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.) Library. Artists files [microform]. Alexandria, Va., Chadwyck-Healey, 1986. 5,697 microfiches il. + index (300p.)

More than 200,000 items compiled by and located in the MoMA Library, documenting the life and work of more than 20,000 modern artists including painters, sculptors, graphic, installation, mixed media and performance artists, and other figures of the international art world. Materials range from gallery announcements and invitations, clippings, and press releases to posters, reviews, and anthology excerpts. Some files consist of only one or two items, others have hundreds. Arranged alphabetically by artist.

I279 ———. Artists scrapbooks [microform]. Alexandria, Va., Chadwyck-Healey, 1986. 642 microfiches il.

Original scrapbooks compiled by and located in the MoMA Library. Issued in 4 binders, each with contents page at front. Arranged alphabetically by 44 individual artists with three multi-artist collections at the end.

Contents: (1) Albers-Dubuffet; (2) Ensor-Nadelman; (3) Picasso; (4) Richter-Wright. Sidney Janis Gallery. Israeli art. Bauhaus scrapbook.

I280 Needham, Gerald. 19th century realist art. N.Y., Harper & Row, 1988. xvii, 350p. il.

"The purpose of this book is . . . to analyze the issues of Realism in the context of their chronological development, and to provide an outline but not a detailed history of the movement."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) The dilemmas of Realism; (2) The origins of Realism, ca 1800-1832; (3) The desire to record the world, 1830-1850; (4) The situation of art in 1848; (5) The first generation of Realist painters; (6) Realism throughout Europe; (7) Changing ideas and the early work of Manet; (8) Impressionism; (9) The end of Realism.

Bibliography, p.334-39. Index, p.340-50.

I281 New York Public Library. Artists file [microform]. Alexandria, Va., Chadwyck-Healey, 1987-89. 11,381 microfiches il. + index (10 microfiches) issued in loose-leaf binder with [4]p. of text.

Valuable source of biographical and other information on artists and craftspeople from all over the world. Reproduces a valuable clippings file of 1.5 million items on more than 80,000 painters, sculptors, architects, craftspeople, jewelers, furniture and interior designers, commercial artists, fashion designers, collectors, connoisseurs, critics and curators, art historians, silversmiths, commercial artists, and couturiers. Covers the period from the 19th century, including major and minor masters as well as popular artists and purveyors of kitsch. Includes newspaper clippings, American and international, including regional newspapers, magazine clippings, popular and specialist American and foreign magazines and journals, press releases, newsletters and other announcements, auction and exhibition catalogs, including lists of exhibitions, invitation cards, book jackets, engravings, museum newsletters, exhibition brochures, and reproductions and original photographs. Arranged alphabetically by artist.

Index.

I282 Novotny, Fritz. Painting and sculpture in Europe, 1780-1880. [Trans. from the German by R. H. Boothroyd.] New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1992[?] 483p. il. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I255 for first ed. 2d ed. 1970, repr. with minor revisions and updated bibliography, 1978. The present ed. seems to be a reprint of the 1978 ed.

- I283 Paris-Berlin, 1900–1933: rapports et contrastes France, Allemagne: art, architecture, graphisme, littérature, objets industriels, cinéma, théâtre, musique. Nouv. éd. Paris, Centre Georges Pompidou; Gallimard, 1992. 757p. il. (part col.)
1st ed. 1978. Originally published to accompany one in a series of four important exhibitions at the Centre Georges Pompidou (see following entries) on international modernism before World War II.
- I284 Paris-Moscou, 1900–1930. Arts plastiques, arts appliqués et objets utilitaires, architecture-urbanisme, agitprop, affiche, théâtre-ballet, littérature, musique, cinéma, photo créative. [3d ed.] Paris, Centre Georges Pompidou; Gallimard, 1991. 779p. il. (part col.)
1st and 2d ed. 1979. Originally published to accompany one in a series of four important exhibitions at the Centre Georges Pompidou on international modernism before World War II.
- I285 Paris-New York, 1908–1968 . . . Nouv. éd. Paris, Centre Georges Pompidou; Gallimard, 1991. 955p. il. (part col.)
1st ed. 1977. Originally published to accompany one in a series of four important exhibitions at the Centre Georges Pompidou on international modernism before World War II.
- I286 Paris-Paris, 1937–1957 . . . Nouv. éd. Paris, Centre Georges Pompidou; Gallimard, 1992. 799p. il. (part col.)
1st ed. 1981. Originally published to accompany one in a series of four important exhibitions at the Centre Georges Pompidou (see previous entries) on international modernism before World War II.
- I287 "Primitivism" in 20th century art: affinity of the tribal and the modern. Ed. by William Rubin. N.Y., Museum of Modern Art (Distr. by New York Graphic Society Books, 1984). 2v. il. (part col.)
Published to accompany the exhibition, Museum of Modern Art (1984). A monumental survey of "primitivism—the interest of modern artists in tribal art and culture, as revealed in their thought and work."—Introd. Takes up where Goldwater's pioneering essay, Primitivism in modern art (GLAH 2:I257), left off. Includes essays on individual artists and movements by a range of specialists.
Notes at ends of chapters.
- I288 Robertson, Jack. Twentieth-century artists on art: an index to writings, statements, and interviews by artists, architects, and designers. 2d enl. ed., N.Y., Hall, 1996. xvi, 834p.
1st ed. 1985.
Intended to provide easy and direct access to twentieth-century artists' words. Covers 14,400 artists (compared to 5,000 in the 1st ed.).
Bibliography of sources indexed, p.1–45.
- I289 Rosen, Charles, and Zerner, Henri. Romanticism and realism: the mythology of nineteenth-century art. N.Y., Viking Press, 1984. xi, 244p. il.
"We have tried in this book to redefine both avant-garde and official art."—Pref. A collection of important essays.
Contents: The fingerprint: a vignette; (I) Romanticism: the permanent revolution; (II) Caspar David Friedrich and the language of landscape; (III) The romantic vignette and Thomas Bewick; (IV) The reproductive image and photography; (V) The juste milieu and Thomas Couture; (VI) Realism and the avant-garde; (VII) The recovery of the past and the modern tradition; (VIII) The ideology of the licked surface: official art.
Notes on the illustrations, p.233–36. Index, p.237–44.
- I290 Rosenblum, Robert, and Janson, H. W. 19th century art. N.Y., Abrams, 1984. 527p. il. (part col.)
An attempt by two leading scholars to "overhaul the history of nineteenth-century art."—Pref. and ackn.
Contents: Painting, by Robert Rosenblum; Sculpture, by H. W. Janson.
Bibliography, p.[506]–14. Index, p.[515]–27.
- I291 Sandler, Irving. Art of the postmodern era: from the late 1960s to the early 1990s. N.Y., IconEditions, 1996. xxx, 636p. il. (part col.), plates.
Substantial history of art since the Sixties.
Contents: (1) Postminimalism; (2) The impact of 1968 on European art; (3) First-generation feminism; (4) Pattern and decoration painting; (5) Architectural sculpture; (6) New Image painting; (7) The art world of the 1970s; (8) American Neoexpressionism; (9) The Italian Transavantguardia and German Neoexpressionism; (10) Media art; (11) Postmodernist art theory; (12) The consumer society and Deconstruction art; (13) The art world in the first half of the 1980s; (14) East Village art; (15) Commodity art, Neogeo, and the East Village art scene; (16) The "Other": From the marginal into the mainstream; (17) Into the 1990s.
Notes at ends of chapters. Bibliography p.557–616. Index, p.617–36.
- I292 Selz, Peter Howard. Art in our times: a pictorial history, 1890–1980. N.Y., Abrams, [1981]. 590p. il. (part col.)
"This book, with its 1,600 illustrations, provides a comprehensive and inclusive visual record of the art of the twentieth century. It contains not only the most significant monuments but also works of art that are now neglected but were important at the time of their creation."—Pref. and ackn. Excludes photography. A decade-by-decade presentation covering architecture, painting, sculpture, and related media, 1890s to 1970s.
Selected bibliography, p.559–65. Index, p.567–84.
- I293 Stich, Sidra. Anxious visions: surrealist art. With essays by James Clifford . . . [et al.] Berkeley, University Art Museum, University of California at Berkeley; New York, Abbeville Pr., 1990. 295p. il. (part col.)
Catalog of the exhibition, University Art Museum, University of California, Berkeley (1990).
"The following study aims to relate Surrealist art to some of the changing views about human nature and to the disturbing events [of the years between the wars]. It . . . focuses attention on the broad social, cultural, and political climate."—p.25.

Biographies, p.233–53. Chronology, p.255–78. Selected bibliography, p.279–83. Checklist of the exhibition, p.284–89. Index, p.290–95.

I294 Stiles, Kristine, and Selz, Peter. Theories and documents of contemporary art: a sourcebook of artists' writings. Berkeley, Univ. of Calif. Pr., 1996. xxii, 1003p. il. (California studies in the history of art, 35) Continues the series begun with Herschel B. Chipp's Theories of modern art (GLAH 1:I238) and continued by Taylor's Nineteenth-century theories of art (GLAH 2:I295). Substantial, wide-ranging anthology of excerpts from literary sources in translation, arranged chronologically, with brief introductions to each chapter. Some texts translated into English for the first time, others are published for the first time. "We sought to include texts that had a wide impact . . . texts addressed to aesthetic and art historical canons . . . new media and technology . . . gender, race, class, sexuality, and other diversity issues; and methodological strategies ranging from formalist to feminist to postmodernist."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Gestural abstraction; (2) Geometric abstraction; (3) Figuration; (4) Material culture and everyday life; (5) Art and technology; (6) Installations, environments, and sites; (7) Process; (8) Performance art; (9) Language and concepts.

Notes, p.897–911. Bibliography, p.913–56. Index, p.983–1003.

I295 Taylor, Joshua C. Nineteenth-century theories of art. Berkeley, Univ. of Calif. Pr., 1987. xii, 563p. il. (California studies in the history of art, 24)

Continues the series begun with Herschel B. Chipp's Theories of modern art (GLAH 1:I238). Substantial, wide-ranging anthology of literary sources in translation, arranged thematically, with brief biographical introductions to each chapter. Most entries are complete essays.

Contents: (I) Beauty and the language of form; (II) Art and the community of souls; (III) Truth to nature and the nature of truth; (IV) Art and society; (V) An art of pure vision; (VI) Art as creation.

Editorial references throughout. Index, p.553–63.

I296 Tisdall, Caroline, and Bozzolla, Angelo. Futurism. N.Y., Oxford University Press, 1978. 216p. il. (part col.), ports. (World of art)

Readable introduction.

Contents: (1) The means of Futurism; (2) The roots of Futurism; (3) Painting and sculpture up to 1913; (4) Literature and theatre; (5) Futurist music; (6) The Futurist city; (7) Photodynamism and Futurist cinema; (8) Futurism and women; (9) Lacerba; (10) Art of the war years and after; (11) Futurism and fascism.

Sources and further reading, p.210. Index, p.214–16.

I297 Varnedoe, Kirk, and Gopnik, Adam. High & low: modern art, popular culture. N.Y., Museum of Modern Art (Distr. by Abrams, 1990). 460p. (part fold.) il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Museum of Modern Art (1990–91), and other locations. An important study of "the evolving relationship . . . between modern art and popular culture" in the 20th century.—Introd. Accompanied by an anthology of essays entitled: Modern art and popular culture: readings in high & low (N.Y., Museum of Modern Art; Abrams, 1990).

Contents: Introduction; Words; Graffiti; Caricature; Comics; Advertising; Contemporary reflections; Coda.

Notes to the text, p.415–27. Bibliography, p.429–49. Index of illustrations, p.457–60.

I298 Vaughan, William, and Cachin, Françoise. Arts of the 19th century. Introd., captions, and biographical notes trans. from the French by James Underwood. N.Y., Abrams, 1998–. (1)v. il. (part col.)

First pub. in French trans. for the series L'art et les grandes civilisations, 19–20 (GLAH 2:I8). Lavishly illustrated survey of the period.

Contents: (1) 1780–1850; (2) 1850–1905 (forthcoming).

I299 ———. Romanticism and art. [Repr. with rev.] N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1994. 288p. il. (part col.)

1st ed. 1978. Popular introduction by an authority.

Contents: (1) Attitudes and ambiguities; (2) Hope and fear; (3) The heroic era; (4) The medieval revival; (5) Transcendent landscapes; (6) "Natural peinture"; (7) Sensation; (8) "Romanticizing the world."

Sources, p.281. Further reading, p.281–82. Index, p.287–88.

I300 Waller, Susan. Women artists in the modern era: a documentary history. Metuchen, N.J., Scarecrow Pr., 1991. xii, 392p.

"The documents in this volume have been selected to illuminate the historical experience of women artists. They include letters, journals, and memoirs of artists, critics' reviews of women's work at exhibitions and discussions of women's capabilities, and the minutes and reports of artists' societies and schools. They document the lives of individual women artists and the institutional and cultural parameters that conditioned what women attempted and what they accomplished."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Women and the Academies; (II) Wives and artists; (III) Lady amateurs; (IV) Strong-minded artists; (V) Women and the decorative arts; (VI) Women in art schools; (VII) Women artists organize; (VIII) Women and the Avant-Garde.

Suggested further readings, p.351–54. References, p.355–73. Index, p.375–92.

I301 Wheeler, Daniel. Art since mid-century: 1945 to the present. N.Y., Vendome Pr., (Distr. by Rizzoli International, 1991). 344p. il. (part col.)

A "comprehensive, one-volume history of late-modern and post-modern art."—Pref. and ackn.

Contents: (1) Modernism and its origins; (2) The New York school: Abstract Expressionism: 1945–60; (3) The European school of painting; (4) Sculpture at mid-century; (5) Into the Sixties: Pop Art and New Realism; (6) Assemblage, environments, happenings; (7) Post-painterly abstraction; (8) Minimalism: formalist sculpture in the United States; (9) Op, Kinetic, and Light Art; (10) The Post-Modern reaction: Conceptual, Performance, and Process Art; (11) Earth and site works; (12) Resurgent realism, photo-realist painting, hyper-realist sculpture; (13) Pattern and decoration; (14) New image art; (15) Fin de siècle: from Neo-Expressionism to Neo-Abstraction.

Bibliography, p.337–40. Index, p.341–44.

WESTERN COUNTRIES

Australia

- I302 Allen, Christopher. Art in Australia from colonization to Postmodernism. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1997. 224p. il. (part col.) (World of art)

A concise survey of non-indigenous Australian art intended for the general reader. Offers a well-illustrated, accessible introduction with good coverage of the contemporary period. "An engaging narrative that offers a point of departure for those wishing to incorporate Australian art into a curriculum or to satisfy cultural curiosity."—Review, New art examiner, v.25, fall 1998, p.64.

Contents: (1) Colonization; (2) Settlement; (3) Unsettling; (4) The uninhabitable; (5) Escape routes; (6) Homeless.

Timeline, p.[216–17]. Bibliography, p.218. Index, p.223–24.

- I303 Dreamings, the art of aboriginal Australia. Peter Sutton . . . [et al.] Ed. by Peter Sutton. N.Y., Braziller in assoc. with the Asia Society Galleries, 1988. xiii, 266p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Asia Society Galleries, N.Y. (1988), and other locations. Examines and illustrates a broad range of Aboriginal art within its cultural context. "This book is unique in its field in at least three ways. It contains the first extended overview of the history of Aboriginal art scholarship (Ch.V). It presents substantial analysis of the Aboriginal aesthetic which shows how it is integrated with the distinctive world view and social values of Aboriginal tradition (Ch. I–III). And it examines the cultural, economic, and political context of the production of Western Desert paintings for an Australian and world art market (Ch. IV)."—Introd.

Contents: (I) Dreamings, by Peter Sutton; (II) Responding to aboriginal art, by Peter Sutton; (III) The morphology of feeling, by Peter Sutton; (IV) Dreamings in acrylic: Western Desert art, by Christopher Anderson and Françoise Dussart; (V) Perceptions of aboriginal art: a history, by Philip Jones; (VI) Survival, regeneration and impact, by Peter Sutton, Philip Jones, and Steven Hemming; Postscript, by Peter Sutton.

Biographies of the artists, p.235–42. Notes, p.243–53. References, p.254–61. Index, p.262–64.

- I304 Haese, Richard. Rebels and precursors: the revolutionary years of Australian art. [2d ed.] Ringwood, Victoria, Penguin Books, 1988. 323p. il. (part col.), plates.

1st ed., London, Lane, 1981.

A study of modern art in Australia emphasizing the formative decades of the 1920s through 1940s. Focuses on political and social contexts for the development of modernism. Few illustrations.

Selective contents: (1) Reaction and progress; (2) The politics in painting; (3) Democracy and modernism; (4) Liberalism and anarchism; (5) Dissent and division; (6) Communism and culture; (7) The season in hell; (8) Patronage and professionalism; (9) Cultural reconstruction; (10) The radical diaspora.

Notes, p.296–304. Bibliography, p.309–12. Index, p.312–[24].

- I305 Moore, William. The story of Australian art from the earliest known art of the continent to the art of today. [Facsimile reprint.] London, Angus & Robertson, 1980. 2v., il. col. front., plates, ports.

See GLAH 1:I264 for original publication and annotation.

- I306 Smith, Bernard. European vision and the South Pacific. [3d ed.] South Melbourne, Oxford Univ. Pr., 1989. xiii, 370p. il. (part col.), maps, ports.

See GLAH 1:I265 for original annotation. 2d ed., 1985.

- I307 ———. Place, taste, and tradition: a study of Australian art since 1788. [2d ed., rev.] Melbourne, Oxford Univ. Pr., 1979. 304p. il.

1st ed., Sydney, U. Smith Pty. [1945]. "The publication of the second edition of a book that has been out of print for over thirty years calls for a personal explanation since the new edition will be read not so much for the information it contains—most of which is now available elsewhere—as for the light that it may possibly throw upon the emergence of an interest in the history of Australian art and the evaluative processes, both critical and historical, which were involved."—Pref. This early work is still of interest for its examination, considered radical at the time, of the relationships between Australian art, economics, and politics. Covers movements and trends from the colonial period to modernism.

Notes, p.282–83. Bibliography, p.284–87. Chronological table, p.[288]–91. Index, p.292–304.

- I308 Willis, Anne-Marie. Illusions of identity: the art of a nation. [Sydney], Hale and Iremonger, 1993. 205p. il.

Examines the evolution of Australian art in the context of "national culture" and "new art history." Seeks to "dismantle commonly held assumptions about both the value of and methodologies used in addressing the visual imagery and art of a particular nation."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Decentering nation; (2) Art of assimilation; (3) Nation as landscape; (4) Nation and otherness; (5) Making the image of modern Australia; (6) National economy as image.

Notes at ends of chapters. Bibliography, p.[192]–98. Index, p.[199]–205.

Canada

I309 Mellen, Peter. Landmarks of Canadian art. Toronto, McClelland and Stewart, 1978. 260p. il. (part col.)

A very general but well-illustrated survey of Canadian painting and sculpture from pre-history to the early 1970s. Utilizes key works to initiate discussions of different styles and schools.

Contents: (1) This sacred land: art of the native peoples; (2) Art for the glory of God: the early explorers of the French regime; (3) The garrison and the frontier: documenting the new society; (4) Contradictions and change: art in the Victorian era; (5) The Canadian spirit in art: the Group of Seven and their contemporaries; (6) The search within: contemporary art; (7) New ways of seeing.

Bibliography, p.257. Index, p.259–60.

I310 National Gallery of Canada. Canadian art. General eds., Charles C. Hill, Pierre B. Landry. Ottawa, The National Gallery, 1988–. (2)v.

See GLAH 1:I270 for original publication. Also published in French as Art canadien.

Two of the four projected vols. of this new ed. have been published. When complete, the catalog will include the entire collection of Canadian art in the National Gallery consisting of painting, sculpture, drawings, prints, decorative arts, and video works. This ed. covers works collected from 1880 through 1980. Each vol. is arranged alphabetically by artist.

Contents: (1) Painting, A–F; (2) Painting, G–K.

Numerical index, v.1, p.407–15, v.2, p.393–401.

SEE ALSO: Art and architecture in Canada: a bibliography and guide to the literature to 1981 (GLAH 2:A237)

France

I311 Adhémar, Jean. Influences antiques dans l'art du Moyen Age francais. Préf. de Léon Pressouyre. [Reprint.] Paris, Ed. du C.T.H.S., 1996. xxviii, 463p. il.

See GLAH 1:273 for 1st ed.

The reprint ed. contains a lengthy preface describing the historical context for and reaction to the original publication. An extensive bio-bibliography through 1987 is included. Bibliographie des travaux de Jean Adhémar, p.[429]–63.

I312 Blunt, Anthony. Art and architecture in France, 1500–1700. 4th ed., revised by Richard Beresford. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1999. xi, 319p. il. (part col.) (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I274 for previous eds. Also published as Art et architecture en France, 1500–1700. Trad. de Monique Chatenet. Paris, Macula, 1983.

This posthumous ed. contains a new preface, many additional illustrations, updated bibliography, considerable revision of footnotes including addenda, and corrections based on the French ed.

Notes, p.[275]–99. Bibliography, p.[300]–7. Index, p.[308]–19.

I313 Chastel, André. French art. Trans. by Deke Dusinberre. N.Y., Flammarion, [1994]–. (3)v.

Trans. of L'art français, Paris, Flammarion, 1993–. (4)v.

Superbly illustrated and organized, these volumes comprise Chastel's last work. A lengthy introduction, left unfinished at his death, has been excerpted and interspersed throughout.

Contents: (I) Prehistory to the Middle Ages; (II) The Renaissance, 1430–1620; (III) Art under the Ancien Régime, 1620–1775; (IV) The age of eloquence, 1775–1820 (forthcoming).

Two further vols. are planned for the original French ed., on the 19th and 20th centuries respectively.

Bibliography and index in each vol.

I314 L'inventaire général des monuments et des richesses artistiques de la France. Inventaires topographiques. [Paris] Ministère des affaires culturelles, 1969–. (16)v.

See GLAH 1:I280 for previous vols.

Contents: Morbihan: Canton Belle-Ile-en-Mer (1978); Bas-Rhin: Canton de Saverne (1978); Charente-Maritime: Canton Ile de Ré, 2v. (1979); Haut-Rhin: Canton Thann (1980); Vaucluse: Cantons Cadenet et Pertuis, Pays d'Aigues (1981); Meuse: Canton Gondrecourt-le-Château (1981); Sarthe: Canton La Ferté-Bernard (1983); Cantal: Canton Vic-sur-Céré (1984); Ardeche: Canton de Viviers (1989); Pyrénées-Atlantiques: Vic-Bilh, Morlaàs et Montanerès: Cantons de Garlin, Lembeye, Thèze, Morlaàs, Montaner (1989).

I315 Levey, Michael. Painting and sculpture in France, 1700–1789. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. 318p. il. (part col.) (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I281 for related, previous ed. Portions of this volume first appeared in Levey's Art and architecture in the eighteenth century in France (1972). This new publication, covering only painting and sculpture, has been revised and greatly expanded. Very good quality illustrations, many in color. Bibliography is arranged by artist as well as media.

Notes, p.[299]–306. Select bibliography, p.[307]–10. Index, p.[311]–18.

I316 Mâle, Emile. Religious art in France, the late middle ages: a study of medieval iconography and its sources. Ed. by Harry Bober. Trans. by Marthiel Matthews. [5th ed., rev.] Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1986. xiii, 597p. il. (Bollingen series, v.90:3) (Studies in religious iconography / by Emile Mâle)

See GLAH 1:I284 for previous eds. Trans. of the 5th ed., rev. and corr., of L'art religieux de la fin du moyen âge en France: étude sur l'iconographie du moyen âge et sur ses sources d'inspiration.

The English translations of this and the following landmark volumes continue the series initiated by GLAH 1:I285.

Additions and corrections assembled through various previous eds. have been incorporated into the footnotes. Recent publications have also been added to the footnotes. All the illustrations in the original eds. have been replaced with better quality ones and some new illustrations have been added.

Notes, p.[451]–548. Bibliography, p.[549]–73. Index, p.[587]–97.

- I317 ———. Religious art in France, the thirteenth century: a study of medieval iconography and its sources. Ed. by Harry Bober. Trans. by Marthiel Mathews. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1984. 564p. il. (Bollingen series, v.90:2) (Studies in religious iconography / by Emile Mâle)

See GLAH 1:1283 for previous eds. and translations. Trans. of the 9th ed. of L'art religieux du XIII<sup>e</sup> siècle en France: étude sur l'iconographie du moyen âge et sur ses sources d'inspiration.

Contains an appendix, "List of principal works illustrating the life of Christ (End of the twelfth century, thirteenth and fourteenth centuries)."

Notes, p.[408]–99. Bibliography, p.[501]–24. Index, p.[537]–64.

- I318 Modern art in Paris: two-hundred catalogues of the major exhibitions reproduced in facsimile in forty-seven volumes. Sel. and org. by Theodore Reff. N.Y., Garland, 1981. 47v.

Important series of reprints of key Parisian exhibition catalogs of the late 19th century.

Selective contents: Exhibitions of draftsmen and illustrators; Exhibitions of Impressionist art; Exhibitions of Realist art; Exhibitions of Symbolists and Nabis; Salons of the "Indépendants," 1892–1895; World's fair of 1855; World's fair of 1867; World's fair of 1889; World's fair of 1900.

- I319 Vergnolle, Eliane. L'art roman en France. Paris, Flammarion, 1994. 383p. il. (part col.), maps, plans. In-depth, scholarly survey of architecture, painting, and sculpture from 980–1180. Very fine color illustrations throughout. Useful for the advanced reader. "With . . . profound scholarship and sensitivity, the reader is guided through . . . monumental architectural achievements . . . illuminated wall paintings, stained glass, mosaic pavements and enamels. These various media are not discussed in separate chapters but are treated as phenomena of the same closely related artistic trends. This brilliant work should be in every library and on the shelf of every medievalist."—Review, Burlington magazine, v.137, Sept. 1995, p.619.

Contents: (I) Le champ de l'étude; (II) Les conditions de la création; (III) Préfiguration (980–1020); (IV) Création (1020–1060); (V) Vers un nouveau décor monumental (1010–1060); (VI) Explosion (1060–1090); (VII) Maturité (1090–1140); (VIII) L'essor du décor monumental (1090–1140); (IX) Ruptures et mutations (1140–1180).

Notes, p.353–67. Glossaire, p.368–69. Bibliographie, p.370–78. Index, p.379–83.

- I320 Zerner, Henri. L'art de la Renaissance en France: l'invention du classicisme. Paris, Flammarion, 1996. 414p. il. (part col.), plans.

Comprehensive analysis of the development of Renaissance art and architecture in France in the 16th century. Examines themes and trends from the major and minor arts, with an emphasis on architecture and painting. Explores the Italian influence on the evolution of style and taste within French cultural context. "Zerner must be congratulated for this stimulating survey of a crucial period. With more than 400 pages and 451 illustrations it constitutes a landmark in the study of French renaissance art."—Review, Burlington magazine, v.141, April 1999, p.237.

Contents: (I) Le gothique à la renaissance; (II) Fontainebleau, Rosso et la galerie François Ier; (III) Le classicisme antiquisant des années 1540: Cellini, Serlio et Primatice; (IV) Les enseignements de Fontainebleau; (V) Lescot, Goujon et le Louvre; (VI) Les Clouet; (VII) Jean Cousin et la peinture; (VIII) Jean Cousin et les métiers d'art; (IX) Paris et les provinces; (X) La sculpture et la mort; (XI) Le sentiment national—Philibert de l'Orme.

Notes, p.390–402. Bibliographie, p.403–9. Index, p.410–14.

Germany and Austria

- I321 Belting, Hans. The Germans and their art: a troublesome relationship. Trans. by Scott Kleager. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1998. vi, 120p. il.

Collection of essays by a thoughtful practitioner.

Contents: (I) New questions, old answers; (II) Searching for the German style; (III) Art historians and the "German question"; (IV) Resistance to the modern movement in Germany; (V) The banning of German expressionism and "degenerate art"; (VI) The escape into "occidental art"; (VII) German art; Epilogue.

Sources, p.112–20.

- I322 Berlin und die Antike: Architektur, Kunstgewerbe, Malerei, Skulptur, Theater und Wissenschaft vom 16. Jahrhundert bis heute. Hrsg. von Willmuth Arenhövel. Berlin, Deutsches Archäologisches Institut (Ausl. Wasmuth), 1979. 2v.

Catalog published to accompany the exhibition marking the 150th anniversary of the Deutsches Archäologisches Institut (Schloss Charlottenburg, 1979). Well-organized combination of scholarly essays and an illustrated catalog of more than 1000 detailed entries with references. Explores the influence of antiquity on culture in Berlin from the 16th to the 20th centuries. Covers fine arts, decorative and applied arts, architecture and architectural decoration, printing and graphic arts, and theatrical and film design.

Zeitaftel, v.1, p.470–89. Verzeichnis de Fachausdrücke, v.1, p.490–97. Verzeichnis der abgekürzten Literatur, v.1, p.498–503, v.2, p.571–73. Register, v.1, p.506–25, v.2, p.574–86.

- I323 Braunfels, Wolfgang. Die Kunst im Heiligen Römischen Reich Deutscher Nation. München, Beck, 1979–1989. 6v.

Landmark study suitable for the advanced reader or researcher. Originally conceived as a definitive eight vol.

study; six vols. were published before Braunfels' death in 1989. Comprehensive, scholarly work with many fine quality black-and-white illustrations and plans. Unpublished vols. are (VII) Das Werk der Bürger und der Höfe, 1250–1648 and (VIII) Vom Barock zur bürgerlichen Bildung, 1648–1870.

Contents: Die Räume: (I) Die weltlichen Fürstentümer; (II) Die geistlichen Fürstentümer; (III) Reichsstädte, Graf-schaften, Reichsklöster. Die Grenzen: (IV) Grenzstaaten im Westen und Süden, deutsche und romanische Kultur; (V) Grenzstaaten im Osten und Norden, deutsche und slawische Kultur. Die Zeiten: (VI) Das Werk der Kaiser, Bischöfe, Äbte und ihrer Künstler, 750–1250.

Anmerkungen, v.I, p.381–[403], v.II, p.393–[436], v.III, p.437–[62], v.IV, p.387–[405], v.V, p.349–[74], v.VI, p.309–[24]. Personen- und Ortsregister, v.I, p.407–[24], v.II, p.439–[51], v.III, p.465–[78], v.IV, 407–[16], v.V, p.377–[85], v.VI, p.325–[32].

- I324 Davidson, Mortimer G. Kunst in Deutschland, 1933–1945: eine wissenschaftliche Enzyklopädie der Kunst im Dritten Reich. 2. überarb. Aufl. Tübingen, Grabert, 1988–. (3v. in 4)

Unable to verify existence of previous ed.

An exhaustive compilation of art and architecture produced in Germany under the Nazis. "The purpose of this encyclopedia is precisely to give the public the opportunity to form its own judgement. . . . Its sole aim is to present the works themselves and to offer this field, if not an exhaustive documentation, still the world's most comprehensive survey existing to date."—Foreword. Texts in English, French, and German. Each entry is accompanied by a photograph and each vol. contains detailed biographical notes.

Contents: (1) Skulpturen; (2:1) Malerei, A–P; (2:2) Malerei, R–Z; (3:1) Architektur.

Bibliographie/Bibliography, v.1, p.[519]–34, v.2/2, p.[475]–87, v.3, p.[579]–621.

- I325 Degenerate art: the fate of the avant-garde in Nazi Germany. Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Museum of Art, 1991. 423p. il. (part col.), ports.

Catalog published in conjunction with the exhibition, Los Angeles County Museum of Art and the Art Institute of Chicago (1991). The goal of the exhibition was to reconstruct, as closely as possible, and analyze the far-reaching legacy of the 1937 National Socialist exhibition, Entartete Kunst, which toured Germany and Austria for four years.

Contents: 1937: modern art and politics in prewar Germany, by Stephanie Barron; Beauty without sensuality/the exhibition Entartete Kunst, by George L. Mosse; Three days in Munich, July 1937, by Peter Guenther; Entartete Kunst, Munich 1937: a reconstruction, by Mario-Andreas von Lütichau; An "educational exhibition": the precursors of Entartete Kunst and its individual venues, by Christoph Zuschlag; The fight for modern art: the Berlin Nationalgalerie after 1933, by Annegret Janda; On the trail of missing masterpieces: modern art from German galleries, by Andreas Hüneke; The Galerie Fischer auction, by Stephanie Barron; A musical facade for the Third Reich, by Michael Meyer; Film censorship during the Nazi era, by William Moritz.

Facsimile of the Entartete Kunst exhibition brochure, p.356–91. Chronology, p.391–401. Exhibition ephemera, p.404. Entartete Kunst: the literature, p.405. Selected bibliography, p.405–11. Index, p.419–23.

- I326 Dehio, Georg Gottfried. Geschichte der deutschen Kunst: Kunstgeschichte als Kulturgeschichte. Hrsg. von Eugen Thurnher. Berlin, Nicolai, 1993. 183p. (Deutsche Bibliothek des Ostens)

See GLAH 1:I295 for 1923–34 ed. in 8v.

This compilation of selections, excerpted from vols. I–III (1930–31) includes a substantial essay by Thurnher on the historical context for Dehio's work and its subsequent influence.

Contents: (I) Was heisst "deutsche Kunst?"; (II) Römisches Erbe und romanische Kunst; (III) Staufisches Kaisertum und frühe Gotik; (IV) Universale Kirche und französische Gesellschaftskultur; (V) Deutscher Bürgersinn in der Spätgotik; (VI) Werbau und Wohnbau; (VII) Humanismus, Renaissance, Reformation; (VIII) Die Welt des Barock; (IX) Musik, Dichtung, Kunst Anmerkungen zum Nachwort, p.181–82.

- I327 ———. Handbuch der deutschen Kunstdenkmäler. Begründ. vom Tag für Denkmalpflege 1900: Fortgeführt von Ernst Gall. Neubearb. besorgt durch die Dehio-Vereinigung. München, Deutscher Kunstverlag, 1964–.

See GLAH 1:I296 for previous vols. and eds. Some previous vols. were reprinted since the publication of GLAH 1, but have been omitted here. New eds. for Berlin, Brandenburg, Hessen, Mecklenburg-Vorpommern, and Rheinland are in preparation. Supp. vols. (Sonderbände) published in conjunction with the series are Mitteldeutschland (1991), München (1996), and West- und Ostpreussen (1993). Revised vols. are listed here:

Contents: Hessen (1982); Bezirke Berlin, DDR und Potsdam (1983); Rheinland/Pfalz/Saarland (1984); Landes Nordrhein-Westfalen II: Westfalen (1986); Bezirke Cottbus und Frankfurt/Oder (1987); Bayern II: Niederbayern (1988); Bayern III: Schwaben (1989); Bayern IV: München und Oberbayern (1990); Sachsen-Anhalt (1990); Bezirk Halle (1990); Bezirke Neubrandenburg, Rostock, Schwerin, Mecklenburg (1990); Bayern V: Regensburg und die Oberpfalz (1991); Bremen, Niedersachsen (1992); Baden-Württemberg I: die Regierungsbezirke Stuttgart und Karlsruhe (1993); West- und Ostpreussen (1993); Regierungsbezirke Stuttgart und Karlsruhe (1993); Berlin (1994); Hamburg, Schleswig-Holstein (1994); München (1996); Sachsen I: Regierungsbezirk Dresden (1996); Baden-Württemberg II: die Regierungsbezirke Freiburg und Tübingen (1997); Sachsen II: Regierungsbezirke Leipzig und Chemnitz (1998); Bayern I: Franken (1999); Sachsen-Anhalt II: Regierungsbezirk Dessau und Halle (1999).

- I328 Dehio-Handbuch: die Kunstdenkmäler Österreichs. Hrsg. vom Institut für österreichische Kunstforschung der Bundesdenkmalamtes. Wien, Schroll, 1976–. (9)v.

See GLAH 1:I297 for previous ed.

Later vols. in this ed. are ed. by the Bundesdenkmalamt, Abteilung für Denkmalforschung.

Contents: Karten (1976); Burgenland (1976); Graz (1979); Tirol (1980); Stiermark (1982); Voralberg (1983); Salzburg (1986); Niederösterreich, nördlich der Donau (1990); Wien, 3v. (1993–96).

I329 Feuchtmüller, Rupert. Kunst in Österreich: vom frühen Mittelalter bis zur Gegenwart. Wien, Forum, [1972–73]. 2v. il. (part col.)

In-depth survey of fine arts, architecture, and decorative arts of Austria illustrated throughout with full size plates in color and black and white. Despite its publication date, this is still a useful overview, especially for its extensive classified bibliography.

Contents: (1) Die Romanik, die Gotik, die Renaissance; (2) Das Barock, das 19. Jahrhundert, das 20. Jahrhundert.

Literaturverzeichnis, v.1, p.265–74, v.2, p.286–96. Erläuterungen der wichtigsten Fachausdrücke, v.1, p.275–78, v.2, p.284. Personen-, Orts- und Sachregister, v.1, p.280–87, v.2, p.273–83.

I330 German art from Beckmann to Richter: images of a divided country. Ed. by Eckhart Gillen. [Trans., Susan Bernofsky . . . (et al.)]. Köln, DuMont Buchverlag; [Berlin,] Berliner Festspiele GmbH and Museumspädagogischer Dienst Berlin (Distr. by Yale Univ. Pr., 1997). 546p. il. (part col.)

Substantial survey published in conjunction with the exhibition, Deutschlandbilder: Kunst aus einem geteilten Land, Martin-Gropius-Bau, Berlin (1997–98). Aims "to present and interpret as objectively as possible" the German cultural landscape of the post-war era.

Artists' biographies, p.500–45. Selected exhibitions and publications on German art after 1945, p.545.

I331 German art in the 20th century: painting and sculpture 1905–1985. Ed. by Christos M. Joachimides . . . [et al.] [Munich], Prestel (Distr. by Te Neues, 1985). 518p. il. (part col.), ports.

Published to accompany the first in an ambitious series of exhibitions coordinated by the Royal Academy to survey major accomplishments in 20th century art. Shown at the Royal Academy, London and at the Staatsgalerie, Stuttgart in 1985–86. Well-illustrated with brief, informative essays on pivotal artists and movements by noted art historians and curators.

Bibliographical references throughout the text. Biographies of the artists, p.[478]–501. Chronology, p.[502]–10. Selected bibliography, p.[511]–12. Index, p.[516]–18.

I332 Geschichte der bildenden Kunst in Österreich. [Hrsg. von Hermann Fillitz im Auftrag der Österreichische Akademie der Wissenschaften Wien.] N.Y., Prestel, 1998–. (3v. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

Monumental, beautifully produced survey of Austrian art, from the early Middle Ages through the Baroque.

Selective contents: (1) Früh- und Hochmittelalter, hrsg. von Hermann Fillitz (1998); (2) Gotik, hrsg. von Günter Brucher (2000); (4) Barock, hrsg. von Hellmut Lorenz (1999).

Includes bibliographical references. Glossar, v.1, p.[586]–87, v.2, p.[593]–95. Regentenverzeichnis, v.1, p.587. Bibliographie, v.1, p.588–610, v.2, p.[596]–618, v.3, p.[641]–75. Register, v.1, p.[611]–14, v.2, p.[619]–22 [Ortsregister], p.[623] [Personenregister], v.3, p.[677]–80 [Ortsregister], p.680–86 [Personenregister].

I333 Geschichte der deutschen Kunst. Leipzig, Seemann, 1981–. (10)v.

In-depth survey of German arts and architecture by notable scholars. Suitable for the advanced reader. Volumes contain extensive timelines organized by media. Modestly illustrated.

Contents: Geschichte der deutschen Kunst, 1350–1470, hrsg. von Ernst Ullmann (1981); Kunst der DDR, 1945–1959, hrsg. von Ullrich Kuhrt (1982); Ullman, Ernst. Deutsche Architektur und Plastik, 1470–1550: Sonderband (1984); Ullmann, Ernst. Deutsche Malerei, Graphik, Kunsthandwerk, 1470–1550: Sonderband (1985); Feist, Peter H. . . . [et al.] Geschichte der deutschen Kunst, 1848–1890 (1987); Geschichte der deutschen Kunst, 1890–1918, hrsg. von Harald Olbrich (1988); Geschichte der deutschen Kunst, 1200–1350, hrsg. von Friedrich Mobius (1989); Geschichte der deutschen Kunst, 1918–1945, hrsg. von Harald Olbrich (1990).

Each vol. contains notes and index.

I334 Geschichte der deutschen Kunst. München, Beck, 1998–2000. 3v.

The chapters in this well-illustrated and comprehensive survey are divided into concise sections treating individual monuments, media, iconography, architectural elements, artists, and historical trends. The very detailed table of contents allows quick access to specific topics. Covers all media and includes many illustrations, plans, and elevations.

Contents: (1) Klotz, Heinrich. Mittelalter 600–1400; (2) Warnke, Martin. Spätmittelalter und frühe Neuzeit 1400–1750; (3) Klotz, Heinrich. Aufklärung und Moderne 1750–2000.

Anmerkungen, v.1, p.[434]–37, v.2, p.[456]–72. Fachausdrücke, v.1, p.[438]–42, v.2, p.[473]–76. Bibliographie, v.1, p.[443]–60, v.2, p.[477]–83. Ortsregister, v.1, p.[461]–66, v.2, p.[484]–86. Namensregister, v.1, p.[467]–71, v.2, p.[487]–92.

I335 Gordon, Donald E. Expressionism, art and idea. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1987. xvii, 263p. il. (part col.), plates.

With original research begun in the early 1970s, this volume is one of the earliest comprehensive studies of German Expressionism to appear in English. Published after Gordon's death in 1984, its goal is to present the reader with a cohesive analysis of the numerous artists and disparate trends now identified as Expressionism. Emphasis on painting and sculpture, with briefer treatments of architecture and the graphic arts. Includes chapters on intellectual context and critical response. Modestly illustrated.

Notes, p.217–43. Bibliography, p.245–57. Index, p.259–63.

- I336 Kunst in Berlin, 1648–1987. [Katalogred., Arne Effenberger . . . (et al.)] Berlin, Henschelverlag, 1987. 511p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Altes Museum, Staatliche Museen zu Berlin (1987) marking the 750th anniversary of Berlin. Though this catalog reflects some technical limitations common to publishing in the former Eastern Bloc, it is useful for the large range of objects included, the detailed catalog entries, and the vast bibliography. Essays are interspersed throughout the catalog.

Contents: (A) Barock in Berlin. Holländische Kultur in Brandenburg, 1648–1694; (B) Barock in Berlin. Schlüter und die Kunst seiner Zeit, 1694–1713; (C) Barock in Berlin. Spartanische Jahre für die Kunst, 1713–1740; (D) Friderizianisches Rokoko und Frühklassizismus. Von Knobelsdorff bis Chodowiecki, 1740–1795; (E) Klassizismus und Romantik. Zwischen Schadow und Schinkel, 1795–1815; (F) Biedermeier und Spätromantik. Zwischen Blechen und Cornelius, 1815–1848; (G) Nachbiedermeier. Menzel und seine Zeitgenossen, 1848–1871; (H) Gründerbarock, Naturalismus, Secession, Expressionismus: Der Sturm - Brücke - Erster Weltkrieg, 1871–1918; (I) Die zwanziger Jahre: Novembergruppe - Konstruktivismus - Berlin DADA - Verismus - Neue Sachlichkeit - Proletarisch-revolutionäre und antifaschistische Kunst, 1918–1933; (K) Berliner Künstler in Verfolgung und Widerstand, 1933–1945; (L) Sozialistisch-realistisches Kunstschaffen im neuen Berlin, 1945–1987.

Verzeichnis der abgekürzt zitierten Literatur, p.483–500. Künstlerverzeichnis, p.500–7. Nachträge, p.509–11.

- I337 Kunst in der DDR. Köln, Kiepenheuer & Witsch, 1990. 470p. il.

Twenty-one essays on a broad range of art and artists in the former East Germany followed by numerous entries describing artistic activity in five cities and regions, Berlin, Die Norden, Dresden, Chemnitz/Altenburg and Leipzig/Halle. A very useful volume for its overview of modern and contemporary arts in Germany before the removal of the Berlin Wall. Includes author biographies and a list of noteworthy museums and galleries.

Register, p.462–70.

- I338 Legner, Anton. Deutsche Kunst der Romanik. München, Hirmer, 1982. 210p. il. (part col.), plates.

Thorough survey of Romanesque art and architecture covering the regions comprised by present-day Germany, Switzerland, and Austria. Includes examples of textiles, stained glass, furniture, seals, metalwork, and book arts. Very well illustrated with full-size plates, many in color. The bibliography is classified and the plates, numbering nearly 500, are followed by annotated entries containing additional bibliographic citations.

Bibliographie, p.124–32, 199–201. Ortsregister, p.202–7. Namenregister, p.207–9.

- I339 Lieb, Norbert. München, die Geschichte seiner Kunst. [München], Callwey, [1988] [4., völlig überarb. und erw. Aufl.] 619p. il. (part col.)

1st ed., München, Callwey, 1971. 2d ed., 1977. 3d ed., 1982.

Detailed survey of art and architecture in Munich set against an historical backdrop from the Middle Ages through the post-war period. Includes useful index of buildings and monuments arranged by type.

Künstler-Register, p.608–12. Werk-Register, p.613–17.

- I340 Österreichische Kunsttopographie. Wien, Schroll, 1907–. (50)v.

See GLAH 1:I302 for previous vols.

Contents: (42) Die profanen Bau- und Kunstdenkmäler der Stadt Linz. Die Altstadt (1977); (44) Wien, die Profanenbauten des III. IV. und V. Bezirkes (1980); (45) Stadt Innsbruck. II. Teil: Die Profanenbauten (1981); (46) Stadt Graz. Die Profanenbauten des IV. und V. Bezirkes (1984); (47) Stadt Innsbruck. Die Hofbauten (1986); (48) Die Kunstsammlungen des Augustiner-Chorherrenstiftes St. Florian (1988); (49) Die Kunstdenkmäler des politischen Bezirkes Mattersburg (1993); (50) Die Profanen Bau- und Kunstdenkmäler der Stadt Linz. Die Landstrasse. Obere und Untere Vorstadt (1986); (51) Die Profanen Bau- und Kunstdenkmäler der Stadt Friesach (1991); (52) Die Sakralen Kunstdenkmäler der Stadt Innsbruck, 2v. (1994); (53) Die Kunstdenkmäler der Stadt Graz (1997).

- I341 Papenbrock, Martin. Entartete Kunst, Exilkunst, Widerstandskunst in westdeutschen Ausstellungen nach 1945: eine kommentierte Bibliographie. Weimar, Verlag und Datenbank für Geisteswissenschaften, 1996. 564p. (Schriften der Guernica-Gesellschaft, 3)

Bibliography seeking to quantify the presence of persecuted and proscribed artists in West German exhibitions after the war, based on more than 1,000 exhibitions and artists.

Ausstellungen, p.71–413. Künstler, p.415–551. Ausgewählte Literatur, p.553–64.

- I342 The Romantic spirit in German art, 1790–1990. Ed. by Keith Hartley . . . [et al.] London, Thames and Hudson, 1994. 501p. il. (part col.), maps.

Exhaustive catalog of the exhibition (Royal Scottish Academy, 1994), and other locations. Examines romanticism in 19th- and 20th-century German art and traces its influence on subsequent periods through the post-war and contemporary era. "What we have done . . . is to look at a series of these concepts that go together to make up the movement as a whole. These go under the main rubrics of Nature, Man and History and deal specifically with ideas such as the divine spirit in Nature, the unity of the cosmos, man's (and more specifically the artist's) ultimate loneliness and subsequent longing for fellowship and community with like-minded individuals, the loss of Innocence and consequent longing to regain the wholeness of Paradise, and utopias of the past."—Introd. 47 essays by German and British historians and curators, profusely illustrated.

Scholarly notes and references throughout. Biographies, p.[485]–93. Chronology, p.[494]–501.

- I343 Suckale, Robert. Kunst in Deutschland: von Karl dem Grossen bis heute. Köln, DuMont, 1998. 688p. il. (part col.)

Beautifully realized survey covering 1200 years of art and architecture produced by the German-speaking peoples of Europe. Seeks to place artistic production firmly in a political and social context as well as exploring links with other European cultures. Covers all media. Superbly illustrated and formatted.

Contents: (1) Die Kaiserkunst (800–1060); (2) Gregorianische Kirchenreform und ritterliche Hofkultur (1060–1250); (3) Übernahme und Umwandlung der französischen Gotik (1250–1420); (4) Höhepunkte und Krisen der Kunst im Zeitalter der Reformationen (1420–1530); (5) Die Fürstenkunst nach italienischem Vorbild (1530–1650); (6) Die Kunst im Absolutismus - der nachgeholte Barock (1650–1760); (7) Die Freisetzung der Künste in der modernen Gesellschaft (1760–1890); (8) Das 20. Jahrhundert - die Epoche der Avantgarden und ihres Scheiterns.

Literaturempfehlungen, p.637–56. Register, p.658–83.

- I344 Varnedoe, Kirk. Vienna 1900: art, architecture & design. N.Y., Museum of Modern Art, 1986. 264p. il. (part col.)

Published on the occasion of the exhibition, the Museum (1986). A landmark exhibition on art and design in fin-de-siècle Vienna.

Notes, p.227–35. Chronology, p.237–44. Bibliography, p.245–56. Index, p.261–64.

- I345 Vienna, 1890–1920. Ed. by Robert Waissenberger with contributions by Hans Bisanz . . . [et al.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1984. 276p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Wien, 1890–1920. Wien, Ueberreuter, 1984.

The first of Waissenberger's two volumes (see the following title) on Vienna provides a comprehensive introduction to the artistic, political, cultural, intellectual, and social life during this period marked by intense artistic activity. Includes sections on music, opera, literature, and theatre. The English translation is readable and very well illustrated.

Select bibliography, p.263. Guide to persons mentioned in the book, p.265–70. Index, p.272–76.

- I346 Vienna in the Biedermeier era, 1815–1848. Ed. by Robert Waissenberger with contributions by Hans Bisanz . . . [et al.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1986. 280p. il. (part col.), map, music, plans.

Trans. of Wien, 1815–1848: Burgersinn und Aufbegehren, die Zeit des Biedermeier und Vormarz. Wien, Ueberreuter, 1986.

Companion to the preceding title. Uses the same well organized, accessible format to examine the development and influence of the Biedermeier style in Vienna. Covers painting, sculpture, architecture, decorative and graphic arts, fashion, literature, and music.

Guide to persons mentioned in the book, p.272–76. Index, p.277–80.

Great Britain and Ireland

- I347 Age of chivalry: art in Plantagenet England, 1200–1400. Ed. by Jonathan Alexander and Paul Binski. London, Royal Academy of Arts in assoc. with Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1987. 575p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

Published to accompany the third of a trilogy of exhibitions (see also GLAH 2:I352, GLAH 2:I354) intended to make "accessible to the British public nearly five centuries of their art inheritance."—Foreword. The catalog of this exhibition (Royal Academy of Art, 1987–88) presents a cohesive view of artistic production in the Middle Ages through in-depth, readable essays covering history, iconography, religion, patronage, style, and technique. The essays are followed by 748 detailed, well-illustrated catalog entries covering all media.

Selective contents: Image and history, by Jeffrey Denton; Attitudes to the visual arts: the evidence from written sources, by T. A. Heslop; The language of images in medieval England, 1200–1400, by Michael Camille; Women and art in England in the 13th and 14th centuries, by Veronica Sekules; Artists, craftsmen, and design in England, 1200–1400, by Nigel Ramsay; Medieval heraldry, by Anne Payne; English gothic architecture, by Paul Crossley; The English response to French gothic architecture, c.1200–1350, by Christopher Wilson; Architecture and liturgy, by Peter Draper; The kingdom of heaven: its architectural setting, by Nicola Coldstream; Sculpture, by Paul Williamson; Gothic ivory carving in England, by Neil Stratford; English seals in the 13th and 14th centuries, by T. A. Heslop; Woodwork, by Charles Tracy; Misericords, by Christa Grössinger; Wall painting, by David Park; Panel painting, by Pamela Tudor-Craig; Stained glass, c.1200–1400, by Richard Marks; Manuscript illumination of the 13th and 14th centuries, by Nigel J. Morgan and Lucy Freeman Sandler; Embroidery and textiles, by Donald King; Metalwork in England, c.1200–1400, by Marian Campbell; Arms and armour by Claude Blair; Monumental brasses by Paul Binski; Decorative wrought iron, by Jane Geddes; Jewellery, pottery, and tiles, by John Cherry; The wheel of fortune: the appreciation of gothic since the middle ages, by Thomas Cooke.

Glossary, p.541–44. Bibliography, p.545–65. Index, p.566–72.

- I348 Arnold, Bruce. A concise history of Irish art. [Rev. ed.] N.Y., Oxford, 1977. 180p. il. (part col.) (World of art) (Repr.: N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1989)

1st ed.: N.Y., Praeger, 1969.

Brief introduction to the major stylistic phases of Irish art and architecture. Modestly illustrated. "Landscape, topography, portraiture, historical painting, silver, glass, even architecture—a distinctive national style and character, a difference of light, a sense of history evolving and of people being involved in it, are all contributory factors to the overall idea which has been the mainspring of this book."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The Celtic era; (2) From the Viking invasion to 1700; (3) The age of Swift; (4) Ireland her own; (5) Landscape into art; (6) The Celtic revival; (7) Jack Yeats and the moderns.

Bibliography, p.175–76. Index, p.177–80.

- I349 The arts of Britain. Ed. by Edwin Mullins. Oxford, Phaidon, 1983. 288p. il. (part col.)

Well-illustrated essays survey the fine arts, architecture, decorative, and applied arts. "The theme of this book is the visual arts of Britain in the widest possible sense, embracing whatever the people of these islands have built and shaped, coloured and decorated with a more than utilitarian purpose, from pre-history to the present day."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Painting and drawing, by Edwin Mullins; (2) Photography, by John Taylor; (3) Prints and book illustration, by Joyce Irene Whalley; (4) Folk art, by James Ayres; (5) Architecture, by J. M. Richards; (6) Building in the vernacular, by James Ayres; (7) Stained glass, by David O'Connor; (8) Garden design, by Arthur Hellyer; (9) Sculpture, by Paul Williamson and Nicholas Penny; (10) Arms and armour, by G. M. Wilson; (11) Ceramics, by Gaye Blake Roberts; (12) Glass, by Charles Hajdamach; (13) Textiles, by Joan Allgrove McDowell; (14) Jewellery, by Anna Somers Cocks; (15) Silver, by Philippa Granville; (16) Furniture, by Geoffrey Beard; (17) Clocks and watches, by Charles Aked; (18) Musical instruments, by Jeremy Montagu; (19) Modern studio crafts, by Marigold Coleman; (20) Industrial design, by Stephen Bayley; (21) Early Britain, by Barry Cunliffe; (22) North America: the British legacy, by James Ayres.

Public collections, p.275–77. Bibliography, p.278–82. Index, p.283–87.

- I350 British art in the 20th century: the modern movement. Munich, Prestel, (Distr. by Te Neues, 1986). 457p., il. (part col.), ports.

Published to accompany the second in a series of exhibitions, Royal Academy of Art (1987) examining modern and contemporary painting and sculpture. Essays are followed by a chronological catalog of 310 objects with additional commentary selected to illustrate major artistic trends and influences. Very well illustrated.

Selective contents: Formalism and the figurative tradition in British painting, by Andrew Causey; The emancipation of modern British sculpture, by Richard Cork; Critical theories and the practice of art, by Charles Harrison; Machine Age, apocalypse and pastoral, by Richard Cork; Figure and place: a context for five post-war artists, by Dawn Ades; Art controversies of the seventies, by Caroline Tisdall; British twentieth century art: a transatlantic view, by Robert Rosenblum.

Biographies of the artists, p.[418]–48. Selected bibliography, p.[449]–52. Index of names, p.[455]–57.

- I351 Cambridge guide to the arts in Britain. Ed. by Boris Ford. Cambridge, [Eng.], Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1988–1991. 9v., il. (part col.)

Well-organized, detailed, and readable, these handbooks are arranged chronologically and include discussions of cultural, social and historical context throughout. Covers music, theater, and literature as well as architecture and the fine, applied, and decorative arts. Each vol. contains extensive bibliographies which include monographs, periodical literature, primary sources, references to relevant institutions, biographies, and suggested readings. Separate place name, personal name, and subject indexes. Sparsely illustrated, but valuable for a wide range of reading and research needs.

Contents: (1) Prehistoric, Roman and early medieval; (2) The Middle Ages; (3) Renaissance and Reformation; (4) The seventeenth century; (5) The Augustan age; (6) Romantics to early Victorians; (7) The later Victorian age; (8) The Edwardian age and the inter-war years; (9) Since the Second World War.

Each vol. contains suggested reading and references.

- I352 English Romanesque art, 1066–1200. [Ed. by George Zarnecki, Janet Holt, and Tristram Holland.] London, Weidenfield and Nicolson, The Arts Council of Great Britain, 1984. 416p. il. (part col.), map, plans.

Published to accompany the first in a series of three exhibitions on Medieval English art (see also GLAH 2:I347, GLAH 2:I354). This exhibition (Hayward Gallery, 1984) included manuscripts, wall paintings, stained glass, sculpture, ivory, metalwork, seals, coins, book bindings, pottery, and textiles. Substantial introductory essays and catalog entries by noted art historians and curators. The bibliography is arranged by media and contains useful brief essays and annotations. Modestly illustrated.

Selective contents: General introduction, by George Zarnecki; English Romanesque architecture, by Richard Gem; The historical background, by Christopher Brooke; Manuscripts, by Jonathan Alexander and Michael Kauffmann; Wall paintings, by George Zarnecki; Stained glass, by Madeline H. Caviness; Sculpture, by Peter Lasko . . . [et al.]; Metalwork, by Neil Stratford . . . [et al.]; Decorative ironwork, by Jane Geddes; Seals, by T. A. Heslop; Coins, by Marion Archibald; Bindings, by Mirjam Foot; Pottery, by John Cherry; Textiles, by Donald King; Rediscovery of the Romanesque, by Thomas Cocke and C.R. Dodwell.

Bibliography, p.[393]–406. Chronology, p.[407]–11. Map, p.412. Glossary, p.[413]–16.

- I353 Fallon, Brian. Irish art, 1830–1990. Belfast, Appletree, 1994. 208p. il. (part col.), plates.

This recent survey, suitable for the general reader, attempts to fill in gaps persistent in the history of visual culture in Ireland and to place Irish artistic accomplishments in social and historical contexts.

Contents: (1) The Irish romantics; (2) Maclise: the Irish Victorian; (3) The French connection; (4) The new century; (5) The gold and silver age; (6) Into the modern movement; (7) Irish sculpture; (8) The crafts revival; (9) The modern epoch.

Bibliography, p.[195]–99. Index, p.[201]–8.

- I354 Golden age of Anglo-Saxon art, 966–1066. Ed. by Janet Backhouse, D. H. Turner, Leslie Webster. With contrib. by Marion Archibald . . . [et al.] Bloomington, Univ. of Indiana Pr., 1985. 216p. il. (part col.), plates.

Catalog accompanying the second in a series of three exhibitions (See GLAH 2:I347, GLAH 2:I352) devoted to English medieval art. The catalog of this exhibition (British Museum, 1984–85) follows the format of its companion publications. "This is a reference book of lasting value that should have its place on the shelves of all who are involved with the study of any aspect of late Anglo-Saxon civilization."—Review, Antiquity, v.61, no.231, March 1987, p.141.

Selective contents: The legacy of Alfred, by Leslie Webster; Illuminated manuscripts, by D. H. Turner; Metalwork and sculpture, by Leslie Webster; Anglo-Saxon architecture of the 10th and 11th centuries, by Richard Gem; Literature, learning and documentary sources, by Janet Backhouse; Anglo-Saxon coinage, Alfred to the Conquest, by Marion M. Archibald; After the Conquest, by Janet Backhouse.

Bibliography, p.210–15. Further reading, p.216.

- I355 Harbison, Peter. Irish art and architecture from pre-history to the present. London, Thames and Hudson, 1978. 272p. il. (part col.), facsim., map, plans, ports. (Repr.: London, Thames and Hudson, 1993)

Still useful, this survey offers a simple, well-organized introduction to artistic activity over a span of 5,000 years. The authors have tried to place the works selected for discussion and analysis "in the context of their time and to relate them to contemporary styles of art and architecture outside Ireland."—Pref.

Bibliography, p.265–68. Index, p.269–72.

- I356 Henig, Martin. The art of Roman Britain. Ann Arbor, Univ. of Michigan Pr., 1995. 224p. il. (part col.) plates.

In this survey the author re-evaluates the merits of Roman art imported to or produced in Britain. "Although Anglo-Saxon art finds a place in most courses on art in the British Isles, Roman Britain has until now been beneath the notice of professional art historians. . . . I have attempted to present, in seven chapters, how art was practiced and what it meant in Roman Britain."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The art of the Celts; (2) Art in the era of conquest; (3) Art and the Roman army; (4) The uses of art in Roman Britain; (5) Natives and strangers in Roman Britain; (6) Artists and their patrons; (7) Art in late Roman Britain; (8) Attitudes to the art of Roman Britain.

Abbreviations, p.190. Notes and references, p.191–203. Bibliography, p.204–12. Glossary, p.213–14. Index, p.215–24.

- I357 Kennedy, S. B. Irish art and modernism, 1880–1950. Belfast, Institute of Irish Studies, Queen's Univ. of Belfast, 1991. xii, 397p. il. (part col.)

Published to accompany the exhibition (Hugh Lane Municipal Gallery of Art and the Ulster Museum, 1991–92). Examines the connection between Irish 20th-century artists and external trends of international modernism. Seeks to refute the "popular view of the development of Irish art in the first half of the 20th century [which] is that it was little touched by the theories and ideas of the modern movement."—Introd. Contains nine chapters analyzing historical background and artistic trends from the 1920s–1950s as well as illustrated catalog entries for 132 works. Appendix 1: Society of Dublin Painters. Appendix 2: White Stag Group. Appendix 3: Irish Exhibition of Living Art.

Notes, p.345–67. Bibliography, p.376–86. Index, p.387–97.

- I358 Laing, Lloyd Robert. Early English art and architecture: archaeology and society. Phoenix Mill, [Eng.], Sutton, 1996. 246p. il. (part col.), plates, maps, plans. Survey covering the 5th to 12th century. Through archeological and other evidence, artistic production is examined in its social, religious, and economic context. "This book has been written in order to tie together the now huge amount of constantly changing material that has been accumulated on the Anglo-Saxons. . . . It also considers the legacy of Anglo-Saxon England to the Norman world."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The first Saxon settlers, 400–c.600 AD; (2) The pagan kingdoms, 600–c.700 AD; (3) The beginnings of Christianity, 600–c.800 AD (The middle Saxons); (4) The late Saxons, c.800–1066 (The Viking era); (5) The Saxo-Norman overlap; (Appendix) Sources for the Anglo-Saxons.

Bibliography, p.218–39. Index, p.240–46.

- I359 Macmillan, Duncan. Scottish art in the 20th century. Edinburgh, Mainstream, 1994. 192p. col. il.

Introductory survey of painting and sculpture with many good quality color illustrations. Expanded, updated, and more fully illustrated version of the last six chapters of the author's Scottish art 1460–1990 (GLAH 2:M289).

Contents: (1) The early modernists; (2) Between the wars; (3) Wartime and the post-war world; (4) The 1960s and 1970s; (5) Old themes and new beginnings.

Notes, p.[175]–76. List of plates, p.176–81. Select bibliography, p.[182]–86. Index, p.[187]–92.

- I360 The Oxford history of English art. Ed. by T. S. R. Boase, Oxford [Eng.], Clarendon, 1949–. (11)v.

See GLAH 1:I313 for previous vols.

Contents: (11) Farr, Dennis. English art, 1879–1940 (1978).

- I361 Scotland creates: 5,000 years of art and design. Ed. by Wendy Kaplan. London, Glasgow Museums & Art Galleries in assoc. with Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1990. 200p. il. (part col.)

Catalog published to accompany the exhibition, McLellan Galleries, Glasgow (1990–91). Seeks to identify and define a national character in art produced in Scotland from pre-history through the contemporary period. Essays prepared by art historians and curators cover the fine, decorative, and applied arts. Well illustrated, mostly in color. The bibliography is arranged by chapter.

Contents: (1) Art and design, 3000 BC–AD 1000, by John C. Barrett; (2) Art and the Church before the Reformation, by John Higgitt; (3) In search of Scottish art: native traditions and foreign influences, by David H. Caldwell; (4) Scotland's artistic links with Europe, by James Holloway; (5) Scottish design and the art of the book, 1500–1800, by John Morris; (6) The eighteenth-century interior in Scotland, by Ian Gow; (7) Industrial design in Scotland, 1700–1900, by John Hume; (8) Sir Walter Scott and nineteenth century painting in Scotland, by Lindsay Errington; (9) How many swallows make a summer? Art and design in Glasgow in 1900, by Roger Billcliffe; (10) "A gleam of Renaissance hope": Edinburgh at the turn of the century, by Elizabeth Cumming; (11) Scottish modernism and Scottish identity, by Tom Normand.

Bibliography, p.185–187. Index, p.189–92.

- I362 Sheehy, Jeanne. The rediscovery of Ireland's past: the Celtic revival, 1830–1930. Photographs by George Mott. London, Thames and Hudson, 1980. 208p. il. (part col.), facsim. (1 col.), plans, ports.

Introduction to the development and influence of Irish nationalism and historicism on fine arts, architecture and decorative arts. Many illustrations.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The antiquarians; (3) Young Ireland; (4) Painting, sculpture and architecture; (5) Popular and applied arts; (6) The Celtic revival; (7) Hugh Lane and the Gallery of Modern Art; (8) Later developments in architecture; (9) The Arts and Crafts movement; (10) Painting and sculpture after 1900.

Notes, p.194–99. Bibliography, p.200–3. Index, p.205–8.

I363 Walker, Dorothy. Modern art in Ireland. Foreword by Seamus Heaney. Dublin, Lilliput, 1997. 239p. il. (part col.)

Personal account, embracing artists from abroad who lived or worked in Ireland.

Bibliography, p.223–31. Index, p.233–39.

I364 Wilson, David M. Anglo-Saxon art: from the seventh century to the Norman conquest. London, Thames and Hudson, 1984. 224p. il. (part col.)

Well-illustrated survey examines the period through direct observation and analysis of surviving works of art. Covers architecture, sculpture, manuscript illumination, metalwork, and textiles. This "text constitutes the first general survey of the subject in some 40 years."—Review, Antiquity, v.61, no.231, March 1987, p.141.

Contents: (1) Taste, personalities and survival; (2) The seventh-century explosion; (3) The eighth and ninth centuries; (4) Influences; (5) From Alfred to the Conquest.

Sources, p.216–20. Index, p.221–24.

Italy

I365 Abbate, Francesco. Storia dell'arte nell'Italia meridionale. Roma, Donzelli, 1997–. (1)v. il. (part col.) (Progetti Donzelli)

Conceived as a 3-vol. history of art in Southern Italy, from the 6th to the end of the 18th century.

Contents: (1) Dai Longobardi agli Svevi (1997).

I366 L'arte a Roma nel secolo XVI. Di Sandro Benedetti e Giuseppe Zander. Bologna, Cappelli, 1990–1992. 2v. il., plans. (Storia di Roma, v.29)

See GLAH 1:I329 for a previous vol. in the series on Rome in the 15th Century.

Architectural projects are arranged by papal reign while painting and sculpture are treated by artist and chronologically. Scholarly work suitable for the advanced reader. Minimally illustrated in black and white.

Contents: (1) L'architettura; (2) La pittura e la scultura.

Vol.1: Appendice: Parte I: Cronologia, p.[613]–80; Parte II: Cenni bibliografici, p.[681]–718. Indice dei nomi, p.[725]–49. Indice dei luoghi e delle opere, p.[750]–77. Vol.2: Appendice: Parte I: Cronologia, p.[435]–72; Parte II: Bibliografici, p.[473]–502. Indice analitico, p.[505]–26.

I367 Bairati, Eleonora, and Finocchi, Anna. Arte in Italia: lineamenti di storia e materiali di studio. 3a ed. Torino, Loescher, 1988. 3v. il. (part col.)

1st ed. 1984. Intended as a handbook for students. The text and bibliography are updated in the 3d ed.

Contents: (1) Dalla preistoria al XIV secolo; (2) L'Italia nel Rinascimento; (3) Dal XVII al XX secolo.

Orientamenti bibliografici, v.1, p.565–69, v.2, p.502–04, v.3, p.768–772. Indice dei nomi, dei luoghi e delle cose notevoli, v.1, p.571–79, v.2, p.507–18, v.3, p.773–95.

I368 Bertaux, Émile. L'art dans l'Italie méridionale. Rome, École française de Rome, 1968–1978. 6v.

See GLAH 1:I322 for previous eds.

Volumes 1–3 are facsimile reprints of the 1903 ed. Volumes 4–6 are supplements to the work of Bertaux compiled under the direction of Adriano Prandi and published as L'art dans l'Italie méridionale, aggiornamento dell'opera di Émile Bertaux by the École française de Rome. These last three vols. consist of critical commentary by multiple authors following the structure of Bertaux's original text with the goal of bringing the scholarship up-to-date. Extensive notes and references appear throughout and large black-and-white illustrations have been added. The index in v.5 has also been published separately.

Indice geografico, v.5, p.1009–1044. Indice dei nomi propri, v.5, p.1045–1075. Indice degli argomenti, v.5, p.1077–1091.

I369 Blunt, Anthony. Artistic theory in Italy, 1450–1600. [Fourth corr. and upd. impr.]. Oxford, Oxford Univ. Pr., [1978]. vii, 170p. il. (Repr.: Oxford, Oxford Univ. Pr., 1989)

See GLAH 1:I323 for previous eds. Numerous previous reprints.

Apart from minor corrections to the text and the removal of some references, the text included here is that of the second ed. "The bibliography has, however, been completely revised and extended to include the large number of new and often well annotated editions of texts which have appeared in the last ten or fifteen years."—Pref.

Bibliography, p.[160]–65. Index, p.[168]–70.

I370 Burckhardt, Jakob Christoph. The civilization of the Renaissance in Italy. Trans. by S. G. C. Middlemore. With a new introd. by Peter Burke and notes by Peter Murray. London, Penguin, 1990. vii, 389p. (Repr.: Oxford, Phaidon, 1995)

See GLAH 1:I324 for previous eds. and numerous reprints.

Nearly all the notes from the standard Middlemore trans. have been removed in this new ed. Those remaining have been updated and expanded. Many new notes and references have been added.

Notes, p.[353]–70. Index, p.[371]–89.

I371 Chastel, André. Art et humanisme à Florence au temps de Laurent Ier Magnifique: études sur la Renaissance et l'humanisme platonicien. [3e. ed. mise à jour.] Paris, Presses Univ. de France, 1982. xxiii, 580p. il. plates.

See GLAH 1:I325 for previous eds.

Contains a new preface as well as major corrections and additions. The bibliography and extensive footnotes have been updated.

Bibliographie, p.[523]–49. Index, p.[551]–68.

I372 Di Genova, Giorgio. Storia dell'arte italiana del '900. Bologna, Bora, 1986–. (4)v. in 6. il. (part col.) Vol. 1–2 subtitled: per generazioni. Substantial history of 20th-century Italian art "by generations."

Contents: (1) Generazione maestri storici (3v.); (2) Generazione primo decennio (1986, rev. and upd. ed. 1996); (3) Generazione anni Dieci; (4) Generazione anni Venti.

Bibliographies and indexes in each vol.

I373 Hartt, Frederick. History of Italian Renaissance art: painting, sculpture, architecture. 4th ed., rev. by David G. Wilkins. N.Y., Abrams, 1994. 696p. il. (part col.), maps (part col.)

See GLAH 1:I332 for 1st ed. 2d ed., N.Y., Abrams, 1979; 3d ed., rev. and exp., Englewood Cliffs, N.J., Prentice-Hall, 1987.

The 4th ed. has been revised to maintain "the canon of works selected by Hartt to characterize the development of Italian renaissance art as well as the sequence in which he ordered them . . . new ideas and scholarship have been included where possible."—Pref. The bibliography has been extensively updated. Some black-and-white illustrations have been replaced with color, and some new illustrations have been added.

Glossary, p.662–68. Bibliography, p.669–77. Index, p.678–96.

I374 Hersey, George L. High renaissance art in St. Peter's and the Vatican: an interpretive guide. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1993. xiii, 305p. il.

A hybrid of guide and historical survey, this well-organized book examines the Vatican complex and its contents in considerable depth. "The advantage of a more generous volume like this is that group identity of these achievements and their common meanings, both conscious and otherwise, can be brought out."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Introduction: "The liberation of Italy"; (2) Personae; (3) The new St. Peter's; (4) The Cortile del Belvedere and museums; (5) The Stanze; (6) The Sistine Chapel and The Last Judgement; (7) The Loggia; (8) The tragedy of the tomb.

Chronology, p.277–79. Further reading, p.281–87. Analytical index, p.289–305.

I375 History of Italian art. Pref. by Peter Burke. Trans. by Ellen Bianchini and Claire Dorey. Cambridge, [Eng.], Polity Pr., 1994. 2v.

Trans. of essays from Storia dell'arte italiana. (GLAH 2:I383), selected to represent the diverse viewpoints and topics present in that twelve vol. series.

Contents: Vol. 1: (1) The Italian artist and his roles, by Peter Burke; (2) Centre and periphery, by Enrico Castelnuovo and Carlo Ginzburg; (3) Italian art and the art of antiquity, by Nicole Dacos; (4) The dispersal and conservation of art-historical property, by Francis Haskell; (5) The public reception of art, by Anna Mura. Vol.2: (1) The periodization of the history of Italian art, by Giovanni Previtali; (2) The iconography of Italian art, 1100–1500: an approach, by Salvatore Settis; (3) The history of art and the forms of religious life, by Bruno Toscano; (4) Renaissance and pseudo-Renaissance, by Federico Zeri; (5) Towards the modern manner: from Mantegna to Raphael, by Giovanni Romano.

Each essay is followed by notes and references.

Index, v.1, p.[325]–37, v.2, p.[489]–99.

I376 Italian art in the 20th century: painting and sculpture, 1900–1988. Ed. by Emily Braun; with contributions by Alberto Asor Rosa . . . [et al.] Munich, Prestel (Distr. by Te Neues, 1989). 465p. il. (part col.), ports. Chronological survey in the form of essays by noted art historians with emphasis on the impact of historical and social context. Published to accompany the third in the series of national exhibitions sponsored by the Royal Academy of Art (1989). Very well-illustrated. Scholarly footnotes follow each essay.

Biographies of the artists, p.[425]–45. Selected bibliography, p.[454]–57. Index of names, p.[461]–65.

I377 Lavagnino, Emilio. L'arte moderna dai neoclassici ai contemporanei. [Reprint.] [Torino], UTET, [1961]. 2v. (Storia dell'arte classica e italiana, 5)

See GLAH 1:I336 for 1st ed. Essentially a reprint of the text, these vols. contain several new illustrations and color plates and minor additions to the bibliography.

Bibliografia essenziale, p.1503–18. Indice degli artisti, p.1519–36. Indice dei luoghi e dei monumenti, p.1537–89.

I378 Maltese, Corrado. Storia dell'arte in Italia 1785–1943. Bibliographic appendix by Francesca Bertozzi and Rodolfo Profumo. [2d ed.]. Torino, Einaudi, 1992. xxxii, 505p. il., plates, plans. (Einaudi Tascabili, 113)

See GLAH 1:I340 for 1st ed.

The bibliographies, now combined at the end of the text and arranged thematically, have been updated and substantially expanded. Black-and-white illustrations are quite small.

Appendice bibliografica, p.[437]–67. Indice analitico, p.[469]–505.

I379 Memoria dell'antico nell'arte italiana. A cura di Salvatore Settis. Torino, Einaudi, 1984–1986. 3v. (Biblioteca di storia dell'arte, n.s. 1–3)

Essays by various authors examine, in detail, themes of the rediscovery and influence of antiquity on Italian art from the medieval to the modern period. Essays contain footnotes and references and each vol. contains a separate personal and place name index.

Selective contents: (1) L'uso dei classici; (2) I generi e i temi ritrovati; (3) Dalla tradizione all'archeologia.

Indice dei nomi, v.1, p.[447]–65, v.2, p.[443]–63, v.3, p.[489]–518. Indice dei luoghi, v.1, p.[467]–77, v.2, p.[465]–80, v.3, p.[519]–39.

- I380 Paoletti, John T., and Radke, Gary M. Art in Renaissance Italy. London, Lawrence King, 1997. 480p. il. (part col.)

Survey covering artistic activity in Rome, Florence, Venice, the Veneto, Assisi, Siena, Milan, Pavia, Padua, Mantua, Verona, Ferrara, Urbino, and Naples with an emphasis on placing works in their historical, social, and political context through the inclusion of Renaissance texts and the study of material culture and patronage.

Artists' biographies, p.439–51. Genealogies, p.452–55. Time chart, p.[456–57]. City plans, p.[458–60]. Glossary, p.461–63. Bibliography, p.464–70. Index, p.472–80.

- I381 Partridge, Loren M. The art of Renaissance Rome. N.Y., Abrams, 1996. 184p. il. (part col.), maps. (Perspectives)

Concise, well-illustrated survey of art and architecture in Rome emphasizing urban projects and issues of patronage. The author "approaches his chosen exemplars from the patron's point of view, but also deftly addresses questions of function, iconography, and artistic merit."—Review, Burlington magazine, v.139, June 1997, p.409. Numerous useful plans and maps. Written in a lively style suitable for a general audience.

Contents: (Introduction) Patronage and popes: saints or sinners; (1) Urbanism: rotting cadavers and the new Jerusalem; (2) Churches: Harmony of the spheres and construction chaos; (3) Palaces: magnificence and mayhem; (4) Altarpieces: spirit and matter; (5) Chapel decoration: space, time, and eternity; (6) Halls of state: arts of power; (Conclusion) 1600 and beyond.

Timeline, p.[174–75]. Renaissance popes, p.176. Bibliography, p.176–79. Index, p.181–84.

- I382 Romanini, Angiola Maria. Il Medioevo. Firenze, Sansoni, 1988. 493p. il. (part col.), plans. (Storia dell'arte classica e italiana, 2)

Substantial survey of medieval Italian art.

Contents: (I) Tardo-antico e Cristianesimo; (II) La "caduta dell'impero"; (III) I Longobardi in Italia; (IV) Dal "sacro romano impero" all'arte ottoniana; (V) Arts romanica; (VI) L'età gotica; (VII) Il "dolce stil novo" del gotico italiano.

Indice delle illustrazioni, p.483–[91].

- I383 Storia dell'arte italiana. Torino, Einaudi, 1979?–1983. 12 v. in 14. il.

Selections from this title have been published in English trans. as History of Italian art (GLAH 2:I375). This multi-vol. three-part history of Italian art forms the second part of an ambitious series published by Einaudi. The first was the general history, Storia d'Italia (1972–76); the third is Storia della letteratura italiana (1982–91). In the present publication, as in the others, emphasis has been placed on cultural, social, political, and economic contexts in which the arts are produced. Essays have been contributed by an international group of scholars and each contains footnotes and references. Good quality black-and-white illustrations throughout. Each vol. contains separate personal and place name indexes.

Selective contents: Parte prima: Materiali e problemi: (1) Questioni e metodi; (2) L'artista e il pubblico; (3)

L'esperienza dell'antico, dell'Europa, della religiosità; (4) Ricerche spaziali e tecnologie. Parte seconda: Dal medioevo al novecento: (5) Dal Medioevo al Quattrocento; (6) Dal Cinquecento all'Ottocento, 2v.; (7) Il Novecento. Parte terza: Situazioni momenti indagini: (8) Inchieste su centri minori; (9) Grafica e immagine, 2v.; (10) Conservazione, falso restauro; (11) Forme e modelli; (12) Momenti di architettura.

- I384 Venturi, Adolfo. Nuovi indici generali e note di aggiornamento alla Storia dell'arte italiana di Adolfo Venturi. A cura di Fabrizia Rossetti e Stefania Rossetti. Milano, Hoepli, [1988]. viii, 482p.

See GLAH 1:I356 for previous ed. of this index.

This new version of indexes to Venturi enhances the structure of those prepared for the 1975 edition. The present editors have expanded the index of artists by approximately 500 names and corrected errors to present an accurate accounting of artist references throughout the 25 vols. in the original survey (GLAH 1:I355). Additionally, the location index for works of art has been corrected and updated with approximately 3,000 new notes describing "the actual status of numerous artistic works (location, restoration, transfer, robbery, destruction, fraud, attribution, etc.)."—Pref.

Indice generale degli artisti, p.3–219. Appendice, p.220–21. Indice generale delle illustrazioni ordinate secondo i luoghi, p.224–482.

- I385 White, John. Art and architecture in Italy 1250–1400. [3d ed.]. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. 684p. il. (part col.) (Yale University Press pelican history of art).

See GLAH 1:I358 for 1st ed. 2d (integrated) ed., N.Y., Viking Penguin, 1987.

The text is the same as in the second ed.; however, the bibliography has been revised and significantly expanded. Some black-and-white illustrations has been replaced with color plates.

Bibliography, p.[639]–61. Index, p.[665]–84.

- I386 Wittkower, Rudolf. Art and architecture in Italy, 1600 to 1750. Revised by Jennifer Montagu and Joseph Connors. New Haven, Conn., Yale University Pr., 1999. (Yale University Press pelican history of art) 3v.

See GLAH 1:I359 for previous eds. Also published as 3d rev. ed., repr. with corrections and bibliography. Harmondsworth, [Eng.], Penguin, 1980 and 5th ed., New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1982 (The Yale University Press pelican history of art).

A large format ed. of the landmark study on the Italian Baroque. Changes for this ed. consist of selected corrections of artists' dates, inclusion of new material in the bibliography, the addition of 100 new illustrations, and a substantial critical introduction.

Contents: (1) The early baroque 1600–1625; (2) The high baroque 1625–1675; (3) Late baroque and rococo 1675–1750.

Each vol. contains notes and index. Bibliography, v.3, p.[123]–56.

SEE ALSO: Wackernagel, The world of the Florentine Renaissance artist (GLAH 2:S69).

Latin America

I387 Ades, Dawn. Art in Latin America: the modern era, 1820–1980. With contrib. by Guy Brett . . . [et al.] New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1989. 361p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Hayward Gallery, London (1989). Seeks "to present a view of 160 years of the art of Latin America."—Foreword. Selective focus on key themes, including the relationship with European art and with modernism, the tension between art and politics, indigenism, nationalism, and the search for cultural identity.

Contents: (1) Independence and its heroes; (2) Academies and history painting; (3.i) Traveller-reporter artists and the empirical tradition in Post-Independence Latin America, by Stanton Loomis Catlin; (3.ii) Nature, science and the picturesque; (4) José María Velasco; (5) Posada and the popular graphic tradition; (6) Modernism and the search for roots; (7) The Mexican mural movement; (8) The Taller de Gráfica popular; (9) Indigenism and social realism; (10) Private worlds and public myths; (11) Arte madí / Arte concreto-invencción; (12) A radical leap, by Guy Brett; (13) History and identity.

Notes, p.301–05. Manifestos, p.306–37. Biographies, p.338–59. Select bibliography, p.360.

I388 Argentina, 1920–1994: art from Argentina. Ed. by David Elliott. Oxford, Museum of Modern Art, 1994. 144p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Modern Art, Oxford (1994). A selection of essays amplifies and contextualizes the work of 27 artists.

Bibliography, p.138–41. Chronology, p.141–42. Index, p.143–44.

I389 Art d'Amérique latine, 1911–1968. Paris, Musée national d'art moderne, Centre Georges Pompidou, 1992. 523p. il. (part col.)

Multi-author catalog of the ambitious exhibition, Musée National d'Art Moderne, Centre Georges Pompidou (1992–93). Emphasizes the Latin American contribution to international modernism.

Contents: (1) Les précurseurs; (2) Le muralisme mexicain; (3) Surréalismes et surréalistes; (4) Du constructivisme au cinétisme; (5) Figurations; (6) Architecture.

Chronologies, p.483–87. Bibliographie, p.497–500. Biographies, p.501–15. Index, p.516–21.

I390 Arte argentina dalla indipendenza ad oggi, 1810–1987. Rome, Istituto italo-latino americano, 1987. 266p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Istituto Italo-Latino Americano, Rome (1987), based on loans from Argentine museums.

[Bibliografía], p.265.

I391 Arte moderno en América Latina. Aracy A. Amaral . . . [et al.] Damián Bayón, ed. Madrid, Taurus, 1985. 349p. il. (part col.) (Ensayistas, 267. Serie Maior)

Anthology of articles by 24 art historians and critics of different Latin American nationalities covering the architecture, painting, and sculpture of their respective countries.

Bibliographical references throughout.

I392 Arte novohispano. Napoles, Mexico, Azabache, 1991. 7v. il. (part col.)

Contents: (1) Tovar de Teresa, Guillermo, et al. La utopia mexicana del siglo XVI, lo bueno, lo verdadero y lo bello (1992); (2) Sartor, Mario. Arquitectura y urbanismo en nueva España, siglo XVI (1992); (3) Bérchez, Joaquín. Arquitectura mexicana de los siglos XVII y XVIII (1992); (4) Tovar de Teresa, Guillermo. Pintura y escultura en nueva España 1557–1640 (1992); (5) Burke, Marcus B. Pintura y escultura en nueva España, el barroco (1992); (6) Sebastián, Santiago. Iconografía e iconología del arte novohispano (1992); (7) López Guzman, Rafael, et al. Arquitectura y carpintería mudejar en nueva España (1992).

Includes bibliographies.

I393 Baddeley, Oriana, and Fraser, Valerie. Drawing the line: art and cultural identity in contemporary Latin America. N.Y., Verso, 1989. viii, 164p. il. (part col.) (Critical studies in Latin American culture)

Authors suggest "themes and ideas to provide structure for the study of Latin American art," within the context of broader Latin American cultural studies.—Introd.

Contents: (1) Mapping landscapes; (2) Confronting a colonial past; (3) The politics of Latin American art; (4) The surrealist continent; (5) Forms of authenticity; Afterword: drawing the line.

Notes, p.141–47. Select bibliography, p.149–51. Index, p.159–64.

I394 Barocco latino americano. [Roma, Istituto italo-latino americano, 1980]. 227p. il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition "promossa e organizzata dall'Istituto italo-latino americano/IILA sotto gli auspici dell'UNESCO," (1980)—p.[5].

Brief essays on the Latin American contribution to the Baroque, by Paolo Portoghesi and other scholars, followed by a catalog of the exhibition.

Nota bibliografica, p.226–27.

I395 Bayón, Damián, and Marx, Murillo. History of South American colonial art and architecture: Spanish South America and Brazil. With contrib. by Myriam Ribeiro de Oliveira . . . [et al.] [Trans. by Jennifer Blankley . . . (et al.)] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1992. 442p. il. (part col.)

1st ed. Historia del arte colonial sudamericano: Sudamérica Hispana y el Brasil. Barcelona, Eds. Poligrafía, 1989.

Ambitious, collaborative study combining a chronological survey of architecture, painting, and sculpture with "an index of the principal monuments."—Pref.

Parts one and two cover South America (except Brazil) from the 16th through the early 19th century; part three focuses on Brazil during the same period.

Index of principal monuments, p.257–84. Glossary, p.285–86. Bibliography, p.287–92. Index of main monuments—Brazil, p.407–21. Glossary [for part three], p.422. Bibliography, p.423–24. Index of illustrations, p.427–35. Index of names, p.437–42.

I396 Castedo, Leopoldo. Historia del arte iberoamericano. Madrid, Alianza, 1988. 2v. il. (part col.)
Standard survey of Latin American art from the pre-Columbian era to the 20th century.

Contents: (1) Precolombino; El arte colonial; (2) Siglo XIX; Siglo XX.

Includes bibliographies at ends of sections. Índice onomástico, p.329–38. Índice analítico, p.339–42.

I397 Day, Holliday T., and Sturges, Hollister. Art of the fantastic: Latin America, 1920–1987. With contrib. by Edward Lucie-Smith . . . [et al.] Indianapolis, Indianapolis Museum of Art. (Distr. by Indiana Univ. Pr., 1987). 302p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Indianapolis Museum of Art (1987), and other locations. Explores "one of the most powerful modes of expression in Latin American culture: the fantastic."—Prolog. Includes critiques and biographies of 30 artists by major Latin American critics.

Bibliography, p.291–95. General bibliography, p.296–97. Biographies of artists, p.298–302.

I398 Fernández, Justino. Arte moderno y contemporáneo de México. Prologo de Manuel Toussaint. México, Univ. Nacional Autónoma de México, 1993–1994. 2v. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:I368 for 1st ed.; GLAH 1:I367 for 2d ed. of v.1; 3d ed., 1983.

Contents: (1) El arte del siglo XIX; (2) El arte del siglo XX.

Bibliografía general, v.2, p.159–68. Índice de nombres, v.2, p.179–85.

I399 Historia del arte ecuatoriano. [Coord. gen. de toda la obra, Hernán Crespo Toral, José Ma. Vargas.] Quito, Salvat Editores Ecuatoriana, 1977–1978. 4v. col. il.

Narrative of Ecuadorian art from prehispanic to contemporary periods. Texts published in these vols. have also been reissued by the publisher as Arte colonial de Ecuador: siglos XVI–XVII (1985) and Arte de Ecuador: siglos XVIII–XIX (1977).

Índice, v.4, p.211–60.

I400 Historia del arte hispanoamericano. Madrid, Alhambra, 1988. 3v. il. (part col.)

Survey of art in Latin America from the pre-Columbian era to the present. Each volume is written by a specialist on the period.

Contents: (1) Alcina Franch, J. Arte precolombino (1987); (2) Bernaldes Ballesteros, J. Siglos XVI a XVIII (1987); (3) Bayón, Damián. Siglos XIX y XX (1988).

Bibliographies at ends of chapters.

I401 Historia del arte mexicano. Dir. gen., Juan Salvat, José Luis Rosas. [2a ed.] [Mexico City, Mexico], SEP, Salvat, [1986]. 16v. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:I371 for previous ed.

Popular survey of Mexican art. Each division of four volumes was edited by a specialist on the period covered and includes essays by well-known scholars. Short bibliographies accompany each essay.

Contents: (1–4) Arte prehispánico; (5–8) Arte colonial; (9–12) Arte del siglo XIX; (13–16) Arte contemporáneo.

Índice general, v.16, p.2416–55.

I402 Historia general del arte en la Argentina. Buenos Aires, Academia Nacional de Bellas Artes, [1982]– . (8)v. il. (part col.)

Comprehensive survey of Argentine art from the pre-Columbian era to the present, comprised of scholarly essays by specialists in many fields.

Contents: (1–2) Desde los comienzos hasta fines del siglo XVIII; (3–4) Siglo XIX hasta 1876; (5–6) Fines del siglo XIX y comienzos del siglo XX; (7–8) Comienzos del siglo XX.

Notes and bibliographies after each chapter.

I403 História geral da arte no Brasil. [Walter Zanini, coord. e dir. ed. Cacilda Teixeira da Costa, pesquisa, assist. ed. e coord. técnica. Marília Saboya de Albuquerque, pesquisa e assist. ed.] São Paulo, Instituto Walther Moreira Salles: Fundação Djalma Guimarães, 1983. 2v. il. (part col.)

Substantial, multi-author survey of Brazilian art from pre-European to contemporary. Includes standard topics plus sections on photography, industrial design, visual communications, Afro-Brazilian art, folk art, and art education. Notes, bibliographies follow each chapter. Indexes of names.

I404 Images of Mexico: the contribution of Mexico to 20th century art. Catalogue of the exhibition ed. by Erika Billeter. With texts by Alicia Azuela . . . [et al.] Dallas, Dallas Museum of Art, 1987. 442p. il. (part col.)

Also published in a Spanish-language ed. Catalog of the exhibition, Dallas Museum of Art (1987). Seeks to "prove that Mexican art is part of an international canon only now being formed."—Dir. pref. Includes 17 essays by art historians and critics on painting, graphic arts, photography, and cinema.

Chronology, p.442–[61]. Artists' biographies and list of works, p.[462]–[86].

I405 Latin American art in the twentieth century. Ed. by Edward J. Sullivan. [London, Phaidon, 1996]. 352p. il. (part col.)

Spanish ed., Madrid, Nerea, 1996.

"An overview of artistic activity in Latin America in the twentieth century."—Pref. 17 essays, each on a different country, by Latin American art historians. The essays generally trace the history of art of the last 100 years, tending to focus on painting, sculpture, and graphic arts, and excluding architecture, photography, and folk art, with some consideration of social and political influences.

Contents: Mexico, by Teresa del Conde; Central America, by Monica Kupfer; Cuba, by Giulio Blanc and Gerardo Mosquera; Dominican Republic, by Jeannette Miller; Puerto Rico, by Enrique García-Gutiérrez; Venezuela, by Rina Carvajal; Colombia, by Ivonne Pini; Ecuador, by Lenín Oña; Peru, by Natalia Majluf; Brazil, by Ivo Mesquita; Bolivia, by Pedro Querejazu; Paraguay, by Ticio Escobar; Uruguay, by Alicia Haber; Argentina, by Marcelo Pacheco; Chile, by Milan Ivelic; Chicano art, by Victor Zamudio-Taylor.

Selected general bibliography, p.334. Selected bibliographies by country, p.335–40. Index, p.341–51.

- I406 Latin American artists of the twentieth century. Ed. by Waldo Rasmussen . . . [et al.] N.Y., The Museum of Modern Art, 1993. 424p. col. il.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Museum of Modern Art (1993). "Intended to introduce the vast and complex field represented by the exhibition, elucidating some of the circumstances in which the works of more than four generations of Latin American artists have been created."—Introd. 15 essays written by noted art critics and scholars. Includes work (and biographies) of 96 artists of four generations. Introductory essay gives history of advocacy and collection of Latin American art by MOMA. Extensive notes.

Biographies of the artists, p.371–98. Selected bibliography, p.399–412. Index, p.421–24.

- I407 Latin American women artists = Artistas latinoamericanas: 1915–1995. [By] Geraldine P. Biller, guest curator. With essays by B lgica Rodr guez . . . [et al.] Milwaukee, Milwaukee Art Museum, 1995. 198p. il. (part col.)

In English and Spanish. Catalog of the exhibition, Milwaukee Art Museum (1995), and other locations. "One of the first exhibitions to document the important contributions of women artists to the development of twentieth century Latin American art."—Pref.

Contents: Latin American women artists, 1915–1995, by Geraldine P. Biller; Latin American art: seeking out a national-international dialogue, by B lgica Rodr guez; Abstraction in Mexico and beyond, by Edward J. Sullivan; The pen and the paintbrush, by Marina P rez de Mendiola; Artists of the exhibition: selected plates and biographies.

General bibliography, p.177–84. Artists' bibliographies, p.185–98.

- I408 Lemos, Carlos Alberto Cerqueira; Leite, Jos  Roberto Teixeira; and Gismonti, Pedro Manuel. The art of Brazil. With an introd. by Pietro Maria Bardi and an essay by Oscar Niemeyer. [Trans. by Jennifer Clay.] N.Y., Harper & Row, 1983. 318p. il. (part col.) (Icon editions)

Portuguese ed., S o Paulo, Abril, 1982.

Survey of art and architecture in Brazil from the arrival of Europeans in 1500 to 1980.

Contents: Early colonial art; The baroque; Neoclassicism and eclecticism in the nineteenth century; The modern revolution; Modern architecture; Contemporary research.

Biographies of the artists, p.295–307. Chronology, p.308–13. Index, p.314–18.

- I409 Lomb n, Juan Carlos. Historia del arte latinoamericano. Buenos Aires, Asociaci n Cultural Kilmes, 1994. 410p. il. (part col.)

Broad survey of Latin American art from pre-Columbian to contemporary.

Bibliograf a, p.375–84.  ndice anal tico, p.385–95.

- I410 Lucie-Smith, Edward. Latin American art of the 20th century. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 216p. il. (part col.) (World of art)

Highly readable survey with thoughtful consideration of movements and their relationships to social and political milieus.

Contents: (1) Forerunners and independents; (2) The first modern movements; (3) Mexican muralism; (4) Muralism beyond Mexico; (5) The exiles; (6) Mexico: four women and one man; (7) A climate of change; (8) Geometric abstraction; (9) Informal abstraction; (10) Expressionist tendencies; (11) Realism, pop art, and surrealism; (12) The present day.

Select bibliography, p.208–10. Index, p.214–16.

- I411 Mexico: splendors of thirty centuries. Introd. by Octavio Paz. [Trans. by Edith Grossman . . . et al.] N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art; Boston, Little, Brown, 1990. 712p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the landmark exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1990–1991), and other locations. Comprehensive survey of Mexican art from the pre-Columbian era to the present, with chapters by specialists devoted to each of the main pre-Columbian sites, to the confrontation with European art in the first centuries after contact, and to modern developments.

Contents: Precolumbian art; Viceregal art; Nineteenth-century art; Twentieth-century art.

Further reading, p.699–700. Index, p.701–12.

- I412 Modernidade: vanguardas art sticas na Am rica Latina. Ana Maria de Moraes Belluzzo (org.). Colab.: Aracy Amaral . . . [et al.] S o Paulo, UNESP, 1990. 319p. il. (part col.) (Cadernos de cultura, 1)

Bilingual (Portuguese-Spanish) collection of essays by major Latin American art historians on modernism in Latin America.

Manifestos e declara  es 1921–1959 [anthology of manifestos], p.239–308. Cronologia 1910–1964, p.309–17. Bibliograf a, p.318–[39].

- I413 Museo de Bellas Artes, Venezuela. Cat logo general: colecci n pintura y escultura latinoamericana. Caracas, Museo de Bellas Artes, 1980. 345p. il. (part col.) Holdings arranged under painting, sculpture, and popular art.

Notas biogr ficas: pintores latinoamericanos, p.295–324. Notas biogr ficas: escultores latinoamericanos, p.325–33.  ndice de artistas, p.334–35. Citas, p.336. Cat logos consultados, p.337–40. Bibliograf a general sobre arte latinoamericano existente en la Biblioteca del Museo de Bellas Artes, p.341–45.

- I414 Oettinger, Marion. The folk art of Latin America: visions del pueblo. N.Y., Dutton, in assoc. with the Museum of American Folk Art, 1992. xix, 107p. col. il., col. map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of American Folk Art, New York (1992), and other locations. Provides an overview of Latin American folk art, its nature, expressions, artists, and forms, focusing on "those objects that are central to Latin American religious and secular life."—Pref.

Notes, p.99–100. List of works cited, p.101–02. Annotated bibliography, p.102–05.

- I415 Pintura, escultura y fotografía en Iberoamérica: siglos XIX y XX. Coord. de Rodrigo Gutiérrez Viñuales . . . [et al.] Madrid, Catedra, 1997. 547p. il. (Manuales arte Catedra)

Multi-author survey of modern painting, sculpture, and photography in Latin America.

Contents: (1) Introducción; (2) La pintura y la escultura en el siglo XIX; (3) La pintura y la escultura en el siglo XX; (4) La fotografía en Iberoamérica; (5) Políticas culturales y artísticas en Iberoamérica.

Bibliografía, p.485–512. Índice de nombres, p.513–30. Índice de obras, p.531–47.

- I416 Pontual, Roberto. Entre dois séculos: arte brasileira do século XX na Coleção Gilberto Chateaubriand. Rio [i.e., Rio de Janeiro], JB, 1987. 585p. il. (part col.), plates.

Substantial catalog of an important private collection of 20th-century Brazilian art.

Bibliografía, p.546–47. Biografías, p.549–85. Índice onomástico, p.541–45.

- I417 Sayer, Chloë. Arts and crafts of Mexico. Special photography by David Lavender. San Francisco, Chronicle Books, 1990. 160p. il. (part col.), map.

Surveys the subject, emphasizing the role of craft within popular culture.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) The textile arts; (III) Jewelry and adornment; (IV) Ceramics; (V) An abundance of crafts; (VI) Toys and miniatures; (VII) Ceremonial and ephemeral arts; Collecting Mexican folk art; Mexico's indigenous peoples.

Glossary, p.154. Bibliography, p.155–56. Index, p.157–59.

- I418 Scott, John F. Latin American art: ancient to modern. Gainesville, Univ. Pr. of Florida, 1999. xxiv, 240p. il. (part col.), plates, maps.

"Brief overview" of the subject.—Introd.

Contents: (1) Earliest native American art; (2) First high cultures; (3) The classic civilizations; (4) Empires and integration; (5) Colonial art of the American vicerealties; (6) Art after independence.

Bibliography, p.[227]–32. Index, p.233–40.

- I419 Sebastián, Santiago. El barroco iberoamericano: mensaje iconográfico. Madrid, Encuentro, 1990. 374p. 230 il. (part col.), map. (Pueblos y culturas) French trans., Paris, Editions du Seuil, 1991.

Typological study of the Baroque architecture of Latin America.

Contents: Cultura y sociedad; Formas y espacios; La Iglesia de la Contrarreforma; La tradición bíblica; Iconografía de Cristo y de María; Las nuevas devociones; Las Postimerías; Un renovado humanismo: la emblemática; Iconografía de las órdenes religiosas; Epílogo.

Bibliografía, p.354–60. Índice de artistas, p.361–63. Índice temático e iconográfico, p.364–67. Índice de ilustraciones y figuras, p.370–74.

- I420 Toussaint, Manuel. Arte colonial en México. 5. ed. México, Univ. Nacional Autónoma de México, Instituto de Investigaciones Estéticas, 1990. xiii, 303p. il., plates. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:I377 for previous eds., including 1967 English trans.; 4th ed., 1983.

Notas de los capítulos, p.253–61. Bibliografía, p.262–63. Índice de ilustraciones, p.264–76. Índice de personas, p.277–90. Índice de lugares, p.291–300.

- I421 Traba, Marta. Art of Latin America, 1900–1980. [Washington, D.C.], Inter-American Development Bank. (Distr. by the Johns Hopkins Univ. Pr., 1994). xiv, 178p. col. il.

Spanish trans., Washington, D.C., 1994.

Critical essay on 20th-century Latin American art and its evolution by noted critic. Intended to accompany a 1985 exhibition, but delayed because of Traba's untimely death.

Artist index, p.167–78.

Low Countries

- I422 L'art moderne en Belgique, 1900–1945. Sous le réd. de Robert Hoozee . . . [et al.] Anvers, Mercator, 1992. 445p. il. (chiefly col.), facsim., ports.

Survey of painting, sculpture, and graphic arts presented in a very well-illustrated, large-format volume. Unusually detailed chronology includes information about coinciding movements, exhibitions, and influential historical events in Europe.

Contents: Avant la Première Guerre mondiale, by Robert Hoozee; L'art moderne en exil, 1914–1921, by Piet Boyens; Bruxelles et Anvers, centres de l'avant-garde, 1917–1925, by Inge Henneman; Le mouvement Sélection, by Inge Henneman; L'expressionnisme après la Première Guerre mondiale, by Monique Tahon-Vanroose; Le néo-réalisme, by Helke Lauwaert; Le surréalisme, by Serge Goyens de Heusch.

Notes, p.326–36. Chronique, 1900–1944, p.338–97. Biographies, p.400–23. Bibliographie, p.433. Expositions, p.434–35. Index, p.437–45.

- I423 Dawn of the golden age: northern Netherlandish art, 1580–1620. Ed., Ger Luijten . . . [et al.] Amsterdam, Rijksmuseum (Distr. by Yale Univ. Pr., 1994). 718p. il. (part col.), ports.

Trans. of Dageraad der gouden eeuw: Noordnederlandse kunst, 1580–1620. Amsterdam, Rijksmuseum, 1994.

This beautifully illustrated volume, authored by curators and academic art historians, was published to accompany an exhibition, Rijksmuseum (1993–94). In addition to several essays, it contains 347 detailed catalog entries arranged by media and theme which provide complete coverage of painting, sculpture, drawing, prints and decorative arts. Also contains artist biographies.

Contents: Northern Netherlandish art, 1580–1600, by Wouter Th. Kloek; The turning point in the history of Dutch art, by J. Bruyn; The appreciation of paintings around 1600, by Hessel Miedema; Art lovers and their paintings: Van Mander's Schilder-boeck as a source for the history of the art market in the northern Netherlands, by Martin Jan Bok; Print publishers in the Netherlands, 1580–1620, by Christiaan Schuckman.

Bibliography, p.677–707. Index, p.709–17.

- I424 Flemish art from the beginning till now. Under the dir. of Herman Liebaers . . . [et al.] Assist. by Piet Baudouin . . . [et al.] Trans. by John Cairns. Antwerp, Mercatorfonds, 1985. 587p. il. (part col.), plate.

Trans. of Vlaamse kunst van de oorsprong tot heden. Antwerp, Mercatorfonds, 1985.

Massive introductory survey of Flemish fine arts, architecture, decorative arts, stained glass, and manuscript illumination from the Middle Ages to the early 20th century. Essays edited by the curatorial staffs of major museums in Antwerp, Ghent, and Bruges are arranged chronologically. Large format with numerous illustrations primarily in color.

Index, p.575–86.

- I425 Gelder, Hendrik Enno van, and Duverger, J. Kunstgeschiedenis der Nederlanden. Zeist [Netherlands], W. de Haan, 1963–1965. 12v. (Phoenix geïllustreerde stansardwerken)

See GLAH 1:I381 for previous ed. This ed. also available in microform. Gravenhage, Netherlands. Koninklijke Bibliotheek Lange Voorhout 34, 1979. 1 microfilm reel.

Contents: (1–3) De middeleeuwen; (4–5) Renaissance; (6) Zeventiende-eeuwse schilderkunst (i.e., Gouden eeuw I); (7) Gouden eeuw II; (8) Achttiende eeuw; (9–12) Negentiende en twintigste eeuw.

Includes bibliographies.

- I426 Kunstreisboek voor Nederland. 8. geheel. herziende en verm. druk. Houten [Netherlands], Van Kampen & Zoon, 1985–. (4)v.

See GLAH 1:I384 for previous, 1-vol. ed. Frequently reissued.

Contents: (1) Zeeland; (2) Zuid-Holland; (3) Drenthe; (4) Noord-Holland.

- I427 De Nederlandse monumenten van geschiedenis en kunst. Utrecht, Oosthoek, 1912–. (20) v.

See GLAH 1:I386 for previous vols.

Contents: De Provincie Overijssel: Noord en oost Salland (1974); De Provincie Noordholland: Amsterdam Burgerweeshuis (1975); De Provincie Noordholland: Amsterdam het R. C. Maagdenhuis (1980); De Provincie Friesland: Noordelijk oostergo: Ferwerderadeel (1981); De Provincie Gelderland: Rijk van Nijmegen: Westelijk gedeelte (1982); De Provincie Gelderland: Rijk van Nijmegen: Oostelijk gedeelte en de Duffelt (1983); De Provincie Friesland: Noordelijk oostergo: De Dongeradelen (1983); De Provincie

Friesland: Noordelijk oostergo: Dantumadeel (1984); Sint Janskathedraals'-Hertogenbosch (1985); De Provincie Gelderland: Land van Maas en Waal (1986); De Provincie Friesland: Noordelijk oostergo: Kollumerland en Nieuw Kruisland (1989); De Provincie Utrecht: Utrecht de huizen binnen de ingels, 2v. (1989); De Provincie Zuid-Holland: Vijfheerenlanden met Asperen, Heukelum en Spijk (1989); De Provincie Limburg: Margraten, Mheer en Noorbeek (1991); De Provincie Zuid-Holland: Voorne putten (1992); De Provincie Zuid-Holland: Alblasserwaard (1992); De Provincie Zuid-Holland: De Krimpenerwaard (1995); De Provincie Utrecht: De Utrechtse Heuvelrug (1999); De Provincie Limburg: Landgoed Sint-Gerlach (1999).

- I428 Overy, Paul. De Stijl. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1991. 216p. il. (part col.) (World of art)

Detailed, readable survey of the De Stijl movement and its influence on the development of other modern styles. Suitable for the beginning or intermediate reader. Good illustrations.

Contents: (1) Producing De Stijl; (2) De Stijl and modern Holland; (3) Writing De Stijl; (4) Painting; (5) Sculpture and furniture; (6) Colour designs and collaboration; (7) Architecture; (8) Social housing and the International Style; (9) The machine aesthetic and European modernism; (10) De Stijl in France; (11) Reproducing De Stijl.

Select bibliography and sources, p.201–7. Index, p.213–16.

- I429 Prevenier, Walter, and Blockmans, Wim. The Burgundian Netherlands. Picture research by An Blockmans-Delva. Foreword by Richard Vaughn. Cambridge, [Eng.], Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1986. 403p. il. (part col.), facsim., geneal. tables, maps, ports.

Trans. of Pay-Bas bourguignons. [Paris,] Albin Michel, [1983]

Focuses on the emergence and development of a single geographic and economic area from 1380–1530. Provides analysis of the fine arts, architecture, and decorative arts grounded in the historical, social, and political identity of the region. Well illustrated throughout. Appendices include a chronology of events, genealogical chart, maps, socio-economic data, and a brief discussion of currencies in use.

Selective bibliography, p.396–97. Index, p.398–403.

- I430 Rosenberg, Jakob; Slive, Seymour; and Kuile, E. H. Dutch art and architecture, 1600–1800. 3d ed. [Reprint.] New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. 502p. il. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

Reprint of GLAH 1:I388.

SEE ALSO: Dutch art: an encyclopedia (GLAH 2:E140).

Russia and Eastern Europe

- I431 Akademiia nauk SSSR. Institut istorii iskusstv. Geschichte der russischen Kunst. [Red. I. E. Grabar, W.N. Lasarew und W.S. Kemenow. Übersetz. von Kurt Küppers. Hrsg. mit Unterstützung des Kulturfonds der Deutschen Demokratischen Republik.] Dresden, Verlag der Kunst, 1957–1976. 6v. il. (part col.), plans.

See GLAH 1:I392 for previous vols.

Contents: (6) Die russische Kunst in der zweiten Hälfte des 18. Jahrhunderts.

- I432 Art and culture in nineteenth-century Russia. Ed. by Theofanis George Stavrou. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., 1983. xix, 268p., il. plates.

"This book is the result of two scholarly projects, a lecture series and a symposium, which were held in the fall of 1978 in connection with the exhibition The art of Russia 1800–1850 organized by the University of Minnesota Gallery with the Committee on Institutional Cooperation and the Ministry of Culture of the U.S.S.R."—Pref. Collection of interdisciplinary scholarly essays by recognized experts in the field. Extensive notes and references follow each chapter.

Selective contents: (1) Notes on the emergence and nature of the Russian intelligentsia, by Nicholas Riasanovsky; (2) St. Petersburg and Moscow as cultural symbols, by Sidney Monas; (3) On the Russianess of the Russian nineteenth-century novel, by Donald Fanger; (4) Native song and national consciousness in nineteenth-century Russian music, by Malcolm Hamrick Brown; (5) Russian art and society 1800–1850, by S. Frederick Starr; (6) Russian painting in the nineteenth century, by John E. Bowlit; (7) Russian painters and the pursuit of light, by Joshua Taylor; (8) The intelligentsia and art, by Elizabeth Kridl Valkenier; (9) Architecture in nineteenth-century Russia: the enduring classic, by Albert Smith; (10) The neoclassical ideal in Russian sculpture, by Janet Kennedy; (11) A survey of the trends in Russian decorative arts of the first half of the nineteenth century, by Paul Schaffer; (12) Nineteenth-century Russian caricature, by John E. Bowlit; (13) Russian folk art and "high" art in the early nineteenth century, by Alison Hilton.

Index, p.261–68.

- I433 Art in Poland, 1572–1764: land of the winged horsemen by Jan K. Ostrowski . . . [et al.] Trans. by Krystyna Malcharek. Alexandria, Va., Art Services International, in assoc. with Yale Univ. Pr., 1999. 380p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of a traveling exhibition organized and circulated by Art Services International, in cooperation with the Walters Art Gallery (Baltimore). Well-illustrated survey of artistic development during the two centuries following the Polish Renaissance. Comprised of essays by well-known scholars. 137 catalog entries include paintings, sculpture, architecture, decorative arts, and arms and armor.

Contents: Definition and self-definition in Polish culture and art, by Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann; History of Poland in the 16th–18th centuries, by Adam Zamoyski; Polish Baroque art in its social and religious context, by Jan K. Ostrowski; Mechanisms of contact between Polish and European Baroque, by Jan K. Ostrowski; The impact of the Orient on the culture of old Poland, by Zdzisław Zygmunt; Architecture in Poland 1572–1764, by Piotr Krasny.

Biographies of artists, p.360–66. Significant political events in Poland, 1550–1770, p.367–68. Glossary, p.369–70. Bibliography, p.371–77. Index, p.378–80.

- I434 Balogh, Jolán. Die Anfänge der Renaissance in Ungarn: Matthias Corvinus und die Kunst. [Übers. aus dem Ungarischen, Hildegard Baranyai.] Graz, Akademische Druck- u. Verlagsanstalt, 1975. xviii, 453p. il. (part col.) (Forschungen und Berichte des Institutes für Kunstgeschichte der Karl-Franzens-Universität Graz, 4)

Important study of art and patronage at the court of Matthias Corvinus in the second half of the 15th century.

Contents: (I) Die Mäzene; (II) Bauten; (III) Skulpturen, Kleinplastik; (IV) Malerei, Buchkunst, Graphik; (V) Das Kunsthandwerk; (VI) Ankäufe, Handelsverbindungen.

Nachtrag zur Literatur, p.309. Ortsnamenkonkordanz, p.310–12. Register, p.435–53.

- I435 The Baroque in Central Europe: places, architecture and art. Ed. by Manlio Brusatin and Gilberto Pizzamiglio. Photographs by Mark Smith. With essays by Gottfried Biedermann . . . [et al.] N.Y., Marsilio, 1992. xvi, 319p. il. (chiefly col.)

Published in conjunction with the "Year of the Baroque," a series of events held in 1992–93 by the Commission of the Central European Initiative whose members comprise the geographic basis for this volume: Austria, the former Czechoslovakia (now the Czech Republic and Slovakia) Croatia, Hungary, Italy, Poland, and Slovenia. Documents the influence and spread of stylistic features of the Baroque from 1600–1750. Arranged by country, region, and city, this volume contains excellent color illustrations and descriptions of key monuments and works of art with bibliographic references. The internal organization and detailed table of contents minimize the absence of an index.

- I436 Gotik in Slowenien. Ljubljana, Narodna Galerija Ljubljana, 1995. 436p. il. (part col.)

A handsome catalog accompanying the exhibition, Narodna Galerija Ljubljana (1995) covering painting, sculpture, architecture, and illuminated manuscripts produced in the territories constituting present-day Slovenia from the middle of the 13th century to the end of the 15th century. Brief introductory essays on the historical period and media accompany 238 detailed, often extensive, catalogue entries. Very well-illustrated, primarily in color.

Einführende Literatur, p.23. Bibliographie, p.403–31.

- I437 Gray, Camilla. The Russian experiment in art, 1863–1922. Rev. and enl. ed. by Marian Burleigh-Motley. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1986. 324p. il. (part col.) (World of art)

See GLAH 1:I405 for previous eds.

This landmark publication has been reworked after the author's death through the inclusion of a full set of new notes and corrections. Additionally, the illustrations have been annotated with new information and interpretation and the bibliography has been completely updated.

Text references, p.277–79. Bibliography, p.313–19. Notes: text revisions, p.282–95. Index, p.321–24.

- I438 Hamilton, George Heard. The art and architecture of Russia. [New Haven], Yale Univ. Pr., [1992] xxiv, 342p. il. plates, map. (The Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I406 for previous eds. The bibliography has been updated for this ed.

Abbreviations, p.[416]–17. Notes, p.[418]–48. Bibliography, p.[449]–54. Index, p.[462]–82.

I439 History of art in Poland. Warsaw, Arkady, 1983– . (4)v.

Trans. of Dzieje Sztuki w Polsce. Warszawa, Arkady, 1982– . (4)v.

This series provides a detailed survey of Polish art and architecture from 1038 to the early 19th century with the exclusion of the Gothic period. Includes many good quality black-and-white illustrations of lesser known monuments as well as numerous plans and elevations. Later eds. of Renaissance in Poland volumes have been published in Polish.

Contents: Kozakiewicz, Helena, and Kozakiewicz, Stefan. Renaissance in Poland. Trans. by Doreen Heaton Rotworowska (1976); Swiechowski, Zygmunt. Romanesque art in Poland. Trans. by Alina Kozinska-Baldyga and Jerzy A. Baldyga (1983); Lorentz, Stanislaw, and Rottermund, Andrzej. Neoclassicism in Poland. Trans. by Jerzy A. Baldyga (1986); Karpowicz, Mariusz. Baroque in Poland. Trans. by Jerzy A. Baldyga (1991).

Each vol. contains bibliography, indexes of localities, monuments, and persons.

I440 The history of Hungarian art in the twentieth century. [By] Gábor András . . . [et al.] Trans. by John Bárti. Budapest, Corvina, 1999. 290p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Magyar képzőművészet a 20. században. Budapest. Corvina Kiadó, 1999. Survey of 20th-century art in Hungary, intended to supersede Lajos Németh, Modern magyar művészet. Budapest, Corvina, 1972. Does not treat architecture and the applied arts.

Contents: 1896–1919; 1919–1945; From 1945 to the seventies; The seventies; The eighties: "The avant-garde is dead"; Contemporary art in the nineties.

Selected bibliography, p.268–71. Index, p.281–90.

I441 Höfler, Janez. Die Kunst Dalatiens vom Mittelalter bis zur Renaissance (800–1520). Graz, Akademische Druck, 1989. 338p. il. (part col.) (Forschungen und Berichte des Institutes für Kunstgeschichte der Karl-Franzens Universität Graz, 8)

Detailed survey of the region which now forms modern Croatia. Examines both the fine and decorative arts with particular emphasis on religious and secular architecture. Suitable for the advanced reader. Bibliography is arranged by chronological period.

Anmerkungen, p.318–23. Literaturauswahl, p.324–26. Zeitschriftenabkürzungen, p.326. Abbildungsverzeichnis, p.327–32. Künstler- und Ortsverzeichnis, p.333–38.

I442 Introduction to Russian art and architecture. Ed. by Robert Auty and Dimitri Obolensky. With the ed. assist. of Anthony Kingsford. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1980. xxxi, 194p. il. (Companion to Russian studies, v.3)

Introductory survey covering the 10th–20th centuries which aims "to tell in concise fashion what happened when, to trace the development of genres and styles, to give an indication of what seems art-historically important and why, and lastly to contradict a few prevalent myths and locate the chief unresolved problems."—Introd.

Selective contents: (1) Art and architecture of old Russia, 988–1700, by Robin Milner-Gulland; (2) Art and architecture in the Petersburg age, 1700–1860, by Robin Milner-Gulland; (3) Art and architecture in the age of revolution, 1860–1917, by John Bowl; (4) Art and architecture in Soviet Russia, by John Bowl.

Bibliography, p.173–81. Index, p.183–94.

I443 Ivancevic, Radovan. Art treasures of Croatia. [Trans., Madge Phillips Tomasevic]. [2d. ed., War ed.] Zagreb, ITP Motovun, 1993. 216p. il. (part col.) plans, map.

1st ed., Zagreb, Motovun, 1986. Trans. of Umjetnicko blago Hrvatske.

Richly illustrated in color, this volume is a general survey of art and architecture in the region comprised by modern-day Croatia from the Greco-Roman period to the present day. The Afterword contains a partial enumeration and comments on monuments destroyed in 1991–92.

Selective contents: Traces of prehistoric communities; Greek colonisation of the eastern Adriatic; Roman urbanisation; The first Croatian state; The renewal of towns and raising of monasteries; The age of free cities, nobility, and preaching orders; The divergent paths of the north and south; The Northern revival; From classicism to symbolism; The early twentieth century; Afterword for the war edition.

Bibliography, p.204. Index, p.213–16.

I444 Kaufmann, Thomas DaCosta. Court, cloister, and city: the art and culture of Central Europe, 1450–1800. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1995. 576p. il., maps.

Scholarly analysis of society, culture, history and their relationship to the arts. Emphasis on an understanding of the effect of the political complexities of the region through the early modern era. The author "discounts 19th- and 20th-century notions of nationhood and ethnicity, reviving instead other forms of cultural identity: family, estate, craft, class, city, religion, and reason. In so doing, he demolishes many of the smug certainties of cultural history as perceived from a purely West European standpoint."—Review, The spectator, 13 April 1996, p.40. Suitable for the advanced reader or researcher.

Contents: (1) Prologue to the Renaissance: art and architecture of the fifteenth century in Russia and Hungary; (2) Jagellonians and Hapsburgs: art of the courts c.1500; (3) Art of the towns: the role of German-speaking artists, c.1500; (4) The Renaissance in German-speaking lands: Dürer, his contemporaries, and humanism; (5) The problem of the reception of the Renaissance: the Reformation and art; (6) Court, castle, and city in the mid-sixteenth century; (7) Kunst und Kammer: collecting as a phenomenon of the Renaissance in Central Europe; (8) Princely patronage of the later sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries: the example and impact of art at the court of Rudolf II; (9) Art on the eve of the Thirty Years' War: the Catholic Reformation and the arts; (10) Art and the Thirty Years' War; (11) Art and architecture and the Thirty Years' War; (12) Polonia victoriosa; Austria victoriosa; (13) Early eighteenth century architecture, art and collecting at the German courts; Excursus: St. Petersburg and environs in the eighteenth century; (14) Early eighteenth century art and architecture in the Bohemian lands; (15) South German art and architecture of the early eighteenth century in its European context; (16) The transformation of the arts at court from the mid-eighteenth century; (17) Arts and audiences of the later eighteenth century: painterly pyrotechnics and its alternatives; (18) The critical response: collecting, criticism, the Enlightenment and the arts.

Notes, p.465–552. Index, p.553–76.

- I445 Mansbach, Steven A. Modern art in Eastern Europe: from the Baltic to the Balkans, ca. 1890–1939. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1999. xvi, 384p. il. (part col.), plates.

"This book offers both the general reader and the specialist access to a world of seldom-considered visual material. The interpretive overview reclaims the essential role played by eastern European artists in the genesis of the modern aesthetics with which we are familiar in the West."—Pref.

Contents: (1) The Czech lands; (2) Poland and Lithuania; (3) The Baltic states of Latvia and Estonia; (4) The southern Balkans of the former Yugoslavia: Slovenia, Croatia, Serbia, and Macedonia; (5) Romania; (6) Hungary.

Notes, p.321–55. List of artists, p.356–58. Selected bibliography, p.359–70. Index, p.371–84.

- I446 Muthesius, Stefan. Art, architecture and design in Poland, 966–1990: an introduction. Königstein im Taunus, Langewiesche Nachfolger H. Koster, 1994. 107, [1]p. il. (part col.), maps.

A concise, up-to-date survey of Polish art and architectural history with good illustrations. "This book fills a gap that has long existed in the market for an introductory study on Polish art and architecture. It serves, however, a wider purpose; it also offers an overview of the beginnings of Polish art-historical thought and the formation of the concept of Polish art."—Review, Art history, v.19, June 1996, p.321.

Selective contents: Art, nation, politics and the art historian; The early periods; Gothic architecture; Church fittings in the late middle ages; The Polish renaissance; Sarmatism; Warsaw town palaces; The last king as patron; 1760–1900: Palladianism, garden architecture, neo-classicism, neo-gothic; Painting and nationalism from the late 18th to the early 20th centuries; The art of the 20th century.

General bibliography, p.104–6. Index, p.107.

- I447 Renaissance art in Bohemia. Text by Jiřina Hořejší . . . [et al.] [Trans. by Pavla Dlouhá with revisions by Hugh Newbury.] London, Hamlyn, 1979. 245p. il. (part col.), maps.

Unable to identify original ed. Also published as Die Kunst der Renaissance und des Manierismus in Böhmen. Hanau/ M. Dausien, 1979.

Introductory survey with many good quality black-and-white photographs provides English language access to 16th-century art, architecture, and decorative arts in the Czech Lands now chiefly comprised by the Czech Republic.

Contents: Arts in Bohemia under the Jagiello, by Jiřina Hořejší [and] Jarmila Vacková; Arts in the Renaissance and Mannerist periods: The court of Ferdinand I and Maximilian II at Prague, the Renaissance outside the royal court, the Pernštejn interlude, the palace and the château, the town, the church, the architecture at Rudolph II's court, by Jarmila Krčálová; Artistic crafts in the period of the Renaissance and Mannerism: Decorative art at the court of Rudolph II, by Emanuel Poche; Arts at the court of Rudolph II: The emperor and art, themes and ideas of Rudolphine art, The development and personalities of Rudolphine painting, sculpture at the court of Rudolph II, by Jaromír Neumann;

Notes, p.218–22. Bibliography, p.222–34. Index of names, p.237–40. Index of places, p.241–43. Maps, p.245.

- I448 Romanian art. [Eng. trans. eds., Delia Răzdolescu, Alexandra Dobrotă]. Bucharest, Meridiane, 1984. 2v. il. (part col.), plans.

Trans. of Arta romaneasca. București, Editura Meridiane, 1982.

Building on Oprescu's Istoria artelor plastice în România (GLAH 1:1412), the authors have developed two independent volumes which aim to be the "first attempt at presenting the general evolution of art on the territory of this country from its origin down to the present days."—Foreword. Illustrations are of somewhat inferior quality though many little-known works are reproduced.

Selective contents: (v.1) Prehistory, antiquity, Middle Ages, Renaissance, Baroque, by Vasile Drăguț; (v.2) Modern and contemporary ages, by Vasile Florea.

Selected bibliography and notes, v.1, p.487–[95], v.2, [436]–38. Index, v.1, p.497–[510], v.2, p.439–[46].

- I449 Russian modernism. Introd. by Jean-Louis Cohen. Comp. and annot. by David Woodruff and Ljiljana Grubisic. Santa Monica, Getty Research Institute for the History of Art and the Humanities, 1997. 215p. il. (chiefly col.) (Bibliographies and dossiers: the collections of the Getty Research Institute for the History of Art and the Humanities, 1)

"The aim of the Getty Research Institute's collection . . . is not to compete with the great bibliographic or museological holdings that already exist in older or larger institutions but to allow researchers a direct glimpse of certain extremely fragile documents. . . . At the core of the collection are several hundred books and periodicals acquired by the Parisian collector Marc Martin-Malburet."—Introd.

List of cited works, p.182–85. List of Soviet organizations and acronyms, p.186–94. Index, p.195–214.

- I450 Sarabianov, Dmitri V. Russian art: from neoclassicism to the avant-garde, 1800–1917: painting, sculpture, architecture. N.Y., Abrams, 1990. 320p. il. (part col.)

Well-organized and readable, this amply illustrated introductory survey of Russian art emphasizes historical and cultural contexts and antecedents. The primary focus is on painting.

Contents: Part I 1800–1860: (1) The end of Russian classicism; (2) Early romanticism; (3) Early realism; (4) The fate of romantic academic art; (5) Alexander Ivanov; (6) The beginnings of critical realism; (7) Sculpture and architecture; Part II 1860–1895: (1) The realists of the 1860s; (2) The Society for Travelling Art Exhibitions ("The Wanderers"); (3) Genre painting and Ilya Repin; (4) History painting; (5) Landscape painting; (6) Sculpture and architecture; Part III 1895–1917: (1) The beginnings of symbolism and Russian art nouveau; (2) From impressionism to Russian art nouveau; (3) The Moscow painters; (4) The "World of Art" group; (5) The "Blue Rose" group; (6) The "Knaves of Diamonds," the "Donkey's Tail," and neoprimitivism; (7) The avant-garde; (8) Sculpture and architecture.

Notes, p.[306]. Select bibliography, p.[307]–8. Index, p.[315]–20.

- I451 Stanislawski, Ryszard. Europa, Europa: das Jahrhundert der Avantgarde in Mittel- und Osteuropa. [Bonn], Kunst- und Ausstellungshalle der Bundesrepublik Deutschland, 1994. 4v. il.

Catalog produced to accompany the exhibition of the same name, Kunst- und Ausstellungshalle der Bundesrepublik Deutschland, Bonn (1994). Extraordinarily comprehensive examination of the origins and character of avant-garde artistic activity in Eastern Europe and Russia. Beautifully illustrated throughout, it contains the works of many artists little known in the West and numerous short essays by an international group of art historians and curators. Bibliographies are arranged by subject and publication type.

Selective contents: (1) Bildende Kunst, Fotografie, Videokunst; (2) Architektur, Literatur, Theater, Film, Musik; (3) Dokumente; (4) Biografien.

Verzeichnis der Textquellen, v.3, p.232–66. Bibliographische Hinweise, v.4, p.150–53. Personenregister, v.4, p.183–98.

- I452 Thierry, Jean Michel. Armenian art. Principal sites by Patrick Donabédian, with the assist. of Jean Michel and Nicole Thierry. Trans. from the French by Celestine Dars. N.Y., Abrams in assoc. with the Prelacy of the Armenian Apostolic Church of America-Catholicosate of Cilicia, 1989. 613p. il. (part col.) geneal. tables, maps, plans.

Richly illustrated text covers art produced in the region comprised by present-day Armenia from the 6th century B.C. through the 18th century. Covers art, architecture, and the decorative arts with an emphasis on architecture. Originality and the cultural identity of the diverse Armenian peoples is stressed throughout. Useful for the general reader.

Contents: Armenian art from the 6th century B.C. to the 7th century A.D.: pagan Armenian art, the early Christian era, the golden age of the early middle ages; The age of the kingdoms (9th–12th century): the art of the Kingdom of Ani, the art of the Kingdom of Vaspurakan; the Palatine Church of the Holy Cross at Atlt'amar, the age of the diaspora in Asia Minor, the art of eastern Siunia; The age of the feudal states (12th–15th century): the art of northern Armenia, the art of southwestern Armenia, the art of the Kingdom of Cilicia, the art of the diaspora; Armenian art in modern times (17th–18th century): architecture and the plastic arts, the minor arts, the art of the diaspora.

Chronology and genealogy, p.605–[11]. Glossary, p.612. Bibliography, p.613. Index of names, p.617–23.

- I453 A thousand years of Czech culture: riches from the National Museum in Prague. Winston-Salem, N.C., Old Salem; Prague, The Czech Republic National Museum (Distr. by the University of Washington Pr., 1996). xiii, 166p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of an exhibition, Old Salem (1996–97). Substantial essays provide an accessible, up-to-date synthesis of the artistic culture of the Czech Republic (Bohemia, Moravia, and parts of Silesia) in historical context. Covers a wide range of fine and decorative arts including some objects never before exhibited outside the Czech Republic. Contains many fine color illustrations.

Contents: History of Czech lands in the Middle Ages, by Vladimír Brych; Art in the Czech lands from the sixth to the twelfth centuries, by Vladimír Brych; Christianity in the Czech lands, by Jan Royt; The cultural history of the Jews in Czech lands, by Lena Korba-Novotná; Czech history in the early modern period, by Marie Ryantová; Fine art from the thirteenth to the nineteenth centuries, by Martin Mádl; One thousand years of Czech music, by Dagmar Vanířová; Czech theater, by Markéta Trávníčková; Czech folk art and culture, by Jiřina Langhammerová; Modern Czech history, by Stanislav Slavík.

Selected bibliography, p.163–66.

SEE ALSO: Ćurčić, Art and architecture in the Balkans: an annotated bibliography (GLAH 2:A118); Russian art of the avant-garde (GLAH 2:I251).

Scandinavia

- I454 The art of Norway, 1750–1914. [Ed. by Louise Lincoln]. Minneapolis, Minneapolis Institute of the Arts, 1978. 223p. il. (part col.), plates, map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Elvehjem Museum of Art, University of Wisconsin, Madison (1979), and other locations. Serves as an introduction for the general reader to painting, sculpture, decorative, and folk arts. Brief essays on individual media and brief catalog entries for 251 objects. Modestly illustrated.

Selected basic references and works in English on Norwegian art and history, 1750–1914, p.220. Index of Norwegian artists, p.221.

- I455 A history of Swedish art. By Mereth Lindgren . . . [et al.] Trans. by Roger Tanner. [Lund], Signum, 1987. 277p. il. (part col.)

Abridged trans. of Svensk konsthistoria. [2. uppl.] [Lund], Signum, 1986.

Handsomely illustrated introduction to painting, sculpture, and architecture from pre-history through the 1970s. Integrates discussions of style with analyses of historical events and influences outside Scandinavia.

Index, p.273–77.

- I456 Kaalund, Bodil. The art of Greenland: sculpture, crafts, painting. Trans. by Kenneth Tindall. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1983. 224p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Grønlands kunst. [København, Denmark, Politikens, 1979]

Introduction to Greenland's art and material culture from pre-history to the 1970s. Particular emphasis is given to the sculpture, crafts, and rituals before 1900. Arranged by media and well-illustrated throughout.

References, p.218–20. Index of names, p.221–24.

- I457 Kent, Neil. Triumph of light and nature: Nordic art, 1740–1940. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1987. 240p. il. (part col.)

A general introductory survey of painting and sculpture in Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Finland, and Iceland. Readable and well-illustrated, it was conceived to address the increasing interest in Scandinavian art generated by several large international exhibitions held in the early to mid-1980s.

Contents: (1) Art of the royal courts, 1740–1800; (2) Classicism, 1800–1850; (3) The awakening of national art, 1830–1870; (4) Continentalism and revolution, 1830–1875; (5) Skagen, 1830–1910; (6) Nature, light and mood, 1879–1910; (7) Tradition and the birth of modernism, 1900–1940.

Notes on the text, p.219. Biographies, p.220–29. Select bibliography, p.229. Index, p.237–40.

- I458 Landscapes from a high latitude: Icelandic art, 1909–1989. Ed. by Julia Freeman . . . [et al.] Foreword by Magnus Magnusson. London, Pub. for the Government of Iceland and the City of Reykjavik by Lund Humphries, 1989. 135p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Barbican Art Centre, London (1989), and other locations. One of the few publications in English devoted to 20th-century Icelandic art. "The history of art and cultural substructure are broadly and informatively discussed, together with the place of such work, and its aesthetic value, both in Iceland today and in Scandinavia and Northern Europe as a whole."—Pub. jacket note. A well-illustrated survey that touches on sculpture, decorative arts, and architecture as well as painting.

Contents: A bird's-eye view of Icelandic culture, by Sigurður A. Magnússon; Reflections on Icelandic art, by Halldór Björn Runólfsson; Symbolism: the constant strain in Icelandic art, by John Russell Taylor; Not the land, but an idea of a land, by Michael Tucker.

Biographies and list of works, p.121–32. Bibliography, p.[133]–135.

- I459 Norges kunsthistori. Red., Knut Berg . . . [et al.] Oslo, Gyldendal, 1981–1983. 7v. il.

A scholarly survey by multiple authors covering the arts and architecture of Norway from prehistoric times through the 1970s. Includes industrial design. Very well illustrated throughout.

Contents: (1) Fra Oseberg til Borgund; (2) Høyemiddelalder og Hansa-tid; (3) Nedgangstid og ny reisning; (4) Det unge Norge; (5) Nasjonal vekst; (6) Mellomkrigstid; (7) Inn i en ny tid.

Notes at ends of chapters. Person- og sakregister, v.7, p.467–510.

- I460 Ny dansk kunsthistorie. [Hovedred., Peter Michael Hornung.] København, Fogtdal, 1993–1996. 10v. il. (part col.)

Beautifully illustrated survey of the fine arts, architecture, and decorative arts arranged thematically and by artistic period. Excellent coverage of modern and contemporary movements.

Contents: (1) Frederiksen, Hans Jørgen and Kolstrup, Inger-Lise. Troens kunst; (2) Johannsen, Birgitte Bøggild and Johannsen, Hugo. Kongens kunst; (3) Bramsen, Henrik. Fra rokoko til guldalder; (4) Hornung, Peter Michael. Realismen; (5) Wivel, Henrik. Symbolisme og impressionisme; (6) Abildgaard, Hanne. Tidlig modernisme; (7) Jørgensen, Henning and Villadsen, Villads. Tradition og surrealisme; (8) Jespersen, Gunnar. Cobra; (9) Bogh, Mikkel. Geometri og bevægelse; (10) Bogh, Mikkel . . . [et al.] Kunsten i mediernes tid.

Bibliographies and indexes in each vol. Cumulative index, v.10, p.242–71.

- I461 Okkonen, Onni. Suomen taiteen historia. 2. painos. Porvoo, Soderstrom, [1955]. 869p. il. (part col.) plates.

See GLAH 1:I430 for 1st ed.

- I462 Shetelig, Haakon. Scandinavian archaeology. Trans. by E. V. Gordon. [Reprint.] N.Y., AMS, 1978. xix, 458p. il. plates.

See GLAH 1:I433 for original publication.

- I463 Smith, John Boulton. The golden age of Finnish art: art nouveau and the national spirit. [2d rev. ed.] Helsinki, Otava, 1985. 237p. il. (part col.)

1st ed., Helsinki, Otava, 1976.

Expanded text drawing on the collections of the new Museum of Applied Arts in Helsinki and other newly available material. This well-illustrated study covers art and architecture and discusses developing Finnish styles in political, social, and intellectual context. Also examines the influence of other European movements in the latter part of the 19th century.

Contents: (I) From 1800–1880; (II) From eighteen-eighty into the nineties; (III) Historical and cultural background, 1890–1910: development of the nation; (IV) The eighteen-nineties: romantic Finnish naturalism and symbolism; (V) Gallen-Kallela, Kalevala, and Finnish national art; (VI) The Sparres, Finch, and the Iris Factory; (VII) National romanticism in architecture, from Karelian cabins to the Paris Pavilion; (VIII) High national romanticism, 1900–1905; (IX) Rationalism: a move towards modern architecture; (X) Design in the new century; (XI) Sculpture, painting, printmaking.

Bibliography, p.231–34.

- I464 Valkonen, Markku. Finnish art over the centuries. Trans. by Martha Gaber Abrahamsen. Helsinki, Otava Pub., 1992. 159p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Kuvien Suomi: Suomen taiteen vuosisadat. Helsinki, Otava, 1992. French ed., L'art finlandais: au fil des âges. Helsinki, Otava, 1992.

A detailed introductory survey focusing on the late 18th century to the contemporary period. Considerable attention is given to distinguishing Finnish national character in the arts as well as placing these artistic achievements within a European context.

Select bibliography, p.157. Index, p.158–59.

- I465 Les Vikings . . . les Scandinaves et l'Europe, 800–1200. Dir. du catalogue, Else Roesdahl, Jean-Pierre Mohen, Francois-Xavier Dillman. Paris, Association française d'action artistique, 1992. 428p. il. (part col.) maps.

Catalog published to accompany the exhibition, Grand Palais, Paris (1992), and other locations. Explores the penetration of Viking culture and artistic activity into Europe. Covers all forms of artistic production and architecture. Contains 41 very well illustrated essays and a catalog of 617 objects.

Tableau chronologique, 800–1200, p.393–99. Glossaire, p.395. Les auteurs des articles, p.396. Bibliographie, p.398–423. Index géographique, p.424–26. Index thématique, p.427–28.

- I466 Wilson, David M., and Klindt-Jensen, Ole. Viking art. [2d ed.] Minneapolis, Univ. of Minnesota Pr., 1980. 173p. il. plates. (The Nordic series, v.6)

See GLAH 1:I437 for 1st ed.

The introduction has been slightly revised and a list of 19 new sources has been added to the end of the bibliography.

Bibliography, p.162–66. Index, p.169–73.

Spain and Portugal

- I467 al-Andalus: the art of Islamic Spain. Ed. by Jerrilynn D. Dodds. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art (Dist. by Abrams), 1992. xxx, 432p. il. (chiefly col.), maps, plans.

Comprehensive catalog of the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1992) including essays by noted scholars for the period. Many good-quality illustrations throughout. The catalog is arranged chronologically and includes ivories, metalwork, jewelry, textiles, ceramics, arms and armor, manuscripts, carpets, architectural elements, coins, and scientific instruments.

Contents: Islamic Spain, the first four centuries: an introduction, by Oleg Grabar; The Great Mosque of Cordoba, by Jerrilynn D. Dodds; Madinat al-Zahra: the triumph of the Islamic state, by Antonio Vallejo Triano; Luxury arts of the Caliphal period, by Renata Holod; Arts of the Taifa kingdoms, by Cynthia Robinson; The fortification of al-Andalus, by Juan Zozaya; The Almoravids and Almohads: an introduction, by Manuel Casamar Perez; The architectural heritage of Islamic Spain in North Africa, by Christian Ewert; The ceramics of al-Andalus, by Guillermo Rossello-Bordoy; Almoravid and Almohad textiles, by Cristina Partearroyo; The arts of the book, by Sabiha Khemir; The Alhambra: an introduction, by Dario Cabanelas Rodriguez; The palaces of the Alhambra, by James Dickie (Yaqub Zaki); The city plan of the Alhambra, by Jesus Bermudez Lopez; The gardens of the Alhambra and the concept of the garden in Islamic Spain, by D. Fairchild Ruggles; The legacy of Islam in Spain, by Juan Vernet.

Glossary, p.393–94. Bibliography, p.395–412. Index, p.413–31.

- I468 Ars hispaniae. Historia universal del arte hispanico. Madrid, Editorial Plus-Ultra, 1947–. (22)v.

See GLAH 1:I438 for previous eds. and vols.

Contents: (6) Cook, W. W. S., and Gudiol Ricart, José, Pintura e imagineria romanicas. 2. ed. actualizada. (1980).

- I469 Art and architecture of Spain. Ed. by Xavier Barral i Altet . . . [et al.] Trans. by Dominic Currin. 1st North American ed. Boston, Little, Brown, 1998. 575p. il. (part col.), maps.

Trans. of Historia del arte de España. [Barcelona], Lunberg, 1996. French trans., L'art espagnol. Paris, Bordas, 1996.

This comprehensive full-color survey covers Spanish art and architecture from prehistory to the contemporary period in essays by noted authors. The bibliography and chronology are particularly useful.

Contents: Prehistory and first contacts with Mediterranean antiquity, by Eduardo Ripoll Perelló; Roman art and architecture in Spain, by Javier Arce; From antiquity to the middle ages, Christianity and the Visigothic world, by Pere de Palol; Pre-Romanesque and Romanesque art, by Xavier Barral i Altet; Gothic Spain, by Núria de Dalmaes; The presence of Islam and Islamic art, by Christian Ewert and Fernando Valdés Fernández; The art of the Renaissance, by Fernando Checa; The Baroque, by Joan-Ramon Triadó; The art of colonial Spanish America, by Joaquín Bérchez Gomez and Rafael Lopez Guzmán; Francisco de Goya, by Manuela Mena Marqués; The nineteenth century: from Neoclassicism to industrialism, by Carlos Reyero; Spanish art from 1900 to 1939, by Jaime Briheuga Sierra; Pablo Picasso, by Germain Viatte; Contemporary art, architecture and design, by Pilar Parcerisas and Manuel Borja Vilel.

Comparative chronology, p.538–55. Maps, p.556–59. Glossary of terms, p.560–63. Bibliography, p.564–67. Index, p.568–73.

- I470 The art of medieval Spain, A.D. 500–1200. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art (Distr. by Abrams, 1993). xiv, 358p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art. Planned for 1993–94 but postponed. Complements the Al-Andalus exhibition (GLAH 2:I467). Beautifully illustrated.

Contents: Introduction; Visigothic Spain; Islamic Spain; The Kingdom of Asturias and Mozarabic Spain; Romanesque Spain.

Bibliography, p.330–49. Index, p.350–56.

- I471 Bottineau, Yves. L'Art de cour dans l'Espagne des lumières, 1746–1808. Paris, De Bocard, 1986. x, 517p. il., plates, facsim., geneal., table, plans.

Complements Bottineau's pioneering thesis, L'art de cour dans l'Espagne de Philippe V (1700–1746) (GLAH 1:I439).

Provides a thorough historical and political context for royal patronage of Ferdinand VI, Charles III, and Charles IV. Includes numerous extracts from primary source materials. "Both this book and its predecessor are essential works of reference for the student of any aspect of eighteenth century Spain."—Review, Burlington magazine, v.130, Oct. 1988, p.778–79. Includes two appendixes containing original source material. Scholarly notes and references throughout. Black-and-white illustrations are of inferior quality.

Selective contents: Pt.I: Les sources de la création: (1) Les conditions de longue durée; (2) Les sources artistiques: héritages dynastiques et nationaux: exemples contemporains; (3) Les contingences humaines; Pt.II: Les permanences: (1) Les structures administratives; (2) Cadeaux et achats: de l'article de mode à l'objet de collection; (3) Les manufactures; Pt.III: Le double mouvement de la création: (1) Le temps de Ferdinand VI 1746–1759: le baroque italo-espagnol et son contexte eclectique; (2) Le temps de Charles III 1759–1788: la mise à jour de l'italianisme et les progrès de la restauration nationale; (3) Le temps de Charles IV 1788–1808: le néo-classicisme: affirmation nationale et ouverture vers l'étranger.

Index, p.[475]–512.

- I472 Catálogo monumental de España. [Facsimile reprint.] Madrid, Ministerio de Instrucción Pública y Bellas Artes, 1915–57. 11v.

See GLAH 1:I441 for previous vols. and eds.

Contents: Gómez-Moreno, Manuel, Provincia de León. Ed. facsim., 2a. León, Editorial Nebrija, 1979. 2v.

- I473 La España gotica. [Dir., Joan Sureda Pons]. [Madrid], Encuentro, 1987–. (15)v. il., (part col.), plates.

Each vol. contains introductory essays on art and history, architecture, painting, sculpture, and decorative arts followed by brief essays on individual monuments. Well illustrated with many plans. Short bibliographies follow each essay. Vols. contain detailed tables of contents in lieu of indexes.

Contents: (1) La época de los monasterios; (2) Cataluña/1; (3) Cataluña/2; (4) Valencia y Murcia; (5) Baleares; (6) Aragón; (7) Navarra; (8) País Vasco; (9) Castilla y León/1; (10) Castilla y León/2, Asturias y Cantabria; (11) Andalucía; (12) Galicia; (13) Castilla-La Mancha; (14) Extremadura; (15) La época de las universidades.

- I474 Franca, José Augusto. A arte em Portugal no século XIX. 3a ed. Lisboa, Bertrand, 1990. 2v.

See GLAH 1:I445 for 2d ed.

Continued by the following title.

- I475 ———. A arte em Portugal no século XX. 2a ed. Venda Nova, Bertrand, 1984. 660p. il. (part col.) plates.

See GLAH 1:I446 for 1st ed. The 2d ed. contains corrections, revisions, a new introduction, and several additions to the bibliography.

Notas, p.539–605. Quadro cronológico, p.608–29. Índices, p.633–55.

- I476 ———. Arte português. 3. ed. [Reprint.] Madrid, Espasa-Calpe, 1991. 715p. il. (part col.) (Summa artis, historia general del arte, 30)

Reprint of 1. ed. Madrid, Espasa-Calpe, 1986; "2. ed." 1989.

- I477 Historia da arte em Portugal. Lisboa, Publicações Alfa, 1986–[1988]. 14v.

This general survey includes many color illustrations of varying quality. The absence of an index limits usefulness but the extensive bibliography, arranged by subject or media, will be helpful to the reader. Bibliographies include references to periodical literature.

Contents: (1) Alarcão, Jorge de. Do paleolítico à arte visigótica; (2) Almeida, Carlos Alberto Ferreira de. Arte da Alta Idade Média; (3) Almeida, Carlos Alberto Ferreira de. O românico; (4) Dias, Pedro. O gótico; (5) Dias, Pedro. O manuelino; (6) Markl, Dagoberto. O renascimento; (7) Serão, Vítor. O maneirismo; (8) Moura, Carlos. O limiar do barroco; (9) Correia Borges, Nelson. Do barroco ao rococó; (10) Anacleto, Regina. Neoclassicismo e romantismo; (11) Rio-Carvalho, Manuel. Do romantismo ao fim do século; (12) Gonçalves, Rui Mário. Pioneiros da modernidade; (13) Gonçalves, Rui Mário. De 1945 à actualidade; (14) Vieira de Almeida, Pedro and Fernandes, José Manuel. A arquitectura moderna.

Each vol. includes a timeline and bibliography.

- I478 História da arte portuguesa. Dir. de Paulo Pereira. [Lisboa], Temas e Debates, 1995. 3v.

Scholarly survey of Portuguese art emphasizing painting, sculpture and architecture. Well-illustrated, primarily in color, with many plans and maps. Good coverage of the contemporary period. Extensive bibliography follows each chapter.

Contents: (1) Da pré-história ao "modo" gótico; (2) Do "modo" gótico ao Maneirismo; (3) Do barroco à contemporaneidade.

Glossário, v.3, p.651–7. Índice onomástico, v.3, p.658–70. Índice topónimo, v.3, p.670–89.

- I479 Inventário artístico de Portugal. Lisbon, Academia Nacional de Bellas Artes, 1943–. (13)v.

See GLAH 1:I449 for previous vols.

Contents: (8) Espanca, Túlio, Distrito de Évora (2v., 1975); (9) Espanca, Túlio, Distrito de Évora (zona sul) (2v., 1978); (10) Nogueira Gonçalves, A., Distrito de Aveiro, zona do norte (1981); (11) Nogueira Gonçalves, A., Distrito de Aveiro, zona do Nordeste (1991); (12) Espanca, Túlio, Distrito de Beja (2v., 1992); (13) Carvalho Quaresma, Maria Clementina de, Cidade do Porto (1995).

- I480 Tierras de España. Madrid, Fundación Juan March, 1974–. (10)v.

These lavishly illustrated volumes focus on regional architecture and the arts and also contain sections on history, geography, and literature authored by specialists. The series provides access for the advanced reader or researcher to large numbers of lesser known monuments and works of art.

Contents: Baleares (1974); Aragón (1977); Asturias (1978); Extremadura (1979); Andalucía, 2v. (1980); Castilla la Nueva, 2v. (1982); Canarias (1984); Valencia (1985); País Vasco (1987); Navarra (1988).

Each vol. contains notes, bibliography, and an index.

Switzerland

I481 1000 years of Swiss art. Ed. by Heinz Horat. [Trans., BMP Translation Services . . .]. N.Y., Hudson Hills, 1992. 374p. il. (part col.), maps.

21 essays on specialized topics by multiple contributors. Covers art, architecture, and town planning from the middle ages through the 20th century. Very well illustrated.

Contents: The writing tablets of Charlemagne: two ivory diptychs in the Abbey Library of St. Gallen, by Rudolf Schnyder; The fourteenth century Gradual of Wettingen, by Peter Hoegger; Picture and prayer: late medieval passion-centered piety in St. Gallen prayer books, by Peter Ochsenbein; Big form - small form: on interactions of late medieval art in border areas, by Nott Caviezel; The Swiss carnation masters: anonymity and artistic personality: painters between the late Middle Ages and the Renaissance, by Christoph Eggenberger; Konrad Witz and the Council of Basel, by Dorothee Eggenberger; Painting learns to fly: Hans Bock the Elder, The fall of the angels (1582). Fore-words on the subject of floating, flying, falling, by Emil Maurer; Memento mori: art and the cult of the dead in central Switzerland, by Peter Felder; A copybook for stonemasons between the Gothic and the Renaissance, by Adolf Reinle; Santa Croce in Riva San Vitale: an early work, by Carlo Maderno, by Heinz Horat; Art history and art historiography of the Lake Constance region, by Albert Knoepfli; High altar and church floor, by Paul Hofer; Aspects of Genevois architecture from the Reformation to the nineteenth century, by Leila el-Wakil; Lucerne: the simultaneity of urban processes in the nineteenth century, by Beat Wyss; "My true home in this world . . .": John Ruskin and Switzerland, by Georg Luck; A Sunday morning (1908-1909) by Edouard Vallet, by Georg Germann; From Heimatkunst to "degenerate" art: on contemporary reception of Swiss painting, 1890-1914, by Hans A. Lüthy; How Danube and Bosphorus made a European out of Le Corbusier, by Adolf Max Vogt; Whistler, Welles, and the "Swiss" cuckoo clock, by Dario Gamboni; Rémy Zaugg and the museum collection of Lucerne, by Jean-Christophe Ammann; On the emergence of a cybernetic mass culture and its implications for the making of art, by Robert Fischer.

Notes and bibliographic references at end of each essay. Bibliography, p.374.

I482 Ars Helvetica: die visuelle Kultur der Schweiz. Hrsg. von Florens Deuchler. Disentis [Switzerland], Pro Helvetia/Desertina Verlag, 1987-1993. 13v. il. (part col.), maps, ports., plans.

Beautifully produced set prepared in honor of the 700th anniversary of the founding of the Swiss Federation. Essays explore the development of Swiss art and architecture in detailed historical context. Volumes are organized by chronological period, media, and narrative themes. The index vol. includes an extensive subject index.

Contents: (I) Kunstgeographie, von Dario Gamboni; (II) Kunstbetrieb, von Florens Deuchler; (III) Sakrale Bauten, von Heinz Horat; (IV) Profane Bauten, von André Meyer; (V) Malerei des Mittelalters, von Christop Eggenberger und Dorothee Eggenberger; (VI) Malerei der Neuzeit, von Oscar Bächtli; (VII) Skulptur, von Paul-André Jaccard; (VIII) Kunsthandwerk, von Eva-Maria Lösel; (IX) Volkskunst, von Nicolas Bouvier; (X) Nationale Bildthemen, von Hans Christoph von Tavel; (XI) Industrieform und Reklame, von Stanislaus von Moos; (XII) Kunstszenen Heute, von Beat Wyss; (XIII) Register I-XII.

Notes, bibliography, and index in each vol. Cumulative index in v.XIII.

I483 Die Kunstdenkmäler der Schweiz = Les monuments d'art et d'histoire de la Suisse = I monumenti d'arte e di storia dall Svizzera. Basel, Birkhäuser, 1927-. (92)v.

See GLAH 1:I462 for previous vols. and eds.

See v.92, Kanton Aargau:VII, for a complete, detailed listing of all vols. published thus far.

Contents: (65) Kanton Schwyz: I, neu. Ausg. (1978); (66) Kanton Zürich: III (1978); (67) Kanton Wallis: II; (1979); (68) Canton Ticino: II (1979); (69) Canton de Vaud: III (1979); (70) Kanton Appenzeller: II (1980); (71) Canton de Vaud: IV (1981); (72) Kanton Appenzeller: III (1981); (73) Canton Ticino: III (1983); (74) Kantons Appenzell Inner-rhoden (1984); (75) Kanton Bern: I (1985); (76) Kanton Zürich: VII (1986); (77) Kanton Basel: III (1986); (78) Kanton Uri (1986); (79) Kantons Zürich: VIII (1986); (80) Kanton Luzern (1987); (81) Canton de Fribourg: IV (1989); (82) Kanton Schwyz: II, neu. Ausg. (1989); (83) Kanton Thurgau: IV (1989); (84) Kanton Wallis: III (1991); (85) Kanton Thurgau: V (1992); (86) Kanton Solothurn (1994); (87) Kanton Aargau:VII (1995); (88) Kanton Zürich: IX (1997); (89) Canton de Genève: I (1997); (90) Kantons Bern Land-band: II (1998); (91) Canton de Vaud:V (1998); (92) Kanton Aargau: VII (1998).

I484 Kunstführer durch die Schweiz. Begr. von Hans Jenny. 6., durchges. Aufl. Hrsg. von der Gesellschaft für Schweizerische Kunstgeschichte. Wabern, Buchler, 1976-. (3)v.

See GLAH 1:I463 for previous eds.

Selective contents: (1) Aargau, Appenzell, Glarus, Graubünden, Luzern, St. Gallen, Schaffhausen, Schwyz, Thurgau, Unterwalden, Uri, Zug, Zurich; (2) Genf, Neuenburg, Waadt, Wallis, Tessin; (3) Basel-Landschaft, Basel-Stadt, Bern Freiburg, Jura, Solothurn.

Vols. include specialized glossaries and indexes to names and places.

Turkey

I485 The art and architecture of Turkey. Ed. by Ekrem Akurgal . . . [et al.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1980. 268p. il. (part col.), maps.

Thorough survey of Anatolian Turkish arts and architecture from pre-history through the Ottoman Empire. Chapters are authored by specialists.

Contents: Introduction: the position and role of Anatolia in world history, by Ekrem Akurgal; Anatolia from the neolithic period to the end of the Roman world, by Akrem Ekgural; Byzantine art in Turkey, by Semavi Eyice; Anatolian-Seljuk architecture, by Aptullah Kuran; Turkish architecture in Asia Minor in the period of the Turkish Emirates, by M. Oluş Arik; Architecture of the Ottoman period, by Dogan Kuban; Architectural decoration and the minor arts, by Gönül Öney; Turkish metalwork, by Ülker Erginsoy; Turkish miniature painting, by Filiz Çaman.

Bibliographical references at ends of chapters. Select bibliographies, p.249–58. Glossary, p.259–61. Index, p.262–68.

I486 Aslanapa, Oktay. Türk sanatı. [Istanbul], Remzi Kitabevi, 1984. xv, 454p. il. (part col.), plans.

See GLAH 1:I465 for previous ed.

The author states that this publication contains a great many additions and changes to the 1971 ed. The bibliography has also been updated. A related ed., Türk Sanatı. Ankara, Kültür Bakanlığı, 1990–. (Kültür Bakanlığı Yayınları, 1196) (Kültür Eserleri, 158), contains portions of the 1984 text as well as new chapters on Azerbaijani art and arts of the Karahan period.

Bibliography, p.397–453.

I487 Glassie, Henry H. Turkish traditional art today. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., 1993. xi, 947p. il. (part col.), maps. (Indiana University Turkish studies, 11)

Comprehensive survey of modern Turkish arts including those areas usually regarded as handicrafts. "Art is a troubled word, and it is my intention to trouble it more by centering my account radically in the Turkish concept so that it can stand to challenge western notions that narrow the word's meaning."—Introd. Illustrations are small, but plentiful, and contain a good level of detail. The bibliography contains useful essays introducing each subject area.

A note on Turkish, p.873–80. Bibliography, p.881–923. Index of objects, p.930–31. Index, p.932–47.

I488 Sözen, Metin. The evolution of Turkish art and architecture. Istanbul, Haset Kitabevi, 1987. 336p. il. (part col.), plans. (Aksit culture and tourism publications, 2)

Introductory survey of architecture and the decorative arts presented through discussions of key monuments and works within their cultural and historical context by leading scholars in Turkish art history. Covers the 10th through the 19th centuries. Very well illustrated.

Bibliography, p.323–27. Index, p.328–35.

I489 Turkish art. Ed. by Esin Atil. Washington, D.C., Smithsonian Institution Pr., 1980. 386p. il. (part col.), map, plans.

Published with the student in mind, this volume "was designed as a handbook to be used either in surveys of the history of Islamic art or as supplementary reading in courses in Near Eastern and Turkish studies . . . also conceived to benefit the reader who has little or no background in the field by defining the characteristic features, techniques, and styles of the art and architecture executed between the twelfth and twentieth centuries under the patronage of the Seljuks and the Ottomans."—Foreword.

Contents: Introduction, by Oleg Grabar; The Turks in history, by Roderic H. Davison; Architecture, by Ülkü Bates; The art of the book, by Esin Atil; Ceramics, by Walter B. Denny; Rugs and textiles, by Louise W. Mackie.

Notes and references follow each chapter. Turkish dynasties, p.[374]. Selected bibliography, p.[375]–77. Index, p.[379]–86.

United States

I490 American art in the 20th century: painting and sculpture, 1913–1993. Ed. by Christos M. Joachimides and Norman Rosenthal. Coordinating ed. David Anfam. Essays by Brook Adams . . . [et al.] Munich, Prestel (Distr. by Te Neues, 1993). 490p. il. (part col.), ports.

Published to accompany the fourth in a series of exhibitions (Royal Academy of Art, 1993) examining 20th-century art. Essays by well-known art historians.

Bibliographical references at end of each essay. Biographies of the artists, p.439–77. Selected bibliography, p.478–81. The authors, p.482–83. Index of names, p.486–90.

I491 American art: painting, sculpture, architecture, decorative arts, photography. By Milton Brown . . . [et al.] Ed., Theresa C. Brakeley. Designer, Gerald Pryor. N.Y., Abrams; Englewood Cliffs, N.J., Prentice-Hall, [1979]. 616p. il. (part col.)

Basic texts drawn from Milton Brown's American art to 1900 (N.Y., Abrams, 1977) and the 1973 ed. of Hunter and Jacobus's American art of the twentieth century (GLAH 1:I477), with additions, combine to cover the Colonial period to the 1970s. A solid introduction to the subject. Includes a chapter on early photography.

Bibliography, p.590–603. Index, p.604–15.

I492 American art: readings from the Colonial era to the present. Ed. by Harold Spencer. N.Y., Scribner's, 1980. xv, 392p. il.

39 selections from the writings of major artists, architects, critics, and historians on aspects of American art and architecture from the colonial era through the mid-1970s compiled by a well-known art history anthologist.

Bibliography, p.362–73. Index, p.377–92.

I493 Art Institute of Chicago. American arts at the Art Institute of Chicago: from colonial times to World War I. [By] Judith A. Barter, Kimberly Rhodes, and Seth A. Thayer. With contrib. by Andrew Walker. Chicago, Art Institute of Chicago (Distr. by Hudson Hills Pr., 1998). 359p. il.

"This catalogue presents a selection of notable objects from the almost three thousand works in the collections of the Department of American Arts at The Art Institute of Chicago. . . . This volume is the first book devoted specifically to the museum's important American paintings, sculpture, and decorative arts from roughly 1650 . . . to World War I."—Pref.

Glossary of decorative arts terms, p.345–51. Index, p.352–59.

- I494 Ashton, Dore. American art since 1945. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1982. 224p. il. (part col.)

Key work introducing modern art movements, artist, and major works through a sharply focused readable narrative. "There are few critic-historians more astute in discerning the complex reactions and interactions that have shaped recent American painting and sculpture, or more eloquent in giving written form to visual matters."—Review, Art journal, XLII, no.4, winter 1982, p.355.

Notes, p.212–14. Index, p.222–24.

- I495 Baigell, Matthew. A concise history of American painting and sculpture. Rev. ed. N.Y., IconEditions, 1996. xxvi, 435p. il.

1st ed. 1984.

"In this survey I have concentrated on that part of American art which developed from northern and western European traditions in order to sustain the narrative flow."—Introd. A standard survey.

Contents: (1) Colonial art; (2) The new nation; (3) Self-discovery; (4) At home and abroad; (5) Early modernism; (6) Between the world wars; (7) International presence; (8) Contemporary diversity.

Selected bibliography, p.397–406. Index, p.407–20.

- I496 Bearden, Romare, and Henderson, Henry. A history of African-American artists, from 1792 to the present. N.Y., Pantheon, 1993. xvii, 541p. il. (part col.)

Arranged as a chronological survey, lengthy bio-historical essays comprise a history of African-American painting, sculpture, and printmaking from the 19th through the 20th century. Covers artists born before 1926. Readable, well-illustrated, and current. "Believing individual histories to be the most revealing, we focused on significant individual artists in each period and how they developed. We sought to examine their work and how it related to that of other American artists, to influential art movements in Europe, to prevailing American social and political conditions, and to the artists' lives and problems."—Introd.

Notes, p.479–514. Index, p.515–32.

- I497 Chicano art: resistance and affirmation, 1965–1985. Ed. by Richard Griswold del Castillo . . . [et al.] Los Angeles, Wight Art Gallery, Univ. of Calif., 1991. 373p. il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Wight Art Gallery, UCLA (1991), and other locations. Emphasizes movements in the western and southwestern regions of the U.S. Includes essays and catalog of works exhibited. Index of artists contains dates and some artists' statements.

Contents: The political and social contexts of Chicano art, by Shifra M. Goldman and Tomás Ybarra Frausto; The pachucho's flayed hide: the museum, identity, and the Buenas Garasby, Marcos Sanchez-Tranquilino and John Tagg; Mexico in Aztlán, Aztlán in Mexico: the dialectics of Chicano-Mexicano art, by David R. Maciel; In the City of Angels, chameleons, and phantoms: Asco, a case study of Chicano art in urban tones (or Asco was a four-member word), by Harry Gamboa, Jr.; El mundo femenino: Chicana artists of the movement—A commentary on development and production, by Amalia Mesa-Bains; Articulate signs of resistance and affirmation in Chicano public art, by Victor A. Sorell; Rasquachismo: a Chicano sensibility, by Tomás Ybarra-Frausto; Exhibitions of Chicano art, by Jacinto Quirarte; Looking for alternatives: notes on Chicano art, 1960–90, by Philip Brookman; The contexts of Chicano art and culture: a selected chronology, by Holly Barnet-Sanchez and Dana Leibsohn.

Index of artists, p.346–60. Chicano glossary of terms, p.361–66. Selected bibliography, p.367–70.

- I498 Craven, Wayne. American art: history and culture. Madison, Wis., Brown & Benchmark (Distr. by Abrams, 1994). 687p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

In this large and copiously illustrated volume, the author has attempted "the first inclusive look at five centuries of the architecture, painting, sculpture, decorative arts, and photography created by the diverse peoples who have given direction to the arts of America."—Pub. jacket note. Organized by broad chronological periods, with divisions for media and sub-divisions for individuals, movements, and types. The extensive bibliography is arranged by movement, medium, and artist name.

Glossary, p.[641]–45. Bibliography p.[646]–64. Notes, p.664–65. Index, p. [672]–87.

- I499 Deák, Gloria-Gilda. Picturing America, 1497–1899: prints, maps, and drawings bearing on the New World discoveries and on the development of the territory that is now the United States. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1988. 2v. il.

Documentary anthology based on materials in the Stokes Collection and other collections of the New York Public Library.

Bibliography, v.1, p.603–33. Concordance, v.1, p.635–39. Subject index, v.1, p.641–49. Index to artists, engravers, publishers, printers, and sources, v.1, p.650–57.

- I500 Fineberg, Jonathan. Art since 1940: strategies of being. 2d ed., N.Y., Abrams, 2000. 528p. il. (part col.) 1st ed.: N.Y., Abrams, 1995.

Essential survey for the modern and contemporary period covers all art forms in a very well-illustrated and stimulating account. The second ed. contains revisions, additions, and expanded bibliography. "A dynamic layout . . . and dramatic juxtapositions keep eye and mind moving and engender a sense of open-endedness quite different from a 'this led to that' survey format. Nor is the art treated as hermetic, a progression of styles existing in a vacuum; events in music and dance as well as in the political area intersect with the artworks in a variety of ways."—Review of 1st ed. Art journal, v.55, no.2, summer 1996, p.103.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) New York in the forties; (3) A dialog with Europe; (4) Existentialism comes to the fore; (5) The new European masters of the late forties; (6) Some international tendencies of the fifties; (7) The Beat Generation: the fifties in America; (8) The European vanguard of the later fifties; (9) The landscape of signs: American pop art 1960–1965; (10) In the nature of materials: the later sixties; (11) Politics and Postmodernism: the transition to the seventies; (12) Surviving the corporate culture of the seventies; (13) Painting at the end of the seventies; (14) The eighties; (15) New tendencies of the nineties; (16) To say the things that are one's own.

Bibliography, p.[506]–11. Notes, p.[512]–22. Index, p.[523]–28.

- I501 Goetzmann, William H., and Goetzmann, William N. The West of the imagination. N.Y., Norton, 1986. 458p. il. (part col.)

Conceived by a cultural historian as a "sweeping survey of the visual images of the West that included paintings, drawings, cartoons, photographs and films."—Pref. Research for this publication spawned the PBS television series of the same name. Scholarly and readable survey which covers the period beginning with the late 18th century through the works of Georgia O'Keeffe. The authors have produced "a rich and remarkable study that surpasses the six-part documentary that shared the same title. . . . In sum, this book has both visual and intellectual rewards for all readers interested in American culture."—Review, American historical review, v.93, no.1, Feb. 1988, p.215–16.

Notes, p.435–46. Index, p.447–58.

- I502 Goldman, Shifra M., and Ybarra-Frausto, Tomás. Arte Chicano: a comprehensive annotated bibliography of Chicano art, 1965–1981. Berkeley, Chicano Studies Library Publications Unit, Univ. of California, Berkeley, 1985. viii, 350p. (Chicano Studies Library publication series, 11)

Extensive bibliography of Chicano art, indexed by subject, author or artist, and title.

Alphabetical list of Chicano artists, p.765–72. Periodicals cited in bibliography, p.773–78.

- I503 Hughes, Robert. American visions: the epic history of art in America. N.Y., Knopf, 1997. ix, 635p. il. (part col.)

Hughes' highly personalized account of American art is a companion publication to the eight-part PBS television series. Coverage begins with the early colonial periods and the inclusion of furniture, folk art, and commercial design is useful. "It is not intended as a scholarly text, still less an exhaustive one. It is meant for that creature who, American academics often profess to believe, no longer exists: the general intelligent reader."—Introd.

Contents: (1) O my America, My new founde [sic] land; (2) The republic of virtue; (3) The wilderness of the west; (4) American renaissance; (5) The gritty cities; (6) Early modernism; (7) Streamlines and breadlines; (8) The empire of signs; (9) The age of anxiety.

Index, p.621–33.

- I504 In pursuit of beauty: Americans and the Aesthetic Movement. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1986. 511p. il. (part col.)

Comprehensive exhibition catalog published to accompany the exhibition (Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1986–87). Covers late 19th-century fine and decorative arts and architecture produced in America in response to the Arts and Crafts Movement. 11 in-depth essays are readable and richly illustrated. Includes a substantial dictionary of artists, architects, artisans, and manufacturers with additional references for each entry and scholarly notes throughout.

Contents: (1) Artifact as ideology: the aesthetic movement in its American cultural context, by Roger B. Stein; (2) Decorating surfaces: aesthetic delight, theoretical dilemma, by Catherine Lynn; (3) Surface ornament: Wallpapers, carpets, textiles, and embroidery, by Catherine Lynn; (4) The artful interior, by Marilynn Johnson; (5) Art furniture: wedding the beautiful to the useful, by Marilynn Johnson; (6) A new renaissance: stained glass in the aesthetic period, by Alice Cooney Freylinghuysen; (7) Aesthetic forms in ceramics and glass, by Alice Cooney Freylinghuysen; (8) Metalwork: an eclectic aesthetic, by David A. Hanks with Jennifer Toher; (9) Painters and sculptors in a decorative age, by Doreen Bolger Burke; (10) American architecture and the aesthetic movement, by James D. Kornwolf; (11) An aestheticism of our own: American writers and the aesthetic movement, by Jonathan Freedman.

Selected bibliography, p.488–502. Index, p.503–10.

- I505 Johnson, Diane. American Art Nouveau. N.Y., Abrams, 1979. 311p. il. (part col.)

Survey offering broad coverage of the emergence and development of art nouveau styles in painting, sculpture, architecture, decorative arts, and graphics. Many good quality color plates and black-and-white illustrations. Bibliography arranged by topic and individual artist.

Contents: (1) The American cultural renaissance, 1876–1893: Oscar Wilde's aesthetic message; The artist-craftsman ideal; The knight errant; Art in the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893. (2) Louis Comfort Tiffany and Art Nouveau applied arts in America: Art and industry; New concepts of American interior design, 1876–1904; American glass and Art Nouveau windows; American silver; Glass vases and pottery; (3) Louis H. Sullivan and American Art Nouveau architecture: The Transportation Building, Chicago, 1893; Sullivan's stylistic "sources" and "affinities"; The Auditorium Theater interior, Chicago, 1886–88; The Getty tomb, Chicago, 1890; The Guaranty Building, Buffalo, 1894–95; Sullivan's concept of ornamentation; European and American Art Nouveau architectural design; Sullivan's work as Art Nouveau. (4) Will H. Bradley and the poster and periodical movements, 1893–1897: Development of the poster; the "poster style"; The periodical and poster "craze"; Will H. Bradley and American Art Nouveau graphic design; The decline of the aesthetic; The philistine. (5) Decorative painting and sculpture in America: Photography and Japanese prints: the new classicism; The Symbolist attitude; Decorative painting, graphic illustration and Symbolist theses; Sculpture.

Chronology, p.289–91. Notes, p.292–98. Bibliography, p.299–304. Index, p.305–11.

- I506 The Latin American spirit: art and artists in the United States, 1920–1970. Essays by Luis R. Cancel . . . [et al.] N.Y., Bronx Museum of the Arts in assoc. with Abrams, 1988. 343p. il. (part col.)

Published in connection with an exhibition, Bronx Museum of Arts (1989) and four other locations. A survey of influences and development characterizing the work of Latin American artists in the U.S., with particular emphasis on Puerto Rico.

Contents: Mexican and Mexican-American artists: 1920–1970, by Jacinto Quirarte; The special case of Puerto Rico, by Marimar Benítez; Constructivism and geometric abstraction, by Nelly Perazzo; New York Dada and new world Surrealism, by Lowery S. Sims; The United States and socially concerned Latin American art, by Eva Cockcroft; The Latin American presence, Pt.I: The abstract spirit; Pt.II: Reality and figuration, by Félix Angel; "Magnet—New York": conceptual, performance, environmental and installation art, by Carla Stellweg.

Biographies, p.313–26. Notes, p.327–32. Bibliography, p.333–39.

I507 Lewis, Samella. African American art and artists. [Upd. and rev. ed.] Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1994. 302p. il. (part col.)

1st ed. Art: African American. N.Y., Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1978; 2d rev. ed. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1990.

This updated ed. of one of the first surveys of African American art is still a useful entry point to the literature. The chronological arrangement by historical period begins in 1619 and includes 173 more years than Bearden's similarly constructed work (GLAH 2:I496). The modern period includes media-specific sections and the bibliography contains numerous citations to periodical literature.

Selective contents: 1619–1865: Cultural deprivation and slavery; 1865–1920: Emancipation and cultural dilemma; 1920–1940: New Americanism and ethnic identity; 1940–1960: Social and political awareness; 1960–1990: Political and cultural awareness.

Bibliography, p.293–300. Index, p.301–02.

I508 Poesch, Jessie J. The art of the old South: painting, sculpture, architecture, & the products of craftsmen, 1560–1860. N.Y., Knopf, 1983. xii, 384p. il. (part col.)

Amplly illustrated, in-depth survey. Emphasizes social, cultural, and economic history and attempts to demonstrate the "consciousness among Southerners themselves of having mind set, value systems and ways of life distinct from the rest of America."—Introd. The notes contain extensive scholarly references.

Notes, p.339–59. Select bibliography, p.361–66. Index, p.367–81.

I509 Porter, James A. Modern Negro art. With a new introd. by David C. Driskell. Washington, D.C., Howard Univ. Pr., 1992. xxxvii, 276p. il. (part col.) (Moorland-Spingarn series)

1st ed.: N.Y., Dryden, 1943; [Rev.ed.] N.Y., Arno, 1969.

The 1992 reprint of the classic first study of the art of African Americans contains a new introduction to place this work in current art historical context. Though the bibliography has not been updated, this study remains a key work in the field covering the 18th to the early 20th century. Includes as appendix, Memorabilia of the early negro artist.

Notes, p.165–74. Bibliography, p.175–84. James A. Porter chronology, p.185–88. Select Porter bibliography, p.189–91. Index, p.193–200.

I510 Powell, Richard J. Black art and culture in the 20th century. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1997. 256p. il. (part col.)

Significant assessment, focusing on the U.S.

Contents: (1) Art, culture and "the souls of black folk"; (2) Enter and exit the "new negro"; (3) The cult of the people; (4) Pride, assimilation and dreams; (5) "Black is a color"; (6) Culture as currency; Conclusion: through a glass, diasporally.

Biographical notes, p.226–36. Select bibliography and sources, p.237–46. Index, p.253–56.

I511 The power of feminist art: the American movement of the 1970s, history and impact. N.Y., Abrams, 1994. 318p. il. (part col.), ports.

Illustrated survey of the period with essays by well-known artists and art historians. "The power of feminist art is itself a prime example of feminist collaboration, built upon the knowledge, memories, and experiences of its eighteen contributors. The first book on its subject, it reproduces and discusses hundreds of works of feminist art from the 1970s and beyond."—Pref. Contains many good quality color and black-and-white illustrations.

Contents: (I) Seeds of change: feminist art and education in the early seventies. The feminist art programs at Fresno and CalArts, 1970–75, by Faith Wilding; Womanhouse, by Arlene Raven; Conversations with Judy Chicago and Miriam Schapiro; (II) Building a network: feminist activism in the arts. Feminist politics: network and organizations, by Mary D. Garrard; Exhibitions, galleries and alternative spaces, by Judith K. Brodsky; Writing (and righting) wrongs: feminist art publications, by Carrie Rickey; Starting from scratch: the beginnings of feminist art history, by Linda Nochlin; (III) Challenging modernism: the facets of feminist art. Social protest: racism and sexism, by Yolanda M. López and Moira Roth; Feminist performance art: performing, discovering, transforming ourselves, by Josephine Withers; Recovering her story: feminist artists reclaim the great goddess, by Gloria Feman Orenstein; The body through women's eyes, by Joanna Frueh; The pattern and decoration movement, by Norma Broude; Collaboration, by Judith E. Stein; (IV) Beyond the seventies: the impact of feminist art. Backlash and appropriation, by Mira Schor; Affinities: thoughts on an incomplete history, by Suzanne Lacy; The feminist continuum: art after 1970, by Laura Cottingham.

Notes, p.289–99. Selected bibliography, p.300–4. Illustrated timeline: A highly selective chronology, p.[305–8]. Index, p.309–18.

I512 Self-taught artists of the 20th century: an American anthology. San Francisco, Chronicle, 1998. 256p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of American Folk Art (1998), and other locations. Covers 32 American well and lesser known 20th-century artists in essays by individual contributors. Color illustrations throughout. A well-conceived introduction which emphasizes the richness and diversity of American "outsider" art.

Contents: The artworld and its outsiders, by Arthur C. Danto; Critical fictions: race, "outsiders" and the construction of art history, by Maurice Berger; The presence of mind in the production of American folk art, by Gerald L. Davis.

Timeline, p.211–22. Selected readings, p.244–51. Index, p.253–56.

- I513 Shipp, Steve. American art colonies, 1850–1930: a historical guide to America's original art colonies and their artists. Westport, Greenwood Press, 1996. xv, 159p. il.

Provides brief historical essays for 16 American art colonies including brief biographies of key members and bibliographic references.

Contents: (1) Carmel-Monterey; (2) Cornish; (3) Cos Cob; (4) Cragmoor; (5) East Hampton; (6) Gloucester-Rockport; (7) Laguna Beach; (8) Lawrence Park; (9) New Hope; (10) North Conway; (11) Old Lyme; (12) Provincetown; (13) Santa Barbara; (14) Santa Fe; (15) Taos; (16) Woodstock.

Bibliography, p.[129]–38. Index, p.[139]–59.

ASIAN COUNTRIES

General Works

- I514 Buddhism: art and faith. Ed. by W. Zwalf. London, British Museum, 1985. 300p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, British Museum (1985), and other locations, based on the collections of the British Museum and British Library.

Contents: (1) Early cult monuments; (2) The Buddha legend; (3) The scriptures and their transmission; (4) The Buddha image; (5) Afghanistan, Pakistan and Kashmir; (6) Eastern India; (7) Nepal and Tibet; (8) The Deccan and south India; (9) Sri Lanka; (10) Burma; (11) Thailand and Cambodia; (12) Indonesia; (13) Central Asia; (14) China; (15) Korea; (16) Japan.

Bibliography, p.294–96. Index, p.297–300.

- I515 Clark, John. Modern Asian art. Honolulu, Univ. of Hawaii Pr., 1998. 344p. il. (part col.)

"This book will instance histories, domains, and processes in the discourses of modernity in art as they may be found in a range of Asian countries."—Introd. The Introduction spells out the author's methodology in approaching a field that is "empirically rich and ideologically complex."

Contents: (1) Introduction: a disciplinary field; (2) Prehistories; (3) The transfer; (4) Formation of the neotraditional; (5) The aristocrats; (6) The plebians; (7) The professional artist; (8) Exhibition: the salon and the establishment; (9) The avant-garde; (10) Nationalism and allegories of the state; (11) Cycles of integration and autonomy; (12) The contemporary; Postscript.

List of interviews, p.313–16. Bibliography, p.317–37. Index, p.338–44.

- I516 Fisher, Robert E. Buddhist art and architecture. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 216p. il. (part col.), maps (World of Art)

A useful introduction to Buddhist art in Asia. Chapters on Buddhist art in India and neighboring regions, China, Korea and Japan, and South-East Asia. Well illustrated.

Select bibliography, p.209–11. Glossary, p.211–13. Index, p.214–16.

- I517 Hutt, Julia. Understanding Far Eastern art: a complete guide to the arts of China, Japan and Korea—ceramics, sculpture, painting, prints, lacquer, textiles and metalwork. [Foreword by Margaret Medley.] Oxford, Phaidon, 1987. 208p. il. (part col.), map.

Aimed at the non-specialist to promote aesthetic appreciation of Far Eastern art. Describes how artists and craftsmen worked and with what instruments. Chapters focus on media, i.e., painting, prints and printed books, ceramics, metalwork, sculpture and carvings, lacquer, and textiles and dress, and discuss Chinese, Japanese, and Korean traditions together. Illustrated with line drawings that show the methods and tools of the artists.

Select bibliography, p.204. Index, p.206–08.

- I518 La Plante, John D. Asian art. 3d ed. Dubuque, Brown, 1992. xv, 287p. il. (part col.)

Introduction to the arts of India, China, and Japan. Presents the major artistic developments in these countries. Representative examples of architecture, sculpture, painting, and decorative arts are included. Chapters are grouped by country and presented historically from early civilizations to contemporary.

Select bibliography p.279–80. Index, p.281–87.

- I519 Lee, Sherman E. A history of Far Eastern art. 5th ed. Ed. by Naomi Noble Richard. N.Y., Abrams, 1994. 576p. il. (part col.), maps.

See GLAH 1:I495 for 3d ed. and original annotation; 4th ed., 1982.

A thorough revision of the standard general survey text, by a distinguished authority.

Contents: (1) Early culture and art: the Stone Age, the Bronze Age, and the Early Iron Age; (2) The international influence of Buddhist art; (3) The rise of national Indian and Indonesian styles; (4) Chinese, Korean, and Japanese national styles and their interplay.

Notes, p.557. Bibliography, p.557–63. Index, p.564–76.

- I520 Seckel, Dietrich. Buddhist art of East Asia. Trans. by Ulrich Mammitzsch. Bellingham, Western Washington Univ. Pr., 1989. viii, 411p. il.

Trans. of Buddhistische Kunst Ostasiens. Stuttgart, Kohlhammer, 1957.

"Professor Seckel's work . . . has not only stood the test of time remarkably well, it has also remained the only attempt to date to provide a systematic survey of East Asian Buddhist art."—Trans. pref.

Chronological chart, p.251–52. Abbreviations, p.255–56. Notes, p.257–80. Bibliography, p.281–300. Index, p.397–410.

Central Asia

- I521 The arts of Central Asia: the Pelliot collection in the Musée Guimet. [Gen. ed. Jacques Giès. Trans. by Hero Friesen in collab. with Roderick Whitfield.] London, Serindia, 1996. 2v. in 1. 235p.

Trans. of Les arts de l'Asie centrale: la collection Paul Pelliot du musée national des arts asiatiques-Guimet. Paris, Réunion des musées nationaux, 1995-96.

The result of a single expedition, 1906-09.

Notes at end of each "volume."

- I522 British Museum. The art of Central Asia: the Stein collection in the British Museum. Tokyo, Kodansha International in coop. with the Trustees of the British Museum (Distr. by Kodansha International/USA through Harper and Row, 1982-85). 3v. il. (part col.), map.

Text in English; captions in English and Japanese.

Magnificently produced catalog of the collection, "made on three lengthy expeditions, in 1900-01, 1906-08 and 1913-16. . . . In these three volumes, the pictorial material from Dunhuang is shown in Volumes 1 and 2, while Volume 3 is devoted to the textiles from Dunhuang and a selection of the finest objects from other sites from all three expeditions."—Pref.

Contents: (1-2) Whitfield, Roderick. Paintings from Dunhuang; (3) Whitfield, Roderick. Textiles, sculpture, and other arts.

Bibliographies and other scholarly apparatus conclude each vol.

- I523 Crossroads of Asia: transformation in image and symbol in the art of ancient Afghanistan and Pakistan. Ed. by Elizabeth Errington and Joe Cribb with Maggie Claringbull. Cambridge, Ancient India and Iran Trust, 1992. xiv, 306p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge (1992).

Seeks "to chart the . . . transmission of motifs and techniques from the Greek world through Afghanistan to Pakistan and north-west India, and to explore changes in both form and meaning. The focus is primarily on metalwork, although other media are included for comparative purposes."—Pref.

Catalog entries include long, signed annotations.

Technical analysis, p.241-87. General bibliography, p.288-96. Index and glossary, p.297-306.

- I524 Härtel, Herbert. Along the ancient silk routes: Central Asian art from the West Berlin State Museums. The exhibition lent by the Museum für Indische Kunst, Staatliche Museen Preussischer Kulturbesitz, Berlin, Federal Republic of Germany. [Catalog by Herbert Härtel and Marianne Yaldiz, with contrib. by Raoul Birnbaum . . . (et al.)] N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art, [1982?] 223p. il. (part col.)

Excellent scholarly catalog, published in conjunction with the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1982).

Selected bibliography, p.221-23.

China

- I525 Andrews, Julia Frances, and Shen, Kuiyi. A century in crisis: modernity and tradition in the art of twentieth-century China. With essays by Jonathan Spence . . . [et al.] N.Y., Guggenheim Museum (Distr. by Abrams, 1998). [17], 329p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Guggenheim Museum Soho (1998), and other locations. "The first exhibition held outside China's own borders to tell a comprehensive story of China's modern art."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction; Innovations in Chinese painting, 1850-1950; The modernist generations, 1920-1950; Art for new China, 1950-1980; Transformations of tradition, 1980 to the present.

Select bibliography, p.324-27. Index of catalogue reproductions, p.328-29.

- I526 The British Museum book of Chinese art. [By] Jessica Rawson, Anne Farrer, Jane Portal . . . [et al.] Ed. by Jessica Rawson. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 395p. il. (part col.), maps.

Although prepared for the opening of the Joseph E. Hotung Gallery of Oriental Antiquities at the British Museum in 1992, this book serves as an introductory survey of Chinese art. Includes chapters on "Bronzes and jades for ritual"; "Calligraphy and painting for official life"; "Sculpture for tombs and temples"; "Decorative arts for display"; "Ceramics for use"; and "Luxuries for trade." The chapters are followed by an extensive reference section with chronologies, archaeological and Buddhist sites, architecture, tombs, artists and terminology, ceramics, and a glossary of terms.

Select bibliography, p.371-83. Index, p.384-95.

- I527 Great bronze age of China: an exhibition from the People's Republic of China. Ed. by Wen Fong. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art; Knopf, [1980]. xv, 386p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1980), and other locations. The proceedings of a related symposium were published as The great bronze age of China: a symposium. George Kuwayama, ed. Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Museum of Art (Distr. by Univ. of Washington Pr., 1983).

The bronze and jade objects included in the exhibit and documented in the substantial catalog range from the Shang and Zhou period to the Qin and Han periods and come from museums all over China. Also included are terracotta figures and horses from the recently excavated tumulus of the First Emperor Qin Shihuangdi. The four introductory essays by Ma Chengyuan, Robert Bagley, Kwang-chih Chang, and Robert Thorp provide a valuable introduction to the bronze age of China. The description of individual items in the catalog is accompanied by ten chapters introducing corresponding periods, each prepared by a scholar and providing a valuable and enduring record for the exhibition.

Glossary, p.377-81. Bibliography, p.382-86.

- I528 Laing, Ellen Johnston. The winking owl: art in the People's Republic of China. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., [1988]. x, 194p. il., col. plates.

Concentrates on the period from 1949, the founding of the PRC, to 1976, the year of Mao's death, with chapters treating selected topics. The work is not intended as an exhaustive history of art in the PRC but tries to approach the art from the vantage point of Chinese concerns.

Brief biographical notices of artists, p.167-73. Bibliography, p.175-88. Index, p.189-94.

- I529 Lawton, Thomas. Chinese art of the Warring States period: change and continuity, 480-222 B.C. Washington, D.C., Freer Gallery of Art, Smithsonian Institution (Distr. by Indiana Univ. Pr., 1982). 202p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Freer Gallery of Art (1982). Documents the rich holdings of the Freer Gallery dating from the Warring States period in China. Following a general introduction, the object entries are organized in broad general categories: bronze vessels, fittings, and weapons; bronze mirrors; bronze garment hooks; jades; and lacquer ware.

Selected bibliography, p.193-98. Index of Chinese and Japanese names and terms, p.199-202.

- I530 Li, Chu-ting, and Watt, James C. Y., eds. The Chinese scholar's studio: artistic life in the late Ming period: an exhibition from the Shanghai Museum. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, [1987]. xii, 218p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Asia Society Galleries (1987), and other locations.

Focused on the lives of the artists during the late Ming period in the Songjiang, Jiading, and Jiaying regions, the catalog is prefaced by six major chapters by various authorities on different aspects of the scholar-artist and 78 pages of illustrations of objects in the exhibition. In addition to the works of art by the literati artists, the exhibit included decorative objects of the scholar's studio. Catalog entries are grouped by media: painting and calligraphy; printed books and rubbings; ceramics; decorative arts; scholar's accoutrements; and collected objects.

Bibliography, p.212-15.

- I531 Munakata, Kiyohiko. Sacred mountains in Chinese art. Champaign, Krannert Art Museum, Univ. of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana, [1991]. vi, 200p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Krannert Art Museum and the Metropolitan Museum of Art (1991). Includes objects in bronze, ceramic, paint, rubbing, and sculpture depicting the revered mountains of China. Illuminates the connections between the objects and Chinese myth, poetry, and vision.

References, p.195-99.

- I532 Possessing the past: treasures from the National Palace Museum, Taipei. [By] Wen Fong, James C. Y. Watt. With contrib. by Chang Lin-Sheng . . . [et al.] N.Y., Abrams, 1996. xv, 648p., il. (part col.), maps. Published in conjunction with the exhibition Splendors of Imperial China: Treasures from the National Palace Museum, Taipei, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1996), and other locations. The exhibition was also accompanied by a supplementary optical disk and a conventional catalog prepared by Maxwell K. Hearn, Splendors of Imperial China: treasures from the National Palace Museum, N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1996. Another set of scholarly symposium papers was published under the title: Arts of the Sung and Yüan. Ed. by Maxwell K. Hearn and Judith G. Smith. N.Y., Dept. of Asian Art, Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1996.

A massive work that both documents the wide-ranging exhibition and presents a comprehensive history of Chinese art and culture. The 475 objects in the exhibition are from the National Palace Museum collection and include paintings, calligraphy, textiles, jades, bronzes, porcelains, and other media. Essays by leading scholars.

Contents: (I) Foundations of civilization; (II) The vision of a cosmic order; (III) Cultural efflorescence during the Sung Dynasty; (IV) The Mongol conquest; (V) The Ming Dynasty: empire of restoration; (VI) The Ch'ing Dynasty: a new orthodoxy.

Chronology of Dynastic China, p.xiv. Notes, p.565-609. Bibliography, p.610-24. Index, p.636-46.

- I533 Stories from China's past: Han dynasty pictorial tomb reliefs and archaeological objects from Sichuan Province, People's Republic of China. Exhibition organized by Lucy Lim. San Francisco, Chinese Culture Foundation, [1987]. 209p. il., map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Chinese Culture Center of San Francisco (1987), and other locations. Exhibit of funerary reliefs, stone and pottery sculptures, and other artifacts from Sichuan Province dating from the Han dynasty. Includes scholarly essays as well as catalog entries for more than 70 objects. Illustrated with 29 color plates and 189 black-and-white images.

Glossary of Chinese names and terms, p.200-04. Selected bibliography, p.205-09.

- I534 Sullivan, Michael. Art and artists of twentieth-century China. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1996. xxx, 354p., il. (part col.)

"The theme of this book is the rebirth of Chinese art in the twentieth century under the influence of Western art and culture."—Foreword and ackn.

Using his own 1959 book, Chinese art of the twentieth century (GLAH 1:I524), as the basis for this work, the author presents a major survey of 90 years of Chinese art. The 25 chapters are grouped in five parts. With 94 color plates and 278 illustrations, the book presents a visual and textual account of 20th-century Chinese art.

Contents: (1) 1900-1937: the impact of the west; (2) 1937-1948: war and civil war; (3) 1949-1976: art in the era of Mao Zedong; (4) Other currents; (5) After Mao: art enters a new era.

Notes, p.283-96. Biographical index, p.297-325. Selected bibliography, p.327-34. Index, p.335-54.

- I535 Tregear, Mary. Chinese art. Rev. ed. London, Thames and Hudson, 1997. 216p. il. (part col.), maps, plans. (World of art)

1st ed. 1980.

Accessible introductory survey.

Contents: (1) Neolithic crafts; (2) Hieratic art in the bronze age; (3) Status and decoration; (4) Nationalism and expression; (5) The imprint of Buddhism; (6) Internationalism and showmanship; (7) Space and monumentality; (8) Court and Chan Buddhist arts; (9) Tradition and invention; (10) Eclecticism and innovation; (11) Individualism and eccentricity; (12) Enquiry and dislocation.

Select bibliography, p.201. Index, p.214–16.

- I536 Watson, William. The arts of China to AD 900. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. [x], 276p. il. (part col.), maps (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

An important new survey, continued by the following title. Departs from the precedent of Sickman and Soper's previous vol. on Chinese art in this distinguished series (GLAH 1:1520) by including the decorative and applied arts.

Contents: (1) Neolithic art; (2) Shang art; (3) Bronze in the Xizhou Period: 1027–771 B.C.; (4) Bronze in the Chunqiu and Zhanguo Periods: 771–476, 475–221; (5) Jade; (6) Lacquer art; (7) Inner Asia and the Chinese borders; (8) Cultural unity: the Han Empire; (9) Iconography under the western Han; (10) Draughtsmanship and painting under the eastern Han; (11) Architecture in retrospect from the second century A.D.; (12) The period of the Six Dynasties; (13) The age of division: sculpture of the northern Wei first phase; (14) Yungang cave-shrine: northern Wei second phase; (15) Northern Wei third phase: A.D. 495–535; (16) Monumental sculpture of the mid-sixth century; (17) Draughtsmanship and painting of the Six Dynasties in Henan, Hebei and Jiangsu; (18) Pre-Tang mural painting in west China; (19) Architecture from Han to Tang; (20) The Buddhist icon: Tang International Style; (21) Tang secular painting, figures and landscape; (22) Buddhist sculpture under the Tang; (23) Tang non-Buddhist sculpture and decorated objects.

List of bibliographical abbreviations, p.246. Notes, p.247–58. Bibliography, p.259–69. Glossary of Chinese characters, p.270–72. Index, p.273–76.

- I537 ———. The arts of China, 900–1620. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 2000. 286p. il. (part col.), map. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

Successor to Watson's companion vol. in the series, taking the "account to the mid-17th Century, ending with Ming and a brief extension into Qing."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Landscape painting under the Northern Song 960–1126; (2) Decorative style under Song: the earlier phase; (3) Decorative style under Song and Jin: the later phase; (4) Painting under Southern Song 1127–1279; (5) Architecture I: towers and the imaginary; (6) Architecture II: the wooden frame, brick building, domestic; (7) Sculpture; (8) Landscape, plants and trees painted under Yuan 1279–1368; (9) Mural painting; (10) Painting under Ming 1368–1643; (11) Decorative themes under Yuan and Ming.

Notes, p.261–71. Works consulted, p.272–78. Glossary, p.279–83. Index, p.284–86.

- I538 ———. Arts of dynastic China. N.Y., Abrams, 1981. 633p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of L'art de l'ancienne Chine. Paris, Mazenod, 1979 (L'art et les grandes civilisations, 9)

Magisterial survey in an important series.

Contents: Part one: The evolution of style; (I) Early traditions; (II) The hieratic cycle; (III) Realistic art; (IV) Architecture; (V) Philosophized art; (VI) Decorative art; Part two: The image as document; Photographs; Identification of the photographs; Drawings of architectural details and wall reliefs; Part three: The principal archaeological sites; Part four: Appendices.

The painters, p.607–10. Chronology, p.611–12. Bibliography, p.613–20. Guide to pronunciation, p.621–22. Index, p.623–33.

- I539 Weidner, Marsha, ed. Latter days of the law: images of Chinese Buddhism, 850–1850. Lawrence, Spencer Museum of Art, Univ. of Kansas; Honolulu, Univ. of Hawaii Pr., 1994. 481p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Spencer Museum of Art (1994), and other locations.

Surveys Chinese Buddhist pictorial art, e.g., paintings, woodblock-printed illustrations, pictorial textiles, and ink rubbings, from the late Tang period through the late Qing dynasty. Offers both a general introduction to Chinese Buddhism and its imagery as well as a scholarly investigation of later Buddhist paintings.

Select bibliography, p.453–56. Index, p.457–81.

- I540 ———. Views from jade terrace: Chinese women artists, 1300–1912. Indianapolis, Indianapolis Museum of Art; N.Y., Rizzoli, [1988]. 231p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Indianapolis Museum of Art (1988), and other locations.

First exhibition ever devoted to paintings by Chinese women artists and offering a view of the historical, social, and cultural position of women artists in China. Representative works from the wide variety of women artists through six centuries, ending with the start of the modern era. Includes scholarly essays and catalog entries.

Contents: Women in the history of Chinese painting, by Marsha Weidner; Wives, daughters, and lovers: three Ming Dynasty women painters, by Ellen Johnston Laing; Daughters of the muses of China, by Irving Yucheng Lo; Flowers from the garden: paintings in the exhibition, by Marsha Weidner; Catalogue.

Index of extant and reproduced paintings by women, p.176–87. Selected bibliography, p.188. Index and list of Chinese and Japanese terms, p.189–210. Chronology, p.211.

- I541 Whitfield, Roderick, and Farrer, Anne. Caves of the thousand Buddhas: Chinese art from the silk route. Ed. by Anne Farrer. With contrib. by S. J. Vainker and Jessica Rawson. London, British Museum, [1990]. 208p., il. (part col.), maps, ports.

Catalog of the exhibition, British Museum (1990).

Includes 163 objects from the Stein collection at the British Museum organized in three groups: paintings on textiles and paper recovered from Cave 17 at Dunhuang, non-painting textile items from Cave 17, and a wide variety of archaeological finds from Stein's Central Asian expeditions. Intended to serve not only as an exhibition catalog but also as a short guide to the Stein collection with many color illustrations.

Selected bibliography, p.204–05. Index, p.206–08.

- 1542 Wu Hung. Monumentality in early Chinese art and architecture. Stanford, Stanford Univ. Pr., 1995. xviii, p.376. il., maps.

Using the theme of monumentality, this work offers an historical inquiry of early Chinese art history. Decorative, pictorial, and architectural forms are discussed together and related to their ritual and religious context, value systems, political discourse, and other societal concerns.

Notes, p.287–325. Works cited, p.327–49. Character list, p.351–59. Index, p.361–76.

India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet

- 1543 Alamkara: 5000 years of Indian art. Essays by R. C. Sharma . . . [et al.] Ahmedabad, Usmanpura (Distr. by Univ. of Washington Pr., 1994). 143p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum, Singapore (1994–95), and other locations, offering an overview of Indian art in terms of thematic categories.

Contents: A glimpse of Indian art, by R.C. Sharma; Indian painters as designers of decorative art objects in the Mughal period, by Jagdish Mittal; Some aspects of the decorative repertoire of northern Indian (Nagara) temple architecture, by Ratan Parimoo; Alamkara: defining 5,000 years of Indian art, by Kwa Chong Guan; The catalogue.

Selected glossary, p.132–33. List of exhibits, p.134–43.

- 1544 The Arts of India. Ed. by Basil Gray. Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1981. 224p. il. (part col.), maps.

Multi-authored survey from Prehistory to the 20th century, embracing Buddhist, Hindu, Jain, Islamic, and modern art.

Contents: Buddhist, Hindu and Jain art. Introduction: Prehistory to the classical tradition of wall painting, by Basil Gray; The sculpture and architecture of Northern India, by Pramod Chandra; The sculpture and architecture of Southern India, by Aschwin de Lippe; Western Himalayan Hindu architecture and sculpture, by Penelope Chetwode; Art in the Islamic Period. The architecture and gardens of Islamic India, by Peter Andrews; Painting in Islamic India until the sixteenth century, by Heather Marshall; Later Mughal painting, by Linda York Leach; Painting for the Rajput courts, by Andrew Topsfield; Decorative arts of the Mughal period, by Mark Zebrowski. Modern art. Folk art in India today, by Stephen Huyler; Modern painting since 1935, by Geeta Kapur.

Bibliography, p.217–20. Glossary, p.221. Index, p.222–24.

- 1545 Arts of India, 1550–1900. Ed. by John Guy and Deborah Swallow. [Contrib. by] Rosemary Crill . . . [et al.] London, Victoria & Albert Museum, 1990. 240p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition celebrating the opening of the Nehru Gallery of Indian Art, Victoria and Albert Museum (1990). "This volume aims . . . to show that an understanding of artistic dynamics in India depends not only on the examination of the centres of high culture but also on the analysis of regional solidarities, and the patterns by which relationships between local, regional and central cultures are refined and developed."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Introduction, by Deborah Swallow; (2) The arts of pre-Mughal India, by John Guy; (3) The age of the Mughals, by Susan Stronge; (4) The Sultanates of the Deccan, by Susan Stronge; (5) The Rajput courts, by Rosemary Crill; (6) Europeans and the textile trade, by Veronica Murphy; (7) The later provincial courts and British expansion, by Veronica Murphy; (8) The Raj: India 1850–1900, by Deborah Swallow.

Glossary, p.228–29. Bibliography, p.230–37. Index, p.238–40.

- 1546 Brand, Michael, and Lowry, Glenn D. Akbar's India: art from the Mughal city of victory. N.Y., Asia Society Galleries (Distr. by Sotheby Publications, 1985). 162p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Asia Society Galleries (1985–86), and other locations, organized in celebration of the Festival of India and intended to explore "the relationship between the architectural and social environment created at Fatehpur-Sikri and the development of new artistic forms and images."—Introd.

Notes, p.129–34. Chronology, p.158. Bibliography, p.160–62. Index, p.[163–66].

- 1547 Chayet, Anne. Art et archéologie du Tibet. Paris, Picard, 1994. 247p. il. (part col.), maps. (Manuels d'archéologie d'Extrême-Orient. Civilisations de l'Himalaya)

Overview of Tibetan art.

Contents: (I) Découverte de l'art Tibétain; (II) Découvertes archéologiques; (III) Savoir, art et oeuvre au Tibet; (IV) L'architecture; (V) Peinture et sculpture; Conclusion; Annexes.

Liste des caractères chinois, p.228–29. Bibliographie, p.230–38. Index, p.239–47.

- 1548 Craven, Roy C. Indian art: a concise history. [Reprint.] N.Y., Praeger, 1997. 256p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

Reprint of 1976 ed. entitled A concise history of Indian art. General introductory survey.

Contents: (1) Harappan culture: beginnings on the Indus; (2) Historical and religious origins; (3) The Mauryan period: the first imperial art; (4) The Shunga dynasty: chaityas, viharas and stupas; (5) The Andhra period: the "world mountains"; (6) The Kushan period: Gandhara and Mathura; (7) The Gupta and Post-Gupta periods; (8) South India: Pallavas, Cholas and Hoysalas; (9) The medieval period in North India; (10) Islamic India: architecture and painting; (11) Jain, Rajasthani and Pahari painting; Epilogue.

Bibliography, p.250–52. Index, p.253–56.

- 1549 Fisher, Robert E. Art of Tibet. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1997. 224p. il. (chiefly col.), map, ports. (World of art)

Introductory survey.

Contents: (1) The Tibetan pantheon; (2) Structures, objects and images; (3) The development of Tibetan styles (11th–14th centuries); (4) The refinement of Tibetan styles (15th–19th centuries).

Glossary, p.216–17. Bibliography, p.218–19. Index, p.221–24.

I550 Ghose, D. C. Bibliography of modern Indian art. New Delhi, Lalit Kala Akademi, 1980. xiv, 290p.

"The first bibliography on contemporary Indian art."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) General; (2) Trends and progress in Indian art; (3) Influences; (4) Art and revivalism; (5) Revivalism and its criticism; (6) Progressive artists' movement; (7) Painting; (8) Sculpture; (9) Mural paintings in India; (10) Graphics; (11) Individual artists' list; (12) Art schools; (13) Art education; (14) Conferences and seminars; (15) Art galleries and museums; (16) Art appreciation; Appendixes.

Name index, p.249–90.

I551 Goetz, Hermann. Rajput art and architecture. Ed by Jyotindra Jain and Jutta Jain-Neubauer. Wiesbaden, Steiner, 1978. xxi, 229p. il., plates (Schriftenreihe des Südasiens-Instituts der Universität Heidelberg, 26)

Posthumously published collection of the great scholar's articles on this subject, which he intended to turn into a "comprehensive study on Rajput art."—Pref.

Bibliography, p.197–206. Index, p.218–29.

I552 Goswamy, B. N. Essence of Indian art. Photographs by Jean-Louis Nou. [San Francisco], Asian Art Museum of San Francisco, 1986. 285p. il. (part col.)

Beautifully produced catalog of the exhibition, Asian Art Museum of San Francisco (1986), and other locations. Thematically structured according to the nine rasas or "sentiments," evoking "the methods Indian artists used to provoke a particular response from their audience."—Foreword.

Glossary, p.275–80. Bibliography, p.281–83.

I553 Harle, J. C. The art and architecture of the Indian subcontinent. 2d ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1994. 601p. il. (part col.), maps. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

1st ed., Harmondsworth, Middlesex, Eng., Penguin Books, 1986; reprinted with corrections, 1987, 1990.

Comprehensive survey from the Indus Valley civilization to the 18th century. Unlike Benjamin Rowland's original Indian volume in this series (GLAH 1:I542), which dealt with Southeast Asia as well as the Indian subcontinent, "the present work oversteps the political boundaries of India only to include Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka, but it adds a section on Indo-Muslim architecture."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Early Indian art; (2) The Gupta period; (3) The post-Gupta period; (4) The later Hindu period; (5) South India; (6) Painting; (7) Indo-Islamic architecture; (8) Sri Lanka; (9) Nepal.

Notes, p.[489]–536. Bibliography, p.[537]–65. Index, p.[577]–601.

I554 Huntington, Susan L. The art of ancient India, Buddhist, Hindu, Jain. With contrib. by John C. Huntington. N.Y., Weatherhill, 1985. xxix, 786p. il. (part col.), plates.

"The need for an up-to-date overview of the art of South Asia has been apparent for decades. . . . This volume reflects our efforts to provide such a synthesis."—Pref. The standard survey.

Contents: Part one: Foundations of Indic civilization: the prehistoric and protohistoric periods; Part two: Period of the early dynasties; Part three: Dynasties of the middle period; Part four: Later northern schools; Part five: Later schools of the Deccan and the south.

Notes, p.619–58. Select bibliography, p.659–713. Glossary, p.715–32. List of maps, p.733. Illustration index, p.735–46. Index, p.747–86.

I555 ———, and Huntington, John C. Leaves from the Bodhi tree: the art of Pāla India (8th–12th centuries) and its international legacy. [Dayton, Ohio], Dayton Art Institute in assoc. with the Univ. of Washington Pr., 1989. 615p. il. (part col.)

Substantial catalog of the exhibition, Dayton Art Institute (1989–90), and other locations. "This exhibition explores the range of Pāla period art and traces its influences in Southeast Asia . . . in the Himalayan region, mainly Nepal and Tibet; and in China."—Introd.

Note on transliteration and pronunciation, p.19. Select bibliography, p.575–86. Glossary, p.587–601. Guide to subjects and themes, p.601–04. Maps and chart of Tibetan painting styles, p.605–15.

I556 In the image of man: the Indian perception of the universe through 2000 years of painting and sculpture. [Catalog ed. by George Michell.] London, Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1982. 231p. il. (part col.), map. Catalog of the exhibition, Hayward Gallery, London (1982). "Intended to focus on concepts which were quintessentially Indian . . . to demonstrate the cross-fertilization of cultural beliefs in the Indian sub-continent from ancient times to the nineteenth century."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction to Indian sculpture, by George Michell; Introduction to Indian painting, by Linda York Leach; Glossary of sculpture styles, by George Michell; Glossary of painting styles, by Linda York Leach; The catalogue: (1) The natural world; (2) The abundance of life; (3) Man in the cosmos; (4) The four goals of life; (5) Life at court; (6) Devotion; (7) Enlightenment; (8) Mythology of Vishnu; (9) Mythology of Shiva and the Goddess.

Glossary of terms and deities, p.227–28. Select bibliography, p.229. Guide to deities, p.230–31.

I557 Jacques Marchais Museum of Tibetan Art. Treasures of Tibetan Art: collections of the Jacques Marchais Museum of Tibetan Art. [By] Barbara Lipton and Nima Dorjee Ragnubs. Essay on Tibetan Buddhism by Donald S. Lopez, Jr. Photographs by Geoffrey Clements. Foreword by His Holiness the Fourteenth Dalai Lama. Staten Island, N.Y., The Museum; Oxford Univ. Pr., 1996. xix, 295p. il. (part col.)

Scholarly catalog of highlights from the museum's collections.

Tibetan transliterations, p.273-76. Selected bibliography, p.277-81. Tibetan references, p.282-84. Index, p.285-95.

I558 Jagdish Chandra. Bibliography of Indian art, history and archaeology. Delhi, Delhi Printers Prakashan (Distr. Humanities Pr., 1978). [unpaginated] il.

Only volume published of an ambitious general bibliography, arranged by media (art, architecture, sculpture, painting, handicraft) and planned for several vols.

I559 Klimburg-Salter, Deborah E. The silk route and the diamond path: esoteric Buddhist art on the trans-Himalayan trade routes. Essays by Maximilian Klimburg . . . [et al.] Los Angeles, Published under the sponsorship of the UCLA Art Council, 1982. 254p. il. (part col.)

Published on the occasion of the exhibition, Wight Art Gallery, UCLA (1982-83), and other locations.

"It is our intention in this exhibition and catalogue to suggest theoretical perspectives for the study of the Buddhist arts of the western Himalayas and . . . to place the arts within their historical, ideological, and aesthetic contexts. . . . The focus on this study is the monastic art that developed along the trade routes which traversed the Himalayas connecting ancient northwest India and the western Himalayas with Central Asia."—Pref.

Glossary of Sanskrit and other names and terms, p.243-44. Bibliography, p.245-54.

I560 Krishna Deva. Images of Nepal. New Delhi, Archaeological Survey of India, 1984. x, 93p. il., plates.

The result of an "iconographical survey of the Nepal Valley" embracing "the icons in the temples and the monasteries as well as the stray images in the Kathmandu Valley. . . . An attempt has been made to classify the rich iconographical wealth of the Nepal Valley and present a summary."—Pref. Includes Brahmanical, Buddhist, and Tantric iconography.

Bibliography, p.86-87. Index, p.88-93.

I561 Liu, Li-chung. Buddhist art of the Tibetan Plateau. Comp. and photographed by Liu Lizhong. Ed. and trans. by Ralph Kiggell. San Francisco, China Books and Periodicals, 1988. 362p. col. il.

Trans. of Tsang ch'uan fo chiao i shu. Hong Kong, 1987.

Presents "some of the most splendid examples of Tibet's heritage contained in the famous monasteries."—Pref. Mostly color plates.

Contents: Tibetan monasteries: search and discovery; The origins and development of Tibetan Buddhism; Architecture; Sculpture; Painting; Cultural objects; Monastic activities; Tibetan Buddhism in Beijing; The eight temples of Chengde; Appendixes: The major Tibetan monasteries; The Yarlung and Tubo kings; The fourteen Dalai Lamas; The ten Panchen Lamas; The Ganden Phodrang Regency; Afterword.

Index, p.356-60.

I562 Los Angeles County Museum of Art. Art of Nepal: a catalogue of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art collection. By Pratapaditya Pal. Berkeley, Los Angeles County Museum of Art in assoc. with Univ. of California Pr., 1985. 257p. il. (part col.)

Scholarly catalog of one of the most comprehensive collections outside Nepal, based originally on the Heeramaneck collection and consisting primarily of sculptures in several media, paintings, and drawings.

Glossary, p.239-44. Bibliography, p.245-50. Index, p.251-55.

I563 ———. Art of Tibet: a catalogue of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art collection. By Pratapaditya Pal. With an appendix on inscriptions by H. E. Richardson, and additional entries on textiles by Dale Carolyn Gluckman. Exp. ed. Los Angeles, The Museum (Distr. by Abrams, 1990). 343p. il. (part col.), map.

Scholarly catalog of the most important collection outside Tibet, based in the acquisition of the Heeramaneck collection.

Contents: Painting; Sculpture; Ritual objects; Addenda; Appendix.

Bibliography, p.335-38. Index, p.339-43.

I564 Michell, George. Architecture and art of southern India: Vijayanagara and the successor states. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1995. xxii, 302p. il., maps. (The new Cambridge history of India, I, 6)

"The overall aim of this volume is to provide an introduction to the architecture and art of Southern India, under the Vijayanagara empire and the lesser kingdoms that succeeded it."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Historical framework; (3) Temple architecture: the Kannada and Telugu zones; (4) Temple architecture: the Tamil zone; (5) Palace architecture; (6) Sculpture; (7) Painting; (8) Conclusion.

Bibliographical essay, p.278-82. Bibliography, p.283-94. Index, p.295-300.

I565 ———, and Zebrowski, Mark. Architecture and art of the Deccan Sultanates. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1999. xxi, 297p. il. (part col.), maps, 16p. of plates. (The new Cambridge history of India, I, 7)

"The aim here is to present the broadest possible appreciation of the Deccan in terms of architectural activity and artistic patronage."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Historical framework; (2) Forts and palaces; (3) Mosques and tombs; (4) Architectural decoration; (5) Miniature painting: Ahmadnagar and Bijapur; (6) Miniature painting: Golconda and other centres; (7) Textiles, metalwork and stone objects; (8) Temples; (9) Conclusion; Appendix:

Dynastic lists of Deccan rulers.

Bibliographical essay, p.278-81. Bibliography, p.282-88. Index, p.289-97.

I566 Mitter, Partha. Art and nationalism in colonial India: occidental orientations. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1994. xxix, 475p. il. (part col.)

"My purpose is to tell the story of colonial art . . . the vast canvas of Indian colonial culture, with its conflicts of interests and the interactions between colonial hegemony and national self-imaging."—Pref.

Contents: Part 1: Prologue: (1) The phenomenon: occidental orientations; Part 2: The age of optimism: (2) Art education and Raj patronage; (3) Salon artists and the rise of the Indian public; (4) The power of the printed image; (5) The artist as charismatic individual: Raja Ravi Varma; Part 3: The great wave of cultural nationalism: (6) Bengali patriots and art for the nation; (7) Ideology of swadeshi art; (8) How the past was salvaged by swadeshi artists; (9) Westernisers and orientalis: public battle of styles; Part 4: Epilogue: (10) The passing of the age of oriental art.

Notes, p.381–435. Bibliography, p.436–50. Index, p.451–75.

1567 Mookerjee, Ajit. Ritual art of India. Rochester, Vt., Inner Traditions, 1998. 176p. il. (part col.)

Originally published, London, Thames and Hudson, 1985.

"This study is an attempt to reveal the inward-seeking quality of Indian art, no matter what its subject-matter, iconography or chronology."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Primal form; (2) Nature worship; (3) Fertility rites; (4) Popular cults; (5) Sivaism; (6) Vishnuism; (7) Saktism; (8) Syncretism; (9) Death and rebirth; (10) Bliss-consciousness.

Bibliography, p.166–68. Glossary, p.169–74. Index, p.175–76.

1568 Naqvi, Akbar. Image and identity: fifty years of painting and sculpture in Pakistan. Karachi, Oxford Univ. Pr., 1998. xli, 870p. il. (part col.)

"This book is a narrative, a story . . . as well as . . . a calendar of dates which helps to identify . . . the birth, education, travels, and works of the artists. [It] is also an account of my own involvement with art and artists for over forty years."—Introd. Substantial but poorly illustrated, personal account of contemporary art in Pakistan.

Notes at ends of chapters. Glossary, p.851–60. Index, p.861–70.

1569 National Museum of India. Masterpieces from the National Museum collection. Ed. by S. P. Gupta. New Delhi, National Museum, 1985. x, 232p. il. (part col.), plates.

Catalog planned to accompany an exhibition cancelled due to prior commitment of artworks to the Festival of India loan program. Intended as a handbook to the collections. Director's foreword. Includes archeological artifacts, manuscripts, paintings, coins and epigraphy, arms and armor, decorative arts.

1570 Newark Museum. Catalogue of the Newark Museum Tibetan collection. [By] Valrae Reynolds, Amy Heller. 2d ed. Newark, N.J., Newark Museum, 1983–. (2)v. il., map.

Rev. ed. of Catalogue of the Tibetan collection and other Lamaist articles in the Newark Museum. 1st ed. 1950–71 in 5 vols. Vol.3 by Valrae Reynolds, Amy Heller, and Janet Gyatso.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (3) Sculpture and painting.

1571 Pal, Pratapaditya. Art of the Himalayas: treasures from Nepal and Tibet. With contrib. from Ian Alsop . . . [et al.] N.Y., Hudson Hills Press in assoc. with the American Federation of Arts (Distr. by Rizzoli, 1991). 208p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition organized by the American Federation of Arts, Newark Museum (1992), and other locations. Based on the Zimmerman collection, which is "particularly strong in Nepali bronzes and paintings."—Pref.

Contents: Art from Nepal: Introduction; Sculptures and ritual objects; Paintings and drawings; Art from Tibet: Introduction; Sculptures and ritual objects; Paintings; Ritual textiles; Appendixes.

Bibliography, p.200–03. Index, p.204–07.

1572 ———. The peaceful liberators: Jain art from India. With contrib. by Shridhar Andhare . . . [et al.] Los Angeles, Calif., Los Angeles County Museum of Art; N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1994. 279p. il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Los Angeles County Museum of Art (1994–95), and other locations. "The most comprehensive presentation to date of artwork emerging from the Jain religion."—Foreword.

Contents: Introduction, by Pratapaditya Pal; Following the Jina, worshiping the Jina: an essay on Jain rituals, by John E. Cort; Are Jains really Hindus? Some parallels and differences between Jain and Hindu philosophies, by Gerald James Larson; Jain pilgrimage: in memory and celebration of the Jinas, by Phyllis Granoff; Jain monumental painting, by Shridhar Andhare; Jain manuscript painting, by John Guy; Catalogue of the exhibition: Architectural pieces; ritual objects and symbols; Images of Jinas; Images of Deities; The art of the book; The cosmic and mortal realms; Appendix.

Bibliography, p.262–69. Sanskrit names and terms with diacritical marks, p.270–71. Index, p.272–76.

1573 ———. Tibet: tradition and change. Essay and catalogue entries by Pratapaditya Pal, with contrib. by Lobsang Lhalungpa . . . [et al.] Trans. of inscriptions . . . by Lobsang Lhalungpa. Photographs . . . by John Bigelow Taylor. Albuquerque, Albuquerque Museum, 1997. xvi, 284p. il. (part col.), map.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Albuquerque Museum (1997–98).

Attempts to cover "the long history and rich diversity of Tibetan art with roughly only a hundred objects . . . only from American collections."—Pref. Beautiful color plates.

Glossary, p.257–64. Sanskrit words, p.264. Tibetan words, p.265. Bibliography, p.266–75.

1574 Palast der Götter, 1500 Jahre Kunst aus Indien. Hrsg. Haus der Kulturen der Welt, Berlin, Staatliche Museen zu Berlin, Preussischer Kulturbesitz. [Autoren, Shashi P. Asthana . . . [et al.] Red., Marianne Yaldiz. Übers., Martin Pfeiffer. Berlin, Reimer, 1992. 244p. il. (chiefly col.), map.

Catalog of the important exhibition, Grosse Orangerie, Schloss Charlottenburg, Berlin (1992), exploring the religious significance of Indian art across 15 centuries.

Bibliographie, p.239–44.

- 1575 Plaeschke, Herbert, and Plaeschke, Ingeborg. Hinduistische Kunst: das indische Mittelalter. Wien, Böhlau, 1978. 177p. il. (part col.), 1 map, plans.

Compact survey of the background and development of Indian art during the "middle ages" (5th–13th century), organized thematically across architecture, the pictorial arts, and the human figure in art, and focusing upon representative monuments.

Literaturhinweise, p.170. Namen- und Sachverzeichnis, p.170–72.

- 1576 Rhie, Marilyn M., and Thurman, Robert A. F. Wisdom and compassion: the sacred art of Tibet. Photographs by John Bigelow Taylor. N.Y., Abrams, 1991. 406p. il. (part col.) (Repr.: 1992).

Catalog of the important exhibition, Asian Art Museum of San Francisco (1991), and other locations, intended to "demonstrate the function of this quintessentially religious art within its sacred context and to present its qualities as a distinctive body of fine art."—Overview.

Contents: Wisdom and compassion: the heart of Tibetan culture, by Robert A. F. Thurman; Tibet, its Buddhism, and its art, by Robert A. F. Thurman; Tibetan Buddhist art: aesthetics, chronology, and styles, by Marilyn M. Rhie; The sacred art of Tibet: Catalogue: Tibetan sacred history; Tibetan Buddhist orders; Tibetan perfected worlds; Techniques of Tibetan painting and sculpture, by Gilles Béguin.

Glossary, p.389–93. Bibliography, p.394–97. Index, p.398–405.

- 1577 Tibetan art: towards a new definition of style. London, Laurence King, in assoc. with Alan Marcuson, 1997. 319p. col. il.

Reproduces selected papers delivered at an international symposium on Tibetan art (London, 1994). Aims to provide an introduction to the subject as well as providing a reference book for scholars and students.

Note on foreign terms, p.292. Footnotes, p.292–305. Bibliography, p.306–11. Glossary, p.312–14. Index, p.315–19.

- 1578 Till, Barry, and Swart, Paula. Art from the roof of the world: Tibet = Sur le toit du monde: l'art du Tibet. Victoria, Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, 1989. 159p. il. (part col.)

Text in English and French. Catalogue of the exhibition, Art Gallery of Greater Victoria (1989), and other locations.

- 1579 Topsfield, Andrew, and Beach, Milo Cleveland. Indian paintings and drawings from the collection of Howard Hodgkin. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1991. 111p. (part fold.) il. (chiefly col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Arthur M. Sackler Gallery, Washington, D.C. (1992), and other locations.

Contents: Notes on the collection, by Howard Hodgkin; Rajput and Mughal painting in Howard Hodgkin's collection, by Andrew Topsfield; Catalogue, by Milo Cleveland Beach and Andrew Topsfield.

Bibliography, p.110–11.

- 1580 Welch, Stuart Cary. India, art and culture, 1300–1900. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art; Holt, Rinehart, and Winston, 1985. 478p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1985). "Documents six critical centuries of artistic synthesis, change, and survival . . . spanning all parts of the continent."—p.22.

Contents: (I) The great tradition; (II) Tribe and village; (III) The Muslim courts; (IV) The Rajput world; (V) The British period.

Chronology, p.450–57. Glossary, p.458–61. Bibliography, p.462–70. Index, p.471–77.

- 1581 Williams, Joanna Gottfried. The art of Gupta India, empire and province. Princeton, N.J., Princeton Univ. Pr., 1982. xxvi, 209p., il., plates.

"Ultimately, it is the purpose of this book to relate works of art, selected on the basis of their aesthetic character and located on a grid of time, place, and social milieu, to factors outside the realm of art that may explain or correlate with their particular nature."—Introd.

Contents: Introduction: issues and methods; (I) The point of departure; (II) The inception of Gupta art, A.D. 370–415; (III) Maturity and crisis, A.D. 415–485; (IV) Gupta art after the Guptas, A.D. 485–550; (V) The beginnings of the medieval, A.D. 550–650; Epilogue; Appendix.

List of Abbreviations, p.xxvii. Bibliography, p.189–200. Index, p.201–9.

- 1582 Ypma, Herbert J. M. Indiamodern: traditional forms and contemporary design. London, Phaidon, 1994. 239p. il. (chiefly col.)

A beautifully illustrated introduction to contemporary architectural and design culture in India.

Bibliography, p.236.

Japan

- 1583 Cunningham, Michael R. The triumph of Japanese style: 16th century art in Japan. With contrib. by Suzuki Norio; Miyajima Shin'ichi . . . [et al.] [Cleveland], Cleveland Museum of Art in coop. with Indiana Univ. Pr., [1991]. xiii, 154p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Cleveland Museum of Art (1991).

Spanning the Muromachi and the Momoyama periods, the 16th century was a time when a bold national style of art emerged in Japan. This exhibition includes ceramics, lacquerware, paintings, and textiles from a number of museums in Japan and the United States gathered to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the Cleveland Museum of Art.

Suggested reading, p.150–51.

- 1584 Elisseeff, Danielle, and Elisseeff, Vadime. Art of Japan. Trans. by I. Mark Paris. N.Y., Abrams, 1985. 622p. il. (part col.), map.

Trans. of L'art de l'ancien Japon. Paris, Mazenod, 1980. (L'art et les grandes civilisations, X)

Following a thematic rather than chronological sequence, this work is lavishly illustrated with many full-page, full-color reproductions of Japanese art and architecture. After a historical chapter, the book begins with architecture and closes with the Japanese love of life's pleasures.

Contents: (1) Paths to Japanese art; (2) Documentation.

Concise biographies, p.[591]–600. Chronological table, p.[601–06]. Bibliography, p.608–14. Index, p.615–22.

- I585 The Great Eastern Temple: treasures of Japanese Buddhist art from Todai-ji. Organized by Yutaka Mino. Chicago, Art Institute of Chicago; Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., [1986]. 180p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Art Institute of Chicago (1986).

Tōdai-ji, a Buddhist monastery of several buildings located in Nara, is one of the most precious of Japan's cultural assets. This exhibition displayed 150 cultural treasures from this important Buddhist monument including sculpture, painting, decorative arts, and calligraphy spanning 1,200 years.

Bibliography, p.173–75.

- I586 Hempel, Rose. The golden age of Japan, 794–1192. Trans. by Katherine Watson. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1983. 252p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Japan zur Heian-Zeit: Kunst und Kultur. Fribourg, Office du Livre, 1983.

Standard work on Japanese art of the Heian period. Intended for a scholarly audience, this work presents a comprehensive outline of Heian Japan religion, sculpture, politics, architectural and city planning, Chinese and Japanese literature and calligraphy, and related topics.

Glossary, p.232–38. Bibliography, p.239–41. Index, p.243–51.

- I587 Hizo nihon bijutsu taikan. [Japanese art: the great European collections.] Supervised by Tadashi Kobayashi. N.Y., Kodansha, 1992–94. 12v. il. (part col.)

Contents: (1) British Museum I; (2) British Museum II; (3) British Museum III; (4) British Museum IV, Ashmolean Museum, Victoria and Albert Museum; (5) Chester Beatty Library; (6) Musée Guimet; (7) Museum für Ostasiatische Kunst; (8) Museum für Ostasiatische Kunst der Stadt Köln; (9) Rijksmuseum voor Volkenkunde; (10) National Museum, Krakow; (11) Österreichisches Museum für Angewandte Kunst, Vienna; Náprstek Muzeum and National Gallery, Prague; The Museum of Applied Arts, Budapest; (12) Selected Japanese arts in Europe.

- I588 Ichiko, Teiji; Masaru, Sekino; and Yoshiho, Yonezawa. Nihon gakujutsu shiryō somokuroku. Tokyo, Hatsubai Asahi Shuppansha, 1988–Nendoban. 2v. 1st ed. 1982. Cover title: The general catalogue of learned materials in Japan.

Directory of national treasures and important cultural properties. Vol.1 includes sections on paintings (p.3–470), sculpture (p.473–566), architecture (p.569–618), crafts (p.621–66), swords and weapons (p.669–713), lacquer (p.717–35), textiles, (p.739–58), ceramics (p.761–870), calligraphy (p.873–74), archeological items (p.877–98), and other media (p.901–36). Each of these sections is organized by title of the work and includes information on the dimensions, the owning institution, and the artist. Most of the sections are subdivided between Japanese work and foreign work in Japan. Indexes to the entries by artists' names (p.3–183) and owning institutions (p.187–390) are in separately numbered section of the volume. Vol.2 covers calligraphy (p.3–117), books (p.121–582), ancient documents (p.585–876), and other paper documents (p.879–92). These sections are also listed in title order with the author index (p.3–141) and institution index (p.145–72) in a separately numbered section of the volume.

- I589 International Research Center for Japanese Studies. Kaigai Nihon Bijutsu Chosa Purijekuto hokoku = Report of Japanese Art Abroad Research Project. Kyoto, Kokusai Nihon Bunka Kenkyu Senta, 1993–. (6)v. il. (part col.)

In Japanese and English.

Begun in 1991 by the International Research Center for Japanese Studies, this project intends to construct a database with textual and pictorial information related to Japanese art located outside of Japan. The catalogs provide basic information on the collections, data on the pieces, and small, color reproductions. The volumes consist primarily of photographs taken for the project on site.

Contents: (1) Catalogue of Japanese Art in the Pushkin State Museum of Fine Arts (1993); (2) Catalogue of Japanese Art in the State Hermitage Museum (1993); (3) Catalogue of Japanese Art in the Náprstek Museum (1994); (4) Catalogue of Japanese Art in the National Gallery, Prague (1994); (5) Ferenc Hopp Museum of Eastern Asiatic Arts, Budapest (1995); (6) Index of ukiyo-e in western collections (1996).

Indexes of included artists appear at end of each vol.

- I590 Japan: the shaping of Daimyo culture, 1185–1868. Ed. by Yoshiaki Shimizu. Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art, 1988. xi, 402p. col. il., ports.

"The first attempt anywhere, including Japan, to explore the artistic legacy of the daimyo," that is, feudal lords who controlled the provinces of Japan for much of the medieval and early modern periods.—Foreword.

Contents: Daimyo and daimyo culture, by Martin Collcutt; Daimyo and art, by Yoshiaki Shimizu; Catalogue: Portraiture; Calligraphy; Religious sculpture; Painting; Arms and armor; Lacquer; Ceramics; Textiles; Tea ceremony utensils; Nō-related works.

Literature, p.391–93. Bibliography, p.394–402.

- I591 Japanese Arts Library. Rosenfield, John, general ed. Tokyo, Kodansha (Distr. by Harrassowitz, [1977–1987]). 15v. il., plates.

Volumes originally appeared in the Japanese-language series, Nihon no bijutsu.

An important series because it provides for the first time adequate college-level, English-language resources for many of the important topics of Japanese art. Each vol. provides numerous illustrations, some in color, of significant objects as well as a glossary of terms and bibliography.

Contents: (1) Fujioka, Ryōichi. Shino and Oribe ceramics (1977); (2) Mōri, Hisashi. Japanese portrait sculpture (1977); (3) Takeda, Tsuneo. Kanō Eitoku (1977); (4) Okazaki, Jōji. Pure land Buddhist painting (1977); (5) Nishikawa, Kyotaro. Bugaku masks (1978); (6) Hosono, Masanobu. Nagasaki prints and early copperplates (1978); (7) Nakagawa, Sensaku. Kutani ware (1979); (8) Kanazawa, Hiroshi. Japanese ink paintings: early Zen masterpieces (1979); (9) Suzuki, Kakichi. Early Buddhist architecture in Japan (1980); (10) Hashimoto, Fumio, ed. Architecture in the shoin style: Japanese feudal residences (1981); (11) Sugiyama, Jirō. Classic Buddhist sculpture: the Tempyō period (1982); (12) Satō, Kanzan. The Japanese sword (1983); (13) Kawahara, Masahiko. The ceramic art of Ogata Kenzan (1985); (14) Hinago, Motoo. Japanese castles (1986); (15) Ishida, Hisatoyo. Esoteric Buddhist paintings (1987).

I592 Japan's golden age: Momoyama. [By] Money L. Hickman . . . [et al.] New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr. in assoc. with Sun and Star 1996 and Dallas Museum of Art, 1996. 320p. il. (chiefly col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Dallas Museum of Art (1996).

Important presentation of Momoyama (16th-century) art and culture. Introductions to each catalog section by specialists.

Contents: Catalogue: Portraiture; Sculpture; Painting; Calligraphy; Tea ceremony utensils and ceramics; Lacquer and metalwork.

I593 Kidder, J. Edward, Jr. The art of Japan. London, Century, 1985. 319p. col. il. map.

Trans. of Arte del Giappone. Milan, Mondadori, 1985.

Extensively illustrated with colorful, often full-page, photographs. Chapters are organized in chronological order and provide a very accessible text for the beginning student.

Bibliography, p.315. Index, p.316-19.

I594 ———. Early Buddhist Japan. N.Y., Praeger, [1972]. 212p. il., maps (Ancient peoples and places, 78)

A standard history of the archeology of the early centuries of Buddhism in Japan.

Bibliography, p. 162-64.

I595 Mason, Penelope. History of Japanese art. N.Y., Abrams, 1993. 431p. il., plates (part col.), map.

The standard introductory text for the topic. Intended for the beginning student of Japanese art and culture. Nicely illustrated with numerous colored plates and plans.

Contents: (1) The birth of Japan: the Jomon and Yayoi periods and the Kofun era; (2) Encounter with China and Buddhism: the Asuka, Hakuho, and Nara periods; (3) New beginnings and the formulation of court culture: the Heian period; (4) Samurai culture and the coming of Pure Land and Zen Buddhism: the early feudal period; (5) A turbulent transition: the Momoyama period; (6) Peace and stability in later feudal times: the Tokugawa, or Edo, period; (7) After feudalism: the modern period.

Glossary, p.388-92. A reader's guide to the arts of Japan, by Sylvan Barnet and William Burto, p.393-404. Index, p.405-30.

I596 Munroe, Alexandra. Japanese art after 1945: scream against the sky. N.Y., Abrams, 1994. 416p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Yokohama Museum of Art (1994), and other locations.

An interpretive survey of 50 years of Japanese avant-garde art with 200 works, including painting, sculpture, photography and performance, video, film, and installation art, by more than 100 artists. Chapter 15 is an anthology of 39 statements, texts, and interviews with artists and critics on postwar Japanese art.

Glossary, p.393-98. Bibliography, p.399-411. Index, p.412-16.

I597 Paine, Robert Treat, and Soper, Alexander Coburn. The art and architecture of Japan. 3d ed. with rev. and upd. notes and bibliography to pt.1 by D. B. Waterhouse. Harmondsworth, Penguin, 1981. 524p. il. (Pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I559 for original annotation. Waterhouse's revisions to Paine's contribution are to the bibliography, which has been expanded to the same scale as that for Part Two. No revisions have been made to Part Two, with two minor exceptions. —Pref. to Part One (third ed.)

I598 Pearson, Richard. Ancient Japan. N.Y., Braziller; Washington, D.C., Arthur M. Sackler Gallery, Smithsonian Institution, [1992]. 324p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Sackler Gallery (1992). "This volume and the accompanying exhibition of more than 250 objects, most recovered in excavations conducted over the past two decades, survey the archaeology of ancient Japan from the first evidence of human activity during the Paleolithic period through the establishment of a central state in the seventh and eighth centuries A.D."—Introd.

A comprehensive survey of Japanese prehistory from the Paleolithic period to the establishment of a central Buddhist state through period chapters followed by specific site and artifact descriptions. All 258 objects in the exhibition are reproduced with extended captions.

References, p.312-17. Index, p.318-24.

I599 Self, James, and Hirose, Nobuko. Japanese art signatures: a handbook and practical guide. London, Bamboo, 1987. 399p., il.

"The aim of the present book is to make it feasible, even for those with no formal training in the Japanese language, to be able to decipher and correctly read the names, and common adjuncts to signatures, like dates and the age of the artist."—Foreword.

Includes a dictionary of more than 1,600 characters, a catalog of more than 11,000 names used by artists and craftsmen, and a lexicon of character variations.

Bibliography, p.365-75.

I600 Shimizu, Christine. L'art japonais. Paris, Flammarion, 1997. 495p. col. il., maps.

Survey of Japanese art history from the beginnings through the modern era. Pays close attention to the social and historical setting.

Repères chronologiques, p.448–49. Bibliographie, p.475–79. Table d'équivalence des termes bouddhiques japonais/sanskrit, p.480. Index des termes techniques, p.481–85. Index des ouvrages cités, p.486–87. Index des sites, p.488–90. Index des noms de personnes, p.491–95.

I601 Smith, Lawrence; Harris, Victor; and Clark, Timothy. Japanese art: masterpieces in the British Museum. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1990. 256p. col. il.

Published on the occasion of the opening of a new suite of Japanese galleries in the British Museum. Documents the most comprehensive Japanese art collection in Europe. Chapters include introductory essays as well as catalog entries.

Chronology, p.248. Glossary, p.248–50. Bibliography, p.251–53. Index, p.253–56.

I602 Stanley-Baker, Joan. Japanese art. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1984. 216p. il. (part col.) map (World of art)

A survey intended to introduce the most significant art in Japan and to identify "aspects of the Japanese spirit which were developed in art forms."—Introd.

Select bibliography, p.203–05. Index, p.214–15.

I603 Swindon, Elizabeth de Sabato, et al. The women of the pleasure quarter: Japanese paintings and prints of the Floating World. Lanham, Md., Hudson Hills Pr., 1996. 195p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, the Worcester Art Museum (1996), and other locations. With examples drawn primarily from the John Chandler Bancroft collection of Japanese woodblock prints and paintings, the catalog intends to increase understanding of traditional Japanese popular culture. Images from the Edo period of the courtesans who became cultural icons.

Selected bibliography, p.191–92.

I604 Tokugawa, Bijutsukan. The Shogun age exhibition from the Tokugawa Art Museum, Japan. Tokyo, the Shogun Age Exhibition Executive Committee, 1983. 279p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Los Angeles County Museum of Art (1983), and other locations.

Owned by the Tokugawa shoguns who ruled Japan during the Edo period, the 300 art works in the exhibit range from painted screens and scrolls to swords and armor, from tea ceremony utensils to Nō theater costumes and masks. "This catalog is not simply a list of the exhibits, but is intended to transmit a sense of the history, culture, and life of the great daimyo (feudal lords) of the Edo period through articles that once constituted their possessions."—Ed. notes.

I605 Twelve centuries of Japanese art from the Imperial collection. [Ed. by Lynne Shaner.] Introd. by Ann Yonemura. Contrib. by Hirabayashi Moritoku . . . [et al.] Washington, D.C., Smithsonian Institution, 1997. 224p. col. il., col. map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Arthur M. Sackler Gallery (1997–98), celebrating "the consistently influential and occasionally revolutionary role of the imperial household in the development of Japanese art through the centuries."—Foreword, by Milo Cleveland Beach.

Bibliography, p.222–24.

I606 Yamasaki, Shigehisa. Chronological table of Japanese art. Tokyo, Geishinsha, [1981]. 885p.

In English and Japanese.

Covers various genres of the arts (cultural properties) dating from the 6th century to the present. Includes all works designated National Treasures and many of the Important Cultural Properties for a total of about 6,000 entries. Entries are in both Japanese and English.

Index of art works, p.[305]–28. List of owners and collectors, p.[529]–786. Index of personal names, p.[787]–867.

Korea

I607 Arts of Korea. Contrib. Chung Yang-mo . . . [et al.] Coord. ed. Judith G. Smith. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art (Distr. by Abrams, 1998). 511p. il. (part col.), maps.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition celebrating the opening of the Arts of Korea Gallery, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1998). The exhibition incorporated 100 masterworks of Korean art in a range of media.

Contents: The art of the Korean potter: from the neolithic period to the Chosŏn Dynasty, by Chung Yang-mo; Tradition and transformation in Korean Buddhist sculpture, by Kim Lena; The origin and development of landscape painting in Korea, by Ahn Hwi-joon; Artistic tradition and the depiction of reality: true-view landscape painting of the Chosŏn Dynasty, by Yi Sŏng-mi; An Kyŏn and the Eight Views tradition, by Kim Hongnam; The Korean art collection in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, by Pak Youngsook.

Endnotes, p.451–79. Bibliography, p.481–83. Index, p.485–507.

Southeast Asia

I608 Art of Southeast Asia. By Maud Girard-Geslan . . . [et al.] Pref. by Albert le Bonheur. Trans. from the French by J. A. Underwood. N.Y., Abrams, 1998. 635p. il. (part col.), maps.

Trans. of Art de l'Asie du Sud-Est. Paris, Citadelles et Mazenod, 1994. (L'art et les grandes civilisations, 24)

Substantial survey in a distinguished series.

Contents: Protohistory, by Maud Girard-Geslan; The art of Burma, by Donald M. Stadtner; The art of Thailand and Laos, by Valérie Zaleski; Khmer art, by Thierry Zéphir; The art of Champa, by Albert Le Bonheur; Vietnamese art, by Maud Girard-Geslan; Indonesian art, by Marijke J. Klokke; Traditional arts, by Maud Girard-Geslan.

Documentation for the illustrations, p.437–615. Bibliography, p.616–21. Glossary, p.622–26. Index, p.627–35.

I609 Lowry, John. Burmese art. London, H.M. Stationery Off. (Distr. by Pendragon House, 1974). vii, [107]p. il.

Brief, introductory discussion, "almost entirely concerned with the Buddha image," with a catalog of 50 objects from the Victoria and Albert Museum.

Index [unpaginated].

- I610 An ocean apart, contemporary Vietnamese art from the United States and Vietnam. With an essay by Jeffrey Hantover. Trans. by Nguyen Ngoc Bich. Washington, D.C., Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service; Boulder, Colo., Roberts Rinehart Publishers (Distr. by Publishers Group West, 1995). 112p. col. il., map.

Introduction to "the relatively little known world of contemporary painting, sculpture, and mixed media works by Vietnamese and Vietnamese American artists."—Foreword.

Index of artists, p.112.

- I611 Ozhegova, N. I., and Oshegow, Sergij. Kunst in Burma: 2000 Jahre Architektur [sic], Malerei und Plastik im Zeichen des Buddhismus und Animismus. [Übers. aus dem Russischen von Christian Heidmann.] Leipzig, Seemann, 1988. 337p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

Trans. from the manuscript entitled Iskusstvo Birmy.

Survey of the art and architecture of Burma.

Contents: Ideologische Grundlagen der klassischen Kunst Burmas; Die Kunst Pagans—das Goldene Zeitalter; Die Zeit der feudalen Zersplitterung; Die Kunst Burmas seit dem Ende des 18. Jahrhunderts.

Anmerkungen, p.304–08. Glossar, p.309–21. Zeittafel, p.322–26. Register, p.327–37.

- I612 Phillips, Herbert P. The integrative art of modern Thailand. Berkeley, Lowe Museum of Anthropology, University of California, 1992. x, 138p. il. (chiefly col.), plates.

Catalog of the exhibition, Lowe Museum of Anthropology (1992), the first travelling exhibition of contemporary Thai art in the U.S.

Contents: Historical and cultural context: (1) The emergence of contemporary Thai art; (2) Other artistic genres; (3) The art community; (4) International influences; Exhibition artwork: Celebrations of Buddhism; Impressions of daily life; At one with nature; In search of identity.

Artists' profiles, p.129–35. Bibliography, p.136–37.

- I613 Poshyananda, Apinan. Modern art in Thailand: nineteenth and twentieth centuries. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1992. xxiv, 259p. il. (part col.)

"Thai modernism is treated here as a broad social and cultural field in which the plastic arts are embedded and to which they give visibility."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) The threshold of modern art in Siam; (2) Modern Thai painting and sculpture at a crossroads; (3) Progressive trends in modern Thai art; (4) The art scene of the 1960s; (5) Abstract and non-figurative art; (6) Thematic art; (7) Taste, value, and commodity; (8) From modern to (post?): modern art in Thailand; (9) Conclusion; Appendices.

Bibliography, p.238–52. Index, p.253–59.

- I614 Strachan, Paul. Pagan: art and architecture of old Burma. Whiting Bay, Arran [Scotland], Kiscadale, 1989. vii, 159p. il. (part col.), plates.

"This work is in all senses an introduction to the art and architecture of the Pagan Dynasty . . . built upon over a century of Pagan studies."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The rise of a dynasty at Pagan; (2) The Pagan temple and stupa; (3) Images: style and iconography; (4) The early period c.850–1120; (5) The middle period c.1100–1170; (6) The late period c.1170–1300, I: Inner circle monuments; (7) The late period c.1170–1300, II: Outer circle monuments.

Glossary, p.140–42. Notes, p.144–51. Bibliography, p.152–5. Index, p.156–59.

- I615 Stratton, Carol, and Scott, Miriam McNair. The art of Sukhothai: Thailand's golden age from the mid-thirteenth to the mid-fifteenth centuries: a cooperative study. Photographs by Robert Stratton, Robert McNair Scott. Drawings by Tirachai Kambhu na Ayudhaya. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1981. xxxiv, 163p. il. (part col.), maps, plates.

Devoted to the "pivotal Sukhothai period during which the Thais created their first expressions in architecture, sculpture, painting and ceramics."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Sukhothai history; (2) Sukhothai architecture; (3) Sukhothai sculpture; (4) Sukhothai painting and drawing; (5) Ceramics of the Sukhothai period.

Glossary, p.[141]–52. Bibliography, p.[153]–58. Index, p.[159]–63.

- I616 Van Beek, Steve, and Invernizzi Tettoni, Luca. The arts of Thailand. Rev. and upd. ed. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1991. 248p. il. (part col.)

1st ed., An introduction to the arts of Thailand. Hong Kong, Travel Pub. Asia, [1985].

Accessible introduction for the general reader.

Glossary, p.241–43. Index, p.246–47. Selected bibliography, p.248.

AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS

General Works

- I617 Affinities of form. The Raymond and Laura Wielgus Collection of the arts of Africa, Oceania, and the Americas. [By] Diane M. Pelrine. With an introd. by Roy Sieber. Photographs by Michael Cavanagh and Kevin Montague. Munich, Prestel, [1996]. 231p., 100 col. plates, col. maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Portland Museum of Art (1996–97), and other locations. Organized by the Indiana University Art Museum, Bloomington, this exhibition documents a collection "widely regarded by scholars as one of the finest of its kind in the world."—Foreword.

Contents: Collectors, museums, and ethnographic arts in the United States; Africa; Oceania; The Americas; Ex-Collection objects.

Bibliography, p.225–30. Index of peoples and places, p.231.

- I618 Die anderen Modernen: zeitgenössische Kunst aus Afrika, Asien und Lateinamerika. [Katalogred., Ute Hermanns, Maria Ferreira Morais (Assistenz). Übers., Mary Carroll . . . [et al.] Hrsg., Haus der Kulturen der Welt. Heidelberg, Braus, 1997. 162p. il. (part col.)

In German and English. Catalog of the exhibition, Haus der Kulturen der Welt, Berlin (1997). Seeks to provide a corrective to Eurocentric perspectives on modern art.

Biographien, p.122–37.

- I619 Corbin, George A. Native arts of North America, Africa, and the South Pacific: an introduction. N.Y., Harper and Row, 1988. xxvii, 313p. il., maps, col. plates. (Icon editions)

"The purpose of this book is to provide [an] introduction to the art of the indigenous peoples of North America, West and Central Africa, and the South Pacific. It is written from the point of view of an art historian using traditional art historical techniques and points of view."—Introd. A significant introduction that seeks to take into account recent scholarship as well as the growing interest of the art market in these traditional arts.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Alaskan Eskimo art and art of the Northwest Coast; (3) Art of the Southwestern United States; (4) Art of the Woodlands Period and of the Mississippian Period, and art of the Great Lakes and Plains; (5) West African art of Mali, the Ivory Coast, and Ghana; (6) Art of Nigeria; (7) Art of Central Africa; (8) Australian aboriginal and Island New Guinea art; (9) Art of Island Melanesia; (10) Art of Polynesia.

Glossary, p.285–87. Notes, p.288–93. Bibliography, p.294–305. Index, p.307–13.

SEE ALSO: The Metropolitan Museum of Art at home (GLAH 2:I3).

Africa

- I620 Africa: the art of a continent. Ed. by Tom Phillips. Munich, Prestel, [1995]. 613p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Royal Academy of Arts, London (1996), and other locations. This monumental art exhibition and catalog includes beautiful colored plates of the whole of Africa, from Egypt to Ife to Great Zimbabwe.

Contents: Why Africa? Why art?, by Kwame Anthony Appiah; Europe, African art, and the uncanny, by Henry Louis Gates, Jr.; The African past, by Peter Garlake; Ancient Egypt and Nubia, by Edna R. Russman and László Török; Eastern Africa, by John Mack; Southern Africa, by Patricia Davison; Central Africa, by Daniel Biebuyck and Frank Herreman; West Africa and the Guinea coast, by John Picton; Sahel and Savanna, by René A. Bravmann; Northern Africa, by Timothy A. Insoll, M. Rachel MacLean, Nadia Erzini, Rachel Ward.

Bibliography, p.597–613.

- I621 Africa: the art of a continent: 100 works of power and beauty. [N.Y.], Guggenheim Museum, [1996]. 191p. il., 100 col. plates, map.

U.S. ed. of the preceding title, with fewer plates and different texts. "The first major art exhibition ever to present Africa as an entity unbroken by the Sahara."—Pref.

Contents: Why Africa? Why art?, by Kwame Anthony Appiah; Putting northern Africa back into Africa, by Ekpo Eyo; Historical contacts and cultural interaction, Sub-Saharan Africa, northern Africa, the Muslim world, and southern Europe, tenth–nineteenth century A.D., by Peter Mark; Europe, African art, and the uncanny, by Henry Louis Gates, Jr.; Enduring myths of African art, by Suzanne Preston Blier; Ancient Egypt and Nubia; Eastern Africa; Southern Africa; Central Africa; Western Africa and the Guinea Coast; Sahel and Savanna; Northern Africa.

Selected bibliography, p.187–90.

- I622 African aesthetics. The Carlo Monzino Collection. [By] Susan Mullin Vogel. Photographs by Mario Carriari. [N.Y., Center for African Art, 1986]. xxiii, 224p. 179 il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Center for African Art (1986). A handsomely illustrated handbook of a significant collection.

Contents: African aesthetics; Catalogue; Technical data.

Bibliography, 221–24. Index, p.[227].

- I623 African art in Southern Africa: from tradition to township. Ed. by Anitra Nettleton and David Hammond-Tooke. [Johannesburg], Ad. Donker, [1989]. 252p. il. (part col.), maps.

The editors present a history of aspects of black South African art in which form and technique are emphasized ranging from traditional to modern art.

Contents: (1) Introduction by Anitra Nettleton and David Hammond-Tooke; (2) Reflections on African art, by David Hammond-Tooke; (3) " . . . In what degree . . . (they) are possessed of ornamental taste": a history of the writing on black art in South Africa, by Anitra Nettleton; (4) San rock art, by J. D. Lewis-Williams; (5) Carvers, kings and thrones in nineteenth-century Zululand, by Sandra Kloppe; (6) The crocodile does not leave the pool: Venda court arts, by Anitra Nettleton; (7) The art of the Lobedu, by Patricia Davison; (8) Art and communication: Ndzundza Ndebele wall decorations in the Transvaal, by Elizabeth Ann Schneider; (9) Ways of seeing, ways of buying; images of tourist art and culture expression in contemporary beadwork, by Eleanor Preston-Whyte and Jo Thorpe; (10) Township art: context, form and meaning, by Frances Verstraete; (11) A change of regime: art and ideology in Rhodesia and Zimbabwe, by Marion Arnold; (12) "Garden of Eden or political landscape?": street art in Mamelodi and other townships, by Steven Sack; (13) The Polly Street art scene, by David Koloane.

Notes and references, p.231–52.

- I624 African art studies: the state of the discipline. Washington, D.C., National Museum of African Art, [1990]. 143p. il.

A symposium held in conjunction with the opening of the National Museum of African Art (1987) representing papers by American, European, and African scholars.

Contents: Introduction, by Roy Sieber; The history of African art studies, by Adrian A. Gerbrands; African art studies today, by Henry John Drewal; The future of African art studies: an African perspective, by Rowland Abíodun; African art studies at the crossroads: an American perspective, by Suzanne Preston Blier; Discussion of papers: response by Ekpo Eyo, Mikelle Smith Omari, Simon Ottenberg, John Pemberton III.

Includes bibliographies.

- 1625 African masterpieces and selected works from Munich: the Staatliches Museum für Völkerkunde. By Maria Kecskési. N.Y., Center for African Art, [1987]. vii, 425p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Center for African Art, New York (1987), and other locations. The Staatliches Museum für Völkerkunde has one of the major African art collections in the world including more than 20,000 objects from which 450 are illustrated in this catalog.

Contents: Foreword, by Susan Vogel; Western Sudan; The Guinea Coast; Yoruba art and culture; Ancient Benin: history and art of a kingdom; Cameroon, Gabon; Cameroon Grasslands and coast; Art of the western Cameroon forest; Art of the southern Cameroon forest; Central Africa; The kingdoms of lower Zaire; The Kuba empire and its neighbors; The Luba empire and borderland; Eastern and southern Africa.

Bibliography, p.418–25.

- 1626 African material culture. Ed. by Mary Jo Arnoldi, Christraud M. Geary, and Kris L. Hardin. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., [1996]. 369p. il. maps.

Papers from an international, interdisciplinary conference and workshop held at the Rockefeller Study and Conference Center, Bellagio, Italy. Assessment of and new approaches to the study of African material culture.

Contents: (1) Technological style and the making of culture: three Kono contexts of production, by Kris L. Hardin; (2) Magical iron technology in the Cameroon grassfields, by Michael Rowlands and Jean-Pierre Warnier; (3) When nomads settle: changing technologies of building and transport and the production of architectural form among the Gabra, the Rendille, and the Somalis, by Labelle Prussin; (4) Ceramics from the Upemba Depression: a diachronic study, by Kanimba Misago; (5) Objects and people: relationships and transformations in the culture of the Bambala, by Kazadi Ntole; (6) Sticks, self, and society in Booran Oromo: a symbolic interpretation, by Aneesa Kassam and Gemetchu Megerssa; (7) Material narratives and the negotiation of identities through objects in Malian theatre, by Mary Jo Arnoldi; (8) The consumption of an African modernity, by Michael Rowlands; (9) Household objects and the philosophy of Igbo social space, by Chike Aniakor; (10) Hoes and clothes in a Luo household: changing consumption in a colonial economy, 1906–1936, by Margaret Jean Jay; (11) The passive object and the tribal paradigm: colonial museography in French West Africa, by Philip L. Ravenhill; (12) Art, politics, and the transformation of meaning: Bamum art in the twentieth century, by Christraud M. Geary; (13) Mami Wata shrines: exotica and the construction of self, by Henry John Drewal; (14) Zairian popular painting as commodity and as communication, by Bogumil Jewsiewicki.

Index, p.359–69.

- 1627 Afrika. [Bearb. des Katalogs, Renate Wente-Lukas.] [Offenbach am Main, Deutsches Ledermuseum, 1988]. 227p. il. (part col.), maps. (Kataloge, 3)

Catalog of the exhibition, Deutsches Ledermuseum (1988).

Devoted to the collection and exhibition of leather goods from around the world, this museum has featured its African collection in this catalog including some non-leather objects, such as woven and carved wooden objects. Leather technology, tools and processes, aesthetics and decoration, and functions of objects are covered.

Contents: Herkunft und datierung der Objekte; Definitionen; Die Savannenregion Westafrikas; Eisen und Schmied; Der Markt; Die Tuareg in der zentralen Sahara; Die Mauren in der westlichen Sahara; Bergbauern in Nordkamerun; Lederkunst im Maghreb—Marokko, Algerien, Tunesien; Christliches Äthiopien; Viehzüchter Nordost-, Ost- und Südafrikas; Geheimbundwesen im südnigerianischen Urwald; Musikinstrumente.

Ausgewählte Literatur, p.222–25.

- 1628 Akan transformations: problems in Ghanaian art history. Ed. by Doran H. Ross and Timothy F. Garrard. [Los Angeles], Museum of Cultural History, UCLA, [1983]. 111p. 139 il., map. (Monograph Series, Museum of Cultural History, UCLA, no. 21)

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Cultural History Gallery, UCLA (1983). "This anthology is partially designed as a supplement to the Museum of Cultural History's publication, The Arts of Ghana [GLAH 2:I649]."—Introd.

Contents: Akan Kuduo: form and function, by Raymond A. Silverman; A corpus of 15th to 17th century Akan brass-castings, by Timothy F. Garrard; Four unusual Forowa from the Museum of Cultural History, by Doran H. Ross; The Akan double-bladed sword: a case of Islamic origins, by Doran H. Ross; Akan Pseudo-weights of European origin, by Timothy F. Garrard; Modern antiquities: a study of a Kumase workshop, by Doran H. Ross and Raphael X. Reichert; Three unconventional objects from Ghana, by E. Nii Quarcoopome; Catalogue, by Betsy D. Quick and Doran H. Ross.

Bibliography, p.108–10.

- 1629 Arnoldi, Mary Jo. Playing with time: art and performance in central Mali. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., [1995]. xx, 227p. il. (part col.)

A scholarly study of a significantly large group of objects used in the puppet masquerade.

Contents: (1) A Bamana Tonko festival, Kirango, June 1979; (2) The definition and history of the Segou puppet masquerade theatre; (3) The Segou bô's expressive forms; (4) Time, timing, and the performance process; (5) Bringing the past into the present in masquerade theatre; (6) The production of meaning and the play of interpretations; Conclusion: Kuma man nyi; Kumabaliya fana man nyi.

Glossary, p.205–08. Masquerade list [Bamana name and English name], p.209–11. Bibliography, p.213–20. Index, p.221–27.

I630 ———, and Kreamer, Christine Mullen. Crowning achievements: African arts of dressing the head. With contrib. by Michael Oládèjo Afoláyan . . . [et al.] Los Angeles, Fowler Museum of Cultural History, UCLA, [1995]. 192p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Fowler Museum of Cultural History, UCLA (1995).

Contents: (1) Introduction, by Mary Jo Arnoldi; (2) Focus on twelve African hats, by Mary Jo Arnoldi and Christine Mullen Kreamer; (3) Crowning glories: the head and hair, by Mary Jo Arnoldi; Coiffure moderne: a gallery of African hair styles, 1970–1990; (4) Practical beauty: headgear for daily wear, by Christine Mullen Kreamer; (5) Spectacular hats for special occasions, by Christine Mullen Kreamer; (6) Wrapping the head, by Mary Jo Arnoldi; (7) Yoruba head-ties, by Michael Oládèjo Afoláyan and Betty Wass; (8) Lega hats: hierarchy and status, by Elisabeth L. Cameron; (9) Headdresses and the titleholding among the Kuba, by Patricia Darish and David A. Binkley; (10) Transatlantic influences in headwear, by Christine Mullen Kreamer.

Bibliography, p.185–91.

I631 Art and ambiguity: perspectives on the Brenthurst Collection of Southern African art. [Johannesburg], Johannesburg Art Gallery, 1991. 197p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Johannesburg Art Gallery (1991).
Contents: Ambiguity, style and meaning, by Patricia Davison; Looking from the outside: the historical context of the Brenthurst Collection of Southern African art, by Johan van Schalkwyk; Tradition, authenticity and tourist sculpture in 19th and 20th century South Africa, by Anitra Nettleton; Headrests: Tsonga types and variations, by Rayda Becker; "Zulu" headrests and figurative carvings: the Brenthurst Collection and the art of South-east Africa, by Sandra Klopper; Southern African beadwork: issues of classification and collecting, by Diane Levy; Public pleasures: smoking and snuff-taking in Southern Africa, by Ann Wanless; Map of Southern Africa showing language and political groupings (c.1900–1950), by W. D. Hammond-Tooke.

I632 Art and healing of the Bakongo. Commented by themselves: minkisi from the Laman collection. Kikongo texts trans. and ed. by Wyatt MacGaffey. Stockholm, Folkens Museum—Etnografiska, [Distr. in North America by Indiana Univ. Pr., 1991]. viii, 184p. map. (Monograph series, Folkens museum etnografiska, no.16)

"The forty-five Kongo minkisi described . . . were selected . . . because for each of them a text has been found, written in KiKongo, that describes either the identical object or one of the same name and appearance, from the same region in Lower Congo (Lower Zaire)." —Introd.

Contents: Divination; Healing; Wealth and warfare; Attack.

Indexes: Minkisi by station of origin, p.155–64; Minkisi by acquisition number, p.165–74; Master list of Minkisi, p.175–84.

I633 Art/artifact: African art in anthropology collections. With essays by Arthur Danto . . . [et al.] Introd. by Susan Vogel. Photographs by Jerry L. Thompson. N.Y., Center for African Art, [1988]. 195p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Center for African Art (1988), and other locations. This book is "an invaluable new resource on anthropology, museums, art history, and African material culture." —Review, African arts, v.22, no.1, Nov., 1988, p.14.

Contents: Artifact and art, by Arthur C. Danto; Art and anthropology on a sliding scale, by Richard M. Gramly; The Buffalo Museum of Science collection; "Things African prove to be a favorite theme": the African collection at Hampton University, by Jeanne Zeidler and Mary Lou Hultgren; Hampton University collection; Art as evidence: a brief history of the American Museum of Natural History African collection, by Enid Schildkrout; American Museum of Natural History collection.

Index, p.194.

I634 Art of Côte d'Ivoire from the collections of the Barbier-Mueller Museum. Ed. by Jean Paul Barbier. Authors, Jean-Noël Loucou . . . [et al.] [Geneva], Barbier-Mueller Museum, 1993. 2v. il. (part col.), maps. Scholarly essays and catalog of a significant collection of West African art.

Contents: (1) Peoples and cultures of Côte d'Ivoire, by Jean-Noël Loucou; The Senufo, by Anita Glaze; The Poro of the Senufo, by Gilbert Bochet; Face masks from the Senufo region, by Timothy F. Garrard; A speculative journey in the Senufo lands, by Jean Paul Barbier; Bondoukou: the artistry of a city and countryside, by René Bravmann; The peoples of Western Côte d'Ivoire, by Marie-Noël Verger-Fèvre; Masks in the Dan area of Côte d'Ivoire, by Marie-Noël Verger-Fèvre; We masks, by Pierre Harter; The art of metal in Western Côte d'Ivoire, by Elze Bruyninx; The Guro, by Ariane Deluz; Art of the Yohure, by Alain-Michel Boyer; The Baule: an introduction, by Timothy F. Garrard; Art of the Baule, by Alain-Michel Boyer; The Lagoons Peoples, by Monica Blackmun Visonà; The arts of metal in Côte d'Ivoire, by Timothy F. Garrard; Concluding remarks, by Jean Paul Barbier. (2) Catalogue.

Vernacular glossary, v.2, p.193–210. Bibliography, v.2, p.211–18. Index [for both volumes], v.2, p.219–29.

I635 Bacquart, Jean-Baptiste. The tribal arts of Africa. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1998. 240p. il. (chiefly col.)

"This selection ranges widely and aims to create a work that is both accessible and at the same time useful to professionals. It includes objects that are representative and characteristic of traditional artistic production throughout Africa south of the Sahara." —Introd. Includes 865 illustrations, 195 in color.

Bibliography, p.232. Major museums, p.233–35. Major dealers, p.236. Glossary, p.237. Index, p.239–40.

I636 Barley, Nigel. Foreheads of the dead: an anthropological view of Kalabari ancestral screens. Washington, D.C., Published for the National Museum of Af-

- frican Art by the Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1988]. 88p. il. (part col.)
- Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of African Art (1988–89). This catalog is a "well illustrated, comprehensive, and definitive monograph."—Review, International journal of African historical studies, v.22, no.3, 1989, p. 521.
- Contents: Foreheads of the dead: an anthropological view of Kalabari ancestral screens; Catalogue raisonné of Kalabari ancestral screens in museum collections.
- Bibliography, p.86–88.
- 1637 Ben-Amos, Paula Girshick. The art of Benin. [London], British Museum Pr., [1995]. 2d ed. 128p. 100 il. (part col.), maps.
- The standard work on the art of the Benin in its historical, religious, and social context.
- Contents: Art, history, and politics; Art, belief and ritual.
- Bibliography, p.123–26. Index, p.127–28.
- 1638 Biebuyck, Daniel P. The arts of Zaire. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., [1985–86]. 2v. il., col. plates.
- The first in a series of volumes "that will deal with several large regions of Zaire; it also includes an introduction on the history of Central African art studies."—Pref. to v.1.
- Contents: (1) Southwestern Zaire; (2) Eastern Zaire.
- Bibliography, v.1, p.[255]–99, v.2, p.285–301. Index, v.1, p.[301]–13, v.2, p.[303]–14.
- 1639 ———. Lega culture: art, initiation, and moral philosophy among a central African people. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., [1973]. xxiii, 268p., 110 plates, map.
- The standard work on the art and culture of the Lega.
- Contents: (1) The Lega; (2) Lega culture; (3) The Bwami association; (4) The art of Bwami; Appendix I: Lineages of Banasalu Clan; Appendix II: Initiations into Lutumbo Lwa Kindi in Banasalu Clan.
- Bibliography, p.241–51. Index, p.253–68.
- 1640 Bildende Kunst der Gegenwart in Senegal = Anthologie des arts plastiques contemporains au Sénégal = Anthology of contemporary fine arts in Senegal. Ed. by Friedrich Axt and El Hadji Moussa Babacar Sy. Introd. by Léopold Sédar Senghor. Frankfurt am Main, Museum für Völkerkunde, 1989. 278p. il. (part col.)
- This trilingual anthology of modern Sénégalese art and artists is a major contribution to documenting the post-Independence period in Sénégal.
- Contents: The School of Fine Arts of Senegal, by Kalidou Sy; The Ecole Normale Supérieure d'Education Artistique, by Kalidou Sy; The Musée Dynamique, by Ousmane Sow Huchard; The Galerie Nationale d'Art, by El Hadji M.B.Sy; The workshop of Senegalese decorative art, by Anne Jean-Bart; The salons of the Senegalese artists, by Ousmane Sow Huchard; The exhibitions of Senegalese contemporary art abroad, by Djibril Tamsir Niane; Independent exhibitions of Senegalese contemporary art at home and abroad, by Friedrich Axt; Artists' associations in Senegal, by Ben Mouhammed Diop; The "Cité of the Artists" and the "Village of Arts," by El Hadji M.B.Sy; The social and economic situation of the artists of the "Ecole de Dakar," by Issa Samb; Criticism of representation, by Issa Samb; Painting, by Pierre Lods; Sculpture, by Anne Jean-Bart; Engraving, by Kalidou Sy; Ceramics, by El Hadji M.B.Sy; Batik, by Aïssa Djionne; Glass painting, by Serigne NDiaye; Forty artists from Senegal; Appendix: The Senegal, by Friedrich Axt; The collection of contemporary Senegalese art of the Museum of Ethnology in Frankfurt/Main, FRG.
- 1641 Blier, Suzanne Preston. Royal arts of Africa: the majesty of form. London, Laurence King, 1998. 272p. il. (part col.), maps.
- Seeks to provide a "meta-narrative" for Africa's kingdoms, while taking into account the "complexity (and variability) of its underlying fabric."—Introd.
- Contents: Introduction: paradoxes of rule; (1) The Benin Kingdom: politics, religion, and natural order; (2) Yoruba and Dahomey: divine authority and the arts of royal history; (3) The Asante Kingdom: the golden age of Ghana; (4) Cameroon grasslands: royal art patronage in contexts of change; (5) Kongo and Kuba: the art of rulership display; Conclusion: the continuing vitality of Africa's courtly arts.
- Timeline, p.252–59. Glossary, p.260. Bibliography, p.261–65. Index, p.268–72.
- 1642 Boone, Sylvia Ardyn. Radiance from the waters: ideals of feminine beauty in Mende art. Photographs by Sylvia Ardyn Boone and Rebecca Busselle. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., [1986]. xxii, 281p. il. map. (Yale publications in the history of art, 34)
- "This work will stand as a major contribution to the study of African art and the Sowo mask in particular. It is recommended for collections not only of African art but also women's art and aesthetics."—Review, Art documentation, v.6, no.1, spring 1987, p.45.
- Contents: Prologue: Conducting research into Mende art; (1) Mende history and culture: a brief overview; (2) The Sande society; (3) Kpanguima: the world of beauty that Sande makes; (4) Physical and metaphysical aspects of Mende feminine beauty; (5) Sowo: the good made visible.
- Glossary, p.249–51. Selected bibliography, p.253–70. Index, p.273–81.
- 1643 Bourgeois, Arthur P. Art of the Yaka and Suku. Traduction et adaptation en français, J. B. Donne. Meudon, France, Alain et Françoise Chaffin, [1984]. 271p. il. (part col.), map.
- Text in English and French. Devoted to the art and society of a major Southern Savanna society, this book "should become the definitive work of the decade on Yaka and Suku art."—Review, African arts, v.18, no.4, Aug. 1985, p.21.
- Contents: Geography, anthropology, history; Political and social life; Material culture; Style areas; Related styles and influences.
- Glossary, p.268–69. Bibliography, p.270–71.
- 1644 Bravmann, René A. African Islam. [Washington, D.C.], Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1983]. 120p. 91 il. [2] leaves of col. plates, map.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of African Art (1983).

One of the most comprehensive volumes on the complex artistic interactions of Islam and the cultures of Black Africa. A wide variety of Islamic-influenced artforms and decorated utilitarian objects are illustrated.

Contents: (1) A passion for the words of God; (2) God's secrets—shaped in silence; (3) Victory from Allah, battles waged with words and weapons; (4) Ramadan, Islamic holy days and an African sensibility; (5) al-Buraq, African variations on an ancient Islamic theme; (6) Islamic patterns, a penchant for beauty and privacy; (7) The Swahili coast, a bazaar of forms and styles.

Bibliography, p.118–20.

- I645 Catalogue: ten years of collecting (1979–1989). Standard Bank Foundation Collection of African Art, University Art Galleries Collection of African Art, and selected works from the University Ethnological Museum Collection. Ed. by David Hammond-Tooke and Anitra Nettleton. [Catalogue compiled by Rayda Becker]. Johannesburg, Univ. of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg Art Galleries, 1989. 139p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Gertrude Posel Gallery and Studio Gallery, Senate House (Johannesburg) (1989), and other locations. Amply illustrated, this catalog documents a major South African collection which includes a great variety of artforms.

Contents: Part 1: (1) Venda art, by Anitra Nettleton; (2) Tsonga-Shangana beadwork and figures, by Rayda Becker, Anitra Nettleton; (3) Art of the Pedi and Ntwane, by Anitra Nettleton, David Hammond-Tooke; (4) Ndebele beadwork, by Diane Levy; (5) The art of traditionalists in Zululand-Natal, by Sandra Kloppe; (6) The beadwork of the Cape Nguni, by Anitra Nettleton, Sipho Ndabambi, David Hammond-Tooke; (7) Transitional sculpture, by Elizabeth Dell; (8) From country to city: the development of an urban art, by Steven Sack. Part 2: (1) Catalogue of holdings of Southern African material, by Diana L. Newman, Fiona Rankin-Smith, Rayda Becker.

- I646 Collection Barbier-Mueller. African art from the Barbier-Mueller Collection, Geneva. Ed. by Werner Schmalenbach. With essays by Enrico Castelli . . . [et al.] Photographs by Roger Asselberghs. Trans. from the French, Jeffrey Haight. Trans. from the German, Russell Stockman. [München], Prestel, [1988]. 314p. 200 il. (part col.), maps.

Originally published in German as the catalog for the exhibition, Kunstsammlung Nordrhein-Westfalen, Düsseldorf (1988), and other locations.

A beautifully illustrated catalog of a major African art collection with essays and catalog documentation by noted scholars.

Contents: Toward an aesthetic in Black African art, by Werner Schmalenbach; Toward an anthropology of Black African art, by Louis Perrois. Catalogue: The Sudanese Savanna, by Christopher Roy; North and West Guinea Coast, by William Siegmann; East Guinea Coast, by William Siegmann; Atlantic Equatorial Africa, by Louis Perrois; The Zaire Basin, by François Neyt; East Africa, by Enrico Castelli and Gaetano Speranza.

Bibliography, p.309–12. Index of tribes and cultures, p.313–[15].

- I647 Cole, Herbert M. Icons: ideals and power in the art of Africa. Washington, D.C., Published for the National Museum of African Art by the Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1989]. 207p. 206 il. (part col.), maps. Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of African Art (1989–1990). Provides "the combination of a simple memorable thesis, a careful reliance on recent interpretive research, and accessible level of exposition, and numerous, richly varied illustrations."—Review, International journal of African historical studies, v.24, 1991, p.678.

Contents: (1) Introduction: icons, ideals, and powers; (2) Useful images: the life of art in Africa; (3) Iconic conventions: the ideology of form; (4) Two as one: the male and female couple; (5) Maternity and abundance: the woman and child; (6) Hunters, warriors, and heroes: the forceful male; (7) Riders of power: the mounted leader; (8) Ambiguous aliens: the stranger in African art history; (9) Change and continuity: the icons in twentieth-century art.

Bibliography, p.196–207.

- I648 ———. Mbari: art and life among the Owerri Igbo. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., [1982]. xx, 261p. il. (part col.) (Traditional arts of Africa)

The summation of field work and extensive research, this definitive study shows Mbari art to be a highly distinctive and very localized artform.

Contents: (1) Introduction: the setting; (2) The gods and the people; (3) The people and processes of Mbari; (4) Form; (5) Inspiration, individuality, and aesthetics; (6) Meaning; (7) Conclusions. Glossary, p.221–24; Appendix A: Tree altars; Appendix B: Ndimbe names; Appendix C: Master list of Mbari subjects in sculpture; Appendix D: Mbari house at Obaku, Oratta clan, Owerri.

Bibliography, p.237–42. Index, p.259–61.

- I649 ———, and Ross, Doran H. The arts of Ghana. Los Angeles, Museum of Cultural History, UCLA, 1977. xv, 230p. 401 il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Frederick S. Wight Gallery, UCLA (1977), and other locations. "This is the first comprehensive exhibition dealing with Ghanaian art to be organized. Over 500 pieces from 102 museums, galleries, and private collections" were included.—Foreword. The catalog is abundantly illustrated and thoroughly documented.

Contents: (1) Introduction to Ghana; (2) History; (3) Akan arts; (4) Personal adornment; (5) Domestic and utilitarian arts; (6) Architecture; (7) Cult arts; (8) State arts; (9) Secular arts of voluntary organizations; (10) Festivals; (11) Art and history in Ghana.

Bibliography, p.222–27.

- I650 Contemporary art of Africa. Ed. by André Magnin with Jacques Soulillou. [N.Y.], Abrams, 1996. 192p. il. (part col.), maps.

This book provides biographical sketches, illustrations, and brief essays about the painting and sculpture of sixty sub-Saharan artists.

Contents: Territory; Frontier; World.

Additional artists of sub-Saharan Africa, p.180–82. Glossary, p.183–84. Selected bibliography, p.185–86. Index, p.188–91.

I651 Cornet, Joseph. Art Royal Kuba. Milano, Edizioni Sipiell, [1982]. 343p. 353 il. (part col.), maps.

Extensively illustrated, this comprehensive study covers Kuba masks and masquerades, regalia, royal burial ceremonies, and architecture of the capital city.

Contents: (1) Géographie et histoire; (2) La personne du roi; (3) La statuaire royale; (4) La capitale royale; (5) Le système décoratif; (6) Les costumes; (7) Masques et danses; (8) Le muyuun ou la dynastie en attente; (9) Les regalia; (10) Mort et funérailles du roi; (11) Conclusion.

Bibliographie, by Bushabu Piema Kwete, p.321–29. Index des noms, p.331–39.

I652 Corps sculptés, corps parés, corps masqués: chefs-d'oeuvre de Côte-d'Ivoire. Paris, Ministère de la Coopération et du Développement, 1989. 249p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Galeries Nationales du Grand Palais (1989). This comprehensive exhibition of the arts of Côte d'Ivoire was a major cooperative undertaking between the French and Ivoirien governments. Ivoirien masks, figures, regalia, and textiles from all regions of the country are represented.

Contents: (1) Filiations, identités (quand le corps des dieux, des génies ou des ancêtres reproduit celui des hommes vivants); (2) Puissances incarnées (quand le corps se masque et l'identité se dédouble); (3) Pouvoirs signifiés (quand le corps se pare et signifie l'autorité, la beauté, la richesse ou l'influence).

Bibliographie, p.246–[50].

I653 Dowson, Thomas A. Rock engravings of Southern Africa. Foreword by David Lewis-Williams. [Johannesburg], Witwatersrand Univ. Pr., [1992]. xii, 124p. il. (part col.), maps.

"This is certainly a major book, a landmark because of the lack of other books on engravings."—Review, African arts, v.27, no.3, July 1994, p.20.

Contents: Recording rock engravings; Contacting the spirit world; Capturing the rain; Visions of the spirit world; Sensations of the spirit world; Animals; Working with the rock; The individual engraver; A Damaraland Valley.

Bibliography, p.123–24.

I654 Drewal, Henry John, and Pemberton, John, III. Yoruba: nine centuries of African art and thought. With Rowland Abiodun. Ed. by Allen Wardwell. N.Y., The Center for African Art in assoc. with Abrams, [1989]. 256p. 275 il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, The Center for African Art (1989), and other locations. Written by eminent scholars, this book is an authoritative and comprehensive survey of Yoruba art.

Contents: (1) The Yoruba world, by Henry John Drewal, John Pemberton III, and Rowland Abiodun; (2) Ife: origins of art and civilization, by Henry John Drewal; (3) The stone images of Esie, by John Pemberton III; (4) The kingdom of Owo, by Rowland Abiodun; (5) Art and ethos of the Ijebu, by Henry John Drewal; (6) The Oyo empire, by John Pemberton III; (7) The carvers of the northeast, by John Pemberton III; (8) The artists of the western kingdoms, by Henry John Drewal; (9) The river that never rests, by Henry John Drewal, John Pemberton III, and Rowland Abiodun.

Glossary of Yoruba words, p.248–49. Bibliography, p.250–55. Index, p.256.

I655 Duchâteau, Armand. Benin. Royal art of Africa from the Museum für Völkerkunde, Vienna. [München], Prestel, 1994. 136p. 128 il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Fine Arts, Houston (1994), and other locations. "Among the oldest and finest African collections in Europe, the Benin holdings of the Museum für Völkerkunde" are beautifully illustrated and documented "in this comprehensive and detailed volume."—Foreword. This catalog is substantially the same as Duchâteau's Benin, Art royal d'Afrique, Brussels, Crédit Communal, 1990.

Contents: The history of the kingdom of Benin; The court hierarchy; The art of brasscasting; The art of Benin and its symbolism; The history of the Benin collection in Vienna.

Glossary, p.121–22. Bibliography, p.133–36.

I656 Elephant: the animal and its ivory in African culture. Ed. by Doran H. Ross. Los Angeles, Fowler Museum of Cultural History, UCLA, [1992]. xxi, 415p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Fowler Museum of Cultural History, UCLA (1992). Lavishly illustrated and complemented by the essays of noted scholars, this monumental study spans the depiction of the elephant from the prehistoric period to the twentieth century.

Contents: (1) Imagining elephants: an overview, by Doran H. Ross; (2) The African elephant in its environment, by Jeheskel Shoshani; (3) Proboscideans, hominids, and prehistory, by John A. Van Couvering; (4) Talking (gray) heads: elephant as metaphor in African myth and folklore, by Donald J. Cosentino; (5) Sama Ba: the elephant in Bamana art, by Mary Jo Arnoldi and Kate Ezra; (6) Of pachyderms and power: ivory and the elephant in the art of Central Côte d'Ivoire, by Philip L. Ravenhill; (7) More than meets the eye: elephant memories among the Akan, by Doran H. Ross; (8) The elephant and its ivory in Benin, by Barbara Winston Blackmun; (9) Image and indeterminacy: elephants and ivory, by Henry John Drewal; (10) The Igbo: prestige ivory and elephant spirit power, by Herbert M. Cole; (11) Elephants, ivory, and chiefs: the elephant and the arts of the Cameroon grassfields, by Christaud M. Geary; (12) Elephants, ivory and art: Duala objects of persuasion, by Rosalinde G. Wilcox; (13) The teeth of Nyim: the elephant and ivory in Kuba art, by David A. Binkley; (14) The stampeding of elephants: elephant imprints on Lega thought, by Elisabeth Cameron; (15) Ivory from Zariba country to the land of the Zinj, by Sidney Littlefield Kasfir; (16) Under the sun:

elephants in Ethiopian painting, by Girma Fisseha; (17) The ivory trade in Africa: an historical overview, by Edward A. Alpers; (18) The material culture of ivory outside Africa, by David A. Shayt; (19) Epilogue: the future of elephants, real and imagined, by Doran H. Ross.

References cited, p.397-413.

- I657 Eyo, Ekpo, and Willett, Frank. Treasures of ancient Nigeria. [Ed. by Rollyn O. Krichbaum. Photographer, Dirk Bakker. Designer, Betty Binns.] N.Y., Knopf in assoc. with The Detroit Institute of Arts, 1980. xiii, [162]p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, The Detroit Institute of Arts (1980), and other locations. The standard work on the antiquities of Nigeria.

Contents: Preface, by Michael Kan; Introduction, by Ekpo Eyo; Nigerian art: an overview, by Frank Willett.

Selected bibliography, p.159-[62].

- I658 Felix, Marc Leo. Mwana hiti: life and art of the matrilineal Bantu of Tanzania: Leben und Kunst der matrilinearen Bantu von Tansania. [München, Fred Jahn, 1990]. 504p. il. maps.

An extensive treatment of the art of the matrilineal peoples of east-central Tanzania. The most comprehensive resource on the traditional arts of any East African people to date. Text in English and German.

Contents: A short history of the Bantu; The etymology of Mwana hiti; Linguistics; Ethnography of the Zaramo and Kwere peoples of Eastern Tanzania, by Kathryn Weinrich; Mwana hiti in Zaramoland, by Kathryn Weinrich; An idea's journey, by Kathryn Weinrich; Who made what?; A stylistic and morphological analysis of trunk figures, by Niangi Batuwkisi; Stylistic zones of the Tanzanian hinterland, by Niangi Batuwkisi; Stylistic subdivision of African art, by Niangi Batuwkisi; "Masters of style", by Niangi Batuwkisi; Stylistic diagnoses, by Niangi Batuwkisi; Typology and taxonomy; Typology table; Multivariate analysis of typological data, by Bernard Tursch; Post analysis observations, by Bernard Tursch; Typological inventory of the Tanzanian hinterland, by Bernard Tursch; The search for the source, by Bernard Tursch; Youth; Initiation; Maturity; Death; Symbols; Icons; The man on the stool.

Bibliography, p.502-03.

- I659 Fischer, Eberhard, and Himmelheber, Hans. The arts of the Dan in West Africa. Fieldwork in collab. with George Wowoa W. Tahmen, Saniquellie, Liberia; and Tiemoko Gba, Man, Ivory Coast. Photographs of objects by Isabelle Wettstein and Brigitte Kauf. Zürich, Museum Rietberg, 1984. 192p. 248 il. map.

This book is an enlarged ed. of the catalog that was published in German to accompany the exhibition "Die Kunst der Dan" organized by the Rietberg Museum at the Helmhau in Zürich. It is a major scholarly work on the art of the Dan people of Liberia (including the culturally related Kran and Gere).

Contents: (1) The Dan: habitat and community; (2) Cosmology; (3) The masquerades of the Dan: an introduction; (4) The masquerades of the Dan: a classification; (5) The masquerades of the Dan: epilogue; (6) Other artifacts made of wood; (7) Dan brass-casting; (8) Pottery of the Dan; (9) Murals of the Dan; (10) Artistic tradition among the Dan; (11) Literature (p.191-92).

- I660 ———, and Homberger, Lorenz. Die Kunst der Guro, Elfenbeinküste. Zürich, Museum Rietberg, 1985. 312p. 289 il. map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum Rietberg, Zürich (1985). Enhanced by numerous field photographs, this work is a valuable survey of the art and culture of the Guro who live in an area of central Côte d'Ivoire.

Contents: (1) Vorwort; (2) Einleitung: zur Dokumentation der Guro-Kultur; (3) Habitat und Gesellschaft; (4) Zur Kunst der Guro; (5) Heute lebende Bildhauer; (6) Werkverfahren der Bildhauer; (7) Masken; (8) Figuren; (9) Webrollenhalter; (10) Löffel; (11) Stühle; (12) Weberei; (13) Töpferei; (14) Schlussbemerkungen; (15) Literaturverzeichnis (p.311-12).

- I661 Förster, Till. Die Kunst der Senufo. Museum Rietberg Zürich, aus Schweizer Sammlungen. Texte: Till Förster. Katalog: Lorenz Homberger. Objektfotos: Wettstein + Kauf. Zürich, Museum Rietberg, 1988. 126p. il. map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum Rietberg, Zürich (1988). The inclusion of numerous field photographs makes this an especially valuable survey of the art of the Senufo of West Africa.

Contents: (1) Einleitung; (2) Brücken zwischen den Lebensstufen; (3) Die Auseinandersetzung mit der Wildnis; (4) Haushaltgegenstände; (5) Anmerkungen; (6) Bibliographie (p.122-23); (7) Glossar der Senar-Begriffe (p.124-26).

- I662 Gallois Duquette, Danielle. Dynamique de l'art Bidjogo (Guinée-Bissau): contribution à une anthropologie de l'art des sociétés africaines. [Lisboa], Instituto de investigação Científica Tropical, [1983]. 261p., plates (part col.), maps.

Including numerous field photographs, this book is a valuable survey of the art and culture of Bidjogo, Guinea Bissau.

Contents: (1) Vecteurs de la création en architecture et culture matérielle; (2) Les symboles du pouvoir; (3) Histoire et actualité dans l'expression de l'initiation des hommes; (4) Contexte visuel et dialectique de l'initiation des femmes; (5) Sculpteur, sculpture et sacrifice; (6) Les sculptures sacrées, formes et fonctions; (7) Artisanat et aliénation.

Lexique Bidjogo, p.237-39. Lexique Creole, p.241-42. Bibliographie, p.251-61.

- I663 Garlake, Peter S. Great Zimbabwe. [N.Y.], Thames and Hudson, [1973]. 224p. il., 17 col. plates, maps. (New aspects of antiquity)

One of the standard works on the civilization of Great Zimbabwe and its archaeological ruins

Contents: (1) The architecture of the ruins; (2) Early exploration; (3) The first investigations; (4) Archaeological excavations; (5) Crafts, symbols and trade at Great Zimbabwe; (6) The archaeological background; (7) Traditions and history; (8) Towards a history of Great Zimbabwe.

Bibliography, p.211-14. Index, p.220-24.

- I664 Geary, Christraud M. Images from Bamum: German colonial photography at the court of King Njoya, Cameroon, West Africa, 1902-1915. Washington, D.C., Published for the National Museum of African Art by the Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1988]. 151p. 88 il. map.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of African Art (1988). "A systematic study of a corpus of images taken in one place over a sustained period of time" and documents "the flourishing visual traditions and imposing architectural structures of Bamum."—Foreword.

Contents: Bamum before 1900: the history of a kingdom; (2) Photography in Cameroon: applying a new technology; (3) Prestigious images: the acceptance of photography in Bamum; (4) A myth comes to life: King Njoya in photographs; (5) Glimpses of reality: the palace and its inhabitants; (6) Art and ritual recorded: using photographs in research; (7) Through a woman's eyes: the images of Anna Wuhrmann.

Bibliography, p.146-51.

- I665 Gebauer, Paul. Art of Cameroon: with a catalog of the Gebauer Collection of Cameroon Art at the Portland Art Museum and the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Portland, Oregon, Portland Art Museum in assoc. with the Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1979. xx, 375p. il., maps.

Together with numerous field photographs, this book richly documents two collections which are major sources for the understanding of Cameroon art.

Contents: Introduction, by Roy Sieber; (1) The Republic of Cameroon; (2) The Cameroonians; (3) Art in traditional society; (4) The major arts; (5) Royal art; (6) The minor arts; (7) The artist in society; (8) Tradition and change; (9) The Cameroon Collection.

Bibliography, p.369-73.

- I666 Gillon, Werner. Collecting African art. With an introd. by William Fagg and photographs by Werner Forman, Jo Furman, and the late Eliot Elisofon. N.Y., Rizzoli in assoc. with Christie's, [1980]. x, 183p. 216 il., col. plates, maps.

Amplly illustrated, this work provides a regional approach to African art that highlights particular kinds of artifacts which are produced in given areas.

Contents: African art—an introduction; The regions and tribes of Africa and their styles.

Bibliography, p.175-79. Index, p.180-83.

- I667 ———. A short history of African art. N.Y., Facts on File, [1984]. 405p. 257 il. 14 maps.

An introductory text covering a broad range of Africa's artistic heritage.

Contents: Preface, by Roy Sieber; (1) Introduction: an approach to the history of Africa's visual arts; (2) The rock art of Africa; (3) The ancient Nubians; (4) The Nok culture; (5) The kingdoms of the Western Sudan; (6) The art of the Sherbro, Bulom and Kissi; (7) Kanem-Borno and the "Sao" culture; (8) "Kororofa"—the Jukun and related peoples; (9) The art of the Akan; (10) Igbo-Ukwu, the Niger Delta and the Cross River; (11) The Yoruba and their neighbors; (12) Benin—the art of the Edo City State; (13) The art of the southern Savanna; (14) Eastern Africa; (15) Arts of southern Africa.

Bibliography, p.375-94. Index, p.395-405.

- I668 Glaze, Anita J. Art and death in Senufo village. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., [1981]. xvi, 267p. 90 il., col. plates, map. (Traditional arts of Africa)

"This text is essentially a study of meaning, of the nature and purpose of art in the life rhythms of a typical Senufo village."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Senufo farmer and artisan groups of the Kufulo region; (2) Art and the women's sphere; (3) Art and the men's sphere; (4) The funeral as synthesis; (5) Conclusion.

Bibliography, p.246-54. Glossary, p.255-60. Index, p.261-67.

- I669 Jones, G. I. The art of Eastern Nigeria. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1984. x, 230p. 120 il., map.

Illustrated primarily with field photographs from the 1930s, this is a major study of the styles and forms of West African art, specifically Eastern Nigeria.

Contents: (1) The social and historical background; (2) Domestic arts and crafts; (3) Costume and dress; (4) Religion and magic; (5) Secret societies and their masquerades; (6) Mud sculpture and its derivatives; (7) Architecture; (8) Carving in stone, ivory and wood; (9) Sculpture in wood: the main forms and styles; (10) The Lower Niger and the Delta major styles; (11) The Anang (Ibibio) and Cross River major styles and the Ogoni area; (12) The anomalous and unclassified areas.

Bibliography, p.220-22. Index, p.223-30.

- I670 Kennedy, Jean. New currents, ancient rivers: contemporary African artists in a generation of change. Washington, D.C., Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1992]. 204p. il. (part col.)

This survey focuses on nearly 150 sub-Saharan African artists representing diverse media and styles and includes paintings, graphics, tapestries, and sculptures.

Contents: (1) Defining the spirit; (2) Responding to the challenge; (3) Crescent in the hand; (4) Wax and gold: Ethiopia; (5) Creators of myth; (6) Testament.

Bibliography, p.194-99. Index, p.201-04.

- I671 Kerchache, Jacques; Paudrat, Jean-Louis; and Stéphan, Lucien. Art of Africa: the principal ethnic groups of African art by Françoise Stoullig-Marin. Trans. from the French by Marjolijn de Jager. [N.Y.], Abrams, [1993]. 619p. 1,069 il. (part col.), maps.

Lavishly illustrated, this is a monumental book which includes a major treatise on African sculpture by Lucien Stéphan. Concentrates on the major sculpture-producing traditions of Western and Central Africa.

Contents: (1) Comparative aesthetics and African sculpture, by Lucien Stéphan; (2) African art: the golden age, An initiatory passage by Jacques Kerchache; (3) The principal ethnic groups, by Françoise Stoullig-Marin.

Glossary, p.596-97. Bibliography, p.598-603. Index, p.604-17.

- I672 Kings of Africa. Art and authority in Central Africa: collection Museum für Völkerkunde Berlin. [Ed. by] Erna Beumers, Hans-Joachim Koloss. Utrecht, The Netherlands, Foundation Kings of Africa, [1992?]. 327p. il. (part col.), 190 col. plates, maps.
Catalog of the exhibition, MECC, Maastricht (1992). Lavishly illustrated with extensive notes on each plate, this catalog documents works from a major collection of Central African art and includes essays by eminent scholars in the field.
Contents: History of Central African civilization, by Jan Vansina; Kings in tropical Africa, by Jan Vansina; Central African religion, by Daniel P. Biebuyck; The conditions of appreciation, contemplating a collection of Fang (and Kota) mobiliary art, by James W. Fernandez; Kwifon and Fon in Oku, on kingships in the Cameroon Grasslands, by Hans-Joachim Koloss; The kingdom of Bamum, by Claude Tardits; The regalia of the kingdom of Kongo, 1491–1895, by John Thornton; The Mwanangana Chokwe chief and art (Angola), by Marie-Louise Bastin; The Kuba kingdom (Zaire), by Jan Vansina; Fragments of forsaken glory: Luba royal culture invented and represented (1883–1992) (Zaire), by Mary H. Nooter.
Museum by British Museum Publications, [1986]. 96p. il. (part col.), maps.
Catalog of the exhibition, British Museum (1986). Landmark book on the history and material culture of Madagascar.
Contents: Part (1): The ancestors of the Malagasy: Early settlers; Islam and astrology; The rise of the kingdoms; The European legacy. Part (2): The living and the dead: The concept of "the ancestors"; Burial, reburial and famadihana; Tombs and cenotaphs; Funerary sculpture.
Chronology, p.93. Bibliography, p.94–5. Index, p.96.
- I673 Lawal, Babatunde. The Gèlèdè spectacle: art, gender, and social harmony in an African culture. Seattle, Univ. of Washington Pr., [1996]. xxiv, 327p. il., 21 col. plates, maps.
Illustrated with numerous field and museum photographs, this study explores the use of the visual and performing arts to promote social harmony in sub-Saharan Africa, focusing on the Gèlèdè, a community festival of masquerade, dance, and song. Systematic coverage of the spectacle's cultural background, historical origins, aesthetics, and iconography are provided.
Contents: (1) African art and social order; (2) Iwà, the dialectics of Yoruba existence; (3) Ipilèsè, The roots of Gèlèdè; (4) Irépò, gender and social harmony through Gèlèdè; (5) Iran, the Gèlèdè spectacle; (6) Idira, costume aesthetics and iconography; (7) Igi Gèlèdè, sculpted messages on head-dresses; (8) Ojú Inú, critical perspectives on Gèlèdè; (9) Conclusion.
Glossary of Yoruba terms, p.291–96. Bibliography, p.297–310. Index, p.313–27.
- I674 Lewis-Williams, David, and Dowson, Thomas. Images of power: understanding Bushman rock art. Johannesburg, Southern Book Publishers, 1989. 196p. il. (part col.), maps.
The standard introduction to the Bushman rock art of southern Africa.
Contents: (1) The Bushmen and their art; (2) Detailed explanations; (3) Artistic splendor; (4) Viewing the art.
Sites open to the public, p.184–87. Museums with rock art collections, p.188. Suggestions for further reading, p.189. Some other works cited in this book, p.190–91. Index, p.192–96.
- I675 Mack, John. Madagascar. Island of the ancestors. [London], Published for the Trustees of the British Museum by British Museum Publications, [1986]. 96p. il. (part col.), maps.
Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of African Art (1986), and other locations. Illustrated with more than 400 field and museum photographs and including essays by eminent scholars, this catalog provides significant documentation of Tabwa arts and culture.
Contents: Social and historical contexts of Tabwa, by Allen F. Roberts; Tabwa sculpture and the great traditions of East Central Africa, by François Neyt, translated by Samuel G. Ferraro; A note on "Prime objects" and variation in Tabwa figural sculpture, by Bernard de Grunne; Catalogue of the exhibition, by Evan M. Maurer and Allen F. Roberts; A catalogue raisonné of Tabwa art, by Evan M. Maurer.
Glossary, by Allen F. Roberts, p.279–83. Additional reading, p.285.
- I677 Memory: Luba art and the making of history. Ed. by Mary Nooter Roberts and Allen F. Roberts. With contrib. by S. Terry Childs . . . [et al.] N.Y., Museum for African Art, [1996]. 259p. il. (part col.), maps.
Catalog of the exhibition, Museum for African Art (1996), and other locations. Beautifully illustrated, this book provides scholarly essays on "the broad themes of memory and the construction of history manifest in Luba social, religious, and artistic practices."—Pref.
Contents: Foreword, From memory to history: processes of Luba historical consciousness, by Jan Vansina; Introduction, Audacities of memory, by Mary Nooter Roberts and Allen F. Roberts; (1) Re/constructing Luba pasts, by S. Terry Childs and Pierre de Maret; (2) Forging memory, by William J. Dewey and S. Terry Childs; (3) Body memory, by Mary Nooter Roberts and Allen F. Roberts, with an essay by Jeanette Kawende Fina Nkindi and Guy De Plaen; (4) Luba memory theater, by Mary Nooter Roberts; (5) Mapping memory, by Mary Nooter Roberts and Allen F. Roberts; (6) Memory in motion, by Mary Nooter Roberts and Allen F. Roberts; (7) Peripheral vision, by Allen F. Roberts, with a contribution from Pierre Petit; Afterword, The idea of Luba, by V. Y. Mudimbe.
Bibliography, p.248–52. Glossary, p.253. Index, p.254–55.
- I678 Meyer, Piet. Kunst und religion der Lobi. Fotos der Kunstwerke von Isabelle Wettstein und Brigitte Kauf. Zürich, Museum Rietberg, 1981. 184p. il. (part col.), maps. (Publikationsstiftung für das Museum Rietberg Zürich, Bd. 3)

Extensively illustrated, this volume surveys the art and culture of the Lobi who inhabit south-western Burkina Faso and north-eastern Côte d'Ivoire.

Contents: (1) Die Lobi; (2) Die thila; (3) Kommunikation zwischen thila und Menschen; (4) Die Holzskulptur; (5) Lehmgegenstände für die thila; (6) Eisengegenstände für die thila; (7) Gelbgussgegenstände; (8) Elfenbeinschmuck.

Glossar, p.179–82. Bibliographie, p.183–84.

- 1679 Miller, Judith von D. Art in East Africa: a guide to contemporary art. London, F. Muller, [1975]. Imprint covered by label which reads: Africana Publishing Company, New York. 125p. il. (part col.)

This basic guide covers art in Kenya, Tanzania, and Uganda and includes information about artists, art movements, art galleries, museums, craft workshops, art schools, art societies, and art competitions.

Contents: (1) Artists in East Africa; (2) Art movements in East Africa; (3) Art institutions in East Africa.

Directory of art institutions in East Africa, p.81–82. Biographies of artists in East Africa, p.83–110. Bibliography, p.111–13. Index, p.115–25.

- 1680 Mount, Marshall Ward. African art: the years since 1920. New introd. by the author. [Reprint.] N.Y., Da Capo Pr., 1989. xviii, 236p. 97 il. (part col.), map.

Originally published by Indiana University Press, Bloomington, 1973, this paperback ed. includes corrections and a new introduction by the author.

A broadly based survey of the state of contemporary African art from the colonial period to the early 1970s.

Contents: Foreword, by Paul S. Wingert; (1) Survivals of traditional styles; (2) Mission-inspired art; (3) Souvenir art; (4) The emergence of a new art: introduction; (5) Art schools in French-speaking Africa; (6) Art schools in English-speaking East and Central Africa; (7) Art schools in English-speaking West Africa; (8) Artists independent of African art schools; (9) Summary; Appendix: Autobiographies of two African artists.

Glossary of names, p.199–203. Bibliography, p.204–10. Index, p.231–36.

- 1681 Musée royal de l'Afrique centrale. Masterpieces from central Africa. The Tervuren Museum. Ed. by Gustaaf Verswijver . . . [et al.] Photography by Roger Asselberghs. [Ed. by Gustaaf Verswijver, Els De Palmenaer, Viviane Baeke, and Anne-Marie Bouttiaux-Ndiaye.] N.Y., Prestel, [1996]. 200p. il., 126 col. plates, map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Canadian Museum of Civilization, Ottawa/Hull (1996–1997), and other locations. Devoted to acquiring Central African artifacts since 1897, the Tervuren Museum's collections represent great diversity and extensive ethnographic documentation which is summarized for each piece that is illustrated in this handsome catalog.

Contents: Masterpieces from Central Africa: the Tervuren Museum, by Alain Nicolas. Bibliography, p.196–200.

- 1682 Museum für Völkerkunde, Frankfurt am Main. Wegzeichen: Kunst aus Ostafrika 1974–89 = Signs: art from East Africa 1974–89. [By] Johanna Agthe. Frankfurt am Main, Museum für Völkerkunde, 1990. 541p. 82 il. (part col.), 198 col. plates, map. (Afrika-Sammlung, 5)

In German and English. This collection covers a collection of contemporary East African art acquired by the museum between 1974 and 1989 and represents artists from Kenya, Uganda, Tanzania, and (in a few cases) Mozambique.

Contents: (1) Traditional art in East Africa; (2) Contemporary art in East Africa; (3) Cultural policies in Kenya and contemporary art; (4) Art education as a subject at school; (5) Directions in East African art; (6) Ways of becoming an artist; (7) Life as an artist; (8) Campaigns and slogans; (9) Artistic subjects; (10) Tradition from the artist's point of view; (11) Rural life as an artistic subject; (12) The town as artistic subject; (13) Narrative pictures; (14) Caricature (15) Other subjects; Etale Sukuro: art to the people.

Appendix: List of the artists, p.513. List of the subjects, p.516–18. Supplementary explanations for some of the works, p.519–28. Glossary, p.533–34. Bibliography, p.535–540.

- 1683 The neglected tradition: towards a new history of South African art (1930–1988). Johannesburg Art Gallery. Guest curator: Steven Sack. Johannesburg, Johannesburg Art Gallery, [1988]. 155p. il. (part col.) Catalog of the exhibition, Johannesburg Art Gallery (1988–1989).

This scholarly catalog has historic importance "by tracing the development and influence of black South African artists, and for the first time documenting this development and influence through an exhibition and research catalogue."—Foreword. Extensive bibliography has 1,255 citations.

Contents: The pioneers; The Polly Street era; Rorke's drift art and craft centre; The new generation; New generation sculpture.

Biographies, p.97–134. Bibliography, p.135–53.

- 1684 Neyt, François. The arts of the Benue: to the roots of tradition: Nigeria. Assist. by Andrée Désirant. [S.l.] Editions Hawaiian Agronomics, [1985]. 215p. il. (part col.), maps.

A survey of the art and culture of the peoples living on the lands along the Benue River between the Cameroon Mountains and the Niger River.

Contents: Preface, by Ekpo Eyo; (1) The Benue State; (2) The Igala. Art at the service of kingship?; (3) The Idoma. Art at the service of the sacred; (4) The Tiv. Art and the cultural mutations.

Bibliography, p.212–14.

- 1685 Nunley, John W. Moving with the face of the devil: art and politics in urban West Africa. Urbana, Univ. of Illinois Pr., 1987. xxiv, 281p. 75 il., 8 col. plates, maps.

Illustrated with fieldwork photographs, this book is a major exposition and contribution to the knowledge of contemporary West African masquerades.

Contents: (1) The great experiment; (2) Freetown; (3) Ode-lay organization; (4) The Ode-lay societies; (5) Ode-lay aesthetics; (6) The Ode-lay artist; (7) Music of the Freetown societies; (8) A theory of art and performance; (9) Conflict as a factor of society life; (10) The politicization of urban secret societies; (11) Unity and control; (12) Tea kettles and the cooling effects of art; Appendix 1: Freetown masking societies in 1978 by Ward; Appendix 2: permission for masked devil procession; Appendix 3: Police public notice—masked devils; Appendix 4: Minutes of meeting between Paddle, Firestone, and Bloody Mary Societies.

Glossary, p.256–60. Bibliography, p.261–67. Index, p.269–81.

- I686 Perrois, Louis, and Delage, Marta Sierra. The art of equatorial Guinea: the Fang tribes. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1990. 177p. il. (part col.), maps.

An in-depth study of the art and material culture of the Fang in Cameroon.

Contents: Fang art among the arts of Africa; Rites and beliefs: Fang objects and symbols; The Fang migrations; The ethnic history of the Fang of equatorial Guinea.

Bibliography, p.171–77.

- I687 Powell, Ivor. Ndebele: a people and their art. Photographer, Mark Lewis. Ndebele advisor and project coord., Mark Hurwitz. N.Y., Cross River Pr., Division of Abbeville Publishing Group, [1995]. 160p. il. (part col.), map.

Lavishly illustrated primarily in color, this book provides a valuable overview of the art and culture of the Ndebele of southern Africa.

Contents: (1) History; (2) Beliefs and practices; (3) Mural art; (4) Homesteads; (5) Beads and adornments; (6) Contemporary trends.

Glossary, p.154–57. Index, p.158–60.

- I688 Robbins, Warren M., and Nancy Ingram Nooter. African art in American collections: survey 1989. Washington, D.C., Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1989]. vii, 607p. 1,596 il., maps.

This book is a significant visual record of primarily masks and figures from sub-Saharan Africa owned mainly by private collectors and some public collections in the United States and Canada. Appendixes include a complete list of collections and a comprehensive inventory of sculptural styles.

Contents: Foreword, African art: where the hand has ears, by Amadou Hampate Ba; The two worlds of African art, by Warren M. Robbins; Illustrations, introductory notes and captions, by Nancy Ingram Nooter.

African art in American collections, p.571–73. Bibliography, p.575–89. Style index, p.591–92.

- I689 Roy, Christopher D. Art and life in Africa: selections from the Stanley Collection, exhibitions of 1985 and 1992. [Iowa City], University of Iowa Museum of Art (Distr. by the Univ. of Washington Pr., [1992]). x, 265p. il. (part col.), maps.

A revised and expanded version of the 1985 exhibition catalog. Includes field photographs and extensive notes for each illustrated work from the Western Sudan, Guinea Coast, the Equatorial Forest, the Southern Savanna, and East Africa.

Contents: Catalogue of the 1985 exhibition; Catalogue of the 1992 exhibition.

Selected bibliography, p.257–61. Index, p.263–65.

- I690 ———. Art of the Upper Volta rivers. Trad. et adaptation en français F. Chaffin. Meudon, France, Alain et Françoise Chaffin, [1987]. 384p. 325 il., col. plates, maps.

Text in English and French. A major contribution on the masking traditions of the Red and Black Volta rivers region of Burkina Faso, with extensive field photographs.

Contents: Introduction; Mossi; Kurumba; Gurunsi (Nuna, Winiam, Lela); Bwa; Marka Dafing; Bobo; Bolô; Tusyâ.

Style map, p.368–75. Glossary, p.376–78. Bibliography, p.379–81.

- I691 Schildkrout, Enid, and Keim, Curtis A. African reflections: art from northeastern Zaire. With contrib. by Didier Demolin . . . [et al.] [Color photographs by Lynton Gardiner]. Seattle, Univ. of Washington Pr., [1990]. 271p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, American Museum of Natural History, New York (1990), and other locations.

A major treatise on the art of the Mangbetu, the Zande, and neighboring peoples in northeastern Zaire. This book also documents the American Museum of Natural History's Congo Expedition (1909–1915).

Contents: (1) Art, ethnography, and history in northeastern Zaire; (2) Through western eyes: the making of the Mangbetu myth; (3) Collecting in the Congo: the American Museum of Natural History Congo Expedition, 1909–1915; (4) Reconstructing the past, by Jan Vansina; (5) Mangbetu social organization in the early colonial period; (6) The art and technology of daily life; (7) The art of adornment; (8) The craft of power and the art of kings; (9) Dealing with destiny: aspects of Mangbetu thought; (10) Music and dance in northeastern Zaire, Part 1: The social organization of Mangbetu music, by Didier Demolin; Part 2: Collecting culture: musical instruments and musical change, by Thomas Ross Miller; (11) Art, culture, and tribute among the Azande, by John Mack; (12) Reflections on Mangbetu art.

Bibliography, p.263–66. Index, p.267–71.

- I692 Seven stories about modern art in Africa: an exhibition organized by the Whitechapel Art Gallery. Concept and general editor, Clémentine Deliss. Paris, Flammarion, 1995. 319p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Whitechapel Art Gallery, London (1995), and other locations. This landmark catalog presents the history of modern African art through the painting, sculpture and theatrical installations of more than sixty artists. The seven sections of the exhibition cover works from Nigeria, Senegal, Sudan, Ethiopia, South Africa, Kenya, and Uganda.

Contents: 7 + 7 = 1: Seven stories, seven stages, one exhibition, by Clémentine Deliss; Inside, outside, by Everlyn Nicodemus; The quest: from Zaria to Nsukka, a story from Nigeria, by Chika Okeke; Objects of performance, a story from Senegal, by El Hadji Sy; The Khartoum and Addis connections, two stories from Sudan and Ethiopia, by Salah M. Hassan; Moments in art, a story from South Africa, by David Koloane; Concrete narratives and visual prose, two stories from Kenya and Uganda, by Wanjiku Nyachae; Recollections, a collection of interviews, reminiscences, articles and manifestoes from Nigeria, from Senegal, from Sudan and Ethiopia, from South Africa, from Kenya and Uganda.

Art colleges, universities and schools, p.291-96. International workshops, by Elsbeth Court, p.296-97. Movements, centres, workshops and collectives, by Elsbeth Court, p.297-301. African art in Africa, by Elsbeth Court, p.302-06. International events, by Elsbeth Court, p.306-08. Further reading, p.308-11. References, p.314-18.

- I693 Sieber, Roy, and Walker, Roslyn Adele. African art in the cycle of life. Washington, D.C., Published for the National Museum of African Art by the Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1987]. 155p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of African Art (1987-1988). A major exhibition catalog illustrated with significant objects from European, North American, and private collections as well as field photographs. Text by Roy Sieber. Catalog and bibliography by Roslyn Adele Walker.

Contents: (1) Continuity; (2) Transition; (3) Toward a secure world; (4) Governance; (5) Status and display; (6) Imports; (7) Departure.

Bibliography, p.149-55.

- I694 Somalia in word and image. Ed. by Katheryne S. Loughran . . . [et al.] Washington, D.C., Published by the Foundation for Cross Cultural Understanding, in coop. with Indiana University Pr., Bloomington, [1986]. 175p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Mathers Museum, Indiana University (1986), and other locations. The first major exhibition and catalog to treat the art and culture of Somalia. "The catalog is an excellent demonstration of the importance of historic illustrations to document African art."—Review, Art documentation, v.5, no.4, winter 1986, p.187.

Contents: Introduction: Word and image on the Horn of Africa, by John William Johnson; The artistic heritage of Somalia, by Mary Jo Arnoldi; Somali verbal and material arts, by Said Sheikh Samatar; The literary culture of the Somali people, by B. W. Andrzejewski; Society and culture in the Riverine region of southern Somalia, by Lee V. Casanelli; Somali wood engravings, by Vinigi L. Grottanelli; Islam in Somalia, by I. M. Lewis.

Selected bibliography, p.175.

- I695 Steiner, Christopher B. African art in transit. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., [1994]. xv, 220p. 42 il., maps. Based on extensive fieldwork, this book surveys the commodification and circulation of African art objects in the international art market.

Contents: Introduction: The anthropology of African art in a transnational market; (1) Commodity outlets and the classification of goods; (2) The division of labor and the management of capital; (3) An economy of words: bargaining and the social production of value; (4) The political economy of ethnicity in a plural market; (5) The quest for authenticity and the invention of African art; (6) Cultural brokerage and the mediation of knowledge; Conclusion: African art and the discourses of value.

References, p.195-210. Index, p.211-20.

- I696 University of Fort Hare. Images of man: contemporary South African Black art and artists. A pictorial and historical guide to the collection of the University of Fort Hare housed in the De Beers Centenary Art Gallery. [By] E. J. De Jager. [Alice], Fort Hare Univ. Pr. in assoc. with the Fort Hare Foundation, [Distr. Saayman and Weber (Pty), 1992]. 220p. il. (part col.), [2] leaves of col. plates.

The University of Fort Hare has one of the finest and most comprehensive collections of its kind within or outside of South Africa. All major artists are represented as well as some less well-known ones.

Contents: (1) Art and society; (2) The Black artists: past and present; (3) Contemporary Black (African) art in Southern Africa: A social historical perspective; (4) Five pioneer painters: Sekoto, Pemba, Bhengu, Mvusi and Mohl; (5) Transition to the 1960s: Eric Ngcobo and Gladys Mungundlandlu; (6) Establishment and realization: the 1960s and 1970s; (7) The township art movement; (8) The Rorke's drift tradition: Azaria Mbatha and John Muafangejo; (9) Three mystics: Cyprian Shilakoe, Dan Rakgoathe and Harry Moyaga; (10) The sculptors; (11) Personal imagery and African heritage; (12) The post 1970s.

Index of Black artists referred to and/or illustrated, p.217-18. Bibliography, p.219-20.

- I697 Vallées du Niger. [Paris, Éd. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1993]. 573p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Musée national des Arts d'Afrique et d'Océanie, Paris (1993-1994), and other locations. Monumental catalog with abundant illustrations of the art and cultural traditions of the civilizations of the Niger.

- I698 Vogel, Susan. Africa explores: 20th century African art. Assisted by Ima Ebong. Contrib. by Walter E. A. van Beek . . . [et al.] N.Y., Center for African Art, [1991]. 294p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Center for African Art (1991), and other locations. Lavishly illustrated, this major survey of contemporary African art emphasizes Western and Central Africa.

Contents: (1) Traditional art: elastic continuum, by Susan Vogel; Enter the bush: a Dogon mask festival, by Walter E. A. van Beek; (2) New functional art: future traditions, by Susan Vogel; (3) Urban art: art of the here and now, by Susan Vogel; Painting in Zaire: from the invention of the West to the representation of social self, by Bogumil Jewsiewicki; (4) International art: the official story, by Susan Vogel; Negritude: between mask and flag—Senegalese cultural ideology and the "École de Dakar," by Ima Ebong; (5) Extinct art: inspiration and burden, by Susan Vogel; Afrokitsch, by Donald John Cosentino; The selfhood of the other: reflections of a Westerner on the occasion of an exhibition of contemporary art from Africa, by Thomas McEville; "Repren-dre": enunciations and strategies in contemporary African arts, by V. Y. Mudimbe.

Bibliography, p.288-94. Index, p.294-[95].

I699 Wilcox, A. R. The rock art of Africa. N.Y., Holmes and Meier Publishers, [1984]. xvi, 287p. il., 67 col. plates, maps.

The first major state-of-the-art survey of African rock art which provides an encyclopedic review of the literature.

Contents: (1) Historical introduction; (2) The study of rock art—aims and problems; (3) Terms and techniques; (4)
Africa—the background, physical and climatic; (5) The peopling of the art regions; (6) The Maghreb and Sahara; (7)
Bovidean outliers: the Horn of Africa, Kenya, Southern Sudan and West Africa; (8) The Central African art zone; (9)
The Central Tanzanian Sub-Region; (10) The Southern African art zone; (11) Art Sub-Region 1: Zimbabwe and North-East Transvaal; (12) The Tsodilo Hills; (13) Art Sub-Region
2: South-West Africa/Namibia; (14) Art Sub-Region 3:
Southern and South-Western Cape; (15) Art Sub-Region 4:
Drakensberg-Maluti Massif and surrounding areas; (16) Art
Sub-Region 5: the Northern Cape; (17) Art Sub-Region 6:
South-West Transvaal and adjoining areas; (18) The mobiliary art; (19) The non-representational art; (20) The hand-prints; (21) The overall picture; (22) Problems and possibilities; (23) The raisons d'être.

Select bibliography and references, p.267-79. Index,
p.281-87.

I700 The Yoruba artist: new theoretical perspectives on African arts. Ed. by Rowland Abiodun, Henry J. Drewal, and John Pemberton III. Washington, D.C., Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1994]. ix, 275p. il. (part col.), map.

Essays by eminent scholars based on a symposium on Yoruba art held at the Museum Rietberg, Zürich (1992).

Contents: (1) Art, identity, and identification: a commentary on Yoruba art historical studies, by John Picton; (2)
Introduction: An African(?) art history: promising theoretical approaches in Yoruba art studies, by Rowland Abiodun;
(3) Stylistic analysis and the identification of artists' workshops in Ancient Ife, by Frank Willett; (4) Ifa trays from the Osogbo and Ijebu regions, by Hans Witte; (5) The Ulm Opón Ifá
(ca. 1650): a model for later iconography, by Ezio Bassani; (6) Anonymous has a name: Olowe of Ise, by Roslyn Adele Walker; (7) In praise of metonymy: the concepts of "tradition" and "creativity" in the transmission of Yoruba artistry over time and space, by Olabiyi Babalola Yai; (8)
Introduction: in praise of artistry, by John Pemberton III; (9)
Lagbayi: the itinerant wood carver of Ojowon, by Wande Abimbola; (10) The role of Oríkì Orílé and Ìtàn in the reconstruction of the architectural history of the palace of Gbongan, by Oba Solomon Babayemi, the Olufi of Gbon-gan; (11) Polyvocality and the individual talent: three women Oríkì singers in Okuku, by Karin Barber; (12) Drumming for the Egungun: the poet-musician in Yoruba masquerade theater, by Akin Euba; (13) Embodied practice/embodied history: mastery of metaphor in the performances of diviner Kolawole Ositola, by Margaret Thompson Drewal;

(14) Introduction: Yoruba art and life as journeys, by Henry
John Drewal; (15) Beyond aesthetics: visual activism in Ile-Ife, by Michael D. Harris; (16) The transformation of Ogun power: the art of Rufus Ogundele, by Jutta Ströter-Bender;
(17) The three warriors: Atlantic altars of Esu, Ogun, and Osoosi, by Robert Farris Thompson; (18) Yoruba-American art: new rivers to explore, by John Mason.

Bibliography, p.251-66. Glossary of Yoruba terms,
p.267-73.

I701 Zahan, Dominique. Antilopes du soleil: arts et rites agraires d'Afrique noire. Avec 50 figures, 538 des-sins, 1 carte. Wien, Édition A. Schendl, 1980. 195p.
il. 101p. of plates, map.

The definitive study on the chi-wara, or antelope headdress of the Bambara masking society associated with agricultural rituals. Profusely illustrated with drawings of the complete range of iconographic varieties of male and female chi-wara.

Contents: (1) Généralités; (2) Le savoir et ses dimensions;
(3) Les alentours du nom; (4) La manière d'être de l'objet;
(5) L'épiphanie cosmique; (6) Aliment et venin; (7) Le sacre de l'histoire; (8) Choisir les hommes.

Bibliographie, p.163-65. Répartition géographique du Tyiwara, p.166-69. Index des auteurs cités, p.170. Index an-alytique des matières, p.171-75.

SEE ALSO: Vansina, Art history in Africa: an introduction to method (GLAH 2:G85).

Oceania

I702 Art and artists of Oceania. Ed. by Sidney M. Mead and Bernie Kernot. [Palmerston North, N.Z.], Dun-more Pr., 1983. 308p. il., maps.

Eighteen papers from the Second International Symposium on the Arts of Oceania. During the conference, the Pacific Arts Association was established. This book is the first major publication sponsored by the association.

Contents: [1] General section; Attitudes to the study of Oceanic art, by Sidney Mead; Among the Kilenge "Art is something which is well done," by Philip Dark; The role of women artists in Polynesia and Melanesia, by Jehanne Teilhet; Changing Western attitudes to Oceanic art, by Jean Guiart; Art, ethno-aesthetics and the contemporary scene, by Nelson Graburn; Negative and positive influences, by Katarina Mataira; [2] Melanesia and Micronesia; Inspiration and convention in Lakalai paintings, by Ann Chowning; Pots, power and progress in the Trans-Gogol, by Colin De'Ath; Shell-inlaid shields from the Solomon Islands, by Deborah Waite; Kominimung shields, by Dirk Smidt; The decorative motifs of Palauan clubhouses, by David Robinson; [3] Polynesia; The meeting house in contemporary New Zealand, by Bernie Kernot; Contemporary arts in Oceania, by Albert Wendt; Art and Maori construction of reality, by Allan Hanson; Moko, by Dave Simmons; The Veil of Orthodoxy, by Roger Neich; Tokelau cuisine, by Judith Huntsman; The cave of images, by Roger Rose.

I703 The art of the Pacific Islands. [By] Peter Gathercole, Adrienne L. Kaeppler, Douglas Newton. Washington,

D.C., National Gallery of Art, 1979. 365p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Gallery of Art (1979).

A beautifully illustrated volume, "one of the standard reference books on the subject. It is a catalogue of . . . one of the largest and most comprehensive such exhibitions ever attempted, for which objects from Pacific collections all over the world had been borrowed."—Review, Apollo, v.120, no.273, Nov. 1984, p.360.

Contents: Foreword, by J. Carter Brown; Continuities and changes in western Pacific art, by Douglas Newton; Polynesian cultural history, by Peter Gathercole; Aspects of Polynesian aesthetic traditions, by Adrienne L. Kaeppler; New Zealand Maori, by Peter Gathercole.

Bibliography, p.359–65.

- I704 Arts of the south seas: island Southeast Asia, Melanesia, Polynesia, Micronesia: the collections of the Musée Barbier-Mueller. Ed. by Douglas Newton. N.Y., Prestel, 1999. 368p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Arts des mers du Sud: Insulinde, Melanesie, Polynesie, Micronesie: collections du Musée Barbier-Mueller. Paris, Biro, 1998.

Seeks "to present the islands of the Philippines and Indonesia on an equal footing with those of Melanesia, and more abundantly than those of Micronesia and Polynesia."—Foreword. Multi-author survey, arranged by region.

Notes and bibliographies, p.363–68.

- I705 Barrow, Terence. Art and life in Polynesia. Rutland, Vt., Charles E. Tuttle, 1973. 191p. 323 il. (part col.), map.

Written by a noted scholar in the field, this older, standard work is "an important contribution to furthering our knowledge of Polynesian art."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Art areas of Polynesia.

Bibliography, p.181–84. Glossary of artifact names, p.188. Index, p.189–90.

- I706 ———. The art of Tahiti and the neighbouring Society, Austral and Cook Islands. [London], Thames and Hudson, [1979]. 93p. 102 il. (part col.), maps.

A generously illustrated history of the wooden sculpture, ceremonial costumes and weapons of the Tahitians, including contemporary engravings from Captain Cook's expedition.

Contents: The Society islands; The Austral islands; The Cook islands.

Bibliography, p.[94]. Index, p.[96].

- I707 Bodrogi, Tibor. Oceanian art. Budapest, Corvina, [1959]. 41p. 170 il. (part col.)

Primarily composed of plates illustrating objects in the Ethnographical Museum of Budapest.

Contents: Primitive art as seen through European eyes; Oceania, Melanesia, Polynesia, Micronesia; Indonesia.

Bibliography, p.39–40. Principal collectors and collections, p.41.

- I708 Brake, Brian. Art of the Pacific. Photographs by Brian Brake. Conversations by James McNeish. With commentary by D. R. Simmons. N.Y., Abrams, 1979. 239p. chiefly il. (part col.)

Photographic appreciation, followed by a series of "conversations" ("with living people . . . from tape recordings").

Index, p.240.

- I709 Buck, Peter Henry. Arts and crafts of Hawaii, by Te Rangi Hiroa. [Reprint.] [Honolulu], Bishop Museum, 1964. 606p. il. (Bernice P. Bishop Museum special publication, 45)

See GLAH 1:I634 for original publication. Reprint in 14 parts.

Contents: Food; Houses; Plaiting; Twined baskets; Clothing; Canoes; Fishing; Games and recreation; Musical instruments; War and weapons; Religion; Ornaments and personal adornment; Death and burial; Index.

- I710 ———. Arts and crafts of the Cook Islands. [Reprint.] N.Y., Kraus Reprint, 1971. i, 533p. 275 il. 16 leaves of plates, maps. (Bernice P. Bishop Museum bulletin, 179)

An early classic, this work is extensively illustrated with diagrams and field and museum photographs.

Contents: Material culture; Cultural differentiation; Cultural processes.

Literature cited, p.527–29. Index, p.530–33.

- I711 Buehler, Alfred; Barrow, Terry; and Mountford, Charles P. The art of the South Sea Islands, including Australia and New Zealand. [Rev. ed.] N.Y., Greystone, [1968]. 255p. il. (part col.), maps. (Art of the world)

See GLAH 1:I635 for original ed. Substantially the same as the previous ed.

- I712 Cook voyage artifacts in Leningrad, Berne, and Florence museums. Ed. by Adrienne L. Kaeppler. With contrib. by L. G. Rozina, Karl Henking, Enrico H. Giglioli. Trans. by Ella Wiswell, Denzel Carr, Mildred M. Knowlton. Honolulu, Bishop Museum Pr., [1978]. x, 186p. 260 il. (part col.) (Bernice P. Bishop Museum special publication, 66)

Scholarly descriptions of three major collections of ethnographic objects attributed to the voyages of Captain James Cook.

Contents: The Cook Voyage Collection in Leningrad, introduction, by Adrienne L. Kaeppler; The James Cook Collection in the Museum of Anthropology and Ethnography, Leningrad, by L. G. Rozina; The James Cook Collection in Berne, introduction, by Adrienne L. Kaeppler; A description of the Webber Collection, based on the monograph, by Karl H. Henking; The Cook Collection in Florence, introduction by Adrienne L. Kaeppler; Notes on an ethnographic collection made during the third voyage of Cook and preserved until the end of the last century in the Royal Museum of Physics and Natural History in Florence, by Enrico Hillyer Giglioli; A document concerning the collection acquired during the third voyage of Captain Cook in the National Museum of Anthropology and Ethnology in Florence, by A. Mordini; On the origin of the collection preserved in the National Museum of Anthropology and Ethnology held to be gathered by Cook, by Adelaide Fabiani.

Literature cited, p.181–84. Index, p.185–86.

- I713 Dreamings: the art of Aboriginal Australia. Ed. by Peter Sutton. N.Y., Braziller, [1988]. xiii, 266p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Asia Society, New York (1988), and other locations.

"Unique in its field in at least three ways. It contains the first extended overview of the history of Aboriginal art scholarship. . . . It presents a substantial analysis of the Aboriginal aesthetic. . . . And it examines the cultural, economic, and political context of the production of Western Desert paintings for an Australian and world art market."—Introd. "One of the most significant books on the Aboriginal art of Australia published so far."—Review, African arts, v.23, no.3, July 1990, p.91.

Contents: (I) Dreamings, by Peter Sutton; (II) Responding to Aboriginal art, by Peter Sutton; (III) The morphology of feeling, by Peter Sutton; (IV) Dreamings in acrylic: western desert art, by Christopher Anderson and Françoise Dussart; (V) Perceptions of Aboriginal art: a history, by Philip Jones; (VI) Survival, regeneration, and impact, by Peter Sutton, Philip Jones, Steven Hemming; Postscript, by Peter Sutton.

Biographies of artists, p.235–42. Notes, p.243–53. References, p.254–61. Index, p.262–64.

- I714 Edge-Partington, James. Ethnographical album of the Pacific Islands. Originally published as An album of the weapons, tools, ornaments, articles of dress of natives of the Pacific Islands. Second ed. exp. and ed. by Bruce L. Miller. With additional maps and portraits of Pacific Island natives. [Bangkok, Thailand], SDI, 1996. 391p., 238p., 237p., il., 31 leaves of plates, maps.

A monumental work originally published from 1890–98. This volume provides historically significant drawings of the art and culture of Australia and the Pacific Islands and is primarily composed of illustrations and descriptive annotations for more than 6,000 objects which were extant in museums, societies, and private collections at the turn of the century. The new ed. includes the typesetting of the original hand-written commentary, enlarged plates, a complete subject index, and additional appendices.

Contents: Series I; Series II; Series III [list of plates by geographical area].

Appendix I: notes on the history of contact and brief descriptions of the islands noted by Edge-Partington, p.226–28; Appendix II: portraits of natives of the Pacific Islands, pl.1–21; Appendix III: maps, pl.22–31. Bibliography, p.229–31. Index, Series I, II, III, p.232–237.

- I715 The eloquent dead: ancestral sculpture of Indonesia and Southeast Asia. Ed. by Jerome Feldman. [Los Angeles], Museum of Cultural History, UCLA [1985]. 204p. 270 il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Wight Art Gallery, UCLA (1985).

Contents: Ancestors in the art of Indonesia and Southeast Asia, by Jerome Feldman; Ancestral manifestations in the art of Nias Island, by Jerome Feldman; Ancestors and living men among the Batak, by Elisabeth L. Cameron; The significance of ancestors in the arts of the Dayak of Borneo, by Eugenia Sumnik-Dekovich; The soul that is seen: the Tau Tau as shadow of death, reflection of life in Toraja tradition, by Eric Crystal; Korwar of the Biak, by Wilhelm G. Solheim II; Ancestor motifs of the Paiwan, by Elisabeth L. Cameron; Magamaog: benevolent ancestor of the Yami, by Elisabeth L. Cameron and Eugenia Sumnik-Dekovich; Catalogue: Lesser Dundas and Moluccas; Philippines; Madagascar; Appendix: a Toraja house from Tondon, by Eric Crystal.

Bibliography, p.199–204.

- I716 Exploring the visual art of Oceania: Australia, Melanesia, Micronesia, and Polynesia. Ed. by Sidney M. Mead, assisted by Isabelle Brymer and Susan Martich. Honolulu, Univ. Pr. of Hawaii, [1979]. xviii, 455p. il., maps.

Papers from Symposium 1: The Art of Oceania held at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario (1974) which marked "the first attempt to bring together, from different parts of the world, the people who are concerned with the study of the art and material culture of the Pacific area."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Early Lapita art from Polynesia and Island Melanesia: continuities in ceramic, barkcloth, and tattoo decorations, by Roger C. Green; (2) Prehistoric and recent art styles in Papua New Guinea, by Douglas Newton; (3) Rock art in the western Pacific, by Jim Specht; (4) The archaeology of Australian Aboriginal Art, by Lesley Maynard; (5) The art of Irian Jaya: a survey, by Adrian A. Gerbrands; (6) The art of the peoples of Western New Britain and their neighbors, by Philip J. C. Dark; (7) The art of the Baining: New Britain, by George A. Corbin; (8) A survey of Polynesian art, by Adrienne L. Kaeppler; (9) The equivocal nature of a masking tradition in Polynesia, by Jehanne H. Teillet; (10) On the origin and diversity of "Tahitian" Janiform fly whisks, by Roger G. Rose; (11) Changing attitudes to the study of Maori carving, by Peter Gathercole; (12) Admiralty Island "ancestor" figures? by Mino Badner; (13) Aspects of style and symbolism in the art of the Solomon Islands, by Deborah B. Waite; (14) Style provinces and trading areas in North and Northeast New Guinea, by Tibor Bodrogi; (15) The problem of meaning in art, by Anthony Forge; (16) Aesthetics of the Aika, by Erik Schwimmer; (17) Artmanship in the Star Harbour Region, by Sidney M. Mead; (18) Art and artists in the context of Kwoma Society, by Christian Kaufmann; (19) Adam Smith in the garden: supply, demand, and art production in New Britain, by David R. Counts; (20) Where does art begin on Puluwat? by Peter W. Steager; (21) New directions in contemporary arts, by Nelson H. H. Graburn; (22) Traditional handicraft in a changing society: manufacture and function of stenciled Tapa on Moce Island, by Simon Kooijman; (23) Art in changing New Ireland, by Philip Lewis; (24) Establishing museums in developing countries: the case of Papua New Guinea, by Dirk Smidt; (25) Toward the scientific study of art in Melanesia, by Jean Guiart; Conclusion: themes in the study of Oceanic art, by Roy L. Carlson; Appendix: recommendations and resolutions.

The contributors, p.417. References, p.419–50. Index, p.451–55.

I717 Firth, Raymond William. Art and life in New Guinea. London, Studio, 1936. 126p. il., maps.

An early work composed primarily of black-and-white field and museum photographs accompanied by descriptive explanations.

Contents: The shape of the land; Physical and cultural types; Forms of settlement; Canoes in the native culture; Art and recreation; Art and ritual; Qualities of New Guinea art; The primitive artist; Method and design; The critique of primitive art.

Select bibliography, p.126.

I718 Force, Roland W., and Force, Maryanne. The Fuller Collection of Pacific artifacts. London, Lund Humphries, [1971]. xvi, 360p. il., map.

Chiefly illustrations, this volume provides visual and descriptive documentation of the A. W. F. Fuller Collection of ethnological and archaeological Pacific artifacts in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, Illinois.

Contents: The man and his collection; Polynesia; Melanesia; Australia.

Bibliography, p.352–56. Index, p.357–60.

I719 Hamilton, Augustus. The art workmanship of the Maori race in New Zealand: a series of illustrations from specially taken photographs, with descriptive notes and essays on the canoes, habitations, weapons, ornaments, and dress of the Maoris, together with lists of the words in the Maori language used in relation to the subjects. Dunedin, N.Z., Printed and published for the Board of Governors [of the New Zealand Institute] by Fergusson & Mitchell, 1896. 438p. [vi]. il., 6 col. plates.

Extensively illustrated with field and museum photographs, diagrams, and plans, this monumental study is an early classic on Maori art and culture.

Contents: Part 1: On the canoes of the Maoris; List of canoe words; On the historical canoes of the Maori migrations to New Zealand, with the names of canoes mentioned in Maori traditions and myths. Part 2: The habitations of the Maoris; List of words relating to houses and pas. Part 3: The weapons of the Maoris; The implements of agriculture and handicraft; The snares and implements used in hunting rats and birds for food; List of words used in connection with the subjects. Part 4: The dress of the Maori; Personal ornaments; List of words connected with these subjects. Part 5: The social institutions of the Maori people; Games and amusements; Musical instruments; List of words connected with social intercourse.

Index, p.i–[vi].

I720 Hersey, Irwin. Indonesian primitive art. Singapore, Oxford Univ. Pr., 1991. 112p. 64 il. (part col.) (The Asia collection)

The standard introduction to the history of Indonesian primitive art from its origins in the Dong-son culture of northern Vietnam to the present day.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Adat, ancestors, and "the ancient people"; (3) Origins and inputs; (4) The Batak of Sumatra; (5) The cultures of Nias, Enggano, Mentawai, and Nicobar; (6) Borneo's indigenous cultures; (7) The Toraja of Sulawesi; (8) The art of Nusa Tenggara; (9) Leti and the Lower Moluccas; (10) The Korwar style of Irian Jaya; (11) The further shores; (12) Primitive Indonesian art today; Appendix: collecting the primitive art of Indonesia.

Select bibliography, p.107–8. Index, p.109–12.

I721 Joppien, Rüdiger, and Smith, Bernard. The art of Captain Cook's voyages. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1985–88. 3v. in 4. il. (part col.)

These volumes include a "Descriptive catalogue of all the known original drawings of peoples, places, artefacts and events and the original engravings associated with them."—T.p.

Contents: (1) The voyage of the Endeavour 1768–1771 with a descriptive catalogue; (2) The voyage of the Resolution and Adventure 1772–1775 with a descriptive catalogue; (3) Text. The voyage of the Resolution and Discovery 1776–1780 with a descriptive catalogue.

I722 Kaeppler, Adrienne Lois. "Artificial curiosities": being an exposition of native manufactures collected on the three Pacific voyages of Captain James Cook, R.N. at the Bernice Pauahi Bishop Museum, January 18, 1978–August 31, 1978, on the occasion of the Bicentennial of the European Discovery of the Hawaiian Islands by Captain Cook—January 18, 1778. Honolulu, Bishop Museum Pr., [1978]. xvi, 293p. 622 il. (part col.), maps. (Bernice P. Bishop Museum special publication, 65)

Contents: Realization of the exhibition; Introductory exhibition in the Kahili Room; Ethnography and the voyages of Captain Cook; Exposition of the native manufactures collected on the three Pacific voyages of Captain Cook; Appendix I: The Cook Collection exhibited at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition; Appendix II: The Worden Hall Collection; Appendix III: Cook voyage objects in Glasgow, Greenwich, and Wellington.

References cited, p.289–92.

I723 ———. Oceanic art. N.Y., Abrams, 1997. 633p. il. (chiefly col.)

First pub. as v.23 of the series L'art et le grandes civilisations (GLAH 2:I8). The first major survey in more than 30 years, bringing together the results of recent discoveries and research. Monumental overview.

Contents: Introduction, by Douglas Newton; Polynesia and Micronesia, by Adrienne Kaeppler; Melanesia, by Christian Kaufmann; Documentation; Principal Oceanic cultural groups.

Bibliography, p.[615]–25. Index, p.[627]–33.

I724 Kelm, Heinz. Kunst vom Sepik. Berlin, Museum für Völkerkunde, [1966–68]. 3v. (Veröffentlichungen des Museums für Völkerkunde, neue folge 10, 11, 15. Abteilung Südsee, V, VI, VII)

Composed of more than 1,200 illustrations with extensive descriptions, this set is a catalog of the folk art holdings of the Sepik River Valley (Indonesia and Papua New Guinea) in the Abteilung Südsee of the Museum für Völkerkunde, Berlin.

- 1725 Kirker, Anne. New Zealand women artists. A survey of 150 years. [Rev. ed.] East Roseville, NWS, Australia, Craftsman House, [1993]. 255p. 66 il., 64 col. plates.

Extensively illustrated, this volume is the first comprehensive study of the subject.

Contents: (1) The pioneers; (2) Towards a professional status; (3) The achievement of Frances Hodgkins; (4) In search of modernism; (5) The other expatriate painters; (6) Rita Angus and the assertion of a national identity; (7) Figures as the expressive concern; (8) Towards abstraction; (9) The development of sculpture; (10) A new way of seeing; (11) Approaching the '90s.

Further reading, p.247–48. Index, p.250–55.

- 1726 Krämer, Augustin Friedrich. Die Málanggane von Tombára, München, Georg Müller, 1925. 91p., 100 leaves of pl.

The only work on the malanggan art of New Ireland.

Contents: Das Land Tombára; Das Leben der Eingeborenen; Totenkult; Málangganfeste des Mittelgebiets; Die Málanggane.

Wichtigste Literatur von 1870 an, p.90–91.

- 1727 Layton, Robert. Australian rock art: a new synthesis. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., [1992]. xi, 284p., il. maps.

"The purpose of this book is to bring together the work of anthropologists and archaeologists and show how each can illuminate the other."—p.2. As a "major work . . . [it] synthesizes the basic (and in some cases very detailed) data for the continent . . . This is . . . the most important book in this field."—Review, Antiquity, v.68, March 1994, p.161.

Contents: (1) Anthropological and archaeological approaches to Australian rock art; (2) Rock art and indigenous religion; (3) Rock art as an expression of secular and subversive themes; (4) Rock art and the colonial impact; (5) Putting statements in their cultural context; (6) Figure and motif; (7) Stylistic variations in time and space; (8) Rock art and human adaptation in Australia. Appendix one: sources for samples used in distribution analysis; Appendix two: results of computer analysis of sites and regions.

Glossary, p.259–60. References, p.261–72. Index, p.273–84.

- 1728 Linton, Ralph, and Wingert, Paul S. Arts of the South Seas. In collab. with Rene d'Harnoncourt. Color il. by Miguel Covarrubias. [Reprint.] [N.Y.], Museum of Modern Art, 1972. 199p. il. (part col.)

Reprint of a work published in conjunction with the exhibition held at the Museum of Modern Art (1946).

Contents: Arts of the South Seas; Polynesia; Micronesia; Melanesia; Australia.

Bibliography, p.196–99.

- 1729 Maori: art and culture. Ed. by D. C. Starzecka. Contrib. by Janet Davidson . . . [et al.] London, British Museum Pr., 1998. 180p. il. (part col.), maps.

"The subject of this book is Maori culture in general . . . with emphasis on the two greatest achievements of Maori artistic creativity, wood-carving and fibre arts."—Ed. foreword. Based on the British Museum collections.

Glossary of Maori terms, p.161–62. References, p.163–65. Index, p.166–68.

- 1730 Melanesien, schwarze Inseln der Südsee: eine Ausstellung des Rautenstrauch-Joest-Museums für Völkerkunde der Stadt Köln. [Köln], Kunsthalle Köln, 1972. 223p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Rautenstrauch-Joest-Museum für Völkerkunde der Stadt Köln (1972). The text and catalog of works were prepared by Waldemar Stöhr.

Contents: Die Inseln und ihre Entdecker; Die Melanesier—Gestern und Heute; Religion und Gesellschaft; Kunst und Künstler; Kultur- und Stilregionen Melanesiens.

Literatur, p.217–23.

- 1731 Meyer, Anthony J. P. Oceanic art. Photographs [by] Olaf Wipperfurth. [Edison, N.J.], Knickerbocker Pr., [1996]. 2v. il. (part col.), maps.

With English, French, and German texts and plate documentation, this large and lavishly illustrated set provides encyclopedic coverage of Oceanic art, history, and culture.

Contents: (1) Pre-contact Oceania: geography, history and culture; European explorations of Oceania; Melanesia; (2) Polynesia; Micronesia; Oceanic art: is it art?

Glossary, v.2, p.636–38. Suggested reading, v.2, p.640.

- 1732 Moore, David R. Arts and crafts of the Torres Strait. [Aylesbury], Shire Ethnography, [1989]. 64p. 50 il. maps. (Shire ethnography, 10)

This study includes information about the utilitarian, religious, recreational, personal, commercial, and military products of the island craftsmen.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The search for food; (3) Religion and magic; (4) Recreations; (5) Personal adornment; (6) Trade; (7) Warfare; (8) Post-contact developments; (9) Museums; (10) Further reading (p.61).

Index, p.62–64.

- 1733 Reports of the Cambridge Anthropological Expedition to Torres Straits. Volume IV: Arts and Crafts. Cambridge, Eng., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1912. [By A. C. Haddon et al.] xxiii, 393p. 390 il., 40 leaves of plates, map. (Repr.: N.Y., Johnson Reprints, 1971)

"The present volume deals with the arts of life in Torres Straits, including those actions and objects which are connected with its material and aesthetic aspects."—Pref.

Contents: Introduction and daily life, by A. C. Haddon; (1) Decoration of the person and toilet, by A. C. Haddon; (2) Personal ornaments and clothing, by A. C. Haddon; (3) Textiles, by A. Hingston Quiggin; (4) Houses, by A. Wilkin and A. C. Haddon; (5) Domestic utensils and tools, by A. C. Haddon; (6) Food and its preparation, and narcotics, by A. C. Haddon; (7) Horticulture, by A. C. Haddon; (8) Hunting and fishing, by A. C. Haddon; (9) Weapons and objects employed in warfare, by A. C. Haddon; (10) Transport and canoes, by A. C. Haddon; (11) Science, by A. C. Haddon, including Astronomy, by W. H. R. Rivers, and a Calendar, by S. H. Ray; (12) Music, by C. S. Myers; (13) Sound-producing instruments, by A. C. Haddon; (14) Songs, by A. C. Haddon; (15) Dances and dance paraphernalia, by A. C. Haddon; (16) Greetings, salutations, and various social customs, by S. H. Ray, A. C. Haddon, and J. Bruce; (17) Games and toys, by A. C. Haddon; (18) Decorative, pictorial and glyptic art, by A. C. Haddon.

- 1734 Schneebaum, Tobias. Embodied spirits. Ritual carvings of the Asmat. Salem, Peabody Museum of Salem, 1990. 104p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Peabody Museum of Salem (1990), and other locations. This exhibition "brings together a group of carvings from two of the most important collections of Asmat art in the United States: that of the Peabody Museum of Salem and that of the Crosier Asmat Museum" of Hastings, Nebraska.—Pref.

Contents: (1) Asmat and the world; (2) Creating embodied spirits; (3) Managing the power of bodies and spirits; (4) Interpreting Asmat culture; (5) The exhibition: embodied spirits. All chapters are by Schneebaum except Chapter (4) which includes the following essays: Primary Asmat religious and Philosophical concepts, by Bishop Alphonse A. Sowada, O.S.C.; Spirit children, by Reverend Gerard A. Zegwaard, M.S.C.; Ethnographic collecting and ethnographic studies in the context of medical research, by D. Carleton Gajdusek, M.D.

Selected bibliography, p.101. Gajdusek bibliography, p.102–04.

- 1735 Stöhr, Waldemar. Kunst und Kultur aus der Südsee. Sammlung Clausmeyer Melanesien. Köln, Rautenstrauch-Joest-Museum, 1987. 389p. il. (part col.), 32 leaves of plates. (Ethnologica, Neue Folge, Band 6)

A well-illustrated and documented catalog of a major collection of Oceanic art.

Contents: Stilregionen Melanesiens; Mittlerer Sepik und Randgebiete; Unterer Sepik und Nordküste Neuguineas; Maprik-Gebiet und Waschkuk-Berge; Nordostküste Neuguineas (Astrolabe-Bay und Huon-Golf); Südost-Neuguinea; Irian Jaya (West-Neuguinea); Binnenland von Neuguinea; Nord-Melanesien (Bismarckarchipel); Neu-Britannien; Neu-Irland; Inselgruppen im Nordwesten des Bismarck-Archipels; Ost-Melanesien (Salomonen und Santa-Cruz-Inseln); Südost-Salomonen; Zentral-Salomonen; Nordwest-Salomonen; Santa-Cruz-Inseln; Vanuatu (Neue Hebriden); Neu-Kaledonien; Katalog—Sammlung Clausmeyer: Melanesien.

Literaturverzeichnis, p.379–89.

- 1736 Te Maori. Maori art from New Zealand collections. Ed. by Sidney Moko Mead. Text by Sidney Moko Mead . . . [et al.] Photographs by Athol McCredie. N.Y., Abrams, [1984]. 244p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Metropolitan Museum of Art (1984), and other locations. The first "international exhibition devoted exclusively to Maori Art"—Ackn. "Undoubtedly the most important exhibition of Maori art yet assembled, and this catalogue does it full justice."—Review, Archaeology, v.40, no.2, March–April 1987, p.72.

Contents: The ebb and flow of Mana Maori and the changing context of Maori art, by Sidney Moko Mead; The roots of Maori culture, by Agnes Sullivan; Becoming Maori art, by Sidney Moko Mead; Tribal art styles, by David R. Simmons; Pathways in the Maori world, by Anne Salmond; Maori artists of time before, by Bernie Kernot; As the old net piles up on shore, the new net goes fishing, by Piri Sciascia; Maps; Contributors; Catalogue, by David R. Simmons. Glossary, p.236–39. Bibliography, p.240–43.

- 1737 Thomas, Nicholas. Oceanic art. [N.Y.], Thames and Hudson, [1995]. 216p. 181 il. (part col.), maps. (World of art)

A basic survey of the history of Oceanic art and culture.

Contents: (1) Revelations: Sepik art; (2) Ancestors and architecture: Maori art; (3) The art of war; (4) The art of the body; (5) Maternal symbolism and male cults; (6) Barkcloth, exchange and sanctity; (7) Feathers, divinity and chiefly power; (8) Narrative art and tourism; (9) National independence, indigenous minorities and migrants.

Bibliography, p.209–10. Index, p.215–16.

- 1738 University of California, Los Angeles. Museum of Cultural History. The people and art of the Philippines. [By] Father Gabriel Casal . . . [et al.] Los Angeles, Museum of Cultural History, UCLA, [1981]. 270p. 263 il., 20 col. plates, maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Cultural History, UCLA (1981–82), and other locations. This catalog documents the first comprehensive exhibition of the arts of the Philippines in the U.S. and is the only book on this subject.

Contents: Philippine prehistory, by Wilhelm G. Solheim II; Colonial artistic expressions in the Philippines (1565–1989), by Father Gabriel Casal and Regalado Trota Jose, Jr.; Arts and peoples of the southern Philippines, by Eric S. Casino; Arts and peoples of the northern Philippines, by George R. Ellis.

References cited, p.264–68.

- 1739 Wardwell, Allen. Island ancestors: Oceanic art from the Masco Collection. Photographs by Dirk Bakker. [Seattle], Univ. of Washington Pr. in assoc. with the Detroit Institute of Arts, [1994]. xiii, 282p. col. il., maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Kimbell Museum, Fort Worth (1994–96), and other locations. Organized by the Detroit Institute of Arts, this catalog is lavishly illustrated with color plates and documents a major private collection of Oceanic art.

Contents: The Oceanic cultures; The Masco Collection. Bibliography, p.273–77. Index, p.279–82.

- 1740 _____. The art of the Sepik River. [Chicago, Art Institute of Chicago, 1971]. 100p. 215 il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Art Institute of Chicago (1971). A well-illustrated introduction to the arts of the Sepik River (New Guinea).

Contents: Coastal zone, Murik and Adjoria groups; The lower Sepik area; The middle Sepik; Upper Sepik, Hunstein Mountains, Bahinemo group.

Bibliography, p.98–99.

- I741 Wingert, Paul S. Art of the South Pacific Islands. N.Y., Beechhurst Pr., [1953]. 64p. 102 il. (1 col.), maps.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, M. H. de Young Memorial Museum, San Francisco (1953). Some references and a complete catalog are retained to document one of the earliest and most comprehensive exhibits of South Pacific Island artists.

Contents: Art of the South Pacific Islands.

Bibliography, p.46.

SEE ALSO: Smith, European vision and the South Pacific (GLAH 2:I306).

The Americas

- I742 Alcina Franch, José. Pre-Columbian art. Trans. from the French by I. Mark Paris. N.Y., Abrams, 1983. 614p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

Trans. of L'art précolombien. Paris, Mazenod, 1978 (Art et les grandes civilisations, 8)

An encyclopedic attempt to encompass the pre-Columbian art and architecture of Latin America in one vol. 177p. of col. plates, 771 black-and-white illustrations (of varying quality), supplemented by brief overviews of the principal cultures. Part 3 includes 63 essays on the principal archeological sites, with photographs, plans, and elevation drawings; culture maps; chronological tables; and an illustrated essay on the major deities. Most of the titles cited in the bibliography were published before 1970, many before 1960.

Contents: (1) Pre-Columbian art; (2) The image as document; (3) Principal archaeological sites.

Bibliography, p.593–605. Index, p.607–14.

- I743 The ancient Americas: art from sacred landscapes. Richard F. Townsend, general ed. With essays by Anthony F. Aveni . . . [et al.] Chicago, Art Institute, 1992. 397p. il. (part col.), maps.

Spanish ed., La antigua América: el arte de los parajes sagrados. México, Grupo Azabache, 1993.

Catalog of the exhibition, Art Institute of Chicago (1992), and other locations. Divided into five chapters, the first thematic and the remainder geocultural. Within each chapter are 3–8 essays, 24 in all, by leading authors in each field on selected styles/periods or media, condensed versions of the authors' more extensive publications on the topic.

Notes at ends of each chapter. Bibliography, p.383–92.

- I744 Ancient West Mexico: art and archaeology of the unknown past. Gen. ed., Richard F. Townsend. With essays by Patricia Rieff Anawalt . . . [et al.] Chicago, Art Institute (Distr. by Thames & Hudson, 1998). 308p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Art Institute of Chicago (1998), and other locations. Comprehensive overview of the role of sculptural production in West Mexico. Fourteen authored essays.

Contents: (1) The Teuchitlan tradition: an archaeological prospect; (2) Interpreting the tomb sculptures of ancient West Mexico; (3) Comparative views; (4) A modernist perspective.

Bibliography, p.298–305.

- I745 Arts of the Amazon. Ed. by Barbara Braun. Text by Peter G. Roe. Pref. by Adam Meckler. N.Y., Thames & Hudson, 1995. 128p. il. (part col.), map.

A concise but welcome overview of the traditional arts of the Indians of the Amazon Basin. Its breadth of coverage helps to overcome its lack of depth. Illustrated chiefly from a private U.S. collection.

Contents: The Amazon today, by Barbara Braun; Arts of the Amazon, by Peter G. Roe; (1) Pottery; (2) Basketry; (3) Textiles; (4) Hard carvings; (5) Featherwork; (6) Body decoration; (7) Art as performance.

Notes, p.122–24. Bibliography, p.124–25. Index, p.126–28.

- I746 Between continents, between seas: Precolumbian art of Costa Rica. Text by Susan Abel-Vidor . . . [et al.] N.Y., Abrams, 1981. 240p. il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Detroit Institute of Arts (1981), and other locations. Essentially a catalog of 293 objects (not all illustrated), supplemented by scholarly articles summarizing archeological regions and periods and the principal art media.

Contents: The archaeology of Costa Rica, by Michael Snarskis; Ethnohistorical approaches to the archaeology of Greater Nicoya, by Suzanne Abel-Vidor; Ethnohistory and ethnography in the Central Highlands-Atlantic Watershed and Diquís, by Luis Ferrero A.; Guayabo de Turrialba and its significance, by Oscar Fonseca Zamora; Traditions of Costa Rican stone sculptures, by Mark Graham; Jade, by Elizabeth Easby; Gold work, by Warwick Bray; Technical appendix: perspectives on Costa Rican jade, by Frederick Lange, Ronald Bishop, and Lambertus van Zelst; Catalogue, by Michael Snarskis.

Bibliography, p.229–40.

- I747 Bruhns, Karen Olsen. Ancient South America. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1994. xxiii, 424p. il., maps. (Cambridge world archaeology)

An overview of the prehistory of the continent, with an emphasis on the Andean region. Individual chapters on ceramics, textiles, metallurgy, and iconography. Provides an archeological and historical background to art history research in the region.

Glossary of technical and specialist terms used in South American archaeology, p.[385]–400. Bibliography of general works and by chapter, p.[401]–17. Index, [418]–24.

- I748 Chiefly feasts: the enduring Kwakiutl potlatch. Ed. by Aldona Jonaitis. With essays by Douglas Cole . . . [et al.] N.Y., American Museum of Natural History (Distr. by University of Washington Press, 1991). 300p. il. (part col.), col. map.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, American Museum of Natural History (1991). Profiles the Kwakwaka'wakw collection of the American Museum of Natural History, the traditions which gave rise to it, and the historical circumstances of its appropriation by museums. A case study in both collection history and conscientious reinterpretation.

Contents: (1) Chiefly feasts: the creation of an exhibition, by Aldona Jonaitis; (2) Streams of property, armor of wealth: the traditional Kwakiutl potlatch, by Wayne Suttles; (3) The history of the Kwakiutl potlatch; (4) George Hunt, collector of Indian specimens, by Ira Jacknis; (5) The contemporary potlatch, by Gloria Cranmer Webster; (6) Postscript: the treasures of Siwidi, by Judith Ostrowitz and Aldona Jonaitis.

Bibliography, p.289-95. Index, p.297-300.

- 1749 Colección Arte y tesoros del Perú. Lima, Banco de Crédito del Perú, 1973- .

An unnumbered series of richly illustrated studies, chiefly on individual pre-contact cultures of the Andes, but also covering colonial and contemporary Peruvian art. Some volumes include extensive essays by noted scholars.

Contents: Arte precolombino: Museo Nacional de Antropología y Arqueología, Peru (3v., 1977- ); Chavín formativo (1981); Chancay (1982); Paracas (1983); Huari (1984); Moche (1985); Nazca (1986); Chimú (1988); Lambayeque (1989); Vicús (1994); and Tucumé (1996).

- 1750 Crossroads of continents: cultures of Siberia and Alaska. [Ed. by] William W. Fitzhugh and Aron Crowell. Washington, D.C., Smithsonian Institution Pr., 1988. 360p. il., maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of Natural History (1988), and other locations. 37 essays divided into five sections: "Peoples of Siberia and Alaska"; "Strangers arrive," five essays on Russian and American exploration of the region; "Crosscurrents of time," four essays on the prehistoric population of the region; "Thematic views," 14 essays on ethnology, art and material culture; and "New lives for ancient people," a trend analysis of contemporary culture patterns.

Bibliography, p.354-59.

- 1751 Hail, Barbara A., and Duncan, Kate C. Out of the north: the Subarctic collection of the Haffenreffer Museum of Anthropology. Bristol, R.I., The Museum, 1989. 301p. il. (part col.), maps. (Studies in anthropology and material culture, 5)

Uses the museum's holdings "as a jumping-off point for discussion and analysis of historic and contemporary Subarctic collections."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) The Subarctic region: people, history and art; (2) Emma Shaw Colcleugh: Victorian collector; (3) Styles and style change; (4) Subarctic arts today; Epilogue: women's work, women's art; Catalogue.

Bibliography, p.294-301.

- 1752 Handbook of Middle American Indians. Supplement. Victoria Reifler Bricker, general ed. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1981- . (5)v. il., maps, plans.

Update and supplement to the Handbook (1964-76; see GLAH 1:I611) to be produced as new scholarship warrants.

Contents: (1) Archaeology (1981), ed. by Jeremy A. Sabloff, includes a general overview of archaeology in the region between 1960 and 1980, and ten authored articles on developments at specific sites; (5) Epigraphy (1992), ed. by Victoria Reifler Bricker, contains ten articles on writing systems and their decipherment, and on the historical and linguistic analysis of manuscripts and sculptural inscriptions.

- 1753 Handbook of North American Indians. William C. Sturtevant, gen. ed. Washington, D.C., Smithsonian Institution Pr., 1978- . (11)v. il., maps.

A projected "20-volume set planned to give an encyclopedic summary of what is known about the prehistory, history, and cultures of the aboriginal peoples of North America who lived to the north of the urban civilizations of central Mexico."—Pref, v.8. Each volume includes articles on the prehistoric and historic development of the culture region; its linguistics and demography; and a comprehensive bibliography and index. Individual authored articles on each cultural group within the region feature the topics of language and territory, population, material culture, social culture, archaeology and history, and a critical synonymy of the terms used for the culture group.

Contents: (4) History of Indian-White relations; (5) Arctic; (6) Subarctic; (7) Northwest coast; (8) California; (9) Southwest [Pueblo peoples]; (10) Southwest [non-Pueblo peoples and regional topics]; (11) Great Basin; (12) Plateau; (15) Northeast; (17) Languages.

- 1754 Holm, Bill. Northwest Coast Indian art: an analysis of form. Seattle, Univ. of Washington Pr., 1965. ix, 115p. il., map. (Thomas Burke Memorial Washington State Museum monograph, no. 1) (Repr.: Vancouver, Douglas & McIntyre, 1988.)

A seminal effort to synthesize Northwest Coast Indian design elements from diverse object types.

Contents: Historical background; Symbolism and realism; Uses of two-dimensional art; Elements of the arts; Principles of form and organization; Conclusions.

Bibliography, p.105-08. Index, p.109-15.

- 1755 Inca, Perú: 3000 ans d'histoire. Coordination et réd., Sergio Purin. Gent, Belgium, Imschoot, 1990. 2v. il. (part col.), facsim., maps, plans, ports.

Catalog of the exhibition, Musées royaux d'art et d'histoire, Brussels (1990). Through signed and illustrated essays of 10-20p. each provides extensive coverage of Peruvian civilizations and their major arts. Lacks table of contents.

Contents: (1) Civilisations précolombiennes du Pérou; Archéologie du Pérou [17 essays]; Arts et techniques du Pérou ancien [9 essays]; L'empire Inca [5 essays]. (2) Catalogue [378 entries].

Bibliography, v.1, p.490-501.

- 1756 Kubler, George. The art and architecture of ancient America: the Mexican, Maya and Andean peoples. [3d (integrated) ed.] New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. 576p. il., maps, plans. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:I618 for previous eds. This paperback-only ed. includes new textual material, but the reduction in format and integration of the plates with text has caused the quality of illustration to suffer. "As to the framework and method of the book . . . [I]n effect, the principal changes in Americanist thought do not contradict the positions taken here when the original text was delivered to the publishers in 1959."—Foreword.

- I757 Lapiner, Alan. Pre-Columbian art of South America. N.Y., Abrams, 1976. 460p. il. (part col., part mounted), maps.

An older work, the text of which has been superseded, but with illustrations of objects then in private hands which are not often reproduced elsewhere. Remains the most current overview of the arts of the entire continent.

Contents: Peru; Ecuador; Colombia-Venezuela; Bolivia-Argentina-Chile; Brazil.

Visual glossary, p.453–54. Bibliography, p.455–59.

- I758 Maya. Ed. by Peter Schmidt, Mercedes de la Garza, Enrique Nalda. [Milan], Bompiani, 1998. 695p. col. il. (part folded), col. maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Palazzo Grassi, Venice (1998–99). The most exhaustive treatment of the Maya to date. Signed and illustrated catalog entries for 514 objects; 29 signed essays cover the history, cosmology, and major arts of the Maya (architecture, epigraphy, portable objects and ceramics); and the archeological sites of Copán, Tikal, Chichén Itzá, Uxmal, and Calakmul.

Timeline, p.[651–59]. Glossary, p.[661]–70. Maya gods, p.671. Bibliography, p.672–82. Index of names, 683–94.

- I759 Morley, Sylvanus Griswold, and Brainerd, George W. The ancient Maya. 5th ed. rev. by Robert J. Sharer. Stanford, Stanford Univ. Pr., 1994. xx, 892p. il., maps, plans.

See GLAH 1:I622 for original annotation and previous eds.; 4th ed. 1983.

- I760 The Olmec world: ritual and leadership. With essays by Michael D. Coe . . . [et al.] Principal photographers, John Bigelow Taylor, Justin Kerr, and Bruce M. White. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Art Museum (Distr. by Abrams, 1995). xi, 344p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Princeton University Art Museum (1995), and other locations. Eight essays focus on the ritual use of the small-scale Olmec stone carvings. Catalog is divided into eight thematic categories and contains 252 entries with extensive descriptive notes and bibliographical references.

Contents: Preparing the way, by David A. Friedel; Olmec archaeology, by Richard A. Diehl and Michael D. Coe; Art, ritual, and rulership in the Olmec world, by F. Kent Reilly III; Art in Olmec culture, by Carolyn E. Tate; Shamanism, transformation, and Olmec art, by Peter T. Furst; The rain-makers: the Olmec and their contribution to Mesoamerican belief and ritual, by Karl A. Taube; The Olmec mountain and Tree of Creation in Mesoamerican cosmology, by Linda Schele; Rocks and minerals employed by the Olmec as carvings, by George E. Harlow.

Glossary, p.120–22. Bibliography, p.331–37. Index, 338–44.

- I761 Pasztory, Esther. Aztec art. N.Y., Abrams, 1983. 335p. il. (part col.), maps.

"A great asset of this book is the author's intention to include every known major work of Aztec art and as many of the minor pieces as possible. . . . But there are also many relatively unknown objects . . . which have all been brought together and made available in a single volume."—Review, Archaeology, v.37, Nov.–Dec. 1984, p.6.

Contents: (1) Historical and cultural background; (2) A definition of Aztec art; (3) Aztec architecture and cliff sculpture; (4) The major monuments of Tenochtitlán; (5) Codices; (6) Stone sculpture; (7) Lapidary arts; (8) Wood sculpture and turquoise mosaic; (9) Featherwork; (10) Terracotta sculpture; (11) Ceramics.

Glossary, p.300–21. Bibliography, p.[312]–22. Index, p.323–34.

- I762 Schele, Linda, and Miller, Mary Ellen. The blood of kings: dynasty and ritual in Maya art. Photographs by Justin Kerr. Fort Worth, Kimbell Art Museum; N.Y., Braziller, 1986. xii, 335p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Kimbell Art Museum (1986), and other locations. Controversial at the time of publication for de-romanticizing the Maya (for some scholars unflatteringly). The benchmark for modern Maya scholarship. "A combination of exhibition catalog and polemic, the book argues for a pervasive use of blood-sacrifice and blood iconography in the classic period."—Review, Handbook of Latin American studies, v.49, 1989.

Contents: Introduction; (1) The royal person; (2) Kingship and the rites of accession; (3) Courtly life; (4) Bloodletting and the vision quest; (5) Warfare and captive sacrifice; (6) The ballgame; (7) Death and the journey to Xibalba; (8) Kingship and the Maya cosmos; The Maya calendar; The hieroglyphic writing system.

Suggestions for further reading, p.329. Index, p.330–35.

- I763 Taíno: Pre-Columbian art and culture from the Caribbean. Ed. by Fatima Bercht . . . [et al.] With contrib. by Ricardo E. Alegría . . . [et al.] N.Y., Monacelli Pr. and El Museo del Barrio, 1997. 189p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Museo del Barrio (1997–98), the U.S. venue for an exhibition originally held in Paris at the Musée du Petit Palais, 1994. A more lavish but less scholarly treatment appears in its Paris counterpart, L'art des sculpteurs taínos: chefs d'œuvre des Grands Antilles précolombiennes. Sous la dir. de Jacques Kerchache. Paris, Paris-Musées, 1994.

Contents: The Caribbean before European Conquest: a chronology, by Samuel M. Wilson; An introduction to Taíno culture and history, by Ricardo E. Alegría; The daily life of the Taíno people, by Marcio Veloz Maggiolo; The Taíno social and political order, by Samuel M. Wilson; To be seated with "great courtesy and veneration": contextual aspects of the Taíno duho, by Joanna M. Ostapkowicz; The creation myths of the Taíno, by José Juan Arrom; Taíno stone collars, elbow stones, and three-pointers, by Jeffery B. Walker; Zemi three-pointer stones, by Shirley McGinnis; Ancestor worship and cosmology among the Taíno, by Peter E. Siegel; The bat and the owl: nocturnal images of death, by Manuel A. García Arévalo; Just wasting away: Taíno shamanism and concepts of fertility, by Peter G. Roe; Epilogue: The beaded Zemi in the Pigorini Museum, by Dicey Taylor, Marco Biscione, and Peter G. Roe; Appendices, trans. by Susan C. Griswold: Diario del primer viaje, by Christopher Columbus and others; De Orbe Novo Decades, by Pietro Martire d'Anghiera; Apologética histórica de las Indias, by Bartolomé de las Casas.

Bibliography, p.181–89.

- I764 Teotihuacan: art from the city of the gods. Ed. by Kathleen Berrin and Esther Pasztory. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 288p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco (1993). Eleven signed essays contextualize the archeological historiography and the objects uncovered at Teotihuacán. The first section, "Envisioning a city," includes essays on the place of Teotihuacán in the art and archeology of Mexico; the second, "Uncovering the past," includes four essays on the archeological program at Teotihuacán and the conclusions drawn from it; "Beyond Teotihuacán" explores the influence of the culture on subsequent cultures.

Bibliography, p.279–84. Index, p.285–87.

- I765 Trésors du nouveau monde. [Coord. du catalogue, Lin et Emile Deletaille.] Brussels, Musées royaux d'art et d'histoire, 1992. 484p. col. il., maps.

Dutch ed., Schatten uit de nieuwe wereld.

Catalog of the exhibition, Musées royaux d'art et d'histoire (1992). Essentially a "great treasures" book, with 11 brief essays (4–9p. each); nevertheless illustrates more than 500 objects from both continents. Includes illustrated maps and timelines.

- I766 Wardwell, Allen. Tangible visions: Northwest Coast Indian shamanism and its art. N.Y., Monacelli Pr., 1996. vii, 336p. il. (part col.), col. maps.

A sumptuous study of the masks and other ritual carvings associated with shamanistic practice among the Northwest Coast Indians, particularly the Tlingit. "I cannot praise highly enough Wardwell's impeccable scholarship in this book. . . . He has researched the materials on shamanism among the Northwest Coast people superbly, thoroughly scrutinizing virtually every published work on the topic and carefully referencing all sources of information."—Review, American Indian art magazine, v.23, no.1, winter 1997, p.85.

Contents: (1) Problems and parameters; (2) The oldest religion; (3) Visions and spirit quests; (4) Objects of power; (5) Spirit helpers; (6) A collection of shamanistic objects.

Bibliography, p.330–34. Synonymy, p.335.

J. Architecture

This chapter is intended primarily as a general resource for the architectural historian rather than the practicing architect or professional student of architecture. Textbooks and technical manuals are omitted. However, selected bibliographical guides, dictionaries, and directories of importance to the architect are included. Monographic series are generally clustered under the series title. While the coverage of city planning is not deep, landscape architecture is treated more fully than in GLAH 1. Materials on historic preservation may be found in Chapter T, Cultural Heritage. Specialized studies of the history of architectural theory are in Chapter G, Historiography, Methodology, and Theory, early sources and documents in Chapter H, Sources and Documents. Materials on interior design and furniture will be found in Chapter P, Decorative Arts. General dictionaries and encyclopedias of architecture are clustered together, but those addressing specific periods or regions are distributed appropriately among histories and handbooks of those periods and regions. Similarly, directories and biographical dictionaries of architects will be found under the appropriate subject or specialization.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

- J1 American architectural books [microform]: based on the Henry-Russell Hitchcock bibliography of the same title and "A list of architectural books available in America before the revolution," by Helen Park. New Haven, Research Publications, [1973]. 128 microfilm reels.

A collection of reprints, in bibliographic sequence, of all the "meaningfully non-duplicatory items in the Henry Russell Hitchcock [GLAH 1:J11] and Helen Park [GLAH 1:J17] bibliographies. Other-than-first editions were included where the later edition was a meaningful variant."—Introd. 854 of the total 1,431 original Hitchcock entries, and all 87 of the original Park entries are included.

Accompanied by Index to the microfilm edition of American architectural books, comp. by Julie K. Ellison. New Haven, Research Publications, 1973. Index entries follow the original Hitchcock entry numbers, provide reel number, and where a volume or edition was omitted, includes explanatory symbols. Park items are listed by Park number, author, short title, and imprint date, with reel number. An errata list alerts the user to discrepancies and corrections to some reels which were reissued after initial publication.

- J2 Architecture reading lists and course outlines. Ed. by Georgia Bizios. Chapel Hill, Eno River Pr., 1991–(4)v.

Series of thematic compilations of undergraduate and graduate architectural teaching materials, including course syllabi and reading lists, from 28 universities. Later volumes update and revise some previous versions.

Contents: (1) Architectural theory and criticism, urban design theory, architectural history; (2) Architectural design, human behavior, special topics; (3) Architectural design, architectural theory and criticism, environmental issues, human behavior, professional practice, special topics, urban design theory and history; (4) Architectural design, architectural theory, history, criticism, human behavior, professional practice, special topics, urban design theory and history.

- J3 Architecture series: bibliography. Ed. by Judith Vance. Monticello, Ill., Vance Bibliographies. No.1–2386, June, 1978–Dec. 1990.

A wide and impressive array of brief bibliographies (ca. 10–30p.) on all aspects of architecture compiled by hundreds of different authors. Although quality of individual bibliographies varies considerably, most are good starting points for undergraduates or laymen.

Cumulative indexes for: no. 1–1000, June 1978–July 1983, in no. 999 (authors), no. 997 (titles), no. 998 (subjects); no. 1001–2000, July 1983–March 1988, in no. 2001 (authors), no. 2002 (titles), no. 2003 (subjects); no. 2001–2386, March 1988–Dec. 1990, in no. 2384 (authors), no. 2385 (titles), no. 2386 (subjects).

- J4 Art Institute of Chicago. Ryerson and Burnham Libraries. Burnham index to architectural literature. N.Y., Garland, 1989. 10v.

Alphabetical index to 213 U.S. and foreign journals and more than 600 monographs from 1919 to mid-1960s. Emphasis on American Midwest. Includes 160 journals not indexed elsewhere, and retrospective indexing of selected journals to their beginnings prior to 1919. Less than 3% overlap with Avery Index (GLAH 2:J14) for serial titles prior to 1934, and 30% of titles afterward (Pref.). Includes lists of periodicals and monographs indexed.

Access is primarily geographic with cross-references to names of architects.

- J5 Avery's choice: five centuries of great architectural books: one hundred years of an architectural library, 1890–1990. Adolf K. Placzek, general editor. [Foreword by] Angela Giral. N.Y., Hall, [1997]. xxvii, 292p. il. (part col.), plates.

"A record of the most important books on architecture published from 1485 to 1985, selected and described in celebration of the 100th anniversary of [the Avery Architectural and Fine Arts Library of Columbia University]."—Intro.

Eleven scholarly essays by the editor, a former Avery Librarian, and six other architectural historians provide an overview of architectural literature, organized chronologically and by country. Following each essay are signed, extensive, and annotated entries, arranged by country, for the 427 titles included in the beautifully illustrated book.

Contents: Preface, a brief history of the Avery Architectural and Fine Arts Library; Introduction, Avery's choice and the literature of architecture; (1) The rise of the Renaissance; (2) The Renaissance spreads; (3) Classicism and Baroque in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries; (4) North America before 1800; (5) Revivalism, eclecticism and innovation in the nineteenth century; (6) The twentieth century; (7) Introduction to the future.

Author index, p.273–75. Title index, p.277–81. Date index, p.283–92.

- J6 Bamford, Lawrence Von. Design resources: a guide to architecture and industrial design information. Jefferson, N.C., McFarland, 1984. 319p.

Guide to information sources on architectural and industrial design with emphasis on needs of practitioners.

Contents: (1) Printed resources [by form and subject]; (2) Non-print resources [by form]; (3) Special resources and research services.

Subject index, p.265–82. Author and title index, p.283–319.

- J7 Bibliografia di base: storia, teoria e critica dell'architettura. A cura di Giovanni Denti. Firenze, Alinea, 1985. 91p. il. (Saggi e documenti, 47)

Guide to approximately 1,000 Italian language basic books on the history, theory, and criticism of architecture. International coverage, but emphasis on Italy.

Contents: Introduzione e indicazioni per la consultazione; Storia dell'architettura; Testi riguardanti la vita e l'opera di singoli personaggi; Testi riguardanti singole costruzioni e progetti; Testi riguardanti singole città; Fonti e documenti; Teoria e critica dell'architettura; Dizionari.

- J8 British Architectural Library. Architectural publications index, periodicals indexed and books catalogued by the British Architectural Library. v.23, 1995–. London, RIBA, 1995–. Quarterly. The 4th issue is an annual cumulation.

Combines and expands the RIBA Library review of periodicals, 1933–46; the RIBA Library bulletin, 1946–72; the RIBA annual review of periodical articles, 1965–72. Supersedes Architectural periodicals index, 1973–94 (GLAH 1:J20).

An alphabetically arranged subject index to articles in more than 400 worldwide periodicals received in the British Architectural Library (formerly the Royal Institute of British Architects Sir Banister Fletcher Library). Headings are derived from Architectural keywords, London, RIBA, 1982). Subjects covered include both current and historical aspects of architecture and allied arts, construction, design and environmental studies, landscape, and planning, with an emphasis on Great Britain. Generally excludes book reviews, letters, and news items.

Each issue includes a Names index, Subject headings, Topographical and building names index, Periodicals indexed, and since 1989, a list of books cataloged. Cumulative issues also include Major series and special issues indexed.

In addition to print, available on CD-ROM as Architectural publications index on disc, which is updated quarterly and includes more than 200,000 records from 1978–, with 10,000 records added annually. Accompanied by a user manual and quick reference summary.

Also available from online vendor(s).

- J9 ———. British Architectural Library unpublished manuscripts [microform]. London, World Microfilms, 1978. 16 microfilm reels.

"This selection of the R.I.B.A.'s manuscripts is based on the Index prepared by the Royal Historical Commission on Manuscripts." Included are papers, correspondence, account books, etc. of more than 30 prominent 17th- to 20th-century British architects, artisans, and builders, which also provide detailed descriptions of many famous buildings.

Accompanied by British Architectural Library unpublished manuscripts: list of contents and index of reels, 9p., which provides a reference to the National Register of Archives identification code and finding aid and a brief description of each collection.

- J10 ———. Early imprints collection. Early printed books, 1478–1840: catalogue of the British Architectural Library early imprints collection. Comp. by Nicholas Savage . . . [et al.] London, Bowker-Saur, 1994–. (3)v. il.

Contents: (1) A–D (1994); (2) E–L (1995); (3) M–R (1996). 5 vols. projected, including comprehensive index (v.5).

Illustrated catalog of approximately 4,000 titles from one of the world's greatest collections of early architectural incunables, books, and printed ephemera. Several important books are thoroughly cataloged here for the first time. Each entry has a complete, detailed bibliographic description, including contents, copy of the title page, collation, details on the printing and illustrations, other editions, copies in other collections, and physical description. Includes related subjects, such as carpentry, interior design, ornament, perspective, and landscape architecture.

Arranged alphabetically by author. Uniform titles used for translations. Each vol. includes a Guide to the catalogue; Bibliographical references; Abbreviations; List of illustrations; Illustrations, and Catalogue.

The fifth vol. "will be a fully cross-referenced names index, including all authors, publishers, artists and others associated with the publication of each work, and a separate provenance index."—Guide to the catalogue.

- J11 ———. Royal Institute of British Architects rare books collection [microform]. London, World Microfilms, [1975–77]. 35 microfilm reels il., plans.

Microfilm reproductions of 157 16th- to 18th-century rare books from the British Architectural Library.

Contents: (1) English pattern books, 5 reels, 48 vols.; (2) Cottage architecture, 2 reels, 15 vols.; (3) Country houses and palaces, 4 reels, 21 vols.; (4) Ancient civilisation, 4 reels, 18 vols.; (5) Architectural treatises and works on perspective, 20 reels, 55 vols. Accompanied by 5p. list of titles by part and reel.

- J12 Campbell, Cindy. Architects: a guide to biographical sources. In collab. with Jewel Lowenstein. Chicago, Council of Planning Librarians, 1989. 15p. (CPL bibliography, no.233)

Annotated guide to biographical works in architecture located in the Blackader-Lauterman Library of Architecture and Art, McGill University. Excludes works devoted solely to one architect. Includes international sources, and sources by country. Canadian emphasis.

- J13 Columbia University. Libraries. Avery Architectural Library. Architectural trade catalogs from the Avery Library, Columbia University, on microfiche [microform]. N.Y., Clearwater [Distr. by Congressional Information Service, Inc., 1988]. [3,477] microfiches.

Reprints more than 2,000 American architecture and building arts trade catalogs, invaluable documentary sources on the history, technology, and marketing of architecture and building. Catalogs are organized into 16 subject categories using the Sweet's Catalog outline. Within each section, catalogs are organized alphabetically by manufacturer.

Contents: (1) General and miscellaneous; (2) Sitework; (3) Concrete; (4) Masonry; (5) Metals; (6) Wood and plastics; (7) Thermal and moisture protection; (8) Doors and windows; (9) Finishes; (10) Specialties; (11) Equipment; (12) Furnishings; (13) Special construction; (14) Conveying systems; (15) Mechanical; (16) Electrical.

Two printed guides accompany the microfiche: a 1988 loose-leaf accession list and shelf list arranged by Sweet's Catalog categories, and a 236p. Guide to architectural trade catalogs from Avery Library, Columbia University, ed. by Norman A. Ross (Frederick, Md., UPA Academic Editions, 1989), which includes introductory and explanatory information, as well as a guide to the microfiche by Sweet's (building materials) Catalog category, and alphabetical, geographical, chronological, and subject indexes.

- J14 ———. Avery index to architectural periodicals. 2d ed., rev. and enl. Boston, Hall, 1973. 15v.

See GLAH 1:J5 for 1st ed. and previous supplements to the 2d ed.; 3d supplement, 1977–78; 4th supplement, 1979–

1982; 5th supplement, 1983–1984; 6th supplement, 1985–. Annual. Continues without break the seven supplements (1963–72) to the original ed. of the Avery Index. Since 4th supplement, 1984, co-published with the Getty Information Institute.

Index to more than 400 current and approximately 1,000 retrospective periodicals in all areas of architecture and building with additional coverage of archeology, interior design, landscape architecture, and city planning. List of periodicals indexed in front of 1st vol. of each supplement.

A CD-ROM version, Avery index on disc, which is updated annually and cumulative since 1977, has been co-published by G.K. Hall and the Getty Information Institute. Contains approximately 179,000 records; approximately 17,000 added annually.

Also available from online vendor(s).

- J15 ———. Avery obituary index of architects, Columbia University. 2d ed. Boston, Hall, 1980. iii, 530p.

Revises and expands 1st ed. (GLAH 1:J4) through mid-1979, but after 1960 excludes artists. Obituaries after 1979 are incorporated into the Avery index to architectural periodicals (see preceding title).

- J16 Construction index, an annotated annual index of articles in the fields of building design and construction, v.1–, 1987–. Ed., Susan Greenwald. Chicago, ArchiText, 1987–. Annual.

Quarterly, with annual cumulations through v.6; annual, v.7–.

Annotated, selective index to 68 professional and trade journals, including 48 current titles. Emphasis on information of use to practicing professionals in building design and construction.

Arranged by an augmented CSI Masterformat classification, which is explained in Subject headings alphabetical cross reference, special issue, 1989.

Also available online through Iconda (GLAH 2:J20).

- J17 Ehresmann, Donald L. Architecture: a bibliographic guide to basic reference works, histories, and handbooks. Littleton, Colo., Libraries Unlimited, 1984. xvi, 338p.

Annotated bibliography of English- and Western European-language books published between 1875 and 1980 on architectural history available in U.S. libraries. Complements author's Fine arts: a bibliographic guide (GLAH 2:A38) and Applied and decorative arts: a bibliographic guide (GLAH 1:P2).

Contents: (1) Reference works; (2) General histories and handbooks; (3) Primitive and prehistoric; (4) Ancient; (5) Early Christian; (6) Byzantine; (7) Medieval; (8) Renaissance; (9) Baroque and rococo; (10) Modern (19th and 20th cent.); (11) European [by country]; (12) Oriental; (13) New world; (14) Africa and Oceania (with Australia).

Author-title index, p.281–310. Subject index, p.311–38.

- J18 Gretes, Frances C. Directory of international periodicals and newsletters on the built environment. 2d ed. N.Y., Van Nostrand Reinhold, [1992]. xx, 442p.

Updates 1st ed., 1986.

Mostly annotated listing of more than 1,600 titles from 57 countries. Intended to "guide the specialized audience through the maze of international publications," titles selected had substantial number of relevant articles; for foreign titles, had substantial circulation, English summaries, or were indexed in a published or online source; were currently published; and had sufficient bibliographic data available at the time the directory was published (Introd.).

Brief annotations include regular features, where indexed, scope of coverage, language, and type and quality of illustrations. Arranged by broad topics, chapters have subdivisions, where appropriate, to facilitate quick access.

Contents: Introduction; User's guide; (1) Architecture; (2) Office practice; (3) Building types; (4) Historic preservation and architectural history; (5) Interior design; (6) Lighting and signage; (7) Fine arts, decorative arts, and antiques; (8) Planning, urban design, housing, transportation, and the environment; (9) Landscape design and gardening; (10) Building and construction; (11) Building services and systems; (12) Engineering; (13) Real estate development and facility management; (14) Job leads/doing business abroad; Indexes, abstracts, and on-line services.

Alphabetical index, p.357-94. Geographical index, p.395-434. Subject index, p.435-42.

- J19 Harris, Eileen. British architectural books and writers, 1556-1785. Assist. by Nicholas Savage. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., [1990]. 571p. il.

See GLAH 1:J9 for a provisional notice of this publication. Thorough, scholarly catalog, dictionary, and overview of British architectural literature, including non-British writers known through translations, 1556-1785. Following eight essays on the types of books included, publishers and booksellers, and architectural engraving, is the main catalog in dictionary form. "Each writer on architecture is critically discussed in terms of total output, and this assessment is followed by a comprehensive and fully annotated catalogue of editions and works. . . . Serve[s] not only as the most reliable source of facts and further[s] bibliography but also the major, freestanding scholarly essay on [these] subjects."—Review, Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, v.52, March 1993, p.103. The location of each publication in one or more of 136 key collections is also noted.

Contents: Introductory essays: (1) Books on the orders; (2) Books of designs and pattern-books; (3) Carpenters' manuals; (4) Measuring and price books; (5) Books on bridges; (6) Archaeological books; (7) Publishers and booksellers; (8) Architectural engraving; Writers and their books.

Key to the bibliographical format, p.14-15. Abbreviations, p.16-17. Key to the symbols of locations, p.18-21. Notes to the introductory essays, p.64-68. Chronological index of titles and editions 1556 to 1800, p.513-32. Index, p.533-71.

- J20 ICONDA [computer database]. Stuttgart, IRB and [Norwood, Mass.], SilverPlatter, [1991?-.]

CD-ROM. International construction database of the International Council for Building Research Studies and Documentation in collaboration with the Informationszentrum

Raum und Bau of the Fraunhofer-Gesellschaft. Covers world literature of all fields of architectural design, building construction, civil engineering, and city planning from 1976. Emphasis on building research and practice. Includes abstracts and indexing for more than 600 journals (more than 140 of them published in the English language), including Construction index (GLAH 2:J16), plus books, reports, theses, and conference proceedings from more than 48 countries. German emphasis. Approximately 30,000 records and 25,000 abstracts added annually. More than 460,000 records in the database. Citations in English.

Accompanied by thesaurus, FINDEX: facet-oriented indexing system for architecture and construction engineering (Stuttgart, IRB, 1985). Online help and database guides, plus printed manuals available.

Also available from online vendor(s).

- J21 Information sources in architecture and construction. Ed. by Valerie J. Nurcombe. 2d ed. London, Bowker-Saur, [1996]. 489p. (Guides to information sources)

Upd. and exp. ed. of Information sources in architecture, ed. by Valerie J. Bradfield (London, Butterworths, 1983). 2d ed. is international in scope, with strong British emphasis. Evaluates the most helpful and accessible information sources for architecture, construction, and design in all forms, including periodicals, databases, trade literature, standards, maps, and drawings. Acknowledging the built-in obsolescence of such a guidebook, contributors also provide methodologies for information-gathering and keeping up with new publications in their fields of expertise, and provide bibliographies.

Selective contents: (2) Associations, organizations and libraries, by Jeanne M. Brown; (3) Periodicals, by Katharine R. Chibnik; (24) Buildings, people, places: architectural history, by Margaret Culbertson and Mary Nixon; Appendix A [Organizations and associations]; Appendix B [Acronyms and abbreviations].

Index, p.465-89.

- J22 IRB-Literaturdokumentation: LIDO. Stuttgart, IRB Verlag, Spring, 1998-.

Title varies: IRB-Literatursuche, 1988?-98; IRB-Literatursuche plus, 199?-1998.

Irregular series of specialized, annotated bibliographies focusing on important architects, the science, history, and practice of architecture, structural engineering, building, and planning. Each bibliography is produced on demand, often updated and reissued with a different number, and is created from the several databases, including ICONDA (GLAH 2:J20). Subject coverage is international in scope, but German and European in emphasis. Annotations are in German.

- J23 Johns Hopkins University. John Work Garrett Library. The Fowler collection of early architectural books [microform]. New Haven, Research Publications, [1978?]. 86 microfilm reels.

A collection of reprints of 448 rare architectural volumes donated to Johns Hopkins in 1945, plus 36 other important early works added afterward. Although a few influential 19th-century works are included, the majority of the titles date from the 18th, 17th, and 16th centuries. They represent various editions of exemplary works by the great masters of the Renaissance, particularly Vitruvius, Serlio, Vignola, Palladio, and Scamozzi.

Texts are organized alphabetically by author, and within author, chronologically. Accompanied by The Fowler architectural collection of the Johns Hopkins University: catalogue: guide to the microfilm collection comp. by Laurence Hall Fowler and Elizabeth Baer (Woodbridge, Conn., Research Publications, 1982). The guide, a significant contribution to architectural bibliography, provides complete bibliographic information for each title and an index to the original 448 volumes in the collection, plus updates the 1961 ed. of the catalog (GLAH 1:J13; Repr.: San Francisco, Wofsy, 1991) by providing microfilm reel numbers for each title.

- J24 Johnson, Donald Leslie, and Langmead, Donald. Makers of 20th century modern architecture: a bio-critical sourcebook. Westport, Conn., Greenwood Press, [1997]. lxiii, 387p. il., plates.

Biographical dictionary of architects and engineers who "initiated, developed, or advanced" modern (mostly Western) architecture in the 20th century. Includes a substantial introductory essay and overview of 20th-century architecture. Plates with descriptive captions are inserted in the middle of the book.

Each entry provides a brief chronology and biography and a footnoted critical essay, with bibliography. A "coda" contains intriguing quotes.

Contents: Reader's guide [includes a bibliography]; Whither we went [introductory essay]; Abbreviations; Bio-critical studies; Coda; Chronology and founders.

Name index, p.365-75. Place index, p.[377]-87.

- J25 Kaufman, Peter, [and] Gabbard, Paula. American doctoral dissertations in architectural and planning history, 1898-1972. In Studies in the history of art, v.35, 1990, p. 288-313.

Published as appendix to the volume of Studies titled "The Architectural historian in America." "Lists 370 doctoral dissertations completed at 42 American universities up to 1972 in the fields of architectural and planning history."—p.288. Brief essay provides overview of the development of architectural history in America and shifts in academic taste and ideology.

Citations are listed chronologically in separate lists for architectural history (p.291-304) and planning history (p.311-12). Entries provide author, title, university, and where applicable cite abstract in Dissertation abstracts international and order number from University Microfilms International.

University index for architectural history, p.305-08. Author index for architectural history, p.308-10. University index for planning history, p.313. Author index for planning, p.313.

- J26 O'Neal, William B., ed., The American Association of Architectural Bibliographers. Papers. Charlottesville, Univ. of Virginia Pr., v.1-11, 1965-74; v.12-

13, N.Y., Garland, 1977-79. Annual. (Garland reference library of the humanities, v.116-115 [sic])

See GLAH 1:J16 for original annotation and previous vols. Ed., v.12-13, Frederick D. Nichols.

Selective contents: (12) Louis Kahn and Paul Zucker: two bibliographies (1978); (13) Spaeth, David A. Ludwig Mies van der Rohe: an annotated bibliography and chronology (1979).

- J27 Paris. Bibliothèque Forney. L'architecture dans les collections de périodiques de la Bibliothèque Forney. Par Laure Lagardère. Paris, Mairie de Paris, Direction des affaires culturelles, Bibliothèque Forney, [1990]. 179p. il.

Detailed bibliography of the complete collection of architecture, public works, building science and engineering, urbanism, and landscape periodical titles in the Bibliothèque Forney. Excludes contemporary reprints (except for De Stijl) and includes many titles unique to this rich, international (mostly French) collection. Details of dates, format, frequency, language, contents, indexes, and holdings are provided for each title. Chronological arrangement by decade for "revues anciennes," and broad subject arrangement for "revues contemporaines," which are also divided into "française" and "étrangère."

Liste chronologique, p.145-59. Tableau synoptique, p.161-63. Index alphabetique général, p.167-79.

- J28 Russell, Terence. The built environment, a subject index 1800-1960. [Surrey, U.K.], Gregg [Distr. by Gower, Brookfield, Vt., 1989]. 4v.

Bibliographic survey of all aspects of the built environment. More than 70,000 entries, international in scope, but British in emphasis. Includes books, conference proceedings, pamphlets, significant periodical titles. Within each subject category entries are arranged chronologically.

Contents: (1) Town planning and urbanism: architecture; gardens and landscape design; (2) Environmental technology; constructional engineering; building and materials; (3) Aesthetics; decorative art and industrial design; international exhibitions and collections; recreational and performing arts; (4) Public health; municipal services; community welfare.

- J29 Saggi e documenti. Sezione bibliografie di architettura e urbanistica, n. 1- , 1986/87(?)-. Firenze, Alina, 1986/87(?)-. Irregular. Ed. by Giovanni Denti. Continues: Biblioteca di architettura, saggi e documenti, 1-25, 1975-1986(?), Firenze, Uniedit.

Italian-language in-depth bibliographies on subjects as diverse as Frank Lloyd Wright, architectural technology, industrialized building, and Le Corbusier, each compiled by an expert in that field. Scope of literature varies with subject and volume, although heavy emphasis on Italian sources.

- J30 Schimmelman, Janice Gayle. Architectural books in early America: architectural treatises and building handbooks available in American libraries and bookstores through 1800. New Castle, Del., Oak Knoll Pr., 1999. ix, 221p.

1st ed. (Worcester, Mass., American Antiquarian Society, 1986) bore present subtitle only. Appeared originally in Pro- ceedings of the American Antiquarian Society, v.95 pt.2, Oct., 1985, p.317-500.

A list of 147 "European architectural books available in America through 1800" and of " . . . all eighteenth-century libraries and bookstores that either circulated or sold architectural books."—Introd. Expands and "clarifies" Helen Park's List of architectural books available in America before the Revolution (GLAH 1:J17) by adding 65 titles.

Arranged alphabetically by author and treatise, with English translations and variant titles, as well as references for each title to other important bibliographies of publications available in early America.

Contents: Checklist; Appendix A, Publication dates and imprints of books cited, in order of number of references, p.163-76; Appendix B, Treatises listed by date of earliest American catalogue reference, p.177-83; Appendix C, Treatises listed alphabetically by individual library or firm, p.184-205; Appendix D, Libraries and booksellers listed in order of the size of their collections, p.206-10.

Bibliography, p.211-12. Index to checklist, p.213-21.

- J31 Stiverson, Cynthia Zignego. Architecture and the decorative arts: the A. Lawrence Kocher Collection of Books at the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation. Introd. by Lawrence Wodehouse. Foreword by Albert Frey. West Cornwall, Conn., Locust Hill Pr., 1989. xli, 245p.

Catalog of the 462 books Kocher, architect, educator, and one-time editor of Architectural record, amassed for research on colonial American architecture. It includes early and rare practical architectural design books, influential treatises and pattern books, and books known to have been in the libraries of colonists, but also books on the social life and aesthetics of English and American life from 1607 through the early 20th century.

Entries are alphabetical by author, with complete citations, physical and binding details, collation, provenance, and information on the first edition. References to other architectural bibliographies are noted.

Contents: Key to abbreviations; Sources consulted for Virginia associations; Bibliography of additional sources; Publications by and about A. Lawrence Kocher; Catalogue of the Kocher collection.

Index, p.227-45.

- J32 Twentieth century building materials, 1900-1950: an annotated bibliography. Comp. by George M. Bleekman III . . . [et al.] Washington, D.C., U.S. Dept. of the Interior, National Park Service, Preservation Assistance Division. For sale by the U.S. G.P.O., Supt. of Docs., 1993. iv, 52p. il. (NPS reading list)

Annotated bibliography of information on building materials introduced or significantly developed during the first half of the 20th century. Includes books, periodical articles, government publications, professional reports, and product information.

Contents: General building materials: background information; Classifications of materials; Construction systems; Additional resources.

- J33 United States. National Gallery of Art. The Mark J. Millard architectural collection. Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art; N.Y., Braziller, [1993- ]. (3)v. il.

Scholarly, well-illustrated catalog of the National Gallery's Mark J. Millard collection, one of the "finest collections of rare illustrated books and bound series of prints on Western European architecture, design, and topography. The collection, approximately 560 titles in more than 750 volumes, focuses on the most beautiful and influential prints and books published between the end of the fifteenth century and the beginning of the nineteenth century."—Pref.

Entries are listed alphabetically by author, then chronologically, and contain a complete bibliographic description and a catalog text, plus details on publishing history, binding, and provenance.

Contents: (1) French books, sixteenth through nineteenth centuries. Introduction and catalogue, Dora Wiebenson; bibliographic description, Claire Baines (1993); (2) British books, seventeenth through nineteenth centuries. Catalogue entries, Robin Middleton . . . [et al.]; bibliographic descriptions, Claire Baines, Gerald Beasley (1998); (3) Northern European books, sixteenth to early nineteenth centuries. Introd. essay, Harry Mallgrave; bibliographic descriptions, Gerald Beasley . . . [et al.] (1998); (4) Italian and Spanish books, fifteenth through nineteenth centuries. Essays and introd., Martha Pollak; bibliographic descriptions, Claire Baines . . . [et al.] (2000).

- J34 Viaro, Alain M., and Ziegler, Arlette. Architectures traditionnelles dans le monde: repérages bibliographiques. [Paris], UNESCO, [1984?] ix, 118p. (Établissements humains et environnement socio-culturel)

Partially annotated bibliography of worldwide vernacular architecture from mostly French, British, and American articles and books, including many social science sources, up to ca. 1983. Emphasis on Africa and Asia. Includes several thousand citations, all of which provide publication source.

Arranged by continent, then country. Large section of general sources on vernacular architecture, environment, ethnology, geography, religion, and urbanism.

- J35 Ward, Jack W. Construction information source and reference guide: books, manuals, handbooks, reports, studies, associations, societies, institutes, labor unions, trade journals, newsletters, periodicals, computerized information retrieval, publishing houses & book sources. 4th ed. Phoenix, Construction Publications, 1981. ix, 474p.

1st ed., 1966; 2d ed., 1970; 3d ed., 1973.

Extensive guide to practical information sources on building and construction.

Contents: (1) Books, manuals, handbooks, reports, studies (divided by topic); (2) Associations, societies, institutes; (3) Labor unions; (4) Trade journals, newsletters, periodicals; (5) Computerized information retrieval; (6) Publishing houses and book sources.

- J36 Wayne, Kathryn M. Architecture sourcebook: a guide to resources on the practice of architecture. Detroit,

Omnigraphics, [1997]. 417p. (Design reference series, 2)

Thorough guide to the literature for practicing American architects, plus methods for researching newer material on the subject.

Part one, Building types has 14 chapters on different building types. Each chapter includes Library of Congress subject headings, introductory reference sources, names and addresses of relevant associations, bibliographies, books and periodical titles, and selected articles on that topic. Part two, Additional reference sources, has a chapter each on core collections of Dictionaries and encyclopedias; Indexes, Handbooks and manuals, and Periodicals. Appendix I, Architecture collections in the United States. Appendix II, Publication sources.

Author/title index, p.363–403. Subject index, p.405–17.

- J37 Wodehouse, Lawrence. Indigenous architecture worldwide: a guide to information sources. Detroit, Gale Research, [1980]. x, 392p. (Art and architecture information guide series, 12) (Gale information guide library)

Partially annotated bibliography of English-language literature published through 1977 on worldwide vernacular architecture, including hundreds of books, the Encyclopedia of world art (GLAH 1:E4), Architectural review (GLAH 1:Q42), Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians (GLAH 1:Q322), and National geographic. Citations note presence of illustrative materials.

Contents: (1) Indigenous architecture worldwide [with introductory bibliographic essay, and bibliographies for general material, and for continent, divided by country]; (2) The vernacular as a nineteenth-century revival style and an influence in twentieth-century architecture [essay, with introduction, selection of general reference works, and bibliographies on architects]. Appendix: The use of the National geographic magazine as a research tool.

Author indexes, p.305–20. Title index, p.321–40. Geographic and building location index, p.341–55. Subject index, p.357–92.

SEE ALSO: Architecture in manuscript, 1601–1996: guide to the British Architectural Library manuscripts and archives collection (GLAH 2:H77); Architecture on screen: films and videos on architecture, landscape architecture, historic preservation, city and regional planning (GLAH 2:D32); Doumato, Architecture and women: a bibliography (GLAH 2:J439); Goode's bibliography: doctoral dissertations relating to American architectural history, 1897–1995 (GLAH 2:J440); Institut français d'architecture. Archives d'architecture du XXe siècle (GLAH 2:J271); Sharp, Sources of modern architecture (GLAH 2:J206).

nisch-russisch-slowakisch = Architecture: building construction—urban planning and design: pictorial thesaurus and dictionary English-German-Hungarian-Polish-Russian-Slovakian [Hrsg. Eduard Führ. Autoren, Subhash Anand . . . [et. al.] Düsseldorf, Werner-Verlag, 1996. 502p. il.

Pictorial thesaurus in six languages is the result of a four-year research project with participants from the United States, Germany, Hungary, Poland, the Ukraine, and the Slovak Republic. Terms, many illustrated, are systematically arranged according to subject area in the thesaurus. Separate alphabetical index for each language.

- J39 Ballast, David Kent. The Encyclopedia of associations and information sources for architects, designers, and engineers. [Armonk, N.Y.], Sharpe Professional, [1998]. 814p. + CD-ROM.

Broad array of information sources for professionals, covering architectural history, building, preservation, and practice. Entries for organizations include full address, e-mail, and internet addresses, as well as description of each organization. A separate section describes publications and services of the organizations. Chapters on journals and newsletters include description of each, subscription information, where indexed, and whether document delivery is available.

Contents: (1) Associations and organizations; (2) Resources of associations and organizations; (3) Journals; (4) Newsletters; (5) Online databases; (6) CD-ROMs; (7) Research organizations and testing laboratories; (8) Directories; (9) Indexes to periodicals; (10) Federal government information sources; (11) World Wide Web sites; (12) Indexes:

Keywords, p.655–73; Name index, p.675–702; Index of titles of association resources, p.703–97; Acronym index, p.799–812; MasterFormat index, p.813–14. CD-ROM provides full-text and Boolean searches.

- J40 Bianchina, Paul. Illustrated dictionary of building materials and techniques, an invaluable sourcebook of the tools, terms, materials, and techniques used by building professionals. N.Y., Wiley, [1993]. xi, 238p. il.

1st. ed. Blue Ridge Summit, Penn., TAB Books, 1986.

4,500 definitions and cross-references arranged alphabetically, with grouping of like terms under a single heading, e.g., "window" is divided into 24 sub-parts (bay window, bow window, etc.), each with its own definition.

Contents: Dictionary; Appendixes: Common abbreviations; Conversions, tables, weights; Building and framing information; Lumber and plywood information; Hardware information; Electrical information.

Bibliography of sources, p.237–38.

- J41 Ching, Frank. A visual dictionary of architecture. N.Y., Van Nostrand Reinhold, [1995]. 319p. il.

Organized by broad clusters that reflect basic aspects of architecture, which are detailed in the table of contents. Encourages browsing but also permits instant access through a comprehensive alphabetical index of terms (p.285–318). Important and interesting quotes about architecture (p.319). Thousands of clear illustrations are an integral part of the dictionary.

DICTIONARIES AND ENCYCLOPEDIAS

- J38 Architektur: Hochbau—Stadtplanung und Städtebau: Bildfachwörterbuch englisch-deutsch-ungarisch-pol-

- J42 Construction dictionary. 9th ed. [Phoenix, Ariz.], Greater Phoenix Arizona Chapter #98 of the National Association of Women in Construction, [1996]. viii, 634p. il.
[1st ed.], 1966; rev. ed., 1968; [3d ed.], 1973; 4th ed., 1978; 5th. ed., 1981; 6th. ed., 1985; 7th ed., 1989; 8th ed., 1991.
More than 15,000 terms and 16,000 definitions of specialized, slang, and obscure construction terms. Contents: Dictionary of construction terms and abbreviations; Construction associations and government agencies; Facts and figures; Architectural and engineering symbols.
- J43 Contemporary architects. Ed. by Muriel Emanuel. 3d ed. N.Y., St. James, 1994. xix, 1,125p. il. (Contemporary arts series).
[1st] ed., 1980; 2d ed., 1987.
Includes 585 architects, engineers, theorists, and landscape architects worldwide who worked in the last 50 years or who influenced 20th-century architecture. Each entry has a brief biography, chronological list of works, selected list of exhibitions and publications by and about, statement by the architect when provided, and an evaluative essay. Many entries accompanied by photographs or illustrations of major works.
Index of 1,000 major public buildings by designers included in the book is arranged by country, then city, p.1089–1116. Notes on advisers and contributors, p.1119–24.
- J44 Cowan, Henry J., and Smith, Peter R. Dictionary of architectural and building technology. With contrib. by José Carlos Damski . . . [et al.] N.Y., Spon, [1998]. ix, 263p. il.
[1st ed.] based on Cowan's Dictionary of architectural science, London, Applied Science, 1973; [Rev. and exp. ed.], Dictionary of architectural and building technology, N.Y., Elsevier, 1986.
Comprehensive dictionary of architectural and building technology, including measurements, building materials, construction, facility management, solar energy, and computer terms. It excludes timber-related terminology. Includes 3,500 terms, 2,000 newly added, with appropriate cross references. Emphasis on British, Australian, and American terms.
- J45 Curl, James Stevens. Encyclopaedia of architectural terms, with illustrations by the author and John J. Sambrook. London, Donhead, [1997]. xii, 352p. il.
"Introduction to the vocabulary used to describe our built heritage so that the basic architectural elements can be identified."—Pref. British emphasis. Includes historical terms and many illustrations.
Bibliography, p.349–52.
- J46 Dictionary of building preservation. Ed. by Ward Bucher. Christine Madrid, illustration ed. N.Y., Preservation Press; Wiley, 1996. x, 560p. il.
"Intended to serve two main purposes: first, to clarify the specialized terms used in the preservation field in the United States and Canada; and second, to allow a recorder to fully describe a historic resource."—Introd.
Bibliography, p.555–60.
- J47 Dictionnaire de l'architecture du XXe siècle. Sous la dir. de Jean-Paul Midant. [Paris], Hazan; Institut français d'architecture, [1996]. 987p. il. (part col.)
Well-illustrated, pithy, and signed entries on architects, movements, terms, and subjects concerning 20th-century architecture. International in scope. Covers 1,800 architects. Each entry includes bibliographic reference.
Les Auteurs, p.xii–xiii. Liste des entrées, p.xiv–xx, arranged by country.
- J48 Elsevier's dictionary of architecture in five languages: English, French, Spanish, German, and Dutch. Comp. by J.-P. Vandenberghe. Amsterdam, Elsevier, 1988. x, 519p. il.
Significant architectural terms used in European practice. No definitions.
"Basic table" gives English/American terms with their French, Spanish, German, and Dutch equivalents. Separate sections for French, Spanish, German, and Dutch terms with reference to their entries in the Basic table.
Bibliography, p.ix–x. Illustrations, p.507–19.
- J49 Enciclopedia dell'architettura Garzanti. Milan, Garzanti, 1996. 1036p. il., plans, plates.
Italian encyclopedia of architecture and architects, compiled by Italian scholars, but with an international focus. Emphasis on 20th century.
The bulk of the publication is the well-illustrated dictionary with entries ranging from very brief to rather long. Forty pages of photographic plates illustrating 16 major building types are inserted in the middle of the dictionary. Following the encyclopedia and called "Appendici" are two additional sections, the first a chronologically arranged essay by Enrico Morteo, "Storia dell'architettura," (p.[965]–1024), with 72 pages of photographic plates. The last section is the "Bibliografia" (p.[1025]–1036), a bibliographic essay by Luciano Patetta, organized into "Trattati, manuali, teorie di architettura" and "Storia e critica dell'architettura."
Indice, p.[1037].
- J50 Encyclopedia of architectural technology. Ed. by Pedro Guedes. N.Y., McGraw-Hill, [1979]. 313p. il.
British ed. Macmillan encyclopedia of architecture and technological change. London, Macmillan, 1979.
Covers in non-technical language "architectural technology, architectural sociology, and architectural development" for a "new perspective" and understanding of architecture.—Introd. 30 authors contributed to the publication, which has more than 800 illustrations. Entries, organized into six topical sections, provide concise historical overviews.
Contents: (1) Stylistic periods and geographical adaptations; (2) Built forms and building types; (3) Structures—ideas, elements, structural systems, and the processes of erecting buildings; (4) Services, mechanical and environmental systems; (5) Building materials; (6) Tools, techniques, and fixings.
Index, p.[314–20].

- J51 Encyclopedia of architecture, design, engineering & construction. Joseph A. Wilkes, ed.-in-chief. Robert T. Packard, assoc. ed. N.Y., Wiley, [1988-90]. 5v. il. (Wiley-Interscience publication)

Published in conjunction with the American Institute of Architects. Multi-purpose source for architectural history, design, practice, and construction with selective and uneven coverage by more than 500 contributors.

Most entries have bibliographies. Alphabetical arrangement, with Supplement in vol.5 for articles that missed initial deadline and new topics (p.442-659).

Index, v.5, p.661-808.

- J52 Encyclopedia of building technology. Ed. by Henry J. Cowan. Englewood Cliffs, N.J., Prentice Hall, [1988]. xxii, 322p. il.

210 alphabetical articles in non-technical language by 161 international architectural, construction, and building experts. Each entry has a bibliography and cross-references to related articles. Includes list of contributors.

Abbreviations, p.xx. Index to contributors, p.311. General index, p.313-22.

- J53 Fantastici, Agostino. Vocabolario di architettura: prima edizione completa dal manoscritto autografo di Agostino Fantastici. A cura e con un saggio di Gianni Mazzoni. Fiesole (Firenze), Cadmo, [1994]. 429p. il, col. plates. (Esedra, 6)

1,357 architectural, building, and civil engineering terms in use in Tuscany in the first half of the 18th century. Definitions compiled by architect-designer Fantastici (1782-1845) from the many early and classical treatises he used in his own work, and published together for the first time from the original manuscripts now in the Biblioteca Comunale degli Intronati di Siena.

Contents: Vocabolario di architettura; L'architetto Agostino Fantastici nella cultura del suo tempo di Gianni Mazzoni.

Note [bibliography], p.397-412. Indice analitico, p.415-29.

- J54 Fleming, John; Honour, Hugh; and Pevsner, Nikolaus. The Penguin dictionary of architecture and landscape architecture. 5th ed. [London], Penguin, [1998]. vii, 643, [1]p. il., plans.

See GLAH 1:J26 for 2d ed.; 3d ed., 1980; 4th ed., [1991].

Revises and expands previous ed. to include "contemporary architects who have recently become prominent internationally" (Foreword), and for the first time landscape architecture. Bibliographies included in most entries. Occasional line drawings or plans.

Bibliographic abbreviations, p.639-43.

- J55 Forbes, J. R. Dictionnaire d'architecture et de construction = Dictionary of architecture and construction. Pref. de M. Brackenbury. 3e éd. rev. et augm. N.Y., Lavoisier, [1995]. 439, [3]p.

Expands 1st ed. 1984, 2d ed., 1988, with 5,000 additional terms.

French-English and English-French dictionary of historical and contemporary terms useful in architectural practice, restoration, landscape, environment, building, and construction. Where appropriate, distinguishes between American and British English usage.

Includes list of abbreviations.

- J56 Gelbrich, Uli. Dictionary of architecture and building, English-German. N.Y., Elsevier, 1989. 418p. 30,000 English-language terms commonly used in architecture and construction with their German equivalents.

Abkürzungen und Kurzwörter, p.413-18.

- J57 Glossary of urban form. Ed. by Peter J. Larkham and Andrew N. Jones. [Birmingham, Ala.], Urban Morphology Research Group, School of Geography, University of Birmingham, [1991]. 98p. il. (Historical geography research series, no. 26)

Recent terms, international and interdisciplinary, used in all aspects of urban morphology, including the environmental aspects of architecture, urbanization, city planning, and land use. Bibliographic references for most entries, with explanation of origins and country of primary use. Scholarly bibliographic introduction provides history and evolution of urban morphology research and terminology.

Selective contents: Introduction: Urban form, urban morphology and urban historical geography, by Peter J. Larkham, p.1-8; Index: Glossary terms indexed by main headings; Glossary.

References, p.86-98.

- J58 González Licón, Héctor Javier, and Julio César Márquez Díaz. Glosario de terminos tecnico arquitectonicos. [Morelia, Michoacán, Universidad Michoacana de San Nicolás de Hidalgo, Escuela de Arquitectura, Secretaría de Difusión Cultural, Ed. Universitaria, [1994]. 194p.

Glossary of technical architectural terms in Mexican usage. Bibliografía, p.193-94.

- J59 Greene, Fayal. The anatomy of a house: a picture dictionary of architectural and design elements. Illustrations by Bonita Bavetta. N.Y., Doubleday, [1991]. 108p. il.

Layman's pictorial dictionary of hundreds of the parts of a house arranged by element, e.g., roof, window, floors, etc.

Extensive table of contents, but no index. Includes directory of sources and resources (p.95-105).

Bibliography of helpful books and magazines, p.107-08.

- J60 Hardwick, Benjamin [und] Manfred Markus. Bauen und Architektur = Building and architecture: 4000 words thematically arranged. Essen, Verlag Die Blaue Eule, [1994]. 174p. il. + 1 computer disk. (English for specific purposes, Bd. 1)

English-German vocabulary of wide-ranging architecture and building terms concentrating on contemporary practice. Includes IBM-compatible computer diskette containing the word lists and indexes.

Footnotes provide etymology, and phonetic symbols aid in pronunciation of English terms. A list of abbreviations and phonetic symbols is included. Arranged into 3 major themes, and several subdivisions under each, with English and German equivalents for each term: (I) General aspects of building and architecture; (II) Small conventional houses; (III) Other buildings and structures.

German-English index, p.119-46. English-German index, p.147-74.

- J61 Harris, Cyril M., ed. Dictionary of architecture & construction. 3d ed., N.Y., McGraw-Hill, 2000. ix, 1028p. il.

See GLAH 1:J27 for 1st ed.; 2d ed. 1993.

Revised, updated, and comprehensive source for authoritative definitions of more than 24,500 terms compiled from numerous professional, standards, and trade associations related to architecture and building. Includes 2,200 line drawings.

- J62 ———, ed. Historic architecture sourcebook. N.Y., McGraw-Hill, [1977]. viii, 581p. il. (Repr.: N.Y., Dover, 1983.)

Definitions of 5,000 terms relating to historic architecture, including ancient [i.e., ancient Near Eastern, Egyptian], Greek and Hellenistic, Roman, Early Christian, Chinese, Japanese, Indian, Islamic, Mesoamerican, Romanesque, Gothic, Renaissance, and modern. Includes 2,100 line drawings.

- J63 The Illustrated encyclopedia of architects and architecture. Ed. by Dennis Sharp. N.Y., Whitney Library of Design, [1991]. 256p. il. (part. col.)

Section 1 is an international biographical dictionary of well-known architects, historic and contemporary, with brief bibliographic references and lists of their major buildings. Section 2, "Architecture and the history of ideas," consists of 8 brief, well-illustrated essays that place architects in their context. Cross references refer the reader to biographical entries.

Glossary of terms, p.246-49. Index of names, major buildings, and projects, p.250-56.

- J64 International dictionary of architects and architecture. Ed. by Randall J. Van Vynckt. European consultant, Doreen Yarwood. Photo and graphic researcher, Suhail Butt. Detroit, St. James Press, [1993]. 2v., il., plans.

"Features 523 architects and 467 buildings and sites that have figured prominently in Western architectural history."—Introd. (1) Architects is a biographical dictionary with a chronology of major works, brief bibliography of works by and about the architect, and a signed critical essay for each entry. (2) Architecture consists of geographically arranged signed essays with bibliographies, organized by continent, and then country, except for the first section, "Classical sites and monuments."

Each vol. has indexes by architect name, building or site name, and geographic location, as well as notes on contributors.

- J65 Jones, Frederic H. The concise dictionary of architectural and design history. Los Altos, Calif., Crisp, [1992]. 344p.

All-purpose dictionary of approximately 2,000 names and terms in two parts: first, a dictionary of terms, and second, a dictionary of architects and designers.

- J66 Kadatz, Hans-Joachim. Seemanns Lexikon der Architektur. [Leipzig], Seemann, [1994]. 262, [2]p. il. Updated ed. of Wörterbuch der Architektur (1980). More than 2,000 terms, including names. Includes cross references to other entries, and for historical terms, gives origins and period of usage. Well illustrated.

Literaturhinweise, p.[263].

- J67 Koepf, Hans. Bildwörterbuch der Architektur. Dritte Aufl. überarb. von Günther Binding. Mit eng., franz. und ital. Fachglossar. Stuttgart, Kröner, 1999. 634p. il.

1st ed. 1968; 2d ed. 1974.

Terminological dictionary followed by an illustrated appendix of architectural forms, historically arranged, and a glossary of English, French, and Italian technical terms.

Abbildungen von Prototypen der Baukunst, p.511-35. Literaturverzeichnis, p.[536]-54. Fremdsprachiges Fachglossar, p.[555]-634.

- J68 Leva Pisto, Mila. Il nomenclatore di architettura. [Progetto e realizzazione del testo, Mila Leva Pisto, Marina Molino e Maria Maddalena Piovesana. Voci di urbanistica e pianificazione territoriale, Riccardo Bedrone]. Torino, Rosenberg & Sellier, [1993]. 318p. il.

Well-illustrated Italian dictionary of more than 2,200 terms for the history and practice of architecture, building, and urban design, with phonetic pronunciations.

Includes list of abbreviations, p.6.

- J69 Lever, Jill, and Harris, John. Illustrated dictionary of architecture, 800-1914. [2d ed.] London, Faber and Faber, [1993]. 218p. il., 317 plates.

Exp. and rev. ed. of GLAH 1:J28.

- J70 Macmillan encyclopedia of architects. Adolf K. Placzek, ed. in chief. N.Y., Free Pr., [1982]. 4v. il.

Essential dictionary of more than 2,400 critical biographies by recognized scholars. Each entry includes a chronology of major works and bibliography by and about each architect. Covers architects (and landscape architects, planners and a few critics) born before 31 December 1930, or deceased at the date of publication.

In addition to an introductory essay, there is a list of biographies, directory of contributors, chronological table of contents, general bibliography, glossary, index of names, and index of works.

- J71 Maliszewski-Pickart, Margaret. Architecture and ornament: an illustrated dictionary. Jefferson, N.C., McFarland, [1998]. x, 198p. il.

A dictionary and an overview of architectural ornament and detailing, with an appendix on how to describe architecture. The first part, 131 clearly labeled plates of illustrations arranged by building part, e.g., windows and doors, walls, stairs, etc., allows readers to visually identify a building element in a series of illustrations. Once the building element is identified, it can be located in the dictionary part.

Contents: How to use this book; Illustrations; Dictionary; Appendix: Describing architecture.

Selected bibliography, p.197-98.

- J72 Means illustrated construction dictionary. Ed. by Kornelis Smit & Howard M. Chandler. Illustrations by Carl W. Linde. New unabridged ed. Kingston, Mass., R.S. Means, 1991. vii, 691p. il.

Terms in everyday usage in current U.S. construction trades and professions. Illustrated throughout. Abbreviations beginning with each letter of the alphabet precede the definitions for that section.

- J73 Müller, Werner. DTV-Atlas zur Baukunst: Tafeln und Texte. Tafeln, Entwurf, Gunther Vogel. Ausführung, Inge und István Szász. Originalausg., 9. Aufl. München, Deutscher Taschenbuch, 1992. 2v. il. chiefly col., maps, plans, elev.

1. Aufl. Bd. 1, 1974, Bd. 2, 1981. French-ed.

- J74 Atlas d'architecture mondiale: Mésopotamie, Egypte, Egée, Grèce, Rome, Byzance. [Paris], Stock, 1978. 2v.

Profusely illustrated pictorial encyclopedia of the history of world architecture. Chronological arrangement and detailed index for each vol.

Contents: (1) Allgemeiner Teil, Baugeschichte von Mesopotamien bis Byzanz: Verzeichnis der Abkürzungen und Fachausdrücke, Einleitung, Architektur als autonomer Prozess, Bauelemente, Bauwerk als Organismus, Architektur als geschichtsbedingte Form, Mesopotamien, Ägypten, Ägäis, Hellas, Rom, Frühes Christentum; Rom und Byzanz/Neuorientierung der antiken Kunst; (2) Baugeschichte von der Romanik bis zur Gegenwart: Einleitung, Mittelalter, Neuzeit I, Neuzeit II, 20. Jahrhundert/Drei Generationen der modernen Architektur, Gegenwart: Strömungen und Tendenzen.

Literatur- und Quellenverzeichnis, v.1, p.274-77, v.2, p.565-73. Register, v.1, p.278-88, v.2, p.574-600.

- J75 Multilingual dictionary of architecture and building terms. Ed. by Chris Grech. N.Y., Spon, [1998]. xxi, 453p.

2,644 key terms used in building design and construction in English, French, German, Spanish, and Italian. Emphasis on terms used in the design office and on routine building work. European emphasis.

Part I, Translations, is a numerical list of English-language terms with their French, German, Italian, and Spanish equivalents across each 2-page spread. Part II, Word indexes, consists of 4 separate alphabetical word lists in French, German, Italian, and Spanish with references to the entry number of the English listing in Part I.

- J76 Oudin, Bernard. Dictionnaire des architectes. Nouv. éd., rev. et augm. [3d ed.] [Paris], Seghers, [1994]. 664p. il.

1st ed., 1970; 2d ed., 1982.

Worldwide coverage of more than 1,000 architects from all periods. Brief biographical entries with summaries of major buildings and contribution to field.

Illustrated glossary, p.561-77. Geographic index to buildings, alphabetical by country, then state and city, p.579-64.

- J77 Paniagua Soto, José Ramón. Vocabulario básico de arquitectura. 8a ed. [Madrid], Cátedra, [1996]. 339 [69]p. il., plates. (Cuadernos Arte Cátedra, 4)

Spanish language dictionary of more than 3,500 Castilian terms used in the history and practice of architecture. Etymology is given for each word, along with synonyms, most commonly accepted usage, and cross references to related terms and plates, where appropriate.

Bibliografía para el estudio de las voces castellanas referentes al campo de la arquitectura, p.17-23.

- J78 Perspectives: an anthology of 1001 architectural quotations. Ed. by Charles Kneivitt. Illus. by Louis Hellman. Foreword by Sir Hugh Casson. Atlantic Highlands, N.J. (Distr. in the U.S.A. and Canada by Humanities Press, [1986]). 159p. il.

"Dictionary" of architectural quotations from a wide range of architects, critics and surprising other people, such as Pasternak, Orwell, and John Milton.

Arranged in 14 categories (e.g., Architecture is . . . ; Theory; Critics; Town, City, Suburb; etc.).

Index of sources, p.155-58. Index of themes, p.159.

- J79 Plazola Cisneros, Alfredo. Enciclopedia de arquitectura Plazola. Coautores, Alfredo Plazola Anguiano y Guillermo Plazola Anguiano. [Estado de Mexico], Plazola Editores, 1994-. (8)v. il., plans, plates (part col.)

Expanded, corrected and retitled ed. of vols. II and III of Arquitectura habitacional, 2a ed, Mexico, Editorial Limusa, 1990. 10v. projected.

Spanish-language encyclopedia of worldwide architecture and architects, including biographies of important architects and the development and history of the architecture of the major cultures of the world. Mexican and Latin American emphasis. Entries provide etymology of terms.

Contents: (1) A; (2) A-B; (3) C; (4) D-E; (5) F-G; (6) H; (7) I-M; (8) Mes-O; (9) P-R; and (10) S-Z forthcoming.

Bibliographical references in each vol.

- J80 Practically speaking: a dictionary of quotations on engineering, technology and architecture. Sel. and arranged by Carl C. Gaither and Alma E. Cavazos-Gaither. Illus. by Andrew Slocombe. Philadelphia, Institute of Physics Pub., 1999. xv, 367p. il.

"Designed as an aid for the general reader who has an interest in these topics as well as for the experienced engineer, architect or technician."—Pref.

Subject by author index, p.303-44. Author by subject index, p.345-67.

- J81 Stein, J. Stewart. Construction glossary: an encyclopedic reference and manual. 2d ed. N.Y., Wiley, 1993. xx, 1137p.

Terms used by U.S. construction industry and related trades. "Definitions include multiple meanings, historical references, specification language, reference standards, manufacturers' recommended descriptions, and scientific and engineering analysis."—Pref.

Arranged into 16 divisions following the organization of Masterformat (Alexandria, Va., Construction Specifications Institute, 1988) plus sections for Professional services; Construction categories; Technical-scientific and related data; Reference data sources; and appendixes with abbreviations, weights and measures, carpentry abbreviations.

Overall index, p.1111–37.

- J82 Stierlin, Henri. Encyclopaedia of world architecture. [2d ed. London, Macmillan, 1979.] 2v. il., plans, plates (part col.)

Concise introductory essays in French, German, and English on historical periods of architecture through 1960s. Illustrated with scaled elevations and plans, and occasional color photos. Brief informative descriptions and captions for each illustration are provided in French, German, and English.

Contents: (1) Egypt; From Middle East to megaliths; Greece; The Roman Empire; Byzantium; The early Middle Ages; The Romanesque period; Gothic; Renaissance; Baroque (Italy and Central Europe); Iberian and Colonial Baroque; The dawn of modern times; (2) India; South-east Asia; China; Japan; Persia; Seljuk and Ottoman Turkey; Moslem India; Ancient Mexico; The Mayas; Peru; The modern period.

Index, v.2 [French], p.479–84, [German], p.485–90, [English], p.491–96. Table of contents, v.2, p.497–99.

- J83 Traister, John E. Illustrated dictionary for building construction. Liburn, Ga., Fairmont (Dist. by PTR Prentice-Hall, 1993). 465p. il.

Clear definitions of more than 1,000 technical terms which "engineers, architects, contractors, consultants" use daily in the U.S. and Canada. 15 appendixes provide detailed charts, diagrams, formulas, abbreviations, trade organizations, etc.

Table of contents of appendixes, p.347–48.

- J84 The visual dictionary of buildings. N.Y., Dorling Kindersley, 1992. 64p., col. il. (Eyewitness visual dictionaries)

Labeled, full-color illustrations with explanatory text depict representative historical and contemporary structures, architectural elements, and building components from ancient times to the present.

Index, p.60–64.

- J85 White, Antony, and Robertson, Bruce. Architecture & ornament, a visual guide. [N.Y.], Design Press [TAB], [1990]. 112p. il., plates, maps.

A pictorial, encyclopedia-style guide to Western architecture and architectural ornament from classical to modern times. Detailed plates in 3 sections (Buildings, Structures, and Ornament) illustrate specific terms and elements.

Contents: Plates; Glossary of terms; Style timechart; Architects' lifelines; Major architectural sites (maps arranged by style or period).

- J86 Yarwood, Doreen. Encyclopaedia of architecture. N.Y., Facts on File, [1986]. 446p. il.

Compact, heavily illustrated general encyclopedia of architecture, architects, and building methods and materials.

Index, p.433–46. Bibliography, p.430–32.

- J87 Who's who in architecture: from 1400 to the present. Ed. by J. M. Richards, American consultant, Adolph K. Placzek. N.Y., Holt, Rinehart and Winston, [1977]. 368p. il. (part col.)

Brief biographies of more than 600 architects, landscape architects, and planners active between 1400 and the mid-1970s in Western Europe, the Americas, modern Israel, the British Commonwealth and Japan. Includes cross references to names cited elsewhere in the text, and occasional bibliographic sources.

List of contributors, p.11–12. Further reading, p.360–61. Select index of buildings, p.363–68.

SEE ALSO: Glossarium artis (GLAH 2:E7); Gottfried, American vernacular design, 1870–1940: an illustrated glossary (GLAH 2:J459).

HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS

General Works

- J88 Ackerman, James S. The villa: form and ideology of country houses. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1990. 304p. il. (Bollingen series, XXXV, 34) (The A.W. Mellon lectures in the fine arts, 1985)

An expansion of the six lectures delivered in 1985, "composed of a general introductory chapter treating the typology of the villa in the western world since antiquity, and ten chapters that focus on moments of innovation and change in the history of villa building."—Foreword.

Prominent figures are the Medici, Palladio, Thomas Jefferson, A. J. Downing, Wright, and Le Corbusier. Ackerman notes in his postscript that villas are distinguished from farmhouses or country cottages by "the intense, programmatic investment of ideological goals."—p.286.

Notes, p.287–99. Index, p.301–04.

- J89 The Architect: chapters in the history of the profession. Ed. by Spiro Kostof. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1977. x, 371p. il., maps, ports.

An essential source that complements and updates M. S. Briggs' The Architect in history (Oxford, Clarendon, 1927, repr. 1974).

Contents: (1) The practice of architecture in the ancient world: Egypt and Greece, by Spiro Kostof; (2) Roman architects, by William L. MacDonald; (3) The architect in the Middle Ages, East and West, by Spiro Kostof; (4) The emergence of the Italian architect during the fifteenth century, by Leopold D. Ettlinger; (5) The new professionalism in the Renaissance, by Catherine Wilkinson; (6) The Royal Building Administration in France from Charles V to Louis XIV, by Myra Nan Rosenfeld; (7) The rise of the professional architect in England, by John Wilton-Ely; (8) The École des Beaux-Arts and the architectural profession in the United States: the case of John Galen Howard, by Joan Draper; (9) Architectural education in the thirties and seventies: a personal view, by Joseph Esherick; (10) On the fringe of the profession: women in American architecture, by Gwendolyn Wright; (11) Architectural practice in America, 1865–1965—ideal and reality, by Bernard Michael Boyle.

Notes at ends of chapters. Index, p.351–71.

J90 Architectural History Foundation books. N.Y., Architectural History Foundation; Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1978–. (35)v. il., maps, plans.

Selective contents: (1) Serlio, Sebastiano. Sebastiano Serlio on domestic architecture (1978); (2) Otto, Christian F. Space into light: the churches of Balthasar Neumann (1979); (3) Connors, Joseph. Borromini and the Roman oratory, style and society (1980); (4) Le Corbusier sketchbooks: v.1–2, 1914–1948, 1950–1954 (1981), v.3–4, 1954–1957, 1957–1964 (1982); (5) Hanna, Paul R., and Jean S. Frank Lloyd Wright's Hanna house, 2v. (1981 and 1987, 1982); (6) Searing, Helen, ed. In search of modern architecture: a tribute to Henry-Russell Hitchcock (1982); (7) Turner, Paul Venable. Campus, an American planning tradition (1984); (8) Brownlee, David Bruce. The Law Courts: the architecture of George Edmund Street (1984); (9) Krinsky, Carol Herselle. Synagogues of Europe: architecture, history, meaning (1985); (10) Upton, Dell. Holy things and profane: Anglican parish churches in colonial Virginia (1986); (11) Quinan, Jack. Frank Lloyd Wright's Larkin building: myth and fact (1987); (12) Friedman, David. Florentine new towns (1988); (13) Branner, Robert. The cathedral of Bourges and its place in Gothic architecture (1989). [After these titles, vols. (some 22) were unnumbered, and a few still are forthcoming.]

Vols. include notes, bibliography, and index.

J91 Architectural technology up to the scientific revolution: the art and structure of large-scale buildings. Ed. by Robert Mark. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1993. xvi, 252p. il. (New liberal arts series)

A well-illustrated explication of historic building technology that includes engineers as well as architectural historians among its 12 contributors.

Selective contents: (1) Interpreting large-scale building technology; (2) Soils and foundations; (3) Walls and other vertical elements; (4) Vaults and domes; (5) Timber roofs and spires; Conclusion: artisans, architects, and the scientific revolution.

Bibliographies at end of each chapter. Glossary, p.[236]–42. Index, p.[244]–52.

J92 Arnheim, Rudolf. The dynamics of architectural form. Based on the 1975 Mary Duke Biddle lectures at the Cooper Union. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1977. vi, 289p. il.

Trans. of Dynamique de la forme architecturale. Bruxelles, Mardaga, 1986. "When I decided to write about architecture, I thought at first of simply applying to this new subject the principles I had developed in [Art and visual perception: a psychology of the creative eye, rev. ed., Berkeley, Univ. of Calif. Pr., 1974]. . . . [In part] because the broader experiential range of architecture invited a different treatment, the present book is more an explorer's report on high-spots of the man-made environment than the outcome of a professional analysis."—p.7.

Contents: (I) Elements of space; (II) Vertical and horizontal; (III) Solids and hollows; (IV) As it looks and as it is; (V) Mobility; (VI) Order and disorder; (VII) Symbols through dynamics; (VIII) Expression and function.

Notes, p.275–77. Bibliography, p.279–83. Index, p.285–89.

J93 Benevolo, Leonardo. The history of the city. Trans. by Geoffrey Culverwell. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1980. 1011p. il.

Trans. of Storia della città. Roma, Laterza, 1975; 2d ed. [1976]; new ed. in 4 vols., 1993. "Provides a basic history of the man-made environment . . . in the form of a short written text combined with a large number of illustrations."—Introd. In 14 chapters covering from prehistoric times to the 1970s.

Index of names, p.1009

J94 Boyer, M. Christine. The city of collective memory: its historical imagery and architectural entertainments. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1994. x, 560p. il. Began "as a critique of the practices of historic preservation, urban design, and postmodern architecture" and evolved "to explore the larger issue of how images from the nineteenth century have been translated into contemporary views of the city, how the restoration of former architectural and neighborhood traces forged a hybrid layering of architectural sites and a constant migration from one time period to another."—Ackn.

Contents: (1) The place of history and memory in the contemporary city; (2) City images and representational forms; (3) The city and the theater; (4) The art of collective memory; (5) Topographical travelogues and city views; (6) Invented traditions and cityscapes; (7) The instruments of memory; (8) Manhattan montage; (9) The city as radical artifice.

Notes, p.[495]–548. Index, p.[549]–58.

J95 Braunfels, Wolfgang. Monasteries of Western Europe: the architecture of the orders. Trans. by Alastair Laing. [Reprint.] N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 263p. il.

See GLAH 1:J34 for the original ed. (1972). Trans. of Abendländische Klosterbaukunst. Köln, DuMont Schauberg, [1969]. The English ed. is considerably expanded. Includes "Selections from documentary sources" with parallel Latin text and English translation.

Notes, p.[249]–50. Bibliography, p.251–54. Index, p.[260]–63.

J96 ———. Urban design in Western Europe: regime and architecture, 900–1900. Trans. by Kenneth J. Northcott. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1988. xiii, 407p. il., plans.

Trans. of Abendländische Stadtbaukunst: Herrschaftsform und Baugestalt. Köln, DuMont Schauberg, 1976. Described as "the counterpart to the author's Monasteries of Western Europe [see preceding entry] . . . which involved roughly the same geographic area."—Pref. "This book grew out of a sense of uneasiness [which], in turn, arose out of the state of cities in the 20th century."—Introd.

Contents: Cathedral cities; City states; Sea powers; Imperial cities; Ideal cities; Seats of a princely court; Capital cities; The second and third Rome.

Bibliography, p.373–91. Index, p.393–407.

- J97 Cambridge studies in the history of architecture. Ed. by Robin Middleton, Joseph Rykwert, and David Watkin. Cambridge, Eng., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1992–1996. 5v. il.

Self-described as "a new series of historical studies intended to embrace a wide chronological range, from antiquity to the twentieth century, and to become a natural counterpart to Cambridge studies in the history of art [GLAH 2:R26] . . . intended primarily for professional historians of architecture and their students." In selected instances, titles in this series are listed individually elsewhere in this chapter.

Contents: Picon, Antoine. French architects and engineers in the Age of Enlightenment (1992); Tyack, Geoffrey. Sir James Pennethorne and the making of Victorian London (1992); Tait, A. A. Robert Adam: drawings and imagination (1993); Erlande-Brandenburg, Alain. The cathedral: the social and architectural dynamics of construction (1994); Watkin, David. Sir John Soane: enlightenment thought and the Royal Academy lectures (1996).

Vols. include bibliography and index.

- J98 Centre canadien d'architecture. Architecture and its image: four centuries of architectural representation: works from the collection of the Canadian Centre for Architecture. Ed. by Eve Blau and Edward Kaufman. Montreal, Centre Canadien d'Architecture/Canadian Centre for Architecture (Distr. by MIT Pr., 1989). 369p. il. (part col.)

Published in conjunction with the exhibition that marked the opening of the CCA and the tenth anniversary of its founding. Intended "to suggest ways in which the relationships among images can convey new understanding of the larger relationship between architecture and representation."—Introd.

In addition to the editors, contributors include Robin Evans, William Alexander McClung, Hélène Lipstadt, and Robert Bruegmann.

Bibliographical references. Index of names, p.365–69.

- J99 ———. Photography and architecture, 1839–1939. [Ed. by] Richard Pare. Introd. by Phyllis Lambert. Catalog by Catherine Evans Inbusch and Marjorie Munsterberg. Montreal, Centre canadien d'architecture/Canadian Centre for Architecture; N.Y., Callaway, 1982. 282p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition of photographs from the CCA collection, Galerie Lempertz Contemporara, Cologne (1982), and other locations. The 147 plates are followed by catalog entries for 80 photographers, including biographical information and a reference for each.

Bibliography, p.273–77. Index, p.278–82.

- J100 Colvin, Howard Montagu. Architecture and the after-life. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1991. xi, 418p. il. (part col.), map.

"Rather than attempt to write a comprehensive history of funerary architecture in all its aspects, I have preferred to explore in each chapter one or two important themes. The result is a series of interconnected essays, which . . . provide the reader with a continuous but by no means exhaustive history of funerary architecture in western Europe."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Megalith and tumulus; (II) From tumulus to mausoleum; (III) The mausoleum of Halicarnassus; (IV) The mausolea of the Roman emperors; (V) The Romans and their monuments; (VI) From mausoleum to martyrdom; (VII) Christian burial and medieval church architecture; (VIII) The revival of the architectural tomb; (IX) Chantries and funerary churches in medieval Europe; (X) The family chapel in Renaissance Italy; (XI) Triumphal tombs and the Counter-Reformation; (XII) The princely burial church in Catholic Europe; (XIII) The family chapel in Protestant England and Sweden; (XIV) The return of the mausoleum; (XV) Funerary architecture in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries; (XVI) The triumph of the cemetery.

Bibliography, p.375–402. Index, p.403–18.

- J101 Curl, James Stevens. A celebration of death: an introduction to some of the buildings, monuments, and settings of funerary architecture in the Western European tradition. Rev. ed. London, Batsford, 1993. xxiv, 408p. il., plans.

1st ed., 1980.

"An introduction to funerary architecture, to cemetery design, and to memorials and monuments in the Western European tradition."—Introd.

Notes, p.368–77. Bibliography, p.378–90. Index, p.391–404.

- J102 Evans, Robin. The projective cast: architecture and its three geometries. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1995. xxxvii, 413p. il.

Seeks "to pin down the elusive relationship that exists between buildings and their representations."—Ackn.

Contents: Introduction: Composition and projection; (1) Perturbed circles; (2) Persistent breakage; (3) Seeing through paper; (4) Piero's heads; (5) Drawn stone; (6) The trouble with numbers; (7) Comic lines; (8) Forms lost and found again; (9) Rumors at the extremities.

Notes, p.[372]–401. Index, p.[404]–13.

- J103 Fitchen, John. Building construction before mechanization. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1986. xvii, 326p. il.

"An attempt to identify the problems of building construction and to recover reasonable and likely answers to what procedures were adopted, here and there, through the ages." This intriguing text covers to the "pre-present."—Pref.

Contents: (1) The role of the builder; (2) The nature of building construction and sources of information about its former practices; (3) Physical and cultural forces affecting building construction; (4) Jerry-building and the unending quest for standards of safety; (5) Prior planning and the order and sequence of building operations; (6) Stresses in buildings and the problems they raise; (7) Falsework and lifting devices; (8) Rope and ladders: the builder's habitual implements; (9) The role of wood in building construction; (10) Oversized blocks and projecting stones as aids in masonry construction; (11) Transportation in building construction; (12) The problem of ventilation; (13) Native house building; (14) Building Cheops' pyramid.

Bibliography, p.297–314. General index, p.317–22. Index of authors quoted, p.323–24. Index of references to illustrations, p.325–26.

- J104 Fletcher, Banister, Sir. Sir Banister Fletcher's a history of architecture. 20th ed. Ed. by Dan Cruickshank. Consultant eds., Andrew Saint, Peter Blundell Jones, Kenneth Frampton. Assistant ed., Fleur Richards. Boston, Architectural Pr., 1996. xxxviii, 1794p. il.

See GLAH 1:J37 for previous eds. of this standard work; 19th ed. London, Butterworths, 1987.

"The nineteenth edition [of the book] was, in effect, a rethink of the Banister Fletcher structure . . . the twentieth edition is, necessarily, an extensive revision and extension of the nineteenth rather than a major overhaul or exercise in restructuring. Nevertheless, about 35 per cent of the text is new, the book is nearly 200 pages longer, and a significant series of chapters have been recast, extended or introduced."—Pref.

Bibliography, p.1671–1712. Glossary, p.1713–30. Index, p.1731–94.

- J105 Frankl, Paul. Principles of architectural history; the four phases of architectural style, 1420–1900. Trans. and ed. by James F. O'Gorman. With a foreword by James S. Ackerman. [Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1968]. xxi, 215p. il., plans.

Trans. of Die Entwicklungsphasen der neueren Baukunst. Leipzig, Teubner, 1914. Begun in 1912 as the author's Habilitationsschrift in Munich for Heinrich Wölfflin.

The foreword by Ackerman explains the context of Frankl's work and its relationship to Heinrich Wölfflin's Renaissance und Barock and Kunstgeschichtliche Grundbegriffe or Principles of art history (GLAH 1:I233), which influenced the translator's choice of title for this book. Ackerman further explains Frankl's use of two interlocking systems—critical and historical—for the analysis of post-medieval architectural monuments.

Bibliographical notes, p.[196]–206. Index, p.[207]–15.

- J106 Gloag, John. The architectural interpretation of history. London, A. & C. Black, 1975. xvii, 348p. il., plates.

An older history with a traditional, non-North American focus, by the historian of furniture and ornament.

Contents: (1) The interpretative quality of architecture; (2) The tyranny of eternal repetition; (3) Lost empires; (4) The classical phase: Persia and Greece; (5) The classical phase:

Roman power; (6) The death of the gods and the age of faith; (7) The successor states and the Muslim world; (8) Prelude to Gothic; (9) Mediaeval civilisation; (10) Renaissance and revolution; (11) The golden age of taste and reason; (12) Looking backwards; (13) Shadows of the future.

List of references, p.319–37. Index, p.341–48.

- J107 Hegemann, Werner. City planning, housing. Pref. by R. M. MacIver. N.Y., Architectural Book Publishing Co., [1936]–38. 3v. fronts. (v.2–3; v.2, port.), il. (incl. maps, plans).

"To supplement and—within a small compass—to bring up to date a previous and much larger volume entitled 'The American Vitruvius, an architect's handbook of civic art' [see following entry]."—Introd.

Vol.3 ed. by William W. Forster and Robert C. Weinberg.

Contents: (1) Historical and sociological; (2) Political economy and civic art; (3) A graphic review of civic art, 1922–1937.

- J108 ———, and Peets, Elbert. The American Vitruvius: an architects' handbook of civic art. Ed. with an introd. by Alan J. Plattus. Pref. by Leon Krier. Introd. essay by Christiane Crasemann Collins. [Reprint, with new prefatory matter.] N.Y., Princeton Architectural Pr., 1988. xxii, 298p. il.

See GLAH 1:J46 for original ed. and previous repr. Publ. in Catalan as El Vitrubio americano: manual de arte civil para el arquitecto. Barcelona, Caja de arquitectos fundacion, [1993].

Bibliography, p.[294]. Index, p.[295]–98.

- J109 Kostof, Spiro. The City assembled: the elements of urban form through history. With the collaboration of Greg Castillo. Original drawings by Richard Tobias. Boston, Little, Brown, 1992. 320p. il. (part col.).

A companion to the author's previous The city shaped (see following entry). This work "focus[es] on the constituent elements of city building common to all settlement patterns, independent of the modes of classification distinguished in The city shaped."—Introd.

As with the companion work, Kostof organizes his material within five categories: (1) The city edge; (2) Urban divisions; (3) Public places; (4) The street; (5) Urban process.

Notes, p.306–10. Bibliography, p.311–13. Index, p.315–20.

- J110 ———. The City shaped: urban patterns and meanings through history. Original drawings by Richard Tobias. Boston, Little, Brown, 1991. 352p. il. (part col.), maps.

"This book is an architectural historian's attempt to make accessible, to architects, urban designers, and the general public, the universal experience of making cities."—Introd. Includes a broad range of geographical and cultural examples, and wide variety of illustrations, plans, and aerial photographs. Complements The city assembled (see preceding entry).

Takes five approaches to urban form.

Contents: (1) Organic patterns; (2) The grid; (3) The city as diagram; (4) The grand manner; (5) The urban skyline.

Notes, p.337-40. Bibliography, p.341-42. Index, p.344-52.

- J111 ———. A History of architecture: settings and rituals. Original drawings by Richard Tobias. 2d ed., rev. by Greg Castillo. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1995. 792p. il. (part col.), plates, maps.

1st ed., 1985. Revised after Kostof's death in Dec. 1991, using typescripts and videotapes from his lectures "to establish the narrative and basic text for the final chapters of this edition."—Pref. "This book is something of a compromise. It is a general survey of architectural history that tries to reconcile the traditional grand canon of monuments with a broader, more embracing view of the built environment."—Pref. to the first ed.

In three parts: A place on earth; Measuring up; The search for self.

Bibliographies ("Further reading") at the ends of the 29 chapters. Glossary, p.767-75. Index, p.776-92.

- J112 Krinsky, Carol Herselle. Synagogues of Europe: architecture, history, meaning. N.Y., Architectural History Foundation; Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1985. x, 457p. il. (Architectural History Foundation books, 9)

Pioneering study, divided into two parts. "The first gives a general picture of the conditions under which European synagogues were designed" (nature, furnishings, changes through the centuries, and messages conveyed by the buildings). "The second part . . . offers short and specific accounts of individual synagogues in many European countries . . . chosen to exemplify all architectural types and styles."—Pref.

Notes, p.105-36. Appendix I: List of selected architects. Appendix II: List of extant Polish synagogues. Glossary, p.432-33. Notes for the visitor, p.434-35. Bibliography, p.436-44. Index, p.445-55.

- J113 Mark, Robert. Light, wind, and structure: the mystery of the master builders. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1990. xvii, 209p. il. (New liberal arts series)

"Deals mainly with three historic eras that witnessed the development of new large-scale building types that retain great influence in architectural planning up to the present day."—Pref. Uses modern engineering tools to clarify the technological underpinning of these developments and to obtain new knowledge of early design techniques. Aimed for the general reader as well as architecture and architectural history students.

Contents: (1) Problems of technological interpretation in historic architecture; (2) The technology of light, wind and structure; (3) Reinterpreting ancient Roman structure; (4) Structural experimentation in High Gothic architecture; (5) Christopher Wren, seventeenth-century science, and great Renaissance domes; (6) The technological legacy of historic architecture.

Notes, p.[183]-200. Glossary, p.[201]-04. Index, p.[205]-09.

- J114 Nervi, Pier Luigi, ed. History of world architecture. N.Y., Abrams, 1971-1980. 15v.

See GLAH 1:J52 for previous vols., which also were first publ. in the Italian series Storia universale dell'architettura.

Contents: Martin, Roland. Greek architecture: architecture of Crete, Greece, and the Greek world (1974); Guidoni, Enrico. Primitive architecture (1978); Tafuri, Manfredo; and Dal Co, Francesco. Modern architecture (1979); Middleton, Robin; and Watkin, David. Neoclassical and 19th century architecture (1980).

These vols. were reissued in 1988, 1987, 1986, and 1987, N.Y., Electa/Rizzoli.

- J115 Norberg-Schulz, Christian. Genius loci: towards a phenomenology of architecture. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1980. 213p. il.

Trans. of Genius loci - paesaggio, ambiente, architettura. Milano, Electa, 1979.

This book forms the culmination to a series begun with the author's Intentions in architecture (1963) and Existence, space and architecture (1971) and is also related to his historical study, Meaning in Western architecture (GLAH 2:J116). His primary aim here is "to investigate the psychic implications of architecture rather than its practical side."—Pref.

Contents: Place? Natural place; Man-made place; Prague; Khartoum; Rome; Place; Place today.

Notes, p.203-07. Index of names and places, p.209-12.

- J116 ———. Meaning in Western architecture. Rev. ed. London, Studio Vista, 1980. 236p. il.

See GLAH 1:J53 for original ed. Publ. in French as La signification dans l'architecture occidentale. 2d ed., Bruxelles, Mardaga, [1977].

This revision of the 1975 history is redesigned, incorporating footnotes within the chapters. Text appears unchanged.

Selected bibliography, p.228-30. Index, p.230-36.

- J117 Nuttgens, Patrick. The story of architecture. 2d ed. London, Phaidon, 1997. 351p. il. (part col.), col. maps, plans.

1st ed. Englewood Cliffs, Prentice-Hall, 1983.

Beautifully illustrated survey of western architecture from prehistory to contemporary.

Chronological charts, p.308-16. Glossary, p.317-20. Bibliography, p.321-24. Biographies of architects, p.325-34. Index, p.335-50.

- J118 Planning and cities. General ed., George R. Collins. N.Y., Braziller, [1968-75]. 14v. il.

See GLAH 1:J56 for previous vols. The following errata should be noted: Choay, Françoise. The modern city: planning in the 19th century [title correction]; Ward-Perkins, J. B. The cities of ancient Greece and Italy [publ. in 1974, not 1973]. Vols. are indexed.

Contents: Ferguson, Francis. Architecture, cities and the systems approach (1975); Galantay, Ervin Y. New towns: antiquity to the present (1975).

- J119 Risebero, Bill. The story of Western architecture. Rev. ed. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1997. 304p. il. 1st ed. N.Y., Scribner, 1979.
 Readable survey, prehistory to the modern world, for the general reader, with line drawings as illustrations.
 Bibliography, p.296. Index, p.297–304.
- J120 Roisecco, Giulio. L'architettura del ferro. Roma, Bulzoni, 1972–. (7)v. il.
 See GLAH 1:J57 for previous vols. The original plan of the work was revised in the 1980s, and the present plan is to complete the series in 17 vols. Recent vols. by Romano Jodice. Publisher varies.
 Contents: L'Italia (1796–1914); La Russia (1815–1914).
- J121 Rosenau, Helen. The ideal city: its architectural evolution in Europe. 3d ed., [rev.], London, Methuen, 1983. x, 195p. il.
 See GLAH 1:J58 for previous eds.
 This ed. was occasioned in part, by "a changed intellectual situation . . . based on the fact that an attitude of pessimism now prevails. It is therefore important to remember the role of the idea of planning in the past, the fuller realization of social values during European history and the theoretical as well as the practical values in studying historical regulative models."—Pref.
 The three parts are now named: Introductory survey, Phases of progress, and Ambivalent tendencies in the nineteenth centuries; some of the eight chapters are renamed.
 Appendix, p.[186]–87. Concise bibliography, p.[188]–90. Index, p.[191]–95.
- J122 Roth, Leland M. Understanding architecture: its elements, history, and meaning. N.Y., IconEditions, 1993. xxxi, 542p. il. (part col.), plates, maps.
 An unusual introductory text, in that the first part (The elements of architecture) "begins with a definition of what architecture is and continues with chapters that explore function, structural principles, and elements of design."—Pref. It reflects the author's interest in our perception and understanding of the man-made environment. Part Two is a conventional survey by period.
 Notes and Suggested readings, at end of each of the 21 chapters. Chronological table, p.138. Glossary, p.519–30. Index, p.531–42.
- J123 Rowe, Colin, and Koetter, Fred. Collage city. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., [1978]. 185p. il.
 Also publ. in French and German under the same title (Paris, Centre George Pompidou, 1993, in Supplémentaires series; Basel, Birkhäuser, 1984, as no.27 in the series Geschichte und Theorie der Architektur).
 A theoretical book on society and architecture. Profusely illustrated with city views, plans, early maps, and photographs.
 Contents: Utopia: decline and fall? After the millennium; Crisis of the object: predicament of texture; Collision city and the politics of "bricolage"; Collage city and the reconquest of time; Excursus.
 Notes, p.182–83. Index, p.184–[86].
- J124 Rykwert, Joseph. On Adam's house in Paradise: the idea of the primitive hut in architectural history. 2d ed. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1981. 250p. il.
 1st ed. 1972, in the series Museum of Modern Art papers on architecture, 2. This ed. incorporates new material, in four appendixes.
 Contents: (1) Thinking and doing; (2) Necessity and convention; (3) Positive and arbitrary; (4) Nature and reason; Gothic excursus; (5) Reason and grace; (6) The rites; (7) A house for the soul.
 Notes, p.195–[205]. Appendixes, p.209–21. Bibliography, p.225–39. Index, p.245–50.
- J125 Scruton, Roger. The aesthetics of architecture. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1979. x, 302p. il. (Princeton essays on the arts, 8)
 "The book . . . is designed first to introduce the subject of aesthetics to those who have an interest in architecture, second, to explain the nature and value of aesthetic taste."—Pref.
 Contents: (1) Introduction: The problem of architecture; (2) Architecture and design; (3) Has architecture an essence?; (4) Experiencing architecture; (5) Judging architecture; (6) Freud, Marx and meaning; (7) The language of architecture; (8) Expression and abstraction; (9) The sense of detail; (10) Conclusion: Architecture and morality.
 Notes, p.265–90. Bibliography, p.291–92. Indexes, p.293–302.
- J126 Scully, Vincent Joseph. Architecture: the natural and the manmade. N.Y., St. Martin's, 1991. xiii, 388p. il. (part col.), maps.
 An outgrowth of some 45 years of research and teaching, this work was conceived visually, to depict the relationship of manmade structures to the natural world, which the author suggests "has been most neglected by Western architectural critics and historians."—Pref.
 Contents: (1) America: the sacred mountain; (2) The sacred mountain in Mesopotamia, Egypt, and the Aegean; (3) The Greek temple; (4) Olympia and the Acropolis of Athens; (5) Hellenistic and Roman: the ideal world of interior space; (6) The Gothic cathedral: structure; (7) The Gothic cathedral: experience; (8) Italian urbanism: the town and the garden; (9) The French classic garden: the art of Pourtraiture; (10) The shape of France: gardens, fortifications, and modern urbanism; (11) Palladio, the English garden, and the modern age.
 Index, p.381–88.
- J127 Summerson, Sir John Newenham. The classical language of architecture. Rev. and enl. London, Thames and Hudson, 1980. 144p. il. (World of art library)
 Publ. in German as Die Klassische Sprache der Architektur. Braunschweig, Vieweg, 1983 (Bauwelt Fundamente, 63). "Originated in a series of six talks broadcast by the BBC in 1963." 1st ed., 1963 ([London], British Broadcasting Corporation); reissued in 1966 (Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr.). In his preface to the 1980 ed., the author notes changes in attitudes toward the Modern Movement and the trend of architectural development, which caused him to revise portions of the final chapter.

Contents: (1) The essentials of classicism; (2) The grammar of antiquity; (3) Sixteenth-century linguistics; (4) The rhetoric of the Baroque; (5) The light of reason—and archaeology; (6) Classical into modern.

Glossary, p.122–35. Notes on the literature of classical architecture, p.135–39. Index, p.141–44.

J128 Tafuri, Manfredo. Theories and history of architecture. [Trans. by Giorgio Verrecchia]. N.Y., Harper & Row, 1980. 324p. il. (IconEditions)

First publ. in Italian as Teorie e storia dell'architettura. Bari, Laterza, 1968. The English ed. is a trans. of the 4th ed. (1976) in which Tafuri strove to preserve the book's "topicality" and to address the theme of crisis in architecture. French ed., Théories et histoire de l'architecture. Paris, Editions SADG, 1976.

Contents: (1) Modern architecture and the eclipse of history; (2) Architecture as "indifferent object" and the crisis of critical attention; (3) Architecture as metalanguage: the critical value of the image; (4) Operative criticism; (5) Instruments of criticism; (6) The tasks of criticism.

Index of names, p.[315]–24.

J129 Taschen's world architecture. Köln, Taschen, 1997–. (12)v. col. il.

Splendid series of monographs on a range of periods. Also published in German.

Contents: Wildung, Dietrich. Egypt from prehistory to the Romans (1997); Stierlin, Henri. Greece: from Mycenae to the Parthenon (1997); ———. The Roman empire (1996–[1]v.); ———. Islam (1996–[1]v.); ———. Turkey, from the Selcuks to the Ottomans (1998); ———. Hindu India: from Khajuraho to the temple city of Madurai (1998); ———. The Maya: palaces and pyramids of the rainforest (1997); Barral i Altet, Xavier. The early middle ages: from late antiquity to A.D. 1000 (1997); ———. The Romanesque: towns, cathedrals and monasteries (1998); Binding, Gunther. High gothic: the age of the great cathedrals (1999); Khan, Hasan-Uddin. International style: modernist architecture from 1925 to 1965 (1998); Jodidio, Philip. New forms: architecture of the 1990s (1997).

J130 Trachtenberg, Marvin, and Hyman, Isabelle. Architecture, from prehistory to post-modernism: the Western tradition. N.Y., Abrams, 1986. 606p. il. (part col.).

A standard, chronological survey with a large number of illustrations (including 74 color plates), that "centers on monumental architecture that is the most sensitive, powerful touchstone of the cultural process."—Introd. Excludes the history of the profession and building trades.

Glossary, p.581–87. Bibliography, p.589–93. Index, p.594–605.

J131 Watkin, David. A history of Western architecture. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1986. 591p. il. (part col.), plans. (Repr.: London, King, 1992)

Intended as the first architectural history to take into account "the change of mood in the architectural scene since the 1970s."—Pref. Emphasis is on the 18th–20th centuries.

Glossary, p.[577]–78. For further reading, p.[579]–84. Index, p.[586]–91.

J132 Zevi, Bruno. Architecture as space: how to look at architecture. Ed. by Joseph A. Barry. Trans. by Milton Gendel. Rev. ed. N.Y., Horizon, [1974]. 310p. il. (Repr.: N.Y., Da Capo, 1993)

1st ed., 1957. Trans. of Saper vedere l'architettura. Torino, Einaudi, [1948]. The reprint has "author emendations and updatings in the bibliography and notes."

Contents: (1) Architecture—the unknown; (2) Space—protagonist of architecture; (3) The representation of space; (4) Space through the ages; (5) Interpretations of architecture; (6) Toward a modern history of architecture.

Bibliography [with commentary], p.245–87. Notes, p.289–303. Index of names, p.305–07. Index of places and structures, p.309–10.

J133 ———. The modern language of architecture. Seattle, Univ. of Washington Pr., 1978. xiv, 241p. il.

Part one, "A guide to the Anticlassical Code," was first publ. as p.1–84 of Il linguaggio moderno dell'architettura (Torino, Einaudi, 1973). Part two, "Architecture versus architectural history," was first publ. in Architettura e storiografia (Milano, Tamburini, [1951]). The two parts formed the basis of two Walker-Ames lectures delivered at the University of Washington, Seattle (1977).

Topics include design methodology, antiperspective, shell and membrane structures, Le Corbusier, medieval through baroque terminology, and newer aspects of architectural culture.

Index, p.234–41.

SEE ALSO: Architecture on screen (GLAH 2:D32); Kruff, A. History of architectural theory: from Vitruvius to the present (GLAH 2:G50); Teague, Edward. World architecture index: a guide to illustrations (GLAH 2:D48); Watkin, David. The rise of architectural history (GLAH 2:G89).

Ancient

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

J134 Ginouvès, René, and Martin, Roland. Dictionnaire méthodique de l'architecture grecque et romaine. Avec la collaboration de Filippo Coarelli . . . [et al.] Dessins de Jean-Pierre Adam . . . [et al.] [Athens], École française d'Athènes, 1985–. (3)v. il. (part col.) (Collection de l'École française de Rome, 84)

V.2 by René Ginouvès and others.

An ongoing and impressive scholarly dictionary. Arrangement is topical.

Contents: (1) Matériaux, techniques de construction, techniques et formes du décor (1985); (2) Eléments constructifs—supports, couvertures, aménagements intérieurs (1992); (3) Espaces architecturaux, bâtiments et ensembles.

Each vol. includes indexes in seven languages (French, German, English, Italian, modern Greek, ancient Greek, and Latin), and bibliography (abbreviations).

J135 Leick, Gwendolyn. A dictionary of ancient Near Eastern architecture. With illustrations by Francis J. Kirk. N.Y., Routledge, 1988. xix, 261p. il.

Entries range in length from one line ("curtine wall") to several pages ("temple", "Saqqara") and may conclude with brief bibliographical references. Includes five simple but useful maps. Lacks introduction or explanation of intent.

Index, p.253-61.

J136 Nash, Ernest. Pictorial dictionary of ancient Rome. [Reprint.] N.Y., Hacker, 1981. 2v. il., plans. Reprint of GLAH 1:J90.

J137 Richardson, Lawrence. A new topographical dictionary of ancient Rome. Baltimore, Johns Hopkins Univ. Pr., 1992. xxxiv, 458p. il., maps.

An essential source. Complements Ernest Nash's Pictorial dictionary of ancient Rome (GLAH 2:J136) and serves as a replacement for S. B. Platner and T. Ashby's A topographical dictionary of ancient Rome (GLAH 1:J91; repr., Roma, L'Erma di Bretschneider, 1965). Illustrations are limited to plans (which are not common in Nash), some fragments of the Marble Plan, and a few line drawings.

Bibliographical notes and abbreviations, p.xxvii-xxxiv. Glossary, p.435-44. Chronological list of dated monuments, p.445-58.

J138 Travlos, John. Bildlexikon zur Topographie des antiken Attika. Tübingen, Wasmuth, 1988. xvi, 487p. il., maps, photos, plans, site plans.

Complements the author's standard topographical dictionary of ancient Athens (see GLAH 1:J77 for German original ed. and English trans.). Continues the previous format of excellent visual and scholarly documentation for 30 classical archaeological sites in Attica.

Bibliographical references within entries. Register, p.481-86. Inschriften, p.[487].

Histories and Handbooks

Egypt and Western Asia

J139 Clarke, Somers, and Engelbach, Reginald. Ancient Egyptian construction and architecture. [Reprint.] N.Y., Dover, 1990. xviii, 242p., map. (Dover books on architecture)

See GLAH 1:J64 for original ed., entitled Ancient Egyptian masonry: the building craft.

J140 Edwards, I. E. S. The pyramids of Egypt. Rev. ed., with new material. N.Y., Penguin, 1993. xxii, 324p. il., plates, maps, plans.

1st ed., 1947; rev. ed., 1961; "new" ed., repr. with rev. bibliography, 1985; rev. ed., 1991.

Remains a basic source.

Contents: (1) Mastabas and early burial customs; (2) Step pyramids; (3) The transition to the true pyramid; (4) The Giza group; (5) Pyramids of the Vth and VIth dynasties; (6) Middle Kingdom pyramids; (7) Later pyramids; (8) Construction and purpose.

Table of major pyramids of the Old and Middle Kingdoms, p.295-96. Bibliography, p.297-[314]. Index, p.315-[25].

J141 Murnane, William J. The Penguin guide to ancient Egypt. 2d ed. N.Y., Penguin, 1996. 526p. il., maps. 1st ed. 1983.

A practical guide, amply illustrated with plans of important buildings. Part One provides background on the land, traditions, and history. Part Two covers the sites, from North to South.

Appendix: Capsule king list and history of ancient Egypt, p.[351]-56. Further reading, p.[513]-14. General index, p.[515]-22. Index of localities, p.[523]-[30].

Classical World

GENERAL WORKS

J142 Curl, James Stevens. Classical architecture: an introduction to its vocabulary and essentials, with a select glossary of terms. London, Batsford, 1992. 231p. il., plans.

"This book is an attempt to explain what Classical Architecture is, and to show various permutations, combinations, and types of Classicism in Architecture. It is restricted to being an introduction to the subject."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) The Graeco-Roman roots of classical architecture; (III) The Renaissance period; (IV) Baroque, Rococo, and Palladianism; (V) Neoclassicism and after; (VI) Epilogue.

Glossary, p.171-222. Select bibliography, p.223-25. Index, p.226-31.

J143 Giuliani, Cairolì Fulvio. L'edilizia nell'antichità. Roma, La nuova Italia scientifica, 1990. 226p. il. (Studi superiori NIS. Architettura)

An essay on structural engineering in antiquity, by an archaeologist, arguing the importance of the subject for classical studies.

Abbreviazioni bibliografiche, p.[221]-23. Riferimenti bibliografici, p.[225]-26.

J144 Hersey, George L. The lost meaning of classical architecture: speculations on ornament from Vitruvius to Venturi. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1988. 201p. il.

The author attempts to answer the question "why do we still use the classical orders" and reflects on "the actual content of this architecture and . . . on the names of its ornamental components."—p.1.

Contents: Troping ornament; Architecture and sacrifice; Images of temple founders; The caryatid and Persian porticoes; Francesco di Giorgio, Michelangelo, and Raphael; Caesariano, the Vitruvius Teutsch, and Sambin.

Notes, p.[157]-81. Bibliography, p.[183]-91. Index, p.193-201.

J145 Onians, John. Bearers of meaning: the classical orders in antiquity, the Middle Ages, and the Renaissance. Princeton, Princeton University Pr., 1988. xvi, 351p. il.

Concentrates "on a limited series of buildings and a limited series of treatises," but nonetheless a pioneering study. The 21 chapters are equally divided between individuals—Vitruvius, Alberti, Filarete, Francesco di Giorgio Martini, Francesco Colonna, Luca Pacioli, Bramante, Raphael, and Serlio—and chronological treatment of the orders.

Notes, p.331–35. Bibliography, p.337–42. Index, p.343–51.

J146 Rykwert, Joseph. Dancing column: on order in architecture. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1996. xviii, 598p. il., plans.

Sets out to fulfill at least two conditions: "To provide the context, an anthropological rather than a historical one, within which the columns were formed . . . [and] to be historical and . . . provide a genealogy of this idea [the timelessness of their configurations], show how the columns were constituted and altered in time, how they were worked and perceived by their makers, and what accounts had been offered of their transformations."—Pref. Extensive documentation is provided in notes.

Contents: (I) Order in building; (II) Order in the body; (III) The body and the world; (IV) Gender and column; (V) The literary commonplace; (VI) The rule and the song; (VII) The hero as a column; (VIII) The known and the seen; (IX) The mask, the horns, and the eyes; (X) The Corinthian virgin; (XI) A native column?; (XII) Order or intercourse.

Notes, p.[392]–521. Abbreviations and ancient texts, p.[522]–31. Bibliography, p.[532]–77. Index, p.[578]–98.

J147 Tomlinson, R. A. Greek and Roman architecture. London, British Museum Pr., 1995. 128p. il. (part col.), maps. (Classical bookshelf)

Readable introduction for the general reader.

Contents: (1) The origins of classical architecture; (2) Greek temples; (3) Greek cities: houses, theatres and halls; (4) The Hellenistic world; (5) Hellenistic continuity under Rome; (6) The Romans in Italy; (7) The Roman Empire in the east; (8) The Roman Empire in the west.

Glossary, p.[124]–25. Further reading, p.125. Index, p.[126]–27.

J148 Tzonis, Alexander, and Lefaivre, Liane. Classical architecture: the poetics of order. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1986. x, 306p. il., maps.

"This book investigates the poetics of classical architecture. It studies the canon, that is, how classical buildings are put together as formal structures, and it studies how such structures produce a tragic discourse and become pieces of public art with critical, moral, and philosophical meaning. . . . The book originates in part from De Taal van de Klassicistische Architectuur (Nijmegen, SUN, 1983), a much shorter publication."—Pref. and ackn.

References, p.289–95. Illustration sources, p.297–99. Index of terms, p.301–03. Index of names and buildings, p.305–06.

CRETE, MYCENAE, GREECE

J149 Graham, James Walter. The palaces of Crete. Rev. ed. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1987. xvii, 293p. il., plates.

See GLAH 1:J73 for original ed. The 1987 ed. includes a 1968 "Addendum to the preface," while an additional preface discusses changes in the literature.

Contents: (I) The land, the people, and the history of Minoan Crete; (II) The major palaces; (III) Minor palaces, villas, and houses; (IV) The central court and the bull games; (V) The residential quarters of the royal family; (VI) Public apartments; (VII) Other rooms; (VIII) Building materials and forms; (IX) Windows and doors; (X) Stairs and storeys; (XI) Decorative features; (XII) Furnishings and equipment; (XIII) Procedures and principles; Addenda.

Bibliography, p.270–74. Abbreviations, p.275–76. Index, p.283–93.

J150 Coulton, J. J. Greek architects at work: problems of structure and design. London, Elek, 1977. 196p. il., pl. (Elek archaeology and anthropology)

A practical, building-oriented approach to Greek architecture that employs numerous line drawings to explain details.

Contents: (1) Architect, patron and project; (2) The problem of beginning; (3) The problem of design; (4) The problem of scale; (5) Form, mass and space; (6) Some later problems with the orders; (7) Aspects of structure and technique.

Notes, p.161–81. Bibliography, p.182–88. Glossary, p.[189]–91. Index, p.[193]–96.

J151 Knell, Heiner. Architektur der Griechen: Grundzüge. 2, verb. Aufl. Darmstadt, Wissenschaftliche Buchgesellschaft, 1988. ix, 326p. il., plates, plans. 1st ed. 1980 entitled Grundzüge der griechischen Architektur (Grundzüge, 38)

Introductory survey.

Bibliographie, p.285–318. Register, p.319–26.

J152 Lawrence, Arnold Walter. Greek architecture. Rev. by R. A. Tomlinson. 5th ed. New Haven, Yale University Pr., 1996. viii, 243p. il., plans, photos, sections (Yale University Press Pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:J74 for 2d ed. and original annotation, 1962. 3d ed., 1967; 4th ed., 1983.

ETRURIA AND ROME

J153 Adam, Jean Pierre. Roman building: materials and techniques. Trans. by Anthony Mathews. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., 1994. 360p. il.

Trans. of Construction romaine. 2d ed. Paris, Picard, 1989.

Contents: (1) Surveying; (2) Materials; (3) Construction using large stone blocks; (4) Structures of mixed construction; (5) Masonry construction; (6) Arches and vaults; (7) Carpentry; (8) Wall covering; (9) Floors; (10) Civil engineering; (11) Domestic and commercial architecture.

Illustrated lexicon of mouldings, p.328–32. Notes, p.333–50. Bibliography, p.351–57. Index, p.358–60.

J154 Anderson, James C., Jr. Roman architecture and society. Baltimore, Johns Hopkins Univ. Pr., 1997. xxiii, 442p. il. (Ancient society and history)

"Offered as a useful synthesis of [the] evidence for the realia—the people and organizations, planning and topography—of building in the world of ancient Rome. . . . Designed for anyone who would like to know more about how architecture was done, who did it, who paid for it, and how it affected the daily lives of those who lived and worked within it."—Introd.

Contents: (1) How the Romans organized building; (2) How the Romans organized space.

Notes, p.337–401. Bibliography, p.403–32. Index, p.433–42.

- J155 Architecture and architectural sculpture in the Roman Empire. Ed. by Martin Henig. Oxford, Oxford Univ. Committee for Archaeology, 1990. 163p. il., maps, plans. (Oxford University Committee for Archaeology, 29)

Anthology of papers on Roman architecture and architectural sculpture, by leading scholars and intended for specialists and the general reader. Several of the papers were first presented at a symposium at Oxford University (1987).

Contents: (1) Quintillian and the idea of Roman art, by John Onians; (2) The architecture of Nero's Golden House, by David Hemsoll; (3) The architecture and construction scenes on Trajan's Column, by J. C. N. Coulston; (4) Street plaques at Pompeii, by Roger Ling; (5) Roman architecture in a Greek world: the example of Sicily, by R. J. A. Wilson; (6) Sculpture in Nabataean Petra, and the question of Roman influence, by Margaret Lyttleton and Thomas Blagg; (7) The architectural impact of Rome in the east, by Hazel Dodge; (8) Classical architecture in Roman Egypt, by Donald M. Bailey; (9) Dignam congruentemque splendori patriae: aspects of urban renewal under the Severi, by Susan Walker; (10) Caryatids and other supporters, by G. Lloyd-Morgan; (11) A house for Minerva; temples, aedicula shrines, and signet-rings, by Martin Henig.

Notes and bibliographies at ends of chapters. Index, p.163–[64].

- J156 Castagnoli, Ferdinando. Topografia antica: un metodo di studio. Roma, Istituto poligrafico e Zecca dello Stato, Libreria dello Stato, 1993. 2v. il.

A publication of the Università degli studi di Roma "La Sapienza," Dipartimento di scienze storiche, archeologiche e antropologiche dell'antichità, Sezione di topografia antica. Provides impressive documentation, including a history of topographical studies of ancient Rome and a survey of documentary sources.

Contents: Roma: Storia degli studi; Fonti; Storia della città; La zona archeologica. Italia: Architettura, urbanistica, centuriazione; Lavinio.

Bibliographical references throughout. Bibliografia, v.1, p.[ix]–xvi. Indice, v.2: Cose notevoli, p.[1055]–84. Fonti letterarie classiche, medioevali, rinascimentali, p.[1085]–1104. Iscrizioni, p.[1105]–08. Monete, p.[1109]–10. Manoscritti, p.[1111]–12.

- J157 ———. Topografia di Roma antica. Torino, Società editrice internazionale, 1980. viii, 119p. il., plates, maps, plans. (Manuali universitari. 1, Per lo studio delle scienze dell'antichità)

"Nuova edizione interamente rifatta dell'opera Topografia di Roma antica pubblicata nella Enciclopedia classica [GLAH 1:E29]."—T.p. verso. Introduction to the subject.

Contents: Parte prima. (I) Fonti scritte; (II) Fonti archeologiche; (III) Strumenti di lavoro. Parte seconda. (I) Geografia; (II) Storia della città; (III) Organizzazione e amministrazione della città; (IV) Descrizione topografica.

Bibliographical references at ends of chapters. Abbreviazioni, p.vii–viii. Addenda, p.119.

- J158 Gros, Pierre. L'architecture romaine: du début du IIIe siècle av. J.-C. à la fin du Haut-Empire. Paris, Picard, 1996–. (1)v. il. (part col.), maps. (Manuels d'art et d'archéologie antiques)

Monumental new history of Roman architecture, scholarly, lavishly produced and illustrated.

Contents: (1) Le monuments publics (1996).

- J159 MacDonald, William Lloyd. The architecture of the Roman Empire: an introductory study. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1982–1986. 2v. il., maps (Yale publications in the history of art, 17, 35).

See GLAH 1:J88 for original ed. of v.1. The rev. ed. corrects errors, updates the bibliography, and adds a chapter to incorporate recent studies.

Contents: Vol.2: An urban appraisal: (I) Introduction; (II) Urban armatures; (III) Connective architecture; (IV) Passage architecture; (V) Public buildings; (VI) Classicism fulfilled; (VII–VIII) Empire imagery: cardinal themes [and] Baroque modes; (IX) Form and meaning.

Both vols. include list of abbreviations, notes, bibliography, list of illustrations, and index. Vol.2 also has List of principal emperors, p.[302].

- J160 ———. The Pantheon: design, meaning, and progeny. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Pr., 1976. 160p. il.

History and analysis, accompanied by a typological study of domed round buildings and those with temple-front porches.

Contents: (1) In the temple of the whole world; (2) The building proper; (3) Background and principles of design; (4) The problem of meaning; (5) "The most celebrated edifice."

Bibliography, p.135–37. Notes, p.138–46. Index, p.157–60.

- J161 ———, and Pinto, John A. Hadrian's villa and its legacy. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., [1995]. x, 392p. il., maps, photos. (part col.), plans, site plans.

Solid scholarship complemented by impressive book design.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) The site; (III) Familiar architecture; (IV) Unfamiliar architecture; (V) The high ground; (VI) Art; (VII) The villa in use; (VIII) Survival and rediscovery; (IX) The draftsman's vision; (X) The landscape of allusion; (XI) Art dispersed; (XII) After 1800.

Piranesi's Pianta commentary, p.[331]–39. Abbreviations, p.[341]–42. Notes, p.[343]–74. Bibliography, p.[375]–80. Index, p.[383]–92.

J162 Rykwert, Joseph. The idea of a town: the anthropology of urban form in Rome, Italy and the ancient world. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1988. 242p. il. 1st ed., Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1976. An added preface to the 1988 ed. addresses the question of change of context over 30 years—archeology, history, and views of the urban situation.

Contents: (1) Town and rite: Rome and Romulus; (2) City and site; (3) Square and cross; (4) Guardians of centre, guardians of boundaries; (5) The parallels; (6) The city as curable disease: ritual and hysteria.

Abbreviations, p.[19]–21. Notes, p.[204]–31. Index, p.[233]–42.

J163 Sear, Frank. Roman architecture. Rev. ed. London, Batsford, 1989. 288p. il., maps, plans. 1st ed., 1982.

Introductory, readable survey, chronologically arranged. "I have aimed to be clear rather than comprehensive. I have selected what I regard as the most significant buildings of each era or province, and have in each case attempted to put them into their historical or cultural context."—Foreword.

Glossary, p.277–79. Bibliography, p.280–85. Index, p.285–88.

J164 Ward Perkins, J. B. Roman imperial architecture. 2d (integrated) ed. N.Y., Penguin, 1981. 532p. il. (Pelican history of art)

First publ. as parts 2–4 of Etruscan and Roman architecture, 1970 (GLAH 1:118, no.32).

Contents: Part One: Architecture in Rome and Italy from Augustus to the mid third century. Part Two: The architecture of the Roman provinces. Part Three: Late pagan architecture in Rome and the provinces.

Select glossary, p.[491]–97. Bibliography, p.[498]–510. Index, p.[518]–32.

Early Christian—Byzantine

Bibliography

J165 Kleinbauer, W. Eugene. Early Christian and Byzantine architecture: an annotated bibliography and historiography. Boston, Hall, 1992. cxxiii, 779p. (Reference publication in art history)

Covers monographs, catalogs, dissertations, and journal articles published to 1991. Tries "to assemble the most representative examples of studies dealing with a single topic regardless of their date of publication rather than to list only the most recent."—Pref.

Annotations vary greatly in length and indicate both subject matter and methodology. Generally, does not repeat Literature on Byzantine Art, 1892–1967 (GLAH 1:A93) and Slobodan Ćurčić's Art and architecture in the Balkans (GLAH 2:A118).

Contents: Prolegomena to a historiography of Early Christian and Byzantine architecture; General [divided into eight subjects and forms]; Topics [150, arranged alphabetically]. Appendix: Nineteenth-century photography of Early Christian and Byzantine architecture (with five-page bibliography).

Author index, p.671–95. Subject index, p.697–779.

Histories and Handbooks

J166 Krautheimer, Richard. Corpus basilicarum christianarum Romae = The early Christian basilicas of Rome (IV–IX cent.). Città del Vaticano, Pontificio istituto di archeologia cristiana, 1937–1977. 5v. il. (some folded), facsims., plans (some folded). (Monumenti di antichità cristiana, ser.2, v.II)

See GLAH 1:J93 for v.1–4. Vol.5 by Richard Krautheimer, Spencer Corbett, and Alfred K. Frazer. Text in English. For each of the three churches discussed, assembles bibliography, ancient descriptions and illustrations, dates, general description, analysis (archeological evidence, graphic evidence, literary evidence), reconstruction, and chronology. "Corrigenda et addenda," 1 leaf inserted in v.5.

Selective contents: Vol.5: S. Giovanni in Laterno; S. Paolo fuori le Mura; S. Pietro; Historical position [for the three churches]; Comparative dimensions.

Abbreviations, p.[v]–ix.

J167 ———. Early Christian and Byzantine architecture. 4th ed., rev. by Richard Krautheimer and Slobodan Ćurčić. N.Y., Viking, 1986. 556p. il. (Pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:J94 for 2d ed. 3d ed., 1979, reissued with revisions, 1981. In addition to incorporating corrections and revisions based on new research, the 4th ed. brings footnotes up to date and eliminates some obsolete bibliography.

Bibliography, p.[523]–25. Index, p.537–53.

Islamic

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

J168 Petersen, Andrew. Dictionary of Islamic architecture. N.Y., Routledge Reference, 1996. ix, 342p. il., maps.

An encyclopedic dictionary that aims to include the less well-known Muslim cultures of Southeast Asia, India, East and West Africa along with the Middle East and North Africa. Includes vernacular architecture, viewing it as providing a context for the more famous monuments. Entries cover particular dynasties or historic styles, sites and buildings, regions, and building types. The larger entries conclude with brief, fairly scholarly "further reading" suggestions.

Index, p.323–42.

Histories and Handbooks

J169 Architecture of the Islamic cultural sphere. Zurich, Muslim Architecture Research Program, 1986–. (6)v. il.

An important series, with many further vols. announced.

(1a) Introduction to Islamic architecture (1986); (1b) Determinants of Islamic architecture (1998); (2a) Mosques

(1986); (3a) Khawarizm (1990); (3b) Bukhara (1993); (4a) Islamic arches.

- J170 Architecture of the Islamic world: its history and social meaning: with a complete survey of key monuments and 758 illustrations, 112 in color. By Ernst J. Grube . . . [et al.] Ed. by George Michell. N.Y., Morrow, 1978. 288p. il. (part col.) (Repr.: N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1984)

Excellent multiauthor survey placing the subject in its cultural setting.

Contents: Architecture and society. Introduction: What is Islamic architecture?, by Ernst J. Grube; (1) Allah and eternity: mosques, madrasas and tombs, by James Dickie (Yaqub Zaki); (2) The architecture of power: palaces, citadels and fortifications, by Oleg Grabar; (3) Trade and travel: markets and caravanserais, by Eleanor Sims; (4) Architects, craftsmen and builders: materials and techniques, by Ronald Lewcock; (5) The elements of decoration: surface, pattern and light, by Dalu Jones; (6) Vernacular architecture: the house and society, by Guy T. Petherbridge. Key monuments of Islamic architecture [arranged by country, with various authors].

Glossary, p.281–82. Select bibliography, p.282–84. Index, p.284–88.

- J171 Barrucand, Marianne, and Bednorz, Achim. Moorish architecture in Andalusia. Köln, Taschen, 1992. 235p. il. (part col.), maps.

Contents: Introduction; Events up to the end of the 9th century; The architecture of the 8th century and 9th centuries; A golden age: the Caliphate; The architecture of the 10th century; The age of the petty kings; The architecture of the Taifa period; The period of Berber domination; Almoravid and Almohad architecture; The rule of the Nasrids; The architecture of the Nasrids; Conclusion.

Notes, p.221–27. Glossary, p.228–30. Bibliography, p.231–34.

- J172 Çelik, Zeynep. Displaying the Orient: architecture of Islam at nineteenth-century world's fairs. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1992. xv, 245p. il. (Comparative studies on Muslim societies, 12).

Focuses on those expositions where the architectural representation of Islam was significant.

Contents: (1) Muslim visitors to world's fairs; (2) Islamic quarters in Western cities; (3) Search for identity: architecture of national pavilions; (4) Exposition fever carried East; (5) The impact.

Notes, p.200–25. Selected bibliography, p.226–34. Index, p.235–45.

- J173 Creswell, Keppel Archibald Cameron. A short account of early Muslim architecture. Rev. and suppl. by James W. Allan. Rev. and enl. ed. Aldershot, Scolar, 1989. xx, 435p. il.

First published 1958 as a reduced format of the author's monumental study of Early Muslim architecture (GLAH 1:J97). Also published in Arabic in 1984.

Includes bibliographical references. Bibliography, p.[420]–23. Index, p.[424]–35.

- J174 Franz, Heinrich Gerhard. Palast, Moschee und Wüstenschloss: das Werden der islamischen Kunst, 7.-9. Jahrhundert. Graz, Akademische Druck- u. Verlagsanstalt, 1984. 166p. il., plates, plans.

An authoritative, concise survey of Islamic architecture and associated arts, continued by the same author's Von Baghdad bis Cordoba (see following entry).

- J175 ———. Von Baghdad bis Cordoba: Ausbreitung und Entfaltung der Islamischen Kunst 850–1050. Graz, Akademische Druck- u. Verlagsanstalt, 1984. 211p. il., plates, plans. (Forschungen und Berichte des Institutes für Kunstgeschichte der Karl-Franzens-Universität Graz, 6)

Continuation of the same author's Palast, Moschee und Wüstenschloss (see preceding entry).

Schrifttum, p.167–81. Glossar, p.183–96. Index, p.207–11.

- J176 Golombek, Lisa, and Wilber, Donald Newton. The Timurid architecture of Iran and Turan. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1988. 2v. il. (part col.), maps, plans (Princeton monographs in art and archaeology, 46)

Contributors: Terry Allen, Leonid S. Bretanitskii, Robert Hillenbrand, Renata Holod, Antony Hutt, L. Iu. Man'kovskaia, H. M. Nasirly, and Bernard O'Kane.

The 10 chapters cover topics such as concept design, materials and methods of construction, decoration, and design theory.

Contents: (I) The Timurid world; (II) Timurid architecture; (III) Timurid architecture defined; (IV) Catalogue of monuments.

List of monuments, v.1, p.ix–xiv. Appendixes: Supplementary catalog of monuments, Timurid builders and craftsmen, Patrons known from standing monuments, Genealogical table for Timur, v.1, p.445–68. Glossary, v.1, p.469–71. Abbreviations, v.1, p.472. Bibliography: primary sources, secondary sources, v.1, p.473–95. Index, v.1, p.497–510.

- J177 Golvin, Lucien. Essais sur l'architecture religieuse musulmane. [Paris], Klincksieck, 1970–79. 4v. il., map, plates (Archéologie méditerranéenne, 5)

Monumental study of Islamic religious architecture.

Contents: (1) Généralités; (2) L'art religieux des Umayyades de Syrie; (3) L'architecture religieuse des "grands Abbâsides", la Mosquée de Ibn T'ûlûn, l'architecture religieuse des Aghalvides; (4) L'architecture religieuse hispano-mauresque.

- J178 Hillenbrand, Robert. Islamic architecture: form, function and meaning. N.Y., Columbia Univ. Pr., 1994. 645p. il. (part col.), plans, plates.

An impressive history, thorough and detailed, incorporating vast numbers of plans and line drawings along with photographs.

Contents: The scope of the enquiry: problems and approaches; The mosque; The minaret; The madrasa; The mausoleum; The caravansari; The palace.

Glossary of Islamic terms, p.598–600. Select bibliography, p.601–07. Index of individual monuments, p.613–25.

Index of terms in foreign (principally Islamic) languages, p.626–28. Index of proper names, p.629–34. Subject index, p.635–45.

J179 Holod, Renata, and Khan, Hasan-Uddin. The contemporary mosque: architects, clients, and designs since the 1950s. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1997. 288p. il. (part col.), plans.

UK ed. entitled The mosque and the modern world: architects, patrons and designs since the 1950s.

Wide-ranging, beautifully illustrated survey of contemporary mosque architecture, with an emphasis upon patronage structures.

Contents: (1) Personal patronage; (2) The State as client; (3) Commissions by local government bodies; (4) Mosques for public and commercial institutions; (5) Local community projects worldwide; (6) Islamic centres in the west.

Notes on the text, p.254–73. Key mosques and Islamic centres, p.274–79. Select bibliography, p.280–84. Glossary, p.285. Sources of illustrations, p.286. Index, p.287–88.

J180 Korbendau, Yves. L'architecture sacrée de l'Islam. Courbevoie, ACR, 1997. 479p. col. il., col. maps. Monumental, beautifully illustrated atlas of Islamic sacred architecture.

Contents: Les éléments religieux; Les éléments d'architecture; Répertoire des monuments.

Tableau chronologique, p.[10–11]. Bibliographie, p.478. Glossaire, p.479.

J181 Lehrman, Jonas Ben Zion. Earthly paradise: garden and courtyard in Islam. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1980. 240p. il. (part col.), map, plans.

"Aims to present a picture of the gardens and courtyards . . . as they exist today [and] to serve as a general introduction to the subject."—Pref. Well-illustrated, with some color photographs.

Contents: Setting the scene; Characteristics; Moorish Spain; Safavid Iran; Mughal India; Other regions. Also includes proposals for restoration and preservation, a horticultural note, glossary, lists of dynasties and emperors, and a chronology.

Bibliography, p.233–34. Index, p.237–40.

J182 The mosque: history, architectural development & regional diversity. Ed. by Martin Frishman and Hasan-Uddin Khan. Texts by Mohammad Al-Asad . . . [et al.] N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1994. 288p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

A comprehensive overview of the history of the mosque as an architectural building type, with special attention to regional variations.

Notes on the text, p.273–78. Bibliography, p.279–82. Glossary, p.282. Chronological table, p.283. Sources of illustrations, p.284. Index, p.285–88.

J183 Pereira, José. Islamic sacred architecture: a stylistic history. New Delhi, Books & Books, 1994. ix, 379p. il. (part col.), plates.

Contents: Basic concepts; History; Idiomatrics; Axiomorphics; Aesthetics. Appendix: a comprehensive classification of Muslim sacred structures.

Selected bibliography, p.[349]–51. Index, p.[362]–79.

SEE ALSO: Blair and Bloom, The art and architecture of Islam 1250–1800 (GLAH 2:I184); Ettinghausen and Grabar, The art and architecture of Islam 650–1250 (GLAH 2:I191).

Carolingian—Gothic

Bibliography

J184 Davies, Martin. Romanesque architecture: a bibliography. N.Y., Hall, 1993. xxv, 306p. maps. (Reference publication in art history)

Lists 1,662 works, including translations, in nearly all European languages. No annotations. Brief introductions to chapters and their sections.

Contents: (1) Romanesque architecture: General surveys, etc.; (2) Series on Romanesque art and architecture; (3) Medieval architecture: General surveys, etc.; (4) France; (5) Germany; Austria, and Switzerland; (6) Italy; (7) Spain and Portugal; (8) British Isles; (9) The Low Countries; (10) Scandinavia; (11) Eastern Europe; Appendixes: Audiovisual material, Unpublished theses (emphasis on materials available in England and France), Addenda (all divided geographically).

Author index, p.275–95. Subject index, p.297–306.

Histories and Handbooks

J185 Les Bâisseurs des cathédrales gothiques. Publié sous la direction de Roland Recht. Avec les contrib. de: Jacques Le Goff . . . [et al.] Strasbourg, Éd. les Musées de la Ville de Strasbourg, [1989]. 498p. il. (part col.), plans.

Published in connection with the exhibition, Ancienne Douane, Strasbourg (1989). Imposing study of the Gothic cathedral, emphasizing the role of drawings in the design process and in the shaping of architectural conventions.

Bibliographical notes at ends of chapters.

Contents: (I) La cathédrale gothique; (II) Le chantier en activité; (III) Quelques chantiers; (IV) L'architecte; (V) Le dessin d'architecture et ses applications; (VI) Les bâtisseurs vus par le XIXe siècle; Catalogue des oeuvres exposées.

J186 Bizzarro, Tina Waldeier. Romanesque architectural criticism: a pre-history. Cambridge, Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1992. vii, 253, [20]p. il.

Covers the Romanesque churches of France, Catalonia, and Norman England, from ca.1000 to ca.1140. Has as one of its theses that a language of architectural history shapes subsequent histories.

Contents: (1) Seventeenth century French criticism: birth of a distinction; (2) England, 1538–1730: from the Tudor chorographers through the Restoration; (3) English criticism, 1740–1818; (4) French Enlightenment criticism, 1700–1818; (5) Gunn's "Romanesque," de Gerville's "romane," and their critical legacy. Appendix: An introduction to latter-day criticism: Proles Ignara Parentis.

Notes, p.161–212. Bibliography, p.213–46. Index of names, p.247–50. General index, p.251–53.

J187 Calkins, Robert G. Medieval architecture in Western Europe: from A.D. 300 to 1500. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1998. x, 342p. il. + 1 computer laser optical disk. Significant introductory survey, aiming "to fill a gap between the very selective and cursory mention of major medieval buildings in general surveys of art or architectural history and the in-depth books on particular periods or regions."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Classical antecedents; (2) Early Christian buildings to A.D. 500; (3) Justinian's buildings; (4) Later Byzantine variations; (5) Early monasticism and northern traditions; (6) Carolingian assimilations and innovations; (7) Ottonian continuations; (8) Visigothic, Asturian, Muslim, and Mozarabic beginnings in Spain; (9) Early Romanesque solutions; (10) Romanesque styles in France; (11) Other Romanesque variations: Germany and Italy; (12) Anglo-Saxon, Norman, and Anglo-Norman Romanesque; (13) Early Gothic in France; (14) Thirteenth-century Gothic in France; (15) Regional Gothic styles; (16) The rayonnant style in France and European imitations; (17) Late Gothic elaborations and innovations; (18) Secular architecture in the middle ages; (19) Medieval builders and building practices.

Notes, p.313–17. Bibliography, p.319–35. Index, p.337–42.

J188 Conant, Kenneth John. Carolingian and Romanesque architecture, 800 to 1200. 2d integrated ed., rev.; repr. with corr. Harmondsworth, Penguin, 1978. 522p. il., col. maps, plans. (The Pelican history of art, PZ13) See GLAH 1:J108 for 1st ed. 2d ed., 1966; "3d rev. ed.," 1973; "4th ed." is a repr. (New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993).

This ed. commences with a fine section of maps (p.14–27) of different areas of Europe at various times, including Scandinavia and the Holy Land.

Index, p.[509]–22. Bibliography, p.[493]–500.

J189 Erlande-Brandenburg, Alain. The cathedral: the social and architectural dynamics of construction. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1994. xxii, 378p. il., maps. (Cambridge studies in the history of architecture) Trans. of La cathédrale. Paris, Fayard, 1989.

The author has tried "to transcend piecemeal description and thus to achieve a global perspective" using newly discovered sources and a new concept of history that clarify the interaction "between holy town and town, cathedral and palace, and between canonical precinct and hôtel-Dieu."—Pref.

Contents: The bishop in the city; The imperial dream; The Gregorian reform; Gothic construction; Men, finance and administration; The churches and the cathedral; The Gothic palace; The canonical precinct; The hôtel Dieu.

Selective bibliography by chapter, and bibliographical references, p.358–62. Index, p.363–78.

J190 Heitz, Carol. L'architecture religieuse carolingienne: les formes et leurs fonctions. Paris, Picard, 1980. 288p. il., map, plans.

Scholarly survey of Carolingian architecture.

Notes, p.[234]–52. Plan de Saint-Gall, p.254–60. Bibliographie, p.[261–81]. Index des noms, p.[281]–85.

J191 Horn, Walter William, and Born, Ernest. The plan of St. Gall: a study of the architecture & economy of, & life in a paradigmatic Carolingian monastery. With a foreword by Wolfgang Braunfels; a translation into English by Charles W. Jones of the Directives of Adalhard, 753–826, the Ninth Abbot of Corbie, and with a note by A. Hunter Dupree on the significance of the plan of St. Gall to the history of measurement. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1979. 3v. il. (part. col.), plans, maps. (California studies in the history of art, 19)

Corrigenda and errata addendum for v.3 inserted. Abridged version published as: Price, Lorna. The plan of St. Gall in brief: an overview based on the 3-volume work by Walter Horn and Ernest Born. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1982.

Monumental study of this "paradigmatic Carolingian monastery."

Bibliography, v.3, p.167–200.

J192 Lavedan, Pierre. L'urbanisme au Moyen Age. Genève, Droz, 1974. 184p. il., plates. (Bibliothèque de la Société française d'archéologie, 5)

Index, p.[165]–72.

Contents: Origines et formes de la ville médiévale; (I) Les anciennes villes romaines; (II) Villes d'accession; (III) La création urbaine en France; (IV) La création urbaine hors de France; (V) Le cadre de la vie urbaine à la fin du moyen âge.

J193 Müller, Werner. Grundlagen gotischer Bautechnik: ars sine scientia nihil. München, Deutscher Kunstverlag, [1990]. 318p. il., plans.

In German, with summary in English. A technical study of Gothic architecture.

Sachverzeichnis, p.311–18.

J194 Munich. Zentralinstitut für Kunstgeschichte. Vorromanische Kirchenbauten. Katalog der Denkmäler bis zum Ausgang der Ottonen. München, Prestel, 1990–1991. 2v. il., maps, plans. (Veröffentlichungen des Zentralinstituts für Kunstgeschichte in München, III/1–2)

See GLAH 1:J118 for previous ed. (3v., 1966–1971). Bd.1 is a reprint. Bd.2, Nachtragsband, is a supplement compiled by Werner Jacobsen, Leo Schaefer, and Hans Rudolf Sennhauser, with the assistance of Matthias Exner, Jozef Mertens, and Henk Stoepker.

The supplement has the same format and definitive documentation as the original three vols., and includes an abbreviations list (p.8–11) and an appendix listing those buildings not treated in the main text (p.476–90).

- J195 Radding, Charles, and Clark, William W. Medieval architecture, medieval learning: builders and masters in the age of romanesque and gothic. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1992. xiii, 166p. il.

Italian ed.: Architettura e sapere nel medioevo. Milano, Vita e Pensiero, 1997.

Important exploration of the relationship between medieval architecture and medieval scholarship, focusing upon the role of specialization in shaping the evolution of both architecture and scholarship.

Bibliography, p.151–64. Index, p.165–66.

- J196 Simson, Otto Georg von. The Gothic cathedral: origins of Gothic architecture and the medieval concept of order. 3d ed., with additions. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1988. xxiii, 282p. il., 51p. of plates. (Bollingen series, 48)

1st ed., 1956 [N.Y., Pantheon]; 2d ed., 1962; 2d ed., rev., 1964. Trans. of Die gotische Kathedrale. Darmstadt, Wissenschaftliche Buchgesellschaft, 1968. Previous English eds. included an appendix by Ernst Levy, On the proportion of the South Tower of Chartres Cathedral. The 3d ed. adds a new section on the rose window of Chartres and is updated within the preface and postscript (1961), p.238–41. Also publ. in Spanish as La catedral gótica, Madrid, Alianza, 1982.

"This essay seeks to understand Gothic architecture as an image, more precisely, as the representation of supernatural reality."—Introd.

Contents: (I) Gothic design and the medieval concept of order (Gothic form; Measure and light); (II) The birth of the Gothic (Suger of St.-Denis; The new church; Sens and Chartres West); (III) The consummation (The palace of the Virgin; The cathedral of Chartres).

Abbreviations, p.[247]–48. List of works cited, p.[249]–68. Index, p.[269]–82.

- J197 Ullmann, Ernst. Die Welt der gotischen Kathedrale. Mit Fotos von Werner Neumeister. Wien, Edition Tusch, 1981. 291p. il. (part col.), plans.

Accessible survey of Gothic architecture by a wide-ranging scholar.

Contents: Die Kathedrale im Urteil der Zeiten; Die Gestalt der Kathedrale; Funktion und Baugeschehen; Das Weltbild; Ausbildung und Verbreitung der Kathedralgotik; Die Gotische Kathedrale.

Literaturauswahl, p.268–69. Erläuterung der Fachausdrücke, p.269–72. Zeittafel, p.272–77. Übersichtstafeln, p.278–90. Ortsregister, p.291–[92].

- J198 Wilson, Christopher. The Gothic cathedral: the architecture of the great church, 1130–1530, with 220 illustrations. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1990. 304p. il.

A basic survey, well-illustrated.

Contents: (I) Early Gothic; (II) Thirteenth-century Gothic; (III) Late Gothic.

Glossary, p.[291]–94. Select bibliography, p.295–98. Index of persons and works, p.299–303.

Renaissance—Baroque

- J199 Architectural theory and practice from Alberti to Le-doux. Ed. by Dora Wiebenson. Foreword by Adolf Placzek. Contrib. by James S. Ackerman . . . [et al.] 2d ed., rev. [Chicago], Architectural Publications (Distr. by the Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1983). Unpaginated [ca.100p.] il.

1st ed., 1982. The only change is the correction of errors. Published in association with exhibition, Yale University (1982), and other locations.

"This book is intended to be both an ideal catalog, supplementing [the three exhibitions], and as a survey and guide for those interested in the history of architectural theory. . . . Some areas of architectural theory and practice are represented by only a few examples, other more peripheral areas such as garden structures and fortifications reluctantly have been omitted."—Pref.

In three sections:

Contents: (I) The publications; (II) Architects and amateurs; (III) The elements of architecture.

Entries are by 49 contributors.

Bibliography (4p.). Index (2p.).

- J200 De architectura. Paris, Picard, 1983–. (7)v. il., plans. Proceedings of a series of colloquia held in Tours, 1977–1990. Papers are in English, French, German, Italian, and Spanish. Vols. include French summaries and bibliographic notes.

Contents: (1) La maison de ville à la Renaissance; recherches sur l'habitat urbain en Europe aux XVe et XVIe siècles (1983); (2) L'escalier dans l'architecture de la Renaissance (1985); (3) Les traités d'architecture de la Renaissance (1988); (4) Les chantiers de la Renaissance (1991); (5) L'emploi des ordres dans l'architecture de la Renaissance (1992); (6) Architecture et vie sociale: l'organisation intérieure des grandes demeures à la fin du Moyen Age et à la Renaissance (1994); (7) L'église dans l'architecture de la Renaissance (1995).

In addition to the Colloques vols., there is a related series of Études:

Contents: Boudon, Françoise, and Blécon, Jean. Philibert Delorme et le château royal de Saint-Léger-en-Yvelines (1985); Chatenet, Monique. Le château de Madrid au bois de Boulogne (1987); Boudon, Françoise; Blécon, Jean; and Grodecki, Catherine. Le château de Fontainebleau de François Ier à Henri IV: les bâtiments et leurs fonctions (1998).

- J201 Lavedan, Pierre; Hugueney, Jeanne; and Henrat, Philippe. L'urbanisme à l'époque moderne: XVIe–XVIIIe siècles. Genève, Droz, 1982. 310, cclxxxiiip. il., plates (Bibliothèque de la Société française d'archéologie, 13)

A massive study, equally divided between text and plates, based on three types of documents: maps and plans, ancient views (prints), and travel accounts. It follows the authors' Urbanisme au Moyen Age (GLAH 2:J192) in the same collection.

Contents: (I): Le XVIe siècle; (II): XVIIe–XVIIIe siècles; (III) Urbanisme hors d'Europe.

Includes bibliographic notes.

- J202 Lemerle, Frédéric, and Yves Pauwels. L'architecture à la renaissance. Paris, Flammarion, 1998. 254p. il. (part col.), plans.

Informed survey of Italian Renaissance architecture and its European legacy.

Contents: La naissance de "l'architecture": du moderne à l'antique; (I) Prélude: le gothique de la renaissance; (II) La renaissance florentine; (III) L'Italie face à la nouvelle architecture; (IV) Les débuts de l'italianisme en France; (V) L'italianisme en Europe; (VI) L'architecture savante à Rome; (VII) La diffusion de la nouvelle architecture en Italie; (VIII) L'architecture savante dans la péninsule ibérique; (IX) La renaissance classique en France; (X) La diffusion de l'architecture savante en Europe; Conclusion: La renaissance après la renaissance.

Glossaire des termes d'architecture, p.249–50. Bibliographie, p.251–[55].

- J203 Scott, Geoffrey. The architecture of humanism: a study in the history of taste. London, Architectural Pr., [1980]. xxix, 266p.

Based on the rev. ed. of 1924. 1st ed., 1914, London, Constable; 2d ed., 1924, repr. N.Y., Norton, 1954, 1974; Gloucester, Mass., P. Smith, 1965.

This ed. is unique in that it has a foreword by David Watkin, which provides a biography of Scott and analyzes the impact and significance of this work, noting that it is important "as an expression of that vanished world of cultivated Anglo-American connoisseurship."

Contents: (I) Renaissance architecture; (II) The Romantic fallacy; (III) The Romantic fallacy: naturalism and the picturesque; (IV) The mechanical fallacy; (V) The ethical fallacy; (VI) The biological fallacy; (VII) The academic tradition; (VIII) Humanist values; (IX) Conclusion. An "analytic summary" serves as a detailed table of contents. Epilogue, 1924.

Bibliography, p.266.

- J204 Smith, Gil R. Architectural diplomacy: Rome and Paris in the late Baroque. N.Y., Architectural History Foundation; Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1993. x, 367p. il.

"The scope . . . is largely confined to the exchanges between French and Roman architectural traditions in the last quarter of the seventeenth century."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Aggregation of the Roman and French academies: union of convenience or strategic alliance; (II) Concorso of 1677; (III) The interim years: 1678 to 1692.

Notes, p.317–58. Selected bibliography, p.359–60. Selected glossary, p.361. Index, p.363–67.

- J205 Triumph of the Baroque: architecture in Europe 1600–1750. Ed. by Henry A. Millon. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1999. 621p. il. (part col.), facsim., maps, plans.

Published to accompany the exhibition, Palazzina di Caccia di Stupinigi (1999).

Contents: Introduction, by Henry Millon; Birth of the Baroque in Rome, by Paolo Portoghesi; The Baroque and its buildings, by Christian Norberg-Schulz; Architecture in the seventeenth century in Europe, by Hilary Ballon; The age of the Late Baroque and Rococo, by Christian Norberg-Schulz; The architecture of the Russian state: between east and west, 1600–1760, by Dmitry Shvidkovsky; "Mostrar l'invenzione"—the role of Roman architects in the Baroque period, by Elizabeth Kieven; Architectura est scientia aedificandi: reflection on the scope of architectural and architectural-theoretical literature, by Werner Oechslin; From the "Ideal City" to real cities: perspectives, chorographies, models, vedute, by Fernando Marías; Architectural painting: fantasy and caprice, by Jörg Garms; Garden displays of majestic will, by Michel Conan; Urban transformations, by Claude Mignot; Military architecture in Baroque Europe, by Simon Pepper; Turin: an example for the town planning and architectural models of European capitals in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, by Vera Comoli Mandracci; The Royal Palace of Caserta by Luigi Vanvitelli: the genesis and development of the project, by Cesare de Seta; The architectural model in the sphere of influence of the Imperial Court in Vienna, by Michael Krapf; Appendix.

Chronology, p.600–601. Bibliography, p.602–14. Index of names, p.615–17. Index of works, 618–21.

Neoclassical—Modern

Bibliography

- J206 Sharp, Dennis. Sources of modern architecture: a critical bibliography. 2d ed., rev. and enl. London, Granada, 1981. 192p. il., facsim., ports.

See GLAH 1:J126 for 1st ed. This ed. includes references to new eds. and new areas of research, expanding by about 40 percent.

Index of architects and authors, p.183–91.

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

- J207 Encyclopedia of 20th century architecture. General ed., Vittorio Magnago Lampugnani. Rev. and enl. ed. N.Y., Abrams, 1986. 384p. il.

See GLAH 1:J134 for previous eds. Trans. of Hatje-Lexikon der Architektur des 20. Jahrhunderts, trans. and ed. by Barry Bergdoll. Originally published in English in 1964 as Encyclopedia of modern architecture, trans. and adapted from Knaurs Lexikon der modernen Architektur, ed. by Gerd Hatje and Wolfgang Pehnt. Publ. in French as Dictionnaire encyclopédique de l'architecture moderne & contemporaine (Paris, P. Sers, 1987) and in Spanish as Enciclopedia GG de la arquitectura del siglo XX (Barcelona, G. Gili, 1989). Signed entries by some 60 architectural historians and critics. Many include bibliographical references. They cover architects, schools, styles, associations, countries, construction terms, and materials.

Index, p.373–84.

Histories and Handbooks

- J208 Architectural documents. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1982–1988. 5v. il., plans.

Contents: Tafuri, Manfredo. Vittorio Gregotti, buildings and projects (1982); Dini, Massimo. Renzo Piano, progetti e architetture, 1964–1983 (1983); Nicolini, Pierluigi. Mario Botta: buildings and projects 1961–1982 (1984); Rykwert, Joseph. Robert and James Adam: the men and the style (1985); Norberg-Schulz, Christian. The concept of dwelling: on the way to figurative architecture (1985); ———. Architecture, meaning and place: selected essays (1988).

- J209 Architecture culture, 1943–1968: a documentary anthology. Comp. by Joan Ockman with the collaboration of Edward Eigen. [N.Y.], Columbia Univ. Graduate School of Architecture, Planning, and Preservation; Rizzoli, 1993. 464p. il. (Columbia books of architecture. Studio work)

"Aims to examine the relationship between historical documents and the culture in which they were first introduced [and] to relate these texts with an ongoing and very contemporary discourse that calls into question the boundaries between theory and practice."—Foreword.

73 texts presented chronologically. Each is preceded by a brief one-page analysis. Authors range from F. L. Wright to J. J. P. Oud, the German Democratic Republic, Jane Jacobs, Christopher Alexander, Michel Foucault, and Hans Hollein. Selected bibliography, p.463. Index of authors, p.464.

- J210 The architecture of the École des beaux-arts. Ed. by Arthur Drexler. Essays by Richard Chafee . . . [et al.] N.Y., Museum of Modern Art (Distr. by MIT Pr., 1977). 525p. il. (part col.)

Based on the exhibition, Museum of Modern Art (1975–76), presenting 200 drawings for architectural projects.

Contents: Engineer's architecture: truth and its consequences, by Arthur Drexler; The teaching of architecture at the École des Beaux-Arts, by Richard Chafee; Architectural composition at the École des Beaux-Arts from Charles Percier to Charles Garnier, by David Van Zanten; The romantic idea of architectural legibility: Henri Labrousse and the neogrec, by Neil Levine; Beaux-arts buildings in France and America.

Notes to the essays, p.[495]–517. Lists of architects and their works, p.[519]–23.

- J211 Architecture theory since 1968. Ed. by K. Michael Hays. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1998. xv, 807p. il. (Columbia books of architecture)

A substantial and wide-ranging anthology of contemporary writings on architectural theory, chronologically arranged.

Notes at ends of essays. Index, p.[802–08].

- J212 At the end of the century: one hundred years of architecture. Los Angeles, Museum of Contemporary Art; Abrams, 1998. 336p. il. (part col.)

Beautifully illustrated catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Contemporary Art, Los Angeles (1998). Survey's "the global terrain of 20th-century architecture and urbanism."—Foreword.

Contents: Re-examining architecture and its history at the end of the century, by Elizabeth A. T. Smith; Space, time, and movement, by Anthony Vidler; The exhibitionist house, by Beatriz Colomina; Internationalism versus regionalism, by Hajime Yatsuka; Cultural intersections: re-visioning architecture and the city in the twentieth century, by Zeynep Çelik; Urban architecture and the crisis of the modern metropolis, by Jean-Louis Cohen; Latin America: the places of the "Other," by Jorge Francisco Liernur.

Bibliography, p.321–31. Index, p.332–36.

- J213 Banham, Reyner. The architecture of the well-tempered environment. 2d ed. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1984. 319p. il.

1st ed., [1969]. Practical aspects of building.

Contents: (1) Unwarranted apology; (2) Environmental management; (3) A dark satanic century; (4) The kit of parts: heat and light; (5) Environments of large buildings; (6) The well-tempered home; (7) The environment of the machine aesthetic; (8) Machines à habiter; (9) Towards full control; (10) Concealed power; (11) Exposed power; (12) A range of methods; (13) A breath of intelligence.

"Readings in environmental technology," p.313. Index, p.315–19.

- J214 ———. Theory and design in the first machine age. [Reprint.] Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1980. 338p. il.

1st ed., London, Architectural Press, 1960. This paperback ed. differs "in the addition to the bibliographies of a few substantial works of scholarship that have come to my notice since the original text was completed."—p.13. Published in German as Die Revolution der Architektur: Theorie und Gestaltung im ersten Maschinenzeitalter. Braunschweig, Vieweg, 1990.

Twenty-two chapters in four sections: (1) Predisposing causes: academic and rationalist writers, 1900–1914; (2) Italy: Futurist manifestos and projects, 1909–1914; (3) Holland: The legacy of Berlage: De Stijl, 1917–1925; (4) Paris: The world of art and Le Corbusier; (5) Germany: Berlin, the Bauhaus, the victory of the new style.

Index to proper names and buildings, p.331–34. Index to topics, publications, and organizations, p.335–38.

- J215 Benevolo, Leonardo. The origins of modern town planning. Trans. by Judith Landry. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., [1967]. xiv, 154p. il., facsim., maps, plans.

Trans. of Le origini dell'urbanistica moderna. Bari, Laterza, 1963; 2d ed., 1964; 3d ed. rev. 1968.

Complements the author's previous History of modern architecture (GLAH 1:J129) by addressing "a new relationship between town-planning and politics" (meaning social and economic planning) and "the avant-garde movements from Morris onwards."—Pref.

Contents: The growth of the industrial town; Great expectations (1815–48); Nineteenth century utopias [Owen, Saint-Simon, Fourier, Godin, and Cabet]; The beginnings of town-planning legislation in England and France; 1848 and its consequences.

Bibliographic footnotes within chapters. Index, p.148–54.

- J216 ———. Storia dell'architettura moderna. 17th ed., rev. Roma, Laterza, 1993. 1058p. il. (Grandi opere)

- Eng. ed., 1971 (GLAH 1:J129) has index. Publ. in French as Histoire de l'architecture moderne (Paris, Dunod, 1978–1988) and in German as Geschichte der Architektur des 19. und 20. Jahrhunderts, ([München], Callwey, [1964]).
Bibliography, p.[1021]–29. Name index, p.[1033]–51.
- J217 Colomina, Beatriz. Privacy and publicity: modern architecture as mass media. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1994. xi, 389p. il.
A theoretical study of Adolf Loos and others.
Contents: Archive; City; Photography; Museum; Interior; Window.
Notes, p.[336]–79. Index, p.[384]–89.
- J218 Companion to contemporary architectural thought. Ed. by Ben Farmer and Hentie Louw. Consultant ed., Adrian Napper. N.Y., Routledge, 1993. x, 673p. il., maps.
A substantial, ambitious anthology of writings aimed at providing "an appreciation of the general state of the architectural world as it appears at the close of the twentieth century."—Pref.
Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Responses [to people, places]; (3) Influences [of society, function, precedent, technology]; (4) Elements and attributes [form, space, architectural elements]; (5) Approaches and appreciation; (6) Case studies.
Contributors, p.[621]–35. Index, p.[636]–73.
- J219 Conrads, Ulrich, and Sperlich, Hans G. The architecture of fantasy: utopian building and planning in modern times. Trans., ed., and exp. by Christine Crasemann Collins and George R. Collins. N.Y., Praeger, 1962. 187p. il., plans (Books that matter)
Trans. of Phantastische Architektur. Stuttgart, Hatje, [1960].
A heavily-illustrated survey of 15 types of futuristic, spontaneous, and grotesque designs that were selected "to pay tribute to human imagination."—Pref.
Includes section of documents and excerpts, p.129–56: Paul Scheerbart; Adolf Behne; Arbeitsrat für Kunst; Aus dem Utopischen Briefwechsel; Einzelne Werke und Architekten.
Notes, p.155–74. Name index, p.175–[76].
- J220 Curtis, William J. R. Modern architecture since 1900. 3d ed. London, Phaidon, 1996. 736p. il. (part col.).
1st ed., 1982; 2d ed., 1987.
A standard survey that concentrates "on buildings of high visual and intellectual quality."—Pref. "With the third edition the aim has been to integrate new knowledge and experience . . . and to accentuate themes that were left undeveloped" in previous eds.—Pref. to the third ed.
Contents: Part 1: The formative strands of modern architecture; Part 2: The crystallization of modern architecture between the wars; Part 3: Transformation and dissemination after 1940; Part 4: Continuity and change in the late twentieth century.
Bibliographical note, p.690–92. Books referred to in shortened form in notes, p.693. Notes, p.694–719. Index, p.720–36.
- J221 De Benedetti, Mara. Antologia dell'architettura moderna: testi, manifesti, utopie. Bologna, Zanichelli, 1988. xvii, 840p. il.
Important, substantial anthology of documents presenting modern architectural theory and ideologies.
Contents: (1) Art nouveau, Jugendstil, Secession; (2) Berlage; (3) La "Scuola di Chicago"; (4) Garden City e Cité industrielle; (5) Vecchie città ed edilizia nuova: il problema dei centri storici; (6) Loos; (7) Il Deutscher Werkbund; (8) La stagione delle avanguardie; (9) Le Corbusier e "L'esprit nouveau"; (10) Internationale Architektur; (11) I CIAM; (12) Il costruttivismo sovietico; (13) Hof e Siedlung; (14) La costruzione del "Movimento moderno"; (15) L'Italia; (16) Il neoempirismo scandinavo.
Bibliografia, p.795–828. Indice degli autori, p.829–33. Indice dei nomi, p.834–40.
- J222 De Fusco, Renato. Storia dell'architettura contemporanea. 6th ed. Roma, Laterza, 1997. viii, 642p. il., plans, ports. (Grandi opere)
1st ed. 1974. Standard handbook, frequently revised and/or reissued as a "new" ed.
Includes bibliographical references and index.
- J223 The Experimental tradition: essays on competitions in architecture. Ed. by Hélène Lipstadt. N.Y., Princeton Architectural Pr., 1989. 186p. il.
Catalog of an exhibition organized by the Architectural League of New York entitled "The Experimental tradition: twenty-five years of American architecture competitions, 1960–1985" and shown at six other American cities. "This volume places twenty-five years of American architecture competitions . . . in a wider historical context and recalls these debates."—Foreword.
Contents: (I) The experimental tradition, by Hélène Lipstadt; (II) Competing in the academy and the marketplace: European architecture competitions, 1401–1927, by Barry Bergdoll; (III) Coming to terms: architecture competitions in America and the emerging profession, 1789–1922, by Sarah Bradford Landau; (IV) In the shadow of the Tribune tower: American architecture competitions, 1922–1960, by Hélène Lipstadt; (V) Transforming the tradition: American architecture competitions, 1960 to the present, by Hélène Lipstadt; (VI) The battle for the monument: the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, by Mary McLeod; (VII) The promise and perils of art museum competitions: the New Orleans Museum of Art, by Helen Searing; (VIII) Ten competitions.
Index, p.184–86.
- J224 Fanelli, Giovanni. Storia dell'architettura contemporanea: spazio, struttura, involucro. Roma, Laterza, 1998. 532p. il. (Grandi opere)
Substantial thematic survey of formal solutions in 20th-century architecture.
Contents: (I) Chicago: dall'architettura del grattacielo al mito wrightiano dello spazio; (II) Vienna, o del sublime della superficie; (III) Berlage, Plečnik, Garnier: parete e telaio a confronto; (IV) Da Gaudí a Behrens, la struttura tra espressione logica e monumentalismo; (V) Futurismo, costruttivismo, De Stijl: la struttura a traliccio tra collage e congegno dinamico; (VI) Perret, Le Corbusier, Mies van der Rohe: nuovi ordini architettonici; (VII) "International Style" e "New Traditionalism"; (VIII) La lezione di Kahn: oltre il contemporaneo.

Note, p.[489]–512. Indice dei nomi e delle opere, p.[515]–29.

J225 Ford, Edward R. The details of modern architecture. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1990–1996. 2v. il. Vol.2 has subtitle: 1928–1988.

An important technical study of detailing in architectural Modernism, based upon construction documents. Episodic but valuable.

Notes, v.1, p.357–60, v.2, p.[431]–35. Bibliography, v.1, p.361–63, v.2, p.[437]–[40]. Index, v.1, p.364–71, v.2, p.[441]–[48].

J226 Frampton, Kenneth. Modern architecture: a critical history. 3d ed., rev. and enl. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1992. 376p. il. (World of art) 1st ed., 1980; 2d ed., rev. and enl., 1985. This ed. has an expanded bibliography intended to indicate the range of works that the author "would have included had more space been available" and revisions in Part II "in order to register the latest activities of the neo-avant-garde and to record the more specific recent achievements of the high-tech architects."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Cultural developments and predisposing techniques, 1750–1939; (II) A critical history, 1836–1967; (III) Critical assessment and extension into the present, 1925–91.

Bibliography, p.345–66. Index, p.366–76.

J227 ———. Studies in tectonic culture: the poetics of construction in nineteenth and twentieth century architecture. Ed. by John Cava. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1995. [xiii], 430p. il., photos, plans, drawings, elevations, sections.

First publ. in German as Grundlagen der Architektur: Studien zur Kultur des Tektonischen. München, Oktagon, 1993. Benefits from the vast number and various types of illustrations.

Of the ten chapters, four are devoted to the development of tectonic culture: Introduction: Reflections on the scope of the tectonic; Greco-Gothic and Neo-Gothic: the Anglo-French origins of tectonic form; The rise of the tectonic: core form and art form in the German Enlightenment, 1750–1870; Postscriptum: the tectonic trajectory, 1903–1994. Six chapters focus on the accomplishments and influence of individual architects (Frank Lloyd Wright, Auguste Perret, Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, Louis Kahn, Jørn Utzon, and Carlo Scarpa).

Notes, p.[389]–411. Bibliography, p.[413]–21. Index, p.[425]–30.

J228 Functional architecture: the international style, 1925–1940 = Funktionale Architektur, 1925–1940. [Gestalt. und Red., Gabriele Leuthäuser, Peter Gössel. English trans., John Bannister, Karen Williams. Trad. française, Françoise Laugier-Morun.] Köln, Taschen, 1990. 399p. chiefly il.

In German, English, and French. A collection of photographs from 1929–1937 publications, arranged by country (29 of them) preceded by an introduction (p.[9]–30) outlining the three principles of functionalism: architecture as volume, concerning regularity, the avoidance of applied decoration.

Lacks index and bibliography.

J229 Glancey, Jonathan. C20th architecture: the structures that shaped the century. Woodstock, N.Y., Overlook, 1998. 400p. il. (part col.)

"An introduction to twentieth-century architecture."—Foreword. Profiles of 370 buildings, arranged by type, with color photographs.

Contents: Arts and crafts; Classicism; Organic; Modernism; Postmodernism; Robotic; Cities; Futures.

Index, p.396–99.

J230 Haan, Hilde de, and Haagsma, Ids. Architects in competition: international architectural competi[tions] of the last 200 years. London, Thames and Hudson, 1988. 219p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Architecten als rivalen. [Amsterdam], Meulenhoff/Landshoff, 1988.

Examines 15 important competitions from the past 200 years, in Europe, Washington, Sydney and Kyoto, followed by essays by Dennis Sharp and Kenneth Frampton. Extensively illustrated.

Bibliography, p.208–12. Index, p.214–17.

J231 Hitchcock, Henry-Russell. Architecture, nineteenth and twentieth centuries. 4th ed., repr. with additions to the bibliography. Harmondsworth, Penguin, 1987, 1977. 696p. il., plans (The Pelican history of art, PZ15) (Repr.: New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1992)

See GLAH 1:J135 for previous eds.

The 1987 reprint "incorporates one or two emendations to the text, and considerable additional bibliography, covering the years from 1976 to spring 1986."—Pref.

Index, p.[665]–96.

J232 ———, and Johnson, Philip. The international style. N.Y., Norton, 1996. 269p. il.

First publ. 1932 under title The international style: architecture since 1922 in conjunction with the most important architectural exhibition of the century. A 1966 ed. (N.Y., Norton) included a new foreword by Hitchcock (p.vii–xiii) and an appendix (p.237–255) that reprinted an article from the August 1951 issue of Architectural record in which Hitchcock commented on a series of quotations from the original 1932 text. Also publ. in German as Der Internationale Stil, 1932 (Braunschweig, Vieweg, 1985; Bauwelt Fundamente, 70). The 1996 ed. includes a new foreword by Philip Johnson.

Contents: (I) Introduction: the idea of style; (II) History; (III) Functionalism; (IV) A first principle: architecture as volume; (V) Surfacing material; (VI) A second principle: concerning regularity; (VII) A third principle: the avoidance of applied decoration; (VIII) Architecture and building; (IX) Plans; (X) The "Siedlung."

Indexes: architects, countries, p.257–60.

- J233 ———. Modern architecture: romanticism and reintegration. [Reprint, with a foreword by Vincent Scully.] N.Y., Da Capo Pr., 1993. xxiii, 252p. il. 1st ed., 1929, N.Y., Payson & Clarke Ltd.; repr. 1970, N.Y., Hacker. Contents: (One) The age of romanticism; (Two) the new tradition; (Three) The new pioneers. Appendix [analysis of the experimentation in architecture between 1250 and 1750], p.223–36. Bibliographical note, p.[239]–41. Index, p.[245]–52.
- J234 Jencks, Charles. The language of post-modern architecture. 6th ed. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1991. 204p. il. (part col.). First publ. 1977 as an Architectural design monograph (London, Academy Editions); rev., enl. ed., 1978; 3d ed., 1981; 4th ed., 1984. Superb color photographs. Jencks, the author of numerous books on post-modernism, has added a chapter to each ed. of this work. Contents: Introduction: death for rebirth; (I) The death of modern architecture; (II) The modes of architectural communication; (III) Post-modern architecture. Notes, p.196–200. Index, p.201–04.
- J235 ———. Modern movements in architecture. 2d ed. Harmondsworth, Penguin, 1985. 448p. il., plans. See GLAH 1:J136 for 1st ed. This ed. has a new introduction and postscript (changed from "Architecture and revolution" to "Late-Modernism and Post-Modernism"). Notes, p.391–409. Bibliography, p.411–12. Index, p.420–48.
- J236 Johnson, Philip, and Wigley, Mark. Deconstructivist architecture. N.Y., Museum of Modern Art (Distr. by New York Graphic Society Books, Little, Brown, 1988). 104p. il. Published on the occasion of the exhibition, Museum of Modern Art (1988). This is the first exhibition curated by Philip Johnson since 1954. Its impact has been similar to that of the 1932 Modern architecture exhibit that prophesied the International style (see GLAH 2:J232). The catalog features an introductory essay by Wigley followed by projects by seven architects, with commentaries by Wigley: Frank O. Gehry, Daniel Libeskind, Rem Koolhaas, Peter Eisenman, Zaha M. Hadid, Coop Himmelblau, and Bernard Tschumi.
- J237 Klotz, Heinrich. The history of postmodern architecture. Trans. by Radka Donnell. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1988. 461p. il. (part col.). Trans. of Moderne und Postmoderne: Architektur der Gegenwart, 1960–1980. Braunschweig, Vieweg, 1984. Surveys "the manifold movements and trends of present-day architecture [in order] to illustrate the thesis that post-modern architecture needs to be seen as a revision of modernism."—p.[xiv]. Excellent illustrations. Contents: Modernism; Subterfuges and reorientations; Preconditions for postmodern architecture; Postmodern architecture; Epilogue; Postscript: since 1980. Notes, p.[439]–46. Bibliography, p.[447]–49. Index, p.[453]–61.
- J238 ———. Postmodern visions: drawings, paintings, and models by postmodern architects. Contrib. writers, Volker Fischer . . . [et al.] N.Y., Abbeville, 1985. 357p. il. (part col.) Trans. of Revision der Moderne. München, Prestel, 1984. Catalog of the exhibition, Deutsches Architekturmuseum, Frankfurt am Main (1984). An anthology of works by 35 contemporary architects. Bibliography, p.353–54. Index, p.355–57.
- J239 ———. 20th century architecture: drawings, models, furniture from the exhibition of the Deutsches Architekturmuseum, Frankfurt am Main. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1989. 349p. il. (part col.). Trans. of Architektur des 20. Jahrhunderts: Zeichnungen, Modelle, Möbel. Frankfurt am Main, 1989. Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Deutsches Architekturmuseum (1989). Features 73 topics, illustrated by designs by a wide variety of the major architects of the century. Short biographies of architects, p.339–45. Index, p.347–50.
- J240 Kultermann, Udo. Architecture in the 20th century. N.Y., Van Nostrand Reinhold, 1993. viii, 306p. il. Trans. of Die Architektur im 20. Jahrhundert. 3d ed., Köln, DuMont, 1982; first publ. in 1977; 2., erw. Aufl. 1980. A text that evolved from 25 years teaching at an architecture school, with a focus on practical usefulness and an attempt to be impartial. Contents: (I) Puristic tendencies: architecture, science, and industry and the attitude towards the machine; (II) Empiristic tendencies: organic architecture and technology serving man and nature; (III) Syncretic tendencies: urbanistic architecture and building within a context; (IV) Autonomous architecture since 1970: regional identity and the regaining of tradition. Notes, p.251–76. Critical bibliography, p.277–85. Index of names, p.289–99. Index of places, p.301–06.
- J241 Loyer, François. Architecture of the industrial age, 1789–1914. Trans. by R. F. M. Dexter. Geneva, Skira, 1983. 319p. il. (part col.) Trans. of Le siècle de l'industrie. Geneva, Skira, 1983. A heavily illustrated survey covering Europe, Britain, and, to a lesser extent, the U.S. Contents: (I) Academicism (Planning the landscape, 1789–1830; The mechanical revolution, 1830–1850); (II) Eclecticism (Industry in its splendour, 1850–1870; The debate on architecture; Industrial architecture); (III) Art nouveau (Past and present, 1870–1914; The "Belle époque," 1890–1914; Modern times). Notes and bibliographical references, p.295–302. List of illustrations [by medium, with buildings listed by city], p.303–15. Index of names, p.317–19.

- J242 Norberg-Schulz, Christian. Roots of modern architecture. Ed. and photographed by Yukio Futagawa. Tokyo, A.D.A. Edita, 1988. 214p. il.

A well-illustrated theoretical study, in English and Japanese, that is "organized according to the problems which were taken up by the modern movement, and follows the line of development which Giedion called the 'new tradition.'"—Pref. The implicit chronology is indicated by "pre-modern," "modern," and "post-modern" designations.

Contents: The New World and the new architecture; The free plan; The open form; The natural house; The democratic institution; The healthy city; The new regionalism; The new monumentality; The new place.

Footnotes, p.198–200. Select bibliography, p.201–03 (in Japanese, p.203–11). Index, p.212–14.

- J243 Oppositions books. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., published for the Graham Foundation for Advanced Studies in the Fine Arts, Chicago, Ill., and the Institute for Architecture and Urban Studies, N.Y., 1981–1982. 5v. il, maps, plans.

A short-lived, but widely used, series.

Contents: Colquhoun, Alan. Essays in architectural criticism: modern architecture and historical change (1981); Rossi, Aldo. A scientific autobiography (1981); Rossi, Aldo. The architecture of the city (1982); Loos, Adolf. Spoken into the void: collected essays, 1897–1900 (1982); Ginzburg, Moisei Iakovlevich. Style and epoch (1982).

- J244 Pearman, Hugh. Contemporary world architecture. London, Phaidon, 1998. 511p. il. (part col).

Beautifully illustrated anthology that "attempts no more than to condense thinking across thirteen broad categories of buildings."—Introd.

Contents: Visual arts: museums & galleries; Performance: opera houses, theatres & concert halls; Learning: schools, universities & libraries; Religion: places of worship; Consumerism: malls, shops & bars; Living: houses and apartments; Workplace: offices & business parks; Industry: factories & research centres; Leisure: theme parks, hotels & visitor centres; Transport: airports, stations & shipping terminals; Sport: stadia, gymnasia & pools; The civic realm: public space & structures; Towers: vertical cities.

Select bibliography, p.488–95. Index, p.496–509.

- J245 Pehnt, Wolfgang. Expressionist architecture. Trans. by J. A. Underwood and Edith Küstner. N.Y., Praeger, [1973]. 231p. il.

Trans. of Die Architektur des Expressionismus, Stuttgart, Hatje, 1973; 2d ed., 1981.

Contents: Background (Politics and society; Beliefs and writings; Art and architecture); Development (Around 1910; Bruno Taut; Visionary architects; The early Bauhaus; Erich Mendelsohn; North German Expressionism; The architecture of Rudolf Steiner); Special concerns (New churches; Houses and tower blocks; The cinema); Parallels and sequels (Futurism; The school of Amsterdam; Expressionism and the New Architecture; Expressionism and the National Socialists).

Notes, p.210–18. Bibliography, p.219–26. Index, p.227–31.

- J246 Peter, John. The oral history of modern architecture: interviews with the greatest architects of the twentieth century. N.Y., Abrams, 1994. 320p. il. + 1 computer disk.

From a project begun in the early 1950s and continued through the 1960s. Based on recordings of more than 70 architects and architectural engineers, ten of which are included in this book and the accompanying disc. Includes: F. L. Wright, Le Corbusier, L. Mies van der Rohe, W. Gropius, E. Saarinen, L. Kahn, P. Johnson, O. Niemeyer, J. L. Sert, and I. M. Pei.

Biographies, p.292–302. Bibliography, p.303–05. Time chart, p.306–07. Visitor's guide, p.308–12. Index, p.315–20.

- J247 Portoghesi, Paolo. After modern architecture. Trans. by Meg Shore. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1982. xv, 150p. il. (part col.).

Trans. of Dopo l'architettura moderna. Roma, Bari, Laterza, 1980; several later Italian eds.

Contents: Foreword by Vincent Scully; (1) The trail of ashes; (2) The post-modern condition; (3) Architecture and the energy crisis; (4) Form follows fiasco; (5) The primitives of a new sensibility; (6) The star system and the crisis of the functionalist statute; (7) Italy in retreat; (8) The American situation; (9) The European horizon; (10) Conclusion.

Bibliography, p.149–50.

- J248 ———. Postmodern, the architecture of the post-industrial society. Trans. by Ellen Shapiro. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1983. 153p. il. (part col.).

Trans. of Postmodern: l'architettura nella società post-industriale. Milano, Electa, 1982.

"This book is intended as an optimistic chronicle of the events of the past few years in international architecture."—p.6. Highlights the work of selected architects and sites.

- J249 Postmodern visions: drawings, paintings, and models by contemporary architects. Ed. by Heinrich Klotz. Contrib. writers, Volker Fischer . . . [et al.] N.Y., Abbeville, 1985. 357p. il. (part col.).

Trans. by Yehuda Shapiro of Revision der Moderne: Postmoderne Architektur, 1960–1980. München, Prestel, 1984.

Based on the first exhibition at the Deutsches Architekturmuseum, Frankfurt (1984), incorporating many works acquired since its founding in 1979. Features designs by 37 European and American architects and firms.

Bibliography, p.353–54. Index, p.355–57.

- J250 Risebero, Bill. Modern architecture and design: an alternative history. London, Herbert Pr., 1982. 256p. il., maps, plans, ports.

Accessible survey of modern architecture since the Industrial Revolution, for the general reader. Illustrated with line drawings.

Select bibliography, p.246–47. Index, p.248–56.

- J251 Rowe, Colin. The architecture of good intentions: towards a possible retrospect. London, Academy, 1994. 144p. il.

Described by the author in his preface as "a long essay, in present form first offered at Cornell University as the Preston H. Thomas Lectures for 1982 . . . [and as] a Geistesgeschichte piece."

Contents: Epistemology; Eschatology; Iconography; Mechanism; Organism; Postscript.

Notes, p.134–40. Name index, p.142–44.

J252 Ruskin, John. The seven lamps of architecture. [Reprint.] N.Y., Dover, 1989. xii, 222p., il.

Repr. of the "new ed.," Sunnyside, Orpington, Kent, G. Allen, 1880. 1st ed., London, Smith, Elder, and Co., 1849. Numerous additional eds. publ. in the 1880s and early 1900s. Another reprint (London, Century, 1988), of an unspecified ed., includes a useful introd. by Andrew Saint.

Ruskin's observations on Gothic architecture—in chapters on Sacrifice, Truth, Power, Beauty, Life, Memory, and Obedience—were enormously popular for Victorian readers and have in recent years attracted renewed interest as documentation of 19th-century architectural taste.

J253 Rykwert, Joseph. The first moderns: the architects of the eighteenth century. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1980. viii, 585p. il.

A thematic and philosophical study.

Contents: (1) Classic and neoclassic; (2) Positive and arbitrary; (3) The marvelous and the distant; (4) Universal architecture; (5) The pleasures of freedom; (6) Initiates to amateurs; (7) Pleasure and precision; (8) Neoclassical architecture; (9) Ephemeral splendors; (10) Truth stripped naked by philosophy.

Notes at ends of chapters. Bibliography, p.[507]–63. Index, p.[565]–85.

J254 Scruton, Roger. The classical vernacular: architectural principles in an age of nihilism. N.Y., St. Martin's, 1995. xviii, 158p. il.

A collection of 15 largely previously published essays and talks (most revised) from the past two decades, critical of modernism and post-modernism, that argue that the constants of architecture are aesthetic constants. The eight-page introd. discusses "our nature as organisms" and "our nature as rational beings."

Contents: (1) Reflections on a candlestick; (2) Architecture of the horizontal; (3) Vernacular architecture; (4) Public space and the classical vernacular; (5) Aesthetic education and design; (6) Building at a crossroads; (7) Architectural principles in an age of nihilism; (8) Alberti and the art of the appropriate; (9) Curtis Green at Chiswick; (10) Architecture and the Polis; (11) Adrian Stokes; (12) Buckminster Fuller; (13) David Watkin's morality and architecture; (14) Manfredo Tafuri's Marxism; (15) Art history and aesthetic judgement.

Bibliographical references. Index, p.155–58.

J255 Sharp, Dennis. Twentieth century architecture: a visual history. [New ed.] N.Y., Facts on File, 1991. 427p. il.

See GLAH 1:J139 for 1st ed.

In comparison with the 1st ed., gives greater prominence to vernacular, regional, and indigenous cultural views about architecture and the built environment. Material has been reorganized, in part "to reflect changed attitudes and values."—Pref.

Chronology, p.413–17. Index, p.421–27.

J256 Steele, James. Architecture today. London, Phaidon, 1997. 512p. col. il.

"This book aims to address the complex variety of issues that underlie contemporary architecture. . . . It introduces many new topics, such as ecological and populist architecture that are just beginning to emerge."—Introd. Focuses upon the 1940s to the present.

Contents: (1) The Modernist legacy; (2) European rationalism; (3) High-tech; (4) Minimalism; (5) The classical revival; (6) Post-modernism; (7) Deconstructivism; (8) Contemporary vernacular; (9) The new Expressionists; (10) Ecological architecture; (11) The new Moderns; (12) Populist architecture; (13) Megastructures; (14) The Los Angeles avant-garde; (15) Experimentation in Japan; (16) World cities.

Notes, p.488. Architects' biographies, p.489–99. Select bibliography, p.500–01. Chronology, p.502–03. Index, p.504–10.

J257 Tafuri, Manfredo. Architecture and utopia: design and capitalist development. Trans. by Barbara Luigia La Penta. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1976. xi, 184p. il.

Trans. of Progetto e utopia. Roma, Bari, Laterza, 1973. A "reworking and sizeable enlargement of" an essay published in 1969 that addressed contemporary architectural ideology.—Pref.

Contents: (1) Reason's adventures: naturalism and the city in the century of the Enlightenment; (2) Form as regressive utopia; (3) Ideology and utopia; (4) The dialectic of the avant-garde; (5) "Radical" architecture and the city; (6) The crisis of utopia: Le Corbusier at Algiers; (7) Architecture and its double: semiology and formalism; (8) Problems in the form of a conclusion.

Bibliographical references.

J258 ———. The sphere and the labyrinth: avant-gardes and architecture from Piranesi to the 1970s. Trans. by Pellegrino d'Acierno and Robert Connolly. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1987. 382p., il.

Trans. of La sfera e il labirinto: avanguardie e architettura da Piranesi agli anni '70. [Torino], Einaudi [1980] (Saggi, 620)

A theoretical work in which the "intention . . . has been to present, not a piece of history complete in itself, but rather an intermittent journey through a maze of tangled paths, one of the many possible 'provisional constructions.'"—Introd. The nine chapters (within three parts) include four appendices with important pertinent texts.

Notes, p.[305]–06. Index, p.[367]–83.

J259 Theorizing a new agenda for architecture: an anthology of architectural theory 1965–1995. Ed. by Kate Nesbitt. N.Y., Princeton Architectural Pr., 1996. 606p. il

A collection of 51 previously published essays by architects and critics, including Robert Venturi, Peter Eisenman, Bernard Tschumi, Aldo Rossi, Tadao Ando, Anthony Vidler, Manfredo Tafuri, Juhani Pallasmaa, and Diana Agrest. Nesbitt views "architectural theory as a catalyst for change within the discipline, in both its academic and professional aspects."—p.13.

Contents: (1) Postmodernism; (2) Semiotics and structuralism; (3) Poststructuralism and deconstruction; (4) Historicism; (5) Typology and transformation; (6) Urban theory after modernism; (7) The school of Venice; (8) Political and ethical agendas; (9) Phenomenology; (10) Architecture, nature, and the constructed site; (11) Critical regionalism; (12) Tectonic expression; (13) Feminism, gender, and the problem of the body; (14) Contemporary definitions of the sublime.

Bibliography, p.585–90. Index, p.591–606.

- J260 Vidler, Anthony. The architectural uncanny: essays in the modern unhomely. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1992. xv, 257p. il.

"Intrigued by the unsettling qualities of much contemporary architecture. . . . I have been drawn to explore aspects of the spatial and architectural uncanny, as it has been categorized in literature, philosophy, psychology, and architecture from the beginning of the nineteenth century to the present."—Pref. The 15 chapters were previously published, 1987–1992.

Contents: (I) Houses; (II) Bodies; (III) Spaces.

Notes, p.[227]–47. Index, p.[251]–57.

- J261 Watkin, David. Morality and architecture: the development of a theme in architectural history and theory from the Gothic revival to the modern movement. Oxford, Clarendon, 1977. viii, 126p. (Repr.: Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1984)

Contents: (I) The theme in the nineteenth century: Pugin, Viollet-le-Duc; (II) The theme in the twentieth century: Lethaby, The Brave New World, Furneaux Jordan; (III) Pevsner: early writings, the historic mission, "historicism."

References, p.[117]–21. Index, p.[122]–26.

- J262 Whittick, Arnold. European architecture in the twentieth century. 2d ed. [Aylesbury, Eng., Leonard Hill Books, 1974]. xiv, 706p. il.

See GLAH 1:J140 for original ed.

A broad survey by the author of the Encyclopedia of urban planning (GLAH 1:J33). Emphasizes topical coverage, in 46 chapters within five sections.

Contents: (I) Historical background and early years of the century to 1918; (II) Tradition, transition and change 1919–1941; (III) Functionalism, logic and light 1924–1942; (IV) Political determinism and classical monumentality 1930–1940; (V) Towards a better physical environment 1943–1970.

Bibliography, p.682–90. Index, p.691–706.

- J263 Wigley, Mark. The architecture of deconstruction: Derrida's haunt. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1993. xv, 278p.

On the recent discourse between philosophy and architecture inspired by the French philosopher. Earlier versions of portions of the text were published previously in periodicals.

Contents: (1) The translation of Deconstruction; (2) Unbuilding architecture; (3) The slippery art of space; (4) The domestication of the house; (5) Throwing up architecture; (6) Doing the twist; (7) Dislocating space.

Notes, p.[221]–62. References, p.[263]–71. Index, p.273–78.

- J264 Zevi, Bruno. Linguaggi dell'architettura contemporanea. Milano, Etaslibri, 1993. (unpaged) il. (part col.) (Scienze del territorio)

In Italian and English. Highlights 100 buildings built between 1945 and 1990 by various architects in western countries.

Buildings index. Index of architects.

SEE ALSO: Texts and documents (GLAH 2:R103); Watkin, The rise of architectural history (GLAH 2:G89)

WESTERN COUNTRIES

Australia

- J265 Jensen, Elfrida. Colonial architecture in South Australia: a definitive chronicle of development 1836–1890, and the social history of the times. Adelaide, Rigby, 1980. xi, 888p. il.

The most comprehensive work to date on colonial architecture and engineering developments in Australia, geographically encompassing the area from Darwin in the north to Port MacDonnell in the south. Straightforward chronological approach with more than 1,500 illustrations.

References, p.821–45. Index, p.847–85.

Canada

- J266 Bergeron, Claude. Index des périodiques d'architecture canadiens, 1940–1980 = Canadian architectural periodicals index, 1940–1980. English trans. by Sylvia Bergeron. Québec, Presses de l'Université Laval, 1986. xiii, 518p.

A complete inventory of the contents of the nine Canadian architectural journals published during these years, inclusive. Presented in two sections: (1) Buildings and their architects, devoted to individual works of architecture which are arranged into twelve subject categories, supplemented by architect, building type, and place name indexes; (2) Miscellaneous subjects, "consists of a bibliography of articles on various aspects of the architectural profession, on the construction industry, and on construction materials and techniques in general, not related to a particular type of building."—Foreword.

Author index, p.[509]–18.

- J267 Johnson, Patricia J. Index of Canadian architect and builder, 1888–1908. Ottawa, Society for the Study of Architecture in Canada, 1987. 156p.

Indexes the journal's contents through its entire publication history, other than editorials and advertisements, in a single-dictionary format. An excellent source for information on architecture, construction, and the engineering and building trades in Canada during the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

J268 Kalman, Harold D. History of Canadian architecture. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1994. 2v. il., maps.

The first comprehensive study of the built environment of the many cultural groups found within the geographic boundaries of Canada, this history gives equal emphasis to the vernacular traditions as well "high" architecture. Both volumes contain an identical bibliography on the history of Canadian architecture and glossary of terms. Each vol. contains relevant notes for the text, an index to the buildings discussed in that vol., and a general index to the vol. Illustrated with high-quality black-and-white photographs and drawings.

Contents: Vol.1: (1) The first buildings; (2) New France; (3) British and American settlement on the Atlantic coast; (4) Classicism in upper and lower Canada; (5) Building for communications, defense, and commerce; (6) The return of the past: the Victorian revivals; (7) Early building on the prairies; (8) The settlement of the West coast. Vol.2: (9) The railway and the opening of the West; (10) Building the young dominion; (11) Domestic architecture; (12) Town planning; (13) The true North; (14) Architecture between the wars; (15) Modern architecture and beyond.

Notes, v.1, p.419-54, v.2, p.870-902. Bibliography, v.1, p.455, v.2, p.903. Glossary, v.1, p.456-59, v.2, p.904-07. Index of Canadian buildings, v.1, p.460-65, v.2, p.916-33.

J269 A union list of architectural records in Canadian public collections = Catalogue collectif de recherche documentaire sur l'architecture provenant de collections publiques canadiennes. Comp. by Portia Leggat. Montreal, Canadian Centre for Architecture, 1983. xxiii, 213p.

A useful first stop for research requiring original architectural records. Organized geographically, moving from easternmost provinces west, each entry provides address, telephone, and contact person information; notes on the scope of the collection and its special strengths; admissions policy; hours of operation; duplication processes available. Entries are in English or French, depending on the province surveyed.

Index to architects, p.189-201. Index to institutions, p.203-13.

France

Bibliography

J270 France. Archives nationales. Les sources de l'histoire de l'architecture religieuse aux Archives nationales, de la Revolution à la Separation, 1789-1905. Paris, Archives nationales, 1994. 196p. il., xvii. of plates. Guide to archival materials dealing with religious architecture in the period 1789-1905 housed in the National Archives. Each chapter begins with an essay followed by the numbered list of files. Many entries offer detailed descriptions of the materials which range from correspondence to original drawings.

Contents: (1) Commissions et comités; (2) Édifices diocésains; (3) Édifices culturels paroissiaux; (4) Lieux de culte particuliers; (5) Décor intérieur des églises; (6) Personnel.

Index, p.[167]-191.

J271 Institut français d'architecture. Archives d'architecture du XXe siècle. Liege, Mardaga, 1991-. (1)v. il. (part col.)

First vol. in a series documenting the archival holdings of the Institut, this covers 50 of more than 150 individual architectural collections. Entries consist of a biographical essay followed by a chronological outline of the individual's education, professional life, professional affiliations, and a bibliography. The majority of each entry is devoted to a descriptive listing of the archive's holdings arranged by date of project. Lastly, there are detailed cross references to other architects' files which contain related information. Illustrations are found throughout the entries.

List of the architects' files found in v.1 arranged by their file number, p.498. Name index, p.499-[502]. Geographic index, p.503-04. Paris street address index, p.505-[06]. Subject index, p.507-09. List of all the architects' files held at the Institute through January 1, 1991, p.510.

SEE ALSO: The Mark J. Millard architectural collection GLAH 2:J33).

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

J272 Dugast, Anne, and Parizet, Isabelle. Dictionnaire par noms d'architectes des constructions élevées à Paris au XIXe et XXe siècles. Étab. sous la dir. de Michel Fleury. Paris, Service des travaux historiques, 1990-4v. il. (Publications de la Sous-commission de recherches d'histoire municipale contemporaine, Ville de Paris, Commission des travaux historiques)

Authoritative biographical dictionary of Parisian architects of the 19th and 20th centuries.

Contents: (1) Notices 1 à 1340, Abadie à Cyr-Robert; (2) Notices 1341 à 2440, Dabernat à Guyran; (3) Notices 2441 à 3654, Hasser à Mutzig; (4) Notices 3655 à 4871, Nachon à Zwahlen.

Includes lists of abbreviations, bibliographies, name and topographical indexes.

Histories and Handbooks

General Works

J273 France. Archives nationales. Catalogue général des cartes, plans et dessins d'architecture, Série NN. Par Claude-France Rochat, avec la collab. de Michel Le Moël. Avant-propos par Jean Favier. Paris, Archives nationales. (Diffusé par la Documentation française, 1978.) 620p. plates, maps (part col.)

See GLAH 1:J149 for Série N.

Série NN contains primarily maps of Paris, but includes a smaller number of maps of other European cities, the United States, and world maps. Maps included date from before 1876.

List of manuscript maps, p.567–68. Index, p.571–612. Addendum, p.613–14. Table of contents (showing geographic breakdown of collection), p.617–20.

J274 France. Ministère de l'Éducation Nationale [Direction des Archives de France]. Catalogue général des cartes, plans et dessins d'architecture. Série N. Préface de Charles Braibant. Paris, 1958–74. 4v. il., plates, elevations.

See GLAH 1:J149 for previous vols. Includes indexes.

Selective contents: (4) Pays étrangers, by M. Le Moël and C.-F. Rochat (1974).

J275 Histoire de l'architecture française. Paris, Mengès, 1989–99. 3v. il. (part col.), facsim., plans, ports.

Exceptionally well-illustrated survey from the middle ages to the present, by three authorities. These titles are not cited individually elsewhere in this chapter.

Contents: (1) Erlande-Brandenburg, Alain. Histoire de l'architecture française: du Moyen Age à la Renaissance: IV<sup>e</sup> siècle début XVI<sup>e</sup> siècle (1995); (2) Pérouse de Montclos, Jean-Marie. Histoire de l'architecture française: de la Renaissance à la Révolution. Paris, Mengès; Caisse nationale des monuments historiques et des sites (1989); (3) Loyer, François. De la Révolution à nos jours (1999).

Carolingian—Gothic

J276 Bony, Jean. French Gothic architecture of the 12th and 13th centuries. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1983. 623p. il., maps, plans. (California studies in the history of art, 20)

Important study which traces the development of Gothic style through nearly two centuries, illustrated by 449 excellent black-and-white photographs and numerous maps. It contributes major reinterpretations of the 12th-century phase of Gothic by focusing on lesser-known churches rather than only the predictable examples.

Notes, p.465–546. Selective bibliography, p.547–72. Index, p.573–623.

J277 Les Monuments de la France gothique. Collection dirigée par Anne Prache. Paris, Picard, 1987–. (7)v. il., plans.

Authoritative series documenting the religious and civic architecture of Gothic France, arranged by historic regions and further broken down by city and monument. Essays discuss the history and in some cases offer a detailed chronology of the restoration of the specific monuments. Good black-and-white photographs and excellent plans. Volumes inconsistently offer brief bibliographies either at the end of the essay or collected at the end of the vol. Some vols. have indexes.

Published to date: Bideault, Maryse and Lautier, Claudine. Ile-de-France gothique (2v., 1987–1988): (1) Les églises de la vallée de l'Oise et du Beauvaisis; (2) Les demeures seigneuriales. (v.2 by Jean Mesqui.); Burnand, Marie-Claire. La Lorraine gothique (1989); Gardelles, Jacques. Aquitaine gothique (1992); Blomme, Yves. Poitou gothique (1993); Andraut-Schmitt, Claude. Limousin gothique: les édifices religieux (1997).

Renaissance—Modern

J278 Bourget, Pierre. Les architectures baroques en France. Paris, Libr. Léonce Laget, 1993. 291p. il.

History of the Baroque period and Baroque influences into the 20th century. Illustrated, but lacks plans.

Bibliographie, p.281–82.

J279 Braham, Allan. The architecture of the French Enlightenment. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1980. 288p. il., maps.

Regarded as nearly definitive, in addition to documenting the architecture of pre-Revolutionary France, this study includes a wealth of information on the individuals involved, patrons as well as artists and thinkers. While it does not replace Louis Hautcoeur's Histoire de l'architecture classique en France (GLAH 1:J169), it incorporates more recent research. Numerous black-and-white illustrations, mainly plans, sections, and elevations of buildings discussed.

Notes to the text, p.262–78. General bibliography and list of abbreviations, p.279–82. Index, p.284–88.

J280 Egbert, Donald Drew. The Beaux-Arts tradition in French architecture. Illustrated by the Grands Prix de Rome. Ed. for publication by David Van Zanten. Tribute by Robert Venturi. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1980. xxii, 217p. il., plates.

Comprised of two parts: a general history of the French academic tradition in architecture and a discussion of French academic principles and methods of design. The limited number of illustrations appear at the end of the vol. Most helpful are the appendixes: "Bibliographical and archival sources for the Grand Prix de Rome"; and "The Grand Prix Designs," which lists the year and title of the program, and names of the winners of the Grands Prix and other awards from 1702 through 1967.

Selected bibliography, p.203–11. Index, p.[213]–17.

J281 Jullian, René. Histoire de l'architecture en France de 1889 à nos jours: un siècle de modernité. Paris, Philippe Sers, 1984. 327p. il., plans.

A chronological survey of the last century discussing major stylistic movements from Style 1900 through the 1960s, including their proponents such as Guimard, Garnier, Perret, Le Corbusier, Mallet-Stevens, Lurçat, Roux-Spitz. Despite the title, little emphasis on architecture of the 1970s–1980s.

Index des noms cité, p.298–304. Index des bâtiments (Paris), p.304–09. Index des bâtiments (hors Paris), p.309–18. Bibliographie, p.319–23.

J282 Kalnein, Wend von. Architecture in France in the eighteenth century. Trans. from the German by David

Britt. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. 294p. il., maps (part col.) (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

Based on the architecture portions of W. Kalnein and M. Levey's Art and architecture of the eighteenth century in France (GLAH 1:I281).

Notes, p.[271]–82. Bibliography, p.[283]–87. Index, p.[288]–94.

J283 Lemoine, Bertrand. Architecture in France 1800–1900. Trans. from the French by Alexandra Bonfante-Warren. N.Y., Abrams, 1998. 200p. col. il.

Trans. of France du XIXe siècle. Paris, Martinière, 1993. German ed., Basel, Birkhäuser, 2000.

Important overview of 19th-century French architecture, organized thematically by building types.

Contents: The French tradition: churches and châteaux; Residential architecture: apartment buildings, villas, and town houses; Public architecture: government buildings, prisons, and hospitals; The education of the masses: museums, libraries, and schools; The pleasure palaces: theaters, circuses, spas, casinos, and hotels; The architecture of public space: monuments, street furniture, bandstands, and conservatories; The architecture of industry: factories, workers' housing, industrial buildings, and banks; Steam and speed: train stations; Temples of commerce: boutiques, shopping arcades, and department stores; The architecture of trade: open-air markets and covered market halls; Architecture as engineering: bridges, aqueducts, and viaducts.

Index, p.198–200. Bibliography, p.200.

J284 Lesnikowski, Wojciech G. The new French architecture. Introd. by Patrice Goulet. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1990. 223p. il. (part col.) [1]p. of plates.

Following an introductory essay, "From historicism to the new modernism," this book uses the work of 12 architects to demonstrate the range of design in the 1980s and 1990s. Illustrated with excellent photographs and many plans, each building is introduced with a brief statement.

Architects' biographies, p.222–23. No bibliography or index.

Germany and Austria

Early Christian—Gothic

J285 Meckseper, Cord. Kleine Kunstgeschichte der deutschen Stadt im Mittelalter. Darmstadt, Wissenschaftliche Buchgesellschaft, 1982. 306p. il., 160 plates.

Concise history of medieval German architecture discussed in two sections: the development of cities as influenced by the Celts, the Romans, etc., and the architecture of cities arranged primarily by building type. Plans and line drawings are interspersed in the text. Plates follow.

Literaturverzeichnis, p.[269]–80. Ortsverzeichnis, p.[281]–303.

J286 Ullmann, Ernst. Gotik: deutsche Baukunst 1200–1550. Leipzig, Seemann, 1994. 143p. il.

Basic history, mainly concerned with religious architecture. Exceptionally fine illustrations.

Zeittafel, p.138–40. Literaturhinweise, p.141–42. Ortsregister, p.143.

Renaissance—Modern

J287 Becker, Heidede. Geschichte der Architektur- und Städtebauwettbewerbe. Unter Mitarb. von Sabine Knott. Stuttgart, Kohlhammer, 1992. 345p. il., maps, plans. (Schriften des Deutschen Instituts für Urbanistik, Bd. 85)

"Discusses a number of key competitions in the fields of architecture, urban planning, and housing which shed light on the traditional problems and cul-de-sacs in competition procedures, but which also reveal promising experimental approaches."—Summary. Emphasis is on the period 1867 through the Third Reich. Appendixes 1–19 are facsimile copies of competition announcements and guidelines.

Summary [in English], p.13–15. Literatur, p.313–37. Personenregister, p.338–43. Ortsregister, p.344–45.

J288 Borsi, Franco, and Godoli, Ezio. Vienna 1900: architecture and design. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1986. 351p. il. (part col.)

Survey of architecture in the city the authors describe as "a great laboratory of experiments in form."—Introd. Chapters on Wagner, Olbrich, Hoffmann, Loos, the Wagner School, Wagner's followers, the Vienna school, and the Secession style. Reliance on period photographs means that some are muddy.

Chronology of buildings, arranged alphabetically by architect, p.305–30. Excellent bibliography, p.331–48. Index, p.349–51.

J289 Feldmeyer, Gerhard G. The new German architecture. Introd. by Manfred Sack. Essay by Casey C. M. Mathewson. [Trans. from the German by Mark Wilch.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1993. 224p. il. (part col.)

Following an introductory essay, "From city planning to urban design: rebuilding Germany 1945–1992," this book uses the work of 24 architects to demonstrate the range of design in the 1980s and 1990s. Illustrated with excellent photographs and many plans, each building is introduced with a brief statement.

Architects' biographies, p.8–9. No bibliography or index.

J290 Hitchcock, Henry Russell. German Renaissance architecture. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1981. xxxiv, 379p. il., plates.

First comprehensive English-language history of the period. "This book aims to provide a comprehensive account of architecture in Germany from the early influx of new Italian ideas in 1509 or 1510 to the outbreak of the Thirty Years' War more than a century later."—Pref.

Index, p.[361]–79.

J291 Klingensmith, Samuel John. The utility of splendor: ceremony, social life, and architecture at the court of Bavaria, 1600–1800. Ed. for publication by Christian F. Otto and Mark Ashton. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1993. xx, 315p. il. (part col.), plans.

"A study of the enormous palaces of seventeenth- and eighteenth-century southern Germany as working buildings, structures whose . . . elaborately decorated rooms are here understood in new ways through the reconstruction of the private, social, and civic life that fostered them and filled them."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Introductions; (2) The Residenz in Munich; (3) The country houses; (4) Apartments and Säle: issues of program and plan; (5) Elements of everyday life; (6) State acts: diplomatic receptions and audiences. Appendixes.

Notes, p.[247]–99. Bibliography, p.[301]–08. Index, p.309–15. Plans, p.[317–26].

J292 Kräftner, Johann. Bauen in Österreich: die Fortführung einer grossen Tradition = Building in Austria: carrying on a great tradition. Text und Auswahl der Objekte von Johann Kräftner. Hrsg. von Traute Franke und Gerhart Langthaler. 289 Farabbildungen nach Photographien von Georg Riha. Übers. in die englische Sprache, Günter Treffer. Wien, Brandstätter, 1983. 208p. il.

Comprised largely of color plates, this book covers Austrian architecture from the late 19th century to the present day. Exceptional photographs document interiors and exteriors of many different building types. A one-paragraph description accompanies the plates of each building. Useful for coverage of buildings outside Vienna.

Register = Index = Indexe [lists the architects and construction firms instrumental in the planning and realization of the constructions shown in the color plates, including restoration firms], p.200–08.

J293 Lane, Barbara Miller. Architecture and politics in Germany, 1918–1945. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Pr., 1968. xv, 278p. il. (Repr.: 1985)

A study of the controversy over the "new" architecture of the Bauhaus, continuing through the years of the Weimar Republic, and the Nazi party's efforts to associate architecture with political objectives, ultimately leading to the government's efforts to establish control over the arts. Originally published in 1968, the paperback reprint contains a new preface which includes bibliographic notes on relevant publications and archival collections since 1968.

Selected bibliography, p.217–29. Notes, p.231–69. Index, p.271–78.

J294 Watkin, David, and Mellinghoff, Tilman. German architecture and the classical ideal. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1987. 296p. il.

The first book in English to survey in depth German neo-classical architecture from 1740 to 1840. Part 1, "History, Style and Patronage," offers essays on the political and cultural background of Germany, as well as chapters on Schinkel, von Klenze, and the influence of French and English architecture. Part 2 is a gazetteer of neoclassical buildings in Germany. Well illustrated.

Bibliography, p.271–84. Index of places, p.287–91. Index of people, p.292–96.

J295 Zukowsky, John, ed. The many faces of modern architecture: building in Germany between the World Wars. With contrib. by Kennie Ann Laney-Lupton . . . [et al.] N.Y., Prestel (Distr. by te Neues, 1994). 256p. il., map.

Publishes "neglected contributions to the architecture of the interwar years in relation to better known German landmarks . . . [places] major sites within the broad context of architecture in the twenties and thirties, providing a generous survey of buildings in Germany from this era, particularly those with a modernist bent."—Introd. Excellent photographs.

Contents: (1) Berlin: capital of the modern movements; (2) "Das Neue Frankfurt"; (3) The West: Rhine and Ruhr; (4) Hamburg, Hanover, and Expressionist architecture in north Germany; (5) Stuttgart, Munich, and modernist masonry architecture; (6) The East: Silesia, Saxony, Thuringia, and Brandenburg.

Bibliographic notes within each chapter. Index of architects, artists, and designers, p.252–54. Index of places, p.255–56.

Great Britain and Ireland

Bibliography

J296 Archer, John. The literature of British domestic architecture, 1715–1842. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1985. xxxvi, 1078p. il., plates.

The only bibliography devoted to the literature of British domestic architecture, it includes "only books and periodicals published in Great Britain and Ireland, first issues between 1715 and 1842, that contain original designs for habitations."—Introd. Scholarly essays precede the catalog of entries. Extensive annotations for each publication included.

Contents: (1) Architecture and the book trade; (2) Format and content; (3) Theory and design; (4) Principal entries. Appendixes: (A) Checklist of additional books by Crunden, Halfpenny, Langley, Nicholson, Pain, Richardson, Salmon and Swan; (B) Checklist of selected books showing domestic interiors; (C) Selected additional books concerning domestic architecture; (D) Addenda; (E) Short-title chronological list; (F) List of printers, publishers, and booksellers.

Index, p.[1061]–78.

J297 Hall, Sir Robert de Zouche, ed. A bibliography on vernacular architecture. Newton Abbot, David & Charles, 1972–. (3)v.

See GLAH 1:J177 for v.1; v.[2] originally called Vol.1, a supplement; v.[2] and 3 have publisher [York], Vernacular Architecture Group. Includes indexes.

Selective contents: [2] Current bibliography of vernacular architecture, 1970–1976, ed. by D. J. H. Michelmore; (3), Bibliography of vernacular architecture, 1977–1989, ed. by I. R. Pattison, D. S. Pattison & N. W. Alcock.

J298 Kamen, Ruth H. British and Irish architectural history: a bibliography and guide to sources of information. London, Architectural Pr., 1981. vi, 249p.

An essential tool with extensive annotations documenting publications through 1980. 870 entries were selected based on the author's experience in seeking information on architects, buildings, and architectural styles. Omits works on individual architects, specific buildings, and books of regional or local character (excepting London); instead instructs the user on methodology and location of information.

Contents: (1) How to find out: guides to the literature; (2) How to find out about architects and buildings: published sources; (3) How to find out about architects and buildings: unpublished sources, indexes and catalogues; (4) How to find out about architects and buildings: periodicals and periodical indexes; (5) Societies, institutions and organisations; (6) Sources of architectural photographs, slides and films; (7) British and Irish architectural history: a selective bibliography.

Index, p.225-49.

J299 McParland, Edward. A bibliography of Irish architectural history. [Dublin], Irish Historical Studies, 1989. p.[161]-212.

Reprinted from Irish historical studies, v.26, no.102 (Nov. 1988). "A list—covering items published between 1900 and 1986—of serious accounts of the history of important architectural projects undertaken in Ireland between the late seventeenth and early twentieth centuries. It is intended to be comprehensive in respect of monographs, collective works and articles in non-Irish periodicals, but in respect of Irish periodicals it is a supplement to Richard J. Hayes, Sources for the history of Irish civilisation: articles in Irish periodicals (9 vols., Boston, 1970)."—Introd. No annotations.

Subject index, p.199-212.

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

J300 Colvin, Howard Montague. A biographical dictionary of British architects, 1600-1840. 3d ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. 1264p.

See GLAH 1:J179 for previous eds. (London, J. Murray)

New ed. of an indispensable dictionary. Essays on the building trades and the architectural profession. Adds more than 160 architects and 2,000 buildings to those found in previous eds. Also eliminates those individuals determined to have worked primarily outside this period or who are now deemed not to qualify as architects. Appendixes: (A) Some buildings erected before 1840 to the designs of Victorian architects not included in this dictionary; (B) Names included in previous editions of this dictionary but excluded from the second or third editions; (C) Public offices held by architects 1600-1840.

Includes bibliographical references. Index of persons, p.1157-88. Index of places, p.1189-1264.

J301 Curl, James Stevens. English architecture: an illustrated glossary. Drawings by John J. Sambrook. [2d rev. ed.] North Pomfret, Vt., David & Charles, 1986. 192p. il., plans.

1st ed. 1977. An essential work. "This book is intended to provide an introduction to the language that describes the national's built heritage so that the basic architectural elements can be identified."—Pref. Scots terms are included as many are encountered in the northern counties of England. Exceptional photographs and line drawings support the text. Bibliography, p.189-91.

J302 Directory of British architects, 1834-1900. British Architectural Library, Royal Institute of British Architects. Comp. by Alison Felstead, Jonathan Franklin, and Leslie Pinfield. Foreword by Mark Girouard. N.Y., Mansell, 1993. xxvii, 1035p. il., ports.

A necessary starting point for research on the period. Focuses primarily on members of the RIBA, with more than 7,000 entries which include names and dates, addresses, education and training, qualifications, works and references (mostly to published obituaries, the Dictionary of National Biography, and RIBA files). Complements Colvin's Biographical dictionary of British architects, 1600-1840 (see GLAH 2:J300).

Includes a bibliography of additional sources, p.xix-xxii.

J303 Gray, A. Stuart. Edwardian architecture: a biographical dictionary. Photographs by Jean & Nicholas Breach. Drawings by Charlotte Halliday. Foreword by Nicholas Taylor. Iowa City, Univ. of Iowa Pr., 1986. 421p. il.

Comprised of 20 introductory sections and 348 biographical entries. Covering roughly 1900-1914, this work fills a gap left by the above-mentioned dictionaries. "Biased in favour of London as against the provinces, in favour of public buildings as against country houses, in favour of classicism as against Arts and Crafts."—Introd. Entries provide a biographical essay, list of major works, and citations for obituaries. Good black-and-white illustrations.

Index, p.397-421.

J304 Harvey, John Hooper. English mediaeval architects: a biographical dictionary down to 1550: including master masons, carpenters, carvers, building contractors, and others responsible for design. Rev. ed. With contrib. by Arthur Oswald. Gloucester, A. Sutton, 1984. lxii, 479p. plates, ports.

See GLAH 1:J199 for 1st ed.

16-p. supp. of additions and corrections pub. in 1987, Holverstone Manor, Isle of Wight, Pinhorn.

J305 Loeber, Rolf. A biographical dictionary of architects in Ireland, 1600-1720. London, J. Murray, 1981. 127p.

A useful companion to Colvin's Biographical dictionary of British architects, 1600-1840 (see GLAH 2:J300). Entries on 107 individuals, nearly all of whom were craftsman-architects. For those with a sizable list of works the biographical essay is followed by a listing of the buildings by type with extensive notes regarding archival sources for further research.

Table of Irish royal works in the 17th century, p.[116]-[17]. Index of persons and places, p.118-27.

Histories and Handbooks

General Works

- J306 Brown, R. J. Timber-framed buildings of England. London, R. Hale, 1986. 368p. il.

Documents the structural use of timber, focusing on surviving examples which span six centuries. Illustrated by excellent drawings and diagrams which offer a balance between historical and technical information.

Contents: (1) Construction and structural details; (2) Architectural features and details; (3) Churches and other ecclesiastical buildings; (4) Public and communal buildings; (5) Houses; (6) Farm buildings; (7) Industrial buildings; (8) Repair of timber-framed buildings.

Bibliography, p.357-59. Place index, p.[360]-66. General index, p.[367]-68.

- J307 Brunskill, R. W. Illustrated handbook of vernacular architecture. 3d ed., rev. Boston, Faber and Faber, 1987. 256p. il.

1st ed., 1971. 2d ed., 1978.

"The most widely known and influential study of its type in the world . . . an excellent and amazingly condensed guide to the vernacular architecture of England and Wales."—Review, Vernacular architecture newsletter, v.33, no.7, autumn 1987. Excellent line drawings illustrate text. Appendix 1: How to study vernacular architecture, extensive, intensive and documentary; Appendix 2: Glossary notes.

Notes, references and recommendations for further reading, p.232-49. Index, p.250-56.

- J308 The buildings of Britain. Alastair Service, gen. ed. London, Barrie & Jenkins, 1982-. (4)v. il.

Contents: (1) Airs, Malcolm. Tudor and Jacobean (1982); (2) Morrice, Richard. Stuart and Baroque (1982); (3) Service, Alistair. Anglo-Saxon and Norman (1982); (4) Watkin, David. Regency (1982).

Each vol. has bibliography and index.

- J309 The buildings of Ireland. [Ed. adviser, Nikolaus Pevsner]. N.Y., Penguin Books, 1979-. (2)v. il., maps, plans.

Projected in 9v. Includes indexes.

Contents: (1) Rowan, Alistair. Northwest Ulster: the counties of Londonderry, Donegal, Fermanagh, and Tyrone (1979) (2) Casey, Christine and Rowan, Alistair. North Leinster: the counties of Longford, Louth, Meath, and Westmeath (1993).

- J310 Clifton-Taylor, Alec. The pattern of English building. 4th ed. Ed. by Jack Simmons. London, Faber, 1987. 480p. il., 2 maps, 1 port.

See GLAH 1:J178 for 3d ed.

- J311 Colvin, Howard M. The history of the King's works. London, H.M. Stationery Office, 1963-1982. 6v. il., plates (part col.), maps, plans, portfolio.

See GLAH 1:J180 for previously published vols. (1-3, 5-6).

Selective contents: (4) 1485-1660 (Part 2) by H. M. Colvin, D. R. Ransome, and John Summerson (1982).

- J312 Craig, Maurice James. The architecture of Ireland: from the earliest times to 1880. London, Batsford, 1982. 358p. il., plans.

The best single book on the subject. Arranged chronologically, then by building type. Interiors are omitted entirely. Includes many plans.

References, p.[326]-38. [Selected] book list, p.[339]-43. Index, p.[344]-58.

- J313 Durant, David N. The handbook of British architectural styles. Illustrations by N. S. Farnell. London, Barrie & Jenkins, 1992. 208p. il.

Pocket size guide divided into six sections: Romanesque era, Gothic era, Classical era, the Enlightenment, Victorian era, Modern era. Concise text gives a historical overview of each period, moves on to specific building types, describes typical features, and lists easily accessible buildings which exemplify the style. Sections end with biographical information on the most important architects working in the style. Illustrated by line drawings.

Bibliography, p.204-05. Index, p.206-08.

- J314 Kidson, Peter; Murray, Peter; and Thompson, Paul. A history of English architecture. Rev. [2d] ed. Harmondsworth, Penguin, 1979. 394p. il.

See GLAH 1:J185 for 1st ed.

- J315 London. County Council. Survey of London, issued by the Joint Publishing Committee representing the London County Council and the London Survey Committee. London, 1900-. (45)v. il., plates, plans.

See GLAH 1:J188 for original annotation. Publisher varies.

- J316 Pevsner, Nikolaus. A compendium of Pevsner's Buildings of England on compact disc. Oxford, Oxford Univ. Pr., 1995. 1 computer disk. il. (Buildings of England)

"Provides an electronic index to the information contained in 42 volumes of the series [GLAH 1:J190]. The information contained in the four Greater London volumes is not included in the first release of the CD-ROM, as one of them has yet to be published."—User guide.

- J317 ———, and Metcalf, Priscilla. The cathedrals of England. N.Y., Viking, 1985. 2v. il., maps.

Describes 62 major cathedrals dating from the Middle Ages to the 20th century. "Entries include a building chronology, recent bibliography, a detailed description of the architecture, and, where warranted, a discussion of the sculpture, painting, furnishings, and stained glass. Each section is illustrated by an excellent selection of well-reproduced photographs, plans and/or drawings."—Review, CHOICE, v.23, Dec. 1985, p.593.

Contents: (1) The cathedrals of England: Southern England; (2) The cathedrals of England: Midland, Eastern, and Northern England.

- J318 Quiney, Anthony. The traditional buildings of England. London, Thames and Hudson, 1990. 224p. il. (part col.)

Focuses on everyday buildings of the past and their historical development. Gives a short history of England from the Conquest to the 19th century including social and economic reasons for the distribution of wealth and building types around the country. Links this to the distribution of building materials, and demonstrates a pattern of locally based building traditions that results. Exceptional photographs.

Glossary, p.217. Notes, p.218–19. Bibliography, p.219–21. Index, p.222–24.

- J319 Watkin, David. English architecture: a concise history. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1979. 216p. il.

Intended to expose "the high points of English creative genius as expressed in the noble art of architecture."—Prelim. note. Covers English architecture only from Anglo-Saxon to 20th century, omitting Scotland, Ireland, and Wales. Also omits architecture of industry, transport, or engineering as well as vernacular architecture.

Glossary, p.200–02. Bibliography, p.203–06. Index, p.208–16.

Early Christian—Gothic

- J320 Bony, Jean. The English decorated style: Gothic architecture transformed, 1250–1350. Ithaca, N.Y., Cornell Univ. Pr., 1979. 315p. il. (The Wrightsman lectures, 10)

The first book-length English-language study of decorated-style architecture in England. Rather than adopting a chronological order for the material, Bony's "approach focuses on the elucidation of the formal processes involved in the style."—Review, Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, v.39, Dec. 1980, p.318. The text is brief, supported by many black-and-white photographs.

Notes, p.71–92. Illustrations, p.[94]–[288.] List of illustrations, p.[289]–96. Bibliography, p.[297]–307. Index, p.[309]–15.

- J321 Coldstream, Nicola. The decorated style, architecture and ornament 1240–1360. London, British Museum Pr., 1994. 208p. il.

Takes an opposing viewpoint to Bony (see preceding entry). Discusses the decorated style in a social and political context, emphasizing the influence of patronage. Rejects Bony's emphasis on space in favor of decoration as the principal characteristic.

Contents: Prologue: The decorated style; (1) Illuminated architecture; (2) Kingdom, land and people; (3) Mind and spirit; (4) The patrons; (5) Craftsmen and administrators; (6) Epilogue.

Genealogical tables linking patrons, p.193–200. Glossary of architectural and decorative terms, p.201. Bibliography, p.202–04. Index, p.205–08.

- J322 Fernie, Eric. The architecture of the Anglo-Saxons. N.Y., Holmes & Meier, 1984. 192p. il., plans.

A concise and useful complement to Taylor's Anglo-Saxon architecture (see GLAH 1:J202) which focused almost exclusively on ecclesiastical buildings. Two chapters here are devoted to secular buildings, followed by nine chapters on ecclesiastical buildings. Many plans are included to illustrate those buildings no longer standing. Appendix of churches grouped by period.

Glossary, p.[179]–80. Notes, p.[181]–87. Bibliography, p.[188]. Index, p.[189]–92.

- J323 Little, Bryan. Architecture in Norman Britain. London, Batsford, 1985. 191p. il., plans.

The only recent book to deal exclusively with Norman architecture in Britain. In addition to discussing the architectural history this book relates the buildings of Anglo-Norman Britain to historic events and liturgical practices of the time. Largely devoted to ecclesiastical architecture, although some coverage is given to castles, keeps, and manors. Appendix of "greater" churches.

Bibliography, p.183–84. Index, p.185–91.

- J324 Platt, Colin. The architecture of medieval Britain: a social history. Photographs by Anthony Kersting. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1990. ix, 325p. il. (part col.)

Covers all of the British Isles from the Norman Conquest to the later 16th century examining the political and economic factors influencing architecture. Adopts a cynical attitude toward the role of faith in advancing architecture. Abundantly illustrated with excellent photographs.

Glossary, p.[296]–99. Notes, p.[301]–18. Index, p.[319]–25.

- J325 Taylor, Harold McCarter, and Taylor, Joan. Anglo-Saxon architecture. Cambridge, [Eng.], Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1965–1978. 3v. il., maps, plans, plates.

See GLAH 1:J202 for v.1–2.

Selective contents: (3) by H. M. Taylor (1978).

Renaissance—Modern

- J326 Crook, Joseph Mordaunt. The Greek revival: neo-classical attitudes in British architecture 1760–1870. Rev. ed. London, John Murray, 1995. xi, 204p. plates, map.

See GLAH 1:J207 for 1st ed.

Bibliography, p.165–[88], contains addenda for work published since 1972. Index, p.189–204.

- J327 Cruikshank, Dan. A guide to the Georgian buildings of Britain & Ireland. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1986. 320p. il. More than a guidebook, this is a history of British and Irish architecture in the period 1714–1830, organized largely by building type. Includes a gazetteer of all significant Georgian buildings (Great Britain, p.[180]–259; London, p.[260]–83; Ireland, p.[284]–99).

Bibliography, p.[300]–01. Glossary, p.[302]–03. Index of buildings and places, p.[304]–15. Index of architects and designers, p.315–20.

J328 Dunbar, John G. The architecture of Scotland. 2d rev. ed. London, Batsford, 1978. 209p. il., map, plans.

Rev. ed. of The historic architecture of Scotland (GLAH 1:J181). Text has been reorganized to proceed chronologically. Places greater emphasis on building materials and techniques than did the 1st ed.

Bibliography, p.198–99. Index, p.200–09.

J329 Fawcett, Richard. Scottish architecture: from the accession of the Stewarts to the Reformation, 1371–1560. Edinburgh, Edinburgh Univ. Pr., 1994. xxi, 386p. il. (Architectural history of Scotland)

Contents: Pt.1: From the late fourteenth to the early fifteenth century; (1) The resurgence of building activity. Pt.2: From the early fifteenth to the mid-sixteenth century; (2) The cathedral churches; (3) Monastic architecture; (4) The architecture of the friars; (5) Rural and academic collegiate churches; (6) The greater burgh churches; (7) Parish churches and chapels; (8) Castles and domestic architecture; (9) Artillery fortification; (10) The royal residences.

Bibliography, p.[366]–71. Index, p.372–86.

J330 Fenton, Alexander, and Walker, Bruce. The rural architecture of Scotland. Edinburgh, John Donald, 1981. xi, 242p. il.

"This is a good series of essays, full of measured and photographed examples of structural elements, farm layout and housing, and the changes wrought by agricultural technology, with a sample survey of farm buildings in Grampian Region."—Review, Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, v.42, Dec. 1983, p.394.

Excellent bibliography, p.225–34. Index, p.235–42.

J331 Girouard, Mark. The Victorian country house. Rev. and enl. ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1979. vii, 467p. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:J210 for 1st ed.

Catalogue of country houses: England and Wales; Ireland; Scotland; Abroad.

Bibliographical notes on architects, p.436–43. Notes to the text, p.444–54. General index, p.455–63. Subject index, p.464–67.

J332 Harper, Roger H. Victorian architectural competitions: an index to British and Irish architectural competitions in The Builder, 1843–1900. Foreword by Sir John Summerson. London, Mansell. (Distr. by H.W. Wilson, 1983). xxxviii, 416p. il.

Indexes by place, architect's name, date, and building type more than 2,500 competitions as reported in The Builder from the date of the journal's first regular issue to 1900.

Selected bibliography, p.[xxvii]–xxxii.

J333 Howard, Deborah. Scottish architecture: Reformation to Restoration, 1560–1660. Edinburgh, Edinburgh Univ. Pr., 1995. xvi, 270p. il., plans. (Architectural history of Scotland)

"The first twenty years and the last twenty years will receive relatively little attention in this book, for both were too unsettled to allow as much ambitious architectural patronage as the middle years. . . . This book comprises a great variety of buildings, from the smallest salmon house to the most splendid royal palace."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The court; (3) The countryside; (4) The burghs; (5) The church; (6) Conclusion.

Notes, p.[221]–47. Bibliography, p.[248]–58. Index, p.[259]–70.

J334 Lubbock, Jules. The tyranny of taste: the politics of architecture and design in Britain 1550–1960. New Haven, Pub. for the Mellon Centre by Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. xv, 413p. il.

"The primary purpose of this book has been to present an historical reconstruction of a system of thought in which the design, manufacture and consumption of goods, architecture and town planning have been inextricably interlinked with issues of economic theory and policy, social policy and personal morality, from the Tudor period to that of the Welfare State, and to show how the 'Political Economy of Design' has shaped the physical environment of this country."—p.366.

Contents: (1) The consumer society; (2) The stable society; (3) The luxury debate; (4) Style and economics; (5) Good design; (6) Good modern design; (7) Conclusion, Plato's conundrum.

Notes, p.370–95. Index, p.396–412.

J335 McCarthy, Michael J. The origins of the Gothic revival. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1987. ix, 212p. il. (part col.)

Contents: (1) Literature of the revival; (2) Garden buildings in the Gothic style; (3) Horace Walpole and Strawberry Hill; (4) The domestic architecture of the Strawberry Hill architects; (5) The domestic architecture of Sanderson Miller and Sir Roger Newdigate; (6) Ecclesiastical architecture in the Gothic style; Appendix.

Notes, p.183–99. Bibliography, p.200–08. Index, p.209–12.

J336 One hundred and fifty years of architecture in Ireland: RIAI 1839–1989. [Ed. by John Graby]. Dublin, RIAI, 1989. 130p. il., facsim., plans, ports.

A series of essays on the history of Irish architectural design and the profession of architecture since the founding of the Royal Institute of the Architects of Ireland. Includes a brief history of nine major architectural firms, a list of past presidents of the RIAI, and RIAI medal winners.

Footnotes and appendixes, p.120–23. Index, p.124–29.

J337 Richardson, Ruth, and Thorne, Robert. The Builder: illustrations index, 1843–1883. London, The Builder Group, 1994. xiii, 832p. il., facsim., ports.

An index to more than 12,300 illustrations published in the most important British journal of architecture in the 19th century. Covers illustrations from the first regular issue through the resignation of George Godwin as editor in 1883, documenting changes in styles, building methods, and social problems as they relate to architecture. Each catalog entry lists the year of publication, page number, and type of illustration; title of illustration; names (plus roles); places; subjects; and observations and comments about the illustration and article it accompanied. Information can be found not only for the architect responsible, but also for the contractor, and often the draftsman or engraver of the plate. Two introductory essays precede the catalog and its six indexes.

Geographical index, p.457–501 (broken into London, Britain, and the world). Illustrations title index, p.503–32. Names index, p.533–609. Roles index, p.611–67. Styles index, p.669–78. Subjects index, p.679–831. List of subject headings, p.832.

J338 Rothery, Sean. Ireland and the new architecture, 1900–1940. Dublin, Lilliput Pr., 1991. xix, 281p. il. The first general study of Irish architecture of the first half of this century, it contradicts the prevailing opinion that Ireland was an architectural backwater.

Contents: (1) New structures; (2) The influence of the Arts and Crafts; (3) Irish architectural journals; Education for architects; (4) The classical tradition lives on; (5) Writers and propagandists; (6) Patronage: The state and the church; (7) Architectural jazz; (8) The International style comes to Ireland; (9) Epilogue.

Notes, p.235–57. Select bibliography, p.259–68. Index, p.269–81.

J339 Service, Alastair. Edwardian architecture: a handbook to building design in Britain, 1890–1914. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1977. 216p. il., plans.

"This book is the first concise study of the main, often conflicting, developments in British architecture between 1890 and 1914."—Pref. Divided into three parts: The end of the nineteenth century; Edwardian free design; and Edwardian classicism. Concludes with a list of the leading architects and some of their buildings, 1890–1914, which gives the briefest of biographical data plus buildings' names, dates, and addresses (p.197–213).

Index, p.213–16

J340 Service, Alastair, [ed.] Edwardian architecture and its origins. London, Architectural Pr., 1975. 504p. il., plans, ports.

A compilation of essays by many different authors on individual architects, many written over a period of 50 years for the Architectural review. Biographical essays are grouped chronologically by the architects' period of influence, each part being introduced by a brief overview written by Service.

Contents: (1) Pioneers of a free manner; (2) From Queen Anne towards a free style, 1875–1890; (3) Arts and Crafts architecture and the 1890s; (4) Scotland at the end of the century; (5) Church architecture; (6) The grand manner; (7) Edwardian free style; (8) Variations of the grand manner; (9) Conclusion: Goodhart-Rendel's Roll-Call. Principal architects of the late Victorian and Edwardian period.

Bibliographic notes follow most essays. Select bibliography, p.489–90. Index, p.491–98. Index to buildings illustrated, p.499–504.

J341 Stillman, Damie. English neo-classical architecture. London, Zwemmer (Distr. by Sotheby's, 1988). 2v. il. (part col.) (Studies in architecture, 26)

The first scholarly survey of the English version of this style. Organized first chronologically, and then by building type, it covers all aspects of English Neoclassicism from interiors to urban design. Fine illustrations.

Notes, v.2, p.525–600. Classified bibliography, v.2, p.601–26. Index, v.2, p.627–48.

J342 Summerson, Sir John N. Architecture in Britain, 1530 to 1830. Colour photography by A. F. Kersting. 9th ed. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. 588p. il. (part col.), maps. (Yale University Press pelican history of art, Z3)

See GLAH 1:J216 for 5th rev. ed. 6th rev. ed., 1977; 7th rev. ed, 1983; 8th rev. ed, 1991.

Notes, p.529–40. Bibliography, p.541–49. Publications since 1983: a narrative bibliography, p.550–53. List of illustrations, p.554–64. Index, p.565–88.

J343 Watkin, David. The English vision: the picturesque in architecture, landscape, and garden design. London, J. Murray, 1982. xi, 227p. il.

Integrates the study of architecture and landscape architecture with the belief that neither can be studied alone when dealing with picturesque influences. Covers topics from 18th-century landscape gardens to "picturesque" town planning in the 20th century. Two chapters on country houses form the bulk of the text.

Contents: (1) Early landscape gardens; (2) The Rococo and Chinoiserie phase; (3) The cult of the ruin; (4) Theory and practice in garden design: Capability Brown to J. C. Loudon; (5) The picturesque house: Vanbrugh to Soane; (6) The picturesque house: Salvin to Lutyens; (7) English influence abroad; (8) The picturesque in village and town.

Notes, p.201–04. Bibliography, p.204–16. Index, p.220–27.

Greece

J344 Greek traditional architecture. Ed. by Dimitri Philipides. [Trans. by David Hardy, Philip Ramp.] Athens, Melissa, 1983–. (2)v. il. (M library of art)

Projected to be complete in eight vols. The first two vols. examine the traditional architecture of four major island groups: the Eastern Aegean Islands, the Sporades, the Ionian Islands, and the Cyclades. Profusely illustrated with excellent color photographs and numerous drawings and plans.

Contents: (1) Eastern Aegean, Sporades-Ionian Islands; (2) Aegean, Cyclades.

Bibliography, v.2, p.306. Index of names and terms, v.1, p.307–13.

J345 Hetherington, Paul. Byzantine and medieval Greece: churches, castles, and art of the mainland and Peloponnese. London, J. Murray, 1991. xviii, 238p., il. (part col.), plates, maps, plans.

A guidebook to the most important Byzantine and medieval structures extant and easily accessible on the mainland and the Peloponnese. The islands have been omitted. Two essays precede the entries: An outline history of medieval Greece;

The architecture and art of medieval Greece. Entries describe the buildings found on site and their history, but most are illustrated only by a floor plan.

Glossary, p.[221]–24. Tables of Byzantine and medieval rulers, p.[225]–27. Main events in the history of medieval Greece, p.[228]–29. Bibliography, p.[230]–31. Index, p.[233]–38.

Italy

General Works

J346 Howard, Deborah. The architectural history of Venice. N.Y., Holmes & Meier, 1981. 263p. il., plans. General survey tracing the architectural history of the city alone rather than the whole of the Veneto.

Notes, p.238–48. Bibliography, p.249–55. Index, p.256–63.

J347 Die Kirchen von Siena. Hrsg. von Peter Anselm Riedl und Max Seidel. Munchen, Bruckmann, 1985–. (2)v. il., plans.

An inventory of the churches of Siena, arranged alphabetically. For each it gives extensive information, including documentation, a summary of previous research, and bibliography. Projected publication of seven vols. Text in German, Italian, and Latin.

Contents: (1) Abbadia all'Arco-S. Biagio. T.1, Textband. T.2, Bildband. T.3, Planband; (2) Oratorio della Carita-S. Domenico. T.1, Textband (2v.). T.2, Bildband. T.3, Planband.

Each vol. contains a bibliography and index.

J348 Roma cristiana: collana diretta da Carlo Galassi Paluzzi. [Bologna], Cappelli, 1964–[75]. 18v. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:J222 for previously published vols.

Selective contents: (17) La Basilica di S. Pietro, [1975].

J349 Storia dell'architettura italiana. 2d ed. Milano, Electa, 1997–. (2)v. il. (part col.), plans.

Impressive historical survey; splendidly illustrated. Projected in nine vols. covering the 14th to the 20th century.

Selective contents: (2) Fiore, Francesco Paolo. Il Quattrocento (1998); (9) Dal Co, Francesco. Il secondo Novecento (1997).

SEE ALSO: Teague, Index to Italian architecture: a guide to key monuments and reproduction sources (GLAH 2:D47).

Early Christian—Gothic

J350 Bellafiore, Giuseppe. Architettura in Sicilia nelle età islamica e normanna (827–1194). Palermo, A. Lombardi, 1990. 366p. il. (La Civiltà siciliana, 1)

A history of Sicilian architecture over four centuries of Islamic and Norman rule. Essays precede the list of buildings discussed in detail, most of which are in or near present-day Palermo. Entries for buildings are organized by type.

Contents: (1) Il quadro storico; (2) La koiné fatimita; (3) Lo scenario territoriale e la cultura della città; (4) L'architettura palaziale urbana; (5) I giardini paradiso; (6) L'architettura religiosa; (7) L'universo decorativo; (8) Le opere.

Notes p.[165]–83. Nota bibliografica, p.[185]–92. Bibliografia, p.[193]–212. Glossario, p.223. Indice dei nomi, p.353–55. Indice dei luoghi e delle opere, p.357–65.

J351 Krautheimer, Richard. Rome, profile of a city, 312–1308. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1980. 389p. il. maps.

Krautheimer strives "to outline a history of Rome during a thousand years through, rather than of, her monuments, and of changes in the map of the city."—Introd.

Contents: Pt.1, (1) Rome and Constantine; (2) The Christianization of Rome and the Romanization of Christianity; (3) The times of Gregory the Great; (4) Rome between East and West; (5) Renewal and renaissance: the Carolingian age; (6) Realities, ideologies, and rhetoric; (7) The new rebirth of Rome: the twelfth century; (8) The thirteenth century: an epilogue. Pt.2, (9) The evidence; (10) The inheritance; (11) Growth of the Borgo; (12) The Abitato; (13) Houses, towers, and mansions; (14) The Disabitato and the Lateran.

Appendix: Chronological list of popes, p.[327]–28. Bibliographical note, p.[329]–30. Abbreviations, p.[331]–33. Notes to the text, p.[335]–72. Index of places and subjects, p.[373]–83. Index of people, p.[385]–89.

Renaissance—Modern

J352 Bellafiore, Giuseppe. Architettura in Sicilia (1415–1535). Palermo, Italia nostra, 1984. 331p. il., maps, plans.

A study of Sicilian architecture during the Renaissance period.

Contents: (I) Architettura e città; (II) La koiné aragonese; (III) La domus magnae; (IV) Logge mercantili, tocchi, opere edili civili; (V) Chiese ed edifici religiosi; (VI) Cantieri edili fabbricatori e marmorari; (VII) Tardogotico. Rinasita. Plateresco.

Note, p.[171]–99. Bibliografia, p.201–08. Indice degli artisti, p.323–24. Indice dei luoghi e delle opere, p.325–29.

J353 Burckhardt, Jacob. The architecture of the Italian Renaissance. Rev. and ed. by Peter Murray. Trans. by James Palmes. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1985. xxxv, 283p. il.

See GLAH 1:J123 for original German ed. Trans. of Die Geschichte der Renaissance, 6th ed. Esslingen a. N., Neff, 1920. Bibliography expands upon original citations, p.[xix]–xxix. A new introduction, a few new notes and corrections to previous errors have been added. Indexes and illustrations (lacking information on which reproductions are new and which are original to Burckhardt's 6th ed.).

J354 Etlin, Richard A. Modernism in Italian architecture, 1890–1940. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1991. xxiii, 736p. il.

"This book is a study of the pluralistic and evolving notion of modernism in Italian architecture between 1890 and 1940."—Introd. A scholarly and complete account less suitable for general readers. Excellent coverage of the relationship between architecture and Fascism. Good complement to Tafuri's History of Italian architecture, 1944–1985 (see GLAH 2:J363).

Notes, p.[599]–678. Works cited, p.[679]–715. Index, p.[717]–36.

J355 Heydenreich, Ludwig H. Architecture in Italy, 1400–1500. Rev. by Paul Davies. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. 186p. il. (part col.), map, plans. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:J240 for original publication.

Companion to Lotz, Architecture in Italy, 1500–1600 (see next entry). Heydenreich's original text has been retained in its entirety. New research has been incorporated into the text by means of asterisks which direct the reader to additional endnotes. These are used only when Heydenreich's text is incorrect or misleading.

Notes, p.[152]–69. Additional notes to the revised edition, p.[170]. Bibliography, p.[171]–76. Select bibliography of books published since 1974, p.[177]–80. Index, p.[181]–86.

J356 Lotz, Wolfgang. Architecture in Italy, 1500–1600. Rev. by Deborah Howard. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. viii, 205p. il. (part col.) (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

See GLAH 1:J240 for original publication.

Companion to Heydenreich, Architecture in Italy, 1400–1500 (see previous entry). Lotz's original text has been retained in its entirety. The same system of asterisks related to endnotes is used as that found in Heydenreich.

Notes, p.[173]–89. Additional notes to the revised edition, p.[190]. Bibliography, p.[191]–97. Select bibliography of books published since 1973, p.[198]–200. Index, p.[201]–05.

J357 Murray, Peter. The architecture of the Italian Renaissance. New and enl. ed. London, Thames & Hudson, 1969. 252p. il., maps, plans. ([The World of art library: architecture]) (Repr.: N.Y., Schocken Books, 1986)

See GLAH 1:J243 for 1st ed.

J358 Nicoletti, Manfredi. L'architettura liberty in Italia. Rome, Laterza, 1978. xii, 421p. il. (part col.)

A detailed history of Art Nouveau architecture which recognizes many lesser-known architects and buildings.

[Bibliografia], p.[387]–402. Indice dei nomi, p.[405]–17.

J359 Pommer, Richard. Eighteenth-century architecture in Piedmont: the open structures of Juvarra, Alfieri & Vittone. N.Y., New York Univ. Pr., 1967. xvii, 300p. il., plans.

The first attempt to place Piedmontese architecture of the period into its European context, it focuses on Juvarra, Alfieri and Vittone as the founder and most important followers of this new emphasis on openness in structures. Documents major buildings in great detail.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The background; (3) Filippo Juvarra and the chapel at Venaria Reale; (4) The genesis of Sant'Andrea in Chieri; (5) The Duomo Nuovo in Turin; (6) The Palazzina di Stupinigi; (7) San Filippo Neri and the Carmine; (8) Benedetto Alfieri's SS. Giovanni e Remigio in Carignano; (9) On Bernardo Antonio Vittone; (10) Postscript. Appendixes: (1) Juvarra's sketchbooks; (2) Juvarra's projects of 1714–1715 for the Sacristy of St. Peter's; (3) Venaria Reale; (4) The parish church of Murisengo; (5) Sant'Andrea in Chieri; (6) Duomo Nuovo; (7) Stupinigi; (8) San Filippo Neri; (9) The Carmine; (10) Sant'Antonio in Chieri; (11) SS. Giovanni e Remigio in Carignano and Benedetto Alfieri; (12) Documents for Vittone's life and career; (13) Miscellaneous churches by Vittone.

Selected bibliography, p.286–92. Index, p.293–300.

J360 The Renaissance from Brunelleschi to Michelangelo: the representation of architecture. Ed. by Henry Millon and Vittorio Magnago Lampugnani. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1994. 731p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Palazzo Grassi, Venice (1994). An essential scholarly work intended to "initiate a vast, non-specialist public in the complexities and contradictions of Renaissance architecture, a phenomenon of uncertain origin with myriad paths of development and a somewhat elusive conclusion."—Foreword. Exceptional illustrations.

Contents: (1) Models in Renaissance architecture, by Henry A. Millon; (2) The relation of sculpture and architecture in the Renaissance, by Kathleen Weil-Garris Brandt; (3) Reflections on the early architectural drawings, by Christoph Luitpold Frommel; (4) Religious architecture in Renaissance Italy from Brunelleschi to Michelangelo, by Arnaldo Bruschi; (5) Living all'antica: palaces and villas from Brunelleschi to Bramante, by Christoph Luitpold Frommel; (6) The Italian city, 1400–1600, by Nicholas Adams and Laurie Mussdorfer; (7) The panels in Urbino, Baltimore and Berlin reconsidered, by Richard Krautheimer; (8) The Renaissance of architecture, by Hubertus Günther; (9) Ordo, fondo et mensura: the criteria of architecture, by Oswald Mathias Ungers; (10) The regions of Italian Renaissance, James Ackerman; (11) The urban structure of Naples: utopia and reality, by Cesare De Seta; (12) The tale of two cities: Siena and Venice, by Carlo Bertelli; (13) St. Peter's: the early history, by Christoph Luitpold Frommel.

The works, p.[425]–678. Bibliography, p.681–715. Index of names, p.717–20. Index of works, p.721–28.

J361 Romanelli, Giandomenico. Venezia Ottocento: l'architettura, l'urbanistica. [Venezia], Albrizzi, [1988]. 524p. il. (part col.)

Thorough history of 19th-century architectural developments in Venice. Excellent illustrations.

Contents: (1) Tra Francia e Austria, 1797–1805; (2) Napoleone e il regno d'Italia, 1806–1814; (3) Il "Ritorno d'Astrea"; (4) Tra Quarantotto e Sessantasei; (5) Gli Italiani a Venezia; Appendixes.

Extensive endnotes with each chapter. Bibliografia, p.489–506. Indice dei nomi, p.509–14. Indice dei luoghi, p.515–24.

- J362 ———. Venezia Ottocento: materiali per una storia architettonica e urbanistica della città nel secolo XIX. Roma, Officina, 1977. 622p. il., plates.

Substantial study of 19th-century Venetian architecture and urbanism.

Contents: (1) Tra Francia e Austria, 1797–1805; (2) Napoleone e il Regno d'Italia 1806–1814; (3) Il "ritorno d'Astrea"; (4) Tra Quarantotto e Sessantasei; (5) Gli Italiani a Venezia; Appendici.

Notes at ends of chapters. Bibliografia, p.[565]–602. Indice dei nomi, p.[603]–11. Indice dei luoghi, [612]–22.

- J363 Tafuri, Manfredo. History of Italian architecture, 1944–1985. Trans. by Jessica Levine. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1989. ix, 269p. il., plates.

Rev. ed. and trans. of Storia dell'architettura italiana, 1944–1985. Turin, Einaudi, 1986.

Contents: Pt.1: 1944–1979. (1) The years of reconstruction; (2) Aufklärung I: Adriano Olivetti and the Comunitas of the intellect; (3) The myth of equilibrium: The Vanoni Plan and INA-Casa's second seven years; (4) Aufklärung II: The museum, history, and metaphor (1951–1967); (5) New crises and new strategies; (6) Two "masters": Carlo Scarpa and Giuseppe Samonà. Pt.2: 1980–1985, (7) The fragment and the city: Research and Exempla of the seventies; (8) Architecture as dialogue and architecture as "civil invective"; (9) The case of Aldo Rossi; (10) Rigorism and abstinence: Toward the 1980s; (11) Structural transformations and new experiences in planning; (12) The paradigms of pluralism; (13) Venice 1985: The Architecture Biennale; (14) "Gay Errancy": Hypermoderns (Postmoderns); (15) The threshold and the problem.

Notes, p.[203]–49. Bibliographical appendix, p.[251]–61. Index, p.[263]–69.

- J364 ———. Venice and the Renaissance. Trans. by Jessica Levine. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1989. xi, 296p. il., plates., maps.

Trans. of Venezia e il Rinascimento. Turin, Einaudi, 1985. A collection of seven essays in which Tafuri "dissects the relationship between the myth of Venice and its cinquecento reality, between an image of a putative ideal Renaissance city and the tortuous routes by which physical change was in fact wrought on the capital's fabric."—Review, Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, v.50, Dec. 1991, p.457.

Notes, p.[197]–279. Glossary, p.[281]–83. Index, p.[285]–96.

- J365 Varriano, John L. Italian Baroque and Rococo architecture. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1986. 329p. il.

A good survey useful as an introduction to the history of Italian Baroque architecture.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Precursors of the Roman Baroque: Vignola to Carlo Maderno; (3) Francesco Borromini; (4) Gianlorenzo Bernini; (5) Pietro da Cortona; (6) Other aspects of the Roman Baroque; (7) Rococo and academic classicism in eighteenth-century Rome; (8) Northern Italy in the seventeenth century; (9) Guarino Guarini; (10) Northern Italy in the eighteenth century; (11) Southern Italy.

Notes, p.295–308. Glossary, p.309–11.

- J366 Wittkower, Rudolf. Architectural principles in the age of humanism. 4th ed. N.Y., St. Martin's Pr., 1988. 160p. il.

See GLAH 1:J248 for previous eds. With this ed. illustrations are integrated into the text.

Contents: (1) The centrally planned church and the Renaissance; (2) Alberti's approach to antiquity in architecture; (3) Principles of Palladio's architecture; (4) The problem of harmonic proportion in architecture; Appendixes: (1) Francesco Giorgi's Memorandum for S. Francesco della Vigna; (2) The problem of commensurability of ratios in the Renaissance; (3) Bibliographical notes on the theory of proportion; (4) Proportion in art and architecture: an amalgamation of previously unpublished lectures by Professor Wittkower.

Index, p.156–60.

Latin America

Bibliography

- J367 Bibliografía iberoamericana de revistas de arquitectura y urbanismo. [Por] Ramón Gutiérrez, Marcelo Martín. Madrid, Instituto Español de Arquitectura; Consejo Académico Iberoamericano, 1993. 134p. il. (Ediciones de las Universidades de Alcalá y Valladolid)

Bibliography of Latin American periodicals devoted to architecture and urbanism.

Contents: Bibliografía latinoamericana de revistas de arquitectura y urbanismo, by Ramón Gutiérrez . . . [et al.]; Bibliografía española de revistas de arquitectura y urbanismo, by Marcelo Martín . . . [et al.]

Referencias bibliográficas, p.131.

- J368 Gutiérrez, Ramón, and Méndez, Patricia. Bibliografía de arquitectura y urbanismo en Iberoamérica, 1980–1993. Alcalá de Henares, Spain, Instituto Español de Arquitectura, Universidad de Alcalá y Valladolid; Buenos Aires, Centro de Documentación de Arquitectura Latinoamericana (CEDODAL), 1996. 76p.

Useful bibliography of recent literature on Latin American architecture and urbanism.

Contents: Arquitectura contemporánea; Arquitectura histórica; Preservación; Tecnología; Urbanismo; Otros temas.

Índice de autores, p.9–22.

- J369 Rivera de Figueroa, Carmen A. Architecture for the tropics: a bibliographical synthesis (from the beginnings to 1972): con una versión castellana resumida (Arquitectura para el trópico). Río Piedras, P.R., Editorial Universitaria, University of Puerto Rico, 1980. xi, 203p. il.

Bilingual (English-Spanish) bibliographical essay "developed to aid those architects who design for the tropics whether native to the region themselves or not."—Introd. Includes discussion of relevant materials on structures, techniques, design, sites, landscape, housing, and solar energy. A somewhat complex subject classification of all citations is appended as the third chapter.

Contents: (I) Man, climate and architecture; (II) Bibliography on architecture for the tropics: chronological development; (III) Architecture for the tropics: main aspects.

Abbreviations, p.147. Selected bibliographical references, p.149–50.

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

- J370 Pérez Calvo, Carlos E. Diccionario ilustrado de arquitectura: contiene más de 5.000 vocablos y 7.000 acepciones, voces técnicas y modismos, 400 ilustraciones y un vocabulario inglés-español con 1.600 palabras. [Rev. y complementado por Gustavo Perry Zubieta. Ilustrado por Ignacio Vargas Castro. Portada, C. Urquijo.] Bogotá, J. Plazas S., 1979. 231p. il.

Illustrated dictionary of architecture, including general terms relevant to contemporary and historical architecture. Appendix lists English-Spanish equivalents. Pen-and-ink drawings illustrate many entries.

Abreviaturas, p.[6]. Índice, p.[215]–31.

Histories and Handbooks

- J371 Arango, Silvia. Historia de la arquitectura en Colombia. Bogotá, Centro Editorial y Facultad de Artes, Universidad Nacional de Colombia, 1990. 291p. il.

Survey of Colombian architecture from Precolumbian to 1985.

Contents: (I) Arquitectura indígena; (II) Arquitectura colonial; (III) El siglo XIX; (IV) Arquitectura republicana (1880–1930); (V) La transición (1930–1945); (VI) El movimiento moderno (1945–1970); (VII) Arquitectura actual (1970–1985).

Índice de nombres y lugares, p.279–86. Bibliografía, p.287–90.

- J372 The architecture of Latin America. Ed. by Miguel Ángel Roca. London, Academy (Distr. by National Book Network, 1995.) 141p. il. (part col.)

Features 19 architects from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Mexico, and Peru. Shows some of their designs.

Contents: Latin America, modernity and contemporaneity: notes from the south, by Miguel Ángel Roca; Situated modernity: Argentinian architecture 1970–90, by Roberto Fernández; Brazilian architecture 1970–94, by Carlos Eduardo Días Comas; De Groote, Murtinho and Browne: three Chilean views on the contemporary architectural debate, by Fernando Pérez Oyarzun; New proposals in Colombian architecture, by Alberto Saldarriaga Roa; An approach to contemporary Mexican architecture, by Louise Noelle; An introduction to Peruvian architecture, by Gloria Camino de Broadbent.

Curricula vitae, p.[142]–[44] [short biographies of architects].

- J373 Arquitectura colonial iberoamericana. Graziano Gasparini, coord. Autores, Eugenio Pérez Montas . . . [et al.] Caracas, Venezuela, Armitano, 1997. 565p. il. (part col.)

Regional survey of Latin American colonial architecture. Each national essay by a single author.

Bibliografía, p.553–65.

- J374 Arquitectura latinoamericana en el siglo XX. Ramón Gutiérrez, coord. Milan, Jaca Book; Barcelona, Lunewerg, 1998. 440p. il. (part col.), plans, ports.

Divided into three parts, the first two consisting of thematic essays, the third a dictionary of architects, institutions, and periodicals.

Contents: Textos preliminares. [Por] Eladio Dieste . . . [et al.]; Grandes voces. Red. de Ramón Gutiérrez, Graciela María Viñuales; Diccionario enciclopédico. Dir. por Ramón Gutiérrez.

Bibliografía general, p.89–94.

- J375 La arquitectura mexicana del siglo XX. Coordinación y prólogo, Fernando González Gortázar. México, D.F., Consejo Nacional para la Cultura y las Artes, 1994. 339p. il. (part col.) (Cultura contemporánea de México)

Includes 50 essays on the history of architecture in Mexico during the 20th century. Some of the essays discuss the architects who shaped that history and their notable works. Well-illustrated in a large format.

Contents: (I) Las fiestas del centenario: recapitulaciones y vaticinios; (II) La búsqueda de una identidad; (III) El imperio de la razón; (IV) El futuro radiante: la ciudad universitaria; (V) Indagando las raíces; (VI) Las ciudades: el futuro y el olvido; (VII) Las nuevas tecnologías; (VIII) La crisis de la modernidad: un nuevo fin de siglo; Evolución de la crítica de la arquitectura en México: 1900–1990.

Bibliografía analítica, p.317–33. Índice onomástico, p.335–39.

- J376 Carley, Rachel. Cuba: 400 years of architectural heritage. Photography by Andrea Brizzi. N.Y., Whitney Library of Design, 1997. 224p. col. il., maps.

"This book . . . is not only a celebration of an extraordinary timeline of history, but a documentation of what is here now but will likely disappear soon."—Introd. Informed survey from the precolonial era to the present.

Select bibliography, p.222–23. Index, p.224.

- J377 Catálogo nacional, monumentos históricos inmuebles. [Mexico City], Secretaría de Educación Pública, Instituto Nacional de Antropología e Historia; Programa Cultural de las Fronteras, [1986]– . (13?)v. il., maps, plans.

All vols. are issued in co-publication with state governments.

Selective contents: Azcapotzalco, D.F.; Baja California; Baja California Sur; Chihuahua (2v.); Coahuila (4v.); Izta-calco, D.F.; Mexico (3v.); Querétaro (4v.); Tabasco; Tamaulipas (3v.); Tlalpan; Tlaxcala (3v.); Xochimilco.

Bibliographies included in each vol.

- J378 Early, James. The colonial architecture of Mexico. Albuquerque, Univ. of New Mexico Pr., 1994. 221p. il. (part col.)

A synthetic work that provides an overview of the topic.

Contents: (I) Architecture for the Viceroyalty of New Spain; (II) Friars and Indians: the architecture of evangelism; (III) Towns and cities for the Spaniards; (IV) Baroque religious life and architecture I; (V) Popular or folk architecture; (VI) Eighteenth-century prosperity: domestic and civic architecture; (VII) Baroque religious architecture II; (VIII) Neo-classicism and beyond in New Spain and in Mexico.

Notes, p.205–06. Glossary, p.207–08. Bibliography, p.209–13. Index, p.215–21.

- J379 Gutiérrez, Ramón. Arquitectura y urbanismo en Iberoamérica. [Madrid, Cátedra, 1983]. 776p. il. (Manuales arte Cátedra)

Classic, substantial survey from colonial times through contemporary period. Includes civil, military and domestic architecture, the profession of architecture, and urbanism.

Bibliografía general, p.715–[47]. Índice alfabético, p.749–76.

- J380 Katzman, Israel. Arquitectura del siglo XIX en México. 2a ed. México, Trillas, 1993. 397p. il., maps, plans.

1st ed.: [México], Centro de Investigaciones Arquitectónicas, Univ. Nacional Autónoma de México, 1973.

Intended principally to summarize, classify, and quantify our knowledge of 19th-century Mexican architectural theory and practice. Includes a biographical section in dictionary arrangement of architects active in Mexico from 1790 to 1920.

Contents: (1) Influencias culturales; (2) La ciudad en el siglo xix; (3) Enseñanza de la arquitectura; (4) Transformación estética; (5) La teoría arquitectónica; (6) La construcción; (7) Arquitectos y constructores que ejercieron entre 1790 y 1920.

Índice onomástico, p.389–92. Índice analítico, p.393–97.

- J381 Liernur, Jorge Francisco. América latina: architettura, gli ultimi vent'anni. Milano, Electa, 1990. 203p. il. (part col.) (Tendenze dell'architettura contemporanea, 3)

Multi-author survey of contemporary Latin American architecture, arranged by country, with chapters devoted to Argentina, Brazil, the Caribbean, Chile, Colombia, Mexico, Uruguay, and Venezuela.

Indice dei nomi, p.197–202.

- J382 Markman, Sidney David. Architecture and urbanization of colonial Central America. Tempe, Ariz., Center for Latin American Studies, Arizona State Univ., 1993–95. 2v. il., maps.

"The archival documents cited in this book form a major segment of the corpus of primary sources relevant to research on colonial Central America."—Introd. Covers the period 1524 to 1821.

Contents: (1) Selected primary documentary and literary sources [arranges transcriptions of selected sources according to subject]; (2) A geographical gazetteer of primary documentary, literary and visual sources [lists alphabetically the 482 towns referred to in the sources].

Glossary, v.1, p.255–56. Bibliography, v.1, p.257–64, v.2, p.315–25. Index, v.1, p.265–82, v.2, p.326–42.

- J383 Palm, Erwin Walter. Los monumentos arquitectónicos de la Española. 2a ed. ampliada. Santo Domingo, Editora de Santo Domingo, 1984. 1v. (various pagings) il. (Colección de cultura dominicana, 53)

See GLAH 1:J257 for 1st ed. (1955). Facsimile ed., with an epilog covering the period 1955–83 and updating the work with respect to historiography, urbanism, and theory.

- J384 Yampolsky, Mariana. The traditional architecture of Mexico. Text by Chloë Sayer. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 208p. il. (part col.), maps.

Popular treatment of Mexican vernacular architecture.

Contents: (1) Using colour; (2) Rural houses; (3) Public spaces; (4) The hacienda; (5) Town residences; (6) The uncommon touch.

Glossary, p.200–02. Bibliography, p.202–05. Index, p.205–08.

Low Countries

- J385 Fanelli, Giovanni. Architettura moderna in Olanda 1900–1940. Firenze, Marchi & Bertolli, 1968. 371p. il. (Raccolta pisana di saggi e studi, 22)

Dutch ed. 1978. 'S-Gravenage, Staatsuitgeverij, 1978.

The only survey to date of this important period, it includes many lesser-known buildings. Many plans and drawings.

Includes a chronological bibliography (1850–1967), p.149–78. Biographies and list of major works for significant architects of the period, p.181–236. Plates, p.239–334. Abridged text in English, p.339–64. Index, p.365–71.

- J386 Groenendijk, Paul, and Vollaard, Piet. Gids voor moderne architectuur in Nederland = Guide to modern architecture in the Netherlands. 5. geheel herziene en uitgebreide ed. Introd., Hans van Dijk. Photography, Piet Rook. Rotterdam, Uitgeverij 010, 1998. 372p. il.

1st ed., 1987. 2d ed., July 1987. 3d ed., 1989; 4th ed. 1992.

"A travel guide designed to help those interested in modern Dutch architecture to visit buildings and projects."—Foreword. Includes bilingual descriptions of nearly 500 buildings and urban projects, each with a recent photograph, information on the designer, dates of design and construction, address, and relevant literature. Modern here means design since Berlage, with the greatest emphasis on the most recent 40 years.

Place name index, p.340. Name index, p.345–60. Subject index, p.361–69. Bibliography, p.370–72.

- J387 Kuyper, W. Dutch classicist architecture: a survey of Dutch architecture, gardens, and Anglo-Dutch architectural relations from 1625 to 1700. Delft, Delft Univ. Pr., 1980. xxx, 615p. il.

Contents: (1) Preludes to Classicism and seventeenth-century churches; (2) The architects of the Classicist period; (3) Country houses and gardens in Holland; (4) The Flat Style, 1670–1700; (5) Historicism; conclusions; contemporary sources.

Notes, p.229–326. Plates, p.327–592. Index, p.593–615.

- J388 ———. The triumphant entry of Renaissance architecture into the Netherlands: the joyeuse entrée of Philip of Spain into Antwerp in 1549: Renaissance and Mannerist architecture in the Low Countries from 1530 to 1630. Alphen aan de Rijn, Canaletto, 1994. 2v. il., maps.

The first English-language survey of Netherlandish 16th-century architecture, this offers descriptions of many major monuments. Extensively illustrated with fine reproductions.

Contents: Vol.1 (Pt.1) The triumph of power, about 1535 to 1565; (Pt.2) Triumph of civic pride, about 1530 to 1570; (Pt.3) Artisan mannerism, about 1570 to 1630; Appendix 1: The "1543" lawsuit Jacob (James) van der Borch versus Willem (William) van Noort; Appendix 2: Schiappalari's Genoese Arch in perspective and some Mannerist works of the 1580s; Appendix 3: The Amsterdam public theatre of 1637; Vol.2: Plates.

Notes to text, v.1, p.329–89. Bibliographical annotations, v.1, p.391–95. Index, v.1, p.397–435.

- J389 Puttemans, Pierre. Modern architecture in Belgium. Brussels, Marc Vokaer, 1976. 262p. il. (part col.), plates, plans.

Discusses many buildings not covered in other histories. Amply illustrated, including many plans.

Contents: (1) Neo-Classicism; (2) Historicism; (3) Towards functionalism; (4) Urban development in the nineteenth century; (5) Art Nouveau; (6) From Pompe and Hoffmann to the Cubists; (7) A time of certainties; (8) A time of stagnation; (9) After the war; (10) After 1968.

Notes, p.255–57. Bibliography, p.258. Index, p.259–62.

- J390 Vandenbreeden, Jos, and Dierkens-Aubry, Françoise. The 19th century in Belgium: architecture and interior design. Photography, Christine Bastin and Jacques Evrard. [Tielt, Be], Lannoo, 1994. 240p. il. (part col.), plans.

Lavishly illustrated, this is not a comprehensive history but a selection of the most creative designs and most skillfully crafted buildings of the 19th century. Sections on Neo-classicism, Gothic Revival, eclecticism, Renaissance Revival, Art Nouveau, interior decoration, and sculpture as decoration. "A significant part of the book is dedicated to stylistic study and analysis."—Foreword.

Lacks an index. General bibliography, p.239–40.

New Zealand

- J391 Brookes, Susan. Index to the Journal of the New Zealand Institute of Architects 1912–1980. [Wellington], School of Architecture, Victoria University of Wellington, [1982]. 125p. (Publication WP, 82–13)

Supplements: 1981–1985, by Kathryn Bolland and Susan Brookes, [1987]; 1986–1990, by Julie Howarth and Kathryn Bolland, [1991]

A cumulative index with entries by architect, building type/subject, place, author.

- J392 Shaw, Peter. New Zealand architecture: from Polynesian beginnings to 1990. Photographs by Robin Morrison. Auckland, Hodder & Stoughton, 1991. 216p. il. (part col.)

Cursory coverage of Maori architecture in first chapter. Heavy emphasis on domestic architecture in each period.

Contents: (1) Rauppo, timber and stone; (2) The birth of Antipodean Gothic; (3) Cottages, villas and country houses; (4) The architecture of prosperity; (5) Changing influences in domestic architecture; (6) The conservative solution; (7) Modern, Moderne, and Deco; (8) The search for the vernacular; (9) Architecture as individualism; (10) Experiment, debate and demolition.

Notes to text, p.199–201. Glossary, p.202–08. Select bibliography, p.209–12. Index of buildings and architects, p.213–16.

- J393 Stacpoole, John. Colonial architecture in New Zealand. Wellington, Reed, 1976. 224p. il., facsim., plans, port.

Straightforward history covering roughly 1820s through early 1880s, excluding buildings developed by the Maori people.

Glossary, p.216–17. Bibliography, p.217–18. Index of people, p.219–21. General index, p.221–24.

Russia and Eastern Europe

General Works

- J394 The architecture of historic Hungary. Ed. by Dora Wiebenson and József Sisa. Contrib. by Pál Lövei . . . [et al.] Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1998. xxviii, 328p. il. (part col.), plates., map.

"Comprehensive survey of Hungarian architecture from roman times to the present, the first to be published in English. . . . Both a study of the relationship between Hungary's own architecture and history, and an introduction to the larger field of Central European architecture."—Foreword. An important study.

[Bibliography], p.xxv–xxvii. Notes, p.[298]–307. Index, p.[310]–28.

- J395 Boiadzhiev, Stefan K. Bulgarskata arkhitektura prez vekovete. Sofia, Durzh. izd-vo "Tekhnika," 1982. 333p. il.

Written entirely in Cyrillic alphabet, for those who do not read Bulgarian this survey is useful for its many photographs and plans. Consists of four parts: (1) Medieval Bulgarian architecture, 7th to 16th century; (2) Architecture in the Bulgarian National Revival Period, 17th to 19th century; (3) Bulgarian architecture between 1878 and 1944; (4) Bulgarian architecture in the period of socialism. Extensive documentation of vernacular architecture.

English summary, p.332-[34].

- J396 Brumfield, William Craft. A history of Russian architecture. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1993. 644p. il., maps.

Surveys the development of Russian architecture from the masonry churches of tenth-century Kievan Rus to the prefabricated built environments of the 1980s. Divided into four sections: (1) Early medieval architecture; (2) The Muscovite period; (3) The turn to Western forms; (4) The formation of modern Russian architecture. Adopts a more positive view of architecture of the Stalinist period than the author's Gold in azure (Boston, Godine, 1983). Exceptional photographs taken specifically for this text.

Appendix (Russian wooden architecture), p.501-26. Notes, p.527-611. Bibliography, p.612-31. Index, p.632-44.

- J397 Buxton, David. The wooden churches of Eastern Europe: an introductory survey. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1982. 405p. il.

The first English-language survey of blockwork churches—log construction on the horizontal principal—in Eastern Europe. Richly illustrated with drawings and photographs. Includes appendix on the log cabin in North America (p.[385]-86) and appendix on the vanished synagogues of Eastern Europe (p.[387]-94).

Bibliography, p.[395]-97. Index, p.[400]-05.

- J398 Ionescu, Grigore. Arhitectura pe teritoriul României de-a lungul veacurilor. Bucurest, Editura Academiei Republicii Socialiste România, 1981. 711p. il. (part col.), plates.

Title on verso of title page in French and Russian: L'architecture sur le territoire de la Roumanie au long des siècles = Arkhitektura na teritorii Rumynii na protiazhenie vekov.

Supplements the author's standard survey of Romanian architecture, available in French (see following entry).

Summary [in English], p.678-89. List of illustrations [in English], p.690-99. Indice selectiv de monumente si nume proprii, p.700-[12].

- J399 ———. Histoire de l'architecture en Roumanie. De la préhistoire a nos jours. [Album. trad. par Radu Creteanu.] Bucurest, Éd. de l'Academie de la République Socialiste de Roumanie, 1972. 589p. with illus. (part col.), 3 leaves of maps. (Bibliotheca historica Romaniae. Monographies, 11)

Trans. of Istoria arhitecturii în România. Bucurest, Editura Academiei Republicii Populare Romîne, 1963-65. 2v.

Standard survey documenting the many cultural influences on Romania's architecture. Ample illustrated with many fine line drawings and plans, good black-and-white photographs.

Bibliographie, p.565-73. Index, p.575-89.

Early Christian—Gothic

- J400 Nickel, Heinrich L. Medieval architecture in Eastern Europe. Trans. by Alisa Jaffa. N.Y., Holmes & Meier, 1983. 209p. il., maps, plans.

Trans. of Östeuropäische Baukunst des Mittelalters. Köln, DuMont, 1981.

An introductory study for the general reader. "The book begins with a brief look at the legacy of Byzantium, examining the religious, political, and architectural background of the Byzantine Empire. This is followed by chapters on the architecture of the Balkans, covering Bulgaria, Serbia, and Romania; Kiev, including Vladimir-Suzdal'; Novgorod and Pskov; Moscow; and wooden architecture."—Review, Design book review, v.7, summer 1985, p.61. Buxton's The wooden churches of Eastern Europe (GLAH 2:J397) surpasses the final chapter of this book.

Bibliography, p.205-06. Index of place names, p.207-09.

Renaissance—Modern

- J401 Åman, Anders. Architecture and ideology in Eastern Europe during the Stalin era: an aspect of Cold War history. N.Y., Architectural History Foundation, 1992. viii, 285p. il.

Trans. of Arkitektur och ideologi i stalinidens Östeuropa: ur det kall krigets historia. Stockholm, Carlssons i samarbete med Arkitekturmuseet, 1987.

An architectural history of the 1950s and Socialist Realism in East German, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, and Bulgaria. Does not include the Soviet Union except to establish a context for discussion of developments in other countries. Provides a basic ideological framework for understanding the use of art by the state.

Bibliographic essay, p.263-74. Index of names, p.[279]-81. Index of places, p.[283]-85.

- J402 Avant-garde polonaise: urbanisme-architecture: 1918-1939 = Awangarda Polska: urbanistyka, architektura = The Polish avant-garde: architecture, town-planning. Conception, Olgierd Czerner, Hieronim Listowski. Contrib., François Wehrin . . . [et al.] Paris, Éd. du Moniteur, 1981. 306p. il.

Trilingual catalog of the exhibition, École Speciale d'Architecture, Paris (1981). Four essays discuss the Polish artistic revolution and place it in the larger context of European developments in architecture.

List of Poland's participation in C.I.A.M. congresses and C.I.R.P.A.C. conferences, p.245-[54]. Biographies of noteworthy architects, p.255-89. Bibliography, p.292-[307].

- J403 Brumfield, William Craft. The origins of modernism in Russian architecture. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1991. xxv, 343p. il., plates.

Comprehensive book on the radical changes in Russian architecture from the 1860s to 1917. Considers developments in both Moscow and St. Petersburg, style moderne and neo-classicist reactions against it. Chapter 2 focuses on Russian cultural and architectural journals of the period. Excellent illustrations.

Notes, p.297–321. Bibliography, p.323–27. Index, p.329–43.

J404 ———. Reshaping Russian architecture: Western technology, utopian dreams. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1990. xvii, 222p. il.

Through six essays by four contributors, this book documents the architectural transformation of imperial Russia into an industrialized Soviet empire.

Index, p.216–22.

J405 Cracraft, James. The Petrline revolution in Russian architecture. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1988. xxvi, 372p. il., map, plans, port.

"Recounts in detail how modern standards of architecture supplanted traditional building norms in Russia following a massive injection of European expertise and indicates how, in consequence, the modern Russian built world came into being."—Pref. Illustrations include many drawn by Peter the Great and foreign architects he invited to Russia.

Notes, p.337–56. Bibliography, p.357–64. Index, p.365–72.

J406 Eastern European modernism: architecture in Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Poland between the wars. Ed. with introd. and essays by Wojciech G. Lesnikowski. Essays by Vladimir Slapeta . . . [et al.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1996. 304p. il.

Welcome survey in English.

Contents: (1) Functionalism in Czechoslovakian, Hungarian, and Polish architecture from the European perspective, by Wojciech Lesnikowski; (2) Competing ideas in Czechoslovakian architecture, by Vladimir Slapeta; (3) Functionalism in Czechoslovakian architecture, by Vladimir Slapeta and Wojciech Lesnikowski; (4) Competing ideas in Hungarian architecture, by John Macsai; (5) Functionalism in Hungarian architecture, by Janos Bonta; (6) Competing ideas in Polish architecture, by Olgierd Czermer; (7) Functionalism in Polish architecture, by Wojciech Lesnikowski; (8) Holocaust and aftermath, by Wojciech Lesnikowski.

Authors' biographies, p.296–97. Select bibliography, p.298–301. Index, p.302–04.

J407 Feuer-Toth, Rozsa. Renaissance architecture in Hungary. Photographs by Kalman Konya. [Trans. by Ivan Feherdy.] Budapest, Magyar Helikon, 1981. 241p. il. Chiefly illustrations. Brief essay discusses the early arrival of Renaissance style in Hungary (as compared to France and Germany) and its classicizing character. Plates include many architectural details; all have extensive descriptions.

Plates, p.[37–212]. Description of plates, p.[213]–25. Ground plans, p.[227–37]. Bibliography, p.[239–42]. List of place names, p.[243].

J408 Foltyn, Ladislav. Slowakische Architektur und die tschechische Avantgarde: 1918–1939. Dresden, Verlag der Kunst, 1991. 235p. il., plans.

Czech ed., Slovenská architektura a česká avantgarda 1918–1939. Bratislava, Vydavateľstvo Spolku architektov Slovenska, 1993.

A chronological survey of a period in Slovak and Czech architecture which has been previously neglected. Excellent illustrations with many plans.

Anmerkungen, p.[224]–33. Personenregister, p.234–[36].

J409 Ikonnikov, Andrei Vladimirovich. Russian architecture of the Soviet period. Trans. by Lev Lyapin. Moscow, Raduga, 1988. 396p. il. (part col.), maps, plans. Standard history, the first in English, covering 1917 through the early 1980s. "Offers to anyone who cannot read Russian exposure to the official view of Soviet architecture."—Review, Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, v.44, Dec. 1980, p.462.

Contents: (1) Historical roots of Soviet Russian architecture; (2) Emergence of Soviet architecture (1917–1923); (3) Architecture in Russia during the years of reconstruction and socialist industrialization (1924–1932); (4) Russian architecture in the years before the Second World War (1933–1941); (5) The war years and post-war reconstruction (1941–1954); (6) Mass-scale housing construction, and the architecture of the late 1950s and the 1960s; (7) The quests of the 1970s and the early 1980s; (8) Conclusion.

Bibliography [in Cyrillic], p.396–[97].

J410 Khan-Magomedov, Selim O. Pioneers of Soviet architecture: the search for new solutions in the 1920s and 1930s. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1987. 618p. il.

Trans. of Pioniere der sowjetischen Architektur. Dresden, Verlag der Kunst, 1983.

The most comprehensive history of the period, it includes many buildings and projects previously unknown outside Russia. Divided into three sections: (1) Aesthetic problems of design; (2) Social tasks of architecture; (3) Masters and trends: biographies, statements, manifestos, the last of which gives information on architectural associations of the new direction. 1,544 illustrations support every aspect of the discussion.

Bibliography (p.602–10) is divided into publications in Russian, those in other languages, and a supplemental section for the English ed. Index of names, p.611–18.

J411 Kopp, Anatole. Constructivist architecture in the USSR. [Trans. from the French by Sheila de Vallée.] N.Y., St. Martin's, 1985. 160p. il.

Trans. of L'architecture de la periode Stalinienne. 2d ed. Grenoble, Presses Universitaires de Grenoble, 1985.

The first study of Stalinist architecture by a non-Soviet architectural historian. Traces the change from rich, experimental architecture of the Constructivist period to the mediocre, prescriptive designs of the 1950s. Concludes with interviews with architects and urban planners, both Soviet and Western, who worked in the U.S.S.R. during the period.

Bibliography, p.158. Index, p.159–60.

J412 Moravanszky, Akos. Competing visions: aesthetic invention and social imagination in Central European architecture, 1867–1918. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1998. xv, 508p. il. (part col.)

Seeks to define the cultural characteristics of the architecture of the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Contents: (1) Introduction: the identity of an imaginary region; (2) The city as political monument; (3) Antiquarian and individualist historicism; (4) Art nouveau: the will to style; (5) Imperial realism: the aesthetics of the Wagner circle; (6) The search for a national style; (7) The ornament: salvation or crime? (8) Folded facades: cubism and empathy; (9) Classicism as style, classicism as attitude; (10) The architecture of social reform.

Notes, p.445-74. Name index, p.481-88. Subject index, p.491-508.

J413 Quilici, Vieri. L'architettura del costruttivismo. Nuova ed. Roma, Laterza, 1978. xi, 330p. il., plates. (Universale Laterza, 440)

See GLAH 1:J268 for 1st ed.

Scandinavia

J414 Donnelly, Marian C. Architecture in the Scandinavian countries. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1992. 401p. il., maps.

A valuable introduction to a large subject, this is "a comprehensive survey of the buildings by the architects as well as by the unknown builders of the vernacular in Scandinavia. About 400 structures dating from prehistory to the 1970s are described, with a black-and-white photograph for each adjacent to the text. This is a scholarly project of research, involving almost no criticism."—Review, CHOICE, v.29, May 1992, p.1382.

Appendix: Architects and Builders, p.[343]-47. Notes, p.[349-72]. Bibliography, p.[373]-91. Index, p.[393]-401.

J415 Faber, Tobias. A history of Danish architecture. [Trans. Frederic R. Stevenson]. [Copenhagen], Det Danske Selskab, 1978. 316p. il. (Denmark in print and pictures)

A basic survey of Danish architecture from prehistoric times to 1976.

Index, p.307-16.

J416 Hauglid, Roar. Norwegian stave churches. [English text by R. I. Christophersen.] Oslo, Dreyer, 1990. 119p. il.

See GLAH 1:J269 for original ed.

J417 Nikula, Riitta. Architecture and landscape: the building of Finland. [Trans. by Timothy Binhâm.] Helsinki, Otava, 1993. 159p. il.

A general introduction to the history of building in Finland, it disregards unbuilt plans. Coverage of 20th century architecture is compressed; readers will need to refer to Quanttrill's Finnish architecture and the modernist tradition (GLAH 2:J422) for further information.

Selected bibliography, p.156-57. Name index, p.158. Place index, p.159.

J418 Norberg-Schulz, Christian. Modern Norwegian architecture. Oslo, Norwegian Univ. Pr. (Distr. by Oxford Univ. Pr., 1986). 159p. il.

Documents architectural developments from World War I to the 1980s. Attempts to inform readers about urban design and the full range of building types in contrast to most writing on Norwegian architecture which focuses on dwellings.

Contents: (1) The background; (2) National Romanticism; (3) Neoclassicism; (4) Competing trends in art; (5) Functionalism; (6) Urban dwelling; (7) The post-war years; (8) Optimism and belief in progress; (9) Stagnation and renewal; (10) Environmental crisis and need of place; (11) New Norwegian architecture.

Bibliography, p.155-56. Index of names, p.157-[60].

J419 ———. Nightlands: Nordic building. Trans. by Thomas McQuillan. Cambridge, MIT Pr., 1996. 230p. il. (part col.)

"This book is not a history of architecture. . . . Its aim, rather, is to examine what Nordic building truly is, and this is best achieved by contrasting it with its counterpart: the classical architecture of the South."—Pref. Focuses on building as it occurs in a local context rather than using a stylistic or chronological approach.

Notes, p.[199]-213. Bibliography, p.[215]-20. Index, p.[221]-30.

J420 ———. Scandinavie architecture 1965-1990. Paris, Moniteur, 1990. 184p. il. plans. (Tendances de l'architecture contemporaine)

A survey of recent architecture supported by fine color photographs and numerous plans. There is an introductory chapter followed by a chapter each on Denmark, Finland, Norway, and Sweden.

Index des noms et des oeuvres, p.182-83.

J421 Nordisk klassicism 1910-1930 = Nordic classicism, 1910-1930. [Ed., Simo Paavilainen]. Helsingfors, Finlands arkitekturmuseum, 1982. 180p. il. (part col.) Italian trans., Classicismo nordico. Milan, Electa, 1988.

Bilingual catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Finnish Architecture, Helsinki (1982). Covers the neglected period between Art Nouveau and Functionalism. Essays on architecture in the respective countries are followed by entries for individual architects which illustrate several major projects. Numerous plans.

Contents: (1) Modern classicism in Norden, by Henrik O. Andersson; (2) Textures, by Carl Petersen; (3) Contrasts, by Carl Petersen; (4) Denmark, by Lisbet Balslev Jorgensen; (5) Finland, by Simo Paavilainen; (6) Norway, by Christian Norberg-Schulz; (7) Sweden, by Henrik O. Andersson; (8) The classical tradition and the European avant-garde: notes on France, Germany and Scandinavia 1912-37, by Kenneth Frampton.

Bibliography, p.176-79.

J422 Quanttrill, Malcolm. Finnish architecture and the modernist tradition. N.Y., Chapman & Hall, 1995. xi, 242p. il. (part col.), plans.

"A more-or-less blow-by-blow account of how modernism came into being in Finland and how it made its mark on Finnish culture and life. . . . This book was conceived as the third part of a series on modern Finnish architecture, the first two being Alvar Aalto: A critical study (N.Y., Schocken, 1983) and Reima Pietilä: Architecture, context and modernism (N.Y., Rizzoli, 1985). In essence, the present volume was seen as providing the overall landscape of modern Finnish architecture against which the work of Aalto and Pietilä could be read."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Background and evolution; (2) The classicism of the 1920s; (3) Encounters with functionalism: 1927 to 1939; (4) The years of conflict and reconstruction; (5) A second Finnish renaissance; (6) The 1960s: standardization versus architectural standards; (7) Reima Pietilä: form follows approach; (8) After Aalto: form and formalism in the 1970s and 1980s; (9) Fin de siècle.

Selected bibliography, p.232–33. Index, p.238–42.

- J423 Richards, James Maude. 800 years of Finnish architecture. Newton Abbot [Eng.], David & Charles, 1978. 191p. il., plates, plans, map.

Based on the author's Guide to Finnish architecture (1966, see GLAH 1:J275), this is a chronological treatment of the subject illustrated with more than 200 photographs.

Bibliography, p.188. Index, p.190–91.

- J424 Sestoft, Jorgen, and Christiansen, Jorgen Hegner. Guide to Danish architecture. Copenhagen, Arkitektens Forlag, 1991–95. 2v. il., maps.

Arranged thematically; individual categories of building are divided into time segments of about a decade. Nearly 1,000 excellent illustrations.

Contents: (1) 1000–1960 (Contains an essay outlining Danish architecture, followed by the guide. Arranged chronologically, then thematically by building type as necessary. More than 850 excellent illustrations.) (2) 1960–1995 (Introductory essay "describes the changing architectural ideals of the post-war period, on the one hand, and the conditions for the creation of architecture that underwent dramatic changes in around 1960, on the other."—Pref.)

Place index, v.1, p.262–66, v.2, p.369–76. Name index, v.1, p.266–70, v.2, p.377–85. Index of categories, v.2, p.386–89. Includes a separate keyed map of buildings in Denmark.

- J425 The work of architects: the Finnish Association of Architects, 1892–1992. Ed. by Pekka Korvenmaa. [Trans. by Juri Kokkonen.] Helsinki, Finnish Association of Architects, Finnish Building Centre, 1992. 320p. il.

Published on the occasion of the Association's centenary, this collection of essays covers the architecture of Finland from the early 1800s to the 1990s, providing an excellent history of the profession as well as the buildings of nearly 200 years. Includes chapters on female architects and on the history of the Architects' Club and the Finnish Association of Architects. Excellent illustrations.

Spain and Portugal

Bibliography

- J426 Bonet Correa, Antonio. Bibliografía de arquitectura, ingeniería y urbanismo en España (1498–1880). Madrid, Turner Libros, 1980. 2v.

3,406 annotated entries covering the architectural writing of Spaniards and of foreigners writing about Spanish architecture. Organized by category of publication.

Indice onomástico, v.2, p.551–77. Indice geográfico, v.2, p.578–88. Indice cronológico, v.2, p.589–95.

- J427 Gutiérrez, Ramón. Bibliografía de arquitectura y urbanismo en Iberoamérica, 1980–1993. Alcalá de Henares, Instituto Español de Arquitectura, Universidad de Alcalá y Valladolid, 1996. 76p.

Schematic bibliographical checklist.

Contents: Arquitectura contemporánea; Arquitectura histórica; Preservación; Tecnología; Urbanismo; Otras temas.

Indice de autores, p.9–22.

- J428 Montéquin, François-Auguste de. Muslim architecture of the Iberian Peninsula: eastern and western sources for Hispano-Islamic building arts. West Cornwall, Ct., Locust Hill Press, 1987. xv, 241p.

"The goal of this bibliographic compilation is to list works relevant to Hispano-Islamic architecture of all periods and regions written by Eastern and Western authors, from the early classical sources of historic times to the fourteenth century Anno Hegirae [1980/1981 Anno Domini]. The works gathered are not concerned solely with the arts of building although this is the major emphasis of the work. Also included in the compilation are materials from disciplines intimately related to architecture and without which the art of building cannot be fully understood, such as archaeology and art, cartography and geography, history, literature, botany and geology, ethnology, sociology, and various others, as well as those offering sources for research such as works concerned with archives, libraries, museums, and bibliographies."—Introd. The majority of entries are for 20th-century works. Citations appear in the language of origin. There are no annotations.

Master outline of the thematic index, p.173–87. Thematic index, p.189–234. Appendix to the thematic index, p.235–41.

- J429 Reyes Pacios Lozano, Ana. Bibliografía de arquitectura y techumbres mudéjares, 1857–1991. [Teruel], Instituto de Estudios Turolenses, Excma. Diputación Provincial de Teruel, 1993. 450p. (Serie estudios mudéjares)

Substantial, classified bibliography.

Contents: (1) Obras de referencia; (2) Fuentes primarias.

Índices: de autores, p.347–62; de títulos, p.363–94; de materias, p.395–422; onomástico, p.423–26; de topónimos, p.427–36; de obras artísticas, p.437–50.

Histories and Handbooks

- J430 Dodds, Jerrilynn Denise. Architecture and ideology in early medieval Spain. University Park, Pennsylvania State Univ. Pr., 1990. xiv, 174p. il., plates, map, plans.

A collection of essays encompassing the 6th through 10th centuries with the purpose of examining the ideological and social meanings that underlie architectural forms. Includes excellent coverage of many of the most well-known monuments, but is not intended to be a survey.

Notes, p.[117]–70. Index, p.[172]–74.

- J431 Feduchi, Luis M. Spanish folk architecture. Barcelona, Ed. Blume, 1977–. (1)v. il. (New image collection)

Trans. of Itinerarios de arquitectura popular española. Barcelona, Blume, 1974–. (4)v. Largely photographic documentation of vernacular architecture arranged geographically. Each town has a brief description. Regions have a brief essay. Excellent photographs.

Selective contents: (1) The northern plateau (1977).

- J432 Mackay, David. Modern architecture in Barcelona, 1854–1939. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1989. 119p. il.

"The four chapters of this book follow for convenience the orthodox classification of modern Catalan culture: the Reixença of the nineteenth century, Modernisme bridging the two centuries, the Noucentisme of the dawning new century, the Rationalism of the Republican era."—Introd.

List of buildings mentioned in the text and their addresses, p.115–18. Bibliography, p.119.

- J433 Zabalbeascoa, Anaxu. The new Spanish architecture. Introd. by Peter Buchanan. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1992. 222p. il. (part col.)

Following an introductory essay, "The journey to modernity," this book uses the work of 13 architects to demonstrate the range of design in the 1980s and 1990s. Illustrated with excellent photographs and many plans, each building is introduced with a brief statement.

Architects' biographies, p.10–11. No bibliography or index.

Turkey

- J434 Altun, Ara. An outline of Turkish architecture in the Middle Ages. Trans. by Solmaz Turunc. Istanbul, Arkeoloji ve Sanat Yayinlari, 1990. vii, 249p. il., map. For the general reader.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) Early Turkish-Islamic architecture and its influences outside Anatolia: (A) Architecture of the Karakhanid period; (B) Architecture of the Ghaznevid period; (C) Architecture of the Great Seljuks and influences in Asia; (D) The architecture of Zengids and Azerbaiddzhan Atabeks; (III) Anatolia: (A) Early Turkish architecture in Anatolia; (B) The architecture of the Anatolian Seljuks; (C) Architecture of the Emirates; (IV) The course of development in architectural types: (A) Mosques; (B) Medresses; (C) Funerary monuments; (D) Civil architecture; (V) On the sources.

Index, p.235–45. Appendix 1 (historical and geographical circles of Turkish architecture in the Middle Ages), p.247–49. Appendix 2 (map of Turkey), p.[250–51]. Appendix 3 (chronology of comparative Turkish architecture up to 1300), foldout.

- J435 Kostof, Spiro. Caves of God: the monastic environment of Byzantine Cappadocia. Drawings by Malcolm C. Carpenter. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1972. xviii, 296p. il.

"This book is about Christian Cappadocia, the land and its hidden monuments. . . . With minor exceptions it presents no unpublished buildings or paintings. Its purpose is two-fold: to provide, for the interested layman, a readable introduction to the rockcut architecture of Cappadocia and its painted decoration; and for the student of Byzantine art, to present a critical review of the current state of scholarship on the subject and a reordering of its results."—Pref.

Glossary, p.[233]–35. Notes, p.[237]–59. Catalogue of known rockcut churches, arranged by period, p.[261]–76. Bibliographical note, p.[277]–85. Index, p.[287]–96.

- J436 Mathews, Thomas F. The Byzantine churches of Istanbul: a photographic survey. University Park, Pennsylvania State Univ. Pr., 1976. xx, 405p. il.

"The purpose of this work is to present to the scholar or student of Byzantine architecture a reasonably complete photographic documentation of the churches of ancient Constantinople. This is not a history of Byzantine architecture in the capital, as desirable as that might be, but a visual record of the monuments on which such a history might be based."—Introd. Most photographs included have never been published before and most were taken expressly for this survey.

Index, p.403–05.

- J437 Modern Turkish architecture. Ed. by Renata Holod and Ahmet Evlin. [Philadelphia], Univ. of Pennsylvania Pr., 1984. vi, 192p. il., plan.

"This book is the first one in English to trace the development of . . . the rise of the architectural profession, and the transformation of the building industry in Turkey from the first decades of this century to the present day."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The social context of the development of architecture in Turkey; (2) The final years of the Ottoman Empire; (3) Finding a national idiom: the first national style; (4) To be modern: search for republican architecture; (5) The second period of Turkish national architecture; (6) International Style: liberalism in architecture; (7) Pluralism takes command: the Turkish architectural scene today; (8) To house the new citizens: housing policies and mass housing.

Herman Jansen's plan for Ankara, p.178–79. Index, p.180–83.

United States

Bibliography

- J438 Cuthbert, John A.; Ward, Barry; and Keeler, Maggie. Vernacular architecture in America: a selective bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1985. xxi, 145p. il.

Focuses tightly on modern literature pertaining to architecture of the American folk tradition. Excludes: studies of gardening, farm implements, and general tools and crafts, broad anthropological and historical studies of American society, how-to manuals, 19th-century pattern books, histories of carpentry, and "popular urban vernacular architecture." Cites articles and books, with main entry by author. No annotations.

Comprehensive index, p.97-145.

- J439 Doumato, Lamia. Architecture and women: a bibliography documenting women architects, landscape architects, designers, architectural critics and writers, and women in related fields working in the United States. N.Y., Garland, 1988. xvi, 269p. il., plates. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 886)

The most useful source for information on American women architects yet published. Begins by listing general sources arranged by publication type, then provides bibliographies on 128 individuals with entries divided into primary and secondary sources. Although substantial, it does not attempt to be comprehensive. Only occasional annotations.

Index, p.227-69.

- J440 Goode, James M. Goode's bibliography: doctoral dissertations relating to American architectural history, 1897-1995. 2d ed. Washington, D.C., Goode, 1995. 198p.

1st ed. 1992.

"The principal criteria for inclusion in the list has been those studies dealing with the history of the built environment. Influenced by American Studies, [the list is expanded] to include not only buildings but related topics such as architectural sculpture, cemeteries, dams, the social history of buildings where they show how a building type was used, and terra cotta."—Introd. Also included are dissertations written before 1950 on the then-current issues concerning the built environment as they now have historical interest. Entries are arranged by date with a full citation and reference to the University Microfilms reproduction number.

Concludes with indexes of authors, p.125-55; degree granting institutions, p.156-64; and subjects, p.165-98.

- J441 Marshall, H. American folk architecture: a selected bibliography. Washington, D.C., Library of Congress, 1981.

Less narrowly focused than Cuthbert's Vernacular architecture in America: a selective bibliography (GLAH 2:J438), this is divided into five categories: (1) Theory and general works; (2) Antecedents to American building; (3) Regional works; (4) Museums and historic preservation; (5) Field documentation. Cites articles and books. Native Americans have been almost completely neglected. No annotations. No index.

- J442 Massey, James C.; Schwartz, Nancy B.; and Maxwell, Shirley. Historic American Buildings Survey/ Historic American Engineering Record: an annotated bibliography. [Washington, D.C.], HABS/HAER, National Park Service, U.S. Dept. of the Interior, 1992. x, 170p.

"The scope of this bibliography covers the years 1933 through 1991 and has been limited to publications issued by HABS/HAER, the National Park Service, and the Government Printing Office, those issued by HABS/HAER cooperators for HABS/HAER, and those in which HABS/HAER has substantially participated in preparing the publication. Not included are National Park Service park or regional publications using HABS/HAER records. . . . Substantive articles about the HABS/HAER and its history are included, however, generally favoring articles from journals over those found in newspapers and newsletters."—Introd. Entries are arranged by type of publication.

Index, p.157-70.

- J443 Tubesing, Richard L. Architectural preservation and urban renovation: an annotated bibliography of United States congressional documents. N.Y., Garland, 1982. 650p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 329)

Continuation of an earlier publication (see GLAH 1:J302a), this vol. cites all House and Senate bills, resolutions, and public laws concerning architectural preservation and urban renovation introduced by the 93rd, 94th, and 95th Congresses between 1973 and 1975. Improving upon the earlier vol., all citations are annotated. Information is organized by legislative body, then type of legislative action, and finally chronologically. The index provides access by names of specific sites and buildings, by building type, and by topics such as feasibility studies.

Directories

- J444 Architectural records in Boston: a guide to architectural research in Boston, Cambridge and vicinity. Massachusetts Committee for the Preservation of Architectural Records, Inc. Nancy Carlson Schrock, project director and ed. N.Y., Garland, 1983. xxxviii, 286p. il. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 413)

Directory of archival sources for records, drawings, and photographs that collectively provide the developmental and documentary history of the built environment. An essential tool for historians and practitioners engaged in preservation work. Collections are divided into three types: architectural firms and businesses with pre-1970 records, repositories, and government agencies. Individual firm entries indicate the contact person, brief history of the practice, the type of records held. Entries for government agencies and repositories note the scope of the collection, holdings, as well as hours open and duplication options.

Glossary, p.xxxi-xxxv. Index, p.251-86.

- J445 Architectural records in the San Francisco Bay Area. California Cooperative Preservation of Architectural Records. Waverly B. Lowell, project director and ed. Mary Hardy, surveyor. Lynn A. Downey, staff. N.Y., Garland, 1988. xvii, 350p. il., map, plans. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 799)

Companion to Schrock's Architectural records in Boston (see previous entry) with some improvements in format and level of detail. Individual firm entries indicate the contact person, brief history of the practice, the type of records held, and access policies. Includes a list of San Francisco architects in practice 1850–1910 and the history of their employment with Bay Area firms.

Select bibliography, p.19–22. Index, p.319–50.

- J446 Landmark yellow pages: where to find all the names, addresses, facts, and figures you need. [2d ed.] National Trust for Historic Preservation. Pamela Dwight, gen. ed. Washington, D.C., Preservation Pr., 1993. ix, 395p. il.

The best single source for national and regional historic preservation information. Divided into three sections: (1) All about preservation; (2) Products and services; (3) The preservation network. Within each section information is arranged topically in a format that will assist novice researchers. The many references to relevant agencies and publications in each topical section increase its utility.

Index, p.391–95.

- J447 Pro file: the official directory of the American Institute of Architects. Topeka, Kan., Archimedia, 1983–. Annual.

See GLAH 1:J328b for 1st ed.

Subtitle varies. Title of 10th ed. (1995): Profile, the directory of U.S. architectural design firms.

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

- J448 Carley, Rachel. The visual dictionary of American domestic architecture. Illustrated by Ray Skibinski and Ed Lam. N.Y., Holt, 1994. 272p. il.

An "illustrated reference guide to American building that defines terminology through the universal language of pictures, but also attempts to explain architectural types and styles within the framework of the social, historical, geographic, climactic, and ethnic influences that shaped them. . . . Beginning with the indigenous dwelling types of Native American groups and working up to the 1990s, styles and types are presented chronologically, grouped by chapters according to the names and periods by which they are generally recognized."—Introd. Concerned only with domestic architecture, it illustrates both high-style and vernacular buildings with exceptionally clear line drawings with architectural elements labeled. Brief descriptions introduce each entry which has an elevation and floor plan, and often interior details, provided.

Index, p.268–72.

- J449 Harris, Cyril M. American architecture: an illustrated encyclopedia. N.Y., Norton, 1998. xi, 370p. il.

Illustrated with excellent line drawings, this source spans the full range of the built environment in America from precolonial times through the present. "In defining and illustrating all those terms that provide the basic language of American architecture, the intention is to provide readers not only with precise information about the various types of local dwellings, houses, civic and commercial buildings, and houses of worship illustrative of American architectural design, and the techniques and materials used in building them, but also to set this information in a context that recognizes the multiple influences which have shaped that design."—Pref. Entries contain historical as well as descriptive detail, covering construction materials and methods, decorative terms, technical processes, and practical devices.

- J450 Lounsbury, Carl R., ed. An illustrated glossary of early southern architecture and landscape. Ed. assist. by Vanessa E. Patrick. Prepared at the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1994. xiv, 430p. il.

An exceptionally comprehensive source. "This work documents the transfer of English terminology to the southern mainland colonies in the 17th and 18th centuries and explores the subsequent growth of a regional vernacular through the early national period. The glossary defines and analyzes the various and sometimes changing meanings and usages of the South's building and landscape vocabulary. It is a compilation of nearly fifteen hundred words and terms known to have been in use from the 1610s through the 1820s in the region encompassing Delaware in the north, Georgia in the south, and the newly settled western regions of Kentucky and Tennessee."—Pref. Small, but high-quality black-and-white photographs and drawings support the text.

Bibliographical references, p.[417]–26.

- J451 Packard, Robert T., and Korab, Balthazar. Encyclopedia of American architecture. 2d ed. N.Y., McGraw-Hill, 1995. xi, 724p. il. (part col.)

Rev. ed. of William Dudley Hunt, Jr.'s Encyclopedia of American architecture, N.Y., McGraw-Hill, 1980. "This book presents, in words and pictures, the vast breadth of American architecture. It is intended to be of interest and use to people who want to know about the culture and the environment in which they live, and how it came to be that way."—Pref. Nontechnical, intended for general readers. Specialized terms are defined where used. Entries are a mix of biographical and topical essays. Cross references appear at the end of essays as do occasional lists of suggested reading. Excellent color illustrations throughout.

Histories and Handbooks

- J452 America preserved: a checklist of historic buildings, structures, and sites. 60th anniversary ed. Washington, D.C., Library of Congress, Cataloging Distr. Service, 1995. xxiv, 1152p. il.

Provides an easy way to identify and order copies of the measured drawings, large-format photographs and captions, and in many cases histories and field notes for 30,097 structures documented by the Historic American Buildings Survey and the Historic American Engineering Record from 1933 through 1993. Includes references to informal documentation contained in field records and cites full Library of Congress shelflist numbers to facilitate ordering of copies. The arrangement of entries follows the geographical organization used by the Library of Congress. The elements of an entry are: state, county, and city or nearest vicinity, structure or site name (record name), address, HABS or HAER survey number, Library of Congress shelflist number, description of documentation on file, and location of documentation (within Library of Congress collections).

Index to county by city, p.1117-52.

- J453 Bevitt, Emogene A. Second lives: a survey of architectural artifact collections in the United States. Washington, D.C., U.S. Dept. of the Interior, National Park Service, Preservation Assistance Division, for sale by the U.S. Gov. Print. Off., Supt. of Docs., 1994. x, 100p. il.

Concerned with collections holding three-dimensional parts of buildings salvaged for study, research, or display. Arranged in two parts: (Part 1) Listings by state. Entries are arranged alphabetically by city, and include information on address and contact persons, collection scope, dates of the collection materials, and a list of the types of artifacts, and the quantity of each type. (Part 2) Indexes. Offers access by type of artifact.

- J454 Blumenson, John J. G. Identifying American architecture: a pictorial guide to styles and terms, 1600-1945. Foreword by Nikolaus Pevsner. With photos. from the Historic American Buildings Survey. 2d ed., rev. and enl. Nashville, American Association for State and Local History, 1981. viii, 118p. il.

"The purpose of this brief guide is to provide photographic illustrations of buildings, architecture details, elements, and forms to enable the user to make visual associations and to begin to recognize styles and elements."—Pref. Arranged by style, each example has a photograph, one-paragraph description, and list of characteristic features keyed to points on the photograph. The second half of the book comprises a pictorial glossary of terms.

Bibliography, p.117-18.

- J455 Buildings of the United States. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1993-. (6)v.

Sponsored by the Society of Architectural Historians, projected to be complete in 55v.

Contents: Hoagland, Alison K. Buildings of Alaska (1993); Gebhard, David, and Mansheim, Gerald. Buildings of Iowa (1993); Eckert, Kathryn Bishop. Buildings of Michigan (1993); Scott, Pamela, and Lee, Antoinette J. Buildings of the District of Columbia (1993); Noel, Thomas J. Buildings of Colorado (1997); Nicoletta, Julia. Buildings of Nevada (2000).

Includes bibliographical references and index.

- J456 Carrott, Richard G. The Egyptian revival: its sources, monuments and meaning, 1808-1858. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1978. 221p. il.

The definitive work on an important movement in American architecture. It brings together a wealth of material from numerous widely scattered sources, many fairly inaccessible to most readers. It gives detailed attention to the European architectural background and to the iconography and meaning of the movement. Appendixes on specific monuments.

Bibliographic essay, p.193-205. Index, p.207-21.

- J457 Catalog of national historic landmarks. Compiled by the History Division, National Park Service. Washington, D.C., U.S. Dept. of the Interior, 1987. iv, 290p.

Documents 1,811 properties designated as National Historic Landmarks through June 30, 1987. Intended to be published annually, but only 1987 was published. Entries are listed by state. Under each state heading, listings are in alphabetical order under the individual landmark names. Entries supply name of landmark, local address, city, county, historic date(s) and architect (if known), and a brief description of the landmark and its significance, followed by the date of its designation as a National Historic Landmark.

- J458 Goode, James M. Addendum to American architectural drawings. [Philadelphia, s.n., 1977.] 102 leaves. Addendum to American architectural drawings, compiled and ed. by George S. Koyl (1969; see GLAH 1:J322).

- J459 Gottfried, Herbert, and Jennings, Jan. American vernacular design, 1870-1940: an illustrated glossary. N.Y., Van Nostrand Reinhold, 1985. xvii, 270p. il.

"Describes and illustrates the compositional elements and the design concepts that have underwritten much vernacular building."—Pref.

Contents: Elements [architectural elements]; Types [of building].

Bibliography, p.256-61. Index, p.262-70.

- J460 Historic American buildings survey. The Historic American Buildings Survey. [microform.] Teaneck, N.J., Somerset House ([Washington, D.C.], Photoduplication Service, Library of Congress), 1980. 1,400 microfiches, il., maps.

Consists of 45,000 photographs with 35,000 pages of descriptive text, arranged by state and county, deposited in the Library of Congress, Prints and Photographs Division between 1933 and 1979.

———. 1st supplement. Historic American buildings survey. Part II [microform]. Alexandria, Va., Chadwyck-Healey, 1990-95. 2,729 microfiches, il.

Includes material received by the Library of Congress from 1980 through December 1988. Arranged by counties. Photographs and written historical and descriptive data prepared by the Historic American Buildings Survey, Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation, National Park Service.

Includes index.

- J461 Historic America: buildings, structures, and sites. Recorded by the Historic American Buildings Survey and the Historic American Engineering Record. Checklist compiled by Alicia Stamm. Essays ed. by C. Ford Peatross. Washington, D.C., Library of Congress, 1983. xvi, 708p. il.

Sixteen illustrated essays serve as a guide to the use of the survey (see previous entry). The most useful portion of the book is the "Checklist of Buildings, Structures, and Sites" which notes 16,738 sites and structures recorded by HABS and HAER through 1981, p.287-680. This list renders the 1941 catalog and 1958 supplement obsolete.

Because the checklist entries are arranged by county, an index to counties by city names is provided, p.681-708.

- J462 McAlester, Virginia, and McAlester, Lee. A field guide to American houses. N.Y., Knopf, 1984. xv, 525p. il.

The most complete field guide to American domestic architecture ever published. Arranged chronologically, each chapter treats one of the major architectural styles using photographs and drawings. Ample text supplements the illustrations, discussing the identifying features, principal subtypes, variants and details, and occurrence of each style. Introductory chapters on style, form, and structure, plus a pictorial key and pictorial glossary assist the novice.

Bibliography, p.501-10. Index, p.511-25.

- J463 The National register of historic places, 1976. Washington, D.C., National Park Service. [For sale by the Supt. of Docs., U.S. Govt. Print. Off.], 1976. 2v. il. 1-vol. eds. published in 1969, 1974, are not entirely superseded by this two-vol. ed. as the descriptive information on properties differs from one ed. to another. "As the nation's official list of properties worthy of preservation, the National Register serves as a guide to assist Federal agencies and others in planning projects that might affect the environment."—Foreword, v.2.

Entries, organized alphabetically by state, county, then property name, offer the following data: city, property name, street address, date of construction and architect (historic sites and districts are dated by period of significance), descriptive statement including significance, ownership and accessibility to the public, survey designation (e.g., HABS or HAER). V.1 contains entries for the 9,500 properties listed through December 1974. V.2 completes the description of properties listed through 1976.

- J464 National register of historic places, 1966 to 1994: cumulative list through January 1, 1994. Washington, D.C., National Park Service; Preservation Pr.; National Trust for Historic Preservation; National Conference of State Historic Preservation Officers, 1994. xxx, 923p. il., maps.

"This volume includes all the properties listed in the National Register of Historic Places between October 15, 1966 and December 31, 1993. It does not contain properties that have been determined to be eligible for the National Register but are not yet listed. Places are organized alphabetically by state, county, and property name. This volume also includes comprehensive lists of all State Historic Preservation Officers and Federal Preservation Officers."—Introd.

Lacks the descriptive text found in 1969, 1974, 1976 eds. of the National Register of Historic Places. Instead lists (in coded form): property name, address, town, date listed in the National Register, National Register criteria exceptions (if applicable), identification of National Park Service properties and National Historic Landmarks, the property's National Register Information Service computer reference number.

- J465 Rifkind, Carole. A field guide to American architecture. N.Y., New American Library, 1980. xi, 322p. il.

"Included in this book are more than 450 line drawings which illustrate representative examples of American building up to about 1940. Because of their clarity and precision, these drawings are particularly revealing of how the builder's vocabulary . . . is used to fulfill function and convey meaning."—Pref. Nearly all drawings are from the Historic American Buildings Survey/Historic American Engineering Record. A small number of black-and-white photographs complement the drawings. The book is divided into four sections by building type: residential, ecclesiastical, civic and commercial, and utilitarian. Emphasis is on exteriors.

Recommended reading, p.313-17. Index, p.321-22.

- J466 Scully, Vincent. American architecture and urbanism. New rev. ed. N.Y., Holt, 1988. 320p. il., plans. See GLAH 1:J331 for 1st ed.

Adds a new chapter, "1988," and updates bibliography with publications since 1969. A note on method and bibliography, p.297-305.

- J467 Smith, G. E. Kidder. The architecture of the United States. In assoc. with the Museum of Modern Art, New York. Introd. by Albert Bush-Brown . . . [et al.] Garden City, N.Y., Anchor Pr., 1981. 3v. il., maps.

Guidebook intended to "serve as a commentary on a cross section of each state's architectural resources from earliest times to the present. It is by no means an inventory of memorable works . . . but it will critically examine structures considered representative of major periods of development."—Foreword. Includes no private houses, correctional institutions, or mental institutions. Entries provide the address and date of the building, a paragraph of detailed description, and conclude with hours when the building is open to the public.

Contents: (1) New England and the Mid-Atlantic states; (2) The South and Midwest; (3) The Plains states and Far West.

Each vol. contains the same glossary (v.1, p.[727]-36) and a vol.-specific index (v.1, p.[737]-55; v.2, p.[723]-49; v.3, p.[793]-817).

- J468 ———. Source book of American architecture: 500 notable buildings from the 10th century to the present. N.Y., Princeton Architectural Pr., 1996. 678p. il., maps.

Updated ed. of preceding entry, although it does not truly supersede it.

"The literature of American architecture: a general introduction," by Kazys Varnelis, p.637-43. Glossary, p.644-47. Regional lists of buildings, p.648-59. List of buildings by name, p.660-65. Architects and designers index, p.666-72. Building types index, p.673-78.

- J469 Stern, Robert A. M.; Mellins, Thomas; and Fishman, David. New York 1880: architecture and urbanism in the gilded age. N.Y., Monacelli, 1999. 1164p. il.

Chronologically, the first of four landmark volumes on the architectural history of New York City. Traditional architectural history describing more than 875 buildings, monuments, gateways, esplanades, and bridges, with examples of all the major categories of urban architecture. Illustrated with period photographs; drawing heavily on published writing of architects, critics, urban planners, and city officials. Continued by: New York 1900: metropolitan architecture and urbanism, 1890–1915. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1983; New York 1930: architecture and urbanism between the two world wars. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1987; and New York 1960: architecture and urbanism between the second world war and the bicentennial. N.Y., Monacelli Pr., 1995. The 1900 and 1930 vols. have different sets of co-authors.

- J470 Whiffen, Marcus. American architecture since 1780: a guide to the styles. Rev. ed. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1992. xii, 326p. il.

See GLAH 1:J340 for 1st ed.

New sections have been added on Streamline Moderne, Late Modern, and Post-Modern styles. Bibliography has been removed.

- J471 ———, and Koeper, Frederick. American architecture, 1607–1976. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1981. xv, 495p. il.

Fine survey of architecture in the continental U.S., although not as comprehensive as Pierson and Jordy's multi-volume series American buildings and their architects (see GLAH 1:J319, GLAH 1:J320, GLAH 1:J328, GLAH 1:J328a). Not all buildings discussed are illustrated.

Notes, p.[435]–43. Sources of illustrations, p.[444]–56. Bibliography, p.[457]–67. Index, p.[469]–95.

- J472 Wilson, William H. The City Beautiful movement. Baltimore, Johns Hopkins Univ. Pr., 1994. x, 365p. il. (Creating the North American landscape)

Focuses on the growth of the City Beautiful idea and its development into a cultural, aesthetic, political, and environmental movement using the examples of Chicago, Seattle, Kansas City, Dallas, and Denver.

Notes, p.307–50. Index, p.357–65.

- J473 Wiseman, Carter. Shaping a nation: twentieth-century American architecture and its makers. N.Y., Norton, 1998. 412p. il. (part col.)

Readable, opinionated survey by a fine writer, attempting to "write a new draft of the history of American architecture up to the present day."—Introd.

Contents: Prologue: the themes take form; (1) The lure of the tall; (2) Domestic diversity; (3) Eclecticism and the uses of the past; (4) Modernism and the abstract tendency; (5) The romantic resistance; (6) The power of preservation; (7) The outbreak of the ordinary; (8) The "Whites," the "Grays," and Postmodernism; (9) High-rise, hard sell; (10) The flight from the real; (11) Refuge vs. community.

Index, p.389–412.

ASIAN COUNTRIES

China

- J474 Ancient Chinese architecture. Compiled by [the] Chinese Academy of Architecture. [Project Eds., Qiao

Yun, Sun Dazhang. Trans. by Wong Chi Kui, Chung Wah Nan.] Hong Kong, Joint Pub Co, 1982. 253p. chiefly il. (part col.)

Trans. of Chung-kuo ku chien chu. [Beijing], Chung-kuo chien chu kung yeh ch'u pan she, 1982.

Primarily a book of photographs of important ancient building sites as well as classical buildings still in existence. The brief text outlines the characteristics, history, and accomplishments of ancient Chinese architecture with special emphasis on technological advances.

- J475 Liang, Ssu-ch'eng. A pictorial history of Chinese architecture: a study of the development of its structural system and the evolution of its types. Ed. by Wilma Fairbank. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., [1984]. xxiv, 200p. il., plates

Written during World War II by the leader of the first generation of Chinese architectural historians, this was intended to be part of a larger history of Chinese art but the plan was never carried out. Published posthumously under the editorship of Wilma Fairbank.

The information is presented in five sections: "The Chinese structural system"; "Pre-Buddhist and cave-temple evidence of timber-framed architecture"; "Monumental timber-framed buildings"; "Buddhist pagodas"; and "Other masonry structures." The text and especially the drawings provide a brief survey of ancient Chinese architecture useful both as an introduction and for the specialist.

Glossary of technical terms, p.[189]–92. Guide to pronunciation, p.[193]. Bibliography, p.[195]–98. Index, p.[199]–[201].

- J476 Liu, Laurence G. Chinese architecture. N.Y., Rizzoli, [1989]. 297p. il. (part col.)

Examines the meaning and symbolism of Chinese architecture, focusing on the cultural, philosophical, and religious influences and the life-style of the people. Chapters on historical background and characteristics of classical Chinese architecture are followed by chapters on building types.

Selected bibliography, p.281.

- J477 Luo, Zhewen. Ancient pagodas in China. Beijing, Foreign Languages Pr., 1994. 331p. col. il., maps.

"Previously published in Chinese [as Su-chou ku tien yuan lin] by the Chinese Architecture and Building Press."—verso of t.p.

Beautifully presented volume on this important form of Chinese architecture. Primarily a work of color photographs accompanied by a brief, readable text on the development, uses, building materials, structures, and types of pagodas. Each pagoda is illustrated in color and described, providing a brief historical background of its building and style.

Contents: Part one: Theory and methods: (I) Introduction; (II) Layout; (III) Water; (IV) Rockeries; (V) Buildings; (VI) Flowers and trees; Part two: Chinese classical gardens.

Notes at end of chapters.

- J478 Prip-Møller, Johannes. Chinese Buddhist monasteries: their plan and its function as a setting for Buddhist monastic life. [Reprint of 1937 ed.] Hong Kong,

Hong Kong Univ. Pr., 1982. 396p. il. (part col.), facsimils., map, plans (part col.), ports.

See GLAH 1:J346 for original annotation. 3d impression of the original, with comparable quality photographs, line drawings, and plans. An announced reprint from the Univ. of Washington Pr., 1983, could not be traced.

- J479 Steinhardt, Nancy Shatzman. Chinese imperial city planning. Honolulu, Univ. of Hawaii Pr., [1990]. xi, 228p., il.

Describes uniform elements and common architectural details found in Chinese royal cities of the last 4,000 years which created a powerful symbol for the ruler and an enduring tradition of Chinese imperial city planning.

"A convenient, brief summary of basic data about most of the major Chinese capitals from the early Bronze Age to modern times."—Review, Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, v.51, 1992, p.87.

References, p.201–21.

- J480 ———. . . . [et al.] Chinese traditional architecture. N.Y., China Institute in America, China House Gallery, [1984]. 168p. il., map, plans.

Catalog of the exhibition, China House Gallery (1984).

Includes a comprehensive survey of the development of architecture and building technologies in China and 11 essays by noted scholars on specific monuments or periods.

Bibliography, p.162–66.

- J481 Yu, Zhouyun, comp. Palaces of the Forbidden City. Trans. by Ng Mau-Sang, Chan Sinwai, and Puwen Lee. N.Y., Viking Pr., 1984. 332p. il. (part col.), plans.

Trans. of Tzu Chin Ch'eng Kung Tien. Hong Kong, Shang wu yin shu kuan Hsiang-kang fen kuan, 1982; repr., 1988.

Yu Zhuoyun, a leading expert on Chinese architecture, senior engineer and vice-director of the Department of Ancient Architecture at the Palace Museum, worked with other departments within the Palace Museum to produce this lavishly illustrated work documenting the imperial palace complex. Built in the 1420s, the Forbidden City has the largest group of wooden structures extant in China. The photographs show interior and exterior views of the palaces, halls, buildings, pavillions, and gates. Architectural composition and decoration and services such as bridges and culverts, water and drainage, heating and lighting are described.

India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet

- J482 Allen, Margaret Prosser. Ornament in Indian architecture. Newark, Univ. of Delaware Pr., 1991. 504p. il., map.

Consists mostly of black-and-white, full-page plates. "This [book's] primary aim is a visual presentation of some of India's architectural ornament."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Early Indian architecture; (2) The development of art and architecture during the Gupta Dynasty; (3) The development of the Indian temple; (4) Early South Indian architecture; (5) Post-Gupta and later architecture; (6)

Late South Indian architecture; (7) Hindu shrines under Muslim rule; (8) Indo-Muslim architecture; (9) The Moghul period.

Notes, p.503–04.

- J483 Architecture in Victorian and Edwardian India. Ed. by Christopher W. London. [Gen. ed. Pratapaditya Pal.] Bombay, Marg Publications, 1994. 148p. il. (part col.)

"Brings together a series of articles," by noted scholars, most "focused on an individual place or region."—Pref.

Contents: The formative period (circa 1856–1900): Sir J. J. School of Art and the Raj, by Partha Mitter; Orientalizing the Raj: Indo-Saracenic fantasies, by Giles H. R. Tillotson; Edwardian architects of Bombay: George Wittet and John Begg, by Christopher W. London; The splendour of Indo-Saracenic: the style Madras pioneered, by S. Muthiah; The courtly style: the remaking of Lucknow, by Rose Llewellyn-Jones; The later Mughals and Mughal successor states: architecture in Oudh, Murshidabad, and Rampur, by Catherine B. Asher; Little details of the long view: Victorian Cawnpore, by Zoë Yalland; A poet's vision: the houses of Rabin-drath Tagore, by Andrew Robinson; The myth of the monuments: public commemorative statues, by Mary Ann Steggles.

- J484 Asher, Catherine Ella Blanshard. Architecture of Mughal India. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1992. xxxi, 368p. il., maps. (The new Cambridge history of India, I, 4)

Seeks to summarize the state of research in this field, as well as "presenting a great deal of new material and also . . . providing a framework for understanding Mughal architecture."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Precedents for Mughal architecture; (2) The beginnings of Mughal architecture; (3) The age of Akbar; (4) Jahangir: an age of transition; (5) Shah Jahan and the crystallization of Mughal style; (6) Aurangzeb and the Islamization of the Mughal style; (7) Architecture and the struggle for authority under the later Mughals and their successor states.

List of abbreviations, p.xxiii. Glossary, p.xxv–xxix. Bibliographical essay, p.335–56. Index, p.357–68.

- J485 Banerjee, N. R. Nepalese architecture. With a foreword by C. Sivaramamurti. Delhi, Agam, 1980. xxiii, 272p. il., plates.

Based mainly on inscriptional evidence. The result of researches conducted as Archaeological Adviser to the government of Nepal, 1966–1972.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) Geographical and cultural background; (III) Outlines of the history of Nepal; (IV) The Shahs; (V) The ensemble of architecture of Nepal in general; (VI) Main characteristics of the temple architecture of Nepal; (VII) Edeka (or terraced) and multiple-roofed temples of Nepal; (VIII) The preservation of architectural traditions in Nepal; (IX) The cultural relations between India and Nepal and their impact on Nepalese architecture.

Bibliography, p.241–52. Index, p.[253]–72.

- J486 Bernier, Ronald M. Himalayan architecture. Madison, N.J., Fairleigh Dickinson Univ. Pr., 1997. 196p. il. (part col.), plates.

Argues for the existence of "a cohesive tradition of mountain aesthetic preferences from the foothills of Assam to the Northwest Frontier Province of Pakistan. The monuments treated here are animistic, Buddhist, Hindu, and Islamic. . . . The main focus is upon temples and mosques, although palaces and houses are treated as well."—Introd. Explores the impact of neighboring India and Tibet and of the Silk Route.

Contents: (1) Himalaya at a crossroads; (2) Assam and Nagaland in the Eastern Himalayan foothills; (3) Sikkim, Kalimpong, and Darjeeling: tradition and hill stations; (4) Palaces and monasteries of Bhutan; (5) Late and early arts of Nepal; (6) Building arts of Himachal Pradesh; (7) Survival arts of Ladakh; (8) Heritage of wooden arts in Kashmir; (9) Wooden arts of Northern Pakistan; Epilogue.

Notes, p.185–87. Bibliography, p.188–91. Index, p.192–96.

- J487 Davies, Philip. Splendours of the Raj: British architecture in India, 1660 to 1947. London, Murray, 1985. 272p. il., maps, plans.

An important study of "an extraordinary historical episode" and its embodiment in buildings and memorials.

Contents: (1) Two tombs; (2) Madras: visions of antiquity; (3) Calcutta: power on silt; (4) Cantonment and residency; (5) Bungalows and hill stations; (6) The devil's wind; (7) Bombay: Urbs Prima in India; (8) Saracenic dreams; (9) New Delhi: the Rome of Hindostan; (10) Architectural reflections.

Glossary of terms, p.251–52. Biographical details of principal architects and engineers, p.253–57. Sources, p.258–60. Select bibliography, p.261–65. Index, p.266–72.

- J488 Encyclopaedia of Indian temple architecture. Ed. by Michael W. Meister. Coord. by M. A. Dhaky. Philadelphia, American Institute of Indian Studies, Univ. of Pennsylvania Pr., 1983–. (2)v. in 12. il., maps, plans.

"Intended to help consolidate a generation of research, this Encyclopaedia particularly attempts to codify an appropriate technical terminology for Indian temple architecture, and to illustrate that terminology in chapters which survey the remains of temple architecture in India within a geographic and historical framework."—Pref. Some vols. ed. or co-ed. by M. A. Dhaky or Krishna Deva.

Contents: (1) South India. Pt.1: Lower Drāvidadēśa, 200 B.C.–A.D. 1324 (2v., text and plates); Pt.2: Upper Drāvidadēśa, A.D. 550–1075 (2v., text and plates); Pt.3: Upper Drāvidadēśa, A.D. 973–1326 (2v., text and plates); (2) North India. Pt.1: Foundations of North Indian style, 250 B.C.–A.D. 1100 (2v., text and plates); Pt.2: Period of early maturity, A.D. 700–900 (2v., text and plates); Pt.3: Beginnings of medieval idiom, A.D. 900–1000 (2v., text and plates).

- J489 Evenson, Norma. The Indian metropolis, a view toward the west. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1989. ix, 294p. il. (part col.)

"I have attempted a broad survey of the architecture and planning of Bombay, Calcutta, Madras, and New Delhi from their inception until the present time," with a special focus on these cities as instruments of cultural change."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Three hybrid cities; (2) The architecture of empire; (3) The long debate; (4) Modern planning and the colonial city; (5) The modern movement; (6) The post-independence city; (7) The architecture of independence.

Notes, p.269–76. Selected bibliography, p.277–88. Index, p.289–92.

- J490 Fischer, Klaus; Jansen, Michael; and Pieper, Jan. Architektur des indischen Subkontinents. Darmstadt, Wissenschaftliche Buchgesellschaft, 1987. viii, 264p. il.

Seeks to provide a comprehensive analysis of Indian architecture from prehistory through the 19th century. Includes helpful analytic drawings and many black-and-white plates.

Contents: (I) Einleitende Vorbemerkungen; (II) Grundelemente des indischen Umgangs mit Raum, Architektur, Stadt und Landschaft; (III) Bilden; (IV) Bauen; (V) Baugestalten; (VI) Chronologisch-geographischer Überblick.

Abkürzungsverzeichnis, p.243–44. Literaturverzeichnis, p.245–55. Glossar, p.257–60. Geographisches Register, p.262–64.

- J491 Gaekwad, Fatesinhrao, Maharaja of Baroda. The palaces of India. With photos by Virginia Fass. N.Y., Vendome, 1980. 245p. il. (part col.)

Attempts to provide a "record in words and photographs" of the palaces of the princely states of India prior to Independence (1947).—Foreword. Arranged geographically. Many photographs.

Glossary, p.245.

- J492 Grover, Satish. The architecture of India: Buddhist and Hindu. Ghaziabad, Vikas Pub. House, 1980. 231, [8]p. il.

"This book is intended to provide sufficient reading for the student of architecture to probe more detailed writings on the subject . . . to break down the cynicism of the practicing modern Indian architect to the country's architectural heritage."—Pref. Historical survey, by a practicing architect and architectural historian. Continued by following title.

Bibliography, p.[233]. Glossary, p.[235–36]. Index, p.[237–39].

- J493 ———. The architecture of India: Islamic (727–1707 A.D.). New Delhi, Vikas Pub. House, 1981. xv, 224p. il.

Successor to the preceding title. "This volume covers the impact of resurgent Islamic thought, ideals, religion and philosophy on the ancient and established civilisation of the Hindus in India."—Pref.

Bibliography, p.223. Glossary, p.224. Index, p.[225]–[27].

- J494 Gutschow, Niels. The Nepalese caitya: 1500 years of Buddhist votive architecture in the Kathmandu Valley. With drawings by Bijay Basukala and an essay by David Gellner. Stuttgart, Axel Menges, 1997.

328p. il., maps, plans (Lumbini International Research Institute. Monograph series, 1)

Substantial study of sacred architecture in Nepal, 6th–18th century, including 20th-century revivals, with a particular focus on typology. Richly illustrated with analytic drawings.

Bibliography, p.321–22. Index, p.323–28.

- J495 Hardy, Adam. Indian temple architecture, form and transformation: the Karnata Dravida tradition, 7th to 13th centuries. Foreword by Kapila Vatsyayan. New Delhi, Indira Gandhi National Centre for the Arts, Abhinav Publications, 1995. xix, 614p. il., maps, plates.

"Evolves a conceptual base for examining the composition, the meaning, the formal values of the group of temples under investigation."—Foreword.

Select bibliography and list of abbreviations, p.382–86.

Glossary, p.387–91. Index, p.[393]–96.

- J496 Koch, Ebba. Mughal architecture: an outline of its history and development (1526–1858). München, Prestel (Distr. by te Neues, 1991). 159p. il. (part col.), plans.

Outstanding survey of Mughal architecture in India, from Babur to Aurangzib and the Later Mughal Style.

Glossary, p.137–[42]. Select bibliography, p.143–55. Index, p.156–[60].

- J497 Krishna, Deva. Temples of India. New Delhi, Aryan Books International, 1995. 2v. il.

Historical survey of Indian sacred architecture, intended for the scholar and general reader.

Contents: (1) Text; (2) Plates.

Reference glossary, v.1, p.261–73. Bibliography, v.1, p.275–77. Site and temple index, v.1, p.279–86.

- J498 Merklinger, Elizabeth Schotten. Indian Islamic architecture: the Deccan 1374–1681. Warminster, Aris and Phillips Ltd, 1981. xiv, 146p. il., map, plans.

Preliminary description and analysis, intended to serve as the foundation for further study.

Glossary, p.viii–ix. Note on transliteration, Note on dating and abbreviations, p.x. Bibliography, p.xi–xiii.

- J499 Metcalf, Thomas R. An imperial vision: Indian architecture and Britain's Raj. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1989. xiv, 302p. il. (part col.), plates.

"This work examines the relationship between culture and power as expressed in architecture during the heyday of European colonialism. It takes as its primary focus the British Raj in India."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The mastery of the past: the British and India's historic architecture; (3) Indo-Saracenic building under the Raj; (4) Princes, palaces, and Saracenic design; (5) Arts, crafts, and empire; (6) The classical revival; (7) New Delhi: the beginning of the end; (8) Conclusion.

Abbreviations, p.253. Notes, p.255–82. Glossary, p.283–86. Bibliography, p.287–92. Index, p.293–302.

- J500 Michell, George. The Hindu temple: an introduction to its meaning and forms. N.Y., Harper and Row, 1977. 192p. il.

"This book is conceived as an introduction to . . . Hindu temple architecture."—Pref

Contents: Part one: The meaning of the temple: (1) The civilization of Hinduism; (2) The world of the gods; (3) The world of man; (4) The temple as a link between the gods and man; Part two: The forms of the temple: (5) The science of building; (6) Temple styles; (7) The temples of India; (8) The temples of South-East Asia; (9) The Hindu temple today.

Further reading, p.[185]–86. Indexes, p.[187]–92.

- J501 ———. The royal palaces of India. Photographs by Antonio Martinelli. London, Thames and Hudson, 1994. 232p. il. (part col.)

"The present work . . . aims at the discovery of Indian royal architecture within a broad historical perspective."—Pref. and ackn.

Contents: (I) Courtly life and architecture: Divine power of kings; Defence and security; Formal reception; Royal worship; Privacy and pleasure; Essential services; (II) The buildings: historical and regional traditions: Palaces lost and imagined; Map; Early Muslim strongholds; Imperial Mughal capitals; Rajput forts; Citadels of the south; Princely residences; The palaces today.

Glossary of Indian terms, p.226. Bibliography, p.227–29. Index, p.229–32.

- J502 Mumtaz, Kamil Khan. Architecture in Pakistan. Singapore, Concept Media, 1985. 206p. il., maps, plans.

"An overview from the earliest evidence of building activities to modern times."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Early communities; (2) Graeco-Indian; (3) Early Muslim; (4) Imperial Mughals; (5) The provinces; (6) British colonial; (7) Vernacular tradition; (8) Architecture after independence; Postscript: the Islamic debate.

Selected bibliography, p.198–99. Index, p.200–04. Glossary, p.205–06.

- J503 Nagaraju, S. Buddhist architecture of western India, c. 250 B.C.– c. A.D. 300. With a foreword by M. N. Deshpande. Delhi, Agam Kala Prakashan, 1981 [i.e. 1980]. xxiv, 368, [59]p. il., map, plates.

"This work is primarily an attempt to reconstruct afresh the chronology and development of the 'Hinayana' phase of Buddhist rock-cut architecture of Western India."—Pref.

Contents: Part one: the background: (I) Introduction; (II) Geography and geology; (III) Historical background; Part two: aids to the reconstruction of chronology: (IV) Direct evidences for the reconstruction of chronology; (V) Palaeography; (VI) Architectural analysis; Part three: architectural development: (VII) Descriptive inventory and analysis of monuments and architectural development in different centres; (VIII) Summary and conclusions; Appendix.

Bibliography, p.[347]–55. Index, p.[357]–68.

- J504 Nath, R. History of Mughal architecture. New Delhi, Abhinav, 1982– . (3)v. il. (part col.), maps.

Vol.2 has imprint, Atlantic Highlands, N.J., Humanities Pr. To be complete in 5 vols.

Monumental history.

Contents: (1) [without special title]; (2) Akbar, 1556–1605 A.D.: the age of personality architecture; (3) The transitional phase of colour and design: Jehangir, 1605–1627 A.D.

Index in each vol.

J505 ———. History of Sultanate architecture. New Delhi, Abhinav Publications, 1978. xxvi, 121p. il., plates.

"This is [a] study of [the] evolution of the Sultanate Architecture . . . its Techniques, Norms and Concepts . . . largely a descriptive catalogue of the monuments without reference to the historical background."—Pref.

List of abbreviations, p.[xiii]–xiv. Chronological tables (dynasty-wise), p.[xv]–xvi. List of monuments and sites (included in this study), p.[xvii]–xviii. Short bibliography, p.[115]–18. Index, p.[119]–21.

J506 ———. Mosque architecture: from Medina to Hindustan, 622–1654 A.D. Jaipur, Historical Research Documentation Programme, 1994. 104p. il.

"This is a simple and brief study of the architecture of 'mosque' as it evolved, through the ages."—Pref.

Abbreviations, p.[iii].

J507 The Penguin guide to the monuments of India. N.Y., Viking, 1989. 2v. il. (part col.)

Two excellent volumes, "intended as comprehensive handbooks to all the major monuments and sites."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Michell, George. Hindu, Buddhist, and Jain; (2) Davies, Philip. Islamic, Rajput, European.

Bibliography, v.2, p.599–600.

J508 Pereira, Jose. Elements of Indian architecture. Delhi, Motilal Banarsidass, 1987. 107p. il.

Studies the evolution of the Indian orders.

Contents: (1) The constituents of the Indian orders; (2) The orders of Indian architecture; (3) The evolution of the orders under Persian impact; (4) Hellenic civilization and India and its main cultural zones; (5) The evolution of the orders under the Hellenic impact; Postscript; Epilogue; Appendix: definitions of the five orders.

Notes, p.49–54. Index, p.105–07.

J509 Soundara Rajan, K.V. Cave temples of the Deccan. New Delhi, Archaeological Survey of India, 1981. xvi, 349p. il., plans, 145p. of plates.

"A survey of the whole series of the Brahmanical Cave Temples in the Deccan, carried out by the author on behalf of the Archaeological Survey of India . . . between 1964 and 1968."—Pref. An exhaustive survey covering the 6th to the 10th century A.D.

Select bibliography, p.331. Glossary of technical terms, p.332–38. Index, p.339–49.

J510 Srinivasan, P. R. The Indian temple, art and architecture. Mysore, Prasaraanga, Univ. of Mysore, 1982. viii, 209, [1]p. il., plates.

By the former Chief Epigraphist to the Indian government. Index, p.[201]–09. Select bibliography, p.[210].

J511 The Stupa: its religious, historical and architectural significance. Ed. by Anna Libera Dallapiccola in collaboration with Stephanie Zingel-Avé Lallemant. Wiesbaden, Steiner, 1980. vii, 359p. il., plates. (Beiträge zur Südasiensforschung, Bd. 55)

Proceedings of a wide-ranging seminar, South Asia Institute, University of Heidelberg (1978), devoted to the Buddhist stupa and its diffusion throughout India, Nepal, Tibet, and Southeast Asia.

Notes at ends of papers. Index of the works cited, p.329–43. Index of geographical names, persons, gods and monuments, p.344–51. List of photographs, p.352–59.

J512 Tadgell, Christopher. The history of architecture in India: from the dawn of civilization to the end of the Raj. London, Architecture, Design, and Technology Press, 1990. ix, 336p. il. (part col.)

An "introductory synthesis drawing together all the strands of India's architectural history in one volume, stressing continuity."—Foreword. From the 4th century B.C. to the 20th century.

Glossary, p.301–04. Bibliography and notes, p.305–28. Index, p.329–36.

J513 Tillotson, G. H. R. The Rajput palaces: the development of an architectural style, 1450–1750. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1987. vii, 224p. il. (part col.)

"The Rajput palaces are the surviving representatives of a now vanished civilization," built by the Rajput maharajas in their former state capitals, and "have by and large escaped serious study."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) General introduction; (2) Rajput and Mughal; (3) Chitor: in medias res; (4) Gwalior: the transformation of sources; (5) Orchha and Datia: experiments in symmetrical planning; (6) Amber and Udaipur: the developed theme; (7) Jaisalmer, Bikaner and Jodhpur: the desert; (8) Dungarpur, Bundi and Kota: the hills; (9) Jaipur city and palace: the call to order; (10) Dig and Bharatpur: Rajput mannerism; (11) Postscript: (1) Lesser and later palaces: developments after 1750; (2) The Rajput achievement.

Glossary, p.207–08. Notes, p.209–15. Bibliography, p.216–20. Index, p.221–24.

J514 ———. The tradition of Indian architecture: continuity, controversy and change since 1850. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1989. vii, 166p. il.

"A study of the changes in India's architectural tradition and in Indian taste that occurred in response to the influence of British architecture in India and the policies of British imperial rule."—Pref.

Notes, p.148–54. Bibliography, p.155–59. Index, p.160–66.

Japan

J515 Bognár, Botond. The new Japanese architecture. [Introd. by John Morris Dixon. Essays by Hajime Yatsuka and Lynne Breslin.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1990. 222p. il. (part col.)

Presents a broad spectrum of important projects built during the 1980s, all of which reflect urban and cultural conditions in Japan.

Includes bibliographical references.

- J516 Futagawa, Yukio, ed. Traditional Japanese houses. Text by Teiji Itoh. Trans. by Richard L. Gage. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1983. 356p. il. (part col.), map. Trans. of Nihon no minka. Tokyo, Bijutsu Shuppansha, 1962.

Examines through superb photographs the traditional forms for Japanese houses. Beginning with the "minka" or folk house, residential buildings used by farmers, fishermen, merchants, tradesmen, and craftsmen built between 1185 and 1867, and continuing through houses built in the 19th and 20th centuries.

- J517 A guide to Japanese architecture. [Tokyo], Shinken-chikusha (Distr. by The Japan Architect, [1984]). 251p. il., maps.

1st ed., 1971.

A photographic guide to the notable modern buildings and the famous architectural monuments in Japan. Organized geographically, entries include a miniature photograph along with building's name and location, architect, building area, floor area, and bibliographic citation.

Index by architecture, p.226-39. Index by architects, p.240-50.

- J518 Kawashima, Chuji. Minka: traditional houses of rural Japan. Trans. by Lynne F. Riggs. N.Y., Kodansha, [1986]. 260p. il., maps.

Trans. and condensation of the 3-vol. set, Horobiyuku minka. Tokyo, Shufu to Seikatsusha, 1973.

Describes the traditional rural Japanese houses and the diverse styles which reflect the various climates and landscapes. Abundantly illustrated not only with photographs but also with plans and diagrams to demonstrate the details of structure and layout.

Contents: (1) Basic features; (2) Structure; (3) Styles.

Glossary, p.253-56. Index, p.257-60.

- J519 Kidder, J. Edward. Japanese temples: sculpture, paintings, gardens and architecture. Photos by Tatsuzo Sato . . . [et al.] N.Y., Abrams, [1964]. 554p il. (part col.), maps, plans.

A substantial volume which combines analysis with numerous photographs. Begins in 593, when a great era of Buddhist construction began leading to a "long series of temples that have been the glory of Japanese architecture and the nucleus of Japanese religion and philosophy."—p.13.

Bibliography, p.549-54.

- J520 Kurata, Bunsaku. Horyu-ji: Temple of the exalted law: early Buddhist art from Japan. Trans. by W. Chie Ishibashi. [N.Y.], Japan Society, [1981?]. 122, 44p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Japan House Gallery (1981).

Documents the Buddhist images and treasures preserved at Horyuji, the temple founded in 607, and the usual starting point for anyone wishing to study Japanese art. The catalog also commemorated the 75th anniversary of the Japan Society and includes a 44p. supplement on Japanese art exhibitions in the U.S., 1893-1981.

Bibliography, p.115-17.

- J521 Nishi, Kazuo, and Hozumi, Kazuo. What is Japanese architecture? Trans., adapted, and with an introd. by H. Mack Horton. N.Y., Kodansha, 1985. 144p. il. Trans. of Nihon kenchiku no katachi. [Tokyo?], Shokokusha Pub. Co., [198?]

Introduces the forms, traditions, and monuments of Japanese architecture through chapters on worship, daily life, battle, and entertainment. Offers an overview of Japan's traditional building types to the end of the Edo period and a basic explanation of construction methods and terminology. Includes a list of addresses of "Sites mentioned in the text" and "Museums and other facilities of architectural interest" for travelers.

Bibliography, p.140-42.

Southeast Asia

- J522 Aasen, Clarence. Architecture of Siam: a cultural history interpretation. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1998. xix, 291p. il. (part col.)

Focuses on the "cultural and social functions of architecture . . . particularly in relation to groups that had confronted cultural and geographic displacements."—Pref. and ackn.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Context and early cultural conjunctions, c.6000 BC-AD 500; (3) Constructing the local, c.AD 300-1300; (4) The essential Tai: transnational ethnic architecture, c.AD 500-1558; (5) The Ayutthayan kingdom: from state to empire, 1350-1767; (6) Architecture of modernism and nationalism, 1767-1932; (7) Outside the celestial domain: Chinese architecture in Siam; (8) Foreigners at the Siamese court; (9) Architecture of colonization, migration, and escape; (10) Architecture at the convergence of cultural differences.

Glossary, p.245-52. Bibliography, p.253-75. Index, p.276-91.

- J523 Ancient capitals of Thailand. [By] Elizabeth Moore, Philip Stott, Suriyavudh Sukhasvasti. Photography by Michael Freeman. London, Thames and Hudson, 1996. 365p. il. (part col.), col. map.

"Combines descriptions of the geography, history, industrial base and art of these ancient sites with many superb photographs."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The twin cities: Sukhothai and Si Satchanalai; (3) Sukhothai: the capital city; (4) Si Satchanalai: the city of the deputy king; (5) Kamphaeng Phet: strategic outpost for two kingdoms; (6) Phitsnulok: city of Phra Buddha Chinarat; (7) Ayutthaya: the golden city.

Glossary, p.354-56. Bibliography, p.357. Index, p.358-65.

- J524 Angkor: cities and temples. [By] Claude Jacques. Photographs by Michael Freeman. [Trans., Tom White.] London, Thames and Hudson, 1997. 319p. col. il., maps, plans.

Trans. of Angkor: vision de palais divins. Paris, Éd. Hermé, 1997.

Beautifully produced overview of the history of the site and its successive temples.

Contents: (1) Khmer civilization; (2) The pre-Angkor period; (3) The first Angkor; (4) Moving the capital; (5) Angkor in the 11th century; (6) Suryavarman II and Angkor Wat; (7) Angkor Thom; (8) The 13th century and after.

Chronology, p.304–09. Glossary, p.310–13. Bibliography, p.314–15. Index, p.316–19.

- J525 Chihara, Daigoro. Hindu-Buddhist architecture in Southeast Asia. Trans. by Rolf W. Giebel. N.Y., Brill, 1996. 278p. il. (Studies in Asian art and archaeology, 19).

The product of nearly 50 years of research.

Contents: Part one: The development of Hindu-Buddhist architecture; Part two: Legacies of the period of early Indianization; Part three: The golden age of Hindu-Buddhist architecture; Part four: Hindu-Buddhist architecture during the period of indigenization; Concluding remarks.

References, p.262–65. Index, p.267–78.

- J526 Dawson, Barry, and Gillow, Jo. The traditional architecture of Indonesia. London, Thames and Hudson, 1994. 192p. il. (part col.), map.

Introductory survey.

Contents: (1) Materials and construction; (2) Sumatra, island of gold; (3) Java, Bali and Lombok, the teeming heartland; (4) Borneo and Sulawesi, home of tribes and ancestors; (5) The outer islands.

Glossary, p.186. Bibliography, p.188–89. Index, p.190–92.

- J527 Naengnoi Suksri, M. R. Palaces of Bangkok: royal residences of the Chakri Dynasty. With photographs by Michael Freeman. London, Thames and Hudson, 1996. 368p. col. il.

"Covers the last 150 years of the absolute monarchy of Siam."—Pref.

Beautifully produced historical survey of the palaces.

Glossary, p.363. Bibliography, p.364. Index, p.365–68.

- J528 Palaces of the gods: Khmer art and architecture in Thailand. [By] Smitthi Siribhadra, Elizabeth Moore. Photography, Michael Freeman. London, Thames and Hudson, 1997. 352p. il. (chiefly col.), col. maps.

Beautifully produced exploration of the religious significance of the Khmer temple complex.

Contents: (1) The Khmer civilisation; (2) The art of the Khmer; (3) The temples.

Itineraries, p.323–27. Plans of the temples, p.328–38. Notes on photography, p.339. Glossary, p.340–43. Bibliography, p.344. Index, p.345–49.

- J529 Pichard, Pierre. Inventory of monuments at Pagan = Inventaire des monuments, Pagan. Paris, Unesco; Gartmore, Scotland, Kiscadale, 1992– . (6)v. il., maps, plans.

Chiefly in English, some text in French and Burmese.

"Comprehensive inventory of architectural riches on the site . . . richly illustrated description of the Pagan monuments."—Pref. To be complete in 9v.

Contents: (1) Monuments 1–255; (2) Monuments 256–552; (3) Monuments 553–818; (4) Monuments 819–1136; (5) Monuments 1137–1439; (6) Monuments 1440–1736.

Conventions and terminology, v.1, p.[29]–57. Each vol. has indexes.

- J530 Riboud, Marc. Angkor: the serenity of Buddhism. Introd. by Jean Lacouture. With essays by Jean Boisselier and Marc Riboud. Photograph captions by Madeleine Giteau. [Trans. from the French by Ruth Sharman.] N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 159p. chiefly il.

Trans. of Angkor, sérénité bouddhique. Paris, Imprim. nationale éditions, 1992.

Consists largely of excellent black-and-white photographs.

Contents: A suspended tragedy, by Jean Lacouture; A Buddhist presence amidst the gods, by Jean Boisselier; Serenity, sensuality, by Marc Riboud; Captions to the photographs, by Madeleine Giteau (p.147–56); Afterword.

- J531 Sumet Jumsai. Naga: cultural origins in Siam and the West Pacific. With contrib. by R. Buckminster Fuller. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1988. xvi, 183p. il. (part col.), plates.

Seeks to elucidate abiding patterns in the culture and especially the built environment of Southeast Asia.

Contents: (1) Naga and rites; (2) Water-based civilization; (3) Amphibious architecture; (4) Land-based architecture; (5) Water towns; Epilogue.

Glossary, p.175–78. Select bibliography: p.179–81. Index, p.182–83.

AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS

Africa

- J532 Blier, Suzanne Preston. The anatomy of architecture: ontology and metaphor in Batammaliba architectural expression. xx, 314p. 85 il., map. (RES monographs in anthropology and aesthetics)

Written by an eminent scholar, this book is about the meaning of architecture.

Contents: (1) Imagines Mundi: narrative, ritual, and architectural exemplars of cosmogony; (2) Architectural archetypes: reflections on housing in "Paradise"; (3) House temples: architecture for the gods; (4) Houses are human: architectural self-images; (5) At home: the complementarity of house, family, and tomb; (6) The power of architecture: politics, protections, and jurisprudence in house design and use; (7) "The Dance of Drums": notes on the architecture and staging of funeral performances; Conclusions, architectural exegesis: on building ontology, metaphor, and multiplicity.

Bibliography, p.297–302. List of principal people interviewed, p.302–3. Index, p.305–14.

- J533 Denyer, Susan. African traditional architecture: an historical and geographical perspective. Line drawings by Susan Denyer. Maps by Peter McClure. N.Y., Africana Pub., [1978]. xiv, 210p. 329il. maps.

A standard survey which illustrates hundreds of examples of architectural and building styles.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Rural settlements; (3) States and towns; (4) Sacred, ceremonial and community buildings; (5) Defence; (6) The building process; (7) Decoration; (8) A taxonomy of house forms; (9) The distribution of styles; (10) The impact of modernization.

General bibliography, p.202–04. Index, p.205–10.

- J534 Dmochowski, Zbigniew R. An introduction to Nigerian traditional architecture. [London], Ethnographica in assoc. with the National Commission for Museums and Monuments [Nigeria], 1990. 3v.

As the foundation for future studies of Nigerian architecture, this monumental survey revolves around three major cultural groups (Hausa, Yoruba, and Igbo) but also includes many other ethnic groups. The documentation consists of photographs and architectural drawings.

Contents: (1) Northern Nigeria; (2) South-West and Central Nigeria; (3) South-Eastern Nigeria: the Igbo-speaking people.

- J535 Elleh, Nnamdi. African architecture: evolution and transformation. N.Y., McGraw-Hill, [1997]. 382p. il. (part col.), maps.

Lavishly illustrated with field and museum photographs, and drawings and diagrams. A comprehensive study of African architecture from antiquity to the 20th century.

Contents: (1) Traditional African architecture; (2) Western architecture in Africa; (3) Islamic architecture in Africa; (4) The architecture of the kingdom of Morocco; (5) The architecture of Algeria, Tunisia, and Libya; (6) The architecture of Egypt; (7) Architecture of Djibouti, Ethiopia, Kenya, Somalia, and the Republic of Sudan; (8) The architecture of Burundi, Rwanda, Tanzania, and Uganda; (9) Architecture of the Congo Basin: Central African countries; (10) Architecture of Angola, Malawi, Mozambique, Madagascar, Mauritius, and Seychelles; (11) Architecture of Botswana, Namibia, Republic of Zambia, and Zimbabwe; (12) The architecture of the Republic of South Africa; (13) The architecture of Mauritania, Mali, Niger, and Chad; (14) The architecture of Gambia, Guinea Bissau, Guinea, and Senegal; (15) The architecture of Sierra Leone, Liberia, Cote d'Ivoire, and Burkina Faso; (16) The architecture of Ghana, Benin Republic, Cameroon, Togo, Lao Tome; (17) The architecture of Nigeria; (18) Urbanism in Africa; (19) Urbanization in Africa; (20) Modern architecture: new towns as national development strategy for Africa. (21) Conclusion: developing the triple heritage architecture.

Glossary, p.355–58. Chronology, p.359–64. References, p.365–71. Index, p.373–82.

- J536 Prussin, Labelle. African nomadic architecture: pace, place, and gender. With contrib. by Amina Adan . . . [et al.] [Foreword by Robert Farris Thompson.] Washington, Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1995]. xxii, 245p. il. 24 col. plates, maps.

Extensively illustrated with field photographs complemented by scholarly essays, this book is "surely one of the classics of twentieth-century architectural history."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) The tent in African history; (2) Environment and space; (3) The creative process; (4) The Hassaniya-speaking nomads: Tekna, Trarza, and Brakna, by Peter A. Andrews and excerpts from Odette Du Puigaudeau in translation; (5) The Tuareg: Kel Ahaggar and Kel Ferwan, based on excerpts from Johannes Nicolaisen and excerpts from Dominique Casajus in translation; (6) The Tubu: nomads in the Eastern Sahara; (7) Mahria tents: the woman's domain, by Uta Holter; (8) Rendille habitation, by Anders Grum; (9) Handicrafts of the Somali nomadic women, by Arlene Fulterton and Amina Adan; (10) The nomadic aesthetic.

Bibliography, p.223–32. Index, p.237–45.

- J537 ———. Hatumere: Islamic design in West Africa. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1986. xxiii, 306p. il., col. plates, maps.

A landmark study. The Islamic design and concept of hatumere refers to amulets written in the form of squares and is emblematic of the built environment of the West African savanna.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The physical environment; (3) The behavioral environment; (4) The conceptual environment; (5) The medieval age: West African empires; (6) The Manding diaspora: trade networks, integration, and urbanization; (7) The Fulbe diaspora: politics and sedentarization; (8) The Asante confederacy: Islam in the rain forest.

Bibliography, p.281–92. Index, p.295–306.

The Americas

- J538 Gasparini, Graziano, and Margolies, Luise. Inca architecture. Trans. by Patricia J. Lyon. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., 1980. xv, 350p. il., map.

Trans. of Arquitectura Inka. Caracas, Centro de Investigaciones Históricas y Estéticas, Universidad Central de Venezuela, 1977.

Analysis of state and domestic architecture and construction technology in pre-contact Inca civilization. Includes photographs and line drawings. "A significant compilation, most of it based on the authors' fieldwork. . . . The photographs are superb."—Annotation for Arquitectura Inka in Handbook of Latin American studies, v.42, 1980.

Contents: (1) Technical and formal antecedents; (2) Urban settlements; (3) Domestic architecture; (4) The architecture of power; (5) Technical and aesthetic problems.

Notes, p.333–36. References, p.337–41. Glossary, p.342–43. Index, p.345–50.

- J539 Marquina, Ignacio. Arquitectura prehispánica. [Facsimil de la 2. ed.] México, D.F., Instituto Nacional de Antropología e Historia, 1981. 2v. il., col. plates (part folded), maps, plans, tables. (Memorias del I.N.A.H., 1)

Facsimile reprint of GLAH 1:J365. Still the finest single source for the subject. Copiously illustrated with photographs and line drawings of architectural elements. The mediocre photographs of the original are poorly reproduced in the facsimile.

Index, v.2, p.[1006]–42.

J540 Morgan, William N. Ancient architecture of the Southwest. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1994. xx, 301p. il., plates, maps, plans.

"The volume analyzes and compares 132 ancient sites suggesting the breadth and variety of our architectural legacy in the Southwest."—Introd. Includes schematic plans of settlement dwellings.

Contents: Early settlement to A.D. 900; Regional developments, 900 to 1140; Unrest and adjustment, 1140–1300; Migration and consolidation, 1300 to 1540; Historic pueblos, 1540 to present.

Glossary, p.267–69; Pronouncing guide, p.271–72. Bibliography, p.273–86. Index, p.287–301.

J541 Nabokov, Peter, and Easton, Robert. Native American architecture. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1989. 431p. il. (part col.), maps, plans.

"The combination of anecdotal, visual, and research material creates a thorough picture of major tribes and their architecture in nine regions of North America."—Review, American Indian culture and research journal, v.14, 1990, p.143.

Contents: (1) Wigwam and longhouse: Northeast and Great Lakes; (2) Mound, town and chickee: Southeast; (3) Earthlodge, grass house, and tipi: Great Plains; (4) Pit house and extended tipi: Plateau; (5) Winter house, iglu, and tent: Arctic; (6) Plank house: Northwest; (7) Wood, earth, and fiber: California; (8) Hogan, ki, and ramada: Southwest I; (9) Pueblo: Southwest II.

Annotated bibliography, p.[411]–20. Glossary, p.425. Index, p.426–31.

J542 Paternosto, César A. The stone and the thread: Andean roots of abstract art. Trans. by Esther Allen. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1996. xxi, 272p. il., map. Trans. of: Piedra abstracta: la escultura inca, una visión contemporánea. Mexico, Buenos Aires, Fondo de Cultura Económica, 1989.

"As I will emphasize during the course of my exposition, it was weaving—the manipulation of thread—that became the structural matrix not only of the geometric designs but of the predominant orthogonal iconography of Andean arts. . . . I also hope to demonstrate how the working of the stone—in all its abstract stoniness—and the thread—unfolding its implicit geometric models—has created structural paradigms that still resonate in the art of the Americas."—Introd.

Notes, p.237–51. Works cited, p.253–62. Index, p.263–72.

J543 Scully, Vincent. Pueblo: mountain, village, dance. 2d ed. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1989. xvi, 412p. il.

See GLAH 1:J366 for original ed. Unchanged except for new pref. and 11p. "Postscript, 1988."

J544 Yampolsky, Mariana. The traditional architecture of Mexico. Text by Chloe Sayer. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1993. 208p. il. (part col.)

Accessible introduction.

Contents: (1) Using colour; (2) Rural houses; (3) Public spaces; (4) The hacienda; (5) Town residences; (6) The uncommon touch.

Glossary, p.200–02. Bibliography, p.202–05. Index, p.205–08.

LANDSCAPE DESIGN

Bibliography

J545 Garden literature: an index to periodical articles and book reviews, v.1, no.1–, Jan.–Mar. 1992–. Boston, Garden Literature Pr., 1992–. Two issues yearly.

Originally quarterly (1992–1993) with fourth quarter issue being the annual cumulation. Since 1994 the first issue is the "Sprout Issue," providing indexing to 10 major journals for the first half of the year. The second issue completely indexes 100 journals for the year.

J546 Making educated decisions: a landscape preservation bibliography. Ed. by Charles A. Birnbaum and Cheryl Wagner. Jean S. Jones, research assistant. Washington, D.C., National Park Service, Cultural Resources, Preservation Assistance Division, Historic Landscape Initiative, 1994. v, 160p. il.

"Prepared to guide the user in obtaining practical guidance to make educated decisions when researching, planning, managing, and undertaking project work in cultural landscape resources."—Introd. Contains more than 500 annotated citations for widely available English language publications with a predominant focus on landscape preservation philosophy, research, preservation planning, practice, treatment, management and maintenance, each evaluated for compatibility with the Secretary of the Interior's standards. Anticipated to be updated periodically.

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

J547 The Oxford companion to gardens. Sir Geoffrey Jellicoe and Susan Jellicoe, consultant eds. Patrick Goode and Michael Lancaster, executive eds. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1986. xiv, 635p. il., plans.

An indispensable work. "The first comprehensive reference work to deal with the art of garden design on a world-wide scale from the earliest records of civilization to the present day . . . primarily concerned with locating and describing gardens of all kinds . . . it touches upon influences such as geography, climate, and ethnic and social factors that have conditioned gardens of all ages. It includes brief biographies of the principal designers and of those patrons, such as the Medici family, who have often determined the course of landscape history."—Pref. Related entries are cross-referenced.

Selective bibliography is thematically arranged, p.[629]–35.

Histories and Handbooks

General Works

J548 Clifford, Derek. A history of garden design. Rev. ed. N.Y., Praeger, [1966]. 252p. il.

1st ed., Chatham, W., and Mackay, J. 1963.

"A synthetic view of the different ways in which men made gardens and an attempt to explore the reasons why they made them as they did."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Pliny and the Renaissance garden; (2) Islam and the gardens of Spain; (3) France; (4) The garden of Euphrates; (5) The garden of suggestion; (6) The great revolution of taste; (7) Reassessment; (8) Humphry Repton; (9) The search for a style; (10) Tradition and the Americas; (11) The triumph of the wild improvers.

Appendixes of gardens by the most famous designers in history, p.222–38. Select bibliography, p.239–44. Index, p.245–52.

J549 Dumbarton Oaks colloquium on the history of landscape architecture. Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks, 1971–. (18)v. il.

See GLAH 1:R24 for previous vols. A few of these titles are cited individually elsewhere in this chapter.

Selective contents: (4) MacDougall, Elisabeth B., and Ettinghausen, Richard, eds. The Islamic garden (1976); (5) MacDougall, Elisabeth B., ed. Fons sapientiae: Renaissance garden fountains (1977); (6) MacDougall, Elisabeth B., ed. John Claudius Loudon and the early nineteenth century in Great Britain (1980); (7) MacDougall, Elisabeth B., and Jashemski, Wilhelmina, eds. Ancient Roman gardens (1981); (8) McGuire, Diane Kostial, and Fern, Lois, eds. Beatrix Jones Farrand (1872–1959): fifty years of American landscape architecture (1982); (9) MacDougall, Elisabeth B., ed. Medieval gardens, (1986); (10) MacDougall, Elisabeth B., ed. Ancient Roman villa gardens (1987); (11) MacDougall, Elisabeth B., ed. Nature's gardener (1989); (12) Hunt, John Dixon, ed. The Dutch garden in the seventeenth century, (1990); (13) Hunt, John Dixon, ed. Garden history: issues, approaches, methods, (1992); (14) Hunt, John Dixon, and Wolschke-Bulmahn, Joachim, eds. The vernacular garden, (1990); (15) O'Malley, Therese, and Treib, Marc, eds. Regional garden design in the United States, (1995); (16) Westcoat, James L., and Wolschke-Bulmahn, Joachim, eds. Mughal gardens: sources, places, representations, and prospects (1996); (17) O'Malley, Therese, and Wolschke-Bulmahn, Joachim, eds. John Evelyn's "Elysium Britannicum" and European gardening, (1998); (18) Wolschke-Bulmahn, Joachim, ed. Nature and ideology: natural garden design in the twentieth century, (1997).

J550 Jellicoe, Geoffrey, and Jellicoe, Susan. The landscape of man: shaping the environment from prehistory to the present day. 3d ed. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1995. 408p. il., maps, plans.

1st ed., N.Y., Viking, 1975; 2d rev. ed., N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1987.

"This study is a concise global view of the designed landscape past and present, inclusive of all environment, from gardens to urban and regional landscape. Town-planning is included only when it is also landscape-planning. It is written objectively, as though the planet were seen from outer space, in which both hemispheres were equated. Part I runs from prehistory to AD 1700, a convenient date to make the change from the old world to the new, coinciding by chance with the death of the famous French landscape architect, André Le Nôtre; Part II runs from that date to the present day."—Introd. Extensively illustrated.

Bibliography, p.402–04. Index of people and places, p.405–08.

J551 Laurie, Michael. An introduction to landscape architecture. 2d ed. N.Y., Elsevier, 1986. xii, 248p. il.

1st ed. 1975.

A general overview of the field of landscape architecture and its component disciplines.

Bibliography, p.235–40.

J552 Newton, Norman T. Design on the land: the development of landscape architecture. Cambridge, Harvard Univ. Pr., 1971. xxiv, 714p., il., maps, plans.

Standard, scholarly history of the development of landscape architecture as an art and as a profession, from Egyptian temples through 20th-century urban open-space systems.

Bibliography, p.677–89. Index, p.703–14.

J553 Thacker, Christopher. The history of gardens. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1979. 288p. il.

A concise overview.

Contents: (1) The beginnings; (2) Persian and Islamic gardens; (3) Chinese gardens; (4) Japanese gardens; (5) Medieval gardens; (6) The Renaissance garden in Italy; (7) Jokes and puzzles; (8) The Renaissance garden in France and England; (9) The formal French garden; (10) Louis XIV and Versailles; (11) The development of the formal garden in Europe; (12) Leaping the fence; (13) The perfectly Arcadian farm; (14) The total landscape; (15) Gardens in the nineteenth century; (16) The modern garden.

Bibliography, p.281–84. Index, p.285–88

SEE ALSO: Gothein, M.L. A history of garden art (GLAH 1:J38).

Ancient—Medieval

J554 MacDougall, Elisabeth B., ed. Medieval gardens. Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks, 1986. 278p. il., plates. (Dumbarton Oaks colloquium on the history of landscape architecture, 9)

Thirteen essays reconstruct medieval gardens through literary and visual sources and through documents and information on plants. Covers a vast chronological and geographical field, although northern Europe receives the most attention. Essays include bibliographical references. Some contain their own appendixes and bibliographies.

- J555 Stokstad, Marilyn and Stannard, Jerry. Gardens of the Middle Ages. Lawrence, [Kan.], Spencer Museum of Art, Univ. of Kansas, 1983. 224p. il., plates (part col.).

Catalog of the exhibition, Spencer Museum of Art, Lawrence (1983). "We have looked on the garden as a work of art itself and, although the actual gardens are lost, we have tried to express the values and goals of the medieval patrons and artists."—Pref. Two essays, "Gardens in medieval art" and "Medieval gardens and their plants" are followed by color plates and catalogue entries.

Includes bibliographical references.

Islamic

- J556 Brookes, John. Gardens of paradise: the history and design of the great Islamic gardens. N.Y., New Amsterdam, 1987. 240p. il. (part col.), map.

Contents: (1) The concept of the paradise garden; (2) Garden origins; (3) Muslim Spain; (4) Persia; (5) Mughal India; (6) North Africa, Egypt, Sicily and the Ottoman Empire; (7) Water and plants in the Islamic landscape; (8) The Islamic garden today and its future; (9) Notes on designing a garden in the Middle East.

Chronology of Islamic gardens, p.[231–34]. Select bibliography, p.235–36. Index, p.237–40.

- J557 MacDougall, Elisabeth B., and Ettinghausen, Richard, eds. The Islamic garden. Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks, 1976. 135p. il., plates. (Dumbarton Oaks colloquium on the history of landscape architecture, 4)

Five essays address Islamic gardens in Asia, Europe, and Africa from the 12th through the 19th centuries. Some essays contain appendixes.

Includes bibliographical references.

- J558 Wilber, Donald N. Persian gardens and garden pavilions. 2d ed. Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks, 1979. xiv, 104p. il., plates.

1st ed., Rutland, C. E. Tuttle, 1962; 2d ed. unchanged excepting the expanded bibliography, p.93–96. Plates follow text.

Contents: (1) Persian gardens and paradise; (2) Timurid gardens: from Tamerlane to Babur; (3) Imperial Isfahan in the Safavid Period; (4) Gardens along the Caspian: Safavid and later; (5) The royal gardens at Tehran; (6) Shiraz: home of gardens and poets; (7) Gardens north and south.

Renaissance—Modern

- J559 Chadwick, George F. The park and the town: public landscape in the 19th and 20th centuries. N.Y., Praeger, 1966. 388p. il., plans.

Historical survey concerned with aesthetic and social implications of the development of public parks in western Europe and the United States.

Bibliography, p.[378]–83. Index, p.384–88.

- J560 Cornish, Geoffrey S., and Whitten, Ronald E. The architects of golf: a survey of golf course design from its beginnings to the present, with an encyclopedic listing of golf course architects and their courses. Rev. and exp. ed. N.Y., HarperCollins, 1993. viii, 648p. il., ports.

Rev. ed. of The golf course, N.Y., Routledge Pr., 1981. The only book-length publication on the history of golf course design, an increasingly significant aspect of landscape design. Most useful for biographical information as it lacks plans. International in scope, but most heavily focused on American and British designers. After a history of design it offers profiles of course designers which document their work in detail, master list of golf courses cross-referenced to designers, glossary of terms, brief description of the evolution of course features, list of parallel developments in allied fields, list of course architects' associations, list of organizations and libraries.

Bibliography, p.635–40. Index, p.646–48.

- J561 Laird, Mark. The formal garden: traditions of art and nature. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1992. 240p. il. (part col.), plans.

Survey which concentrates on the mainstream formal traditions of Italy, France, Germany, Holland, Great Britain, and the eastern United States, making the case that the differences between formal and natural gardens are often less clear than supposed. Excellent illustrations.

"Gazetteer of major formal gardens" offers description of gardens and information on public access, p.224–34. Glossary of planting terms, p.234. Bibliography, p.235–37. Index, p.239–40.

- J562 Mosser, Monique, and Teyssot, Georges, eds. The architecture of Western gardens: a design history from the Renaissance to the present day. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1991. 543p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of L'architettura dei giardini d'Occidente. Milano, Electa, 1990.

"This book is structured chronologically, but proceeds by a series of essays on specific subjects, intended not so much to provide the reader with any comprehensive catalogue of all the gardens laid out in the period under consideration as to demonstrate the wide range of research programmes currently being undertaken. . . . The aim of this book is . . . to provide an introduction to the architecture of the garden in Europe and the United States in recent times."—Introd. Heavily illustrated.

Contents: (1) The humanist garden: from allegory to Mannerism; (2) The straight line and the arabesque: from the Baroque garden to the classical park; (3) Picturesque, Arcadian, and sublime: the age of enlightenment; (4) The eclectic garden, and the town and city park; (5) Aspects of the contemporary garden: from the leisure park to artistic experimentation.

Bibliographical references appear at end of each essay. Index of people and places, p.532-43.

- J563 Sirén, Osvald. China and gardens of Europe of the eighteenth century. N.Y., Ronald Pr., [1950]. xiv, 223p., 192p. of plates. il. (Repr.: Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks, 1990.)

"This book . . . is still the most important, if also controversial, account of its subject, the widest and richest and best illustrated survey of what the French called in the late eighteenth century the jardin anglo-chinois."—Introd. Traces the general current of Chinese influence on the art of gardening in Europe, then describes its course in England, France, and Sweden. Given more recent disagreements with Sirén's views, readers today may find the fine plates more useful than the text.

Bibliography, p.215-19. Index, p.221-23.

- J564 Treib, Marc, ed. Modern landscape architecture: a critical review. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1993. 294p. il.

"This is the first book that deals exclusively with modernism and landscape architecture. It presents a history of the period (approximately 1920 to 1960), as well as some background so that the nonprofessional can understand the context of modernism, how it differed from its precedents and how it revolutionized design . . . gathers texts by landscape architects of the period . . . and by present day historians and critics evaluating the subject from the vantage point of time passed."—Review, Design book review, v.31, winter 1994, p.23.

Bibliographic notes follow chapters. Index, p.[290]-94.

Western Countries

Canada

- J565 Baeyer, E. von. A preliminary bibliography for garden history in Canada. [Ottawa], National Historic Parks and Sites Branch, Parks Canada, Environment Canada, 1983. 24, 26p.

Limited to material on the history of designed (versus natural) gardens in Canada published before 1950, as well as contemporary literature on gardens existing before 1950. In addition to predictable topics such as garden ornaments, historic gardens, and periodicals, it includes the more unusual such as railway gardens, experimental farms, and northern gardens. A valuable substitute for the as-yet-unwritten comprehensive history of gardening in Canada.

France

- J566 Imbert, Dorothée. The modernist garden in France. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. xv, 284p. il., plans. The first book-length treatment of modernist landscape design in France from 1910 through the 1930s. Documents numerous private and public gardens no longer extant, including those of the 1925 Exposition Internationale des Arts Décoratifs et Industriels Modernes. Includes archival photographs and drawings made for this publication.

Contents: (1) Henri Duchène; Achille Duchène: a return to formalism; (2) J. C. N. Forestier: plants & planting; (3) Gardens at the Exposition; (4) Jardin régulier; jardin d'architecture; (5) André Vera; Paul Vera; Jean-Charles Moreux: modernity & tradition; (6) Pierre-Emile Legrain: garden design as applied art; (7) Gabriel Guévrékian: the modern paradise garden; (8) Le Corbusier: the landscape vs. the garden; (9) André Lurçat: the outdoor ensemble; (10) Epilogue.

Extensive endnotes, p.209-43. Comprehensive bibliography, p.247-63. Index, p.264-68.

- J567 Wiebenson, Dora. The picturesque garden in France. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1978. xviii, 137p. il., plates, maps.

The first book in English on this important 18th-century artistic manifestation. Possible origins of the picturesque garden in France are discussed along with French and English gardening theory, the various types of French picturesque gardens, and their relationship to urban planning.

Bibliography includes citations for specific gardens, p.[123]-32.

- J568 Woodbridge, Kenneth. Princely gardens: the origins and development of the French formal style. London, Thames & Hudson, 1986. 320p. il.

"Surveys the history of French gardens from the Middle Ages through the early 20th century, focusing on the 16th and 17th centuries, on Italian influence, and on the development of what [Woodbridge] calls 'the formal style' . . . extremely useful as a reference text because its short and clearly marked subsections (together with a detailed index) allow the reader quickly to locate a particular theme or example."—Review, Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, v.48, March 1989, p.90.

Notes to the text, p.292-99. Appendixes: A, "A list of plants used for ornamental purposes," p.300-05; B, "Four designs for figured gardens from the French version of Hypnerotomachia Poliphili," p.306; C, Chronology of French royalty and French and Italian garden construction, p.307. Glossary, p.308. Bibliography, p.309-14. Index, p.315-20.

Germany and Austria

- J569 Hennebo, Dieter, and Hoffmann, Alfred. Geschichte der deutschen Gartenkunst. Hamburg, Broschek, 1962-65. 3v. il., plans.

Indispensable scholarly work pub. in parts. No index.

Contents: (1) Gärten des Mittelalters (rev. ed. München, Artemis, 1987); (2) Der architektonische Gärten: Renaissance und Barock; (3) Der Landschaftsgärten.

Bibliographic notes at end of each vol.: v.1, p.187-96; v.2, p.401-31; v.3, p.295-303.

- J570 Heyer, Hans-Rudolf. Historische Gärten der Schweiz: die Entwicklung von Mittelalter bis zur Gegenwart. Bern, Benteli, 1980. 272p. il. (part col.)

The first comprehensive, scholarly account of garden history in Switzerland. Well-illustrated, covering both public and private gardens from the Middle Ages to the present.

Literaturverzeichnis, p.268–70. Namen- und Ortsregister, p.271–72.

J571 Jellicoe, Geoffrey A. Baroque gardens of Austria. N.Y., Scribner's, 1993. 45p. il., map, plans.

Large-format history offers an introductory essay but relies largely on plates for documentation. Contains excellent plans of nine major gardens: Schloss Hellbrunn, Count Wallenstein's Garden, Belvedere Palace, Schwarzenberg Palace, Schonborn Palace, Schlosshof Palace, Mirabell Gardens, Abbey of St. Florian, and Schönbrunn Palace.

Bibliography, p.11. Chronological table of landscape developments in Italy, France and Austria, p.12.

Great Britain and Ireland

J572 Aldous, Tony, and Clouston, Brian. Landscape by design. London, Heinemann, 1979. xviii, 173p. il., plates, plans.

Written on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the Institute of Landscape Architects, this book sketches the history of the landscape profession in the United Kingdom since 1929. The history is arranged by the type of client commissioning the work rather than the type of work itself, in the process discussing both private and public gardens, new towns, university campuses, government-owned forests, landscape as it relates to various transportation systems, industrial and corporate landscapes, the development of landscape education in the U.K., and British influence on landscape design in other countries. Sparsely illustrated.

Bibliography, p.160–64. Index, p.167–73.

J573 Coffin, David C. The English garden: meditation and memorial. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1994. 304p. il.

The emphasis is on 17th- and 18th-century formal features and cultural responses to them. Explores the major built features of English gardens using manuscripts, letters, and diaries as well as better-known published works, many by women thereby correcting a long-standing misconception that women were not active in landscape design in the 17th and 18th century. The final chapter contains an annotated list of monuments and memorials.

Bibliographic notes, p.225–53. Index, p.255–70.

J574 Elliott, Brent. Victorian gardens. London, Batsford, 1986. 285p., plates, il.

"Especially good on the impact of inventions on Victorian gardening, the increasing professionalization of gardeners, advances in botany, the importance of colour effects, the growing interest in the history of gardening, and (not least) the gardens and gardeners to which and to whom William Robinson was indebted. . . . The most distinguished treatment of the subject."—Review, Journal of garden history, v.8, 1988, p.60–61.

Notes, p.[248]–68. Bibliography, p.[269]–71. Index, p.[274]–85.

J575 The English landscape garden. Ed. by John Dixon Hunt. N.Y., Garland, [1982]. 29v. il.

Important reprint series offering "examples of the important literature of the English landscape garden movement together with some earlier garden books."—Series t.p.

Contents: (1) Mountain, Dydimus (i.e., Thomas Hill). The gardeners labyrinth (London, 1594); (2) Markham, Gervase. The English husbandman (Books I and II) (London, 1613 and 1614); (3) Lawson, William. A new orchard and garden (London, 1618) bound with Marriott, John. Knots for gardens (London, 1625) bound with Austen, Ralph. A treatise of fruit-trees together with The spiritual use of an orchard (Oxford, 1653); (4) Caus, Isaac de. Wilton Garden (London, c1645) bound with Caus, Isaac de. New and rare inventions of water-works (London, 1659); (5) Worlidge, John. Systema Horti-culturae: or, The art of gardening (London, 1677); (6) de La Quintinie, Jean (trans. John Evelyn). The compleat gard'ner (London, 1693); (7) Nourse, Timothy. Campania Foelix (London, 1700); (8) Gentil, François (trans. George London and Henry Wise). The retir'd gard'ner (London, 1706; 2v.); (9) Laurence, John. Gardening improv'd (London, 1718); (10) Switzer, Stephen. Ichnographia Rustica: or, The nobleman, gentleman, and gardener's recreation (London, 1718; 3v.); (11) Langley, Batty. New principles of gardening (London, 1728); (12) Castell, Robert. The villas of the ancients illustrated (London, 1728); (13) Switzer, Stephen. An introduction to a general system of hydrostatics and hydraulicks, philosophical and practical (London, 1729; 2v.); (14) Morris, Robert. An essay upon harmony as it relates chiefly to situation and building (London, 1739) bound with Trusler, John. Elements of modern gardening (London, 1784); (15) Serle, John. A plan of Mr. Pope's garden (London, 1745) bound with Gardens of Richmond, Kew, and environs (London, ?1730–1760); (16) The gardens at Stowe (London, 1732–1797); (17) Attiret, Jean Denis (trans. Joseph Spence). A particular account of the emperor of China's gardens near Pekin (London, 1752) bound with Shenstone, William. Unconnected thoughts on gardening and A description of the Leasowes (London, 1764) bound with Mason, George. An essay on design in gardening (London, 1768); (18) Walpole, Horace. The history of the modern taste in gardening (London, 1827) bound with Walpole, Horace. Journals of visits to country seats (Oxford, 1928); (19) Whately, Thomas. Observations on modern gardening (London, 1770); (20) Heely, Joseph. Letters on the beauties of Hagley, Envil, and the Leasowes (London, 1777); (21) Watts, William. The seats of the nobility and gentry in a collection of the most interesting and picturesque views (London, 1779); (22) Mason, William. The English garden (London, 1783); (23) Girardin, René Louis de (trans. Daniel Malthus). An essay on landscape (London, 1783) bound with A tour to Ermenonville (London, 1785); (24) Angus, William. The seats of nobility and gentry in Great Britain and Wales (London, 1787); (25) Mavor, William. New description of Blenheim (London, 1793); (26) Repton, Humphry. Fragments on the theory and practice of landscape gardening (London, 1816); (27) Johnson, George J. A history of English gardening, chronological, biographical, literary, and critical (London, 1829); (28) Loudon, J. C. An encyclopaedia of gardening (London, 1835; 2v.); (29) Loudon, J. C. The suburban gardener, and villa companion (London, 1838).

J576 Hunt, John Dixon. Garden and grove: the Italian Renaissance garden in the English imagination, 1600–1750. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1986. 269p. il. Divided into two sections: (1) Italy: The garden of the world; (2) England: The world of the garden. Describes the English experience of Italian gardens in the 17th and early 18th centuries and then charts how the English imagination realized these Italian ideas and images on native soil during the same period. Chapters on Elizabethan and Jacobean gardens offer much new information.

Bibliography, p.223–59. Index, p.261–68.

J577 ———, and Willis, Peter, eds. The genius of the place: the English landscape garden, 1620–1820. N.Y., Harper & Row, 1975. xx, 390p. il., plans, ports. "This anthology and commentary on the English landscape garden is intended both for the general reader and for students in the visual arts."—Pref. Texts are taken from the original editions or manuscripts and presented with a minimum of editorial interference. The work of 57 authors is arranged in four parts: (1) Prelude: the seventeenth century and the reign of Queen Anne; (2) The early landscape garden; (3) The progress of gardening; (4) Picturesque taste and the garden.

Bibliography, p.381–82. Index, p.383–90.

J578 Jacques, David. Georgian gardens: the reign of nature. London, Batsford, 1983. 240p. il. (part col.), plates.

Covering the period 1733 to 1825 and restricted to English and Welsh gardens, this documents the natural style, chinoiserie and gothic revival, the picturesque style, and Regency gardens. Contains extensive information on lesser-known designers and gardens.

Notes, p.[207]–17. Bibliography, p.[218]–22. Index of names, p.[223]–34. Place index, p.[235]–40.

J579 Malins, Edward Greenway, and Bowe, Patrick. Irish gardens and demesnes from 1830. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1980. 190p. il. (part col.), plates.

Straightforward history from J. C. Loudon's writings, through imported influences of French and Italian Renaissance gardens, William Robinson and Gertrude Jekyll's designs, the introduction of exotic sub-tropical plants, to modern gardens of significant size. Illustrated with period photographs, plans, and engravings.

Notes, p.173–82. Bibliography, p.183–84. Index, p.187–90.

J580 McLean, Teresa. Medieval English gardens. London, Collins, 1981. 298p. il., plates.

"This book is about English gardens in the period between the Norman Conquest and the Renaissance. . . . The first four chapters deal with the location, ownership, purpose, layout, overall appearance, fashions and workmanship of English gardens, the last five with their contents and detailed appearance."—Introd.

Bibliography, p.273–83. Index, p.285–98.

J581 Ottewill, David. The Edwardian garden. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1989. x, 230p. il. (part col.), plans, ports.

The first comprehensive study of the Edwardian garden (covering roughly 1880–1920); integrates garden history with architectural history, concentrating on country houses. Lavishly illustrated with period photographs and drawings.

Notes, p.203–16. "Bibliography of principal sources," p.217–18. Gazetteer, p.219–24. Index, p.225–30.

J582 Strong, Roy. The Renaissance garden in England. London, Thames & Hudson, 1979. 240p. il.

The first book to reconstruct from visual and archival sources how England responded to the art form of the Renaissance garden. Concerned with the gardens of palaces and great houses from the reign of Henry VIII until the outbreak of the Civil War.

Extensive endnotes serve as bibliography, p.[224]–33. Index, p.237–40.

J583 Stuart, David. Georgian gardens. London, Hale, 1979. 256p. il., plans.

Covering the period 1730–1830, this addresses gardens in the broadest sense, from pleasure grounds to kitchen gardens and deer parks. Chapters are divided into four sections: introduction (documenting foreign influences); plants, gardeners and other elements; the gardens; mansions and demesnes. Numerous plans.

Includes a gazetteer of Georgian gardens, indicating those open to the public, p.201–46. Bibliography of contemporary sources, p.248–49. Bibliography of post-Georgian sources, p.250. Index, p.251–56.

J584 Tait, Alan Andrew. The landscape garden in Scotland, 1735–1835. Edinburgh, Edinburgh Univ. Pr., 1980. xi, 282p. il., plates.

The first book devoted to the history of gardens in Scotland of this period. Supplementary material is especially useful. Appendixes: (1) The text from Humphry Repton's Red Book for Valleyfield, c.1801; (2) The text of W. S. Gilpin's Improvements for Bowhill, c.1832; (3) List of landscape gardeners and their work in Scotland, c.1730–c.1840.

Location of sites discussed, p.260–63. Index, p.264–82.

J585 Triggs, H. Inigo. Formal gardens in England and Scotland: their planning and arrangement, architectural and ornamental features. Illustrated by seventy-two plates from drawings by the author and fifty-three reproduced from photographs by Charles Latham. [Reprint.] Woodbridge, Antique Collectors' Club, 1988. xxvi, 229p. il. (part col.)

Reprint of 1st U.S. ed. N.Y., Scribner, 1902. 1st ed (London, Batsford, 1902) published in 3 parts.

"Prepared chiefly with the object of showing, by means of a series of studies of some of the most complete and historical gardens now extant in [Britain], the principle involved in their planning and arrangement in relation to the house, which is an essential element in what it is the custom to call the Formal Garden."—Pref. A classic work most useful today for its drawings and period photographs, some of which have been supplemented by color plates of the same subject taken in 1988.

No bibliography or index.

- J586 Turner, Tom. English garden design: history and styles since 1650. Woodbridge, Antique Collectors Club, 1986. 238p. il., plans.

Well-illustrated general history.

Contents: (1) English garden design: the background ideas; (2) 1650–1740: the Enclosed, French and Dutch styles; (3) 1714–1810: the Forest, Serpentine and Irregular styles; (4) 1794–1870: the Transition, Italian and mixed styles; (5) 1870–1985: the Arts and Crafts and Abstract styles; recent trends.

References and notes, p.228–33. Select bibliography, p.233. Index, p.234–38.

Italy

- J587 Gromort, Georges. Jardins d'Italie; 148 planches donnant plus de 170 vues des villas de la Campagne romaine, de la Toscane et de la Haute-Italie, accompagnées de 25 plans, d'une préface et d'un texte explicatif. Paris, A. Vincent, 1922–31. 3v. il., plates, plans.

Brief text. Still useful, mainly for the plans and large-format photographs of the Renaissance gardens and villas.

- J588 Lazzaro, Claudia. The Italian Renaissance garden: from the conventions of planting, design, and ornament to the grand gardens of sixteenth-century central Italy. Photographs by Ralph Lieberman. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1990. ix, 342p. il., plans.

A landmark study concerned primarily with establishing "a context for understanding gardens in the culture of the Renaissance, how they were conceptualized, the conventions of planting and design, and the ideas about nature that were given form in sculpted ornament . . . and to understand the grand surviving estates of the sixteenth century in central Italy—primarily Tuscany and Latium—within this context."—Introd. Briefly covers gardens in other areas of Italy, including Ferrara and Naples, the Veneto, Lombardy, Urbino, Parma, and Turin. Visual documentation is the best yet published, using contemporary views and original photographs of the gardens.

Appendixes offer supporting data: I, Common trees and plants in Italian Renaissance gardens; IIA, Chronology of the garden at Castello in the sixteenth century; IIB, Chronology of the Boboli Garden in the sixteenth century, III, Inventory of the Villa Lante at Bagnaia.

Notes (p.288–322) and bibliography (p.333–336) span primary and secondary sources of five centuries.

- J589 Masson, Georgina. Italian gardens. N.Y., Abrams, 1961. 300p. plates, maps.

A classic work still relied on despite the publication of newer books covering narrower topics in Italian garden design. Includes chapters on gardens in the Veneto, the Marche, and Northern Italy. Heavily illustrated.

"Flowers grown in Italian gardens," p.279–88. Bibliography, p.293–96. Index of places, p.297–300.

- J590 Platt, Charles A. Italian gardens. With an overview by Keith N. Morgan and additional plates by Charles A. Platt. Portland, Or., Timber Pr., 1993. 170p. il. 1st ed., N.Y., Harper, 1894.

The first illustrated publication in English on this topic, authored by the premier practitioner of the formal garden revival in America. "Consists of photograph, etchings, and drawings accompanied by 19 brief, impressionistic essays on Italian gardens. Platt freely admitted that the illustrations were more important than the text."—p.103.

Contents: (1) Italian gardens, by Charles A. Platt; (2) Al fresco: an overview of Charles A. Platt's Italian gardens, by Keith N. Morgan; (3) Additional plates, by Charles A. Platt.

Notes to overview, p.139–42. Index, p.167–70.

- J591 Shepherd, J. C., and Jellicoe, Geoffrey A. Italian gardens of the Renaissance. N.Y., Princeton Architectural Pr., 1986. 26p. 92p. of plates. il., plans, map. 1st ed., London, E. Benn, 1925; student ed., London, A. Tiranti, 1953; library ed., N.Y., Architectural Book Club Co., 1966.

Published result of the authors' personal study of gardens in 1923. Gardens are documented by brief descriptions, renderings and sketches, and photographs. New ed. reproduces the 1st ed. with repagination and in a smaller format than the original.

- J592 Triggs, H. Inigo. The art of garden design in Italy, illustrated by seventy-three photographic plates reproduced in collotype, twenty-seven plans and numerous sketches in the text taken from original surveys and plans specially made by the author and twenty-eight plates from photographs by Mrs. Aubrey Le Blond. N.Y., Longmans, Green, and Co., 1906. xii, 134p. il., 128 plates, plans.

Companion publication to Formal gardens in England and Scotland: their planning and arrangement, architectural and ornamental features (GLAH 2:J585). Very large-format source notable as the first to publish plans drawn to scale of some of the most important gardens in Italy. It attempts to include major gardens from throughout the country, but heaviest emphasis is on those found at villas near Florence and Rome. 39-page historical introd. gives an overview. Plans, descriptions, and period photographs of 31 gardens follow. Introd. contains footnotes.

Low Countries

- J593 Hellerstedt, Kahren Jones. Gardens of earthly delight: sixteenth- and seventeenth-century Netherlandish gardens. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Pr., 1986. 82p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Frick Art Museum, Pittsburgh (1986). Valuable "both for its detailed imagery and for its insistence upon the learned meanings of garden iconography."—Review, Journal of garden history, v.8, 1988, p.61.

Includes bibliographical references.

- J594 Jong, Erik de. Natuur en kunst: Nederlandse tuin- en landschapsarchitectuur, 1650-1740. Amsterdam, Thoth, 1993. 259p. il., plans.

Examines Dutch gardens by determining which traditions shaped gardens in a country with a unique geography. "Based on the assumption that form, content and use cannot be separated, four main gardens are discussed, each created on the initiative of members of four different social groups."—Summary. Because none of the gardens survive, heavy use is made of archival material, topographical drawings, engravings and maps, descriptions in travel journals, country-house poems and other written documentation.

Endnotes follow each chapter. English summary, p.235-40. Bibliography, p.241-52. Indexes, p.253-[60].

Spain

- J595 Casa Valdes, Teresa Ozores y Saavedra, marquesa de. Spanish gardens. [Trans. by Edward Tanner.] Woodbridge, Antique Collectors' Club, 1987. 299p. il. (part col.), plans.

Trans. of Jardines de España. Madrid, Aguilar, 1973.

Written "to describe as completely as possible the gardens that exist today in Spain and relate their history and the history of those that have disappeared."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Roman gardens in Spain; (2) The arrival of the Arabs; (3) Granada and its gardens; (4) The gardens of Seville; (5) Medieval and cloister gardens; (6) The gardens of the Renaissance; (7) The gardens during the Austrian Dynasty. Philip II to Philip IV; (8) The gardens of Aranjuez. Philip II to Philip IV. El Buen Retiro. La Quinta del Duque del Arco; (9) Aranjuez in the time of the Bourbons in the eighteenth century; (10) The gardens of La Granja; (11) History of Spanish botanical gardens and the botanical expeditions to the New World during the eighteenth century; (12) Galician "Pazos." The "Sones" of Mallorca. The "Cigarrales" of Toledo; (13) The Neoclassical style. Charles III and Charles IV. Aranjuez during the nineteenth century. The gardens of Campo del Moro; (14) Nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The romantic garden. Gaudí. Forestier and Neo-Arabism. Modern Gardens. The palm groves of Elché; (15) Present-day gardens in Spain.

Endnotes follow each chapter. General bibliography p.281-83. Index of persons, p.285-90. Index of places, p.291-97.

United States

Bibliography

- J596 Pioneers of American landscape design: an annotated bibliography. Ed. by Charles A. Birnbaum and Lisa E. Crowder. Washington, D.C., U.S. Dept. of the Interior, National Park Service, Cultural Resources, Preservation Assistance Div., Historic Landscape Initiative, 1993. 142p. il.

Undertaken to fill the need for a single finding aid for researchers seeking information on those visionary practitioners who have had a significant impact on the designed American landscape. "This publication presents a representative cross section of 61 entries. For each there is a brief biographical profile, annotated period and modern sources, a concise statement on the location and contents of archival collections, and a likeness of the practitioner or an illustration of a related landscape project."—Introd.

- J597 ———. 1st supplement. Pioneers of American landscape design II: an annotated bibliography. Ed. by Charles A. Birnbaum and Julie K. Fix. Washington, D.C., U.S. Dept. of the Interior, National Park Service, Cultural Resources, Preservation Assistance Div., Historic Landscape Initiative, 1995. 186p. il., maps.

Continuation of what is anticipated to be a long-term project with additional volumes appearing every few years.

Directories

- J598 American Society of Landscape Architects. ASLA members' handbook. [Washington], D.C., American Soc. of Landscape Architects, 1978- .

Annual. Some issues provide only listings of members (individuals, private firms, and government agencies). Others give broader information. For instance, 1992 contents include information on the Society, its organization and activities; membership listings; chapters; accredited programs in landscape architecture and student chapters; related organizations; and licensure by states.

Dictionaries and Encyclopedias

- J599 American landscape architecture: designers and places. [Ed. by William H. Tischler.] Washington, D.C., Preservation Pr., 1989. 244p. il., plans, ports.

"Profiled here are 21 landscape architects who have had a significant impact on how our country looks. These essays are paired with descriptions of 21 of our most important landscape types—all documenting the rich and varied American landscape heritage."—Cover. The only source for concise biographical data on several of these designers and the best starting point for American topics.

Bibliography, p.221-32. Index, p.234-44.

Histories and Handbooks

- J600 Cranz, Galen. The politics of park design: a history of urban parks in America. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1982. xiii, 347p. il.

"The first history of the first 130 years of the American park movement in one account, not restricted to one city, one region, or one period. . . . In keeping with social research methods, [it treats] three urban park systems—those of New York, Chicago, and San Francisco—as case studies. Together with occasional comparisons with other American towns and an overview of the urban park movement across the nation, they lead to generalization about the nature of the American park movement as a whole."—Pref.

Notes, p.[257]–99. Bibliography, including a methodological overview, p.[301]–39. Index, p.[341]–47.

J601 Cutler, Phoebe. The public landscape of the New Deal. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1985. xv, 182p. il., maps, plans.

History of changes in the American landscape resulting from the work of the Civilian Conservation Corps, Works Progress Administration, Tennessee Valley Authority, and the National Park Service during the period 1933–1942.

Appendix of recreation demonstration areas, p.157. Notes, p.159–66. Bibliography, p.167–73. Index, p.175–82.

J602 Griswold, Mac and Weller, Eleanor. The golden age of American gardens: proud owners, private estates, 1890–1940. N.Y., Abrams, 1991. 408p. il. (part col.), plans.

Well-illustrated history of significant private gardens, arranged geographically. In many cases reproduces color lantern slides from a nationwide set commissioned by the Garden Club of America just before World War I.

Notes, p.361–85. Appendix, "Catalogue of glass plate photographs in the collection of the Garden Club of America and the Archives of American Gardens/Slide Library of Notable Parks and Gardens," p.386–92. Index, p.393–407.

J603 McClelland, Linda Flint. Presenting nature: the historic landscape designs of the National Park Service, 1916 to 1942. Washington, D.C., National Park Service, Cultural Resources, Interagency Resources Division, National Register of Historic Places, 1993. vi, 314p. il., maps, plans.

This study defines and describes the characteristics of park landscapes, documenting the work of the Park Service in its earliest years and the more recent impact of such landscapes' addition to the National Register. Previously, emphasis had been almost exclusively on recognizing the structures designed for the parks while the larger park landscapes of which they are an integral part had been largely overlooked.

Contents: (1) Stewardship for a national park service; (2) Origins of a design ethic for national parks; (3) A policy and process for design, 1916 to 1927; (4) The work of the Western Field Office, 1927 to 1932; (5) A process for park planning; (6) A decade of expansion, 1933 to 1942; (7) A new deal for state parks, 1933 to 1942; Appendix A, Registering historic park landscapes in the National Register of Historic Places; Appendix B, Associated listings in the National Register of Historic Places.

Bibliography, p.295–303. Index, p.305–14.

J604 Walker, Peter, and Simo, Melanie. Invisible gardens: the search for modernism in the American landscape. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1994. xvi, 365p. il. (part col.), plans.

"The main purpose of this book is to make visible the work of American landscape architects since World War II, that is, from about 1945, to the late 1970s."—Introd. Discusses at length the work of designers for whom the written record is sparse.

Notes, p.[320]–40. Bibliography, p.342–44. Index, p.[352]–65.

Asian Countries

General Works

J605 Rambach, Pierre, and Rambach, Suzanne. Gardens of longevity in China and Japan: the art of the stone raisers. [Trans. by André Marling.] N.Y., Rizzoli, [1987]. 231p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of Jardins de longévité. Genève, Skira, 1987.

A chosen mode of expression by creative artists in both China and Japan, stone-raising is a centuries-old tradition of providing stone compositions in a garden or courtyard environment. This work provides numerous examples of stone compositions depicted in art as well as in photographs of gardens and the accompanying text describes the relationship of the stones to philosophy, perception, and tradition.

Notes, p.212–14. List of gardens, p.215–16. Bibliography, p.217. Index, p.218–24. Index, p.225–30.

China

J606 Johnston, R. Stewart. Scholar gardens of China: a study and analysis of the spatial design of the Chinese private garden. Cambridge, Eng., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1991. xix, 331p. il. (part col.), plans, map.

A study of the small private gardens belonging to the scholar-officials who created, in miniature, their own image of nature. Describes the garden as a device for contemplative study as well as for the enjoyment of nature, and discusses the garden's role in shaping the physical character of the Chinese city from the Song period (960–1279) to the early part of the Qing dynasty.

Contents: (1) The stone record; (2) The designers and builders of gardens; (3) Design concepts and techniques; (4) The Suzhou classical tradition; (5) Gardens of the city dweller; (6) The vernacular garden tradition.

Notes, p.316–23. Bibliography, p.324–25. Index, p.326–31.

J607 Liu, Dun-zhen. Chinese classical gardens of Suzhou. Trans. by Chen Lixian. English text ed. Joseph C. Wang. N.Y., McGraw-Hill, [1993]. iv, 459p. il.

Originally published as: Su-chou ku tien yüan lin. Beijing, Zhongguo jian zhu gong ye chu ban she, 1979. 2d ed. T'aipei, Shang lin chu ban she, min guo, 1985.

"A landmark book that makes accessible to a wider audience examples of gardens that flourished more than one thousand years ago, and explanations of the social and cultural contexts from which they grew."—Review, Design book review, v.31, winter 1994, p.36. A scholarly study of this southern China city's imperial gardens and parks and private gardens. Under the direction of Liu, a team of 14 researchers worked for more than 20 years producing meticulous measured drawings of 15 Suzhou gardens. Part 1 is organized according to design elements, e.g., layout, water, rockeries, buildings, flowers and trees, while part 2 discusses specific examples of classic gardens. All illustrations and plans are together, p.143-459, and comprise a large portion of the book.

J608 Qian, Yun, ed. Classical Chinese gardens. Hong Kong, Joint Publishing Co., [1984]. 240p. il. (part col.), plans.

Trans. of Chung-kuo yuan lin i shu. Hong Kong, Joing Pub. Co., 1982; 2d ed. T'ai-pei, Huang kuan ch'u pan she, 1988.

After introductory essays, this work functions as a guide to 36 Chinese gardens. The entries are grouped by type, e.g., imperial gardens, private gardens, natural scenic parks and temple gardens, and each entry includes photographs, commentary, and often a plan.

J609 Tsu, Frances Ya-sing. Landscape design in Chinese gardens. N.Y., McGraw-Hill, [1988]. xii, 244p. il., map, plans.

Aimed at architects, landscape architects, designers, this book emphasizes design principles through plans, illustrative photos, and diagrams of celebrated gardens. After providing historical background and comparisons of Chinese garden design with European and Japanese, concentrates on design components and on the design process.

Contents: Part one: Introduction: (1) General view; (2) Historical perspective; (3) Comparison of the Chinese and European garden; (4) Comparison of the Chinese and Japanese garden; (5) Classification of Chinese gardens; Part two: Components: (6) Hills and water; (7) Architecture; (8) Plant material; (9) Literature and art; Part three: Design process and essence; (10) Design process; (11) Creating spaciousness in a limited area; (12) Design for dynamic viewing: four seasons and five senses; Epilogue; Appendix 1: Plans of famous gardens; Appendix 2: Chronological table of Chinese Dynasties; Appendix 3: Names of Chinese gardens in English and in Chinese.

Bibliography, p.239. Index, p.241-44.

Japan

J610 Itoh, Teiji. The gardens of Japan. N.Y., Kodansha (Distr. by Harper and Row, [1984]). 228p. il. (part col.), maps.

A handsome presentation with many full-page color photographs of Japanese gardens and text by the architect, Teiji Itoh. Discusses design elements, e.g., stones, water, plants, as well as the various types of gardens, for example, residential, tea, temple. The last chapter is a selection of the author's favorite gardens, each with a photograph, comment and practical information for the visitor.

Bibliography, p.225. Index, p.226-27.

K. Sculpture

Books dealing with the history of sculpture, and essential books on sculptural techniques, are listed and described in this chapter.

GENERAL WORKS

- K1 Avery, Charles. Fingerprints of the artist: European terra-cotta sculpture from the Arthur M. Sackler collections. Washington, D.C., Arthur M. Sackler Foundation; Cambridge, Mass., Fogg Art Museum (Distr. by Harvard University Press, 1981). 298p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, National Gallery of Art (U.S.) (1981), and other locations.

Includes biographical sketches of the artists and a full catalog entry for each work. Many illustrations printed in sepia tones. "A general criticism of the catalogue entries is that the information on provenance is unnecessarily scanty and uneven. . . . A more serious shortcoming is that some entries are a great deal less scholarly than others."—Review, Burlington magazine v.124, Dec. 1982, p. 765.

Contents: The Italian terra-cottas, 15th to 20th century, by Charles Avery; The French terra-cottas, 16th to 20th century, by Alastair Lang; The German, English, Netherlandish and Spanish terra-cottas, 16th to 19th century, by Charles Avery.

Alphabetical list of artists, p.283–84. Bibliography, p.285–89. Index, p.291–97.

- K2 Bassett, Jane, and Fogelman, Peggy. Looking at European sculpture: a guide to technical terms. Los Angeles, J. Paul Getty Museum, 1997. 104p. il. (part col.)

Published in collaboration with the Victoria and Albert Museum (London).

Illustrated alphabetic dictionary of terms related to the production of sculpture. "The purpose of this book is to clarify the meanings and applications of terms related to European sculpture."—Foreword.

Selected bibliography, p.103.

- K3 Bazin, Germain. A concise history of world sculpture. N.Y., Alpine, 1981. 317p. 553 col. il.

Survey for the beginning art student or amateur.

Contents: The origins; (I) Prehistoric art; (II) Development of sculpture in the Near and Middle East; (III) Greek and Roman sculpture; (IV) The twilight of sculpture in the West; (V) Primitive cultures; (VI) The Far East; (VII) The rebirth of sculpture in the West; (VIII) The Renaissance; (IX) Mannerism; (X) Baroque and classical; (XI) The nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

Index, p.313–17.

- K4 Butler, Ruth. Western sculpture: definitions of man. Boston, New York Graphic Society, [1975]. 304p. il. (Repr.: N.Y., Icon, 1979)

A survey of the history of sculpture with emphasis on sociological context.

Contents: (1) The paragone; (2) The Mediterranean world; (3) The Christian west; (4) Renaissance sculpture; (5) The seventeenth and eighteenth centuries; (6) Neoclassicism and the nineteenth century; (7) Twentieth-century sculpture; (8) Epilogue.

Notes, p.283–92. Bibliographical essay, p.293–98. Index, p.299–303.

- K5 Le corps en morceaux. Paris, Réunion des musées nationaux, 1990. 343p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Musée d'Orsay, Paris, and Kunsthalle Schirn, Frankfurt (1990). Essays focus on sculpture of body parts (e.g., torsos, heads, hands) rather than on full figures.

Contents: (1) Ex-voto, par Geneviève Bresc-Bautier; (2) Emblèmes, héraldique, symbolique: le fragment synecdoque, par Geneviève Bresc-Bautier; (3) Reliquaires, par Geneviève Bresc-Bautier; (4) Cires anatomiques, par Hélène Pinet; (5) Modèles d'atelier, par Hélène Pinet; (6) Antiques dérestaurés: les avatars d'un torse d'athlète au musée du Louvre: pugiliste ou discobole?, par Alain Pasquier; (7) Images de ruines, par Hélène Pinet; (8) Temps des prothèses avant l'âge de la restauration, par Geneviève Bresc-Bautier; (9) Michel-Ange, entre fragment et inachevé, par Jean-René Gaborit; (10) Copies d'antiques à la Villa Médicis, par Antoinette Le Normand-Romain; (11) Torse du Belvédère, par Antoinette Le Normand-Romain; (12) Torse de l'Illissos, par Antoinette Le Normand-Romain; (13) Homme qui marche, par Anne Pinget; (14) Homme qui tombe, par Nicole Barbier; (15) Torses féminins: torses sculptées, par Antoinette Le Normand-Romain; Torses photographiés, par Hélène Pinet; (16) Têtes coupées, par Anne Pingéot; (17) Mains: mains sculptées, par Anne Pingéot; Mains photographiées par Hélène Pinet; (18) Epaules, par Anne Pingéot; (19) Jambes et pieds, par Anne Pingéot; (20) Fragments tirés d'un ensemble 1: Rodin, le monument à Victor Hugo, par Anne Pingéot; (21) Reliefs, par Anne Pingéot; (22) Fragments tirés d'un ensemble 2: Bourdelle, le monument aux Morts de Montauban, par Antoinette Le Normand-Romain; (23) Vases où poussent les fragments, par Nicole Barbier; (24) Assemblages de Rodin, par Nicole Barbier; (25) Assembler ou couper?, par Antoinette Le Normand-Romain.

Rodin-fragments: synopsis du film, par Roland Schaer, p.259-63. Biographies des artistes suivies des notices de leurs oeuvres exposées, p.265-317. Bibliographie, p.319-32. Index (artistes, sujets, lieux, prêteurs), p.333-42.

K6 Finn, David. How to look at sculpture. N.Y., Abrams, 1989. 144p. il. (part col.)

Layman's guide to sculpture appreciation.

Contents: A different kind of reality; What makes a sculpture great?; Exquisite details; Naked beauty; The material truth—and beyond; Living with sculpture.

K7 Fusco, Peter. Summary catalogue of European sculpture in the J. Paul Getty Museum. Los Angeles, J. Paul Getty Museum, 1997. 79p. il.

Brief "distillation of the research, insights and informed opinions of numerous people . . . who have spent time at the Museum during the last thirteen years."—Ackn.

Contents: Catalogue of attributed works; Catalogue of un-attributed works.

Subject index, p.77-78.

K8 Haskell, Francis, and Penny, Nicholas. Taste and the antique: the lure of classical sculpture, 1500-1900. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1981. 376p. 180 il.

Extensive historical essay and catalog of 95 key sculptures, mostly Roman copies of late Greek originals, that strongly influenced later Western taste, from the Renaissance on. "Performs a real and very much needed service in identifying, cataloguing and illustrating these forgotten classics of our past. The 95 photographs should be committed to memory along with their various titles, by all students of Western art, and the book should be a work of constant reference for all historians of culture."—Review, Art history 5, no.1, March 1982, p.117.

Contents: (I) "A new Rome"; (II) The public and private collections of Rome; (III) Plaster casts and prints; (IV) Control and codification; (V) Casts and copies in the seventeenth-century courts; (VI) "Tout ce qu'il y a de beau en Italie"; (VII) Erudite interests; (VIII) Florence: the impact of the Tribuna; (IX) Museums in eighteenth-century Rome; (X) The new importance of Naples; (XI) The proliferation of casts and copies; (XII) New fashions in the copying of antiquities; (XIII) Reinterpretations of antiquities; (XIV) The last dispersals; (XV) Epilogue; Catalogue.

Notes to the text, p.125-31. Appendix, p.[342]-[43]. Bibliography, p.344-65. Index, p.366-75.

K9 Hibbard, Howard. Masterpieces of Western sculpture: from medieval to modern. N.Y., Harper and Row, [1977]. 239p. il. (some col.)

Brief history of sculpture with emphasis on masters and large mostly color photos of representative works.

Contents: The middle ages; Renaissance and mannerism; Baroque to romantic; From Rodin to the present.

Notes on the plates, p.209-38. Bibliography, p.239.

K10 Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum. Sculpture in the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum. [By] Cornelius C. Vermeule, III . . . [et al.] Boston, Trustees [of the Museum], 1977. 188p. il.

"While it is not a collection of masterpieces, it does contain important works. . . . There are certain strengths in the collection which would be difficult to find in other American museums."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Classical; (II) Medieval; (III) Renaissance; (IV) Seventeenth to twentieth centuries; (V) Doubtful authenticity.

Bibliography, p.xi-xii. Checklist [of additional objects], p.173-80. List of agents, dealers and former owners, p.181. Index of artist, p.182-83. Index of locations, p.183-85. Index of subjects p.186-88.

K11 Ivory: an international history and illustrated survey. [By] Michael Vickers . . . [et al.] N.Y., Abrams, 1987. 352p. il. (part col.)

Text by 12 British decorative arts specialists.

Contents: The story of ivory; (1) Early civilizations; (2) Rome and the Eastern Empire; (3) Europe; (4) Africa; (5) The Near East, India; (6) The Far East, South-East Asia; (7) North America; (8) Central and South America; (9) Contemporary carvers.

Time chart, p.20. Glossary, p.330-39. Collecting ivory objects, p.340-[41]. Care and repair, p.342-43. Bibliography, p.344-45. Museums, p.346. Index, p.347-51.

K12 Liebieghaus. Nachantike grossplastische Bildwerke. Liebieghaus—Museum alter Plastik, Frankfurt am Main. Melsungen, Gutenberg, 1981-. (4)v. il. (Wissenschaftliche Kataloge)

Scholarly catalog under the general editorial supervision of Herbert Beck. Each vol. contains a concordance of inventory and catalog numbers, a bibliography, and a list of abbreviations.

Contents: (1) Zinke, Detlef. Italien, Frankreich, Spanien, Deutschland, 800-1380; (2) Maek-Gérard, Michael. Italien, Frankreich und Niederlande, 1380-1530/40; (3) Maek-Gérard, Michael. Die deutschsprachigen Länder, ca. 1380-1530/40; (4) Geese, Uwe. Italien, Niederlande, Deutschland, Österreich, Schweiz, Frankreich, 1540/50-1780.

K13 ———. Nachantike kleinplastische Bildwerke. Liebieghaus—Museum alter Plastik, Frankfurt am Main. Melsungen, Gutenberg, 1987-89. 3v. il. (Wissenschaftliche Kataloge)

Scholarly catalog under the general editorial supervision of Herbert Beck. Each vol. contains a concordance of inventory and catalog numbers, a bibliography, and a list of abbreviations.

Contents: (1) Schenkluhn, Wolfgang. Mittelalter, 11. Jahrhundert bis 1530/40 [Maasgebiet, Niederlande, England, Frankreich, Deutschland, Italien]; (2) Götz-Mohr, Brita von. Italien, Frankreich, Niederlande, 1500–1800; (3) Götz-Mohr, Brita von. Die deutschsprachigen Länder, 1500–1800.

K14 Mackay, James A. The dictionary of Western sculptors in bronze. Woodbridge, Suffolk, Antique Collectors' Club, 1977. 414p.

Provides brief biographical entries with birth and death dates when available, along with details of training, major influences, and some indication of the artist's style and thematic tendencies. Covers sculptors active from about the beginning of the 18th century until around 1960.

"The description 'Western' I have interpreted loosely to include sculptors working in Europe and the more Europeanised parts of the world, such as America and Australasia. Oriental sculptors are included in such cases where their training, environment and sculptural styles have been in the western idiom."—Author's pref.

Family trees, p.405–12. Select bibliography, p.413–14.

K15 Middeldorf, Ulrich Alexander. Sculptures from the Samuel H. Kress collection: European schools, XIV–XIX century. London, Phaidon (Distr. by Praeger, 1976). 305p. il.

Comprehensive catalog of the collection.

Bibliographical abbreviations, p.3. Indexes, by Anna Voris, p.[291]–305.

K16 Panofsky, Erwin. Tomb sculpture: four lectures on its changing aspects from ancient Egypt to Bernini. Ed. by H. W. Janson. [Reprint.] Foreword by Martin Warncke. N.Y., Abrams, 1992. 319p. plates.

See GLAH 1:K9 for original annotation.

K17 Penny, Nicholas. Catalogue of European sculpture in the Ashmolean Museum, 1540 to the present day. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1992. 3v. il.

Each vol. is listed separately under its appropriate geographical classification.

"An extremely rich and varied collection of sculpture, much of it discussed in very detailed entries. When seen alongside the most comparable catalogue of sculpture—the admirable multi-volume work by various authors of the Liebieghaus Museum Frankfurt [GLAH 2:K12]—its production over a mere handful of years by a single author is without doubt a very remarkable achievement."—Review, Burlington magazine v.136, Dec. 1994, p.850.

Includes some metalwork, furniture, and objets d'art. In addition to catalog entries, each vol. contains essays, appendices, a concordance, and an index of artists and craftsmen.

Contents: (1) Italian; (2) French and other European sculpture (excluding Italian and British); (3) British.

K18 Pyke, E. J. A biographical dictionary of wax modellers: supplement III. London, Pyke, 1986. xv, 12p. il. [8]p. of plates Comprehensive work on wax modelers.

See GLAH 1:K11 for original annotation. Suppl., London, Pyke, 1981. Suppl. II, London, Pyke, 1983.

K19 Reynal's world history of great sculpture. N.Y., Reynal, in assoc. with Morrow, 1978–79. 6v. il. (part col.)

Each vol. focuses on a region or period. Most were originally published in Italian by Mondadori. Each has 191 pages and contains a bibliography and an index.

Contents: Michalowski, Kazimierz. Great sculpture of ancient Egypt (1978); Devambez, Pierre. Great sculpture of ancient Greece (1978); Gaborit, Jean René. Great Gothic sculpture (1978); Fagiolo dell'Arco, Maurizio. Great Baroque and Rococo sculpture (1978); Bernal, Ignacio. Great sculpture of ancient Mexico (1979); Nagahiro, Toshio; Yum, Eun Hyun; and Kuno, Takeshi. Great sculpture of the Far East (1979).

K20 Rogers, Leonard Robert. Relief sculpture. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1974. 229p. il. (The appreciation of the arts, 8)

A survey of the history and properties of relief sculpture for the student or amateur.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Space 1: between two and three dimensions; (3) Space 2: four approaches to space; (4) Form 1: form, contour, and background; (5) Form 2: varieties of form; (6) Line; (7) Light and form; (8) Some aspects of composition; (9) Coins and medals; (10) Relief decoration; (11) Relief in the twentieth century.

Index, p.227–29.

K21 Sculpture: from antiquity to the present. N.Y., Skira/Rizzoli, 1986–90. (v.1, Köln, Taschen, 1996) 4v. il (part col.) (Repr.: Köln, Taschen, 1996).

Ed.: Georges Duby and Jean-Luc Daval. Trans. of La sculpture: histoire d'un art. Geneva, Skira, 1986–91.

Lavishly illustrated history of western European sculpture. Each vol. contains valuable historical essays by European experts. Individual vols. are not listed separately elsewhere in this chapter.

Contents: (1) Bruneau, Philippe. Sculpture: the great art of antiquity from the eighth century BC to the fifth century AD (1996); (2) Duby, Georges. Sculpture: the great art of the Middle Ages from the fifth to the fifteenth century (1990); (3) Ceysson, Bernard. Sculpture: the great tradition of sculpture from the fifteenth to the eighteenth century (1987); (4) Le Normand-Romain, Antoinette. Sculpture: the adventure of modern sculpture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries (1986).

K22 Suermondt-Ludwig-Museum Aachen. Europäische Bildwerk from Mittelalter zum Barock. [By] Ernst Günther Grimme, with the assist. of Renate Puvogel. Photos by Ann Münchow. Köln, DuMont, 1977. 140p. il. [131] leaves of plates. (Aachener Kunstblätter des Museumsvereins)

Catalog of the collection.

Erklärung von Fachausdrücken, p.138–39. Abgekürzt zitierte Literatur, p.140.

K23 Tardy. Les ivoires: évolution décorative du 1er siècle à nos jours par Tardy avec un abrégé d'iconographie chrétienne, avec le collab. de M. L'Abbé Bidault . . .

[et al.] Paris, Tardy, [1972–1977]. 2v. (Collection Tardy, 126, 137)

See GLAH 1:K12 for earlier ed. Present ed. adds coverage of ancient Greek, Etruscan, Roman, and Egyptian ivories, and ivories carved in the polar regions, and expands treatment of ivory-carving in Africa, Islamic countries, and in south and east Asia.

Contents: (1) Europe et Byzance: sujets religieux; Europe et Byzance: sujets profanes; Les faux gothiques; Abrégé d'iconographie chrétienne; (2) Antiquité; Islam; Inde et Asie du sud-est; Chine; Japon; Afrique noire; Régions polaires.

Ouvrages à consulter, v.1, p.[245]–47. Essai de muséographie pour l'Europe, v.1, p.[248]–53. Liste des ivoiriers connus, v.1, p.[255]–77. Table des illustrations, v.1, p.[279]–84. Table des objets, v.1, p.[285]–86. Sommaire, v.1, p.287.

K24 Tucker, William. The language of sculpture. [London], Thames and Hudson, [1974]. 174p. il. (New aspects of art)

Written from the perspective of a practicing sculptor. Expansion of a series of lectures given at the University of Leeds and subsequently published in Studio international. Treats mostly modern sculpture.

Contents: (1) Rodin; (2) Brancusi: the elements of sculpture; (3) Picasso: cubism and construction; (4) González; (5) The sculpture of Matisse; (6) The object; (7) Brancusi at Tirgu Jiu; (8) Gravity.

Notes on the text, p.160–64. Index, p.171–74.

K25 United States. National Gallery of Art. Sculpture: an illustrated catalogue. Washington, D.C., The Gallery, 1994. 283p. il.

"This is the first summary catalogue dedicated exclusively to sculpture to be published by the National Gallery of Art. . . . In recent years, the sculpture collection has grown markedly in the areas of French and American sculpture, providing a balanced complement to the National Gallery's traditional areas of strength, particularly in works of the Italian Renaissance."—Foreword.

Donors to the sculpture collection, p.14–15. Notes to the reader [including abbreviations], p.16–17. Changes in attribution, titles, and nomenclature, p.239–47. Concordance of old and new accession numbers, p.249–65. Index of titles [including sitters' surnames], p.267–83.

K26 Victoria and Albert Museum, London. European sculpture in the Victoria and Albert Museum. Ed. by Paul Williamson. London, The Museum, 1996. 191p. il. (part col.)

Handbook rather than a full catalog.

"It should be stressed that this is . . . only a very selective sample of the great Collection at South Kensington."—Foreword.

Contents: The formation of the collection; Early Christian to Gothic (c.400–1400); Late Gothic and Renaissance; Mannerism and Baroque; From 1720 to 1920; the Cast Courts.

Bibliography, p.186–88. Index, p.189–91.

K27 Wittkower, Rudolf. Sculpture: processes and principles. London, Lane, 1977. 288p. il.

General history of sculpture based on lectures for undergraduates and the general public at the University of Cambridge. Emphasis on the masters and their techniques.

Contents: (1) Antiquity; (2) The middle ages: theoretical foundation; Chartres west; (3) The middle ages: Chartres, Rheims, Bamberg, Orvieto; (4) The Renaissance: Alberti, Gauricus, Leonardo; (5) Michelangelo; (6) Michelangelo, Cellini, Vasari; (7) Giovanni Bologna, Cellini; (8) Bernini; (9) Bernini, Bouchardon, Pigalle; (10) Falconet, Winckelmann, Canova, Schadow; (11) The nineteenth century: Rodin, Hildebrand; (12) The twentieth century.

Bibliography, p.[277]–80. Index, p.[285]–88.

TECHNIQUES

K28 Andrews, Oliver. Living materials: a sculptor's handbook. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1983. 348p. il.

"This manual . . . draws on many household methods of doing things, especially when they have proved to be most widely used and efficient."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) Living materials, living forms; (2) Clay; (3) Plaster building; (4) Mold-making and cold-casting; (5) Cement and concrete; (6) Stone carving; (7) Wood; (8) Plastics; (9) Metals; (10) Metal forming; (11) Welding; (12) Bronze casting by the lost-wax method; (13) Sand casting and shell casting; (14) New forms; (15) Planning a studio.

Index, p.[343]–[49].

K29 Baudry, Marie Thérèse. La sculpture: méthode et vocabulaire. Avec la collab. de Dominique Bozo. Sous le contrôle scientifique de André Chastel, Jacques Thirion. Paris, Imprimerie nationale, 1978. 765p. il. (part col.) (Principes d'analyse scientifique) (Inventaire général des monuments et des richesses artistiques de la France)

Encyclopedic treatment of matters pertaining to sculpture. The first part contains descriptive essays related to how sculpture is created. The second part contains alphabetically arranged descriptive definitions related to specific techniques. The third section contains a bibliographic index and provides full bibliographic citations for works consulted and presents to the user a single alphabetic list of terms found in the "Vocabulaire" along with a list of synonyms, variants and terms no longer in use and refers to the equivalent form in the volume.

Contents: Première partie—Méthode: (I) Les auteurs, les gens de métier, les stades de la création; (II) Le modelage; (III) Le moulage; (IV) La technique de la taille; (V) La technique de la fonte et les autres techniques de mise en forme des métaux; (VI) Les techniques annexes, les traitements de surface, les teintures, les applications et les incrustations; (VII) Composition et traitement des formes. Deuxième partie—Vocabulaire: (I) Vocabulaire général; (II) Les auteurs, les gens de métier, et les stades de la création; (III) La technique du modelage; (IV) La technique du moulage; (V) Les outils et les matériaux du modelage et du moulage; (VI) La technique de la taille; (VII) Outils de la taille, matériaux, défauts et altérations spécifiques; (VIII) La technique de la fonte et les autres techniques de mise en forme des métaux; (IX) Outils de la fonte et du travail des métaux et des alliages. Matériaux, défauts et altérations spécifiques; (X) Outils usant les matériaux durs, polissage et abrasifs; (XI) Les revêtements. Les applications et les incrustations; (XII) Altérations de la forme des oeuvres et restaurations; (XIII) La composition. Troisième partie—Bibliographie table alphabétique.

Bibliographie, p.[707]–32. Table alphabétique des termes définis dans le vocabulaire, p.[735]–57.

K30 Clarke, Geoffrey, and Cornock, Stroud. A sculptor's manual. Rev. [corrected] ed. N.Y., Reinhold, 1970. 158p. il.

See GLAH 1:K13 for 1968 ed.

K31 Colinart, Sylvie; Drilhon, France; and Scherf, Guilhem. Sculptures en cire de l'ancienne Egypte à l'art abstrait. Paris, Éd. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1987. 465p. il. (Notes et documents des Musées de France, 18)

A comprehensive history of wax sculpture and review of techniques involved in its creation.

Contents: (I) Usage de la cire en sculpture, par Jean-René Gaborit; (II) Céoplastie médicale: art méconnu, par Nicolas Sainte Fare Garnot; (III) Étude scientifique des oeuvres, par France Drilhon et Sylvie Colinart; (IV) Matériaux constitutifs, par Sylvie Colinart; (V) Technologie et mise en forme, par France Drilhon and Anne Tassery-Lahmi; (VI) Conservation et restauration, par Didier Besnainou; (VII) Étude historique et technique des oeuvres; (VIII) Recensement des oeuvres conservées dans les collections nationales, par Guilhem Scherf et Marie Jeune avec la collab. de Christine Jausserand-Woringer.

Bibliographie, p.[441]–43. Glossaire, p.[445]–47. Index, p.[449]–58. Liste des oeuvres du chapitre VII suivant l'ordre du catalogue, p.[459]–61.

K32 Cutler, Anthony. The craft of ivory: sources, techniques, and uses in the Mediterranean World, A.D. 200–1400. Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks, 1985. 58p. il.

A companion to Kurt Weitzmann's Catalogue of the Byzantine and early medieval antiquities in the Dumbarton Oaks collection, v.3, Ivories and steatites (Washington, D.C., Dumbarton Oaks, 1973).

Contents: (1) The nature of ivory; (2) The sources and availability of ivory; (3) Cutting and carving techniques; (4) The uses and image of ivory.

Bibliographical citations, p.55–56. List of abbreviated titles, p.56–58.

K33 Jackson, Harry. Lost wax bronze casting: a photographic essay on this antique and venerable art. [Reprint.] Foreword by John Walker. [Historical research by Richard Fremantle]. N.Y., Prentice Hall, 1986. 127p. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:K14 for original ed. Reprint of the 1972 ed., Flagstaff, Ariz., Northland.

K34 Lindquist, Mark. Sculpting wood: contemporary tools and techniques. Photography by Bill Byers. Worcester, Mass., Davis, 1986. 292p. il. (part col.)

"The book is for all students of woodworking and wood sculpture, whether they come from a technical or artistic background."—Introd.

Contents: (I) Wood for the sculpture; (1) Structure of wood; (2) Commercial harvesting of lumber; (3) Drying wood; (4) The forest—a source of material; (II) Basic tools and techniques; (5) The shop—basic power tools; (6) Preparing stock for use; (7) Beginning sculpture—learning to carve; (8) Using the band saw to create sculpture; (9) Finishing; (III) Harvesting and sculpting wood with the chain saw; (10) The chain saw; (11) Harvesting wood with the chain saw; (12) Chain saw carved vessels; (IV) Woodturning; (13) Woodturning tools; (14) Lathe safety and basic woodturning; (15) The development of the work; (16) Turning spalted wood; (17) Turning burls; (18) Turning vases.

Index, p.290–92.

K35 Marbres helléniques: de la carrière au chef d'oeuvre. [By] Doris Vanhove. Bruxelles, Crédit Communal, 1987. 191p. il. (part col.) maps

Catalog of the exhibition, Brussels (1987) organized by the Crédit Communal in collaboration with the Séminaire d'Archéologie grecque de l'Université de l'Etat à Gand. Discusses the origin, quarrying, and transportation of marble along with sculpture techniques.

Contents: Le marbre: la beauté née de la boue, par Paul De Paepe; Les carrières de marbre dans l'antiquité: techniques et organisation, par Tony Kozelj; Transport de pierres en Grèce ancienne: de la carrière au chantier, par Georges Raepsaet; Quelques considérations sur la genèse et l'évolution du temple grec, par Herman Mussche; Le temple de Poséidon au cap Sounion: évocation d'un chantier antique, par Doris Vanhove; La construction d'un temple grec: aspects administratifs, économiques, sociaux, par Herman Van Looy; Les techniques de la sculpture grecque sur marbre, par Olga Palagia; Empreintes d'une pierre, par Luc Moens; Catalogue.

Petit lexique des termes techniques, p.188.

K36 Mills, John W. Encyclopedia of sculpture techniques. N.Y., Watson Gupill, 1990. 239p. il.

Alphabetical arrangement of articles on the methods and materials of sculpture. "This book is intended to help guide the novice sculptor towards a thorough knowledge of the practical aspects of his art."—Introd.

Bibliography, p.239.

K37 ———. The technique of casting for sculpture. [Rev. ed.] London, Batsford, 1990. 175p. il.

See GLAH 1:K15 for 1st ed. Expanded text.

Glossary, p.163–66. Suppliers, p.167–68. Index, p.171–75.

K38 Padovano, Anthony. The process of sculpture. Garden City, Doubleday, 1981. 331p. il.

A review of traditional and contemporary methods of sculpture.

Contents: (1) Clay sculpturing; (2) Wood carving and construction; (3) Stone carving; (4) Metal working; (5) Bronze casting; (6) Plastics.

Bibliography on plastics, sculpture and mold making, p.309–11. Books for further reading, p.[312]. Suppliers, p.[314]–18. Index, p.[323]–31.

K39 Penny, Nicholas. The materials of sculpture. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1993. 318p. il.

A materials-based examination of sculpture from many periods and places.

Contents: (1) The hardest stones; (2) Granite and porphyry; (3) White marbles and alabasters: part 1; (4) White marbles and alabasters: part 2; (5) The versatility of marble; (6) The traces of the tool; (7) Coloured marbles; (8) Schist, sandstone and limestone; (9) The structure and decoration of larger wooden sculpture; (10) Varieties of smaller wooden sculpture; (11) Ivory and horn; (12) Stamped and moulded clay; (13) Stucco and gesso; (14) Modelled clay; (15) Modelled wax; (16) Bronze and other copper alloys: part 1; (17) Bronze and other copper alloys: part 2; (18) Embossed and chased metal.

Notes, p.271–93; Glossary and indexes of materials, tools and techniques, p.294–313. Index of people and places, p.314–17.

K40 Rich, Jack C. The materials and methods of sculpture. [Reprint.] N.Y., Dover, 1988. 416p. il.
See GLAH 1:K16 for original annotation.

K41 ——— Sculpture in wood. [Reprint.] N.Y., Dover, 1992. 155p. il.
See GLAH 1:K17 for original annotation.

K42 Rockwell, Peter. The art of stoneworking: a reference guide. Cambridge, Mass., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1993. 319p. il.

"My purpose was to help the reader to see a finished work in stone . . . as the product of a sequence of actions and tools: to look backward from the final product rather than forward from the raw materials."—Introd.

Line drawings throughout the text present vivid examples of how stone is quarried, moved to a site, lifted into place, and cut for architectural or sculptural purposes.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Principles of stoneworking; (3) Stone; (4) Tools; (5) Tool drawings; (6) Methods; (7) Architectural process; (8) Sculptural process; (9) Design and process; (10) The project; (11) Quarrying; (12) Moving, transport and lifting; (13) Workshop organization; (14) Carving without quarrying and the reuse of stone; (15) The history of stoneworking technology; (16) Documentation I; (17) Documentation II; (18) Documentation of major monuments; (19) Computer documentation.

Photographs, p.254–91. Tables, p.292–98. References, p.299–308. Index, p.309–19.

K43 Schodek, Daniel L. Structure in sculpture. Cambridge, Mass., MIT Pr., 1993. 312p. il.

"This book deals with sculpture as a material construct. Drawing on straightforward physical principles of how sculptures stand and how material characteristics affect their shaping, the book illuminates the way principles are reflected in specific works."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The role of structure in sculpture: an overview; (2) Basic principles of balance and structural stability; (3) Shapes and elements; (4) Special structures; (5) Materials; (6) Observations; Appendix 1: Case study of Echo of the waves; Appendix 2: Additional notes on loading conditions; Appendix 3: Additional notes on designing structural elements in bending; Appendix 4: Advanced methods of structural analysis.

Index, p.[311]–12.

K44 Uhmman, Arnulf von. Bildhauer Technik des Spätmittelalters und der Frührenaissance. Darmstadt, Wissenschaftliche Buchgesellschaft, 1984. 154p. 52 plates.

Critical examination of late medieval and early renaissance sculpture techniques. Points out discrepancies between principles of theoretical treatises and empirically observed practice.

Abkürzungen und Literaturverzeichnis, p.143–54.

HISTORIES AND HANDBOOKS

Ancient

Egypt and Western Asia

K45 British Museum. Department of Western Asiatic Antiquities. Assyrian palace reliefs and their influence on the sculptures of Babylonia and Persia [Reprint with rev.] Text [by] Richard David Barnett. Photography by Werner Forman. [London], Trustees of the Museum, [1976]. 45p. [xx] plates, plan, maps.

See GLAH 1:K19 for original annotation. Shortened version, Assyrian palace reliefs in the British Museum, [London], British Museum, 1970; repr. with rev., 1976.

A description, with illustrations, of the important collection of Assyrian reliefs in the British Museum.

Notes, p.37–39. List of Assyrian kings whose sculptures appear in the Assyrian galleries, p.[40]. Short list of Assyrian sculptures in the Assyrian galleries, p.41–45.

K46 Getz-Preziosi, Pat. Sculptors of the Cyclades: individual and tradition in the third millennium B.C. Ann Arbor, Univ. of Michigan Pr., 1987. 254p. il. (part col.)

An investigation into the history and aesthetics of Cycladic sculpture that "aims at a much wider readership than the purely academic."—Review, Journal of hellenic studies v.109, 1989, p.258–9.

Contents: (1) The marble isles: an introduction to the early bronze age Cyclades; (2) The sculptural tradition; (3) Isolating the individual hand; (4) Three archaic sculptors; (5) Eight Classical sculptors; (6) Five late Classical sculptors; (7) Ending on a geographical note.

Abbreviations, p.143–44. Notes, p.145–51. Appendix 1: Checklists of figures attributed to sixteen sculptors, p.155–64. Appendix 2: Size range of works attributed to sixteen sculptors, p.165–[66]. Bibliography, p.167–71. Index, p.173–75. Plates, p.[179–244]. Notes on the plates, p.245–52.

K47 J. Paul Getty Museum. Metalwork from the Hellenized East: catalogue of the collections. [By] Michael Pfrommer. Malibu, The Museum, 1993. 244p. il. (part col.)

Records four separate collections, or "treasures," of mostly gold and silver vessels, jewelry, and horse trappings whose origins, though undocumented, are convincingly traced, via stylistic and iconographic analysis, to civilizations of the 2d- and 1st-century, B.C. Near East, whose decorative arts often displayed Hellenized tendencies.

"Since the material of all these treasures does not stem from regular excavations, our options in reaching final conclusions concerning the provenance and chronology are limited."—p.2.

Abbreviations, p.xi–xii. Profiles [of vessels], p.223–33. Index, p.235–43. Chart of flower types, p.244.

K48 James, T. G. H., and Davies, W. V. Egyptian sculpture. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Pr., 1983. 72p. il. (part col.)

Provides both an introduction to the genre and a guide to the British Museum collection. Introductory chapters trace the history of the collection and the basic qualities peculiar to Egyptian sculpture. Remaining chapters describe the contents of the museum's various galleries.

Bibliography, p.69. Index to the collection numbers of the objects mentioned in the guide, p.70. Dynasties of Egypt with selected kings, p.71. Index, p.72.

K49 Matthiae, Paolo. L'arte degli Assiri: cultura e forma del rilievo storico. Roma, Laterza, 1996. 255p. plates. (Storia e società)

Discusses relief sculpture as a narrative element in the history of Assyria. Some sites reconstructed based on evidence of fragments. Major themes related to the Assyrian pantheon, battles, and hunting expeditions fully discussed and related to the period during which reliefs were sculpted.

Contents: (I) Progetto, composizione e significato dei cicli narrativi nei palazzi di Kalkhu, di Dur Sharrukin e di Ninive; (II) Realtà storica e livelli di lettura nei rilievi narrativi di Assurnasirpal II a Kalkhu; (III) Valore e gusto dell'arte di Assurnasirpal II nel Palazzo Nord-Ovest di Kalkhu; (IV) I rilievi del Palazzo Centrale di Kalkhu e le sperimentazioni spaziali di Tiglatpileser III; (V) Il classicismo sargonico di Dur Sharrukin tra tradizione arcaica e gusto innovativo; (VI) Programma figurativo e circolazione interna nel palazzo di Sargon II a Dur Sharrukin; (VII) Lo spazio architettonico e la rappresentazione dello spazio naturale da Sargon II a Sennacherib; (VIII) Spazio scenografico e miniaturismo plastico nella rivoluzione artistica di Sennacherib; (IX) L'arte di Assurbanipal a Ninive: recupero e superamento del codice tradizionale; (X) I rilievi venatori di Assurbanipal e il trionfo dello spazio astratto.

Bibliografia, p.[213]–32. Fonti delle illustrazioni e ringraziamenti, p.[233]–36. Indice dei nomi di persona di divinità e di popoli, p.[237]–38. Indice dei nomi di città, di stati, di templi, di regioni, di monti e di fiumi, p.[239]–44.

K50 Ortiz, George. In pursuit of the absolute art of the ancient world: the George Ortiz collection. Foreword by John Boardman. Berne, Benteli-Werd, 1996. 1v. (unpaged), col. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, State Hermitage Museum, St. Petersburg (1993), and other locations. Treats "ancient Greece, but . . . range[s] from prehistoric Mesopotamia, through the arts of the eastern steppes, to more recent works from Africa and Polynesia that are today classified as ethnographic."—Foreword.

Contents: Near East (Sumer, Bactria, Babylon, Elam, Khurvin, Levant, Ancient Anatolia); Egypt; Greek world (Neolithic, Cycladic, Minoan, Mycenaean, Cypriot); European bronze age, Greek World (Geometric, Geometric-Archaic, Archaic, Classical, Hellenistic, Gandhara); Sardinian; Etruscan; Iberian; Achaemenid; China; Eurasian Art ("Animal style"); Roman; Sassanian; Byzantine; Africa; America; Pacific (Polynesia, Micronesia).

Exhibitions archaeology. Exhibitions ethnography. Glossary archaeology. Glossary ethnography [unpaginated].

K51 Page, Anthea. Egyptian sculpture: archaic to Saite from the Petrie collection. With an introd. and trans. by Professor H. S. Smith. Warminster, Eng., Aris and Philips, [1976]. 124p. il.

Scholarly catalog of part of the Petrie Museum of Egyptian Antiquities at University College, London. The core of the collection was gathered by Sir W. M. Flinders Petrie in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. "The catalogue presents the statuary of stone and of wood representing human beings of the Dynastic period of Egypt's history."—Pref.

Objects published in previous catalogs of the collection are omitted.

Index of numbers [i.e., concordance], p.123. Index of names, p.124.

K52 Russmann, Edna R. Egyptian sculpture: Cairo and Luxor. Photographs by David Finn. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1989. 230p. col. il., maps.

"The text is not intended as an art history, or even a systematic analysis of Egyptian sculpture. It is a celebration of certain specific statues, and I have tried to describe what I find most attractive or intriguing in each."—Author's pref.

Contents: (1) The art of Egyptian sculpture; (2) The first great period; (3) The classic period; (4) Creation of an empire; (5) Revolution and aftermath; (6) Egypt the ancestor.

Bibliography, p.222–26. Index, p.227–30.

K53 Seidel, Matthias. Die königlichen Statuengruppen. Hildesheim, Gerstenberg, 1996–. (1)v. il. plates. (Hildesheimer ägyptologische Beiträge, 42)

A systematic study of royal statue groups, not statues of individuals.

Contents: (1) Die Denkmäler vom alten Reich bis zum Ende der 18. Dynastie.

- K54 Spanel, Donald. Through ancient eyes: Egyptian portraiture. Birmingham, Birmingham Museum of Art, 1988. 159 p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Birmingham Museum of Art (1988). Thorough discussion of the nature of Egyptian portrait sculpture.

The kings of Egypt, p.135–39. Abbreviations, p.141–51. Select bibliography, p.153–56. Concordance, p.157–59.

- K55 Spycket, Agnes. La statuaire du Proche-Orient ancien. Leiden, Brill, 1981. 474p. plates, map. (Handbuch der Orientalistik. Siebente Abteilung, Kunst und Archäologie; 1. Bd., Der alte Vorderorient, 2. Abschnitt, Die Denkmäler, B. Vorderasien, Lfg. 2)

A comprehensive history of sculpture in the ancient Near East from its beginnings to the 6th century B.C.

Contents: (I) Des origines à l'apparition de l'écriture (ca. 8000–3200 av. J.-C.); (II) La période protohistorique (Fin Uruk-Jemdet Nasr: 3200–2900 env. av. J.-C.); (III) L'époque dynastique archaïque ou présargonique (2900–2350 env. av. J.-C.); (IV) La dynastie d'Akkad ou d'Agadé (2335–2150 av. J.-C.); (V) La fin du III<sup>e</sup> millénaire (2150–2000 av. J.-C.); (VI) Les premiers siècles du II<sup>e</sup> millénaire (2000–1600 av. J.-C.); (VII) La seconde partie du II<sup>e</sup> millénaire (1600–1000 av. J.-C.); (VIII) Le I<sup>er</sup> millénaire jusqu'à la conquête du Proche-Orient par Alexandre le Grand (1000–333 av. J.-C.).

Bibliographie, p.[441]–49. Index, p.[450]–63. Index des statues par collections et par chapitres, p.[464]–74.

Classical World

General Works

- K56 Ancient art from the V. G. Simkhovitch collection. Ed. by Wolf Rudolf and Adriana Calinescu. Bloomington, Indiana Univ. Art Museum, 1988. 198p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Indiana University Art Museum (1987). V. G. Simkhovitch, a scholar and teacher at Columbia University 1904–1944, was an avid collector who donated his treasures to Indiana University in 1963.

Contents: Stone sculpture [Cypriote, Greek, Roman]; Bronze and silver sculpture and metalwork [Greek, Etruscan and Italic, Roman, vessels]; Pottery; Terracotta; Varia, including non-classical.

Glossary, p.191–93. References cited in abbreviated form, p.194–97. Index of collections, p.198.

- K57 Antike Plastik. Hrsg. im Auftrage des Deutschen Archäologischen Institutes von Walter-Herwig Schuchhardt. Berlin, Mann, 1962–. (21) Lfg. mounted il. plates, maps

See GLAH 1:K25 for previous installments. Lfg. XII–XX ed. by Felix Eckstein. Beginning Lfg. XXI ed. by Adolf Heinrich Borbein.

- K58 Bartman, Elizabeth. Ancient sculptural copies in miniature. Leiden, Brill, 1992. 222p. il. plates. (Columbia studies in the classical tradition, 19)

Expansion of the author's dissertation.

"There can be no doubt that the author has produced a useful synthesis which displays considerable insight and sensitivity within a notoriously difficult area of scholarship."—Review, Burlington magazine v.135, Dec. 1993, p.830.

Contents: Part I: The miniature copy in context: (I) Definitions; (II) Statuary types and materials; (III) History and function. Part II: Case studies: (IV) Formal principles and techniques: the Resting Satyr; (V) Modern prejudices against the miniature: the Lateran Poseidon; (VI) The conceit of the small: the Herakles Epitrapezios. Appendices: (1) Herakles Epitrapezios and the Phoenicians; (2a) Comparative measurements of the large-scale replicas of the Resting Satyr; (2b) Comparative measurements of the large-scale heads of the Resting Satyr; (3) Comparative measurements of the small-scale replicas of the Resting Satyr; (4) Comparative measurements of replicas of the Lateran Poseidon; (5) Comparative measurements of replicas of the Herakles Epitrapezios.

Selected bibliography, p.[198]–203. Index of ancient passages cited, p.[209]. Museum index, p.[210]–17. Subject index, p.[218]–22.

- K59 Bieber, Margarete. Ancient copies: contributions to the history of Greek and Roman art. N.Y., New York Univ. Pr., 1977. 302p. plates

Study of a large number of Greek and Roman statues in which the form of dress and the manner of draping costumes determines the sculpture to be authentic or a copy. Some chapters previously published in Proceedings of the American Philosophical Society (1959, 1962).

Contents: (1) Problems and research on copies (1889–1970); (2) The author's approach to the problem; (3) The importance of clothing in judging Roman copies; (4) Original and copy; (5) Addition of clothing and attributes; (6) Different reasons for denuding in Greek and Roman art; (7) Artemis and the Lares; (8) The fusing of parts of the same or of different dresses; (9) The shoulder-back mantle; (10) The right and wrong ways of draping the himation; (11) Roman men in Greek himation (Romani Palliati) and their female counterparts; (12) The copies of the Herculaneum women; (13) Portraits of Roman ladies as priestesses of Ceres and of empresses as Augustae or Divae; (14) Typical mistakes and mannerisms found on Roman copies; (15) An outline of the history of copying; (16) Late antique and early Christian copies.

List of abbreviations, xiii–xx. Bibliography, p.275–82. Museums and sites, p.283–95. Index, p.297–302.

- K60 Bildkatalog der Skulpturen des Vatikanischen Museums. Berlin, de Gruyter, 1995–. (2)v. chiefly il. Primarily a photographic record supplementing Walther Amelung's Die Skulpturen des Vanticanischen Museums. Berlin, Reimer, 1903–56. 4v.

Contents: (1) Museo Chiaramonti, von B. Andreae . . . [et al.] (3v.; 1995); (2) Museo Pio Clementino: cortile ottagonale, von B. Andreae . . . [et al.] (1998).

- K61 Boston. Museum of Fine Arts. Sculpture in stone: the Greek, Roman and Etruscan collections of the Mu- seum of Fine Arts, Boston. [By] Mary B. Comstock and Cornelius C. Vermeule. Boston, Museum of Fine Arts, 1976. 296p. il.

"The purpose of this volume is to create a useful working reference, not a vast compendium of miscellaneous information."—Introd.

Contents: Cycladic; Archaic; Fifth century; Fourth century; Hellenistic; Greek portraits; Graeco-Roman, round; Graeco-Roman, relief; Roman portraits; Etruscan; Palmyrene; Cypriote; Post-Classical.

Bibliography, xvii–xx. Short title index; xxi–xxviii. Exhibition catalogues, xxix. Abbreviations, xxxi. Addenda to references accompanying the catalog entries, p.289. Index, p.291–94. Concordance, p.295–6.

- K62 ———. Sculpture in stone and bronze: additions to the collections of Greek, Etruscan, and Roman art, 1971–1988, in the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. Catalog [by] Cornelius C. Vermeule III. Bibliography [by] Mary B. Comstock. With contrib. by Ariel Herrmann . . . [et al.] Boston, The Museum, 1988. 132p. il.

Annotated catalog of the museum's acquisitions, 1971–88.

Contents: Sculpture in stone; Sculpture in bronze.

Short titles and abbreviations, p.10–17. Concordance, p.101. Index, p.103–05. Bibliography, p.106–28. Concordance for sculpture in stone, p.129–30. Concordance for Greek, Etruscan and Roman bronzes, p.131–32.

- K63 La Collezione Boncompagni Ludovisi: Algardi, Bernini e la fortuna dell'antico. A cura di Antonio Giuliano. Venezia, Marsilio, [1992]. 256p. il. (part col.) Catalog of the exhibition, Fondazione Memmo, Palazzo Ruspoli, Rome (1992). Discusses a collection of marble sculpture and its influence on later sculptors.

Contents: La Villa Ludovisi e la collezione di sculture, di Adele Anna Amadio; La fortuna dei marmi Ludovisi nel cinquecento e seicento, di Giulia Fusconi; La fortuna dei marmi Ludovisi nel settecento e ottocento, di Lucia Pirzio, Biroli Stefanelli; Catalogo delle opere; Apparati: Il mito della classicità e il restauro della scultura antiche nel XVII secolo a Roma, di Italo Faldi; Note sul restauro del marmi Ludovisi, di Maria Rita Sanzi Di Mino.

Appendix: Le "Osservazioni della scultura antica" di Orfeo Boselli, a cura di Adele Anna Amadio, p.235–42. Bibliografia, p.243–56.

- K64 Glyptothek München. Katalog der Skulpturen. Hrsg. von Klaus Vierneisel. München, Beck, 1979–. (3)v. il.

Detailed catalog of a major collection of classical sculpture. Vols. published out of numerical sequence. Extensive annotations include detailed basic facts, list of possible replicas, dating, possible attributions, and bibliography.

Contents: (II) Klassische Skulpturen des 5. und 4. Jahrhunderts v. Chr., bearb. von Barbara Vierneisel-Schlörb; (III) Klassische Grabdenkmäler und Votivreliefs, bearb. von Barbara Vierneisel-Schlörb; (VI) Römische Idealplastik, bearb. von Michaela Fuchs. Projected volumes: (I) Archaische Skulpturen; (IV) Hellenistische Skulpturen; (V) Römische Portraits; (VII) Römische Reliefwerke; (VIII) Römische dekorative Marmorwerke.

Each vol. contains indices, bibliography and a concordance relating the new catalog numbers to the Furtwängler catalog of 1910.

- K65 The Gods delight: the human figure in classical bronze. Organized by Arielle P. Kozloff and David Gordon Mitten. Sections by Suzannah Fabing . . . [et al.] Cleveland, Cleveland Museum of Art, 1988. 373p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Cleveland Museum of Art (1988), and other locations. Lengthy annotations and notes related to condition, exhibition record, and publication citations accompany multiple views of each object.

Contents: Note on patina and surface decoration, by David Gordon Mitten; Greek bronzes, by Marion True; Etruscan bronzes, by Suzannah Fabing; Roman bronzes, by John J. Herrmann, Jr.

Abbreviated citations and bibliography, p.366–69. Glossary, p.370–73.

- K66 Hanfmann, George M. A., and Ramage, Nancy H. Sculpture from Sardis: the finds through 1975. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Pr., 1978. 322p. il. (Archaeological exploration of Sardis. Report, 2)

Description of a site in Turkey and catalog of the sculpture found there. Originally discovered in 1853, it contained important Lydian, Persian, Hellenistic, Roman, and Early Byzantine era architectural and free-standing sculpture.

Contents: (I) Scope of the work and character of the material; The sculpture of the prehistoric Lydian, and Persian periods; (II) An overview and appraisal; (III) Literary, epigraphic, and archaeological evidence; (IV) Catalogue; The sculpture of the Hellenistic, Roman, and early Byzantine periods; (V) Literary, epigraphic and archaeological evidence; (VI) Catalogue; Supplementary evidence for sculpture from Sardis; (VII) Sculpture from Sardis in European, Turkish, and American collections; (VIII) Sculpture from other sites in Lydia; (IX) Inscriptions of lost statues.

Appendix: The city goddess of Sardis on the base from Puteoli, p.[180]–81. Concordance of finds, p.[185]–88. Concordance of entry and text-page numbers, p.[189]–92. General index, p.[193]–203. Index of inscriptions, p.203.

- K67 Harvard University. Art Museums. Stone sculptures: the Greek, Roman and Etruscan collections of the Harvard University Art Museums. [By] Cornelius C. Vermeule and Amy Brauer. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Art Museums, 1990. 184p. il.

Detailed annotations and photographs of a collection of sculpture from the Classical world.

Contents: History of the collections; Note to the catalogue; Prehistoric and Archaic; Greek fifth and fourth centuries: originals and copies; Hellenistic: originals and copies; Roman Imperial: statuary and reliefs; Etruscan and Roman sarcophagi and urns; Roman portraits: republic to late antique; Roman-Egyptian and Syrian (Palmyrene) sepulchral reliefs; Post-Classical.

Bibliography, p.171–83. Concordance of acquisition numbers, p.184.

- K68 Jenkins, Ian. Archaeologists and aesthetes in the Sculpture Galleries of the British Museum, 1800–1939. London, Trustees of the British Museum, 1992. 264p. il. (part col.) plans.

"Comprehensive account of the development of the sculpture collections of the British Museum. This book is a fine combination of first-rate scholarship and an engaging style."—Review, American journal of archaeology v.100, July 1996, p.633–34.

Contents: Part I: (1) "The triumph of excellence"; (2) The museum as a drawing school; (3) Light, colour and dirt; (4) The chain of art. Part II: (5) Arcadia in Bloomsbury: the Elgin and Phigaleian marbles; (6) The Townley gallery: Greece and Rome; (7) Lycian tombs and Assyrian palaces; (8) Charles Newton and the sculptures from Asia Minor. Part III: (9) The contest for Attica; (10) The chain is broken.

Notes, p.231–51. Chronology of principal events, p.252–53. Bibliography, p.254–60. Index, p.261–64.

- K69 Mattusch, Carol C. Classical bronzes: the art and craft of Greek and Roman statuary. Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1996. 241p. il.

Focuses on medium and technology, rather than style and iconography.

"A careful, erudite, richly informative treatment of Greek and Roman bronzes that forces a reevaluation of the very nature of the genre."—Review, American journal of archaeology v.101, July 1997, p.587–91.

Contents: (1) Art, market, and product; (2) Repeated images; (3) Portraits; (4) Bronzes of uncertain date; (5) A Greek bronze original?; (6) Torsos; (7) Tools of the trade.

Abbreviations, xv–xvii. Index, p.233–41.

- K70 ———. The fire of Hephaistos: large classical bronzes from North American collections. With contrib. by Beryl Barr-Sharrar . . . [et al.] Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Art Museums, 1996. 359p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Harvard University Art Museums (1996), and other locations.

"The detailed technical analysis of each piece represents a significant contribution to the study of ancient sculptural production and provides important and interesting insights into how the casting process might influence and affect the style and appearance of ancient bronzes."—Review, American journal of archaeology v.101, Oct. 1997, p.806–07.

Contents: The preferred medium: the many lives of classical bronzes, by Carol C. Mattusch; Color plates; Understanding, restoring, and conserving ancient bronzes with the aid of science, by Arthur Beale; The sculptor and the poet in classical art, by A. E. Raubitschek; Alexander the Great as patron of the arts, by Blanche R. Brown; The private use of small bronze sculpture, by Beryl Barr-Sharrar; Roman bronze statuary—beyond technology, by Brunilde Sismondo Ridgway; Honors to Romans: bronze portraits, by Andrew Oliver. Catalogue: (I) Introduction: Hephaistos: god of fire and of metals; (II) From the parts to the whole; (III) Forever young; (IV) Goddess or portrait of a woman?; (V) Men we think we ought to know.

General and bibliographic abbreviations, p.44–50. Technical abbreviations, p.179. General index, p.352–59.

- K71 Paris. Musée National du Louvre. Département des antiquités orientales. Catalogue des antiquités de Chypre: sculptures. [By] Antoine Hermay. Avant-propos, Annie Caubet. Préf. Olivier Masson. Paris, Réunion des musées nationaux, 1989. 496p. il. (part col.) map.

Inventory-catalog of the collection. Includes a brief summary of the Vogüé, Waddington, Duthoit expedition to Cyprus in 1862, the Duthoit expedition of 1865, and subsequent expeditions and acquisitions.

Appendix: Sculptures "chyprio-ioniennes," p.481–84. Références bibliographiques, p.485–87. Concordance des numéros d'inventaire avec ceux du catalogue, p.488–90. Concordance des numéros Vogüé avec les numéros d'inventaire, p.491. Provenance des objets, p.492–93. Liste des donateurs, p.494.

- K72 Princeton University. Art Museum. Greek sculpture in the Art Museum, Princeton University: Greek originals, Roman copies and variants. [Ed.] by Brunilde S. Ridgway . . . [et al.] Princeton, N.J., The Museum, 1994. 131p. il. (part col.)

Annotated catalog of the collection with a note on its history.

Abbreviations, p.8. Index, p.127–30. Concordance, p.131.

- K73 Ridgway, Brunilde Sismondo. Roman copies of Greek sculpture: the problem of the originals. Ann Arbor, Univ. of Michigan Pr., 1984. 111p. plates. (Thomas Spencer Jerome Lectures, 15th Ser.)

Questions the traditional view that Roman sculptors occupied themselves exclusively with the mechanical copying of Greek originals.

"The Jerome Lectures gave me the opportunity to try to reverse the familiar process: instead of looking at the Roman copies to reconstruct the Greek prototype behind them, why not attempt to locate the originals themselves, to determine their accessibility for copying?"—Introd.

Contents: (1) The Greek evidence; (2) The Roman evidence; (3) Defining copies and their problems; (4) The evidence of the Panhellenic sanctuaries; (5) Other Greek sanctuaries; (6) The evidence from the city of Athens and other sites; (7) Problems of definition and distribution; (8) Letting the "copies" speak for themselves.

Abbreviations, [ix]–xi.

- K74 Schröder, Stephan F. Katalog der antiken Skulpturen des Museo del Prado in Madrid. Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1993–. (1)v. il. (part col.)

Complete catalog of classical sculpture sponsored by the Deutsches Archäologisches Institut, Madrid. First vol. includes a history of the collection by Pilar León.

Contents: (1) Die Porträts.

- K75 Vermeule, Cornelius C. Greek and Roman sculpture in America: masterpieces in public collections in the United States and Canada. Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr.; Malibu, J. Paul Getty Museum, 1981. 406p. il. (part col.)

Illustrated inventory of 350 pieces from 81 collections in North America. Entries include location, physical description, and provenance, along with bibliographic references.

"Many a layman, high school teacher, or Latin student of twenty years ago will be surprised to find so many examples of Classical sculpture in their backyards."—Review, Journal of Aesthetic Education 21, winter 1987, p.158–60.

Contents: (I) Early Greek and archaic sculpture; (II) Classical sculpture of the fifth century, B.C.; (III) Classical sculpture of the early fourth century, B.C.; (IV) Cypriote sculpture; (V) Classical sculpture of the later fourth century, B.C.; (VI) Classical funerary sculpture; (VII) Hellenistic portraits; (VIII) Hellenistic sculpture; (IX) Archaistic and Neoattic sculpture; (X) Graeco-Roman sculpture; (XI) Roman sarcophagi; (XII) Other Roman sculpture; (XIII) Roman portraits; (XIV) Palmyrene funerary reliefs.

Glossary, p.390. Abbreviations, p. 391–93. Index of collections (by city), p.394–401. Index of personal names, p.402–03. Index of place names, p.403–04. Index of mythological names, p.405.

K76 Walker, Susan. Greek and Roman portraits. London, British Museum Pr., 1995. 112 p. il. (Classical Bookshelf)

History and functions of portrait sculpture in Greek and Roman antiquity. "This short book arises from a course of eight lectures on Greek and Roman portraits given to undergraduates at Cambridge University in 1992."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) What is a portrait for?; (3) The beginnings of Greek portraiture; (4) Portraits of Greeks in the Roman world; (5) Greek portraits of rulers; (6) The imperial image of Augustus; (7) The Roman image; (8) Bearded and beardless men; (9) Dress; (10) Epilogue.

Further reading, p.[110]. Index, p.[111]–12.

Crete, Mycenae, and Greece

K77 Barron, John. An introduction to Greek sculpture. N.Y., Schocken, 1984. 176p. il.

"In this book I have sought to follow the development of full-scale Greek sculpture over a period of almost exactly five hundred years."—Pref.

Contents: (1) The early archaic period, c.660–580; (2) The middle archaic period, c.580–540; (3) The late archaic period, c.540–480; (4) The transitional period, c.480–450; (5) Classical idealism, c.450–380; (6) Fourth-century naturalism, c.380–300; (7) Hellenistic virtuosity, c.300–150.

Index, p.175–76.

K78 Bieber, Margarete. The sculpture of the Hellenistic age. [Reprint.] N.Y., Hacker, 1981. 259p. il. plates. See GLAH 1:K39 for original annotation.

K79 Boardman, John. Greek sculpture: the archaic period: a handbook. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1991. 252p. il. (World of art)
1st ed., 1978.

Contains minor corrections and additions to the 1978 ed. along with 2 additional illustrations.

Surveys sculpture of the mainland, islands, and East Greeks from about 1000 B.C. to the early 5th century, B.C. "This is certainly the best introduction to the subject there is . . . a compact and astonishingly comprehensive survey, clearly and attractively presented."—Review by Martin Robertson, Burlington magazine v.121, Aug. 1979, p.527.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The Dark Ages and Geometric period; (3) The Orientalizing styles; (4) Marble and the monumental; (5) The maturing Archaic styles; (6) The later Archaic styles; (7) Architectural sculpture; (8) Reliefs; (9) Animals and monsters; (10) Conclusions.

Abbreviations, p.241. Notes and bibliographies, p.242–44. Index of illustrations, p.248–49. Index of artists, p.250. General index, p.250–52.

K80 ———. Greek sculpture: the classical period: a handbook. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1985. 252p. il. (World of art)

Coverage limited to sculpture of the Greek homeland in the 5th century, B.C., not the western colonies. Sequel to the preceding entry. "The Classical Period is a book which will be essential reading for all students and a useful work of reference for more advanced scholars."—Review, Burlington magazine v.129, June 1987, p.400.

Contents: (1) Techniques and sources; (2) Early classical sculpture: introduction; (3) Early classical men and women: I; (4) Olympia: the temple of Zeus; (5) Early classical men and women: II; (6) Early classical relief sculpture; (7) Names and attributions; (8) Other copies of the early classical; (9) Classical sculpture and Athens: introduction; (10) The Parthenon; (11) Other Attic architectural sculpture; (12) Themes in Attic sculpture; (13) Other classical sculpture; (14) Other classical relief sculpture; (15) Names and attributions; (16) Other copies of the classical.

Abbreviations, p.241. Notes and bibliographies, p.242–47. Index of illustrations, p.248. Index of artists, p.249. General index, p.250–52.

K81 ———. Greek sculpture: the late classical period. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1995. 248p. il. maps. (World of art)

"This volume is a sequel to the two on the Archaic and Classical periods of Greek sculpture. . . [GLAH 2:K79, GLAH 2:K80]. Its narrative ends more or less where R.R.R. Smith's Hellenistic sculpture [GLAH 2:K100] begins."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Late classical sculpture: (1) Introduction; (2) Architectural sculpture; (3) Names and attributions; (4) Gods and goddesses, men and women; (5) Portraiture; (6) Funerary sculpture; (7) Other reliefs; (II) The western Greeks: (8) Introduction; (9) Architectural sculpture; (10) Other sculpture; (III) Greek sculpture to east and south: (11) Anatolia; (12) The Levant and North Africa; (IV) Ancient and antique: (13) Collecting and collections.

Abbreviations, p.237. Notes and bibliographies, p.238–43. Index of illustrations, p.244. Index of ancient artists' names, p.245. General index, p.246–48.

K82 ———. The Parthenon and its sculptures. Photographs by David Finn. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1985. 256p. il. (part col.)

"Our method here has been . . . to let the building and its sculptures speak for themselves through photographs and the sympathetic imagination of the photographer's eyes."—Pref. "Its worth is enhanced by its emphasis on the historical, religious and iconographic context of the monument rather than on a merely art-historical description."—Review, Archaeology v.40, Mar./Apr. 1987, p.72–3.

Contents: The narrative (Celebration; Destruction; Conception; Creation; Completion); The plates (The pediments; The frieze; The metopes; Captions to the plates); The evidence: (1) The nature of our sources; (2) The later history of the Parthenon; (3) Athens and history; (4) The great Panathenaic festival; (5) The architecture; (6) The sculptures and cult statue; (7) The interpretation of the sculpture; (8) The Parthenon's role and significance, then and now.

Further reading, p.253–54. Index, p.255–56.

K83 Clairmont, Christoph W. Classical Attic tombstones. Kilchberg, Sw., Akanthvs, 1993–. (9)v. plates.

"The present work is meant to be a supplement to A Conze's Die attischen Grabreliefs [GLAH 1:K44]. . . . [In it] are gathered published and unpublished memorials which I could track down worldwide in addition to tombstones already known to Conze, irrespective of whether or not the originals have been seen by the present writer."—Pref.

Catalog entries include provenance, when available, and as complete a verbal description as possible.

Contents: Introductory volume; (I)–(IV) Catalogue; (V) Prosopography; (VI) Indexes; Plate volume; Supplementary volume.

Bibliography, Introductory volume, p.268–311.

K84 Fuchs, Werner. Die griechische Plastik. München, Beck, 1987–. (1)v. il.

Projected series of vols. on Greek sculpture. V.1 treats materials and techniques and geometric sculpture. Discussion of archaistic sculpture subdivide by region.

Contents: (I) Floren, Josef. Die geometrische und archaische Plastik (1987).

K85 Kleemann, Ilse. Frühe Bewegung. Untersuchungen zur archaischen Form bis zum Aufkommen der Ponderation in der griechischen Kunst. Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1984–. (1)v. il.

A discussion of the aesthetics and formal composition of Greek sculpture. Also includes remarks about sculptors' methods.

Contents: (1) Grundzüge der Anlage von Bewegung (2v., 1984).

K86 Moreno, Paolo. Scultura ellenistica. Rome, Libreria dello Stato, 1994. 2v. il. (part col.)

Major treatment of the history of Hellenistic sculpture from Alexander to Augustus throughout the Mediterranean world. Discusses individual pieces and groups similar works to arrive at stylistic conclusions. Also compares poses and themes of sculpture to works in other media.

Contents: Introduzione; Maniera classica (323–301): La libertà dell'artista; Autonomia e mimesi; Barocco ellenistico (301–168): La gloria dei regni; La città dei filosofi; Verità e bellezza; L'arte nella vita; Verità e allegoria; La vita nell'arte; Sublime metafisico; Luci e ombre; Tradizione e innovazione; Restaurazione romana (168–31): Rinascita del classico; Astrazione; Virtuosismo; Simbolismo; Verismo; Eclettismo.

Note, p.765–832. Abbreviazione, p.833–35. Bibliografia, p.837–904. Fotografie e disegni, p.905–09. Indici, p.911–69.

K87 Pfuhl, Ernst, and Möbius, Hans. Die ostgriechischen Grabreliefs, Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1977–79. 2v. in 4 il.

Catalog of reliefs from sepulchral monuments of the East Greeks. Entries are grouped by period and then typologically by activity or occupation of the subject. See reviews by Brunilde Sismondo Ridgway in American journal of archaeology 82, no.3, summer, 1978, p.414–15, and 84, no.4, Oct., 1980, p.543–44.

Contents: (I) Textband: Vorklassische und klassische Grabreliefs; Hellenistische und spätere Grabreliefs; Tafelband; (II) Textband: Hellenistische und spätere Grabreliefs [continued]; Tafelband.

Abkürzungen, v.I, p.[xvii]–xviii. Indices und Konkordanzen, v.II, p.[571]–612.

K88 Richter, Gisela Maria Augusta. The archaic grave-stones of Attica. [Reprint.] Bedminster, Bristol, Bristol Classical Press, 1988. 184p. il.

See GLAH 1:K54 for original annotation.

K89 ———. Korai: archaic Greek maidens: a study of the development of the Kore type in Greek sculpture. [Reprint.] N.Y., Hacker Art Books, 1988. 327p. il.

See GLAH 1:K55 for original annotation.

K90 ———. Portraits of the Greeks. Abridged and rev. by R. R. R. Smith. Ithaca, N.Y., Cornell Univ. Pr., 1984. 256p. il.

See GLAH 1:K57 for original annotation.

Bibliography, p.[251]–52.

K91 Ridgway, Brunilde Sismondo. The archaic style in Greek sculpture. Princeton, N.J., Princeton Univ. Pr., 1977. 336p. plates.

"The present book attempts a formulation of questions meant to reopen old problems and to encourage further thinking. It is my hope that this work will be particularly helpful to students, to whom it is directed."—Pref.

Contents: (I) Defining archaic sculpture: (1) Problems of chronology, geography, and typology; (2) The problem of the origins: the Daedalic phase; (II) Sculptural types: (3) Kouros and related male figures; (4) Korai and other female figures; (5) Seated, reclining and equestrian figures; (6) Funerary monuments, animals and monsters; (III) Architectural sculpture: (7) Pediments and akroteria; (8) Metopes; (9) Friezes; (IV) Sculptors and problems of style: (10) Sculptors and their workshops; (11) Archaizing; archaistic; Roman copies of archaic works.

Bibliographies following each chapter. List of photographic sources, ix–xi. List of abbreviations, xiii–xix. Index, p.323–36.

K92 ———. Fifth century styles in Greek sculpture. Princeton, N.J., Princeton Univ. Pr., 1981. 256p. plates.

"I have . . . conceived of my task as that of concentrating exclusively on sculpture . . . and of delving into complexities of style rather than of providing basic information. Thus not all fifth century monuments have been discussed, and those included are not all discussed to the same extent."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Greek sculpture in the fifth century; (2) Architectural sculpture: metopes; (3) Architectural sculpture: pediments and akroteria; (4) Architectural sculpture: friezes; (5) Greek originals: sculpture in the round; (6) Greek originals: reliefs; (7) The great masters; (8) Copies of fifth century works; (9) Echoes of fifth century styles in later periods—Roman creations; Appendixes.

Bibliographies follow each chapter. List of abbreviations, xiii–xv. Glossary, xvii–xix. Index, p.249–56.

K93 ———. Fourth-century styles in Greek sculpture. Madison, Univ. of Wisconsin Pr., 1997. 480p. il. plates (Wisconsin studies in classics)

Key survey in the history of sculpture before the Christian era. Based upon lectures and seminars delivered at institutions in the U.S. and Scotland.

Contents: (1) Greek sculpture in the fourth century; (2) Architectural sculpture on the mainland; (3) Architectural sculpture in the East (non-Greek); (4) Architectural sculpture in the East (Greek); (5) Original reliefs: funerary; (6) Original reliefs: votive, mythological, document; (7) The issue of the great masters; (8) Lysippos: a case study; (9) Random Harvest.

Bibliography, p.375–89. Selective index, p.391–400.

K94 ———. Hellenistic sculpture I. Madison, Univ. of Wisconsin Pr., 1990. (1)v. il. plates.

"Discusses a large number of works and adroitly presents the evidence, problems, and debates for each, while also offering numerous and often challenging theories of her own."—Review of v.1 by Mark D. Stansbury-O'Donnell, American journal of archaeology 95, July 1991, p.554–5.

Contents: (1) The styles of ca. 331–200 B.C. (1990).

K95 ———. Roman copies of Greek sculpture: the problem of the originals. Ann Arbor, Univ. of Michigan Pr., 1984. 111p. plates (Jerome Lectures, 15th ser.)

An analysis of the problem of Greek originals versus Roman copies of Greek sculpture.

"A long, hard look at the subject . . . that is both humane and engaging to the reader."—Review by Andrew Stewart, Journal of hellenic studies 105, 1985, p.232–3.

Contents: (1) The Greek evidence; (2) The Roman evidence; (3) Defining copies and their problems; (4) The evidence of the panhellenic sanctuaries; (5) Other Greek sanctuaries; (6) The evidence from the city of Athens and other sites; (7) Problems of definition and distribution; (8) Letting the "copies" speak for themselves.

Abbreviations, [ix]–xi.

K96 ———. The severe style in Greek sculpture. [Paperback reprint.] Princeton, N.J., Princeton Univ. Pr., 1979. 155, [67]p. plates.

See GLAH 1:K59 for original annotation.

K97 Rolley, Claude. Greek bronzes. Translated from the French by Roger Howell. Foreword by John Boardman. London, Sotheby's, 1986. 267p. il. (part col.) maps.

"For students and lovers of Greek art an arcane but rewarding subject is made intelligible."—Foreword.

Contents: (I) Bronze and bronzes: techniques and functions; (II) Apprenticeship and experience; (III) Greece of the city states: schools and local styles; (IV) Classicism—in the shadow of the masters; (V) The Hellenistic world: from kings to bourgeois; Epilogue: from Greece to Rome.

Catalogue, p.232–48. Glossary, p.249. A short chronological table, p.250–51. Bibliography, p.256–60. List of museums, p.261. Index of names, p.264–67.

K98 ———. La sculpture grecque. Paris, Picard, 1994–. (1)v. il. (part col.) maps. (Les manuels d'art et d'archéologie antiques)

Projected series on Greek sculpture. Also part of a grand scheme to create a series of vols. that treat early art and archeology for the benefit of university students and the interested general public.

Contents: (1) Des origines au milieu du Ve siècle (1994).

K99 Les sculptures grecques. Par Mariane Hamiaux, sous la dir. d'Alain Pasquier. Paris, Réunion des musées nationaux, 1992. 2v. il.

Catalog of Greek sculpture in the Département des antiquités grecques, étrusques et romaines, Musée du Louvre.

Contents: (1) Des origines à la fin du IVe siècle avant J.-C.; (2) La période hellénistique (IIIe–Ier siècles avant J.-C.).

Includes concordances, indexes, bibliographies.

K100 Smith, R. R. R. Hellenistic sculpture. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1991. 287p. il. (World of art)

Introduction summarizes key issues, including the context and function of Hellenistic sculptures, the relationship between patrons and sculptors, and the tension between surviving originals and copies. Two main sections survey Hellenistic sculpture by subject and by geographic area.

"A worthy complement to John Boardman's Greek Sculpture volumes [GLAH 2:K79, GLAH 2:K80] on the archaic and Classical periods. . . . Accessibility of its prose, its sound scholarship and ease of use make it a must for all students of ancient sculpture."—Review, American journal of archaeology v.96, July 1992, p.565–6.

Abbreviations, p.276. Notes and bibliography, p.277–82. Index of illustrations, p.284–85. Index, p.286–87.

K101 Spivey, Nigel Jonathan. Understanding Greek sculpture: ancient meanings, modern readings. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1996. 240p. il. map.

Focus on the material, placement, and purpose of Greek sculpture. Includes drawings that reconstruct sculpture and places it in an architectural context.

"Spivey's book is a readable, spirited one."—Review, American journal of archaeology v.101, July 1997, p.587–91.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) "The Greek revolution"; (3) Daedalus and the wings of Techne; (4) Sacred decoration; (5) Heroes apparent; (6) From Marathon to the Parthenon; (7) In search of Pheidias; (8) Revealing Aphrodite; (9) The patronage of kings; (10) Graecia Capta; Epilogue.

Sources and further reading, p.232–36. Index p.238–40.

K102 Stewart, Andrew F. Greek sculpture: an exploration. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1990. 2v. il.

"Though this book was begun as a successor to Gisela Richter's Sculpture and sculptors of the Greeks [GLAH 1:K58], it is emphatically neither a re-edition of that work, nor a comprehensive handbook to the art. . . . Instead, I have represented a personal selection of what I believe to be the most significant, interesting, and/or characteristic work of large-scale sculpture from the Dark Age to Augustus."—Pref.

Contents: V.1, Text. Introduction: sculpture in a Greek landscape; Part I: The sculptor's world: (1) Sources; (2) The sculptor's craft; (3) Functions; (4) The market; (5) Rewards; (6) Mimesis; (7) Personalities. Part II, The sculpture: (8) Forerunners (to ca. 600); (9) The road to maturity (ca. 600–ca. 540); (10) Ripe Archaic (ca. 550–ca. 500); (11) From Archaic to Classic (ca. 500–ca. 470); (12) Early Classic (ca. 480–ca. 450); (13) High Classic (ca. 450–ca. 430); (14) The Peloponnesian War and its legacy (ca. 430–ca. 360); (15) Late Classic (ca. 370–ca. 330); (16) The age of Alexander (ca. 340–ca. 310); (17) Early Hellenistic (ca. 320–ca. 220); (18) High Hellenistic (ca. 220–ca. 150); (19) Late Hellenistic (ca. 150–30). Part III, The sculptors: (20) The Archaic period; (21) The Early and High Classic periods; (22) In the wake of the great masters; (23) The fourth-century virtuosi; (24) The Hellenistic period. V.2, Plates; Appendix I, Extant Greek bronze statues; Appendix II: Extant originals by Greek sculptors mentioned in the literary sources; Appendix III: Absolute chronology of extant Greek sculpture; Appendix IV: Studying and photographing in museums.

Abbreviations, v.1, p.329. Museum catalogues and guides, v.1, p.331–32. References, v.1, p.333–48. Bibliography, v.1, p.349–65. Glossary of Greek and Latin words, v.1, p.367–68. Index, v.1, p.369–77.

K103 Todisco, Luigi. Scultura greca del IV secolo: maestri e scuole di statuaria tra classicità ed ellenismo. [Pref.] Mario Torelli. Milano, Longanesi, 1993. 507p. il. maps, plans. (Repertori fotografici, 8)

History of 4th-century Greek sculpture with an emphasis on masters and statues throughout the Mediterranean world. Photographic inventory includes museum numbers, provenance and bibliography where possible.

Contents: Introduzione alla storia della Grecità del IV secolo; (I) Statuaria; (II) Opere.

Bibliografia, p.[469]–95. Indici, p.[499]–506.

Etruria and Rome

K104 Brilliant, Richard. Visual narratives: storytelling in Etruscan and Roman art. Ithaca, N.Y., Cornell Univ. Pr., 1984. 200p. il.

Essays on relief sculpture as a narrative agent.

"This book is not a history of Roman narrative . . . but it is a stimulating series of essays providing valuable insights into Roman adaptations of Greek myths and the political uses of narrative art."—Review, Archaeology v.39, Sept./Oct. 1986, p.76.

Contents: Sight reading; (1) Etruscan cinerary urns: mythological excerpts in boxes; (2) Pendants and the mind's eye; (3) The Column of Trajan and its heirs: helical tales, ambiguous trails; (4) Mythological sarcophagi: proleptic visions.

Abbreviations, p.167–68. Notes, p.169–96. Index, p.197–200.

K105 Corpus signorum imperii romani = Corpus of sculpture of the Roman world. Oxford, Oxford Univ. Pr., 1967–. Many vols., plates.

A series undertaken by various scholarly academies and societies in places once occupied by the Roman Empire. Each group contributes one or more vols. to a comprehensive inventory of Roman imperial sculpture in its area. Participants to date include Austria, Germany, Great Britain (including Scotland and Wales), Hungary, Italy, Poland, Portugal, Switzerland, Tunisia.

K106 Fullerton, Mark D. The archaistic style in Roman statuary. Leiden, Brill, 1990. 215p. il. (Mnemosyne, bibliotheca classica batava. Supplementum, 110)

Analysis of Roman statuary is presented to determine elements of style, chronology, development, regionalism, function, and iconography. Observations lead to the conclusion that formalism appealed to Roman taste.

Contents: (1) Archaistic statuary and the archaistic style; (2) Artemis/Diana; (3) Athena/Minerva; (4) Tyche/Fortuna; (5) Spes; (6) Dionysiac figures; (7) Apollo Citharoedus and Hermes Kriophoros; (8) Paraleipomena—anonymous and narrative figures; Conclusions.

Bibliography, p.[207]–10. Museum index, p.[211]–15.

K107 Haynes, Sybille. Etruscan bronzes. N.Y., Sotheby's Publications, 1985. 359p. il. (part col.)

Catalogue of bronzes, including household objects, votive statuettes, armor, and reliefs, from the British Museum and other European public collections.

Contents: Part one: (1) The country; (2) An outline of Etruscan history; (3) Bronzeworking techniques employed in antiquity; (4) Local traditions and styles; (5) Notes for collectors. Part two: [Catalog of] the bronzes.

List of abbreviations, p.325–34. Select bibliography, p.335–49. Glossary, p.351–52. Index, p.355–59.

K108 Inan, Jale, and Rosenbaum, Elisabeth. Roman and early Byzantine portrait sculpture in Asia Minor. [Reprint.] London, Published for the British Academy by the Oxford Univ. Pr., 1970. 244p. 187 plates.

See GLAH 1:K70 for original annotation.

K109 Kleiner, Diana E. E. Roman sculpture. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1992. 477p. il.

Survey of Roman sculpture from the Republican through Constantinian periods that takes special pains to elucidate the art's historical and social contexts. Includes significant coverage of monuments associated with plebeian, as well as patrician, patrons.

"A useful and accessible introductory text for the non-specialist and undergraduate reader, as well as being an excellent reference source for scholars."—Review, Apollo v.140, no.389, July 1994, p.59.

Contents: (I) The art of the Republic; (II) The age of Augustus and the birth of imperial art; (III) Art under the Julio-Claudians; (IV) The civil war of 68–69, the Flavian dynasty, and Nerva; (V) Art under Trajan and Hadrian; (VI) Antonine art: the beginning of late antiquity; (VII) The Severan dynasty; (VIII) The third century: a century of civil war; (IX) The Tetrarchy; (X) The Constantinian period.

Thematically organized bibliographies at the end of each chapter.

Abbreviations, p.[xi]–xii. Glossary of Greek and Latin terms, p.[465]–67. Index, p.[469]–77.

K110 Koch, Guntram. Roman funerary sculpture: catalog of the collections. Malibu, Calif., J. Paul Getty Museum, 1988. 128p. il.

Catalog of a collection of Roman sculpture related to sepulchral monuments. Entries include annotation, bibliography, and conservation assessment.

Contents: (I) Cinerary urns, Kline monument, and sarcophagi; (II) Grave reliefs and tomb altars; (III) Grave statues; (IV) Forgeries.

Abbreviations, p.xi–xii. Concordance, p.128.

K111 Kockel, Valentin. Porträtreiefs stadtrömischer Grabbauten: ein Beitrag zur Geschichte und zum Verständnis des späterepublikanisch-frühkaiserzeitlichen Privatporträts. Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1993. 264p. 138p. of plates (Beiträge zur Erschließung hellenistischer und kaiserzeitlicher Skulptur und Architektur, 12)

Attempts to establish typology of portrait sculpture based on such things as hair style and gestures. Bases for dating styles include inscriptions and materials. Evidence suggests that such sculptures are not necessarily real portraits but stylistic representations.

Contents: (I) Einleitung; (II) Gegenstand der Untersuchung; (III) Ikonographie der Reliefs; (IV) Grundlagen der Datierung; (V) Probleme von Ikonographie und Stil; (VI) Ergebnisse; Katalog.

Abkürzungsverzeichnis, p.xi. Abbildungsnachweise, p.237–38. Konkordanzen, p.239–40. Register, p.241–64.

K112 Landesmuseum Mainz. Römische Steindenkmäler: Mainz in Römischer Zeit: Katalog zur Sammlung in der Steinhalle. Von Wolfgang Selzer. Unter Mitarb. von Karl-Viktor Decker und Anibal Do Paço. Mainz, Zabern, 1988. 267p. il. (part col.) (Katalogreihe zu den Abteilungen und Sammlungen, 1)

Description of the museum and its collection of stone monuments along with a history of the Roman occupation of the Mainz region.

Contents: Das Landesmuseum Mainz; Zur Geschichte der "Steinhalle"; Die Sammlung römischer Steindenkmäler; Mainz—von der Zeit des Augustus bis zum Ende der römischen Herrschaft; Zur Topographie des römischen Mainz; Römisches Militär in Mainz; Römische Kulte und Kultbauten in Mainz; Wichtige Denkmäler.

Literaturverzeichnis, p.108–10. Katalog, p.111–265. Plan der Steinhalle, p.266–67.

K113 Nerzic, Chantal. La sculpture en Gaule romaine. Paris, Errance, 1989. 343p. il. (Collection patrimoniale)

Traces the development of sculpture in France from the 1st century B.C. to the 5th century A.D. both before and after the conquest of the Gauls by the Romans.

Contents: Les Gaulois avant la conquête romaine; Après la conquête romaine, heurts ou compromissions; La fin du premier siècle: éléments de formation de l'art Gallo-Romain; Les monuments publics Gallo-Romains au IIe siècle; L'art funéraire en Gaule; Première moitié du IIIe siècle, la continuité sévérienne; Le IIIe siècle et la rupture.

Bibliographie, p.331–35. Glossaire, p.336–40. Index, p.341–43.

K114 Rheinisches Landesmuseum Trier. Katalog der römischen Steindenkmäler des Rheinischen Landesmuseums Trier. Von Wolfgang Binsfeld, Karin Goethert-Polaschek und Lothar Schwinden. Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1988–. (1)v. plates, maps (fold.) (Trierer Grabungen und Forschungen, 12) (Corpus signorum imperii Romani. Deutschland, 4)

Catalog of the museum's Roman stone monuments and part of the German portion of Corpus signorum imperii romani (GLAH 2:K105).

Contents: (1) Götter- und Weihedenkmäler.

K115 Richardson, Emeline. Etruscan votive bronzes: geometric, orientaling, archaic. Mainz am Rhein, Zabern, 1983. 2v. plates.

"I have tried to establish a trustworthy chronology, based on criteria that can be seen and evaluated by the interested reader, of the bronze votive figures made in Etruria in the seventh, sixth, and first half of the fifth centuries B.C. It is an attempt to produce a catalog comparable to Sir John Beazley's monumental studies of Attic vase paintings [GLAH 1:M55–57], and I hope that this work, like his, will prove to be useful not only in its own limited field, but for the study of ancient Mediterranean art in general."—Pref. See useful review, Art bulletin v.67, no.2, June, 1985, p.325–27.

Contents: Text vol.: (I) Geometric; (II) The orientaling period; (III) The archaic period 1; (IV) The archaic period 2; (V) The archaic period 3. Plates vol.

Abbreviations, v.[1], p.[xv]–xxxvii. Indexes, v.[1], p.[365]–90.

K116 Strong, Donald Emrys. Roman imperial sculpture: an introduction to the commemorative and decorative sculpture of the Roman Empire down to the death of Constantine. [Reprint.] N.Y., Transatlantic Arts, 1971. vii, 104p. plates.

1st American ed. See GLAH 1:K74 for original annotation.

K117 Toynbee, Jocelyn M. C. Roman historical portraits. Ithaca, Cornell Univ. Pr., 1978. 208p. il. (Aspects of Greek and Roman life)

British ed., London, Thames and Hudson, 1978.

Catalog presents portraits found on coins and in sculpture which supply images of identifiable historical personages.

Contents: Part I: Republican and early Augustan notables; Part II: Foreign rulers (3rd century, B.C.–5th century).

Sources of illustrations, p.201. Index, p.201–08.

Early Christian—Byzantine

- K118 Caillet, Jean-Pierre. L'antiquité classique, le haut moyen âge et Byzance au musée de Cluny. Paris, Réunion des musées nationaux, 1985. 269p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of important collection. Entries include provenance, physical description, and extensive commentary.

Contents: Sculpture et décoration monumentales: Reliefs figurés; éléments architecturaux et d'ornementation non figurée; sarcophages; inscriptions funéraires; revêtements de sol; Petite sculpture: ivoire; schiste; pierres dures; Orfèvrerie et métallurgie: objets d'usage personnel et profane: éléments de parure vestimentaire; armes; objets utilitaires; Orfèvrerie et métallurgie: objets à destination votive ou liturgique: bronze; orfèvrerie et émaillerie.

Bibliographie, p.245–61. Tables de concordance, p.262–63. Modes d'entrée au musée, p.264. Index, p.265–69.

- K119 ———, and Loose, Helmuth Nils. La vie d'éternité: la sculpture funéraire dans l'antiquité chrétienne. Paris, Cerf, 1990. 147p. il. (part col.)

Traces the development of the sepulchral monument in its various forms from its Greco-Roman origins in the 3d century through the 6th century.

Contents: Commanditaires; Production; Emploi; Message: L'héritage gréco-romain; L'Ancient Testament; Le Nouveau Testament; L'apostolat; Formes; Devenir; Épilogue.

Notes, p.125–33. Bibliographie, p.134–38. Index, p.139–46.

- K120 Cutler, Anthony. The hand of the master: craftsmanship, ivory, and society in Byzantium (9th–11th centuries). Princeton, N.J., Princeton Univ. Pr., 1994. 293p. il.

Survey of ivory craftsmanship and use.

"The Hand of the master sets a standard for art historical writing about the middle ages: such a book can only be written after decades of handling artefacts and of treating each one as the principal source of information about itself."—Review, Burlington magazine v.137, Dec. 1995, p.851–2.

Contents: (I) The power of ivory; (II) Conditions of production; (III) Stages of production; (IV) The master in context; (V) Problems of classification and chronology; (VI) Ivory in Byzantine society.

Abbreviations, p.253. Frequently cited works, p.254–57. Notes, p.259–85. Glossary, p.286–87. Sources of illustrations, p.287. Index, p.288–93.

- K121 Firatli, Nezih. La sculpture byzantine figurée au Musée archéologique d'Istanbul. Catalogue revue et présenté par C. Metzger, A. Pralong et J.-P. Sodini. Trad.

turque par A. Arel. Paris, Librairie d'Amérique et d'Orient Adrien Maisonneuve, Jean Maisonneuve Successeur, 1990. 268p. plates. (Bibliothèque de l'Institut français d'études anatoliennes d'Istanbul, 30)

Documented catalog of Byzantine figural sculpture from an important Turkish museum. Entries include inventory numbers, provenance, physical description, comments, dating and references to the literature.

Contents: (I) Sculpture en ronde-bosse (nos 1–67); (II) Reliefs honorifiques et officiels (nos 68–78); (III) Sculpture funéraire (nos 79–115); (IV) Reliefs religieux et divers (nos 116–70); (V) Mobilier liturgique (nos 171–186); (VI) Architecture (nos 187–359); (VII) Ensembles de même provenance (nos 306–506); Addendum.

Tables de concordance, p.[217]–22. Traduction en Turc des commentaires, p.[223]–45. Index, p.[247]–64.

Carolingian—Gothic

- K122 Cahn, Walter, and Seidel, Linda. Romanesque sculpture in American collections. N.Y., Franklin, 1979–. (2)v. il. (Publications of the International Center of Medieval Art, 1)

Project to catalog all the Romanesque sculpture in U.S. collections. Entries include full description, references to similar pieces in other collections, and bibliography.

Contents: (1) New England museums (1979); (2) New York and New Jersey, middle and south Atlantic states, the midwest, western and Pacific states (1999).

- K123 Gillerman, Dorothy, ed. Gothic sculpture in America. N.Y., Garland, 1989–. (1)v. il. (Publications of the International Center of Medieval Art, 2)

Project to catalog all Gothic sculpture in U.S. public collections. Entries include lengthy annotations, provenance, and assessment by conservator.

Contents: (1) The New England museums (1989).

- K124 Hearn, Millard Fillmore. Romanesque sculpture: the revival of monumental stone sculpture in the eleventh and twelfth centuries. Ithaca, N.Y., Cornell Univ. Pr., 1981. 240p. il.

"This book is an attempt to construct a systematic theory of the development of Romanesque sculpture, based on integration of several types of data and grounded in a unified method of classification."—Introd.

Contents: (1) From antiquity to the Romanesque revival; (2) The eleventh-century origins: capitals and relief slabs; (3) The crucial monuments (circa 1100): sanctuary sculpture; (4) The origin and development of architectural sculpture; (5) The great portals.

Selected bibliography, p.225–33. Index, p.235–40.

- K125 Poeschke, Joachim. Die Skulptur des Mittelalters in Italien. Aufnahmen Albert Hirmer und Irmgard Ernstmeier-Hirmer. München, Hirmer, 1998–2000. 2v. il.

Splendid survey of medieval Italian sculpture, based on a special photographic campaign conducted in 1996–2000.

Contents: (1) Romanik; (2) Gotik.
Includes bibliographies and indexes.

- K126 Porter, Arthur Kingsley. Romanesque sculpture of the pilgrimage roads. [Reprint.] N.Y., Hacker Art Books, 1985. 10v.

See GLAH 1:K92 for original annotation.

- K127 Randall, Richard H., Jr. The golden age of ivory: Gothic carvings in North American collections. N.Y., Hudson Hills, 1993. 160p. il. (part col.)

Descriptive and illustrated inventory of ivory carvings in selected North American museums.

Contents: Religious ivories: sculpture; triptychs, and polyptychs; diptychs and plaques; Secular ivories; Italian ivories.

Bibliography, p.152–54. Index, p.155–60.

- K128 Victoria and Albert Museum, London. Catalogue of Romanesque sculpture. [By] Paul Williamson. [London], Victoria and Albert Museum, 1983. 118p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the collection arranged by country of origin.

"The principal aim of the present catalogue has been to introduce these sculptures for the first time into art-historical discussion."—Foreword.

Contents: France; Italy; England; Spain; Cyprus.

Abbreviations, p.[11]. Comparative illustrations, p.112–16. Numerical index, p.118

- K129 ———. Northern Gothic sculpture 1200–1450. [By] Paul Williamson. Assisted by Peta Evelyn. [London], Victoria and Albert Museum, 1988. 211p. il. (part col.)

"This publication is not an exhaustive catalogue. . . . Instead it was the intention to produce a handbook . . . and to provide some background information at the beginning of the book so that the sculptures could be better understood."—Foreword.

Entries include provenance note and lengthy annotation as well as photographs of the backs of many free-standing figures.

Bibliography, p.201–09. Index of collectors and dealers, p.210. Concordance, p.211.

- K130 Vöge, Wilhelm. Bildhauer des Mittelalters: gesammelte Studien. [Reprint.] Vorwort von Erwin Panofsky. Berlin, Mann, 1995. xxxi, 254p. il. port.

See GLAH 1:K93 for original annotation.

- K131 Williamson, Paul. Gothic sculpture 1140–1300. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1995. 301p. il. (part col.) (Yale University Press pelican history of art)

Gothic sculpture in Western and northern Europe surveyed with authority and production quality typical of this series.

"In line with the new editorial policy for the Pelican History of Art series I have included both English and Italian Gothic sculpture, although the former was well treated in Lawrence Stone's Sculpture in Britain: the Middle Ages [GLAH 1:K145] and Italian sculpture after 1250 has been discussed in exemplary fashion in John White's Art and Architecture in Italy 1250–1400 [GLAH 1:K358]."—Pref.

Contents: Part One: The transition from Romanesque, and early Gothic: (1) France, c.1140–1230; (2) The Holy Roman Empire 1160–1240; (3) England 1160–1240; (4) Scandinavia 1170–1240; (5) Spain 1170–1230; (6) Italy 1180–1250; Part Two: Mature Gothic: (7) France 1230–1300; (8) The Holy Roman Empire 1240–1300; (9) England 1240–1300; (10) Scandinavia 1240–1300; (11) Spain 1230–1300; (12) Italy 1250–1300.

Glossary, p.[264]. Notes, p.[265]–91. Select bibliography, p.[292]–94. Index, p.[295]–301.

- K132 ———. An introduction to medieval ivory carvings. Owings Mills, Md., Stemmer House, 1982. 47p. il. (part col.)

Brief but informative survey, well illustrated with examples from the Victoria and Albert Museum's collection.

Further reading, p.47.

Renaissance—Baroque

- K133 Augustinermuseum, Freiburg. Bildwerk des Mittelalters und der Renaissance, 1100–1530: Auswahlkatalog. Bearb. von Detlef Zinke. München, Hirmer, 1995. 192p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Augustiner Museum, Freiburg (1995). Although primarily German sculpture, the catalog includes works from neighboring German-speaking countries.

Contents: 1100–1300; 1300–1430; 1430–1480; 1480–1530; Skulpturen des Freiburger Münsters (1220–1300).

Verzeichnis der abgekürzt zitierten Literatur, p.189–90. Ikonographisches Verzeichnis, p.191. Verzeichnis nach Herkunftsorten, p.191. Konkordanz, p.192.

- K134 Avery, Charles. Renaissance and Baroque bronzes in the Frick Art Museum. Pittsburgh, The Frick Art and Historical Center, 1993. 144p. il.

An annotated inventory of an important collection of statuettes.

Contents: Introduction: Bronzes in the collection of the Frick Art Museum; The bronze statuette in the Renaissance; Catalogue.

Biographies of sculptors represented, p.133–38. Bibliography, p.139–44.

- K135 Bober, Phyllis Pray, and Rubinstein, Ruth. Renaissance artists and antique sculpture. With contrib. by Susan Woodford. Published with the assist. of the J. Paul Getty Trust. [Rev. ed.] London, Harvey Miller; N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1987. 522 p. il.

1st ed., 1986.

A catalog of classical figures, myths, and historical events depicted in ancient sculptural works that influenced artists and others in the Renaissance. Entries were selected from the "Census of antique works of art and architecture known to the Renaissance," which is available as a searchable database on the internet.

This book is intended as a reference guide to the ancient monuments which served Renaissance artists as a visual reservoir of sculptural styles, iconographic types, and expressive poses from an admired past. Here one may find more than 200 ancient statues and reliefs, and may learn—from text and illustration—something of what can be known of their history in the Renaissance: when they were discovered, where and how they were displayed, how their subject matter was interpreted and which artists as well as antiquarians recorded them or otherwise profited by their presence."—Prf.

"Certainly one of the most useful art-historical reference books to have been published in recent decades."—Review by Nicholas Penny, Burlington magazine v.128, July 1986, p.410.

Abbreviations, p.25–29. Appendix I: Index of Renaissance artists and sketchbooks, p.451–70. Appendix II: Index of Renaissance collections, p.471–80. Bibliography, p.481–505. General index, p.507–22.

K136 Camins, Laura. Renaissance and Baroque bronzes from the Abbott Guggenheim collection. [San Francisco], The Fine Arts Museum of San Francisco, 1988. 150p. il.

"The contents of this collection . . . maps the cities traditionally thought to be the most important centers of bronze casting in Europe—Florence, Padua, Venice—each with its own discernible style."—Introd.

Abbreviated references, p.9–12.

K137 Cleveland Museum of Art. Renaissance bronzes from Ohio collections. [By] William D. Wixom. Cleveland, Cleveland Museum of Art, 1975. 184p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Cleveland Museum of Art (1975).

"The scope of the . . . exhibition, while focused upon local collections, is broadly conceived representing Germany and the Netherlands as well as Italy and France. It encompasses plaquettes, medals and useful objects in addition to independent statuettes."—Introd.

Bibliography, p.172–84.

K138 Natur und Antike in der Renaissance. [Hrsg. des Katalogs und Ausstellungsleitung, H. Beck and P. C. Bol.] Frankfurt am Main, Liebieghaus, 1985. 600p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Liebieghaus, Frankfurt am Main (1985). Essays discuss Renaissance bronze statuettes and reliefs as a reflection of classical forms, subjects, and taste. Catalog entries include substantive annotation and bibliography.

The catalog of this highly ambitious and comprehensive exhibition "not only provides us with a comprehensive study of bronzes as vehicles of classical revival but also attempts nothing less than a synoptic overview of the metaphorical uses of antique myth in Renaissance . . . a monument of major art-historical reinterpretation and reassessment of its subject."—Review, Art journal 46, no.2, summer 1987, p.134.

Contents: (I) Zur Technik des Bronzegusses in der Renaissance, von Dieter Blume; (II) Antike als Programm - Der Statuenhof des Belvedere im Vatikan, von Uwe Geese; (III) Die Umwertung der Antike: zur Rezeption des Marc Aurel in Mittelalter und Renaissance, von Norberto Gramaccini; (IV) Antike und Christentum, von Dieter Blume; (V) Mythos und Widerspruch, von Dieter Blume and Horst Bredekamp; (VI) Beseelte Natur und ländliche Idylle, von Dieter Blume; (VII) Das genaue Abbild der Natur: Riccios Tiere und die Theorie des Naturabgusses seit Cennini, von Norberto Gramaccini; (VIII) Antikisches Gebrauchsgeräts-Weisheit und Magie in den Öllampen Riccios, von Heike Frosien-Leinz; (IX) Das Studiolo und seine Ausstattung, von Heike Frosien-Leinz; (X) Von der Kunstkammer zum bürgerlichen Wohnzimmer, von Herbert Beck; Katalog.

Bibliographie, p.591–98.

K139 Radcliffe, Anthony; Baker, Malcolm; and Maek-Gérard, Michael. The Thyssen-Bornemisza collection: Renaissance and later sculpture with works of art in bronze. Michael Maek-Gérard's text transl. from the German by E. F. N. Jephcott. London, Sotheby's, 1992. 437p. il. (part col.)

Annotated catalog of an important collection with essays by 3 scholars.

"The six preliminary essays . . . spring directly from the issues repeatedly discussed in the catalogue entries themselves. The whole volume should be compulsory reading for all serious students of the subject."—Review by Nicholas Penny, Burlington magazine v.136, Dec. 1994, p.849–50.

Contents: Originals, versions, multiples, copies and casts, by Malcolm Baker; The model and the marble in the Renaissance, by Anthony Radcliffe; Multiple reproduction in the fifteenth century: Florentine stucco Madonnas and the della Robbia workshop, by Anthony Radcliffe; Some versions and variants of the sculpture of Tilman Riemenschneider, by Michael Maek-Gérard; The replication of sculpture in bronze, by Anthony Radcliffe; Terracotta and plaster multiples in eighteenth and early nineteenth-century France, by Malcolm Baker; Catalogue.

Bibliographical abbreviations, p.43–46. Concordance, p.[435]. Index of provenances, p.[437].

K140 Renaissance master bronzes from the collection of the Kunsthistorisches Museum, Vienna. [By] Manfred Leithe-Jasper. Washington, D.C., Scala in assoc. with Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service (Distr. by Harper and Row, 1986). 304p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, National Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C. (1986), and other locations. Entries include provenance, bibliography, and a lengthy annotation. Introduction discusses historical significance of the statuettes.

"The choice of works for this exhibition has been governed by the desire to provide a historical cross-section of a centuries-long collector's tradition, and also to exhibit bronze statuettes of which there are replicas, variants or counterparts in American collections."—Author's ackn.

Contents: Introduction, by Donald R. McClelland; On the nature of Renaissance bronzes, by Douglas Lewis; Renaissance bronzes and the Vienna collection, by Manfred Leithe-Jasper; The catalog.

Short list of books in English related to the exhibition, p.45. Biographies of the artists, p.279–83. List of inventories relevant to provenance of the bronzes, p.284–85. Bibliography, p.287–97. Index, p.298–304.

K141 Von allen Seiten schön: Bronzen der Renaissance und des Barock: Wilhelm von Bode zum 150. Geburtstag. Hrsg. von Volker Krahn. Heidelberg, Braus, 1995. 639 p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Altes Museum, Berlin (1995–96). Festschrift for the founder of the Berlin museum's great collection of bronzes. Works included are primarily from the Staatliche Museen zu Berlin, Preussischer Kulturbesitz, but many from other museums and private collections are included. Entries include provenance, bibliography, and lengthy annotations.

Contents: [Introductory essays]: "Von allen Seiten schön" [and] "Ein ziemlich kühnes Unterfangen . . ." Wilhelm von Bode als Wegbereiter der Bronzenforschung, seine Erwerbungen für die Berliner Museen und seine Beziehungen zu Sammlern, von Volker Krahn; Aspekte der Porträtplastik in Bronze in der Renaissance, von Ulrich Becker; "Ars erit archetypus naturae," Zur Ikonologie der Bronze in der Renaissance, von Elisabeth Dalucas; "Del formare e del getto" Die Herstellung von Bronzestatuetten im 16. Jahrhundert, von Francesca Bewer; Katalog.

Kurzbiographien, p.620–28. Literaturverzeichnis, p.629–39.

Neoclassical—Modern

K142 Art Nouveau sculpture. [By] Alistair Duncan. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1978. 95p. il. (part col.)

Survey of the brief life of the small, sometimes erotic, objets d'art which graced parlors around the turn of the century. Primarily illustrations.

K143 Arwas, Victor. Art deco sculpture: chryselephantine statuettes of the twenties and thirties. N.Y., St. Martin's, 1992. 251p. il. (mostly col.)

Greatly expanded version of British ed., London, Academy, 1975, and rev. enl. ed, 1984, both published in the U.S. by St. Martin's.

Aimed at the collector and students. Describes materials and techniques employed in producing the once immensely popular sculpted figurines associated with the period. Includes foundry marks.

Contents: Art deco sculpture; Artists' biographies; Founders and editors.

K144 A century of modern sculpture: the Patsy and Raymond Nasher collection. Ed. by Steven A. Nash. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1987. 208p. il. (part col.)

Annotated catalog of the collection (Dallas, Texas) includes basic facts, description photo, markings, provenance, bibliography, and exhibitions.

Contents: Living with art, by Elizabeth Frank; Figures and phantoms: early modern figurative sculpture, by Steven A. Nash; Sculpture in the constructivist tradition, by Nan Rosenthal; Between apocalypses: after 1945, by Robert Rosenblum; Catalog, by Steven A. Nash.

Photo credits, p.207. Index, p. 208.

K145 Cooper, Jeremy. Nineteenth-century romantic bronzes: French, English, and American bronzes, 1830–1915. Boston, New York Graphic Society, 1975. 160p. il. (part col.)

Discussion of bronze figural sculpture in a romantic rather than a national context. "Sculptors who made a direct contribution to our subject . . . either worked primarily for bronze or sculpted marble with an eye to reproduction in bronze."—Introd.

Contents: (1) French sculpture from David d'Angers to Rodin; (2) The "new sculpture" in England; (3) American romantic bronzes; (4) French animalier bronzes.

Appendix: Market guide, p.156–57. Select bibliography, p.158. Index, p.159–60.

K146 The colour of sculpture, 1840–1910. [By] Andreas Blühm . . . [et al.] Amsterdam, Van Gogh Museum, 1996. 277p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Van Gogh Museum, Amsterdam (1996), and other locations.

Contents: In living colour: a short history of colour and sculpture in the 19th century, by Andreas Blühm; Colour, sculpture, mimesis: a 19th-century debate, by Wolfgang Drost; Sculpture colouring and the industries of art in the 19th century, by Philip Ward-Jackson; Under the spell of Madame Tussaud: aspects of "high" and "low" in 19th-century polychromed sculpture, by Alison Yarrington; Art for the sake of the soul: polychrome sculpture and literary Symbolism, by Emmanuelle Héran; Painter-sculptors and polychromy in the evolution of modernism, by June Hargrove; Catalogue.

Notes, p.241–55. Select bibliography, p.257–70. Index, p.271–77.

K147 De Matisse à aujourd'hui: la sculpture du XXe siècle dans les collections des Musées et du Fonds Régional d'Art Contemporain du Nord-Pas-de-Calais. [Paris], Assoc. des Conservateurs des Musées du Nord-Pas-de-Calais, 1992. 300p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Musée Matisse, Cateau-Cambrésis (1992), and other locations.

A look at European sculpture created in the 20th century, and the sequel to the Northwest French art museums' exhibition De Carpeaux à Matisse (1982).

Contents: Introduction, par Patrick Le Nouène; L'arabesque dans la modernité Henri Matisse sculpteur, par Roger Benjamin; Du renouvellement à la continuité de la tradition, 1900–1950, par Patrick Le Nouène; Quelques éléments à propos de l'histoire de la sculpture moderne en France, 1910–1937, par Patrick Le Nouène; Situation de la sculpture en France après la deuxième guerre, 1944–1964, par Patrick Le Nouène; Londres: une scène artistique, par Françoise Cohen; Objets et attitudes dans la sculpture occidentale des années soixante, par Marc Bormand.

Inventaire des collections par artiste, p.215–[76]. Répertoire des artistes par musée, p.[277]–86. Ouvrages cités, p.289–95. Expositions citées, p.297–300.

K148 Elsen, Albert Edward. Modern European sculpture 1918–1945: unknown beings and other realities. N.Y., Braziller, 1979. 192p. il.

The effects of two wars, economic crises, and political turmoil discussed as possible influences upon sculptors which gave licence to greater self-expression.

Contents: (1) The figure in interwar modern sculpture; (2) Portraits and the evocative head; (3) The other realities of abstract sculpture; (4) Interwar relief sculpture; (5) Monuments and the monumental in modern interwar sculpture; (6) The sculptor's response to Fascism; Postscript: the artist as victim and villain.

Notes, p.158–65. Catalogue of the exhibition/biographies, p.171–88. Index, p.189–92.

K149 Forrest, Michael. World of art bronzes. West Chester, Pa., Schiffer, 1988. 493p. il. (part col.)

A general work primarily for the amateur and collector.

Contents: Introduction: The romantics; The animaliers; The Japanese influence; The American influence; The women artists; The frontier artists; The Victorians; Between the wars; The unusual, exotic and bizarre; A market guide. Biographies of the artists and founders.

Select bibliography, p.[487]–88. Index, p.[489]–93.

K150 Hammacher, Abraham Marie. Modern sculpture: tradition and innovation. N.Y., Abrams, 1988. 447p. il. (part col.)

Enl. ed. of Hammacher's The evolution of modern sculpture [GLAH 1:K103]. Expanded text includes developments after 1960.

Contents: (1) From Michelangelo to Rodin; (2) Rodin, Bourdelle, Maillol, and Rosso: their sources in earlier European art; (3) The painter-sculptors: their sources in archaic and primitive art; (4) Duchamp-Villon, Boccioni, and Brancusi; (5) The threshold of cubism; (6) Cubism in sculpture; (7) The complex world of the constructivists; (8) The struggle between archaism and abstraction: Arturo Martini; (9) The evolution of the younger sculptors between 1925 and 1940; (10) Sculpture from 1945 to 1960; (11) Space exploded—spaces explored: trails since 1960.

Notes, p. 435–36. Selected bibliography, p.437–40. Index, p.441–46.

K151 Hunisak, John M. Carvings, casts and replicas: nineteenth-century sculpture from Europe and America in New England collections. Middlebury, Vt., Middlebury College Museum of Art, 1994. 206p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Middlebury College Museum of Art (1994).

"This highly readable volume will serve as a useful introduction to the field for a reader unfamiliar with nineteenth-century sculpture."—Review, Winterthur portfolio v.30, summer/autumn 1995, p.186–90.

Contents: New England's acquisition of nineteenth-century sculpture: a tale not told before, by Ruth Butler; Lenders to the exhibition; The catalogue.

Artists' biographies, p.172–99. Selected bibliography, p.200–05. Index of artists, p.206.

K152 Janson, H. W. 19th-century sculpture. N.Y., Abrams, 1985. 288p. il.

A comprehensive history of sculpture during the 19th century. An abridged version of the text appeared in 19th-century Art, by Robert Rosenblum and H. W. Janson [GLAH 2:I290].

Contents: (I) 1776–1815 (Introduction; England; Scandinavia; France, Canova; The early Thorvaldsen; Austria and Germany); (II) 1815–1848 (Introduction; The mature Thorvaldsen; England; The United States; Italy; Germany; France; The romantic theory of sculpture); (III) 1848–1870 (Introduction; France; Italy; England; The United States; Germany and Austria); (IV) 1870–1905 (Introduction; France; Italy; Belgium; Germany; England; The United States; Postscript: the fin de siècle).

Bibliography, p.[270]–79. Index, p.[280]–88.

K153 Kjellberg, Pierre. Bronzes of the 19th century: dictionary of sculptors. Translated by Kate D. Loftus, Alison Levie, and Leslie Bockol. Atglen, Pa., Schiffer, 1994. 684p. il. (part col.)

1st French ed., Les bronzes du XIXe siècle: dictionnaire des sculpteurs. Paris, Éd. de l'Amateur, 1987.

Alphabetical listings of brief biographical sketches, list of representative works, museums in which the works may be seen, and citations for sales in which the works appeared. A discussion of bronze casting precedes the dictionary. Some signatures or makers' marks, as well as founders' marks, reproduced in facsimile.

Contents: The magic of bronze; the birth of bronze; Dictionary of sculptors; Founders dictionary.

Bibliography, p.681–82.

K154 Krauss, Rosalind. Passages in modern sculpture. N.Y., Viking, 1977. 308p. il.

French ed., Passages: une histoire de la sculpture de Rodin à Smithson. Paris, Macula, 1977.

A critical, theoretical, and historical discussion of modern sculpture organized by general expressive concern of the artist.

Contents: (1) Narrative time: the question of the Gates of Hell; (2) Analytic space: futurism and constructivism; (3) Form and readymade: Duchamp and Brancusi; (4) A game plan: the terms of surrealism; (5) Tanktotem: welded images; (6) Mechanical ballets: light, motion, theater; (7) The double negative: a new syntax for sculpture.

Notes, p.289–98. Biography, p.299–302. Index, p.303–08.

K155 Lucie-Smith, Edward. Sculpture since 1945. N.Y., Universe, 1987. 160p. il. (part col.)

British ed., London, Phaidon, 1987.

A summary of post-World War II trends in sculpture, both national and international.

Contents: (1) The early modernists; (2) After the war: new and old traditions; (3) Post-war sculpture in Italy; (4) Post-war sculpture in Britain and France; (5) The American tradition; (6) David Smith and new American sculpture; (7) The revolution of the 1960s; (8) Pop, new realism and super realism; (9) Kinetic art; (10) Minimal art; (11) Conceptual art and land art; (12) Italian "arte povera" and British salvage art; (13) The pluralism of the 1970s; (14) Ethnography, archaeology and craft; (15) The return to figurative imagery. Bibliography, p.154–56. Index, p.157–59.

K156 Merkel, Ursula. Das plastische Porträt im 19. und frühen 20. Jahrhundert: ein Beitrag zur Geschichte der Bildhauerei in Frankreich und Deutschland. Berlin, Akademie, 1995. 288p. il.

Chronological survey traces the stylistic and philosophical path of portrait sculptures in Germany and France from the 19th century to early modern times. Reference to the portrait tradition in both painting and sculpture point out basic differences between the two media. The basic techniques and materials are clearly described to allow the reader to judge what is innovative. References to the works of great sculptors, such as Canova, Houdon, Rodin, Maillol, and Barlach ground the theoretic aspects of the study to the reality of the product.

Contents: Einleitung; Grundlegende Aspekte zur Bildniskunst und Porträttheorie; Porträt und Bildhauerei; Entwicklungslinien der Porträtplastik vom Klassizismus bis zum Historismus und Naturalismus; Neue Wege in der französischen Bildniskunst; Deutsche Porträtplastik im frühen 20. Jahrhundert; Avantgardistische Tendenzen in Frankreich; Zusammenfassung.

Includes a key to abbreviations; bibliography; list of detailed captions for plates; index by names and plates.

K157 Musée d'Orsay. Catalogue sommaire illustré des sculptures. Catalogue établi par Anne Pinget, Antoinette Le Normand-Romain, et Laure de Margerie. Paris, Ministère de la Culture et de la Communication, Éd. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1986. 300p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the museum's sculpture holdings arranged alphabetically by artist. Includes provenance information.

Contents: Formation de la collection; De la bonne utilisation du catalogue; Planches couleurs; catalogue illustré.

Liste extérieure, p.265–83. Index alphabétique, p.285–300.

K158 Nineteenth century French and Western European sculpture in bronze and other media. Ed. by Elizabeth Kashey, Robert Kashey. N.Y., Shepherd Gallery Associates, 1985. 312p. il. facs.

Catalog of the exhibition, Shepherd Gallery, New York (1985).

Appendix I: Obituary of Achille Collas, the inventor of réduction mécanique, by Albert Jacquemart; Appendix II: The founders of Barye's bronzes, by Joseph G. Reinis; Appendix III: Excerpts from a Barbedienne catalog; Appendix IV: Digest of works which appear both carved in stone and founded in metal with all relative dates of execution and exhibition as referred to in the Dictionnaire des sculpteurs de l'école française au dix-neuvième siècle [GLAH 1:K115], by Stanislas Lami, Paris, 1914, by Robert L. Allen; Appendix V: List of founders, editors, chisellers active in Western Europe during the nineteenth century.

General bibliography, p.306–10. Index of artists represented in the exhibition, p.311–12.

K159 Objectives: the new sculpture. Organized by Paul Schimmel. Essays by Kenneth Baker . . . [et al.] N.Y., Rizzoli, 1990. 192p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Newport Harbor Art Museum, Newport Beach, Calif. (1990). Presents a detailed examination of work by eight artists who collectively represent an important strand of contemporary sculpture.

Exhibition histories, p.176–[83]. Selected bibliography, p.184–[93].

K160 Qu'est-ce que la sculpture moderne? Paris, Centre Pompidou, 1986. 447p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Paris, Centre Georges Pompidou, Musée national d'art moderne (1986). Entries arranged by style. Each section provided with a descriptive introduction. Includes seven essays by various authors and an anthology of historical writing related to art of the 20th century. Biographies of the artists represented include photos.

Contents: Catalogue; Liste des œuvres exposées; Textes critiques (Échelle/monumentalité, modernisme/postmodernisme, la ruse de Brancusi), par Rosalind Krauss; Construire (l'histoire de) la sculpture, par Benjamin H. D. Buchloh; Réponse à côté de la question "Qu'est-ce que la sculpture moderne?", par Thierry de Duve; La sculpture américaine: l'anti-tradition, par Barbara Rose; La nouvelle sculpture des années soixante, par Franz Meyer; Actualité de Robert Smithson, par Jean-Pierre Criqui; In situ, lieux et espaces de la sculpture contemporaine, par Jean-Marc Poincet; Anthologie de textes historiques.

Biographie des artistes, p.393–400. Bibliographie sélective, p.441–44. Index des artistes exposés, p.445–47.

K161 Read, Herbert Edward. A concise history of modern sculpture. [Reprint.] N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1987. (World of art)

See GLAH 1:K105 for original annotation. Rev. and enl. ed. 1968. Cover title: Modern sculpture, a concise history. Frequently published and trans.

K162 Rheims, Maurice. Nineteenth century sculpture. Translated by Robert E. Wolf. N.Y., Abrams, 1977. [433]p. il. (part col.)

Trans. of French ed., Paris, Arts et Métiers Graphiques, 1972 [GLAH 1:K106].

Survey of 19th-century European and American sculpture with emphasis on French works, especially important for French academic sculptors. Places works in political, social, and cultural context.

Contents: (1) Neoclassicism; (2) Romanticism; (3) David d'Angers; (4) Realism or positivist art; (5) Carpeaux; (6) Symbolism; (7) Pre-Raphaelites; art nouveau; (8) Art in fusion: Rodin and his disciples; (9) The eve of the twentieth century; expressionism; the return to the Greeks; (10) The world of work; (11) Historical and military subjects; (12) Sculpture in the streets; (13) Decorative sculpture; (14) Portraits; (15) Caricatures; (16) Animal sculpture; (17) Sculpture and religion; (18) Funerary art; (19) Sensualism; (20) Kitsch; (21) The unusual; the bizarre; (22) Precious materials.

Bibliography, p.417–18. Index, p.419–30.

- K163 Rijksmuseum Kröller-Müller. Sculpture in the Rijksmuseum Kröller-Müller: catalog of the collection compiled and edited by Marianne Brouwer and Rieja Brouns. 5th Eng. ed. Amsterdam, Enschedé, 1992. 326p. il.

Scholarly catalog of an important collection.

Bibliography of exhibitions, p.[273]–326.

- K164 Sculpture du XXe siècle: 1900–1945, tradition et ruptures. Saint-Paul, Fondation Maeght, 1981. 226p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Fondation Maeght (1981). Arranged alphabetically by artist from Archipenko to Zadkine. Biographical sketches of artists include a photo of the sculptor and general description of the artist's works and specific commentary on the object in the collection.

Petit glossaire à l'usage du toucher, p.223–26.

- K165 Senie, Harriet. Contemporary public sculpture: tradition, transformation, and controversy. N.Y., Oxford Univ. Pr., 1992. 276p. il.

"This book is not intended as an inclusive history of recent public sculpture. Rather it offers a conceptual overview and develops a typology that may serve as a basis for further study and critical discussion."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Memorials and monuments reconsidered; (2) Sculpture and architecture: a changing relationship; (3) The public sculpture revival of the 1960s: famous artists, modern styles; (4) Landscape into public sculpture: transplanting and transforming nature; (5) Sculpture with a function: crossing the high art—low art barrier; (6) The persistence of controversy: patronage and politics.

Notes, p.235–65. Index, p.267–76.

- K166 Skulptur im 20. Jahrhundert. [Basel, s.n., 1984.] [Katalog:] Theodora Vischer. 234p. il. (part col.), plans (laid in).

Catalog of the exhibition, Basel (1980), curated by Ernst Beyeler, Reinhold Hohl, and Martin Schwander. Exhibition covers large outdoor sculpture; essays trace trends in 20th-century sculpture.

Contents: Tradition und Moderne im Menschenbild des 20. Jahrhunderts, von Karina Türr; Der Primitivismus in der modernen Skulptur, von Alan G. Wilkinson; Kubistische Konstruktionen und "kubistische" Stilrichtungen, von Sarah Gossa; Henri Matisse, von Franz Meyer; Vom revolutionären zum idealistischen Konstruktivismus, von Willy Rotzler; Der Gegenstand und seine Verwandlung: das Objekt im Dada und Surrealismus, von Andreas Franzke; Von der Assoziation zur Kreation, von Joachem Heusinger v. Waldegg; Neuansätze der fünfziger Jahre: die neue Freiheit der Skulptur, von Laszlo Glozer; Der späte Picasso, von August Kaiser; Spiel mit der Wirklichkeit, von Werner Jehle; Gestaltwahrnehmung und Struktur, von Franz Meyer; Selbsterfahrung durch die Sinne, von Antje von Graevenitz; Der Reichtum des Elementaren, von Zdenek Felix; "Maler-plastiker"—"Bildhauerplastiker": Aspekte der achtziger Jahre, von Martin Schwander, Theodora Vischer.

Bibliographies follow each chapter. Verzeichnis der ausgestellten Werke, p.218–33.

- K167 Strachan, Walter John. Towards sculpture: drawings and maquettes from Rodin to Oldenburg. Boulder, Colo., Westview, 1976. 263p. il. (part col.)

British ed., Towards sculpture; maquettes and sketches from Rodin to Oldenburg. London, Thames and Hudson, 1976.

The history of twentieth-century sculpture outlined by tracing the development of individual works from conception to final product. Sketches and maquettes are described and illustrated to indicate the creative path some sculptors have taken.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) Rodin to Oldenburg [(1) Rodin: the watershed; (2) The relief and façade sculpture; (3) Sited sculpture and open-air monuments; (4) The torso and the nude; (5) Thematic and formal obsessions; (6) The hieratic and totemistic element; (7) Open forms and constructions; (8) Equestrian sculpture, animal, bird, fish; (9) The illusion of movement and the dance, drawings for mobiles; (10) Portrait head and statue, the head as form.]

Notes on the text, p.236. Biographical notes, p.237–50. Selected bibliography, p.251. Index, p.262–63.

- K168 Türr, Karina. Farbe und Naturalismus in der Skulptur des 19. und 20. Jahrhunderts: Sculpturae vitam insufflat pictura. Mainz, Zabern, 1994. 297p. il. (part col.)

Examines the use of color in figurative sculpture in the 19th and 20th centuries.

"Türr's penetrating treatment of this period is complemented by an engrossing look at the aesthetic debates about polychromy; in particular the revival of interest in the coloured sculpture of the ancient Greeks."—Review, Burlington magazine v.137, Dec. 1995, p.854.

Contents: Entwicklungslinien farbiger Skulptur im 19. Jahrhundert; Die Diskussion um die Polychromie im 19. Jahrhundert; Zu den Quellen der Ablehnung farbiger Plastik; Aspekte des neuen Realismus in Malerei und Skulptur im 20. Jahrhundert; Immer noch: je mehr Natur, um so weniger Kunst?; Künstler und Werke; Vorwort zum Katalog; Katalog.

Verzeichnis der Abbildungen, p.284–91. Register, p.292–97.

- K169 Waldman, Diane. Transformations in sculpture: four decades of American and European art. N.Y., Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation, 1986. 272p. il. (part col.)

Catalog accompanying the seventh in the Guggenheim International Exhibition series.

"In this exhibition . . . I have chosen to single out and bring into perspective some of the most significant developments that have occurred in sculpture over the past four decades."—Ackn.

Chronology of exhibitions 1945–1985, p.240–50. Selected general bibliography, p.251–52. Artists' biographies, selected exhibitions and bibliographies, p.253–67. Index of artists in the catalogue, p.269.

WESTERN COUNTRIES*Australia

- K170 Hedger, Michael. Public sculpture in Australia. Roseville East, NSW (Distr. by Craftsman House); United States, G + B Arts International, 1995. 132p. il (part col.)

Beautifully illustrated selective survey of major areas of Australian sculpture. Does not include funerary or ecclesiastical sculpture.

Contents: (1) Fountains; (2) War Memorials; (3) Commemorative sculpture; (4) Garden sculpture; (5) Architectural and corporate sculpture; (6) Gallery collections.

Bibliography, p.123–25. Index p.130–32.

- K171 Sturgeon, Graeme. The development of Australian sculpture, 1788–1975. London, Thames and Hudson, 1978. 256p. il.

Well-illustrated, comprehensive survey of European sculptural traditions in Australia.

Contents: (1) In the beginning; (2) Early colonial 1831–1850; (3) Gold, growth and glory; (4) Early efforts; (5) Local boys make good; (6) The Academy triumphant; (7) Seeds of doubt 1923–1939; (8) Individuals, groups and great events 1939–1961; (9) Up, up and away 1961–1970; (10) Into the seventies: the New Sculpture. Appendix: Mildura Sculpture Exhibitions: awards and selection panels.

Notes to the text p.238–46. Selected bibliography p.247–48. Index p.253–56.

Canada

- K172 Porter, John R., and Bélisle, Jean. La sculpture ancienne au Québec: trois siècles d'art religieux et profane. Montréal, Ed. de l'Homme, 1986. 503p. il. (part col.), plates.

Substantial study of wood sculpture in Quebec.

Bibliographie, p.492–99.

- K173 Swinton, George. Sculpture of the Inuit. 3d rev. ed. Toronto, McClelland and Stewart, 1999. 302p. il. (part col.)

1st ed. entitled Sculpture of the Eskimo, 1972; rev. and upd., 1982. Significantly revised 3d ed., with a new section "Changes 1971–1999."

A substantial study of Canadian Inuit art.

Contents: The varieties of Inuit sculpture; The sananguaq-art concept; (1) The environment; (2) Two principles of Inuit survival: adaptation and change; (3) Cultural patterns; (4) The development of prehistoric Inuit art; (5) The development of art in historic times; (6) The development of art since 1948/49; (7) Differences in culture and motivation; (8) Aesthetics: Inuit vs. Kablunait; (9) The new art form; (10) The place of Inuit art.

Catalogue of artists by area, p.145. A bibliography of Eskimo art, archaeology, and ethnography, p.288–95. General index, p.295–97. Index of artists, p.298–302.

France

- K174 Bresc-Bautier, Geneviève. Sculptures des jardins du Louvre, du Carrousel et des Tuileries. Paris, Ministère de la culture, Éd. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1986. 2v. in 1. il. maps, plans. (Notes et documents des musées de France, 12)

Exhaustive inventory of sculpture in the gardens of the Louvre/Tuileries. V.1 offers historical background from 1564 through the early 1980s, along with biographical sketches of architects arranged chronologically by dates of activity. V.2 consists of an alphabetically arranged biographical dictionary of sculptors. Entries include biography, analysis of iconography, preparatory works, bibliographical references, and exhibitions. Classical works and copies (arranged by subject matter) and anonymous pieces comprise a separate section.

Les architectes, les restaurateurs, v.1 p.[171]–78. Chronologie des oeuvres, v.1 p.[179]–91. Bibliographie, v.1, p.[193]–95. Index [to both vols.], v.1, p.[205]–16.

- K175 Cabanot, Jean. Les débuts de la sculpture Romane dans le sud-ouest de la France. Paris, Picard, 1987. 291p. il., maps, plans.

Illustrated overview of the evolution of Romanesque sculpture in 11th-century France. Explores themes and motifs employed in various regions. Individual structures are documented with good quality illustrations, maps, plans, and bibliography.

Monographies, p.186–253. Notes, p. 255–82. Index des noms de lieux, p. 283–88. Tables des illustrations, p. 289–91.

- K176 Clodion et la sculpture française de la fin du XVIII<sup>e</sup> siècle. Sous le dir. de Guilhem Scherf. Paris, La documentation française, 1993. 594p. il., plans. (Louvre conférences et colloques)

Collection of papers presented at a colloquium on the sculptural works of Clodion and other prominent 18th-century French sculptors, Musée du Louvre (1992).

Index, p.567–91.

- K177 Dictionnaire des sculpteurs français du moyen âge. [Par] Michèle Beaulieu, Victor Beyer. Paris, Picard, 1992. 311p., il. map. (Bibliothèque de la Société Française d'Archéologie, 19)

This concise reference work provides biographical data, attributions, and bibliographical references on hundreds of medieval French sculptors. Arranged geographically with numerous cross-references.

Index des noms et surnoms, p.305–12.

- K178 Germain Pilon et les sculpteurs françaises de la Renaissance. Sous la dir. de Geneviève Bresc-Bautier. Paris, La documentation française, 1993. 400p. il., plans. (Louvre conférences et colloques)

Collection of scholarly papers presented at a colloquium on the sculptural works of Pilon and other prominent French sculptors of the Renaissance, Musée du Louvre (1990).

Bibliographies, p.387-91. Index des noms propres, p.393-96. Index des oeuvres de Pilon (ou attribuées), p.397-98.

K179 Hargrove, June Ellen. The statues of Paris: an open air pantheon, the history of statues to great men. N.Y., Vendome, 1990. 382p., il., plates.

Richly illustrated study of French monumental sculpture from the Bourbon Monarchy to the post-World War II era. Catalogue raisonné, p.341-55. Charts of subjects, p.375-76. Select bibliography, p.377-78.

K180 Janson, H. W. (Horst Woldemar). An iconographic index to Stanislas Lami's dictionnaire des sculpteurs de l'école française au dix-neuvième siècle. N.Y., Garland, 1983. xi, 218p. (Garland reference library of the humanities, 364)

Alphabetical listing to entries in Stanislas Lami's classic reference work on 19th-century French sculptors (GLAH 1:K115). Items are arranged by original (French) titles as recorded in Lami.

K181 Kjellberg, Pierre. Les bronzes du XIXe siècle: dictionnaire des sculpteurs. Paris, Les Ed. de l'Amateur, 1987. 684p. il. (part col.)

Biographical dictionary of bronze sculptors active during the 19th century in France. Individual entries include biographical essay, inventory of works, museum collections, and auction sales citations. Most entries include one or more reproductions as well as signature specimen. A well-researched list provides important historical information on individual foundries.

Dictionnaire des fondeurs, p.653-[80]. Bibliographie sommaire, p.681-82.

K182 Lyman, Thomas W. French romanesque sculpture: an annotated bibliography. With Daniel Smartt. Boston, Hall, 1987. 450p. il. (Reference publication in art history)

Annotated bibliography of monographic and periodical literature on Romanesque sculpture in France. 2,173 entries divided into three sections: 1700-1900, 1900-1944, and 1945 onward.

Index, p.379-450.

K183 Martin, Michel. Les monuments equestres de Louis XIV: une grande entreprise de propagande monarchique. Paris, Picard, 1986. 239p. il., maps.

Well-illustrated analysis of the aesthetic and political dimensions of equestrian statuary produced under the reign of Louis XIV.

Contents: (1) La rencontre de l'art et de la politique; (2) Les premières ébauches d'un art de magnificence; (3) La politique monumentale de la monarchie glorieuse de Louis XIV; (4) Les projets inachevés; (5) L'hommage des courtisans.

Notes, p.219-30. Bibliographie, p.231-35.

K184 Musée National de Versailles. Les sculptures. [Par Simone Hoog]. Préf. de Jean-Pierre Babelon avec la collab. de Roland Bossard. Paris, Réunion des musées nationaux, 1993. (1)v. il., plans.

Catalog of sculptures arranged by subject matter/name of sitter. Most entries are illustrated, with dimensions, materials, inscription(s), dates of execution/commission, and other pertinent details.

Contents: (1) Le Musée.

K185 Musée d'Orsay. Catalogue sommaire illustré des sculptures. Paris, Ministère de la culture et de la communication, Éd. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1986. 300p. il. (part col.)

Illustrated inventory of European sculpture in collections of the Musée d'Orsay. Individual entries include titles, materials, edition size for multiples, exhibition notes.

Liste extérieure, p.265-83. Index alphabétique, p.285-300.

K186 Normand-Romain, Antoinette le. Mémoire de marbre: la sculpture funéraire en France, 1804-1914. Photographies de Myriam Viallefont-Haas. Paris, Bibliothèque de la Ville de Paris, 1995. 447p. il., maps.

Well-illustrated and documented study of the development of French funerary sculpture in the 19th and early 20th century. Includes an overview of the advent of large urban cemeteries, surveys the religious and psychological meaning of funerary monuments as well as death itself in 20th-century French society.

Bibliographie p.391-401. Répertoire des tomes citées, p.402-33. Index des noms d'artistes et de défunts, p.437-46.

K187 Paris. Musée national du Louvre. Département des sculptures. Sculpture française. Par Françoise Baron, avec la collab. de Corinne Jankowiak et Christine Vivet. Paris, Réunion des musées nationaux, 1996-. (2)v. il.

Chronologically arranged catalog of French sculpture in the Louvre. Entries well documented, most illustrated, with copious bibliography.

Contents: (1) Le moyen âge (1996); (2) Renaissance et temps modernes (1998).

Oeuvres écartées, v.1, p.278-80. Liste des dépôts, v.2, p.748-71. Bibliographie, v.1, p.281-84, v.2, p.772-78. Table de concordance entre les numéros de la description 1950 et les numéros d'inventaire, v.1, p.285-87. Table de concordance entre les numéros du catalogue de 1922, du supplément de 1933 et les numéros d'inventaire, v.1, p.288-90, v.2, p.779-800. Liste des numéros d'inventaire, v.1, p.291-97, v.2, p.801-15. Index, v.1, p.298-317, v.2, p.816-77.

K188 La sculpture flamboyant. Nonette, Créer, 1983-. (4)v. il., plates.

Beautifully illustrated treatment of "flamboyant" sculpture of the High Gothic in France.

Contents: (1) Les grands imagiers d'Occident (1983); (2) Champagne Lorraine (1991); (3) Normandie Ile-de-France (1992); (4) Bourgogne Franche-Comté.

Includes bibliographies and indexes.

- K189 La sculpture française au XIXe siècle. Paris, Éd. de la Réunion des musées nationaux, 1986. xxviii, 471p. il.

Well researched, scholarly catalog of the exhibition, Galeries nationales du Grand Palais (1986).

Contents: (1) L'atelier du sculpteur; (2) Formation; (3) Techniques et matériaux; (4) Les commandes publiques politiques; (5) Les commandes publiques religieuses; (6) Mécanisme de choix et financement; (7) Urbanisme: le socle; (8) Sculpture mémoire; (9) La tradition classique; (10) L'esprit romantique; (11) Éclectisme; (12) Le réalisme; (13) Symbolisme et primitivisme.

Notes, p.407–28. Bibliographie, p.429–41. Expositions, p.442–45. Index, p.446–69.

- K190 Souchal, François. French sculptors of the 17th and 18th centuries: the reign of Louis XIV: illustrated catalogue by François Souchal, with the collab. of Françoise de la Moureyre, Henriette Dumuis. Trans. from the French by Elsie Hill and George Hill. Oxford, Cassirer, 1977–93. 4v.

See GLAH 1:K119a for original annotation. An essential reference work on sculpture of the period. Profusely illustrated biographical dictionary includes information on individual works, variants, private and museum locations, replicas, etc. V.4 incorporates new research findings, additions, corrections, and supplement to earlier vols.

Contents: (1) A–F; (2) G–L; (3) M–Z; (4) Suppl.

- K191 Stoddard, Whitney S. Sculptors of the west portals of Chartres Cathedral: their origins in Romanesque and their role in Chartrain sculpture including the west portals of Saint-Denis and Chartres. N.Y., Norton, 1987. xvii, 252p. il., map, plans.

Contains two books, including (reprinted in its entirety, but in a smaller format) The west portals of Saint-Denis and Chartres (Harvard Univ. Pr., 1952), and The sculptors of the west portals of Chartres Cathedral. The former title explores the sculpture of Saint-Denis, with particular reference to the façade ornamentation, columns, and heads. The second book, published here for the first time, explores in greater detail the west portals of Saint-Denis and Chartres, and the origins of the Chartres sculptors.

Measurements of the west portals of Chartres, p.237–38. Dijon, Saint-Benigne (W.S.S. with Ruth Pasquine), p.239–41. Chartres West to Burgundy—La Charité-sur-Loire, p.242–44. Selected bibliography since 1952, p.245–47. Index, 1952 and 1986, p.249–52.

- K192 West, Alison. From Pigalle to Preault: neoclassicism and the sublime in French sculpture, 1760–1840. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1998. xi, 324p. il. (part col.)

Contents: (1) Of moral instruction; (2) Toward classicism and nudity in French sculpture; (3) The Goujon "revival" in France; (4) Rome; (5) Early neoclassicism in France; (6) French sculpture after 1789; (7) The sublime: gigantism, the persistence of illusion and the ugly; (8) Canova, Flaxman and the vicissitudes of the international style in France; (9) The Elgin marbles and the end of the international style in France.

Notes, p.251–304. Bibliography, p.305–17. Index, p.318–24.

Germany and Austria

- K193 Baxandall, Michael. The limewood sculptors of Renaissance Germany, 1475–1525: images and circumstances. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1980. xx, 420p. il., maps, plates.

Pioneering monograph on the works of limestone sculptors active in pre-Reformation Germany, 1475 to 1525. Analyzes works by major sculptors of the period in their cultural and political setting.

"Notes on plates and sculptors" provides biographical data on artists, as well as selective bibliography on objects and their makers.

References, p.[217]–37. Select bibliography, p.239–42. Notes on plates and sculptors, p.[243]–317. Index, p.417–20.

- K194 Budde, Rainer. Deutsche romanische Skulptur, 1050–1250. Aufnahmen, Albert Hirmer und Irmgard Ernstmeier Hirmer. München, Hirmer, 1979. 130, 303p. chiefly il. (part col.), map.

Descriptive catalog of ca. 300 works of German Romanesque sculpture.

Literaturverzeichnis, p.115–22. Register [places, persons, iconography], p.123–31.

- K195 Deutsche Bildhauer, 1900–1945, entartet. Christian Tümpel (Hrsg.). In Zusammenarb. mit Dirk van Alphen . . . [et al.] Zwolle, Waanders, 1992. 264p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Nijmeegs Museum Commanderie van Sint-Jan (1991–2), and other locations. Eight introductory essays on modern sculpture in Germany and its Nazi critics, followed by a scholarly catalog with reproductions.

Biographien, p.198–247. Bibliographie, p.248–57. Personenregister, p.258–61.

- K196 Ethos und Pathos: die Berliner Bildhauerschule 1786–1914. Konzept und Leitung der Ausstellung, Peter Bloch, Sibylle Einholz, Jutta von Simson; Ausstellungsgestaltung, Roman Weyl. Berlin, Mann; Staatliche Museen Preussischer Kulturbesitz, 1990. 2v. il.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Staatliche Museen Preussischer Kulturbesitz, Berlin (1990).

Contents: (1) Beiträge, mit Kurzbiographien Berliner Bildhauer; (2) Ausstellungskatalog.

Verzeichnis der abgekürzten Literatur, v.1, p.377, v.2, p.407–9. Berliner Skulpturen des 19. Jahrhunderts: Bibliographie, v.1, p.379–98. Kurzbiographien Berliner Bildhauer, v.1, p.399–588. Personenregister, v.1, p.589–98, v.2, p.412–19.

- K197 Gegen den Strom: Meisterwerke niederrheinischer Skulptur in Zeiten der Reformation 1500–1550. Hrsg. vom Suermondt-Ludwig-Museum Aachen.

Idee und Konzeption: Barbara Rommé. [Katalogred.: Sibylle Gross]. Berlin, Reimer, 1996. 387p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Suermondt-Ludwig-Museum Aachen (1996-7). Wide-ranging, signed essays on the techniques, economics, and religious background of sculptural production in the period. 76 works reproduced, mostly in color, alongside scholarly catalog entries.

Abgekürzte Literatur, p.373-86.

K198 German Expressionist sculpture. Organized by Stephanie Barron. Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Museum of Art; Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1983. 224p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of an important exhibition, Los Angeles County Museum of Art and other locations (1983-84). Includes catalog entries for 150 sculptures.

Bibliography, p.213-18. Index, p.220-23.

K199 Hermann, Manfred. Kunst im Landkreis Sigmaringen: Plastik. Sigmaringen, Hohenzollerische Landesbank, Kreissparkasse Sigmaringen, 1986. 415p. il. (part col.)

Historical survey, Romanesque through modern, with full-page illustrations.

Includes bibliographical references. Verzeichnis der Kunstwerke, p.397-402. Verzeichnis der Künstler, p.403-06. Ortsverzeichnis, p.407-11.

K200 Liebmann, M. J. Die deutsche Plastik, 1350-1550. Leipzig, Seemann, 1982. 546p. il.

Trans. from Russian by Hans Störel.

Examination of German Renaissance sculpture, with particular focus upon the development of "national schools."

Contents: Allgemeine Probleme; Das Werden der nationalen Schule; Die Blütezeit der nationalen Schule; Die Dürerzeit.

Anmerkungen, p.495-533. Register, p.534-[47].

K201 Maué, Claudia. Die Bildwerke des 17. und 18. Jahrhunderts im Germanischen Nationalmuseum: Bestandskatalog. Mainz, Zabern, 1997-. (1)v. (Kataloge des Germanischen Nationalmuseums)

Collection catalog of German Baroque sculpture, planned in 3 vols.

Contents: (1) Franken.

Verzeichnis der abgekürzt zitierten Literatur, p.[245]-53.

Konkordanzen, p.[254]-55. Register, p.[257]-69.

K202 Meisterwerke mittelalterlicher Skulptur. Hrsg. von Hartmut Krohm. Berlin, Reimer, 1996. 526p. il. (part col.), plates, plans.

Published to accompany the exhibition "Meisterwerke mittelalterlicher Skulptur—die Berliner Gipsabgussammlung," Bode-Museum, Berlin (1996). Scholarly handbook and catalog of the collection of casts of medieval German sculpture in the Berliner Gipsabgussammlung.

Contents: Die Sammlungen von Gipsabgüssen in Berlin; Studien an Originalen und in der Abgussammlung; Der Strassburger Ecclesiameister; Der Naumburger Meister; Die

Abgüsse der Skulpturensammlung und der Gipsformerei; Katalog einer Auswahl von Gipsabgüssen.

Literatur, p.516-25.

K203 Mensch, Figur, Raum: Werke deutscher Bildhauer des 20. Jahrhunderts. Hrsg. von den Staatlichen Museen zu Berlin, Nationalgalerie. Autoren der Textbeiträge, Peter H. Feist . . . [et al.] Berlin, Staatliche Museen zu Berlin, Nationalgalerie, [1988]. 296p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Nationalgalerie (1988). Seven introductory essays, followed by an illustrated catalog.

Literaturhinweise, p.63-65. Zu den Künstlern: Biographien, Notate, Werke; alphabetisches Verzeichnis, p.81. Chronik—Internationale Plastik, p.258-84. Ausstellungsverzeichnis, p.285-95.

K204 Mittelrhein-Museum Koblenz. Die Skulpturen vom 12. bis 18. Jahrhundert. Bearb. von Gunther Fabian. Koblenz, Städtische-Museen Koblenz, Mittelrhein-Museum, 1993. 263p. il. (part col.) (Bestandskataloge des Mittelrhein-Museums Koblenz, Bd. 3)

Scholarly catalog of 103 works in the permanent collection.

Includes bibliographical references. Konkordanztafel, p.259. Register, p.260-61.

K205 Niehr, Klaus. Die mitteldeutsche Skulptur der ersten Hälfte des 13. Jahrhunderts. Weinheim, VCH, Acta Humaniora, 1992. vi, 532p. il. (Artefact, Bd. 3)

Revision of the author's thesis (Universität Bonn, 1987).

Long introductory survey. Scholarly topographical inventory-catalog with illustrations.

Abkürzungs- und Literaturverzeichnis, p.369-98. Register, p.399-409.

K206 Sculptures médiévales allemandes: conservation et restauration. Sous la dir. de Sophie Guillot de Suduiraut. Paris, Documentation française, 1993. 424p. il. (part col.), plates (Louvre conférences et colloques)

Proceedings of the conference, Musée du Louvre (1991) held in conjunction with the exhibition, "Sculptures allemandes de la fin du Moyen Age" (1991-2). Texts in French and German.

Includes bibliographical references. Index des noms propres, p.419-22.

K207 Les sculptures médiévales allemandes dans les collections belges. [Par] R. Didier, H. Krohm. Bruxelles, Société générale de banque, [1977]. lxxviii, 240, [12]p. il. (part col.), plates.

Catalog of the Europalia exhibition (1977). Bilingual in French and Dutch.

Index des noms de lieux et des personnes, p.[241-42].

Bibliographie, p.[243-51].

K208 Smith, Jeffrey Chipps. German sculpture of the later Renaissance c. 1520-1580: art in an age of uncertainty. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1994. xxi, 524p. il., map, plans.

Scholarly, well-documented analysis of mid-16th century sculpture in Germany. The impact of the Reformation on sculptural production in Germany is treated in depth.

Contents: (1) For our salvation: the role of religious art in Pre-Reformation Germany; (2) Art or idol? (3) The Impact of the Reformation on religious sculpture, c.1520–1555; (4) Religious sculpture after the Peace of Augsburg, 1555–1580; (5) In memoriam: epitaphs and simple tombs; (6) Commemorative series and complex tombs; (7) The renaissance fountain; (8) Sculpture and architecture; (9) Small collectible sculpture: a study in the history of taste; (10) The emergence of sculptural portraits; Conclusion.

"Biographical catalogue of selected sculptors" (biographical entries followed by lists of selected signed and/or documented works, major attributed works, and selective bibliography on 44 sculptors treated in the text), p.363–409. Summary bibliography, p.411–22. Notes, p.423–86. Index, p.489–515. Iconographic index, p.516–24.

Great Britain and Ireland

K209 Bailey, Richard N. England's earliest sculptors. Toronto, Pontifical Institute of Mediaeval Studies, 1996. xx, 155p., plates. (Publications of the dictionary of Old English, 5)

Overview of Anglo-Saxon stone sculpture, primarily 7th century A.D. Chapters are illustrated with line drawings of ornamental surface sculpture.

Bibliographical notes, p.125–29. Bibliography, p.130–47. Index, p.148–55.

K210 ———. Viking Age sculptures in Northern England. London, Collins, 1980. 288p., il.

Study of sculpture from the area that formed the pre-Viking kingdom of Northumbria. Examines historical background to the carvings as well as their political and cultural significance.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The historical background; (3) Dating; (4) Sculpture in the Anglian and Viking periods: continuity and contrast; (5) Hogbacks; (6) Gods, heroes and Christians; (7) Christian monuments; (8) Regional groupings, village links and schools; (9) Sculpture and history: a wider perspective; (10) The sculptor at work.

Abbreviations of county names, p.xx. Sites to visit, p.263–66. Further reading, p.267–71. Bibliography, p.273–80. Index, p.281–88.

K211 Beattie, Susan. The New Sculpture. London, Published for the Paul Mellon Center for Studies in British Art by Yale Univ. Pr., 1983. 272p. il., plates.

Extensively illustrated in-depth analysis of the influences and ramifications of the New Sculpture and its aesthetic revolution. Divided into five principal sections: sculptors at school; architectural sculpture; sculpture for the art gallery; sculpture for the home; the monument.

Contents: (1) The shape of a renaissance; (2) The liberation of the clay-modelling class; (3) Early achievements; (4) The triumph of the collaborative ideal; (5) Consolidation and decline; (6) The search for a new aesthetic; (7) The cult of the statuette; (8) Public image, private dreams; (9) Retrenchment and eclipse.

Biographical notes, p.239–52. Notes to the text, p. 253–62. Select bibliography, p.263–64. Index, p.265–72.

K212 Blackwood, John. London's immortals: the complete outdoor commemorative statues. London, Savoy Pr., 1989. 380p. il (part color)

Comprehensive illustrated study of outdoor statues organized by categories of commemoration.

Contents: (1) Royalty; (2) Philanthropy and education; (3) The arts; (4) Science and medicine; (5) Politics; (6) The armed forces; (7) Exploration and religion; (8) Making of a bronze; (9) Vanished statues; (10) The present of the past; (11) Where to walk: maps; Appendix.

Sources and acknowledgments, p.371–76. Index p.377–78.

K213 British sculpture in the twentieth century. Ed. by Sandy Nairne and Nicholas Serota. [London], Whitechapel Art Gallery, 1981. 263p., il.

Catalog of the two-part exhibition, Whitechapel Art Gallery (1981–82). Covering eighty years and more than 300 works, this catalog is arranged on the basis of themes, with well-illustrated essays. Contains brief summaries of careers, exhibitions, and publications of more than 100 sculptors born between 1846 and 1945.

Contents: (I) The patronage and support of sculptors, by Dennis Farr; (II) Classical and decorative sculpture, by Ben Read; (III) Cubism and sculpture in England before the First World War, by Jane Beckett; (IV) War memorials, by Richard Francis; (V) The Primitive, objectivity and modernity: some issues in British sculpture in the 1920s, by John Glaves-Smith; (VI) Painting and sculpture in the 1920s, by Richard Shone; (VII) Overhead sculpture for the underground railway, by Richard Cork; (VIII) Sculpture and the new "New Movement," by Charles Harrison; (IX) The Surrealist object and Surrealist sculpture, by Anna Gruetzner; (X) Sculpture in the 1940s and 1950s: the form and the language, by John Glaves-Smith; (XI) Public sculpture in the 1950s, by Richard Calvocoressi; (XII) Constructivism after the Second World War, by Alastair Grieve; (XIII) New abstract sculpture and its sources, by Lynne Cooke; (XIV) Figurative sculpture since 1960, by Timothy Hyman; (XV) A rhetoric of silence: redefinitions of sculpture in the 1960s and 1970s, by Stuart Morgan; (XVI) Constructed sculpture, by Brendan Prendeville; (XVII) Symbols, presences and poetry, by Fenella Crichton.

Selected bibliography, p.236–47. Biographies, p.248–63.

K214 Cheetham, Francis W. English medieval alabasters: with a catalogue of the collection in the Victoria and Albert Museum. Oxford, Phaidon-Christie's, 1984. 360p. il. (part col).

Important contribution to the study of British medieval sculpture. Lengthy introduction treats altarpieces, devotional images, the export trade, and contemporary commercial value of alabaster carvings. Complete catalog of individual works in the museum, supplemented by bibliographical references. Appendixes on iconographical subjects (including the Saints, the life of the Virgin, the Passion of Christ), paint analysis, and English alabasters on the Continent.

Bibliography, p.339-47. Concordance [museum accession number to catalogue number], p.348-50. Museum collection containing English medieval alabasters, p.351-52. Index, p.353-60.

K215 Corpus of Anglo-Saxon stone sculpture. [Ed.] by Rosemary Cramp. N.Y., Published for the British Academy by the Oxford Univ. Pr., 1984-. (5)v. il. (part col.), maps.

Scholarly series on pre-Romanesque sculpture in England. Vols. organized by area containing catalog entries including present location, evidence for discovery, stone type, present condition, description, discussion, date, and references.

Contents: (1) General introduction. County Durham and Northumberland; (2) Cumberland, Westmorland, and Lancashire North-of-the-Sands; (3) York and Eastern Yorkshire; (4) South-east England; (5) Lincolnshire.

K216 Darke, Jo. The monument guide to England and Wales: a national portrait in bronze and stone. Photography by Jorge Lewinski and Mayotte Magnus. London, Macdonald, 1991. 256p. il. (part col.), plates.

Illustrated guidebook of nationwide outdoor commemorative statues and memorials. Discusses their history and the individuals they commemorate. Organized geographically by county.

Contents: London; Southern counties; Wales; Central counties; Eastern counties; Northern counties.

Index, p.250-56.

K217 Harbison, Peter. Irish high crosses: with the figure sculptures explained. Drogheda, Boyne Valley Honey Company, 1994. 111p. il., maps.

Systematic survey of all Irish high crosses containing figure sculpture. Contains illustrations of entire crosses or drawings of the shafts outlining biblical scenes.

K218 Hill, Judith. Irish public sculpture: a history. Dublin, Four Courts Pr., 1998. 302p. il.

Valuable overview and census, arranged by period and location, concluding with contemporary public sculpture and its thematics.

Contents: (1) Pre-classical sculpture; (2) The classical tradition; (3) Nineteenth-century monuments; (4) Twentieth-century monuments; (5) New directions.

Notes, p.251-80. Bibliography, p.281-90. Index, p.295-302.

K219 Nairne, Sandy, and Serota, Nicholas, eds. British sculpture in the twentieth century. London, Whitechapel Art Gallery, 1981. 264p. il.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Whitechapel Art Gallery (1981-82), this survey identifies key issues, movements, and personalities instrumental in shaping of 20th-century British sculpture. Major chapters cover patronage and support of sculptors, war memorials, public sculpture, Cubism, Surrealism, Constructivism, and the resurgence of figurative sculpture in the 1960s.

Bibliography, p.236-47. Biographical sketches of "sculptors working in Britain, born between 1845 and 1945," p.248-63.

K220 Pre-Raphaelite sculpture: nature and imagination in British sculpture 1848-1914. Ed. by Benedict Read and Joanna Barnes. With contrib. by John Christian . . . [et al.] London, Henry Moore Foundation in assoc. with Lund Humphries, 1991. 176p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Matthiesen Gallery, London (1991), containing eight essays on artists followed by catalog entries and a brief biographical summary. All 88 exhibit pieces are illustrated.

Contents: Introduction, by Benedict Read; Bernhard Smith: "The Missing Brother," by Juliet Peers; Thomas Woolner: PRB, RA, by Benedict Read; Beyond Captain Cook: Thomas Woolner and Australia, by Juliet Peers; Thomas Woolner and the image of Tennyson, by Leonee Ormond; Alexander Munro: Pre-Raphaelite Associate, by Katharine Macdonald; The sculpture of John Lucas Tupper: "The Extremest Edge of P.R.Bism," by Joanna Barnes and Alexander Kader; John Hancock: Pre-Raphaelite sculptor?, by Thomas Beaumont James; Burne-Jones and sculpture, by John Christian.

Catalogue and biographies p.92-168. Abbreviations and bibliography, p.168-72. List of lenders p.173. List of exhibits, p.175-76.

K221 Read, Benedict. Sculpture in Britain between the wars. London, The Fine Art Society, 1986. 157p., il. Catalog of the exhibition, Fine Art Society (1986). Brief biographical accounts of 48 sculptors accompanied by full-page and half-page reproductions of their sculptural works and photographs of the artist.

General bibliography, p.22. References, p.23.

K222 _____. Victorian sculpture. New Haven, Published for Paul Mellon Centre for Studies in British Art by Yale Univ. Pr., 1982. 414p., il.

Major, well-researched study of sculpture in Britain, 1830-1914, intended to be the first comprehensive survey of the period. Covers more than 1,000 sculptures, more than half of them illustrated.

Contents: (I) The position of Victorian sculpture; (II) The life and the works; (III) Classes apart; (IV) The end of the century.

References, p.387-96. Bibliography, 397-403. Index, p.404-14.

K223 Strachan, Walter John. Open air sculpture in Britain: a comprehensive guide. London, Zwemmer; Tate Gallery, 1984. 279p. il.

Covers more than 550 three-dimensional works by primarily British modern sculptors. Organized by region. A small black-and-white photograph accompanies each entry.

Glossary of the main terms used in sculpture, p.245-56. Select bibliography, p.257-58. List of sculptors and their works and biographical notes, p.249-75.

- K224 Virtue and vision: sculpture and Scotland, 1540–1990. Ed. by Fiona Pearson. [Edinburgh], National Galleries of Scotland, [1991]. 175p. il.

Published on the occasion of the exhibition, Royal Scottish Academy (1991). Twelve essays treating about 320 sculptures. Includes works produced in Scotland, sculpture by Scots working outside the country, and works commissioned and collected by Scots.

Contents: (I) Introduction, by Timothy Clifford; (II) Sculpture and Scotland 1540–1700, by David Howarth; (III) Scottish connoisseurship and the Grand Tour, by Basil Skinner; (IV) "Proper Ornaments for a Library or Grotto": London sculptors and their Scottish patrons in the eighteenth century, by Malcolm Baker; (V) Samuel Joseph and the sculpture of Felling, by Terry Friedman; (VI) Thomas Campbell and Laurence Macdonald: the Roman solution to the Scottish sculptor's dilemma, by Helen E. Smailes; (VII) Sir John Steell and the idea of a native school of sculpture, by Fiona Pearson; (VIII) The Scottish Medal, by J. D. Bateson; (IX) Nineteenth century sculpture in Glasgow, by Robin Lee Woodward; (X) Pittendrigh MacGillivray, by Robin Lee Woodward; (XI) The Scottish National War Memorial, by Ian Gow; (XII) The twentieth century, by Douglas Hall.

- K225 Whinney, Margaret Dickens. Sculpture in Britain: 1530 to 1830. Second (integrated) ed. revised by John Physick. London, Penguin Books, 1988. 522p. il., maps. (Yale University Press pelican history of art)
See GLAH 1:K146 for previous eds. This ed. of the standard art historical survey contains new material added to the text as well as additional illustrations and maps.

Contents: (1) The sixteenth century; (2) The earlier seventeenth century; (3) Restoration sculpture and the Baroque: 1660–1714; (4) The Antique, the Baroque, and the Rococo: 1714–1760; (5) The first Royal Academicians; (6) Neo-Classicism; (7) The early nineteenth century.

List of the principal abbreviations, p.[426]. Notes, p.[427]–74. Bibliography, p.[475]–83. List of illustrations, p.[484]–92. Index, p.[493]–522.

Italy

- K226 Abbate, Francesco. La scultura napoletana del Cinquecento. Roma, Donzelli, 1992. ix. 285p. il., plates. (Saggi arti e lettere)

Survey of 16th-century sculpture in Naples.

Contents: (I) La colonia lombarda; (II) Fiorentini e spagnoli a Napoli; (III) Giovanni da Nola: l'egemonia di una bottega.

Bibliografia, p.259–70. Indice delle illustrazioni, p.271–78. Indice dei nomi, p.279–85.

- K227 Ames-Lewis, Francis. Tuscan marble carving, 1250–1350: sculpture and civic pride. Aldershot, Ashgate, 1997. xvii, 244p. il (part col.), plates, plans.

Surveys sculptural projects and architectural decoration with particular reference to Pisa, Siena, and Florence. Major and lesser-known individual artists are covered with emphasis on their work with marble.

Contents: (1) The civic context; (2) Materials, techniques and workshops; (3) Survival and reconstruction; (4) Pulpits; (5) Façades; (6) Funerary monuments; (7) Sculpture in the civic context.

Notes at the end of chapters. Select bibliography, p.226–33. Index, p.235–44.

- K228 Bellonzi, Fortunato. Scultura figurativa italiana del XX secolo. Roma, De Luca, 1989. 167p. chiefly il. Pictorial survey of 20th-century Italian sculpture, with introduction.

Indice degli scultori, p.167.

- K229 Carli, Enzo. Gli scultori senesi. Milano, Electa [1981]. 250p. il. (part col.), plates.

Beautifully illustrated survey of 16th-century Sienese sculptors. Color and black-and-white plates include many excellent details of tomb sculpture, statuary, and bas-relief narrative scenes. The work of each sculptor is illustrated with from four to more than forty reproductions.

Biographical sketches of each artist include bibliographical references.

Indice dei nomi e dei luoghi, p.245–50.

- K230 ———. La scultura italiana: da Wiligelmo al novecento. Milano, Martello, 1990. 584p. col. il.

Readable survey of Italian sculpture from the Middle Ages to the 20th century, by an authority. No scholarly apparatus.

- K231 Ciardi, Roberto Paolo; Casini, Claudio; and Tomasi, Lucia Tongiorgi. Scultura a Pisa tra quattro e seicento. Pisa, Cassa di risparmio, 1987. 373p. il. plates. Survey of Pisan sculpture, 15th–17th centuries.

Contents: Il quattrocento; Il cinquecento; Il rinnovamento dell'ornato scultoreo interno del duomo dal 1523 al 1545; Dalle cappelle dell'Annunziata e dell'Incoronata all'altare di San Ranieri nel Duomo di Pisa (1545–1592); La restaurazione del duomo negli interventi scultori del primo seicento; I monumenti sepolcrali cinquecenteschi nel complesso monumentali; la scultura bronzea.

Indice dei nomi, p.362–67. Indice delle illustrazioni, p.368–72.

- K232 Fittipaldi, Teodoro. Scultura napoletana del Settecento. Napoli, Liguori, 1980. 240p. il (part col.), plates. (Collana napoletana di studi e documenti in memoria del conte Giuseppe Matarazzo di Licosa, 1) Illustrated catalog of nearly 600 works by 17th- and 18th-century sculptors in Naples. With a long introduction.

Bibliografia, p.230–40.

- K233 Glass, Dorothy F. Italian Romanesque sculpture: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1983. xxvi, 302p. il., plates, map. (Reference publications in art history)

Annotated bibliography of monographic and periodical literature on Romanesque sculpture in Italy. More than 1,000 entries divided into seventeen chapters, arranged by literary genre, sculptural genre, iconographic subjects, etc.

Author index, p.281–93. Analytical index to regions and sites, p.295–302.

- K234 ———. Romanesque sculpture in Campania: patrons, programs and style. University Park, Pennsylvania State Univ. Pr., 1991. xix, 252p. il., plates, maps.

Contents: (1) Monte Cassino and its progeny; (2) Toward the Romanesque; (3) Salerno in the twelfth century; (4) A Campanian Romanesque school; (5) Before and after Frederick I; (6) The narrative programs; (7) The liturgical programs.

Selected bibliography, p.[225]–45. Index p.[247]–52.

- K235 Imago lignea: sculpture lignee nel Trentino dal XIII al XVI secolo. A cura di Enrico Castelnuovo. Testi di Marco Bellabarba . . . [et al.] Schede di Andrea Bacchi, Serenella Castri, Silvia Spada. Fotografie di Mario Ronchetti-Scala. Trento, Temi, 1989. 287p. il. (chiefly col.), 1 map. (Storia dell'arte e della cultura)

Lavishly illustrated survey of wood sculpture in the Trentino-Alto Adige region of Italy, 13th–16th century.

Bibliografia, p.279–83. Indice dei luoghi, p.284–86.

- K236 Istituto statale d'arte (Florence, Italy). Gipsoteca. Il Medioevo nei calchi della Gipsoteca. A cura di Luisella Bernardini, Mila Mastrorocco, Fema Monaci Scaramucci, con la collab. di Massimo Becattini. Firenze, Cassa di risparmio; L'Istituto, 1993. clxxvii, 286p. il.

Catalog of an important collection of medieval plaster casts.

Fonti d'archivio, p.260–62. Sigle e abbreviazioni bibliografiche, p.263–78. Concordanze, p.279–86.

- K237 ———. La scultura italiana dal XV al XX secolo nei calchi della Gipsoteca. A cura di Luisella Bernardini, Annarita Caputo Caloud, Mila Mastrorocco. Firenze, Cassa di risparmio; L'Istituto, 1989. xciii, 468p. il.

Survey of Italian sculpture, Renaissance to modern, based upon the important cast collection of the Gipsoteca, published in conjunction with a reorganization of the collection.

Contents: Saggi: La dotazione di calchi di opere rinascimentali nell'Accademia di Belle arti ed il centenario di Michelangelo (1784–1875); Memoria e progetto nei modelli decorativi proposti dalla Scuola di Santa Croce: 1876–1907; Il calco e il committente novecentesco; Il tradimento del segno. Catalogo. Notizie relative a gessi e a formatori tratte dalle filze dell'Archivio dell'Accademia di Belle Arti di Firenze: Appendice documentaria a cura di Annarita Caputo Caloud.

Fonti d'archivio, p.421–25. Sigle e abbreviazioni bibliografiche, p.427–41. Concordanze, p.443–65. Nuove numerazioni, p.467–68.

- K238 Italian renaissance sculpture in the time of Donatello: an exhibition to commemorate the 600th anniversary of Donatello's birth and the 100th anniversary of the Detroit Institute of Arts. Detroit, Detroit Institute of Arts, 1985. 268p. il. (part col.)

Italian ed. Donatello e i suoi. Milan, Mondadori, 1987.

Major catalog published to accompany the exhibition, Detroit Institute of Arts and other locations (1985–6). Signed catalog entries for 90 works of sculpture, by specialists.

Bibliography, p.247–67. Index of artists, p.268.

- K239 Il Lauro e il bronzo: la scultura celebrativa in Italia, 1800–1900. A cura di Maurizio Corgnati, di Gianlorenzo Mellini e di Francesco Poli. [Torino, s.n., 1990.] 182p.

Catalog of the exhibition, Circolo Ufficiali, Torino (1990). Scholarly, illustrated catalog of monumental public sculpture in 19th-century Italy.

Note biografiche, p.151–73. Esposizioni, p.175–76. Bibliografia, p.177–80.

- K240 Looking at Italian Renaissance sculpture. Sarah Blake McHam, ed. Cambridge, Mass., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1998. xvi, 287p. il.

"Eleven essays by prominent scholars who analyze in depth certain problems and issues regarding Italian sculpture of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries . . . primarily Tuscan and Roman."—Introd.

Contents: (1) The materials and techniques of Italian Renaissance sculpture, by G. M. Helms; (2) The revival of antiquity in early Renaissance sculpture, by H. W. Janson; (3) On the sources and meaning of the Renaissance portrait bust, by Irving Lavin; (4) Familiar objects: sculptural types in the collections of the early Medici, by John T. Paoletti; (5) Holy dolls: play and piety in Florence in the Quattrocento, by Christiane Klapisch-Zuber; (6) The virtue of littleness: small-scale sculptures of the Italian Renaissance, by Joy Kenseth; (7) Public sculpture in Renaissance Florence, by Sarah Blake McHam; (8) Looking at Renaissance sculpture with Vasari, by Paul Barolsky; (9) A week in the life of Michelangelo, by William E. Wallace; (10) Michelangelo: sculpture, sex and gender, by James M. Saslow; (11) Gendered nature and its representation in sixteenth-century garden sculpture, by Claudia Lazzaro.

Selected bibliography, p.275–78. Index, p.279–87.

- K241 McHam, Sarah Blake. The chapel of St. Anthony at the Santo and the development of Venetian Renaissance sculpture. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1994. xvi, 432p. il. (part col.), plates.

"An analysis of the chapel's history provides a focused study of the development of Venetian Renaissance sculpture from the late fifteenth century until the end of the sixteenth century."—Introd.

Bibliography, p.249–63. Index, p.265–71.

- K242 Montagu, Jennifer. Gold, silver, and bronze: metal sculpture of the Roman baroque. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1996. xvii, 262p. il. (part col.), plates. (Bollingen series, XXXV, 39; The A. W. Mellon lectures in the fine arts, 1990)

Revised version of author's Andrew Mellon lecture. Rather than a survey of the period, this work examines specific small-scale metallic sculpture of 17th- and 18th-century Rome in detail.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Roman bronzes around 1600; (3) Adoration of the host: tabernacles of the baroque; (4) The medal: Some drawings for the Hamerani; (5) Silver tribute from a prince to a grand duke: the "Piatti di San Giovanni"; (6) Giardini and Giardoni: silversmiths and founders of the eighteenth century; (7) From Rome to Lisbon: The patronage of John V; Appendices: (A) The tabernacles of Jacopo del Duca; (I) The ciborium of Sta. Maria Maggiore; (II) The ciborium of Sta. Maria in Vallicella; (III) The tabernacle of the Cappella Aldobrandini in Bologna; (IV) The Virgin and Child for Lisbon; (V) The Virgin of the Immaculate Conception for Lisbon.

Notes, p.213–48. Bibliography, p.[249]–55. Index of names and locations, p.[256]–62.

K243 ———. Roman Baroque sculpture: the industry of art. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1989. xi. 244p. il., plates.

Well-researched and documented study of the unexplored area of art as an industry in baroque Rome. Includes material on training of sculptors, the role of the founders in the production of sculpture, etc.

Contents: (1) Beginnings; (2) From the quarry to the church; (3) Founders and sculptors; (4) The sculptor as executant; (5) The sculptor as designer; (6) The "boys"; (7) The influence on the baroque of classical antiquity; (8) Festivals and feasts.

Notes, p.198–220. Bibliography, p.228–36. Index of names and places, p.237–42. Index of subjects, p.243.

K244 Niveo de marmo: l'uso artistico del marmo di Carrara dall'XI al XV secolo. A cura di Enrico Castelnuovo. Genoa, Colombo, 1992. 370p. il. (part col.) Published in conjunction with the exhibition, La Cittadella, Sarzana (1992).

Scholarly chronological survey of marble sculpture in Italy from the 11th through the 15th century. Essays by specialists.

Bibliografia generale, p.361–70.

K245 Olson, Roberta J. M. Italian Renaissance sculpture. N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1992. 216p. il. (World of art)

Accessible, brief chronological survey of the subject.

Select bibliography, p.213–14. Index, p.215–16.

K246 Panzetta, Alfonso. Dizionario degli scultori Italiani dell'ottocento e del primo novecento. Milan, Allemandi, 1994. 3v. il. (Archivi dell'ottocento) First published 1989 in 1 vol.

Very useful 3-vol., illustrated reference work providing biographical sketches of 19th-century Italian sculptors. Includes references to museums' holdings of individual works as well as published references.

Contents: (1) Dizionario; (2) Atlante illustrato delle opere; (3) Appendice rilevazione di mercato.

Vol.2 is comprised of reproductions, arranged alphabetically by sculptor. Individual entries include date, materials, dimensions, and location. Vol.3 (24p.) provides prices realized at auction.

Bibliografia, v.1, p.[291]–311.

K247 Pirovano, Carlo. Scultura italiana del Novecento. Contrib. di Rossana Bossaglia, Luciano Caramel, Ester Coen . . . [et al.] Milano, Banco Ambrosiano Veneto; Electa, 1991. 310p. il. (part col.)

Illustrated survey of 20th-century Italian sculpture. Most chapters explore major individual artists in depth. Includes some important letters and other primary source materials.

Nota bibliografica, p.305–06. Indice dei nomi, p.307–10.

K248 Poeschke, Joachim. Donatello and his world: sculpture of the Italian Renaissance. Photographs by Albert Hirmer and Irmgard Ernstmeier-Hirmer. Trans. From German by Russell Stockman. N.Y., Abrams, 1993. 496p. il.

Trans. of Die Skulptur der Renaissance in Italien, Bd.1. Donatello und seine Zeit. München, Hirmer, 1990.

This overview of Italian Renaissance sculpture includes some very good photographic reproductions of major and minor works, along with many details. The "Documentation" section provides biographical entries on major and minor sculptors, complete with additional bibliographical references and analysis of individual works. Continued by the following title.

Bibliography, p.477–89. Index, p.490–95.

K249 ———. Michelangelo and his world: sculpture of the Italian Renaissance. Photographs by Albert Hirmer and Irmgard Ernstmeier-Hirmer. Trans. From the German by Russell Stockman. N.Y., Abrams, 1996. 272p., il. (part col.), maps, plates

Trans. of Die Skulptur der Renaissance in Italien, Bd.2. Michelangelo und seine Zeit. München, Hirmer, 1990.

See preceding entry for annotation.

Bibliography, p.236–57. Index, p.258–71.

K250 Pope-Hennessy, John Wyndham, Sir. An introduction to Italian sculpture. 4th ed. London, Phaidon, 1996. 3v. il., plates.

See GLAH 1:K164 for 1st and 2d eds. 3d ed. N.Y., Vintage, 1985. Revised version of classic study of the period, with bibliography updated through 1993.

Contents: (1) Italian Gothic sculpture; (2) Italian Renaissance sculpture; (3) Italian High Renaissance and Baroque sculpture.

K251 ———. The study and criticism of Italian sculpture. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art; Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1980. 270p. il.

A classic collection of essays by the great authority originally presented as lectures.

Contents: Connoisseurship; The sixth centenary of Ghiberti; The Evangelist roundels in the Pazzi Chapel; The Medici Crucifixion of Donatello; Donatello and the bronze statuette; The Altman Madonna by Antonio Rossellino; Thoughts on Andrea della Robbia; The Italian plaque; The forging of Italian Renaissance sculpture.

K252 Pratesi, Giovanni. Repertorio della scultura fiorentina del seicento e settecento. Consulenza scientifica di Ursula Schlegel e Sandro Bellesi. Biografie a cura di Silvia Blasio. Torino, Umberto Allemandi, 1993. 3v. il. (Archivi di arte antica)

Beautifully illustrated census of Florentine sculpture of the 17th and 18th centuries.

Contents: (1) Text; (2-3) Plates.

Biografie degli artisti, v.1, p.[33]-65. Indice topografico delle opere, v.1, p.[67]-110. Bibliografia citata, v.1, p.[111]-17. Tavola sinottica, v.1, p.[118-19].

K253 Scalini, Mario. L'arte italiana del bronzo, 1000-1700: toreutica monumentale dall'alto Medioevo al Barocco. Busto Arsizio, Bramante, 1988. 361p. il. (part col.) (Arte e tecnica)

Brief chapters accompanied by many black-and-white plates, exploring the various uses of bronze in Italian architecture and sculpture from 1000 to 1700. Emphasis on major sculptors and their works.

Contents: Le grandi tappe della statuaria bronzea; Le porte bronzee; I complessi e gli arredi ecclesiastici; Il monumento equestre; Dalla lastra terragna al cenotafio dinastico; Il busto onorario e l'antico; Le artiglierie; Le fontane e l'arredo urbano; Le tecniche; Le fonti [excerpts from selected literary sources].

Bibliografia, p.351-56. Indice dei nomi e dei luoghi, p.357-60.

K254 Schlegel, Ursula. Die italienischen Bildwerke des 17. und 18. Jahrhunderts in Stein, Holz, Ton, Wachs und Bronze mit Ausnahme der Plaketten und Medaillen. Berlin, Mann, 1978. xii, 198p. il., plates. (Bildwerke der Skulpturengalerie Berlin, Bd. 1)

Scholarly catalog of the Baroque collection.

Verzeichnis der Künstler, p.187-[90]. Verzeichnis der Orte, p.191-95. Vergleichendes Verzeichnis der Katalog- und Inventar-Nummern und der zur Zeit allgemein benutzten älteren Kataloge, p.196-[97]. Vergleichendes Verzeichnis von Inventar-Nummern und Katalog-Eintragungen, p.198-[99].

K255 La scultura a Genova e in Liguria. Genova, Cassa di risparmio di Genova e Imperia, 1987-1989. 3v. il. (part col.)

Monumental history of Genoese and Ligurian sculpture, beautifully illustrated.

Contents: (I) Dalle origini al Cinquecento; (II) Dal Seicento al primo Novecento; (III) Dalla prima guerra mondiale ad oggi.

Bibliografie, v.1, p.[395]-411, v.2, p.[491]-510. Indice dei nomi, dei luoghi e delle cose notevoli, v.1, p.[413]-27. Indice dei nomi e dei luoghi, v.2, p.[511]-22.

K256 La scultura: bozzetti in terracotta, piccoli marmi e altre sculture dal XIV al XX secolo. A cura di Giancarlo Gentilini e Carlo Sisi. Firenze, S.P.E.S., [1989]. 2v. il. (part col.) plates.

Catalog of the exhibition, Siena, Palazzo Chigi Saracini (1989). Well-documented entries, presented chronologically, include bibliographic references, textual analysis, and reproductions of sculptural works produced from the 14th through mid-20th centuries. Documentary appendixes.

Bibliografia, v.2, p.541-58.

K257 La scultura decorativa del primo Rinascimento. Roma, Viella, 1983. 216p. il., map, plans, plates.

Texts in English, French, German, or Italian. Proceedings of the first Convegno internazionale di studi, Pavia (1980). Essays on decorative and relief sculpture of the early Renaissance.

K258 Scultura del '600 a Roma. A cura di Andrea Bacchi, con la collab. di Susanna Zanuso. Milano, Longanesi, 1996. 862p. chiefly il. (Repertori fotografici, 10)

Alphabetically arranged, illustrated survey of 17th-century sculpture in Rome. Includes useful biographical sketches.

Indice degli artisti, p.7-8. Biografie, p.769-846. Bibliografia, p.847-60.

K259 Scultura italiana del XX secolo. Pres. di Luigi Testaferri. Profili biografici di Giancarlo Caldini. Firenze, Casa editrice Il fiore, 1984. 285p. il.

Provides short (2-4p.) biographical sketches of 20th-century Italian sculptors, by different authors. Entries include numerous reproductions of individual works.

Indice degli artisti, p.283.

K260 Scultura nelle Marche. A cura di Pietro Zampetti. Testi di Luciano Arcangeli . . . [et al.] Firenze, Nardini, 1993 (1994 printing). 518p. il. (part col.)

Chronological survey of sculpture from the region, by various authors. Magnificently illustrated.

Bibliografia, p.499-510. Indice dei nomi, p.511-16.

K261 Scultura toscana del Novecento: Libero Andreotti . . . [et al.] A cura di Umberto Baldini. Firenze, Banca Toscana, 1980. 412p. il. (part col.)

Monographic survey of 20th-century Tuscan sculpture, organized alphabetically by artist (30 sculptors altogether).

Dati biografici essenziali, p.[401]-10.

K262 Vicario, Vincenzo. Gli scultori Italiani: dal Neoclassicismo al Liberty. 2d ed. (rev). Lodi, Pomerio, [1994]. 2v. il.

1st ed. in 1 vol. Lodi, Lodigraf, 1990.

Dictionary of biographical essays on Italian sculptors of the 18th and 19th centuries. Length of individual entries varies from very short (1 or 2 paragraphs) to long (20 pages or more). Entries include names of major works and monuments, with some illustrated in black and white.

K263 Wilk, Sarah Blake. Fifteenth-century central Italian sculpture: an annotated bibliography. Boston, Hall, 1986. xxvi, 401p. il. (Reference publication in art history)

Classified bibliography of published works focuses on "artists born in the provinces of Tuscany, Lazio, Umbria and the Marches." Topographical arrangement includes sections on general source material, collections of documents, literary sources, and individual monuments for each of the areas surveyed. Additional references to sites outside of central Italy, specific materials (other than stone), specialized commissions, and the lengthy section on individual sculptors make this an indispensable reference tool for the researcher of Italian art and related subjects.

Author index, p.355-66. Subject index, p. 367-401.

Latin America

- K264 Calzadilla, Juan, and Briceño, Pedro. Escultura, esculptores: un libro sobre la escultura en Venezuela. [Caracas], Maraven, [1977]. 233p. il. (part col.)

Survey of sculpture in Venezuela from colonial period to present. Includes biographical sketches of 79 sculptors active or influential in Venezuela.

Noticias biograficas, p.214–31. Bibliografía básica, p.232–33.

- K265 Carvacho Herrera, Víctor. Historia de la escultura en Chile. Santiago de Chile, Bello, [1983]. 328p. il. (part col.)

Substantial history of Chilean sculpture from prehistory to the modern era.

Bibliografía, p.311–14. Índice de nombres, p.315–19.

- K266 Kassner, Lily S. de. Diccionario de escultura mexicana del siglo XX. México, Univ. Nacional Autónoma de México, Coord. de Humanidades, 1983. 367p. il.

Brief entries on contemporary Mexican sculptors include biographical data and a list of exhibitions.

- K267 Mesa, José de, and Gisbert, Teresa. Escultura virreinal en Bolivia. La Paz, Academia Nacional de Ciencias de Bolivia, 1972. 489p. il. (Publicación [de la] Academia Nacional de Ciencias de Bolivia, 29)

Survey of sculptors active in Bolivia during the colonial period, 16th–18th centuries. Includes transcriptions of four pertinent documents.

Bibliografía, p.477–83. Índice de artistas, p.487–90.

- K268 Mexican monuments: strange encounters. Conceived and coord. by Helen Escobedo. Photographs by Paolo Gori. Essays by Nestor García Canclini . . . [et al.] N.Y., Abbeville Press, 1989. 251p. chiefly il. (part col.)

Personal view of civic monuments and public sculpture conceived by a site-oriented sculptor, presented in photographs and essays.

Index, p.252.

- K269 Moreno Villa, José. La escultura colonial mexicana. México, Fondo de Cultura Económica, 1986. 110p., il, plates. (Arte universal)

Reprint of original ed., [México,] El Colegio de México [1942]. A classic work on colonial Mexican sculpture, 16th–18th centuries.

Bibliografía, p.85–87. Índices: de lugares, p.97–98; de autores, p.99–101; de láminas, p.103–07.

- K270 Rubiano Caballero, Germán. La escultura en América Latina (siglo xx). Bogotá, Univ. Nacional de Colombia, 1986. 118p. il., plates.

Ambitious yet brief survey of Latin American sculpture from the second half of the 19th century.

Contents: Mexico; Centroamérica; Las islas; Suramérica. Bibliographical references at ends of chapters.

- K271 Sculpture of the Americas into the nineties. Washington, D.C., Museum of Modern Art of Latin America, 1990. 81p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Museum of Modern Art of Latin America, Washington, D.C. (1990).

Low Countries

- K272 Antwerp altarpieces: 15th–16th centuries. [Catalogue and essays ed. by Hans Nieuwduin.] Antwerp, Museum voor Religieuze Kunst, 1993. 2v. il. (chiefly col.)

Texts in English, Dutch, and French. Catalog of the exhibition, Antwerp Cathedral (1993). "Highlights various aspects of Antwerp altarpiece art and its study and conservation."—p.[9].

Contents: (1) Catalogue; (2) Essays.

Register of Antwerp altarpieces, v.1, p.193–95. Index, v.1, p.197–98, v.2, p.171–74.

- K273 Beelden in de late middeleeuwen en Renaissance = Late gothic and Renaissance sculpture in the Netherlands. [Reindert Falkenburg, Dulcia Meijers, Herman Roodenburg, . . . (et.al.), eds.] Zwolle, Waanders Uitgevers, 1994. 446p. il. maps, plans, plates. (Nederlands kunsthistorisch jaarboek, 45).

Collection of original essays, most in Dutch (with English summaries), surveys various aspects of late Gothic and Renaissance sculpture in the Netherlands. Heavily documented and illustrated, many of the essays address the issues of Protestant Reformation iconoclasm and the subsequent loss of sculptural works.

Notes at ends of chapters.

- K274 Gérard, Jo. Histoire de la sculpture belge. Préf. de Léonard Dieleman. Bruxelles, J.M. Collet, [1988]. 125p. il. (1 col.)

Brief survey, with good black-and-white plates. No scholarly apparatus. Chapter one (The most European sculptors) is in English and offers an introduction to the subject.

- K275 Jacobs, Lynn F. Early Netherlandish carved altarpieces, 1380–1550: medieval tastes and mass marketing. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., 1998. xv, 352p. il. Careful study of some of the "most lavish and splendid examples of late medieval art" of which some 350 examples survive.—Introd. Focuses on production and distribution as evidence of late medieval taste.

Notes, p.259–327. References, p.329–41. Index, p.342–52.

- K276 Laat-gotische beeldsnij kunst uit Limburg en grensland = Le Gothique tardif dans la sculpture du Limbourg et des pays frontalières. Sint-Truiden [Belgium], Provinciaal Museum voor Religieuze Kunst, 1990–1992. 2v. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the important exhibition, Provinciaal Museum voor Religieuze Kunst, Sint-Truiden (1990), and other locations. Texts in Dutch, French, and German. V.1 is the exhibition catalog; v.2 is the proceedings of a related symposium, Hoepertingen, Sint-Truiden (1990).

Bibliografie, p.[IV.1]–IV.6. Indices, p.[IV.7]–IV.18.

K277 La sculpture au siècle de Rubens dans les Pays-Bas méridionaux et la principauté de Liège. S.l., s.n., 1977. 387p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Musée d'art ancien, Brussels (1977). Explores Baroque sculpture in the Low Countries.

Bibliographie, p.341–77 (includes general works as well as regional studies). Liste des expositions mentionnées, p.378–82. Liste des abréviations, p.383–86.

K278 La sculpture belge au 19ème siècle. Conception, coord. scientifique et choix des oeuvres exposées, Jacques van Lennep. Bruxelles, Générale de Banque, 1990. 2v. il., ports.

Contents: (1) Histoire: (I) Entre baroque et classicisme: à l'aube du 19e siècle, par Helena Bussers; (II) La sculpture sous le règne de Léopold Ier (1831–1865), par Jacques van Lennep; (III) La sculpture de 1865 à 1895, par Hugo Lettens; (IV) Académisme et mutations au tournant du siècle, par Bruno Fornari; Aspects: (V) Les monuments publics à Bruxelles et en Wallonie, par Richard Kerremans; (VI) Les monuments publics en Flandre, par Paul Verbraeken; (VII) La sculpture funéraire, par Cecilia Vandervelde; (VIII) La sculpture et la bourgeoisie, par Dorine Cardyn-Oomen; (IX) La représentation du travail dans la sculpture: autour de Constantin Meunier, par Pierre Baudson; (X) Les fonderies de bronze, par Pierre-Paul Dupont et Colette Huberty; (XI) L'enseignement de la sculpture, par Sophie Orloff; (2) Artistes et oeuvres [catalog with illustrated entries on individual artists, alphabetically arranged].

Abréviations utilisées, v.2, p.626. Index des sculpteurs cités, v.2, p.627–31. Bibliographie sommaire, v.2, p.633.

K279 Steyaert, John W. Late gothic sculpture: the Burgundian Netherlands. With the collab. of Monique Tahan-Vanroose, and contrib. by Wim Blockmans and Leon Smets. Ghent, Ludion Press (Distr. by Abrams, 1994). 352p. il., col. plates, maps.

Scholarly, beautifully illustrated catalog, published in conjunction with the exhibition, Museum voor Schone Kunsten, Ghent (1994). Attempts to tell "the story of the development of Late Gothic sculpture" in the Burgundian Netherlands.

Lenders to the exhibition, p.11. Bibliography, p.344–48. Index, p.349–51.

Russia and Eastern Europe

K280 Adamec, Ana. Hrvatsko kiparstvo na prijelazu stoljeća. Zagreb, Denona, 1999. 324p. il.

In Serbo-Croatian (Romanized). Study of modern Croatian sculpture.

Notes, p.319–24. Biography of the author, p.329.

K281 Gamulin, Grgo. Hrvatsko kiparstvo XIX. i XX. stoljeća. Zagreb, Naprijed, 1999. 454p. il. (part col.) (Povijest umjetnosti u hrvatskoj, 5)

Beautifully illustrated study of modern Croatian sculpture.

Bibliografija, p.433–40. Popis reprodukcija [list of illustrations, alphabetical by artist], p.441–49. Kazalo imena [index], p.450–54.

K282 Gosudarstvennaia Tret'iakovskaia Galeria. Skul'ptura i risunki skul'ptorov konsta XIX-nachala XX veka: katalog. Moskva, "Sovetskii khudozhnik," 1977. 637p. il.

Text in Russian. Catalog of the Tretyakov Gallery collection of modern Russian sculpture.

Includes bibliographical references and indexes.

K283 Gosudarstvennyi russki muzei (Leningrad). Skul'ptura, XVIII-nachalo XX veka: katalog = Sculpture, 18th to early 20th century: catalogue. [Otvetsvennyi red. L.P. Shaposhnikova.]. Leningrad, "Iskusstvo," Leningradskoe otd-nie, 1988. 318p. il.

In Russian. Introduction in Russian and English. Illustrated, scholarly catalog of the museum collection.

Abbreviations, p.15–[18]. Bibliographical references and indexes, p.308–[19].

K284 Kwiatkowska, Maria Irena. Rzeźbiarze warszawscy XIX wieku. Warszawa, Wydawn. Nauk. PWN, 1995. 375p. il.

Survey of 19th-century sculpture in Warsaw. Mostly profiles of individual sculptors. Poorly illustrated.

Wykazy skrótów [abbreviations], 352. Indeks [index], p.353–69

K285 Monumental'naia i dekorativnaia skul'ptura Leningrada = Monumental and decorative sculpture of Leningrad. [Sostaviteli E.V. Plukhin, Abram Grigorevich Raskin.] Leningrad, Iskusstvo, 1991. 478p. il. In Russian, with English summary and captions. Seeks "to show Leningrad's monumental and decorative sculpture in all its wealth and typological variety, including monuments, statues, busts, the decoration of buildings and triumphal arches, reliefs, ornaments and park and garden sculpture"—p.95. Includes an introductory history of outdoor sculpture in Leningrad.

[English summary], p.95–96. Index, p.476–[79].

K286 Muzeum Narodowe w Warszawie. Rzeźba polska XIX wieku od klasycyzmu do symbolizmu: katalog zbiorów. Warszawa, The Museum, 1993. 150p. il.

In Polish. Introduction in English. Catalog of 19th-century Polish sculpture in the collections of the National Museum, Warsaw.

Wykaz skrótów [abbreviations], p.10–11. No index.

K287 Narodni muzeum v Praze. Lapidarium of the National Museum Prague: guide to the permanent exhibition of Czech sculpture in stone of the 11th to 19th centuries in the pavilion of the Lapidarium in the Exhibition Grounds in Prague. Prague, ASCO PRAHA, 1993. 110p. col. il.

Contents: Characteristics of the collection; History of the collection; Technology of sculpture in stone; Catalogue.

Selected literature, p.108. Explanations of specialised terms, p.109–10.

K288 Pomerantsev, Nikolai Nikolaevitch. Russkaia dereviannaia skul'ptura = Russian wooden sculpture. Moskva, "Izobrazitel'noe iskusstvo," 1994. 324p. chiefly col. il., port.

1967 ed. Moskva, Sov. Khudozhnik, 1967.

In Russian, with English summary and bilingual captions. Illustrated overview. The result of decades of restoration work initiated by the author, a prominent historian of medieval Russian art.

Summary [English], p.323–24.

K289 Protić, Miodrag B. Skulptura XX veka. Beograd, [s.n.], 1982. 138p. col. il. (Umetnost na tlu Jugoslavije)

In Serbo-Croatian (Romanized). Survey of 20th-century Yugoslav sculpture. Mostly color plates. Lacks scholarly apparatus.

K290 Rajna, György. Budapest köztéri szobrainak katalógusa. Budapest, Budapesti Városművészeti Egyesület, 1989. 653p.

Substantial study of public monuments in Budapest.

Indexes, p.576–653.

K291 Schmidt, Igor' Maksimilianovich. Russkaia skul'ptura vtoroi poloviny XIX-nachala XX veka. Moskva, "Iskusstvo," 1989. 302p. il. (part col.)

"The first fundamental study of the history of Russian plastic art for over 70 years of its development—from the late 1830s to 1917."—Summary, p.303. Survey of pre-Soviet modern Russian sculpture.

Notes, p.272–90. Bibliography, p.291–93. Index, p.300–02. Summary [in English], p.303.

K292 Sovremennaiia sovetskaia skul'ptura. [Avtory-sostaviteli N.M. Baburina, V.T. Sheveleva.] Moskva, "Sov. Khudozhnik," 1989. 279p. il. (part col.)

In Russian, with English summary. Survey of Soviet sculpture, 1960–1980.

Contemporary soviet sculpture [English summary], p.272. Catalogue, p.273–79.

K293 Tisucu godina hrvatskog kiparstva = Thousand years of Croatian sculpture. [Odgovorni urednik Ante Soric; urednik Igor Fiskovich.] Zagreb, Muzejsko Galerijski Centar, 1997. 373p. il. (part col.) (Znanstvena izdanja MGC, 4)

1st ed. 1991. In Serbo-Croatian (Romanized), with English summary. Originally published in conjunction with the exhibition, Muzejsko Galerijski Centar, Zagreb (1997).

K294 Žitko, Sonja. Historizem v kiparstvu 19. stoletja na Slovenskem. Ljubljana, Slovenska matica, 1989. 188p. il. (part col.)

Includes German and French summaries. Study of historicism in 19th-century Slovenian sculpture.

Notes, p.148–57. German summary, 165–70. French summary, p.171–76. Index, p.182–87.

Scandinavia

K295 Dänische Skulptur im 20. Jahrhundert. Ausstellung und Katalog, Renate Heidt. Übers. aus dem Dänischen, Georg Albrecht Mai, Renate Heidt. [Duisburg], Wilhelm-Lehmbruck-Museum der Stadt Duisburg, 1985. 134p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Wilhelm-Lehmbruck-Museum der Stadt Duisburg (1985), and other locations.

Biographische Daten, Ausstellungen, Literatur (Auswahl), p.113–30. Verzeichnis der ausgestellten Arbeiten, p.131–34.

K296 Nationalmuseum (Sweden). Nationalmuseum, Stockholm: illustrerad katalog över äldre svensk och utländsk skulptur = Illustrated catalogue of Swedish and European sculpture. Stockholm, The Museum, 1999. 431p. il.

The first and more substantial part of the catalog (p.[21]–253) is devoted to Swedish sculpture. Includes a brief history of the collection (in English).

Förklaringar till katalog, p.18–19. Abbreviated explanatory notes [in English], p.419. Nummerregister = numerical index, p.395–422. Register över omattributioneringar = index of revised attributions, p.423–24. Register över avporträtterade = index of portrait subjects, p.425–31.

K297 Ny Carlsberg Glyptotek. Danish sculpture 1694–1889: catalogue. By Jens Peter Munk. [Copenhagen], Ny Carlsberg Glyptotek, 1995. 222p., il. (part col.)

"This volume is part of a series of catalogues of the collection in the Ny Carlsberg Glyptotek."—t.p. verso.

Bibliography, p.217. Concordance, p.219–22.

Spain and Portugal

K298 Agullo y Cobo, Mercedes. Documentos sobre escultores, entalladores y ensambladores de los siglos XVI al XVIII. Valladolid, Publicaciones del Departamento de Historia del Arte, 1978. 227p.

Scholarly compilation of documents organized chronologically within alphabetical listing of artists.

Indice onomástico, p.179–222. Indice topográfico, p.223–25. Indice iconográfico, p.227.

K299 Ara Gil, Clementia-Julia. Escultura Gótica en Valladolid y su provincia. Valladolid, Institucion Cultural Simancas, Exm. Diputación Provincial de Valladolid, 1977. 780p. il.

Scholarly work divided by century (from the 13th to the 16th) and further divided by type: La escultura funeraria, La imagería, La escultura monumental, Los retablos, La talla ornamental en Madera. Accompanied by a large section of plates.

Contents: Introduccion; La Escultura de los siglos XIII y XIV; La Escultura de los dos primeros tercios del siglo XV;

La Escultura del ultimo tercio del siglo XV y de los primeros años del XVI.

Bibliografía, p.459. Indice, p.767-75. Indice general p.777-80.

K300 Barrio Loza, José Angel. Escultura romanista en La Rioja. [Madrid], Ministerio de Cultura, Dirección General de Bellas Artes, Archivos y Bibliotecas, Centro Nacional Información Artística y Arqueológica, [1981?]. 339p. il.

Overview of 16th-century sculpture followed by chapters devoted to workshops and artists in Logroño, Arnedo, Navarros, Sorianos. Each chapter contains plates.

Notas, p.284-98. Apéndice documental, 299-327. Indices, p.328-39.

K301 Buesa Conde, Domingo. La Virgen en el Reino de Aragón: imágenes y rostros medievales. Fotografías: José Antonio Duce. [Zaragoza], Ibercaja, [1994]. 461p. col. il.

Beautifully illustrated survey of Spanish Romanesque and Gothic polychrome sculpture representing the Virgin. Each unnumbered chapter is devoted to a specific region within the province of Aragon.

Contents: Los Valles del Viejo Aragón; El viejo Condado de Sobrarbe; Tierras de Ribagorza; Las Cinco Villas de Aragón; El reino de los Mallos; Las llanuras de Huesca; Las fronteras del Cinca; La gran llanura; La ciudad y el entorno de Zaragoza; Las tierras del río Ebro; Las Tierras del Moncayo; Los caminos del río Jalón; El Campo de Cariñena; La Comunidad de Daroca; Tierras del Bajo Aragón; La Depresión Ibérica; Las Tierras de Teruel; La Sierra de Albaracín; Tierras de Ganaderos; Nuestra Señora del Pilar.

Brief bibliographies at the end of each section. Bibliografía general, p.441-47. Indice de lugares, p.451-57.

K302 Calvo Serraller, F. Escultura Española-Actual: una generación para un fin de siglo. [Madrid?], Fundación Lugar, [1992]. 325p. il. (part col.)

This Spanish/English text is devoted to contemporary sculpture and includes a month-by-month chronology from 1980-1991 of exhibitions accompanied by excerpts of the shows.

Contents: (1) La escultura: de lo anti-moderno a lo pos-moderno; (2) La actualidad: proceso de "impurificación"; (3) Es la escultura una expresión artística española?; (4) Panorámica tridimensional para el arte español de los chenta; (5) Antecedentes circunstancialmente polémicos: los años setenta; (6) Las extravagantes sendas de extranjeros no identificados; (7) Dinámicas e interrogaciones de los ochenta; (8) Cuestiones regionales; (9) Cabos sueltos; (10) Espacialidad posmoderna y pérdida de tiempo.

Cronología 1980-1991, p.127-216. Bibliografía, p.218-19. English texts, p.221-325.

K303 Cardesa García, María Teresa. La escultura del siglo XVI en Huesca. [Huesca], Instituto de Estudios Altoaragoneses, Diputación de Huesca, [1993] 2v. il. (Colección de estudios aragoneses, 36)

Scholarly work documenting artists and religious sculptural decoration in the capital of Alto Aragón. Based on the author's doctoral thesis (Univ. de Zaragoza, 1990).

Contents: (1): El ambiente histórico-artístico [Introducción; (2) Características generales; (3) Indice biográfico de los artistas que trabajaron en Huesca en el siglo XVI]; (4): Catálogo de Obras [Nota preliminar; Introducción; Obras documentadas; Obras sin documentar; Obras documentadas desaparecidas; Conclusiones].

Apéndice documental, v.1, p.271-370, v.2, p.217. Bibliografía, v.1, p.371-94, v.2, p.233-51.

K304 Chamoso Lamas, Manuel. Escultura funeraria en Galicia: Orense, Pontevedra, Lugo, La Coruña, Santiago de Compostela. Orense, Instituto de Estudios Orensanos "Padre Feijoo" de la Diputación Provincial, 1979. 657p. il. (part col.)

Divided by province, this work surveys funerary sculpture in the convents, churches, monasteries, chapels, museums, cemeteries of Galicia. Each work is accompanied by a photograph.

Bibliografía, p.637-38. Indice onomástico, p.639-50. Indice toponímico, p.651-57.

K305 Cortés Arrese, Miguel. El gótico en Teruel: la escultura monumental. Teruel, Instituto de Estudios Teruelenses, 1985. 295p. il.

Detailed study of individual structures and their sculptural decoration in Teruel. Organized by century and type of sculpture: religious, funerary, civil.

Bibliografía, p.207-15. Indice de motivos representados, p.275-78. Indices, p.273-95.

K306 Dominguez Cubero, Jose. De la tradición al clasicismo pretridentino en la escultura jiennense. Jaen, Diputación Provincial de Jaen, Instituto de Estudios Giennenses, 1995. 263p. il.

Study of Spanish renaissance and mannerist sculpture in this provincial capital.

Bibliografía, p.245-49. Apéndice documental, p.251-63. Indice general (unpaginated).

K307 Durliat, Marcel. La Sculpture romane de la route de Saint-Jacques: de Conques à Compostelle. Mont-de-Marsan, CEHAG, 1990. 508p. il.

In-depth, richly illustrated work examining the influences of southwestern France and Northern Spain on Romanesque sculptural decoration of the principal structures along the pilgrimage route.

Contents: Introduction; (I) Le Pèlerinage à Saint-Jacques de Compostelle; (II) La mise en place du style; (III) Autour du "Maître de Jaca"; (IV) Le Temps des portails; (V) L'esprit d'un art.

Abbreviations, p.469-70. Notes, p.471-91. Index des noms de personnes et de lieux, p.492-500.

K308 Echeverría Goni, Pedro. Policromía del Renacimiento en Navarra. [Navarra], Gobierno de Navarra, Departamento de Educación, Cultura y Deporte, [1990]. 525p. il. (part col.) (Serie: Arte, 23)

In-depth study of renaissance polychrome sculpture including its evolution, religious context, esthetic, and technical aspects as well workshops and artists in Navarra.

Catálogo de modelos ornamentales, sus fuentes gráficas p.453-98. Glosario de términos, p.501-08. Bibliografía general y especializada, p.509-18. Índice de láminas, p.519-21. Índice de figuras y mapas, p. 522. Índice de cuadros, p.523. Índice toponímico de obras catalogadas, p.524-25.

K309 Escultura Catalana del segle XIX: del neoclassicisme al Realisme. [Barcelona], Fundacio Caixa de Catalunya, [1989]. 246p. il (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Casa Llotja de Mar, Barcelona (1989). Discusses the history of the Renaixença and Art Nouveau movement in Catalonia.

Contents: Introducció, Formació i producció; El fet religiós; L'impuls Oficial; El sector domèstic; L'expansió.

Biografies, p.183-91, Cronología comparada, p.194-99. Bibliografía, p.201. Versión española, p.205-25. English version, p.227-46.

K310 Estella Marcos, Margarita M. La escultura barroca de marfil en España: las escuelas europeas y las coloniales. Madrid, Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas, Instituto Diego Velázquez, 1984. 2v. il.

This exhaustive work on ivory sculpture covers European and colonial schools. Each vol. contains: Los artistas españoles y las corrientes Europeas; La escultura en marfil Hispano-Filipina; La escultura en marfil Hispano-Americana; La escultura en marfil Luso-India.

Contents: (1) Texto y Láminas; (2) Catalogo.

Bibliografía, v.1, p.433-94. Índice de artistas, v.1, p.497-500. Índice de lugares, v.1, p.501-18. Índice iconográfico, v.1, p.519-22. Índice general, v.1, p.523-24.

K311 Fuentes Pérez, Gerardo. Canarias, el clasicismo en la escultura. Santa Cruz de Tenerife, Aula de Cultura de Tenerife, Cabildo de Tenerife, 1990. 484p. il., plates. (Publicaciones científicas. Arte e historia, 12)

In-depth study of neo-classical sculpture (c. 1750-1900) in the Canary Islands. Chapters devoted to 33 artists.

Contents: El proceso de la ilustración en Canarias; Arte y academia en Canarias; Clasicismo en el escultor Canario; Autores y obras; Conclusiones.

Fuentes, p.473-82. Topónimos Canarios, p.483-84.

K312 Martín González, Juan José. Escultura barroca en España 1600-1770. Madrid, Cátedra, 1983. 628p. il.

A survey of Spanish Baroque sculpture organized by century and region.

Contents: (1) El siglo XVII: Castilla la Vieja y León; Andalucía: Sevilla; Andalucía: Granada; Canarias; Madrid; Otras regiones; (2) El Siglo XVIII.

Notas, p.535-86. Bibliografía, p.587-601. Índice, p.603-28.

K313 Museo Arqueológico Nacional. Catálogo de la escultura gótica. [Para] Ma. Angela Franco Mata. [2d ed.] Madrid, Ministerio de Cultura, Dirección General de Bellas Artes y Archivos, 1993. 286p. il.

Catalog of a major collection.

Contents: (I) Escultura exenta; (II) Escultura en relieve; (III) Escultura funeraria; (IV) Decoración arquitectónica; (V) Carpintería artística.

Bibliografía, p.253-71. Índice general, p.275-80. Índice de correspondencias, p.281-86.

K314 Parrado del Olmo, Jesús María. Los escultores seguidores de Berruguete en Palencia. Valladolid, Secretariado de Publicaciones, Universidad de Valladolid, Departamento de Historia del Arte, 1981. 488p. il.

Detailed study of the Alonso Berruguete school of Renaissance art. Abundantly illustrated.

Contents: (1) Rasgos generales; (2) Biografías, estilos y catálogos de obras; (3) Láminas.

Apéndice documental, p.385-456. Bibliografía, p.457-72. Índice de artistas, p.475. Índice geográfico, p.481. Índice general, p.485.

K315 Permanyer, L. Barcelona, open-air sculpture gallery. Photographs by Melba Levick. N.Y., Rizzoli, 1992. 299p. col. il.

Trans. of Barcelona, un museo de esculturas al aire. Barcelona, Poligrafía, 1991. French ed. Paris, Cercle d'art, 1992.

Surveys sculpture in twenty-seven of Barcelona's public squares and parks. Richly illustrated.

Index of sculptors and architects, p.299.

K316 Polo Sánchez, Julio J. Arte barroco en Cantabria: retablos e imaginería (1660-1790). [Santander], Universidad de Cantabria, Asamblea Regional de Cantabria, [1991]. 318p. il.

In-depth study of 17th- and 18th-century sculpture in Cantabria, including: romanista, pre-churrigueresco, churrigueresco, and rococo. Includes more than twenty altar-pieces and their sculptors.

Contents: (1) Consideraciones generales; (2) La escultura en Cantabria durante los siglos XVII y XVIII; (3) El barroco prechurrigueresco (c.1660-1700); (4) El barroco churrigueresco (c.1698-1745) y El roccocó (c.1745-1790); (5) Catálogo complementario.

Bibliografía, p.298-302. Índice de ilustraciones, p.303-07. Índice, p.308-18.

K317 Ramallo Asensio, Germán. Escultura barroca en Asturias. Oviedo, Instituto de Estudios Asturianos, Consejería de Educación y Cultura del Principado. 629p. il., plates.

General introduction to baroque sculpture in Asturias followed by chapters devoted to individual sculptors and their followers.

Apéndice complementario de artistas, p.525-48. Bibliografía, p.549-52. Catálogo complementario, p.553-611. Índices, p.615-29.

K318 Ramírez Martínez, José Manuel. Retablos mayores de La Rioja. Agoncillo, Labelgrafic, 1993. 394p. il.

Contents: (1) "Los artistas que les dieron vida en los siglos XVI, XVII y XVIII" [contains the sections: El mundo de los retablos, El foco artístico de Brines, Biografías]; (2) Las Obras [systematized by "Relación de retablos por orden cronológico"].

Bibliographical references throughout. Firmas de autores, p.367-94.

- K319 ———. Los talleres barrocos de escultura en los límites de las provincias de Alava, Navarra y La Rioja. Logroño, Servicio de Cultura de la Excm. Diputación Provincial, 1981. 325p. il. map.

Compilation of documents relating to artists and their works. Documentos, p.51–152. Árboles genealógicos, p.153–92.

- K320 ———, and Ramírez Martínez, Jesús María. La escultura en la Rioja durante el Siglo XVII. Logroño, Comunidad Autónoma de la Rioja, 1984. 317p. plates. Scholarly presentation of 121 documents relating to sculptural work of the region.

Firmas, p.227–35. Gráficos y fotos, p.237–300. Índice de lugares, p.305–08. Índice de artistas, p.309–12. Índice documental, p.313–17.

- K321 Real Academia de Bellas Artes de San Fernando. La escultura en la Real Academia de Bellas Artes de San Fernando: catálogo y estudio. Por Leticia Azcue Brea. [Madrid], Real Academia de Bellas Artes de San Fernando, 1994. 634p. il.

Systematic documentation of sculptural works arranged in chronological sections. Contains provenance and bibliographic information.

Contents: Introducción: Los escultores y la Real Academia; Ubicación de las colecciones y su conservación, con especial referencia a las colecciones escultóricas; Catálogo de la colección de Escultura del Museo de Real Academia de Bellas Artes de San Fernando; Análisis cualitativo y cuantitativo de la colección y valoración de su contenido. Esquema de trabajo; Catálogo sistemático ordenado cronológicamente; Fichas técnicas de las obras y documentación; Inventarios del Archivo y el Museo.

Bibliografía, p.605–21. Índice de escultores con obra en el museo, p.623–25. Temas tratados en el catálogo de escultura, p.627–31.

- K322 Rincón García, Wilfredo. Un siglo de escultura en Zaragoza (1808–1908). Zaragoza, Caja de Ahorros de Zaragoza, Aragón y Rioja, [1984?]. 227p. il.

Three principal sections: Pervivencia del barroco y primeros escultores neoclásicos (1808–1851), Eclecticismo (1851–1890), and Realismo y modernismo (1890–1908). Entries on artists contain biographical information and a catalog of their works.

Bibliografía general y fuentes documentales, p.215–18. Índice onomástico, p.219–27.

- K323 Spanish polychrome sculpture 1500–1800 in United States collections. Ed. by Suzanne L. Stratton. N.Y., Spanish Institute, 1993. 191p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Spanish Institute (1993–94), and other locations. Full page illustrations accompany text on individual sculptures. An illustrated appendix includes a significant number of sculptures not exhibited.

Contents: Spanish polychrome sculpture and its critical misfortunes, by Gridley McKim-Smith; Painters, polychromy and the perfection of images, by Ronda Kasl; The sculpted retablo in Spain, 1500–1750, by Judith Berg Sobré; Catalogue of the exhibition, by Samuel K. Heath.

Appendix, p.155. Bibliography, p.185. Glossary, p.190.

- K324 Victoria and Albert Museum, London. Spanish sculpture: catalogue of the post-medieval Spanish sculpture in wood, terracotta, alabaster, marble, stone, lead and jet in the Victoria and Albert Museum. [By] Marjorie Trusted. London, The Museum, 1996. 172p. il. (part col.), plates, map.

Catalog of 86 works constituting "one of the most important single groups of Spanish sculpture outside Spain."—Introd. Divided geographically by region, and within those divisions chronologically.

Includes bibliographical references. Bibliography and bibliographical abbreviations, p.157–68. Index of artists, p.169. Index of subjects, p.170. Index of inventory numbers, p.171. Rejected attributions, p.172.

- K325 Vila Jato, María Dolores. Escultura Manierista. Santiago de Compostela, Caixa de Ahorros Provincial de Ourense, 1983. 328p. il. (part col.), plates.

Survey of mannerist artists and their works.

Aparato crítico, p.283–311. Bibliografía, p.313–19. Siglas utilizadas, p.321. Índice, p.323–28.

Switzerland

- K326 Felder, Peter. Barockplastik der Schweiz. Bern, Gesellschaft für schweizerische Kunstgeschichte; Basel, Wiese Verlag, 1988. 348p. il. (part col.) (Beiträge zur Kunstgeschichte der Schweiz, 6)

Scholarly study of Swiss sculpture, 1600–1800, including foreign sculptors active in Switzerland. Includes a biographical dictionary.

Meisterverzeichnis 1600–1800, p.199–317. Abkürzungsverzeichnis, p.318–21. Literaturverzeichnis, p.322–28. Register, p.329–47.

- K327 Möters 1989: exposition suisse de sculpture = Schweizer Plastik Ausstellung = Esposizione svizzera di scultura. Une publication coord. par Jean-Pierre Brossard. La Chaux-de-Fonds, Editions d'En haut, 1989. 142p. il.

Text in French, German, and Italian. Catalog of the exhibition, Val-de-Travers (1985). Survey and catalog of works by 49 contemporary Swiss sculptors.

- K328 Sculpture suisse en plein air, 1960–1991. Photographies couleur, Heinz Preisig. [Réalisation du catalogue, André Kuenzi et Annette Ferrari]. Martigny, Fondation Pierre Gianadda, [1991]. 140p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Fondation Pierre Gianadda (1991). Photographic survey of works by contemporary Swiss sculptors.

Biographies, p.[93]–135.

United States

- K329 Clark, Henry Nichols Blake. A marble quarry: the James H. Ricau collection of sculpture at the Chrysler

Museum of Art. With an essay by William H. Gerdts. N.Y., Hudson Hills Pr. in assoc. with the Chrysler Museum of Art (Distr. by National Book Network, 1997). 280p. il. (part col.), maps, plates.

Beautifully illustrated catalog of the collection of 19th-century American sculpture amassed by James H. Ricau. Arranged chronologically by sculptor's birth date, the catalog provides lengthy biographical essays. Descriptive entries for each work include provenance, exhibition history, bibliography, and locations of other versions.

Notes to the reader, p.37–38. Short references, p.269–71. Index, p.273–80.

K330 Connor, Janis C., and Rosenkranz, Joel. Rediscoveries in American sculpture: studio works, 1893–1939. Photographs by David Finn. Austin, Univ. of Texas Pr., 1989. viii, 208p. il. (part col.), plates.

Well-researched profiles of twenty little-known American sculptors working in the academic and figurative traditions and active between 1893 and 1939. Individual entries include portraits of the artists, black-and-white reproductions, one or more plates (often in color), and valuable references to published and unpublished materials.

Notes, p.186–88. Locations of works illustrated, p.191–94. Bibliography, p.195–200. Index, p.201–08.

K331 Craven, Wayne. Sculpture in America. [Rev. ed.] Newark, Univ. of Delaware Pr., 1984. xxi, 782p. il. See GLAH 1:K197 for original ed. Revised ed. of a standard textbook on American sculpture. Includes information on works from the 17th century through 1970s.

Select bibliography, p.727–50. Index, p.751–82.

K332 Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco. American sculpture: the collection of the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco. By Donald L. Stover. San Francisco, Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco, [1982?]. 95p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, California Palace of the Legion of Honor (1982). Partial inventory of American sculpture held by the Fine Arts Museums. Individual entries, arranged by artist's birth date, include short biographical sketches and illustrations of works including titles, media, dates, markings, and donor information.

Checklist of the collection, p.81–93. Index of artists, p.94.

K333 Fort, Ilene Susan. The figure in American sculpture: a question of modernity. With contrib. by Mary L. Lenihan . . . [et al.] Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Museum of Art in assoc. with Univ. of Washington Pr., 1995. [248]p. il. (part col.), plates.

Published in conjunction with the exhibition, Los Angeles County Museum of Art (1995), and other locations. Lengthy, illustrated catalog essays followed by short biographies of the artists in the exhibition.

Contents: The cult of Rodin and the birth of modernism in America, by Ilene Susan Fort; "Sculpture has never been thought a medium particularly feminine"; "Mere beauty no longer suffices": the response of genre sculpture; Primitivism, folk art and the exotic; Creating the new black image;

Avant-garde or kitsch? modern and modernistic in American sculpture between the wars.

Artist biographies and exhibition checklist, p.[171]–236. Suggested readings, p.237–39. Lenders to the exhibition, p.243. Index, p.245–47.

K334 Kasson, Joy S. Marble queens and captives: women in nineteenth-century American sculpture. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., 1990. xviii, 293p. il.

Examines the subject matter of women in 19th-century American sculpture, with particular emphasis on public reception.

Contents: (1) Ideal sculpture: artists and patrons; (2) Viewing ideal sculpture: contexts and audiences; (3) Narratives of the female body: The Greek Slave; (4) Between two worlds: The White Captive; (5) Death and domesticity: Shipwrecked Mother and Child; (6) The problematics of female power: Zenobia; (7) Woman's other face: Eve and Pandora; (8) Domesticating the demonic: Medea; Conclusion: gender and power.

Notes, p.245–74. Selected bibliography, p.275–83. Index, p.285–93.

K335 Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. American figurative sculpture in the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston: catalogue. By Kathryn Greenthal, Paula M. Kozol, Jan Seidler Ramirez. Introd. essay by Jonathan L. Fairbanks. Boston, The Museum (Distr. by Northeastern Univ. Pr., 1986). xviii, 486p. il. (part col.) plates, ports.

Well-documented catalog of an important collection of 19th- and 20th-century American sculpture. Individual works are arranged chronologically by sculptor's birthdate. Anonymous works follow known artists' works. Lengthy biographical essays include extensive bibliography. Individual works' cataloging includes title, date(s), dimensions, provenance, and additional versions and their locations. An appendix provides information on certain works' metallic composition, foundry, etc.

Appendix: analysis of bronzes, [p.477]–82. Addenda, [p.483]. Index, [p.484]–86.

K336 The new sculpture, 1965–75: between geometry and gesture. Org. and ed. by Richard Armstrong and Richard Marshall. With essays by Richard Armstrong, John G. Hanhardt, Robert Pincus-Witten. N.Y., Whitney Museum of American Art, 1990. 355p. il (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Whitney Museum of American Art (1990). Surveys ten years of avant-garde sculpture, along with some video and film works. Arranged chronologically, the main catalog includes illustrations and reprints of essays, journal articles and reviews of the period and/or works under consideration.

Selected exhibition history, p.332–45. Selected bibliography, p.346–51. Works in the exhibition, p.352–55.

K337 Ortiz, Glenn B. Dictionary of American sculptors: "18th century to the present". Poughkeepsie, Apollo, 1984. xxiii, 656p., plates.

Dictionnaire encyclopedia of American sculptors comprised of short sketches of more than 5,000 American artists. Entries include biographical data, major works and commissions, awards, museum collections, gallery representation, and some contact information for living sculptors.

- K338 Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts. Museum of American Art. American sculpture in the Museum of American Art of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts. By Susan James-Gadzinski and Mary Mullen Cunningham. Eds.: Jacolyn A. Mott, Linda Bantel. Contrib.: Theresa Z. Esperdy . . . [et al.] Philadelphia, Museum of American Art of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, in assoc. with the University of Washington Press, Seattle, 1997. xvi, 351p. il. (part col.), plates.

Organized chronologically by sculptor's birth date, this illustrated inventory of American sculpture in the Academy's collections provides biographical sketches and object entries. The main catalog, which includes sculpture through 1950, includes dates, bronze casting information, dimensions, inscriptions, credit line (donor information) and accession number, exhibition history, "Ex collections" and related works. Later works, dated 1951 to 1995, are included (with illustrations) in a checklist.

Leaders guide to the catalogue, p.xv-xvi. Appendix: Metals and cameos checklist, p.333-44. Selected bibliography, p.345. Index, p.346-51. Authors' index, p.351.

- K339 Phillips, Lisa. The third dimension, sculpture of the New York school. N.Y., Whitney Museum of American Art, 1984. 110p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Whitney Museum of American Art (1984), and other locations, devoted to postwar sculpture of the New York School (1945-65).

Chronology, p.98-102. Selected bibliography, p.103-06. Works in the exhibition, p.107-09.

- K340 Reynolds, Donald M. Masters of American sculpture: the figurative tradition from the American renaissance to the millennium. N.Y., Abbeville, 1993. [276]p. il. (part col.), plates.

Richly illustrated survey of figurative American sculpture, concentrates on public monuments but includes some statuary and medal design.

Contents: Introduction: the figurative tradition; (1) Beaux-art symbiosis: architecture and the human figure; (2) A new perspective on the nature of public monuments; (3) Selected monuments to the great and the small; (4) Highlights of the equestrian monument in America; (5) Sentinels, doughboys, and GI Joes; (6) Insights into the American portrait; (7) The art of the medal; (8) The first Americans remembered; (9) Everyday people doing everyday things; (10) Twentieth-century transfiguration.

Notes to the text, p.[257]-69. Index, p.[270]-75.

- K341 Ricco, Roger; Maresca, Frank; and Weissman, Julia. American primitive: discoveries in folk sculpture. Photographs by Frank Maresca and Edward Shoffstall. N.Y., Knopf, 1988. x, 290p. il. (part col.), plates.

Encyclopedic overview of American folk and "outsider" sculpture, primarily of the 19th and early 20th centuries. Works from major collections illustrate thematic chapters.

Contents: (1) Figurative; (2) Utilitarian; (3) Portraiture and faces; (4) Weathervanes and whirligigs; (5) Articulated figures; (6) Decoys; (7) Carnival and entertainment; (8) Canes; (9) Animals; (10) Idiosyncratic and outsider art; (11) Religion and symbolism.

Notes, p.[285]-86. Bibliography, p.[287]-90.

- K342 Rogers, Millard F. Sketches and bozzetti by American sculptors, 1880-1950. Cincinnati, Cincinnati Art Museum, 1987. 243p. il., ports.

Catalog of the exhibition, Cincinnati Art Museum (1987). Explores the three-dimensional sketch, or bozzetto, created by American sculptors from the 19th through mid-20th century. Includes an introductory discussion of techniques. The catalog is arranged alphabetically by artist's name and includes brief biographical sketches.

Contents: Sketch, bozzetto, model; Modelling: "sculpture . . . born in clay" The plaster cast; Sculptors and their works.

Bibliography, p.231-33. Index, p.235-43.

- K343 Rubenstein, Charlotte Streifer. American women sculptors: a history of women working in three dimensions. Boston, Hall, 1990. xv, 639p., il.

Encyclopedic overview of monuments, decorative sculpture, and statuary by women artists of the United States. Chronologically arranged, chapters 3 through 11 provide short entries on sculptors of the period under consideration.

Contents: (1) The three-dimensional art of the early Native Americans; (2) Patience Wright: founding mother of American sculpture; (3) Pioneering American women sculptors: 1800-1875; (4) The gilded age: 1876-1905; (5) Fauns and fountains—traditional women sculptors: 1905-1929; (6) Women in the avant-garde: 1905-1929; (7) A new deal for sculpture: the 1930s; (8) The triumph of abstraction: 1940-1959; (9) High tech and hard edge: the 1960s; (10) Climbing Parnassus: the 1970s; (11) The 1980s and beyond.

Notes, p.575-603. Index, p.605-38.

- K344 Sculpture inside outside. Introd. by Martin Friedman. Essays by Douglas Dreishpoon . . . [et al.] Profiles of artists, Peter W. Boswell, Donna Harkavy. N.Y., Rizzoli; Minneapolis, Walker Art Center, 1988. 288p. il. (part col.), plates.

Catalog of the exhibition, Walker Art Center (1988). Features the work of 17 contemporary sculptors. Lengthy catalog essays place the work of the sculptors within the tradition of American sculpture. Individual sculptors' profiles include biographical sketches, some color reproductions, as well as solo and group exhibition histories and selected bibliography.

Profiles of the artists, p.[73]-275. Lenders to the exhibition, p.277. Select bibliography, p.278-81. Index, p.282-86.

- K345 Shapiro, Michael Edward. Bronze casting and American sculpture 1850-1900. Newark, Univ. of Delaware Pr., 1981. 207p. il. (American arts series)

Overview of the development of bronze casting in 19th-century America. Particularly valuable for its appendixes which detail costs associated with particular casting projects. Checklist of foundries active during the period include chronologies, major works cast, and markings.

Contents: (1) Introduction: sculptors and founders; (2) Casting at midcentury: Clark Mills and Henry Kirke Brown; (3) J. Q. A. Ward: selecting a foundry, choices of the 1870s and 1880s; (4) In France and America: Daniel Chester French and Augustus Saint-Gaudens, 1875–1900; (5) The development of lost-wax casting in America; Epilogue; Appendices.

Checklist of nineteenth-century American bronze foundries, p.165–76. Notes, p.177–93. Select bibliography, p.[194]–202. Index, p.203–07.

K346 Vanguard American sculpture: 1913–1939. [By] Joan M. Marter, Roberta K. Tarbell, Jeffrey Wechsler. New Brunswick, Rutgers Univ. Art Gallery, 1979. xi, 161p. il. (part col.), plates.

Catalog of the exhibition, Rutgers University Art Gallery (1979), and other locations. This well-researched catalog includes substantive, illustrated essays on the development of vanguard sculpture in America and its relation to trends in Europe from 1913–1939.

Contents: (1) Sculpture in America before the Armory Show: transition to modern; (2) Impact of vanguard exhibitions in Paris and New York, 1908–1929; (3) Early non-objective sculpture by Americans; (4) Figurative interpretations of vanguard concepts; (5) Direct carving; (6) Dada, Surrealism and organic form; (7) Machine aesthetics and art deco; (8) Interaction of American sculptors with European modernists: Alexander Calder and Isamu Noguchi; (9) Developments in American sculpture during the 1930s; (10) Modern American sculpture at the New York World's Fair, 1939.

Notes at ends of chapters. Index, p.151–52. Lenders to the exhibition, p.153. Catalogue of the exhibition, p.154–59.

K347 Watson-Jones, Virginia. Contemporary American women sculptors. Phoenix, Oryx, 1986. x, 665p. il. Important biographical dictionary. Includes, for each entry, artist's education, exhibition (group and solo) history, public and private collections, awards, media, additional art-related fields, bibliography, gallery affiliation, artist's statement, and mailing address.

Geographic index, p.658–60. Media index, p.661–64.

K348 Yale University. A checklist of American sculpture at Yale University. [By] Paula B. Freedman with assist. of Robin Jaffee Frank. Project photography by Marianne Bernstein. New Haven, Yale Univ. Art Gallery, 1992. 217p. il. (part col.)

Catalogue of 466 works by American sculptors, primarily of the 19th century. A brief introduction to the history of Yale's collection precedes the illustrated checklist. Individual entries, arranged alphabetically by sculptor's name, include basic biographical data, titles and dates of works, dimensions and inscriptions, information on bases and frames, and additional information. Works by unknown artists, arranged by century, follow the main catalog.

Notes to the reader, p.27. Accession number index, p.207–09. Title index, p.211–14. Donor index, p.215–16.

ASIAN COUNTRIES

Central Asia

K349 Bunker, Emma C. Ancient bronzes of the eastern Eurasian steppes from the Arthur M. Sackler collections. N.Y., Arthur M. Sackler Foundation (Distr. by Abrams, 1997). 401p.

Scholarly catalog of an important collection, which includes more than 500 artifacts.

Gazetteer, p.346–47. Bibliography, p.348–70. Concordance, p.371–74. Index, p.375–400.

China

K350 Ancient Chinese bronzes in the Arthur M. Sackler collections. Washington, D.C., Arthur M. Sackler Foundation (Distr. by Harvard Univ. Pr., 1987–1995). 3v. il. (part col.), maps.

A lavish set devoted to Chinese ritual bronze vessels which belonged to the late Dr. Arthur M. Sackler and are now the property of several American museums including the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Princeton University Art Museum, the Sackler Collection at Harvard University, and the Sackler Gallery in Washington, D.C. Each vol. was prepared by a major scholar of the field, and each is distinguished by abundant illustrations, up-to-date archeological material, detailed descriptions, and extensive bibliographies.

Contents: (1) Bagley, Robert W. Shang ritual bronzes in the Arthur M. Sackler collections (1987); (2) Rawson, Jessica. Western Zhou bronzes from the Arthur M. Sackler collections (1990); (3) So, Jenny. Eastern Zhou ritual bronzes (1995).

K351 Art of the Houma Foundry = Hou-ma t'ao fan i shu / Shan-shi sheng k'ao ku yen chiu so. Princeton, Princeton Univ. Pr., 1996. viii, 523p. chiefly il., maps. In English and Chinese.

"This book is a pictorial survey of two centuries of Chinese bronze decoration, as recorded in casting debris excavated from the largest ancient foundry site known anywhere in the world. . . . The heart of the book is the drawings and photographs of some 1160 pieces of foundry debris."—Pref. for English readers. Includes captions and an English summary. The text itself was prepared by the Institute of Archaeology of Shanxi Province, which excavated the foundry in the early 1960s.

K352 Caswell, James O. Written and unwritten: a new history of the Buddhist caves at Yungang. Vancouver, Univ. of British Columbia Pr., 1988. xv, 225p. il. (part col.), plates.

The caves, located in northern Shanxi Province and dating from the Northern Wei Dynasty of 1500 years ago, are major monuments which contain complex carvings and sculpture ranging from colossal Buddhas to small-scale pieces. This book offers alternative solutions to three issues: the history of the development of the caves, their patronage, and the reason(s) they were built.

Notes, p.127-92. Glossary, p.193-98. Bibliography, p.[199-216]. Index, p.217-25.

- K353 Chinese ivories: from the Shang to the Qing: an exhibition. [London], The Oriental Ceramic Society (Distr. by Sotheby Publications, [1984]). 200p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, British Museum (1984). The first major publication on the subject of Chinese ivories. Describes and illustrates 2,283 of the finest pieces from public and private collections.

Bibliography, p.198-99.

- K354 Fen, Chen Pei. Ancient Chinese bronzes in the Shanghai Museum. London, Scala (Distr. by Antique Collector's Club, 1995). 96p. il. (part col.)

One of the most comprehensive collections of ancient Chinese bronzes. Published in conjunction with the opening of the new Bronze Gallery, representing the first phase of construction of the new Shanghai Museum, this book includes information on the principal stages of bronze technology, discussions of casting techniques, and representative work from Chinese minorities.

Contents: The Shanghai Museum's "Hall of Ancient Chinese Bronzes"; The Xia Period: the emergence of Chinese bronzes; The Early and Middle Shang: the formative period; Late Shang to Early Western Zhou: a period of brilliance; Middle and Late Western Zhou and Early Spring and Autumn: a period of transition; Middle and Late Spring and Autumn and Warring States: a period of innovation; The collection.

- K355 Loehr, Max. Relics of ancient China from the collection of Dr. Paul Singer. [Reprint.] N.Y., Arno, 1975. 170p. il. (part col.)

Reprint of GLAH 1:K209. The color reproductions have been replaced with black-and-white and the illustrations are on dull rather than glossy paper.

- K356 Mowry, Robert D. China's renaissance in bronze: the Robert H. Clague collection of later Chinese bronzes, 1100-1900. Phoenix, Phoenix Art Museum, 1993. 256p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Phoenix Art Museum (1993).

Bronze castings from the Song through the late Qing dynasty in this private collection are illustrated and described. A welcome addition to a neglected field.

Select bibliography, p.13-16.

- K357 Munsterberg, Hugo. Chinese Buddhist bronzes. [Reprint.] N.Y., Hacker, 1988. 192p. il.

Reprint of GLAH 1:K214. Omits the colored frontispiece; other illustrations are not as sharp as in the original. Text and pagination unaltered.

- K358 Paludan, Ann. The Chinese spirit road: the classical tradition of stone tomb statuary. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., [1991]. xiii, 290p. il. (part col.), map.

"The only book in which one can find lists of all imperial Chinese tombs, their locations, and a comparison of the statuary and plans of major imperial tombs or tomb clusters."—Review, Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians, v.51, June 1992, p.230. A pioneering study of non-Buddhist stone monumental sculptures lining the avenue of approach to an important tomb. Examples, representing a powerful and deep-seated tradition, date from 117 B.C. to the 1930s and come from all over China. Includes many fine photographs of statuary that is largely inaccessible. Appendixes deal with Shunling, a tomb in Shaanxi province, foreigners in the Northern Song Spirit Roads at Gongxian, and Ming tombs of a transitional period at Fengyang in Anhui province and Zuling in Jiangsu province.

Bibliography, p.271-80. Index, p.281-90.

- K359 Powers, Martin J. Art and political expression in early China. New Haven, Yale Univ. Pr., [1991]. xiv, 438p. il.

Winner of the 1991 Joseph Levenson Prize from the Association of Asian Studies for books in pre-20th century Chinese studies.

Scholarly work concerned with the ways in which Chinese art and politics interact. Seeks to show, by means of a limited number of examples, how issues of political expression can be traced in Han pictorial art. Also discusses the two distinct traditions in Han dynasty art, stylized or ornamental and realistic or classical.

Notes, p.379-410. Glossary of Chinese characters, p.411-16. Bibliography, p.417-26. Index, p.427-38.

- K360 Segalen, Victor. The great statuary of China. Trans. by Eleanor Leveux. Ed. by A. Joly-Segalen. Afterword by Vadime Elisseff. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1978. 192p. il.

Trans. of Chine: la grande statuaire. Paris, Flammarion, 1972.

A study of Chinese stonework in its sculptural form, based on Segalen's trips to China in 1909, 1914, and 1917.

Index, p.189-92.

- K361 Watson, William. Ancient Chinese bronzes. 2d ed. London, Faber and Faber, 1977. 128p. il., plates (part col.) (The arts of the east)

See GLAH 1:K220 for original annotation. "Reissued without change, apart from minor corrections."—Pref. to second ed.

Select bibliography, p.112-16. Notes, p.117-25. Index, p.126-28.

- K362 Wu, Hung. The Wu Liang Shrine: the ideology of early Chinese pictorial art. Stanford, Stanford Univ. Pr., 1989. xxiii, 412p. il., plate.

Winner of the 1990 Joseph Levenson Prize from the Association of Asian Studies for books in pre-20th century Chinese studies.

Discusses the Wu Liang offering shrine of the Han dynasty, known primarily through sets of ink rubbings on paper made from the carved stones. Examines the Wu family cemetery, reviews previous scholarship for the site, and reconsiders the iconography of the carvings. In Part I, the author documents the shrine as an archeological relic, a work of art, and a cultural monument, and compares it to the Sistine Chapel and Chartres Cathedral as "an epic representation of human thought". Part II provides an interpretation of the decorative program of the shrine interior.

Bibliography of cited works, p.[371-92].

India, Nepal, Pakistan, Tibet

K363 Asher, Frederick M. The art of Eastern India, 300-800. Minneapolis, Univ. of Minnesota Pr., 1980. 143p., plates.

Careful, scholarly study of sculpture in Eastern India.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) The Gupta age; (3) Growth of the style (c.550-700); (4) Bridge to Pala art (c.700-800); (5) Concluding remarks.

Notes, p.107-23. Bibliography, p.127-36. Index, p.139-43.

K364 Bandyopadhyay, Bimal. Survey of Indian metal sculpture. Delhi, Sundeep Prakashan, 1987. xvi, 201p. il., plates.

"An efforts [sic] has been taken in the present work to make an aesthetical [sic] appraisal of the metal art of India."—Pref.

Contents: (1) Indian metal sculpture from the earliest period to the thirteenth century A.D.; (2) Iconographical study; (3) Some literary references on metal casting.

Glossary, p.[183]-88. Bibliography, p.[189]-93. Index, p.[195]-201.

K365 British Museum. A catalogue of the Gandhara sculpture in the British Museum. [By] W. Zwalff. London, British Museum Pr., 1996. 2v. il. (part col.), map.

Essential collection catalog.

Contents: (1) The name and the land; (2) The remains of Gandhara; (3) History of the collection; (4) Buddhism in Gandhara; (5) The stupa; (6) Statues and images; (7) Reliefs; (8) Some architectural elements; (9) Relics and reliquaries; (10) The art history; The catalogue.

Abbreviations, p.369-70. Bibliography, p.371-410. Concordance, p.411-13. Index 1: Institutional and individual owners, benefactors and agents, p.414-15. Index 2: Sites and other sources, p.416. Index 3: General index, p.417-23.

K366 Chandra, Pramod. The sculpture of India, 3000 B.C.-1300 A.D. Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art, 1985. 224p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, National Gallery of Art (1985), inaugurating the Festival of India celebrations in the U.S. "A deliberate attempt has been made in this exhibition to give the viewer an impression of Indian sculpture as a whole."—Introd. Most illustrations are black-and-white.

Glossary, p.215-19. Bibliography, p.220-24.

K367 Czuma, Stanislaw J. Kushan sculpture: images from early India. With the assist. of Rekha Morris. Cleveland, Cleveland Museum of Art in coop. with Indiana Univ. Pr., 1985. xiv, 242p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Cleveland Museum of Art (1985-

86), and other locations. "This important phase of Indian art history has never been adequately explored."—Foreword.

Selected bibliography, p.233-41.

K368 Dehejia, Vidya. Art of the imperial Cholas. Columbia Univ. Pr., 1990. xviii, 148p. il. (The Polsky lectures in Indian and Southeast Asian art and archaeology)

"For a period of four hundred years, from the ninth to the thirteenth centuries, the Cholas were the dominant . . . force in south India and beyond. . . . The age produced dynamic royal personalities who shaped the artistic activity of the times; it is around these personalities that I have structured my chapters."—Introd. Brief introduction to the period.

Simplified genealogy of the Chola dynasty, p.127. Notes, p.129-33. Selected bibliography, p.135-37. Index, p.145-48.

K369 De Lippe, Aschwin. Indian medieval sculpture. N.Y., North-Holland Pub. Co. (Distr. by Elsevier-Holland, 1978). xxiii, 411p. il. (part col.)

"The present survey . . . concentrates on the post-Gupta and mediaeval periods. In addition, it uses as illustrations, almost exclusively, works of art that still are in situ. . . . It thus attempts to show . . . Indian sculpture in its proper aesthetic and religious framework and context."—Pref.

Bibliography, p.[401]-05. Glossary, p.[407]-08. Index, p.[409]-11.

K370 Desai, Devangana. Erotic sculpture of India: a socio-cultural study. 2d ed. New Delhi, Munshiram Manoharlal, 1985. xvi, 271p. il., maps, plates.

Based originally on the author's dissertation (Univ. of Bombay, 1970). 1st ed. New Delhi, Tata-McGraw Hill, 1975. The text is unchanged in this ed.; two photographs have been added.

"The book purports to be a study of practically the entire corpus of the empirical material of erotic motive and action and their significance . . . studied, first descriptively and then critically . . . the emphasis being on the period between A.D. 500 and 1400."—Foreword.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) Sexual representation in early art; (III) Sexual representation in the art of the period A.D. 500-900; (IV) Sexual representation in art of the period A.D. 900-1400; (V) Sexual representation in art—an analysis; (VI) Sex in religion: magico-religious beliefs and practices; (VII) Tantrism and erotic sculpture; (VIII) The Hindu temple in its social setting; (IX) Sex in society; (X) Eroticism in literary art; (XI) Conclusion.

Abbreviations, p.205-06. Notes, p.207-32. Glossary, p.233-37. Bibliography, p.238-51. Supplement to bibliography, p.252-53. List of drawings, p.254. List of photographs (with notes), p.255-62. Index, p.263-71.

K371 Gangoly, O. C. South Indian bronzes: a historical survey of south Indian sculpture with iconographical notes based on original sources. With an introd. note by J. G. Woodroffe. Rev. and enl. 2d ed. Calcutta, Nababharat Publishers, 1978. 23, 142p. il., plates. 1st ed. 1915.

New ed. of a pioneering work that "collected materials for the study of South Indian bronzes," attending closely to Sanskrit sources previously unpublished."—Introd.

includes descriptive notes of the plates in Sanskrit (roman script) with English translation. Bibliography, p.[141]–42.

- K372 Gods, guardians, and lovers: temple sculptures from North India A.D. 700–1200. Ed. by Vishakha N. Desai, Danielle Mason. N.Y., Asia Society Galleries in assoc. with Mapin Publishing, Ahmedabad, 1993. 288p. il. (part col.), map, plans.

Catalog of the exhibition, Asia Society Galleries (1993), and other locations.

Bibliography, p.280–287.

- K373 Haque, Enamul. Bengal sculptures: Hindu iconography up to c. 1250 A.D. Dhaka, Bangladesh National Museum, 1992. 584p. il.

"The principal aim of this work is to study systematically the iconography of the Hindu sculptures of Bengal down to c. 1250 A.D. It is based on a corpus of extant specimens, the overwhelming majority of which are being noticed here for the first time."—Intro.

Abbreviation, p.14–17. Select bibliography, p.398–407. Index, p.567–84.

- K374 Heeramanek, Alice N. Masterpieces of Indian sculpture from the former collections of Nasli M. Heeramanek. Intro. and descriptive catalogue by Alice N. Heeramanek. [S.l.], Heeramanek, 1979. [200]p. il. (part col.), map.

A tribute to a great collector, whose acquisitions have enriched many museums.

Bibliography, p.[63].

- K375 Huntington, Susan L. The "Pala-Sena" schools of sculpture. Leiden, Brill, 1984. xxxiv, 296p. il., maps, plates. (Studies in South Asian culture, 10)

Originally presented as the author's PhD thesis (Univ. of California), devoted to the sculpture of Bihar and Bengal from the 8th–12th century.

"It seems to me that this new investigation of Paāla and Sena sculpture will constitute a landmark in Indian art studies."—Ed. pref.

Contents: (I) Introduction; (II) Origins and precedents; (III) Dated sculptures; (IV) Stone sculpture of Bihar; (V) Metal sculpture of Bihar; (VI) Stone sculpture of Bengal; (VII) Metal sculpture of Bengal; (VIII) Concluding remarks; Appendix of inscribed dated sculptures.

Abbreviations, p.xxxiii. Note on transliteration of Sanskrit words, p.xxxiv. Bibliography, p.[251]–79. Index, p.[280]–96.

- K376 Indian bronze masterpieces, the great tradition: specially for the Festival of India. Consulting ed., Karl J. Khandalavala. Ed., Asha Rani Mathur. Assistant ed., Sonya Singh. New Delhi, Brijbasi Printers, 1988. 280p. chiefly col. il., map.

Multi-author survey of the subject.

Contents: (I) Early bronzes, by M. K. Dhavalikar; (II) Kishan bronzes from Chausa and Satavahana bronzes, by M. N. Deshpande; (III) The golden age of the Guptas, by Krishna Deva; (IV) The Buddha in bronze: Phophnar and Ramtek, by A. P. Jamkhedkar; (V) Jain bronzes from western India: Akota, Vasantagadh and Valabhi, by Umakant P. Shah; (VI) Bronzes from Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh, by B. V. Shetti; (VII) Bronzes of Kashmir, by Pratapaditya Pal; (VIII) Hill bronzes from the Chamba area, by Vishwa Chander Ohri; (IX) Eastern Indian bronzes: the Pala period; (X) South Indian bronzes, by R. Nagaswamy.

- K377 Klimburg-Salter, Deborah E. Buddha in Indien: die frühindische Skulptur von König Asoka bis zur Guptazeit. Mit einem Aufsatz von Maurizio Taddei. Unter der Mitarb. von Eva Allinger . . . [et al.] Hrsg. von Wilfried Seipel. Milano, Skira; [Wien], Kunsthistorisches Museum Wien, 1995. 303p. il. (chiefly col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, Kunsthistorisches Museum Wien (1995), devoted to early Buddhist sculpture from the 3d century B.C. to the 6th century A.D. Richly illustrated in color.

Objektbeschreibung, p.233–91. Literatur, p.293–301. Glossar, p.302–03.

- K378 Living wood: sculptural traditions of southern India. Ed. by George Michell. Bombay, Marg Publications, 1992. 208p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Whitechapel Art Gallery, London (1992), and other locations, devoted to the wooden sculpture of southern India.

Contents: Introduction, by George Michell; Vahanas: conveyers of the gods, by Joanne Punzo Waghorne; Chariot panels from Tamil Nadu, by George Michell; Doors and woodcrafts of Chittinad, by Deborah Thiagarajan; Christian altar figures, by George Michell; Carvings in Kerala temples, by George Michell; Bhuta figures of south Kanara, by Nima Poovaya-Smith; Exhibition catalogue, by George Michell.

Glossary of Indian names and terms, p.207–08.

- K379 Mallebrein, Cornelia. Die anderen Götter: Volks- und Stammesbronzen aus Indien. Mit Beitr. von Heidrun Brückner . . . [et al.] Hrsg. von Gisela Völger. Köln, Braus, 1993. 559p. il. (part col.), maps.

Substantial, scholarly catalog of the exhibition, Rautenstrauch-Joest-Museum für Völkerkunde der Stadt Köln (1993–94), devoted to the anthropology and ethnography of bronze sculpture in India.

Die Metallanalyse der Volksbronzen, p.509–14. Sammlungen indischer Volks- und Stammesbronzen an europäischen Museen und Instituten, p.515–17. Autoren, p.518–20. Bibliographie Autorenteil, p.521–32. Bibliographie Katalogteil, p.533–42. Glossar, p.543–54. Index der Götternamen, p.555–57.

- K380 ———. Skulpturen aus Indien, Bedeutung und Form: Sammlung Robert Gedon ergänzt durch Stücke aus Privatsammlungen und den Beständen des Staatlichen Museums für Völkerkunde, München. Einl., Gritli von Mitterwallner. München, Staatliches Museum für Völkerkunde, [1984]. 287p. il. (part col.), map, plates (1 folded).

Catalog of the exhibition, The Museum (1984), based on the Gedon collection, part of which was acquired by the museum in 1977; includes objects in several media from other private and public collections.

Contents: Steinbildkunst; Metallkunst; Elfenbeinkunst; Holzschnitzkunst; Anhang.

Erklärende Zeichentafeln, p.270–73. Glossar, p.274–78. Literatur, p.279–84. Index, p.285–87.

K381 Nehru, Lolita. Origins of the Gandharan style: a study of contributory influences. Delhi, Oxford Univ. Pr., 1989. xxii, 230p. il., maps.

Based on a "systematic analysis of the interaction between Gandharan sculpture and the various stylistic traditions upon which it drew."—Foreword.

Notes, p.107–29. Bibliography, p.130–39. Index, p.219–30.

K382 Newman, Richard. The stone sculpture of India: a study of the materials used by Indian sculptors from ca. 2nd century B.C. to the 16th century. Cambridge, Mass., Center for Conservation and Technical Studies, Harvard Univ. Art Museums, 1984. vi, 106p. il., charts, maps.

"The purposes of this study were three-fold: (1) to identify as precisely as possible the varieties of rocks used in these Indian sculptures, and to establish a consistent and geologically correct nomenclature for these rocks; (2) to discuss possible quarry sources for the sculptures based on a survey of the literature on Indian geology; (3) to determine the value of petrographic studies in establishing the provenance of Indian sculptures."—Introd.

References, p.104–06.

K383 Pal, Pratapaditya. Indian sculpture: a catalogue of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art collection. Los Angeles, Los Angeles County Museum of Art; Berkeley, Univ. of California Pr., 1986–88. 2v., il. (part col.)

Part of a series of scholarly catalogs of the Museum's distinguished Indian and Southeast Asian collections.

Contents: (1) Circa 500 B.C.–A.D. 700; (2) 700–1800.

Chronology, v.1, p.273–74. Bibliography, v.1, p.275–81, v.2, p.309–13. Index, v.1, p.283–87, v.2, p.315–19.

K384 Plaeschke, Herbert, and Plaeschke, Ingeborg. Frühe indische Plastik. Leipzig, Koehler und Amelang, 1988. 187p. il.

Survey of early Indian sculpture, 1st century B.C. through the 5th century A.D.

Literaturhinweise, p.177–79. Namen- und Sachverzeichnis, p.179–82.

K385 Poster, Amy G. From Indian earth: 4,000 years of terracotta art. Brooklyn, Brooklyn Museum, 1986. 208p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, Brooklyn Museum (1986), providing "a complete picture of terracotta art throughout India's history."—Pref.

Contents: Indian terracotta art: an overview, by Amy G. Poster; The social milieu of ancient Indian terracottas 600 B.C.–600 A.D., by Devangana Desai; Brick temples: origins and development, by Vidya Dehejia; Terracotta traditions in nineteenth- and twentieth-century India, by Stephen P. Huyler; Technical examination of terracottas, by Lambertus van Zelst.

Chronology, p.70. Selected bibliography, p.198–204. Index, p.204–08.

K386 Randhawa, Mohindar Singh, and Schreier Randhawa, Doris. Indian sculpture: the scene, themes, and legends. Bombay, Vakils, Feffer and Simons, 1985. xi, 368p. il.

"This book provides an introduction to the best specimens of Indian sculpture in stone."—Pref. Poor black-and-white plates, but a valuable survey.

Select bibliography, p.355–58. Index, p.359–68.

K387 Ray, Niharrajan; Khandalavala, Karl; and Gorakshkar, Sadashiv. Eastern Indian bronzes. New Delhi, Lalit Kala Akademi, 1986. 181p. il. (part col.), plates. Large-format presentation, largely chronological in arrangement.

Descriptive notes, p.103–70. Select bibliography, p.171–77. Glossary, p.178–81.

K388 Reedy, Chandra L. Himalayan bronzes: technology, style, and choices. Newark, Univ. of Delaware Pr., 1997. 341p. il., maps.

"This book applies a new multidisciplinary approach to the study of 340 medieval-period Himalayan copper-based statues" and seeks to define the "technological style" of Himalayan bronzes, which complements their "visual style."—Introd.

Contents: (1) Introduction; (2) Geography, religion, and archaeology of the Himalayas; (3) Casting and decorating methods; (4) Metals; (5) Clay core materials; (6) Using technology to identify regional origins; (7) Final results: regional styles and iconography of Himalayan bronzes; (8) New approaches to interpreting works of art; Appendices.

Selected Sanskrit terms, p.304–06. Selected Tibetan terms, p.307. Selected technical terms, p.308–09. References cited, p.310–29. Index, p.330–37. Index of analyzed sculpture, p.338–41.

K389 Schroeder, Ulrich von. Indo-Tibetan bronzes. Hong Kong, Visual Dharma Publications (Distr. Nanda Distribution, 1981). 576p. il. (part col.), maps.

"This book, the result of a sixteen year study of Buddhist art, is the first full-length publication concerning the stylistic evolution of the image casting traditions of northern India, the Himalayas and Tibet, as well as those of China during the Ming and Qing Dynasties."—p.11. Monumental in format and substance, profusely illustrated.

Present locations of illustrated bronzes, p.558–60. Glossary, p.561–62. Bibliography, p.563–70. Index, p.571–76.

K390 Sneed, Stella. Animals in four worlds: sculptures from India. With texts by Wendy Doniger and George Michell. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., 1989. ix, 199p. il.

"The title of this book refers to the perception of animals (more particularly, their representation in Indian sculpture) in nature, in the human world, in the divine world, and in the world of fantasy."—p.3. Consists largely of black-and-white photographs.

Contents: A note on dating; The four worlds, by Wendy Doniger; The sculptures, by George Michell; Plates, by Stella Snead.

Japan

K391 Bushell, Raymond. Netsuke masks. N.Y., Kodansha (Distr. by Harper and Row, 1985). 206p. il. (part col.)

The first book devoted entirely to netsuke masks. 400 color plates illustrate a broad range of masks in the Raymond Bushell collection. Establishes a classification scheme for the masks by the type of theatrical performance in which they appear, and identifies them by the characters they represent. Includes a list of signatures, inscriptions, kakihan, and masks.

Glossary, p.197–99. Selected bibliography, p.200–01. Index, p.202–06.

K392 Davey, Neil K. Netsuke: a comprehensive study based on the M. T. Hindson collection. Rev. ed. London, Sotheby, 1982. 566p. il. (part col.)

See GLAH 1:K229 for 1st ed.

"Revised edition with 296 new illustrations of which 182 are in full colour."—T.p. This ed. also features a preface that discusses changes in the auction market, the growing scholarly interest in the netsuke art form, and the revival of the form among artists in Japan and elsewhere, since the first ed.

Select bibliography, p.557.

K393 Harris, Victor. Netsuke: the Hull Grundy collection in the British Museum. London, British Museum, [1987]. 136p. il. (part col.), plates.

Catalog of the more than 600 objects from the 18th and 19th centuries in the important Hull Grundy collection of netsuke. The Introduction provides a useful overview of the art form by discussing use, history, subjects, materials, and artists. The catalog organizes the objects by the subject depicted (sections 1–10) and shape (sections 11–12), illustrates the pieces with small black-and-white photographs, and provides the name and technical data.

Bibliography, p.125. Index of artists' names, p.127–28. Index of subjects, p.129–31. Concordance, p.133–36.

K394 Lazarnick, George. Netsuke and Inro Artists, and how to read their signatures. Honolulu, Reed, 1982. 2v. 1376p. il. (part col.)

A comprehensive, well-arranged, exhaustively illustrated reference work with thousands of examples from museums, collectors, dealers, and auction houses. Noteworthy for the section on how to read signatures and inscriptions of the artists, and for the alphabetical listing of artists with examples of their work and their signatures.

Bibliography, p.1368–75.

K395 Nishikawa, Kyotaro, and Sano, Emily J. The great age of Japanese Buddhist sculpture, AD 600–1300.

Fort Worth, Kimbell Art Museum, [1982]. 151p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition at the Kimbell Art Museum (1982), and locations.

Marking the tenth anniversary of the Kimbell Museum, this exhibition of 36 items from active temples and major museum collections in Japan represents the history of Japanese Buddhist sculpture over a 700-year period. Examples were included to show how stylistic development was effected by changes in patronage and the evolution of Buddhist thought in Japan. An essay on Japanese Buddhist Sculpture by Nishikawa Kyōtarō is followed by the catalog with each object given a full-page color photograph, a complete description, bibliographic references, and record of exhibitions.

Selected bibliography, p.147. Index, p.148–51.

K396 Warner, Langdon. The craft of the Japanese sculptor. [Reprint.] N.Y., Hacker, 1976. 55p. il., plates.

See GLAH 1:K234 for original annotation. The photographic illustrations, particularly those with intricate detail, have lost a small degree of clarity in the reprint.

Southeast Asia

K397 Ancient Indonesian sculpture. Ed. by Marijke J. Klokke and Pauline Lunsingh Scheurleer. Leiden, KITLV Pr., 1994. 211p. il., maps (Verhandelingen van het Koninklijk Instituut voor Taal-, Land- en Volkenkunde, 165)

Papers from a symposium held in the Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam (1988).

Selective contents: Introduction, by Marijke J. Klokke and Pauline Lunsingh Scheurleer; "Rules" for change in the transfer of Indian art to Southeast Asia, by Robert L. Brown; Bronzes in the Amaravati style: their role in the writing of Southeast Asian history, by Sara Schastok; Some connections between metal images of Northeast India and Java, by Susan L. Huntington; Bronze images and their place in ancient Indonesian culture, by Pauline Lunsingh Scheurleer; An aspect of the Bodhisattva Avalokitesvara in ancient Indonesia, by Nandana Chutiwongs; The iconography of Borobudur revisited, by John C. Huntington; The so-called portrait statues in East Javanese art, by Marijke J. Klokke.

Spelling and abbreviations, p.vii. Glossary, p.[202–04]. Index, p.[205]–11.

K398 Boisselier, Jean. Trends in Khmer art. Ed. by Natasha Eilenberg. Trans. by Natasha Eilenberg and Melvin Elliott. Ithaca, N.Y., Southeast Asia Program, Cornell Univ., 1989. 118p. il. (Studies on Southeast Asia)

Rev. trans. of: Tendances de l'art khm̐r. Paris, Presses universitaires de France, 1956; Japanese ed., 1984.

"The objective of this brief work is simply to present and describe twenty-four sculptures . . . representative of Khmer art . . . [from] the collections of the Phnom Penh National Museum."—Introd. By an outstanding scholar.

Glossary, p.[103]–15. Selected bibliography, p.[117]–18. The chronology, p.[119–24].

- K399 Felten, Wolfgang, and Lerner, Martin. Thai and Cambodian sculpture from the 6th to the 14th centuries. Photographs by Hugo Stiegler. London, P. Wilson Publishers, 1989. 253p. il. (part col.)

"This book presents sculpture dating from the sixth to the fourteenth centuries A.D. Previously unpublished, these works should help to broaden our knowledge of the history of art in Southeast Asia. They have been selected . . . for their artistic excellence and singularity."—Foreword.

Contents: Basic precepts; Introduction: towards an art history of Cambodia and Thailand; Stone sculptures; Bronze sculptures.

Notes to the introduction, p.245–47. Select bibliography, p.248–49. Chronological table: Cambodia, p.250, Thailand, p.251.

- K400 Fontein, Jan. The sculpture of Indonesia. Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art; N.Y., Abrams, 1990. 312p. il. (part col.), facsim., maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Gallery of Art (1990), and other locations, drawing on Indonesian collections as well as other Asian, European, and American collections.

Contents: Introduction: The sculpture of Indonesia, by Jan Fontein; Indonesian architecture of the classical period: a brief survey, by R. Soekmono; The making of Indonesian art, by Edi Sedyawati.

Glossary, p.301–02. Bibliography, p.303–11.

- K401 Sculpture of Angkor and ancient Cambodia: millennium of glory. Washington, D.C., National Gallery of Art; N.Y., Thames and Hudson, 1997. xxxii, 381p. il. (part col.), col. maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Gallery of Art (1997), and other locations. "The aim of this exhibition has been to reunite the masterworks of two museums, the National Museum of Cambodia and the Musée Guimet in Paris, whose collections are for historical reasons complementary."—Introd.

Contents: History; Religion, epigraphy, and iconography; Architecture; Sculpture; Catalogue.

Glossary, p.357–63. Bibliography, p.365–71. Index, p.373–80.

- K402 Woodward, Hiram W. The sacred sculpture of Thailand: the Alexander B. Griswold collection, the Walters Art Gallery. With contrib. by Donna K. Strahan . . . [et al.] Baltimore, the Gallery (Distr. by Univ. of Washington Pr., 1997). 326p. il. (part col.)

An account of Thai sculpture based on the most important collection outside Thailand.

Contents: (1) The Buddha image in Thailand; (2) Bronze casting in Thailand; (3) Dvaravati; (4) The period of Khmer domination; (5) The thirteenth century; (6) The rise and development of Sukhothai; (7) Ayutthaya in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries; (8) Lan Na; (9) Ayutthaya, 1491–1767; Appendices.

Notes, p.288–305. Chronological chart, p.306–07. Glossary, p.310–13. Bibliography, p.314–20. Index, p.321–26.

AFRICA, OCEANIA, THE AMERICAS

General Works

- K403 Collection Barbier-Mueller. Tribal sculpture: masterpieces from Africa, South East Asia and the Pacific in the Barbier-Mueller Museum. [By] Douglas Newton and Hermione Waterfield. Photographs by Pierre-Alain Ferrazzini. [N.Y.], Vendome Pr., [1995]. 346p. 295 col. il., maps.

A monumental and lavishly illustrated catalog of a major collection.

Contents: The story of a collection, by Jean Paul Barbier; The flat, the round and space, by Douglas Newton. The collection: Africa, by Hermione Waterfield, with Timothy Garrard and Zachary Kingdom; Indonesia, by Douglas Newton; Oceania, by Douglas Newton.

- K404 Museo delle culture extraeuropee (Lugano, Switzerland). Culture extraeuropee: Collezione Serge e Graziella Brignoni = Extra-European cultures: The Serge and Graziella Brignoni Collection. Ed. by Claudio Gianinazzi, Christian Giordano. [Lugano], Edizioni Città di Lugano, [1989]. 366p. 541 il. (part col.), maps.

Text in Italian and English. A beautifully illustrated catalog that documents a significant collection of the sculptures of Africa, India, Oceania, and South-West Asia.

Contents: Extra-European cultures and Western imagery, problems and prospects of a museum (in statu nascendi), by Christian Giordano; Eclipse, prophylaxis and a certain continuity, by Ilario Rossi; The Brignoni donation: the significance behind the gesture, by Claudio Gianinazzi; Interview with Serge Brignoni "And then it starts all over again . . .," by Elke-N. Kappus; Notes by an artist-collector, by Serge Brignoni.

Bibliographies, p.359–66.

Africa

- K405 Afrikanische Skulptur: die Erfindung der Figur = African sculpture: the invention of the figure. Köln, Museum Ludwig, 1990. 260p. il. (part col.)

Text in German and English. Catalog of the exhibition, Museum Ludwig (1990), and other locations.

Beautifully illustrated, this book "concentrates on the inventiveness of African artists in the medium of sculpture, with works from twenty-eight tribes that lived south of the Sahara, from the west to the east coast of Africa."—Pref.

Contents: African sculpture at the Museum Ludwig, by Siegfried Gohr; Art or no art—that is the question, by Werner Schmalenbach; African art/art in Africa, by Miklós Szalay; The concept of style and its usefulness in the study of African figurative sculpture, by Bernard de Grunne; Comparisons, by Lucien Stéphan; The invention of the figure, by Kay Heymer; Catalogue of the exhibited works, by Kay Heymer; Mumuye, with a text by Jacques Kerchache.

Bibliography, p.257–60.

K406 Arnold, Marion I. Zimbabwean stone sculpture. Reprint of the 1981 ed. incorporating place-name changes and a new Postscript. Bulawayo, Louis Bolze, 1986. 234p. il., map.

1st ed. Bulawayo, Books of Zimbabwe, 1981. Based on the author's master's thesis, this book is the first major study of contemporary Zimbabwean stone sculpture. Includes a discussion of ancient stone sculpture.

Contents: (1) Stone sculpture from Great Zimbabwe; (2) The meaning of the Zimbabwe birds; (3) The twentieth-century Shona sculpture movement; (4) The interaction of form and content; (5) The human form; (6) Animal forms; (7) The supernatural.

Bibliography, p.169–81. Biographies of sculptors, p.182–228. Glossary of terms, p.229–30. Postscript, p.231–34.

K407 Bassani, Ezio, and Fagg, William B. Africa and the renaissance: art in ivory. Ed. by Susan Vogel, assisted by Carol Thompson. With an essay by Peter Mark. [N.Y.], Center for African Art and Prestel-Verlag, [1988]. 255p. il. (part col.)

Catalog of the exhibition, The Center for African Art (1988), and other locations. A well-illustrated catalogue raisonné and major treatise on Afro-Portuguese ivories.

Contents: Introduction: Africa and the renaissance, by Susan Vogel; European perceptions of Black Africans in the renaissance, by Peter Mark; (1) The legacy of the navigator; (2) The Afro-Portuguese ivories; (3) An art of stillness and beauty: the Sapi-Portuguese ivories, saltcellars, pyxes, spoons, forks and knife handles; (4) Sources for the Sapi-Portuguese ivories; (5) Sapi workshops and artists; (6) Conclusions on the Sapi-Portuguese ivories; (7) The Bini-Portuguese ivories: enter movement, the guild of ivory carvers; oliphants; salts; spoons; (8) The Bini-Portuguese artists; (9) A conjectural digression among the bronze casters; (10) A problematic Yoruba-Portuguese saltcellar; (11) The Afro-Portuguese apocrypha, an enigmatic Sapi-Portuguese oliphant, the Kongo oliphants, a unique Kongo knife case, Kongo geometric motifs, the mysterious fluted oliphants; (12) Conclusions on the Afro-Portuguese ivories.

Catalogue raisonné, p.224–50. Bibliography, p.251–54.

K408 Bastin, Marie-Louise. La sculpture Tshokwe. Trad. et adaptation en anglais, J. B. Donne. Meudon, Alain et Françoise Chaffin, [1982]. 291p. il. (part col.), map. Extensively illustrated with text in French and English. This definitive work provides ethnographic data and iconographic and stylistic classification of the sculptural arts of the Chokwe.

Contents: Anthropology, geography, history; Material culture, social organization and religious beliefs; Art forms; Iconography and aesthetics; Stylistic variations; Related styles, influences.

Glossary, p.288–89. Bibliography, p.290–91.

K409 Biebuyck, Daniel P. La sculpture des Lega. Paris, Galerie Hélène and Philippe Leloup, [1994]. 205p. il. (part col.), map.

Text in English and French. Catalog of the exhibition, Galerie Hélène and Philippe Leloup, Paris (1994). The first major exhibition of Lega sculpture.

Contents: The Bwami association; The initiation objects; Lega artworks; The masks; The figurines.

Bibliography, p.202.

K410 Blier, Suzanne Preston. African vodun: art, psychology, and power. Chicago, Univ. of Chicago Pr., [1995]. xi, 476p. 163 il. (part col.), maps.

Profusely illustrated, this book is "an investigation of the psychological impact of certain West African objects on human behavior . . . a must for any art library collecting African art literature as well as for those concerned with the psychology of art."—Review, Art documentation, v.14, fall 1995, p.36.

Contents: (1) Vodun art, social history, and the slave trade; (2) Audiences, artists, and sculptural activators; (3) Design in desire: transference and the arts of Boci; (4) Bodies and being: anatomy, anamnesis, and representation; (5) The I and not-I in artistic expressions of the self; (6) Alchemy and art: matter, mind, and sculptural meaning; (7) Surface parergon and the arts of suturing; (8) The force of genre: sculptural tension and typology; (9) Power, art, and the mysteries of rule.

Appendix: Collections and stylistic features, p.355–59. Bibliography, p.433–61. Index, p.463–76.

K411 Bravmann, René A. Open frontiers: the mobility of art in Black Africa. Seattle, Published for the Henry Art Gallery by the Univ. of Washington Pr., [1973]. 95p. il. maps. (Index of art in the Pacific Northwest, no. 5)

Catalog of the exhibition, Henry Art Gallery, University of Washington (1973). Distinguished by the inclusion of field photographs and a scholarly text by an eminent scholar.

Contents: The Cercle de Bondoukou and west central Ghana; The Cameroonian grasslands.

Bibliography, p.93–95.

K412 Brett-Smith, Sarah C. The making of Bamana sculpture: creativity and gender. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., [1994]. xx, 352p. 60 il. maps. (RES monographs in anthropology and aesthetics)

Based on the author's research in West Africa. Focuses on understanding the artistic and creative process as practiced by Bamana sculptors.

Contents: (1) The Bamana universe; (2) The sculptor speaks with spirits: the other world; (3) The human world; (4) Trees and tools; (5) Carving and aesthetics; (6) Sacred secrets; (7) "The foundation of the world is with women."

Selected bibliography, p.338–41. Index, p.343–52.

K413 Chaffin, Alain, and Chaffin, Françoise. L'Art Kota: les figures de reliquaire. Trad. et adaptation en anglais, Carlos E. Garcia. Meudon, Alain and Françoise Chaffin, [1979?]. 348p. il. (part col.), map.

Text in French and English. Extensively illustrated. The authors present a stylistic classification of Kota funerary statuary.

Contents: (1) Geographical setting and human environment; (2) Exposition of the analytical method; (3) Morphological analysis and study of ornamentation; (4) Catalogue of Kota funerary figures; (5) Kota styles, the Ossyeba problem.

Bibliography, p.347–48.

- K414 Detroit Institute of Arts. African masterworks in the Detroit Institute of Arts. Essays by Michael Kan and Roy Sieber. Text by David W. Penney, Mary Nooter Roberts, and Helen M. Shannon. Washington, D.C., Published for the Detroit Institute of Arts by the Smithsonian Institution Pr., [1995]. xi, 180p. il. (part col.), maps.

This catalog includes 88 of the museum's works representing the full range of major sub-Saharan sculptural traditions during the past three centuries.

Contents: An introduction to African art, by Roy Sieber; African art at the Detroit Institute of Arts, by Michael Kan; Western Sudan; Guinea coast; Cameroon and central highlands; Western Congo Basin and Ogowe River; Lower Congo and Kwango Basins; Eastern Congo Basin; East and South Africa.

Bibliography, p.169–75. Index, p.176–80.

- K415 Dogon Statuary. [By] Hélène Leloup . . . [et al.] Trans. from the French by Brunhilde Biebuyck. Photography: Roger Asselbergs, Jerry L. Thompson. [Strasbourg], Daniele Amez, [1994]. 608p. il. (part col.), maps.

Trans. of Statuaire dogon. Strasbourg, D. Amez, 1994.

Lavishly illustrated, a major study of Dogon statuary.

Contents: Preface, by William Rubin; Dogon statuary, by Hélène Leloup; Richard Serra; Georg Baselitz.

Bibliography, p.583–602. Index, p.603–08.

- K416 Ezra, Kate. A human ideal in African art: Bamana figurative sculpture. Washington, D.C., Published for the National Museum of African Art by the Smithsonian Institution Pr., 1986. 48p. il. map.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of African Art (1986), and other locations. A valuable study of the ritual and social contexts of Bamana figurative sculptures.

References, p.45–46.

- K417 Face of the spirits: masks from the Zaire Basin. Ed. by Frank Herreman and Constantijn Petridis. Photography, Dick Beaulieux. With contrib. by M.-L. Bastin . . . [et al.] [Gent, Snoeck-Ducaju and Zoon, 1993]. 261p. il. (part col.), maps.

Catalog of the exhibition, National Museum of African Art (1994), and other locations. Lavishly illustrated catalog with essays by noted scholars.

Contents: Face of the spirits, by Frank Herreman; Masks among the Kongo peoples, by Raoul Lehuard; An introduction to Nkanu and Mbeeko masks, by Alphonse Lema Gwete; Masks and masking among the Yaka, Suku, and related peoples, by Arthur P. Bourgeois; Pende mask styles, by Constantijn Petridis; The Akishi spirits of the Chokwe, by Marie-Louise Bastin; Material and formal aspects of copper masks from the Upper Kasai, by Rik Ceyskens; The practice of metal application to African masks, by Elze Bruyninx; Masks among the Kuba peoples, by Joseph Cornet; The Kifwebe masking phenomenon, by Dunja Hersak; South-East Zaire: masks of the Luba, Hemba and Tabwa, by François Neyt; Masks and initiation among the Lega cluster of peoples, by Daniel P. Biebuyck; The animal in us: the ubiquitous zoomorphic masking phenomenon of Eastern Zaire, by Marc Leo Felix; Mask styles and mask use in the north of Zaire, by Herman Burssens; Zairian masking in historical perspective, by Jan Vansina.

Bibliography, p.255–59.

- K418 Felix, Marc Leo. Maniema. An essay on the distribution of the symbols and myths as depicted in the masks of Greater Maniema. [München, Fred Jahn, 1989]. 313p. il., [1] folded leaf of plates, maps.

Text in English and German. Within historical, social, and linguistic contexts, Felix provides a stylistic and symbolic typography of Maniema masks and plots these contexts geographically.

Contents: The importance of Maniema art history; From family to people; Chronology; The use of masks in Maniema; Belief systems and typology; Linguistic division of Maniema; Stylistic division of Maniema; Hypothesis; Central Maniema; Southern Maniema; Northern Maniema; Eastern Maniema.

Bibliography, p.311–13.

- K419 ———. 100 peoples of Zaire and their sculpture: the handbook. Brussels, Zaire Basin Art History Research Foundation, 1987. xvi, 246p. il., maps.

Object oriented, this handbook covers the most significant ethnic groups in Zaire who have produced anthropomorphic sculpture. Topics covered for each ethnic group include sociopolitical organization, economy, history, religion, sculpture, and art style.

Glossary, p.213–15. Bibliography, p.217–22. Tentative clustering based on stylistic criteria, p.223–24. Index of alternative peoples names, p.225–45.

- K420 For spirits and kings: African art from the Paul and Ruth Tishman Collection. Ed. by Susan Vogel. Trans. and additional research by Kate Ezra. Photographs by Jerry L. Thompson. N.Y., Metropolitan Museum of Art (Distr. by Abrams, [1981]). 256p. il. (part col.), maps.

All major sculptural traditions of Africa are illustrated in this catalog which documents one of the finest private collections of its kind in the United States.

Contents: The Western Sudan; The Guinea Coast; Nigeria; Equatorial Africa; Central Africa; Eastern and Southern Africa.

Glossary, p.244–45. Bibliography, p.245–52. Index, p.253–56.

- K421 Griaule, Marcel. Masques Dogons. 4th ed. Paris, Institut d'Ethnologie, 1994. viii, 896p. 261 il. (part col.), 32p. of plates, map. (Travaux et Mémoires de l'Institut d'Ethnologie, 33)

1st ed. 1938; 2d ed. 1963; 3d ed. 1983. This seminal study covers Dogon mythology, rituals, and funerary ceremonies, as well as discussion of Dogon crafts, rock paintings, dance, and altars.

Contents: Livre 1: Les mythes: (1) Glose des mythes; (2) Texte en langue du Sigui; (3) Les êtres mythiques personnels; (3) Principe mythique impersonnel; (4) Principe mythique impersonnel, le Nyama. Livre 2: Le Sigui: (1) A. Le rituel (Sanga), B. Notes sur le rituel de diverses régions; (2) Le matériel; (3) Les agents. Livre 3: Les funérailles: (1) Rituel général (Sanga); (2) Rituels spéciaux (Sanga). Livre 4: Le Dama: (1) A. Rituel de Sanga, B. Notes sur les rituels des régions voisines de Sanga; (2) A. Fabrication des masques, B. Les masques et leurs accessoires; (3) Les peintures rupestres; (4) Les danses. Livre 5: (1) Les autels du cult des masques; (2) Pratique et croyances diverses liées à l'institution des masques.

Lexique de la langue du Sigui, p.837–46. Tableau de l'usage rituel de la langue du Sigui, p.847–49. Table des masques, p.850–52. Table des rythmes et des danses, p.853–54. Table des animaux, p.855–57. Tables des plantes, p.858–59. Table des noms propres, p.860–61. Table des noms géographiques, p.862–66. Table analytique des matières, p.867–72. Table des objets cités, p.873–74. Table des films cinématographiques, p.875–76. Table des auteurs cités, p.877–78. Bibliographie, p.879–82.

K422 Hersak, Dunja. Songye masks and figure sculpture. London, Ethnographica, [1986]. ix, 189p. 133 il. (part col.), maps.

Major study of Zaïrian culture which includes classification of both masks and figures stylistically and according to formal qualities and coloration.

Contents: (1) Origin and structure of Songye chiefdoms; (2) Cosmology; (3) Witchcraft and sorcery; (4) The bwadi bwa kifwebe society; (5) The making and defining of masks; (6) Classification of Songye masks; (7) Figure sculpture and magic; (8) Characteristics of central Songye figures; (9) Summary; Appendix: Songs of the bwadi bwa kifwebe.

Selected bibliography, p.178–80. Glossary, p.182–86. Index, p.187–89.

K423 Holý, Ladislav. The art of Africa: masks and figures from eastern and southern Africa. Photographed by Dominique Darbois. London, Paul Hamlyn, 1967. 68p., 152p. of plates (part col.), map.

Amplly illustrated with extensive notes on all plates, this work is an early classic on African sculpture.

Contents: The northern part of east Africa; Central east Africa; The southern part of east Africa; South Africa; The style of east and south African sculpture.

Bibliography, p.62–64.

K424 Horton, Robin. Kalabari sculpture. [Apapa], Department of Antiquities, Federal Republic of Nigeria, [1965]. 49p. 72p. il.

Standard work on the wooden sculptures and cult objects of the Kalabari-speaking peoples of Nigeria, and a selection of sculpture from other Ijo-speaking areas.

Contents: (1) An outline of Kalabari culture; (2) Sculpture and its uses; (3) Carving, criticism and the carver; (4) Meaning and form; (5) Summary and conclusions; Appendix I: Materials and tools; Appendix II: Kalabari and neighbouring styles; Appendix III: Kalabari sculpture and modern social change.

K425 Johnson, Barbara C. Four Dan sculptors. Continuity and change. [San Francisco], Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco (Distr. by the Univ. of Chicago Pr., [1986]). xvii, 102p. il. (part col.), map.

Catalog of the exhibition, Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco (1986–1987), and other locations. Perhaps the first exhibition and catalog to concentrate on four known sculptors—three carvers and one brasscaster from the Dan region of Liberia.

Contents: History, social organization, politics, and religion of the Dan people; Ritual, prestige, and decoration: the art forms of the Dan; Four sculptors—three generations; Continuity and change.

Bibliography, p.101–02.

K426 Krieger, Kurt. Ostafrikanische Plastik. Berlin, Museum für Völkerkunde, [1990]. 99p., 554 plates, map (Veröffentlichungen des Museums für Völkerkunde Berlin, Neue Folge, 50; Abteilung Afrika, 10)

Photo survey of sculpture from areas of East Africa extending from Sudan, Ethiopia, and Somalia in the north to Zambia, Malawi, and Mozambique in the south, and then into Madagascar. All works are from the Museum für Völkerkunde and were collected between 1877 and 1937.

Literatur, p.77–85. Stammes- und Ortsregister, p.87–88.

K427 Lehuard, Raoul. Art Bakongo. [Arnouville, France, Arts d'Afrique Noire, 1989–1993]. 3v. il. (part col.), maps (Arts d'Afrique noire, supplément au tome 55) Extensively illustrated, this is a major corpus of art works collectively known as Kongo, or Lower Kongo, covering primarily figurative wooden sculptures in the first two vol. and in the third, masks.

Contents: (1–2) Les centres de style; (3) Les masques.

Index, v.3, p.864–866. Bibliographie, v.3, p.868–69.

K428 Mark, Peter. The wild bull and the sacred forest: form, meaning, and change in Senegambian initiation masks. N.Y., Cambridge Univ. Pr., [1992]. xv, 170p. 43 il., map.

This comprehensive study is focused on the horned initiation masks created in the Jola country in the Lower Casamance (Senegal). "It may serve as a model for understanding the way in which the process of Islamization has occurred, both elsewhere in Africa and in an earlier historical period."—Foreword.

Contents: (1) Introduction: method and subject; (2) Ethnographic background; (3) Bukut initiation; (4) History and provenance of the Ejumba mask; (5) Iconography of the horned mask; (6) Mandinka or Jola? art and culture as regional processes; (7) Islam and Casamance masking traditions; (8) Conclusion; Appendix.

Bibliography, p.161–66. Index, p.167–70.

K429 Perrois, Louis. Arts du Gabon: les arts plastiques du Bassin de l'Ogooué. [Arnouville-les-Gonnesse, France, Arts d'Afrique Noire, 1979]. 290p. il. (part col.), plates, maps. (Arts d'Afrique noire, supplément au tome 20)

The arts of Gabon, largely those of the Fang, Kota, and Shogo, are extensively illustrated in this study.

Contents: (1) Le pays et les hommes: le bassin de l'Ogooué; (2) Les caractères de la sculpture traditionnelle; (3) Styles tribaux et styles régionaux; (4) L'art Fang; (5) L'art funéraire Kota: généralités et styles du nord; (6) Les styles du sud: Kota-Obamba et apparentés; (7) Les styles statuaire du Centre-Gabon; (8) Les masques du sud et de l'est du Gabon.

Bibliographie sommaire, p.289–90. Figures, cartes, p.291–[320].

K430 Rankin, Elizabeth Deane. Images of metal: post-war sculptures and assemblages in South Africa. Johannesburg, South Africa, Witwatersrand Univ. Pr., 1994. 206p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Standard Bank National Arts Festival, Grahamstown, South Africa (1994), and other locations.

Surveys the history and evolution of recent metal sculpture in South Africa examining the works of formally and informally trained sculptors.

Contents: Techniques and training; Art on the margins; Competitions and commissions.

Selected bibliography, p.198–200. Index of artists, p.201–206.

K431 ———. Images of wood: aspects of the history of sculpture in 20th-century South Africa. Johannesburg Art Gallery 1989. Biographies, Elizabeth Dell. Documentation of works, Julia Meintjes. [Johannesburg], Johannesburg Art Gallery, [1989]. 188p. il.

Catalog of the exhibition, Johannesburg Art Gallery (1989).

Catalog entries are arranged alphabetically by artist and provide a representative selection of sculptural traditions through the century.

Contents: (1) The early years: Indigenous beginnings; (2) Training opportunities in sculpture in South Africa; (3) Later developments in wood sculpture; (4) Aspects of contemporary sculpture.

Selected bibliography, p.184. Index, p.185–87.

K432 Tanzania: Meisterwerke Afrikanischer Skulptur = Sanaa za mabingwa wa Kiafrika. Hrsg. von Jens Jahn. Mit einl. Texten von Marc L. Felix und Maria Kecskési. Sowie Beitr. von Giseler Blesse . . . [et al.] München, Verlag Fred Jahn, 1994. 527p. il., map.

Text in German and Swahili. Catalog of the exhibition, Haus der Kulturen der Welt, Berlin (1994), and other locations. A lavishly illustrated catalog focusing primarily on figures and masks of Tanzania. "A significant addition to African art libraries, particularly those with a special interest in East Africa."—Review, African arts, v.28, no.3, summer 1995, p.90.

Contents: Einleitung, von Maria Kecskési; Eine kurze Geschichte von Tanzania, Wo kamen sie alle her?, von Marc L. Felix; Die traditionelle Skulptur Tanzanias, Ein Überblick, von Marc L. Felix; Traditionelle Skulptur aus Zentral-Osttanzania, von Enrico Castelli; Ton- und Holzskulpturen aus Nordost-Tanzania, von Georges Meurant; Die Bildhauerkunst der Nyamwezi, von Georges Meurant; Ostafrikanische hochlehnlige Hocker: eine transkulturelle Tradition,

